

ENGLISH

BY THE NATURE METHOD

BY

ARTHUR M. JENSEN

Endorsed by the Following Professors of English:

S. R. T. O. D'ARDENNE
University of Liège

FRANZ DE BACKER
University of Ghent

FRANK BEHRE
University of Gothenburg

HELLMUT BOCK
University of Kiel

C. A. BODELSEN
University of Copenhagen

G. BONNARD
University of Lausanne

KARL BRUNNER
University of Innsbruck

W. CLEMEN
University of Munich

L. ECKHOFF
University of Oslo

OTTO FUNKE
University of Berne

P. N. U. HARTING
University of Amsterdam

OTTO JESPERSEN (†)
University of Copenhagen

B. VON LINDHEIM
Free University of Berlin

H. LÜDEKE
University of Basle

FERNAND MOSSÉ (†)
Collège de France

OLE REUTER
University of Helsingfors

K. SCHIBSBYE
University of Copenhagen

F. TH. VISSER
University of Nijmegen

MAX WILDI
Institute of Technology, Zurich

R. W. ZANDVOORT
University of Groningen

THE NATURE METHOD INSTITUTES

AMSTERDAM · BRUSSELS · COPENHAGEN · HELSINGFORS

LONDON · MILAN · MUNICH · OSLO · PARIS

STOCKHOLM · VIENNA · ZURICH

PREFACES

Extract from the Preface by

OTTO JESPERSEN

Ph. D., Litt. D., LL. D., Late Professor of English Language and Literature in the University of Copenhagen

Mr. Arthur M. Jensen has asked me to write a preface to his course: "English by the Nature Method". It is with great pleasure that I comply with his wish, for I heartily agree with his method and think it has been on the whole carried out very skilfully and with real pedagogical insight.

The main idea is that all, or nearly all, sentences should be self-interpreting, the meaning of new words being in each case readily understood without any possible doubt from the context, in the beginning aided here and there by a simple drawing, so that a translation is never necessary.

In accordance with a wise old rule the author has not been afraid of repeating the same thing over and over again, especially in the beginning, so that words and phrases are as it were hammered into the brains of the student so as to be his possessions for ever.

The most necessary grammatical forms are from the very first imparted in a natural way without using any technical terms; later some very elementary grammatical instruction is given with simple theoretical explanations.

It is my conviction that the student who has conscientiously worked his way through the course will with a minimum of effort have acquired a fair knowledge of the English language and will be familiar with the most necessary words and phrases so as to feel at home in the language.

Elsinore, May the 11th, 1942.

OTTO JESPERSEN

PREFACES

Preface by

Dr. FERNAND MOSSÉ

Late Professor of Languages and Literatures of Germanic Origin at the Collège de France

I have pleasure in giving my fullest approval to the course entitled "English by the Nature Method", which I have examined with much interest. It is a genuine "natural" method, most ingeniously presented with great pedagogical acumen. Its user can be assured of the utmost success, provided that he never becomes discouraged if he is working on his own, and that he keeps on perseveringly to the end. It is only by thoroughly assimilating the most judiciously chosen sentences making up each lesson, by learning them by heart after having studied and understood them, that the student will gradually discover that he really knows English. When he reaches the last booklet he should be able to express himself with facility by the help of the words, forms and phrases at his command. Like the man in the Gospels who was cured by a miracle, he can then be told to arise and walk.

Other highly qualified persons have already excellently expressed their opinions of this English course. I shall merely add that, even if similar methods are to be found, I know of none more capable of attaining the desired goal than the one so patiently worked out by Mr. Arthur M. Jensen.

Paris, January 1955.

FERNAND MOSSÉ

Preface by

Dr. J. FOURQUET

Professor of Germanic Philology in the University of Paris

The method worked out by Mr. Arthur M. Jensen corresponds very closely to the ideal conception I had formed as I reflected on the best possible way of devising a rational system of modern language teaching inspired by the "direct method". I had in mind a work in which the principles of this method would be applied down to the smallest detail. It would be necessary to pass from the phonetic transcription of isolated examples to a running transcription; to associate with pictures all words capable of being so represented, to present the material progressively in such a way that every new element would be explained by a context made up of elements already acquired, and finally systematically to base the acquisition of knowledge on complete sentence forms, passing gradually from the simplest to the most complex types. It should thus be possible to build up a language without having recourse either to dictionary or grammar-book, those lifeless collections of forms divorced from their context.

PREFACES

I find all these requirements complied with in Mr. Jensen's work, to which I cannot but give my full approval. Moreover, the working out of every detail, no doubt thanks to much patience and ingenuity, is in every way worthy of the boldness of the plan and, if I may say so, of the purity of the principles inspiring the author.

Provided one enters fully into the spirit of the method, namely never to make a step forward without having consolidated all that went before by the repetition of complete idiomatic sentences, one will be capable, by the end of the book, of immediate and spontaneous expression. It will only be necessary to make different combinations of the elements in the type sentence-patterns firmly imprinted on the nervous system, in order to speak with ease. The vocabulary, built up round centres of interest and always having a context, will be more readily recalled because of the network of associations in which it grew up from the start. This method can be called truly natural because it takes the fullest account of the organic nature of language.

Paris, August 1956.

J. FOURQUET

Preface by

Dr GEORGES BONNARD

Professor of English Language and Literature in the University of Lausanne

The author of "English by the Nature Method" has aimed at providing those who wish to learn English and are denied the help of an ordinary teacher, with a text-book that might, in little over a year, bring them to the point where reading English books and conversation in English may be, or at least begin to be, actually possible. This means that they must be made to acquire an intelligible pronunciation, the essentials of the grammar, a fairly copious vocabulary and plenty of idiomatic phrases.

PREFACES

A careful examination of the sixty chapters — each to be mastered in a week — contained in the sixteen booklets of the whole course has convinced me that Mr. Arthur M. Jensen has really succeeded in doing all he had set out to do. His main concern has been with young people in business, which is quite natural since it is in the world of business that he will mostly find young men and women who feel the need of some knowledge of English and have never had the opportunity of getting it. But he has taken care not to give undue importance to their requirements, so that his course may be used with just as much profit by whoever desires to learn English by himself. On reaching the end of the last booklet, any student with a normal, even if untrained mind, will certainly be capable of reading easy stuff, of understanding something of the spoken language, even of speaking it to some extent.

This result is obtained by the systematic use of the so-called direct method of teaching languages. The basic principle of that method, as every one knows, is to teach a foreign language without the help of the learner's mother-tongue, except for occasional explanations. This can be done firstly by connecting as many words as possible directly with the objects, ideas, and actions they denote, and secondly by introducing new words, idioms, and grammatical facts in such a way that there can be no hesitation whatever in the pupil's mind as to what they mean.

In the class-room the teacher can easily point to many objects the names of which he wants to teach the pupil. He may use pictures representing all sorts of things which are not at hand. A number of verbs can also be taught by means of gestures and movements. In a book meant for people who try to learn a language without a teacher, pictures can of course be used to some advantage, but they must be very clear and simple, so that there will be no risk of wrong associations being formed. The pictures given in the margins of the booklets answer that condition. But the author has had to rely, far more than any teacher in any class-room, on the second of the means at the disposal of the direct method, that is on the introduction of any new word, idiom or grammatical fact in such a context that its meaning can be grasped at once.

PREFACES

It is in the application of that principle that "English by the Nature Method" is unquestionably superior to any text-book based on the direct method that I have ever seen. The skill with which everything new, be it a word, a phrase or a fact of grammar, is first presented is remarkable, at times even truly amazing. That skill will be best appreciated by those teachers who, intent on never deviating from the direct method, are often at a loss how to get it done. But every sentence seems so natural, in no way perceptibly composed for the purpose it fulfils, that the skill is never obvious.

The new word must be, not only understood, but learned and remembered. It must become familiar. This can only be achieved by dint of repetition. But repetition, unless it be sustained by variety, will soon become wearisome. The new element must therefore be used again and again, each time in a different context. That is a serious difficulty. That difficulty has here been successfully overcome. Mr. Jensen has displayed a resourcefulness in the repeated use of the same element in different contexts which is equal to his skill in introducing it for the first time. And this is all the more creditable because he has done so not in disconnected sentences — that curse of language teaching — but in continuous texts which, simple though they must be, quickly grow in interest.

The course is divided into three distinct series of twenty chapters, each with its own general subject, and serving at the same time as a well-informed approach to various aspects of English civilisation, life and manners. Here again the author must be praised for his making the story he tells something more than a mere pretext for passing from one chapter to the next. The adventures and experiences of the clerk who marries his office manager's daughter are sure to delight those unsophisticated young people who are most likely to use "English by the Nature Method".

PREFACES

One of the most interesting, and to my mind most judicious, features of the course is the importance it gives to the imparting of a decent pronunciation. The learner is expected to master the alphabet of the International Phonetic Association and study the simple descriptions of the sounds of English given in the introductory booklet before starting on the course proper, where, right underneath every word of the text, he will find its full transcription. This may appear a bit clumsy. But I do not see how else the problem of teaching the pronunciation could have been solved satisfactorily. At the cost of a slight initial effort, the student, however left to himself he may be, is sure never to go astray. And he is advised of course to use to the full every opportunity he may have of hearing the new sounds he must use.

The instructions in the student's own language which are sent to him with each booklet, the exercises added to all the chapters, and the paragraphs of grammar to be found in the last twenty chapters, all denote the same meticulous care, the same attention to the necessary details as have gone to the composition of the text itself.

In conclusion I think it can be confidently asserted that those that set themselves to learning English with the help of Mr. Jensen's method will be thoroughly satisfied with it, but on condition they do not imagine any language can be learnt without steady and even hard work. For this is not one of the least satisfactory features of "English by the Nature Method" that it does not pretend that you can learn to read and speak English in a few weeks or in a dozen lessons or so.

May I add that in the hands of a competent teacher devoted to the direct method this course would probably do wonders in the classroom.

Lausanne, February the 26th, 1951.

GEORGES BONNARD

THE FAMILY

Mr. Smith

man

Mrs. Smith

woman

John

boy

Helen

girl

baby

Mr. Smith is a man. Mrs. Smith is a woman. John is mistə smiþ iz ə mæn. misiz smiþ iz ə wumən. dʒɒn iz a boy. Helen is a girl. The baby is also a girl. Helen ə bɔi. helin iz ə ɡə:l. ðə beibi iz ɔ:lsoʊ ə ɡə:l. helin and the baby are girls. Mr. Smith is the father. Mrs. ænd ðə beibi a: ɡə:lz. mistə smiþ iz ðə fa:ðə. misiz

Smith is the mother. John is a child. Helen is a smiþ iz ðə mʌðə. dʒɒn iz ə tʃaɪld. helin iz ə child. The baby is a child. John, Helen, and the baby tʃaɪld. ðə beibi iz ə tʃaɪld. dʒɒn, helin, ænd ðə beibi are children.

a: tʃɪldrən.

is
are

John is a boy.
Helen and the baby are girls.

one (1) girl
two (2) girls

one (1) child
two (2) children

Helen is a girl.
Helen and the
baby are girls.

Chapter One (1).

a
the

John is a boy.
The boy is John.

Helen and the baby
are girls.

The girls are Helen and the baby.

of

The father of the children.

Mr. Smith is the father of John. Mr. Smith is the mistə smiþ iz ðə fa:ðə əv dʒɒn. mistə smiþ iz ðə father of Helen. Mr. Smith is the father of the baby.

fa:ðə əv helin. mistə smiþ iz ðə fa:ðə əv ðə beibi.

Mr. Smith is the father of the children. Mrs. Smith is mistə smiþ iz ðə fa:ðə əv ðə tʃildrən. misiz smiþ iz the mother of John, Helen, and the baby. Mr. Smith ðə maðə əv dʒɒn, helin, ənd ðə beibi. mistə smiþ and Mrs. Smith are the parents of the children. John ənd misiz smiþ a: ðə peərənts əv ðə tʃildrən. dʒɒn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Smith iz ðə sʌn əv mistə ənd misiz smiþ. mistə ənd misiz smiþ are the parents of John. Helen is the daughter of Mr.

a: ðə peərənts əv dʒɒn. helin iz ðə dɔ:tə əv mistə and Mrs. Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are the parents ənd misiz smiþ. mistə ənd misiz smiþ a: ðə peərənts of Helen. The baby is also the daughter of Mr. and əv helin. ðə beibi iz ɔ:lso ðə dɔ:tə əv mistə ənd

Mrs. Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are the parents of the misiz smiþ. mistə ənd misiz smiþ a: ðə peərənts əv ðə baby.

beibi.

Mr. Smith, Mrs. Smith, John, Helen, and the baby are mistə smiþ, misiz smiþ, dʒɒn, helin, ənd ðə beibi a:

a family. There are five (5) persons in the family.
ə fæmili. ðeər a: faiv pə:snz in ðə fæmili.

Mr. Smith is a person. Mrs. Smith is a person. John mistə smiþ iz ə pə:sn. misiz smiþ iz ə pə:sn. dʒɒn is a person. Helen is a person, and the baby is also iz ə pə:sn. helin iz ə pə:sn, and ðə beibi iz ɔ:lsou a person.

ə pə:sn.

How many persons are there in the family? There are hau meni pə:snz a: ðeə in ðə fæmili? ðeər a:

five (5) persons in the family. Who are the five (5) faiv pə:snz in ðə fæmili. hu: a: ðə faiv persons in the family? They are the father, the mother, pə:snz in ðə fæmili? ðei a: ðə fa:ðə, ðə mʌðə, the son, the daughter, and the baby daughter. How ðə sʌn, ðə dɔ:tə, and ðə beibi dɔ:tə. hau many children are there in the family? There are meni tʃildrən a: ðeə in ðə fæmili? ðeər a:

three (3) children in the family. Who are the three (3) pri: tʃildrən in ðə fæmili. hu: a: ðə pri:

children in the family? They are the son, the daughter, tʃildrən in ðə fæmili? ðei a: ðə sʌn, ðə dɔ:tə, and the baby daughter. How many girls are there in and ðə beibi dɔ:tə. hau meni gə:lz a: ðeə in the family? There are two (2) girls in the family.

ðə fæmili? ðeər a: tu: gə:lz in ðə fæmili.

Who are the two (2) girls in the family? They are the hu: a: ðə tu: gə:lz in ðə fæmili? ðei a: ðə daughter and the baby daughter. How many boys are dɔ:tə and ðə beibi dɔ:tə. hau meni bɔiz a:

there in the family? There is one (1) boy in the family.
ðeə in ðə fæmili? ðeər iz wʌn bɔi in ðə fæmili.

how many?

How many girls are there in the family?

there is there are

There is one boy
 in the family.

There are two girls in the family.

Chapter One (1).

who?

he

she

they

Who is John?

He is the son.

Who is Helen?

She is the daughter.

Who are Helen and the baby?

They are the daughters.

man

woman

boy

girl

baby

} persons

father

mother

} parents

boy

girl

baby

} children

Who is the boy? The boy is John; he is the son of hu: iz ðə bɔi? ðə bɔi iz dʒɒn; hi: iz ðə sʌn əv

Mr. Smith. The girl is Helen; she is the daughter of mɪstə smɪθ. ðə ɡə:l iz helɪn; ʃi: iz ðə dɔ:tə əv

Mr. Smith. The man is Mr. Smith; he is the father.
mɪstə smɪθ. ðə mæn iz mɪstə smɪθ; hi: iz ðə fa:ðə.

The woman is Mrs. Smith; she is the mother. The ðə wʊmən iz mɪsɪz smɪθ; ʃi: iz ðə mʌðə. ðə man and the woman are Mr. and Mrs. Smith; they are mæn ənd ðə wʊmən a: mɪstə ənd mɪsɪz smɪθ; ðeɪ a:

the parents.

ðə pɛərənts.

John is the brother of Helen. Helen is the sister of dʒɒn iz ðə brʌðə əv helɪn. helɪn iz ðə sɪstə əv

John. The baby is the sister of John and Helen. The dʒɒn. ðə beɪbi iz ðə sɪstə əv dʒɒn ənd helɪn. ðə baby and Helen are sisters. John and Helen are beɪbi ənd helɪn a: sɪstəz. dʒɒn ənd helɪn a:

brother and sister.

brʌðə ənd sɪstə.

Mr. Smith is the husband of Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Smith mɪstə smɪθ iz ðə hʌzbənd əv mɪsɪz smɪθ. mɪsɪz smɪθ is the wife of Mr. Smith. Who is Mr. Smith? He is the iz ðə waɪf əv mɪstə smɪθ. hu: iz mɪstə smɪθ? hi: iz ðə husband of Mrs. Smith and the father of the three (3) hʌzbənd əv mɪsɪz smɪθ ənd ðə fa:ðə əv ðə ʒri:

children. Who is Mrs. Smith? She is the wife of Mr. tʃɪldrən hu: iz mɪsɪz smɪθ? ʃi: iz ðə waɪf əv mɪstə

Smith and the mother of the three (3) children. The smiþ and ða maðə əv ðə pri: tfildrən. ðə three (3) children are the son, the daughter, and the pri: tfildrən a: ðə sʌn, ðə dɔ:tə, and ðə baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Smith. The father, the beibi dɔ:tə əv mistə and misiz smiþ. ðə fa:ðə, ðə mother, the son, the daughter, and the baby daughter maðə, ðə sʌn, ðə dɔ:tə, and ðə beibi dɔ:tə are a family of five (5) persons.

a: ə fæmili əv faiv pə:snz.

EXERCISE A (eksəsaiz ei).

Mr. Smith is a —. Mrs. Smith is a —. John is a —.
 Helen is a —. Helen and the baby are —. John is a —, and Helen and the baby are also —. There — one boy in the family. There — two girls in the family. There — one father in the family. There — three children in the family. John — the son. Mrs. Smith — the mother.
 Mr. and Mrs. Smith — the parents. John, Helen, and the baby — the children. Mr. Smith is — father of John. Helen is the daughter — Mr. Smith. John, Helen, and the baby are — children — Mr. Smith.

The man is — Smith; he — the father. The boy is John; — is the son. The woman is — Smith; — is the mother. The girls are Helen and the baby; — are the daughters. John is the — of Helen. Helen is the — of John. John and Helen are — and —. Mr. Smith

WORDS (wə:dz):

man
 woman
 Mr.
 Mrs. boy
 girl
 baby
 person
 child
 children
 father
 mother
 son daughter sister brother

Chapter One (1).

parents
family
wife husband one two three
a
the
is
are
of there
he
she
they
and also five
in how many?
who?
exercise
word

is the — of Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Smith is the — of Mr. Smith.

There are five — in the family. The five — in the family are the —, the —, the —, the —, and the —. — boy is John; — — the son. — man is Mr. Smith; he is the —. — woman is Mrs. Smith; she is the —. — girls are Helen and the baby; they are the —. — father and — mother are Mr. and Mrs. Smith; they are — parents of the children.

— is Mr. Smith? He is the father — — children. — many children are there in the family? There are — children in the family. How — boys are there in the family? There is — boy in the family. — — girls are there in the family? There are — girls in the family. — are the three children in the family? The — children are John, Helen, and the baby. — is the son? The — is John. — are the daughters? — daughters — Helen and the baby. — — persons — there in the family? There — five — in the family. — are the — persons in — family? — are — father, — mother, — son, and — two daughters.

EXERCISE B (eksəsaiz bi:).

Who is the man? — — — — —. Who is the woman? — — — — —. Who is the boy? — — — — —. Who are the two girls? — — — — —. Who are the parents of John, Helen, and the baby? — — — — —, — — — — —. How many persons are there in the family? — — — — —. Who are the five persons? — — — — —, — —, — —, — —, — —.

How many children are there in the family? — — — — — — —. Who are they? — — —, —, — — —.
How many girls are there in the family? — — — — — — —. Who are they? — — — — —. How many boys are there in the family? — — — — —.
Who is Helen? — — — — —. Who is Mrs.
Smith? — — — — —. Who is Mr. Smith?
— — — — —.

THE YEAR

is
are

February is a month.

There are twelve months.

one - first two - second three - third four - fourth five - fifth six - sixth seven - seventh eight - eighth nine - ninth ten - tenth eleven - eleventh twelve - twelfth thirteen - thirteenth fourteen - fourteenth

January is a month. February is also a month. There dʒænjuəri iz ə mʌnθ. februəri iz ɔ:lsoʊ ə mʌnθ. ðeər are twelve (12) months, one (1), two (2), three (3), a: twelv mʌnθs, wʌn, tu:, pri:, four (4), five (5), six (6), seven (7), eight (8), nine (9), fɔ:, faiv, siks, sevən, eit, nain, ten (10), eleven (11), twelve (12). ten, i'levn, twelv.

January is the first (1st) month. February is the dʒænjuəri iz ðə fə:st mʌnθ. februəri iz ðə second (2nd) month. March is the third (3rd) month. sekənd mʌnθ. mɑ:tʃ iz ðə þə:d mʌnθ.

April is the fourth (4th) month. May is the fifth (5th) eipril iz ðə fɔ:θ mʌnθ. mei iz ðə fifθ month. June is the sixth (6th) month. July is the mʌnθ. dʒu:n iz ðə siksθ mʌnθ. dʒu'lai iz ðə seventh (7th) month. August is the eighth (8th) month. sevənθ mʌnθ. ɔ:gəst iz ði eitθ mʌnθ.

September is the ninth (9th) month. October is the səp'tembə iz ðə nainθ mʌnθ. ɔk'toubə iz ðə tenth (10th) month. November is the eleventh (11th) tenθ mʌnθ. nou'vembə iz ði i'levnθ month. December is the twelfth (12th) month. mʌnθ. di'sembə iz ðə twelfθ mʌnθ.

January and February are months. There are twelve dzænjuəri and februari a: manþs. ðeər a: twelv months in a year. January is the first month of the manþs in ə jiə. dzænjuəri iz ðə fə:st manþ əv ðə year. December is the last month of the year. A year

jiə. di'sembə iz ðə la:st manþ əv ðə jiə. ə jiə has twelve months. A month has four weeks. Three hæz twelv manþs. ə manþ hæz fɔ: wi:ks. pri:

months have thirteen (13) weeks. A week has seven manþs hæv þə:ti:n wi:ks. ə wi:k hæz sevn days. Two weeks have fourteen (14) days. deiz. tu: wi:ks hæv fɔ:ti:n deiz.

How many months are there in a year? There are hau meni manþs a: ðeə in ə jiə? ðeər a: twelve months in a year. How many weeks are there twelv manþs in ə jiə. hau meni wi:ks a: ðeə in a month? There are four weeks in a month. How in ə manþ? ðeər a: fɔ: wi:ks in ə manþ. hau many days are there in a week? There are seven days meni deiz a: ðeə in ə wi:k? ðeər a: sevn deiz in a week. What are the seven days of the week? in ə wi:k. hwɒt a: ðə sevn deiz əv ðə wi:k?

The seven days of the week are: Sunday, Monday, ðə sevn deiz əv ðə wi:k a: : sʌndi, mʌndi,

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday.
tju:zdi, wenzdi, þə:zdi, fraidi, sætədi.

What month is the first month of the year? January is hwɒt manþ iz ðə fə:st manþ əv ðə jiə? dzænjuəri iz has have

One week has seven days.

Two weeks have fourteen days.

what?
which of?
What is the first month of the year?
Which of the months of the year is the first?

the first month of the year. What is the last month of ðə fə:st mʌnθ əv ðə jɪə. hwɒt ɪz ðə la:st mʌnθ əv the year? December is the last month of the year.

ðə jɪə? dɪ'sembə ɪz ðə la:st mʌnθ əv ðə jɪə.

What is the first day of the week? Sunday is the hwɒt ɪz ðə fə:st dei əv ðə wi:k? sʌndi ɪz ðə first day of the week. What is the last day of the fə:st dei əv ðə wi:k. hwɒt ɪz ðə la:st dei əv ðə week? Saturday is the last day of the week.

wi:k? sətədi ɪz ðə la:st dei əv ðə wi:k.

Which of the days of the week is the first? Sunday is hwɪtʃ əv ðə deiəz əv ðə wi:k ɪz ðə fə:st? sʌndi ɪz the first day of the week. Which of the days of the ðə fə:st dei əv ðə wi:k. hwɪtʃ əv ðə deiəz əv ðə week is the second (2nd)? Monday is the second (2nd) day wi:k ɪz ðə sekənd? mʌndi ɪz ðə sekənd dei of the week. Tuesday is the third (3rd) day of the week.

əv ðə wi:k. tju:zdi ɪz ðə þə:d dei əv ðə wi:k.

Wednesday is the fourth (4th) day of the week. Thurswenzdi ɪz ðə fɔ:θ dei əv ðə wi:k. þə:z-day is the fifth (5th) day of the week. Friday is the di ɪz ðə fɪfθ dei əv ðə wi:k. fraɪdi ɪz ðə sixth (6th) day of the week. Saturday is the seventh (7th) sɪksθ dei əv ðə wi:k. sətədi ɪz ðə sevənθ day of the week. Saturday is also the last day of the dei əv ðə wi:k. sətədi ɪz ɔ:lsoʊ ðə la:st dei əv ðə week. Which of the months of the year is the wi:k. hwɪtʃ əv ðə mʌnθs əv ðə jɪə ɪz ðə twelfth (12th)? December is the twelfth (12th) and twelfθ? di'sembə iz ðə twelfθ ənd also the last month of the year. What is the ninth (9th) ɔ:lsoʊ ðə la:st mʌnθ əv ðə jiə. hwɒt iz ðə naɪnθ month of the year? September is the ninth (9th) month.

mʌnθ əv ðə jiə? səp'tembə iz ðə naɪnθ mʌnθ.

What day is the eighth (8th) day of the week? There is hwɒt dei iz ði eitθ dei əv ðə wi:k? ðeər iz no eighth (8th) day of the week. There are only nou eitθ dei əv ðə wi:k. ðeər a: ounli seven (7) days in a week. Which of the months of the sevn deɪz ɪn ə wi:k. hwɪtʃ əv ðə mʌnθs əv ðə year is the thirteenth (13th)? There is no thirteenth jiə iz ðə θə:ti:nθ? ðeər iz nou θə:ti:nθ month of the year. There are only twelve months in mʌnθ əv ðə jiə. ðeər a: ounli twelv mʌnθs ɪn a year.

ə jiə.

EXERCISE A.

January is a —. March and April are —. — is the first month of the year. February is the — month of the year. March is the — month. April is the — month. May is the — month. June is the — month. July is the — month. August is the — month. September is the — month. October is the — month. November is the — month. December is the — and also the — month of the year.

no

There is no eighth day of the week.

WORDS:

four six seven eight nine ten eleven twelve thirteen fourteen
 first second

Chapter Two (2).

third fourth fifth sixth seventh eighth ninth tenth eleventh twelfth thirteenth fourteenth
month
year
week day
January
February
March
April
May
June
July
August
September
October
November
December
Sunday
Monday
Tuesday
Wednesday
Thursday
Friday
Saturday
last

A — has twelve months. A — has seven days. Two — — fourteen days. The seven days of the week are: —, —, —, —, —, —, —. There is — eighth day of the week. There is — thirteenth month; a year has — twelve months. The twelve months of the year are: —, —, —, —, —, —, —, —, —, —, —, —. Sunday is the — day of the week. Saturday is the — — of the week.

How — days are there in a week? There are — days — a week. — many weeks has a month? A month has — weeks. — many weeks — three months? Three months — — weeks. — — months has a year? A year — — months. — is the first month of the year? — is the first month of the year. — is the fourth day of the week? The fourth day of the week is —. — is the last month of the year? The last month of the year is —. — of the months of the year is the thirteenth? There is — thirteenth month; there are — twelve months — a year.

EXERCISE B.

How many months are there in a year? — — — — — — —. How many days has a week? — — — — —.
How many days have two weeks? — — — — —. How many weeks are there in a month? — — — — — — —.
Which of the months of the year is the first? — — — — — — — —. What is the second month? — — — — —. What is the third month? — — — — —. What is the fifth day of the week? — — — — — — — — —.

Which of the days of the week is the eighth? — — — — — — — —. What is the twelfth month of the year?
— — — — —. Which of the days of the week is the last? — — — — —. What is the thirteenth month of the year? — — — — —. How many weeks have three months? — — — — —.

has
have
what?
which of?
no
only

NAMES

The name of the boy is John. The name of the girl ðə neim əv ðə bɔɪ ɪz dʒɒn. ðə neim əv ðə ɡə:l is Helen. The name of the father is Mr. Smith.

ɪz helɪn. ðə neim əv ðə fa:ðə ɪz mɪstə smɪθ.

The name of the mother is Mrs. Smith. What is the ðə neim əv ðə mʌðə ɪz mɪsɪz smɪθ. hwɒt ɪz ðə what?

 it
 they

What is the name of the boy?

It is John.

What are the names of the girls?

They are Helen and Alice.

name of the girl? It is Helen. What is the name neim əv ðə ɡə:l? ɪt ɪz helɪn. hwɒt ɪz ðə neim of the baby girl? It is Alice. What is the name əv ðə beɪbi ɡə:l? ɪt ɪz ælɪs. hwɒt ɪz ðə neim of the boy? It is John. What are the names of the əv ðə bɔɪ? ɪt ɪz dʒɒn. hwɒt a: ðə neɪmz əv ðə parents? They are Mr. and Mrs. Smith. What is the peərənts? ðeɪ a: mɪstə ænd mɪsɪz smɪθ. hwɒt ɪz ðə name of the family? It is Smith. Mr. Smith has a wife.

neim əv ðə fæmɪli? ɪt ɪz smɪθ. mɪstə smɪθ hæz ə waɪf.

Her name is Mrs. Smith. Mr. Smith has a daughter.
hə: neim ɪz mɪsɪz smɪθ. mɪstə smɪθ hæz ə dɔ:tə.

Her name is Helen. Mr. Smith has a son. His name hə: neim ɪz helɪn. mɪstə smɪθ hæz ə sɒn. hɪz neim is John.

ɪz dʒɒn.

Has Mr. Smith a wife? Yes, he has a wife. What hæz mɪstə smɪθ ə waɪf? jes, hi: hæz ə waɪf. hwɒt is the name of his wife? Her name is Mrs. Smith. iz ðə neim əv his waif? hə: neim iz misiz smiþ.

Has Mr. Smith a son? Yes, he has a son. What hæz mistə smiþ ə sʌn? jes, hi: hæz ə sʌn. hwɒt is the name of his son? His name is John. Mr. iz ðə neim əv his sʌn? his neim iz dʒɒn. mistə

Smith has a son and two daughters. What are the smiþ hæz ə sʌn ənd tu: dɔ:təz. hwɒt a: ðə names of the three children? Their names are John, neimz əv ðə þri: tʃildrən? ðeə neimz a: dʒɒn,

Helen, and Alice.
helin, ənd əlis.

John is twelve years old. How old is John? He is dʒɒn iz twelv jɪəz ould. hau ould iz dʒɒn? hi: iz twelve years old. Helen is ten years old. How old is twelv jɪəz ould. helin iz ten jɪəz ould. hau ould iz

Helen? She is ten years old. The baby is six months helin? ʃi: iz ten jɪəz ould. ðə beibi iz siks mʌnθs old. How old is the baby? She is six months old.

ould. hau ould iz ðə beibi? ʃi: iz siks mʌnθs ould.

John is twelve years old, and Helen is ten years dʒɒn iz twelv jɪəz ould, ənd helin iz ten jɪəz old. John is two years older than Helen. Is John ould. dʒɒn iz tu: jɪəz ouldə ðæn helin. iz dʒɒn fourteen (14) years old? No, he is not fourteen fɔ:ti:n jɪəz ould? nou, hi: iz nɒt fɔ:ti:n years old; he is only twelve years old. Is Helen jɪəz ould; hi: iz ɒnli twelv jɪəz ould. iz helin

his her
their

The name of the husband is Mr. Smith. His name is Mr. Smith.

The name of the wife is Mrs. Smith. Her name is Mrs. Smith.

The names of the children are John, Helen, and Alice. Their names are John, Helen, and Alice.

thirteen (13) years old? No, she is not thirteen pə:ti:n jiəz ould? nou, fi: iz nɒt pə:ti:n years old; she is only ten years old. Is Helen jiəz ould; fi: iz ounli ten jiəz ould. iz helin older than John? No, she is not older than John; ouldə ðæn dʒɒn? nou, fi: iz nɒt ouldə ðæn dʒɒn;

John is two years older than she is.
dʒɒn iz tu: jiəz ouldə ðæn fi: iz.

John is not fourteen, but only twelve years old. Helen dʒɒn iz nɒt fɔ:ti:n, bʌt ounli twelv jiəz ould. helin is not thirteen, but only ten years old. John is not a girl, iz nɒt pə:ti:n, bʌt ounli ten jiəz ould. dʒɒn iz nɒt ə ɡɜ:l, but Helen is a girl. Helen is not a boy, but John is a bʌt helin iz ə ɡɜ:l. helin iz nɒt ə bɔi, bʌt dʒɒn iz ə boy. The baby is not old; she is young. She is only six bɔi. ðə beibi iz nɒt ould; fi: iz jʌŋ. fi: iz ounli siks months old. Mr. Smith is a young man; he is thirty-six mʌnθs ould. mistə smiθ iz ə jʌŋ mæn; hi: iz pə:ti'siks (36) years old. Mrs. Smith is a young woman; she is jiəz ould. misiz smiθ iz ə jʌŋ wʊmən; fi: iz thirty-two (32) years old. Mr. Smith has a father. The pə:ti'tu: jiəz ould. mistə smiθ hæz ə fa:ðə. ðə father of Mr. Smith is not young; he is old. He is fa:ðə əv mistə smiθ iz nɒt jʌŋ; hi: iz ould. hi: iz sixty-two (62) years old. John, Helen, and the baby siks'ti'tu: jiəz ould. dʒɒn, helin, ənd ðə beibi are young; they are children. a: jʌŋ; ðei a: tʃildrən.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are also young, but they are older mistə ənd misiz smiþ a: ɔ:lsou jʌŋ, bʌt ðei a: ouldə than the children. The children are younger than their ðæn ðə tʃildrən. ðə tʃildrən a: jʌŋgə ðæn ðeə parents. Is John younger than Helen? No, he is not pɛərənts. iz dʒɒn jʌŋgə ðæn helin? nou, hi: iz nɒt younger than Helen; he is two years older than Helen.

jʌŋgə ðæn helin; hi: iz tu: jɪəz ouldə ðæn helin.

Is the baby younger than Helen? Yes, she is the iz ðə beibi jʌŋgə ðæn helin? jes, ʃi: iz ðə youngest of the children. Which of the persons in the jʌŋgist əv ðə tʃildrən. hwɪtʃ əv ðə pɜ:snz in ðə family is the oldest? The father of Mr. Smith is the fæmili iz ði ouldist? ðə fa:ðə əv mistə smiþ iz ði oldest. Which of the three children is the youngest?

ouldist. hwɪtʃ əv ðə pri: tʃildrən iz ðə jʌŋgist?

The baby is the youngest.
ðə beibi iz ðə jʌŋgist.

Has John three sisters? No, he has only two sisters, hæz dʒɒn pri: sistəz? nou, hi: hæz ounli tu: sistəz, not three. Have Mr. and Mrs. Smith four children?

nɒt pri:. hæv mistə ənd misiz smiþ fɔ: tʃildrən?

No, they have not four children, but only three. Have nou, ðei hæv nɒt fɔ: tʃildrən, bʌt ounli pri:. hæv

Mr. and Mrs. Smith two sons? No, they have only one mistə ənd misiz smiþ tu: sʌnz? nou, ðei hæv ounli wʌn son, but two daughters.

sʌn, bʌt tu: dɔ:təz.

young younger youngest

Helen is young.

She is younger than John.

The baby is the youngest of the three children.

old
 older oldest

How old is John?

John is older than Helen.

The father of Mr.
 Smith is the oldest person in the family.

has
 have

John has two sisters.

Mr. and Mrs.
Smith have three children.

What is the name of the family? The name of the hwɔt iz ðə neim əv ðə fæmili? ðə neim əv ðə family is Smith. What is Helen? Helen is a girl.

fæmili iz smiθ. hwɔt iz helin? helin iz ə ɡə:l.

Which of the children is the boy? John is the boy.
hwɪtʃ əv ðə tʃɪldrən iz ðə bɔɪ? dʒɒn iz ðə bɔɪ.

What day is it? It is Sunday. What is the first day hwɔt dei iz ɪt? ɪt iz sʌndi. hwɔt iz ðə fə:st dei .

of the week? Sunday is the first day of the week.
əv ðə wi:k? sʌndi iz ðə fə:st dei əv ðə wi:k.

What is the name of the first month? The name of hwɔt iz ðə neim əv ðə fə:st mʌnθ? ðə neim əv the first month is January. Which of the months is ðə fə:st mʌnθ iz dʒænjuəri. hwɪtʃ əv ðə mʌnθs iz the second? February is the second month. ðə sekənd? februəri iz ðə sekənd mʌnθ.

EXERCISE A.

The — of the boy is John. The — of the father is — Smith. The — — the mother is — Smith. Mr. Smith has a wife; — name is Mrs. Smith. Mr. Smith has a daughter; — name is Helen. Mr. Smith has a son; — name is John. John has a sister; the name of — sister is Helen. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have three children; — names are John, Helen, and Alice. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have two daughters; — names are Helen and Alice.
 Helen is ten years —. Mr. Smith is thirty-six years —.
 John is two years — than Helen. Helen is nine years and six months — than the baby.

The father of Mr. Smith is the — person in the family. Mr. Smith is older — Mrs. Smith. Helen is older — the baby. John is not fourteen — old; he is only twelve years old. Helen is — thirteen years old; she is — ten years old. Mr. Smith is — old, but young. Mrs. Smith is not a man, — a woman. John is — a girl, — Helen is a girl. John — two sisters. Helen and the baby — one brother. The children — two parents. Mr. and Mrs. Smith — three children. They — only one son, but they — two daughters. Mr. Smith — a wife. Helen — a baby sister. The baby — a brother and a sister.

— is the name of the girl? — is Helen. — is the name of the youngest child? — is Alice. — of the children is the youngest? — — is the youngest. — — the persons in the family is the oldest? The father of Mr. Smith is the —. — are the names of the parents? The names of the parents — Mr. and Mrs. Smith. — of the persons in the family is the youngest? The baby is the — — — the family. — day is it? It is —. — is the last day of the week? — is the last day of the week. — John a girl? —, he is — —. Is Helen — than the baby? Yes, she is — — the baby. Is the baby — — of the children? —, she is — six months —. — Mr. Smith the husband of Mrs. Smith? —, he is — — of Mrs. Smith.

EXERCISE B.

What is the name of the baby girl? — — — — —. Which of the children is the boy? — — — —. What day is it? — — —. What is the first day of the week? — — — — —. What is the name of

WORDS:

name
what?
it

Chapter Three (3).

yes
no
his her
their old
young
than not but thirty-two thirty-six sixty-two the family? — — — — —. Which of the persons in the family is the oldest? — — — — —. Which of the children is the youngest? — — — — —.

How old is she? — — — — —. How old is Mr. Smith?
— — — — —. How old is Helen? — — — — —. How many years is John older than Helen? — — — — —.
Is Helen older than the baby? —, — — — — —.

Is Mrs. Smith older than Mr. Smith? —, — — — — — — —. Is John old? —, — — — —. Is the father of Mr. Smith old? —, — — —. Are the children young?
—, — — —. Are the parents old? —, — — — —. Has John three sisters? —, — — — — —. Have the parents three children? —, — — — —. Have the girls a brother? —, — — — —. Are John and Helen brother and sister? —, — — — — —. Have they a sister? —, — — — —. Have Mr. and Mrs. Smith two sons? —, — — — — —. What is his name? — — — —. Which of the children is ten years old? — — — — —.

COUNTRIES AND CITIES

Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their three children live in mɪstə ənd mɪsɪz smɪθ ənd ðeə ˈpriː tʃɪldrən liv ɪn England. They live in a house. Has their house a ɪŋɡlənd. ðeɪ liv ɪn ə haʊs. hæz ðeə haʊs ə window? Yes, their house has many windows. How wɪndəʊ? jɛs, ðeə haʊs hæz mæni ˈwɪndəʊz. haʊ many windows has their house? It has eight windows.

mæni ˈwɪndəʊz hæz ðeə haʊs? ɪt hæz eɪt ˈwɪndəʊz.

Has their house a door? Yes, it has two doors. It hæz ðeə haʊs ə dɔː? jɛs, ɪt hæz tuː dɔːz. ɪt has also a roof. The roof is the top of the house.

hæz əˈlsəʊ ə ruːf. ðə ruːf ɪz ðə tɒp əv ðə haʊs.

What is the top of the house? The top of the house hwɒt ɪz ðə tɒp əv ðə haʊs? ðə tɒp əv ðə haʊs is the roof. The house has four walls. Has the ɪz ðə ruːf. ðə haʊs hæz fɔː wɔːlz. hæz ðə house a fifth wall? No, it has only four walls. The haʊs ə fɪfθ wɔːl? nəʊ, ɪt hæz ɒnli fɔː wɔːlz. ðə windows and the doors are in the walls. wɪndəʊz ənd ðə dɔːz aː ɪn ðə wɔːlz.

Where is London? London is in England. Where is hwɛər ɪz lɒndən? lɒndən ɪz ɪn ɪŋɡlənd. hwɛər ɪz

Paris? Paris is in France. Where is Stockholm? pæɪs? pæɪs ɪz ɪn fraːns. hwɛər ɪz stɒkhuːm?

Chapter Four (4).

Europe

one girl
two girls

one boy two boys

one city
two cities

one country
two countries

Baby = the baby

Helen and Baby
are sisters.

Helen and the baby
are sisters.

as - as
(not) so - as

Mr. Smith is as big as his father.

Baby is not so big as Helen.

Stockholm is in Sweden. Where is Berlin? Berlin is stɒkˌhoʊm ɪz ɪn swiːdn. hweər ɪz bæˈlɪn? bæˈlɪn ɪz in Germany. Where is Copenhagen? Copenhagen is ɪn dʒəˈmæni. hweər ɪz kəʊpnˈheɪɡən? kəʊpnˈheɪɡən ɪz in Denmark. Where is Oslo? Oslo is in Norway.

ɪn denmaːk. hweər ɪz ɔslou? ɔslou ɪz ɪn nɔːwei.

Where is Moscow? Moscow is in Russia. Where is hweər ɪz mɒskəʊ? mɒskəʊ ɪz ɪn rʌʃə. hweər ɪz

Helsinki (Helsingfors)? Helsinki is in Finland. Enghelsɪŋki (helsɪŋfɔːs)? helsɪŋki ɪz ɪn fɪnlənd. ɪŋ-land is a country. Russia is a country. England and ɡlænd ɪz ə kəntri. rʌʃə ɪz ə kəntri. ɪŋɡlənd ənd

Russia are two countries.

rʌʃə aː tuː kəntriz.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their children live in London.
mɪstə ənd mɪsɪz smɪθ ənd ðeə ʔfɪldrən lɪv ɪn ləndən.

London is a city. Copenhagen is also a city. London lændən ɪz ə sɪti. kəʊpnˈheɪɡən ɪz ɔːlsəʊ ə sɪti. lændən and Copenhagen are two cities. There are many ənd kəʊpnˈheɪɡən aː tuː sɪtɪz. ðeər aː mæni houses in London. London is a big city. There are haʊsɪz ɪn lændən. lændən ɪz ə bɪɡ sɪti. ðeər aː also many houses in Copenhagen. Copenhagen is also ɔːlsəʊ mæni haʊsɪz ɪn kəʊpnˈheɪɡən. kəʊpnˈheɪɡən ɪz ɔːlsəʊ a big city, but Copenhagen is not so big a city as London.

ə bɪɡ sɪti, bʌt kəʊpnˈheɪɡən ɪz nɒt səʊ bɪɡ ə sɪti əz lændən.

Helen is a big girl, but she is not so big as John. Is helɪn ɪz ə bɪɡ ɡɜːl, bʌt ʃiː ɪz nɒt səʊ bɪɡ əz dʒɒn. ɪz Baby as big as Helen? No, Baby is not so big as Helen; beibi æz big æz helin? nou, beibi iz nɔt sou big æz helin;

she is only a small girl. Is John as big as his father?
ʃi: iz ounli ə smɔ:l gəl. iz dʒɔn æz big æz hiz fa:ðə?

No, John is not so big as his father. Is Helen as big nou, dʒɔn iz nɔt sou big æz hiz fa:ðə. iz helin æz big as her mother? No, Helen is not so big as her mother.

æz hæ: mʌðə? nou, helin iz nɔt sou big æz hæ: mʌðə.

John is bigger than Helen, and Mrs. Smith is bigger dʒɔn iz bigə ðæn helin, ənd misiz smiθ iz bigə than John. Which is the biggest of the three children?

ðæn dʒɔn. hwɪtʃ iz ðə bigist əv ðə ʒri: tʃɪldrən?

John is the biggest. Which is the biggest of the cities dʒɔn iz ðə bigist. hwɪtʃ iz ðə bigist əv ðə sitiz in Europe? London is the biggest city in Europe. in juərəp? lʌndən iz ðə bigist siti in juərəp.

England is a country in Europe. London is the biggest ɪŋɡlənd iz ə kʌntri in juərəp. lʌndən iz ðə bigist city in England. Sweden is a country in Europe. Stocksiti in ɪŋɡlənd. swi:dn iz ə kʌntri in juərəp. stɔkholm is the biggest city in Sweden. houm iz ðə bigist siti in swi:dn.

Mr. Smith is English. He lives in England. Mrs. Smith mɪstə smiθ iz ɪŋɡlɪʃ. hi: livz in ɪŋɡlənd. misiz smiθ is English. She lives in England. Their children are iz ɪŋɡlɪʃ. ʃi: livz in ɪŋɡlənd. ðeə tʃɪldrən a:

English. They live in England. The English live in ɪŋɡlɪʃ. ðei liv in ɪŋɡlənd. ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ liv in big bigger biggest

Helen is a big girl.

John is bigger than Helen.

John is the biggest of the children.

which... of?
= which of?

Which is the biggest of the three children?
= Which of the three children is the biggest?

Chapter Four (4).

lives
live

John lives in a house.

John and Helen live in a house.

England. The Danes live in Denmark. The Finlanders inglənd. ðə deɪnz liv ɪn denma:k. ðə fɪnlændəz live in Finland. The Russians live in Russia. The liv ɪn fɪnlənd. ðə rʌʃənz liv ɪn rʌʃə. ðə Swedes live in Sweden. The Norwegians live in Norway.

swi:dz liv ɪn swi:dn. ðə nɔ:'wi:dʒənz liv ɪn nɔ:'wei.

The Germans live in Germany. The French live in ðə dʒə:mənz liv ɪn dʒə:məni. ðə frenʃ liv ɪn France.

fra:ns.

England is bigger than Denmark, but it is not so big as inglənd ɪz bɪgə ðæn denma:k, bʌt ɪt ɪz nɒt səʊ bɪg əz France. Norway is bigger than Denmark, but it is not fra:ns. nɔ:'wei ɪz bɪgə ðæn denma:k, bʌt ɪt ɪz nɒt so big as Sweden. The house of Mr. and Mrs. Smith səʊ bɪg əz swi:dn. ðə haʊs əv mɪstə ənd mɪsɪz smɪθ is not a big house; it is a small house. Baby is not a ɪz nɒt ə bɪg haʊs; ɪt ɪz ə smɔ:l haʊs. beɪbi ɪz nɒt ə big girl; she is only a small girl. Helen is smaller than bɪg ɡɜ:l; ʃi: ɪz ɒnli ə smɔ:l ɡɜ:l. helɪn ɪz smɔ:lə ðæn

John, and John is smaller than his father. Helen is dʒɒn, ənd dʒɒn ɪz smɔ:lə ðæn hɪz fa:ðə. helɪn ɪz smaller than her mother. There are many houses in smɔ:lə ðæn hɜ: mʌðə. ðeər a: meni haʊsɪz ɪn a big city. There are many big cities in a big country.

ə bɪg sɪti. ðeər a: meni bɪg sɪtɪz ɪn ə bɪg kʌntri.

Denmark is not a big country; it is only a small country.
denma:k ɪz nɒt ə bɪg kʌntri; ɪt ɪz ɒnli ə smɔ:l kʌntri.

There are not many big cities in Denmark.

ðeər a: nɒt meni biɡ sitiz in denma:k.

Mr. Smith is a man; his father is also a man. Mr.

mɪstə smɪθ ɪz ə mæn; hɪz fa:ðə ɪz ɔ:lsoʊ ə mæn. mɪstə

Smith and his father are two men. Mrs. Smith is a smɪθ ænd hɪz fa:ðə a: tu: men. mɪsɪz smɪθ ɪz ə woman; her sister is also a woman. Mrs. Smith and her wʊmən; hɜ: sɪstə ɪz ɔ:lsoʊ ə wʊmən. mɪsɪz smɪθ ænd hɜ:

sister are two women. Boys and girls are children.

sɪstə a: tu: wɪmɪn. bɔɪz ænd ɡɜ:lz a: tʃɪldrən.

Men, women, and children are people (persons). There men, wɪmɪn, ænd tʃɪldrən a: pi:pl (pə:snz). ðeər are many people in England. How many people are a: meni pi:pl in ɪŋɡlənd. haʊ meni pi:pl a:

there in England? There are forty-five (45) million people ðeə in ɪŋɡlənd? ðeər a: fɔ:ti'faɪv mɪljən pi:pl in England. How many people are there in Finland?

in ɪŋɡlənd. haʊ meni pi:pl a: ðeə in fɪnlənd?

There are more than three million people in Finland.

ðeər a: mɔ: ðæn þri: mɪljən pi:pl in fɪnlənd.

There are more people in England than in Denmark.

ðeər a: mɔ: pi:pl in ɪŋɡlənd ðæn in denma:k.

There are not so many people in Denmark as in Sweden.

ðeər a: nɒt soʊ meni pi:pl in denma:k əz in swi:dn.

There are six million people in Sweden. There are ðeər a: sɪks mɪljən pi:pl in swi:dn. ðeər a:

more Swedes than Danes.

mɔ: swi:dz ðæn deɪnz.

one man [mæn]
two men [men]

one woman [wʊmən] two women
[wɪmɪn]

What people live in England? The English live in hwɔt pi:pl liv in ɪŋɡlænd? ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ liv in England. What people live in France? The French ɪŋɡlænd. hwɔt pi:pl liv in fra:ns? ðə. frenʃ live in France. What people live in Russia? The liv in fra:ns. hwɔt pi:pl liv in rʌʃə? ðə Russians live in Russia.

rʌʃənz liv in rʌʃə.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have a son. Have they more than mɪstə ænd mɪsɪz smɪθ hæv ə sʌn. hæv ðei mɔ: ðæn one child? Yes, they have three children. They have wʌn tʃaɪld? jɛs, ðei hæv θri: tʃɪldrən. ðei hæv two girls, but only one boy. They have more girls than tu: ɡɜ:lz, bʌt ʌnli wʌn bɔɪ. ðei hæv mɔ: ɡɜ:lz ðæn boys. Has John more than two sisters? No, he has bɔɪz. hæz dʒɒn mɔ: ðæn tu: sɪstəz? nʌu, hi: hæz only two sisters. Are there more than four persons in ʌnli tu: sɪstəz. a: ðeə mɔ: ðæn fɔ: pɜ:snz in the family? Yes, there are five persons in the family.

ðə fæmɪli? jɛs, ðeə a: faɪv pɜ:snz in ðə fæmɪli.

What more persons are there in the family than the hwɔt mɔ: pɜ:snz a: ðeə in ðə fæmɪli ðæn ðə father and the mother? There are the three children.

fɑ:ðə ænd ðə maðə? ðeə a: ðə θri: tʃɪldrən.

EXERCISE A.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their three children — in England. They — in a house. Mr. Smith — in England.

The — of Mr. and Mrs. Smith has eight windows. The — of the house are in the walls. The — has two doors. The two — of the house are in the —. The house has four —. The windows and the doors are in the —. The — is the top of the house. The — of the house is the roof.

England is a —. Sweden is also a —. London is a —. Stockholm is also a —. London and Stockholm are two —. There are many — in London. London has — houses. Denmark is a country in —. Russia is also a country in —. Mr. Smith and his father are two —. Mrs. Smith and her sister are two —. The mother of Mrs. Smith is also a —. London is a — city. Copenhagen is also a — city, but Copenhagen is not so big a city — London. Helen is a big girl, but she is — — big as John.

Is Baby — big — Helen? No, Baby is — — big as Helen. Is John — big — his father? No, John is — — big — his father. John is bigger — Helen, and Mrs. Smith is bigger — John. Helen is — than John. — is the biggest of the three children? John is the — of the three children. — is the biggest of the cities in Europe? London is the — city in Europe. — is the name of the biggest city in Norway? It is —. Where — London? London is in —. — is Paris? Paris is in —. — is Stockholm? Stockholm is in —. — is Berlin? Berlin is in —. — is Moscow? Moscow is in —.

WORDS:

live
house window door wall roof top
where?
France
French
Sweden
Swede
Germany
German
Denmark
Dane
Norway
Norwegian
Europe
England
English
Russia
Russian
Finland
Finlander country
city
Paris
Stockholm
Berlin
Oslo
Helsinki
Helsingfors
Copenhagen
Moscow

London
big so
as small men women
people
forty-five million more

EXERCISE B.

What people live in England? ... What people live in Russia? ... What people live in Sweden? ... Is England bigger than Denmark? ... Is England bigger than France? ... Is Norway bigger than Sweden? ... What people live in Norway? ... Is Russia bigger than Germany? ... What people live in Germany? ... What people live in France? ... Is the house of Mr. and Mrs. Smith a big house? ... Is Baby a big girl? ... Is Helen smaller than John? ... Is Helen bigger than her mother? ... What are boys and girls? ... What are men, women, and children? ... Are there many people in England? ... How many people are there in Finland? ... Are there more people in Denmark than in Sweden? ... Are there more people in England than in Denmark? ... Are there more Danes than Swedes? ... How many boys and girls have Mr. and Mrs. Smith? ...

THE BODY

A person has four limbs. All persons have four limbs.
a pə:sn hæz fɔ: limz. ɔ:l pə:snz hæv fɔ: limz.

The four limbs are on the body. The four limbs are the ðə fɔ: limz a: ɔn ðə bɔdi. ðə fɔ: limz a: ðə two arms and the two legs. How many limbs has John? tu: a:mz ənd ðə tu: legz. hau meni limz hæz dʒɔn?

John has four limbs. What are the four limbs? The four dʒɔn hæz fɔ: limz. hwɔt a: ðə fɔ: limz? ðə fɔ:

limbs are the two arms and the two legs. On the arm limz a: ðə tu: a:mz ənd ðə tu: legz. ɔn ði a:m is a hand, and the hand has five fingers. Where are the iz ə hænd, ənd ðə hænd hæz faɪv fɪŋgəz. hwɛər a: ðə hands? The hands are on the arms. How many fingers hændz? ðə hændz a: ɔn ði a:mz. hau meni fɪŋgəz has the hand? The hand has five fingers. hæz ðə hænd? ðə hænd hæz faɪv fɪŋgəz.

On the leg is a foot, and the foot has five toes. All legs ɔn ðə leg iz ə fut, ənd ðə fut hæz faɪv tu:z. ɔ:l legz have feet, and all feet have five toes. Where are the hæv fi:t, ənd ɔ:l fi:t hæv faɪv tu:z. hwɛər a: ðə feet? The feet are on the legs. How many toes has the fi:t? ðə fi:t a: ɔn ðə legz. hau meni tu:z hæz ðə foot? The foot has five toes. How many fingers has fut? ðə fut hæz faɪv tu:z. hau meni fɪŋgəz hæz one toe two toes

one foot two feet

's

John's hair = the hair of John.

Mrs. Smith's hair = the hair of Mrs. Smith.

Helen? She has ten fingers on her two hands. How many helin? fi: hæz ten fɪŋgəz ɔn hə: tu: hændz. hau meni toes has she? She has ten toes on her two feet. The body təʊz hæz fi: fi: hæz ten təʊz ɔn hə: tu: fi:t. ðə bɒdi has a head. What is the head? The head is the top of hæz ə hed. hwɒt ɪz ðə hed? ðə hed ɪz ðə tɒp əv the body. On the head many persons have hair. Not ðə bɒdi. ɔn ðə hed meni pə:snz hæv heə. nɒt all persons have hair; many old men have no hair.

ɔ:l pə:snz hæv heə; meni ould men hæv nou heə.

Has Mr. Smith long hair? No, he has short hair. Is Mrs. hæz mɪstə smɪθ lɔŋ heə? nou, hi: hæz ʃɔ:t heə. ɪz mɪsɪz Smith's hair long? Yes, she has long hair; she has longer smɪθs heə lɔŋ? jɛs, fi: hæz lɔŋ heə; fi: hæz lɔŋgə hair than Mr. Smith. Is Helen's hair also long? No, she heə ðæn mɪstə smɪθ. ɪz helɪnz heə ɔ:lsoʊlɔŋ? nou, fi:

has short hair, but John's hair is shorter than Helen's. hæz ʃɔ:t heə, bʌt dʒɒnz heə ɪz ʃɔ:tə ðæn helɪnz.

Who has most hair, Mrs. Smith or Helen or John? Mrs. hu: hæz moʊst heə, mɪsɪz smɪθ ɔ: helɪn ɔ: dʒɒn? mɪsɪz

Smith has most hair; her hair is the longest. Has John smɪθ hæz moʊst heə; hə: heə ɪz ðə lɔŋgɪst. hæz dʒɒn more hair than Helen? No, Helen has more hair than mɔ: heə ðæn helɪn? nou, helɪn hæz mɔ: heə ðæn

John, but Mrs. Smith has most hair of all the persons dʒɒn, bʌt mɪsɪz smɪθ hæz moʊst heə əv ɔ:l ðə pə:snz in the family. Mrs. Smith has long hair; she has much ɪn ðə fæmɪli. mɪsɪz smɪθ hæz lɔŋ heə; fi: hæz mʌtʃ hair. She has more hair than Helen. She has most hair hɛə. ʃi: hæz mɔ: hɛə ðæn helin. ʃi: hæz maʊst hɛə of all the persons in the family. Has John much hair?

əv ɔ:l ðə pɜ:snz in ðə fæmili. hæz dʒɒn mʌtʃ hɛə?

No, he has not much hair; his hair is short; but Mrs. nou, hi: hæz nɒt mʌtʃ hɛə; hiz hɛə iz ʃɔ:t; bʌt misiz

Smith has much hair; she has more hair than Mr. Smith smiθ hæz mʌtʃ hɛə; ʃi: hæz mɔ: hɛə ðæn mistə smiθ and the children. Have all men and women hair? No, ænd ðə tʃɪldrən. hæv ɔ:l men ænd wɪmɪn hɛə? nou, not all men and women have hair; but most persons nɒt ɔ:l men ænd wɪmɪn hæv hɛə; bʌt maʊst pɜ:snz have hair.

hæv hɛə.

A person has a face. The face has two eyes and two ə pɜ:sn hæz ə feɪs. ðə feɪs hæz tu: aɪz ænd tu:

ears. All persons have faces, and all faces have two
iəz. ɔ:l pɜ:snz hæv feɪsɪz, ænd ɔ:l feɪsɪz hæv tu:

eyes and two ears. How many eyes has Helen? Helen aɪz ænd tu: iəz. haʊ meni aɪz hæz helin? helin has two eyes; she has also two ears. Helen has also a hæz tu: aɪz; ʃi: hæz ɔ:lsoʊ tu: iəz. helin hæz ɔ:lsoʊ ə mouth and a nose in her face. Where are the nose and maʊθ ænd ə naʊz in hɜ: feɪs. hwɛər a: ðə naʊz ænd the mouth? They are in the face. What is the face?

ðə maʊθ? ðeɪ a: in ðə feɪs. hwɒt iz ðə feɪs?

The face is part of the head. What is on the head?
ðə feɪs iz pɑ:t əv ðə hed. hwɒt iz ɒn ðə hed?

much
 more most

Mrs. Smith has much hair.

She has more hair
 than Helen.

She has most hair of all the persons
 in the family.

many
 more
 most

There are many people in Sweden.

There are more people in England.

There are most people in Germany.

There is hair on the head. Is the arm bigger than the ðeər iz hɛə ɔn ðə hed. iz ði a:m bigə ðæn ðə leg? No, the arm is smaller than the leg.

leg? nou, ði a:m iz smɔ:lə ðæn ðə leg.

Are the fingers part of the face? No, the fingers are a: ðə fɪŋgəz pɑ:t əv ðə feɪs? nou, ðə fɪŋgəz a: part of the hands. What are the hands part of? The pɑ:t əv ðə hændz. hwɔt a: ðə hændz pɑ:t əv? ðə hands are part of the arms. What are the ears part of?

hændz a: pɑ:t əv ði a:mz. hwɔt a: ði iəz pɑ:t əv?

The ears are part of the head. Are the feet part of the ði iəz a: pɑ:t əv ðə hed. a: ðə fi:t pɑ:t əv ði arms or of the legs? The feet are part of the legs. Is a:mz ɔ: əv ðə legz? ðə fi:t a: pɑ:t əv ðə legz. iz the baby a boy or a girl? She is a girl. Is Mr. Smith ðə beɪbi ə bɔɪ ɔ: ə gɜ:l? ʃi: iz ə gɜ:l. iz mɪstə smɪθ young or old? He is young.

jʌŋ ɔ: ould? hi: iz jʌŋ.

The neck is part of the body. On the neck is the head.
ðə nek iz pɑ:t əv ðə bɔdi. ɔn ðə nek iz ðə hed.

The stomach is also part of the body. The stomach is ðə stʌmək iz ɔ:lsou pɑ:t əv ðə bɔdi. ðə stʌmək iz at the front of the body. The back is also part of the æt ðə frʌnt əv ðə bɔdi. ðə bæk iz ɔ:lsou pɑ:t əv ðə body. The back is at the back of the body. The arms bɔdi. ðə bæk iz æt ðə bæk əv ðə bɔdi. ði a:mz are at the sides of the body. Where is the neck? The a: æt ðə saɪdz əv ðə bɔdi. hwɛər iz ðə nek? ðə neck is at the top of the body. Is the back at the top nek iz æt ðe tɒp əv ðə bɒdi. iz ðə bæk æt ðə tɒp of the body? No, it is at the back of the body. Where əv ðə bɒdi? nou, it iz æt ðə bæk əv ðə bɒdi. hwɛər is the stomach? The stomach is at the front of the body. iz ðə stʌmək? ðə stʌmək iz æt ðə frʌnt əv ðə bɒdi.

The face is at the front of the head, and the ears are at ðə feɪs iz æt ðə frʌnt əv ðə hed, and ði iəz a: æt the sides of the head. Where are the arms? The arms ðə saɪdz əv ðə hed. hwɛər a: ði a:mz? ði a:mz are at the sides of the body.

a: æt ðə saɪdz əv ðə bɒdi.

EXERCISE A.

The body has four —. The four limbs of the body are the two — and the two —. On the arm is a —, and the hand has five —. The foot has five —. There are ten toes on the two —. On the — is hair. The head has a —. The face has two —, two —, a —, and a —. Mrs. Smith has — hair; her hair is — than Helen's; she has the — hair of all the persons in the family. John's hair is —; it is — than Helen's hair, but Baby has the — hair of all the children. — Helen much hair? No, she has not — hair, but she has — hair than John. Mrs. Smith has — hair of all the persons in the family.

WORDS:

body
 all limb arm leg on or hand finger foot feet toe head

part
at hair long short
much
face eye ear mouth nose neck stomach
front back side
most

There are not — people in Denmark. There are — people in Sweden — in Denmark, but there are — people in Germany. Mr. — house is in England. Mrs. — hair is long. The windows are in the walls — the house. The roof — — house is at the top. The — is at the top of the body, and on the neck is the —. The arms are at the — of the body. The back is at the — of the —. The stomach is at the — of the body. Are the hands part of the arms — of the legs? — are part of the arms. Is Baby a boy — a girl? She is a —. — are the feet part of? They are part of the —. What are the fingers — of? — are part of the hands. — is the face? The face is — — front of the head. — all persons faces? Yes, — persons have faces, and all faces have two —, two —, a —, and a —. Have — persons hair? No, but — persons have hair.

EXERCISE B.

How many limbs has a person? ... What are the four limbs? ... Where are the fingers? ... What are the hands part of? ... On what part of the body are the toes? ... How many fingers and toes has Helen? ... How many legs has a person? ... What is in the face? ... Where is the stomach? ... Where are the arms? ... Is the neck at the top of the body? ... Where is the head? ... What is on the head? ... Has Helen more hair than Mrs. Smith? ... Has Mrs. Smith much hair? ... Which has most hair of all the persons in the family?

... Which of the children has the shortest hair? ...
Have all people hair? ... What is at the back of the body? ... Are there many people in Denmark? ... Are there more people in England than in Germany? ...
Which of the children is the biggest? ... Which is the smallest of the children? ... Is Helen bigger than John? ...

THE GARDEN

tree

branch

tall = high

tall

high

Big persons are tall.Big houses are high.

Mr. Smith's house is in a garden. In the garden there mistə smiþs haus iz in ə ga:dn. in ðə ga:dn ðeər are many trees. There are big trees and there are a: meni tri:z. ðeər a: big tri:z and ðeər a: small trees in the garden. The big trees are tall. The smɔ:l tri:z in ðə ga:dn. ðə big tri:z a: tɔ:l. ðə small trees are low. Where is Mr. Smith's house? It is smɔ:l tri:z a: lou. hwɛər iz mistə smiþs haus? it iz in a garden. Are there only tall trees in the garden? in ə ga:dn. a: ðeə ounli tɔ:l tri:z in ðə ga:dn?

No, there are also low trees. Is Mr. Smith's house a nou, ðeər a: ɔ:lsou lou tri:z. iz mistə smiþs haus ə high house? No, it is not high; it is only low, but it hai haus? nou, it iz nɒt hai; it iz ounli lou, bʌt it is higher than the low trees. The tall trees are higher iz haia ðæn ðə lou tri:z. ðə tɔ:l tri:z a: haia than the house. Are all the trees in the garden tall?

ðæn ðə haus. a: ɔ:l ðə tri:z in ðə ga:dn tɔ:l?

No, some of the trees are tall, and some of the trees nou, sam əv ðə tri:z a: tɔ:l, and sam əv ðə tri:z are low. Are all persons big? No, some persons are a: lou. a: ɔ:l pə:snz big? nou, sam pə:snz a:

big, and some persons are small. Mr. Smith is tall, big, and sam pə:snz a: smɔ:l. mistə smiþ iz tɔ:l, but Mrs. Smith is not so tall. She is taller than John bət misiz smiθ iz nɒt sou tə:l. ʃi: iz tə:lə ðæn dʒɒn and Helen. Are all persons tall? No, some persons and helin. a: ɔ:l pə:snz tə:l? nou, sʌm pə:snz are tall, and some persons are short.

a: tə:l, and sʌm pə:snz a: ʃɔ:t.

A tree is a plant; a flower is a plant. Trees are tall ə tri: iz ə plɑ:nt; ə flauə iz ə plɑ:nt. tri:z a: tə:l plants. A bush is also a plant. Flowers and grass are plɑ:nts. ə buʃ iz ɔ:lsou ə plɑ:nt. flauəz and grɑ:s a:

low plants. Are trees the only plants in the garden?
lou plɑ:nts. a: tri:z ði ounli plɑ:nts in ðə gɑ:dn?

No, there are also other plants in the garden. Is Helen nou, ðeər a: ɔ:lsou ʌðə plɑ:nts in ðə gɑ:dn. iz helin the only girl in the family? No, there is also another ði ounli gə:l in ðə fæmili? nou, ðeər iz ɔ:lsou ə'nʌðə girl in the family; the baby is the other girl in the gə:l in ðə fæmili; ðə beibi iz ði ʌðə gə:l in ðə family. There is only one son in the family; John is fæmili. ðeər iz ounli wʌn sʌn in ðə fæmili; dʒɒn iz the only son in the family.

ði ounli sʌn in ðə fæmili.

Which of the plants in the garden are the biggest? The hwɪtʃ əv ðə plɑ:nts in ðə gɑ:dn a: ðə biɡist? ðə trees are the biggest plants. What are the other plants tri:z a: ðə biɡist plɑ:nts. hwɒt a: ði ʌðə plɑ:nts in the garden? The other plants are the flowers, the in ðə gɑ:dn? ði ʌðə plɑ:nts a: ðə flauəz, ðə low

short

Small trees and small houses are low.

Small persons are short.

one branch
two branches

one bush
two bushes

one leaf two leaves bushes, and the grass. The trees and the flowers have bʊʃɪz, and ðə grɑ:s. ðə tri:z and ðə flauəz hæv leaves. The colour of a leaf is green. Are the bushes li:vz. ðə kʌlə əv ə li:f ɪz gri:n. a: ðə bʊʃɪz tall plants? No, the bushes are low plants; they have tɔ:l plɑ:nts? nou, ðə bʊʃɪz a: lou plɑ:nts; ðei hæv branches and leaves. Have flowers branches? No, brɑ:nʃɪz ənd li:vz. hæv flauəz brɑ:nʃɪz? nou, flowers have no branches, but they have leaves. Have flauəz hæv nou brɑ:nʃɪz, bʌt ðei hæv li:vz. hæv trees branches? Yes, trees have branches as well as tri:z brɑ:nʃɪz? jes, tri:z hæv brɑ:nʃɪz əz wel əz leaves. What is the colour of grass? The colour of li:vz. hwɒt ɪz ðə kʌlə əv grɑ:s? ðə kʌlə əv grass is green. Have the trees and the bushes leaves?

grɑ:s ɪz gri:n. hæv ðə tri:z ənd ðə bʊʃɪz li:vz?
 Yes, both the trees and the bushes have leaves.
jes, bəʊθ ðə tri:z ənd ðə bʊʃɪz hæv li:vz.
 What is the colour of a leaf? The colour of a leaf is hwɒt ɪz ðə kʌlə əv ə li:f? ðə kʌlə əv ə li:f ɪz green. Are there flowers only in the garden? No, gri:n. a: ðeə flauəz ounli ɪn ðə gɑ:dn? nou, Mrs. Smith has some flowers in the house; there are mɪsɪz smɪθ hæz sʌm flauəz ɪn ðə haʊs; ðeər a: flowers both in the garden and in the house. There flauəz bəʊθ ɪn ðə gɑ:dn ənd ɪn ðə haʊs. ðeər are flowers in the house as well as in the garden. Are a: flauəz ɪn ðə haʊs əz wel əz ɪn ðə gɑ:dn. a:

both Helen and Alice girls? Yes, both Helen and Alice bouþ helin and ælis gæ:lz? jes, bouþ helin and ælis are girls. John and Helen as well as the baby are a: gæ:lz. dʒɒn and helin æz wel æz ðə beibi a: children. Have the girls short hair? Yes, both of the tʃɪldrən. hæv ðə gæ:lz ʃɔ:t hɛə? jes, bouþ əv ðə girls have short hair. Both Helen and the baby have gæ:lz hæv ʃɔ:t hɛə. bouþ helin and ðə beibi hæv short hair.
ʃɔ:t hɛə.

Some trees in the garden have fruit. A pear is a fruit.
səm tri:z in ðə ɡɑ:dən hæv fru:t. ə peə iz ə fru:t.

An apple is a fruit. What is a pear? A pear is a fruit.
ən æpl iz ə fru:t. hwɒt iz ə peə? ə peə iz ə fru:t.

Are there other fruits? Yes, the apple is another fruit.
a: ðeə ʌðə fru:ts? jes, ði æpl iz ə'nʌðə fru:t.

The year has four seasons. Summer is a season, winter ðə jɪə hæz fɔ: si:znz. sʌmə iz ə si:zn, wɪntə is a season, spring is a season, and autumn is a season.
iz ə si:zn, sprɪŋ iz ə si:zn, and ɔ:təm iz ə si:zn.

The summer-months are June, July, and August. The ðə sʌməmʌnθs a: dʒu:n, dʒu'laɪ, and ɔ:gəst. ði autumn-months are September, October, and November.
ɔ:təmʌnθs a: səp'tembə, ɔk'təʊbə, and nou'vembə.

The winter-months are December, January, and Feðə wɪntəmʌnθs a: dɪ'sembə, dʒænjuəri, and february. The spring-months are March, April, and May.
bruəri. ðə sprɪŋmʌnθs a: mɑ:ʃ, eɪprɪl, and meɪ.

both - and as well as

Both Helen and
 the baby are girls.
 Helen and John as well as the baby
 are children.

both of

Both of the girls are young.

are in blossom = have flowers

when?
when

When is spring?

Spring is when the fruit trees are in blossom.

How many seasons has a year? A year has four seasons.
hau meni si:znz hæz ə jiə? ə jiə hæz fɔ: si:znz.

What are the four seasons? The four seasons are spring, hwɒt a: ðə fɔ: si:znz? ðə fɔ: si:znz a: sprɪŋ, summer, autumn, and winter. How long is a season?
samə, ɔ:təm, ənd wɪntə. hau lɔŋ ɪz ə si:zn?

A season is three months. When is summer? Summer ə si:zn ɪz pri: mʌnθs. hwɛn ɪz samə? samə is the months of June, July, and August. When is ɪz ðə mʌnθs əv dʒu:n, dʒu'lai, ənd ɔ:gəst. hwɛn ɪz winter? Winter is the months of December, January, wɪntə? wɪntə ɪz ðə mʌnθs əv dɪ'sembə, dʒænjuəri, and February. In spring the fruit trees are in blossom; ənd febrʊəri. ɪn sprɪŋ ðə fru:t tri:z a: ɪn blɒsəm; the fruit trees are in blossom when it is spring.

ðə fru:t tri:z a: ɪn blɒsəm hwɛn ɪt ɪz sprɪŋ.

The trees have no leaves when it is winter. In summer ðə tri:z hæv nou li:vz hwɛn ɪt ɪz wɪntə. ɪn samə and autumn the trees have fruit. When are the fruit ənd ɔ:təm ðə tri:z hæv fru:t. hwɛn a: ðə fru:t trees in blossom? The fruit trees are in blossom in tri:z ɪn blɒsəm? ðə fru:t tri:z a: ɪn blɒsəm ɪn spring. When have the trees fruit? The trees have sprɪŋ. hwɛn hæv ðə tri:z fru:t? ðə tri:z hæv fruit in summer and in autumn. Have the bushes also fru:t ɪn samə ənd ɪn ɔ:təm. hæv ðə buʃɪz ɔ:lsəu fruit? Yes, some of the bushes have fruit. The fruits fru:t? jɛs, sʌm əv ðə buʃɪz hæv fru:t. ðə fru:ts of the bushes are berries. What is a berry? A berry əv ðə buʃɪz a: berɪz. hwɒt ɪz ə berɪ? ə berɪ is the small fruit of a bush.

ɪz ðə smɔ:l fru:t əv ə buʃ.

In winter it is cold. On some days in winter there is ɪn wɪntə ɪt ɪz kəʊld. ɒn sʌm deɪz ɪn wɪntə ðeər ɪz snow. The colour of snow is white. Is it warm in snəʊ. ðə kʌlə əv snəʊ ɪz hwaɪt. ɪz ɪt wɔ:m ɪn winter? No, it is cold in winter, but in summer it is wɪntə? nəʊ, ɪt ɪz kəʊld ɪn wɪntə, bʌt ɪn sʌmə ɪt ɪz warm. What is the colour of snow? The colour of wɔ:m. hwɒt ɪz ðə kʌlə əv snəʊ? ðə kʌlə əv snow is white. Is snow cold or warm? Snow is cold.

snəʊ ɪz hwaɪt. ɪz snəʊ kəʊld ɔ: wɔ:m? snəʊ ɪz kəʊld.

Is there snow in summer? No, in summer it is warm, ɪz ðeə snəʊ ɪn sʌmə? nəʊ, ɪn sʌmə ɪt ɪz wɔ:m, and there is no snow.

ənd ðeər ɪz nəʊ snəʊ.

one day
 two days
 one berry
 two berries

berries

EXERCISE A.

Mr. Smith's house is in a —. In the — are many trees.
 Are all the — in the garden small? No, there are big — and small —. The big trees are —, and the small trees are —. Mr. Smith's house is not high; it is —, but it is — than the low trees. Trees and flowers are —,

WORDS:

garden
 tree flower bush

grass plant leaf
branch
pear apple berry fruit
white green colour summer winter spring autumn season snow blossom cold warm
tall
high
low
other an another
some both well
when?
when

and bushes are also —. Helen is not the only — in the family; there is also — girl in the family; the baby is the — girl in the family. John is the — son in the family.

Trees have —. Bushes have also —. The colour of a leaf is —. The — of leaves is green. Trees and bushes have —. — have no branches. Trees have both leaves and —. Bushes have — leaves — branches. — trees — bushes have leaves. Bushes — well — trees have leaves.

Flowers are not green; they have many — colours. Mrs. Smith has some flowers in the house, and she has also — flowers in the garden. She has flowers in the house — — — in the garden. Many — have fruit. A pear is a —, and an apple is a —. Pears and apples are —.

— many seasons are there in a year? There are — seasons in a year. What are the four — of the year? They are: —, —, —, and —. Which — the months are summer-months? The summer-months are —, —, and —. — — the months are autumn-months? The autumn-months are —, —, and —. — is winter? The winter-months are —, —, and —. — of the months are spring-months? The spring-months are —, —, and —. When — spring? Spring is — the fruit trees are in —. The trees have fruit in — and in —. Is it warm — cold in winter? In winter it is —, and on some days there is —. — is the colour of snow? The colour of snow is —. — — cold in summer? No, in summer it is —.

EXERCISE B.

Where is Mr. Smith's house? ... Are all the trees in the garden tall? ... Is Mr. Smith's house high? ... Are all persons big? ... What is a tree? ... What are the other plants in the garden? ... What is the colour of a leaf? ... Have trees and bushes leaves? ... Have they also branches? ... Has Mrs. Smith flowers in the garden only? ... Are all persons tall? ... Are both of the parents young? ... Are both John and Helen children? ... What are pears and apples? ... What are the fruits of bushes? ... What is a berry? ... How many seasons has a year? ... What are the four seasons? ... When is summer? ... When is winter? ... When have the trees fruit? ... When are the trees in blossom? ...

THE WEEK

The day after Sunday is Monday. The day after ðə dei a:ftə sʌndi iz mʌndi. ðə dei a:ftə

Monday is Tuesday. The day before Sunday is Saturday.
mʌndi iz tʃu:zdi. ðə dei bi'fɔ: sʌndi iz sætədi.

The day before Saturday is Friday. The day after ðə dei bi'fɔ: sætədi iz fraidi. ðə dei a:ftə

Wednesday is Thursday. The day before Wednesday wenzdi iz þə:zdi. ðə dei bi'fɔ: wenzdi is Tuesday. It is Wednesday to-day. The day after iz tʃu:zdi. it iz wenzdi tə'dei. ðə dei a:ftə to-day is Thursday. It is Thursday to-morrow. The tə'dei iz þə:zdi. it iz þə:zdi tə'mɔrəu. ðə day before to-day was Tuesday. It was Tuesday dei bi'fɔ: tə'dei wɔz tʃu:zdi. it wɔz tʃu:zdi yesterday. The day before yesterday was Monday. The jestədi. ðə dei bi'fɔ: jestədi wɔz mʌndi. ðə day after to-morrow is Friday. dei a:ftə tə'mɔrəu iz fraidi.

What day is to-day? To-day is Wednesday. What hwɒt dei iz tə'dei? tə'dei iz wenzdi. hwɒt day was yesterday? Yesterday was Tuesday. What dei wɔz jestədi? jestədi wɔz tʃu:zdi. hwɒt day was the day before yesterday? The day before dei wɔz ðə dei bi'fɔ: jestədi? ðə dei bi'fɔ:

is
are

was were

To-day John is at school.

Yesterday John
was not at school.

To-day the children are at school.

Yesterday the children were not at school.

yesterday was Monday. What day is to-morrow? jestadi wɔz mɔndi. hwɔt dei iz tə'mɔrou?

To-morrow is Thursday. What day is the day after tə'mɔrou iz þə:zdi. hwɔt dei iz ðə dei a:ftə to-morrow? The day after to-morrow is Friday. tə'mɔrou? ðə dei a:ftə tə'mɔrou iz fraidi.

John and Helen are at school to-day. They go to school dʒɒn ənd helin a: ət sku:l tə'dei. dei gou tə sku:l every day of the week except on Saturdays and Sundays.

evri dei əv ðə wi:k ik'sept ɒn sætədiz ənd sʌndiz.

They go to school every month of the year except in dei gou tə sku:l evri mʌnθ əv ðə jɪə ik'sept in July and August. To-day is Wednesday; John goes to dʒu'laɪ ənd ɔ:gəst. tə'dei iz wenzdi; dʒɒn gouz tə school on Wednesdays. Both John and Helen go to sku:l ɒn wenzdiz. bəʊθ dʒɒn ənd helin gou tə school on Wednesdays. The day before yesterday was sku:l ɒn wenzdiz. ðə dei bi'fɔ: jestadi wɔz

Monday. John was at school on Monday. John and mɔndi. dʒɒn wɔz ət sku:l ɒn mɔndi. dʒɒn ənd Helen were both at school on Monday. Was Helen at helin wə: bəʊθ ət sku:l ɒn mɔndi. wɔz helin ət school the day before yesterday? Yes, she was. Were sku:l ðə dei bi'fɔ: jestadi? jes, ʃi: wɔz. wə:

both of the children at school on Monday? Yes, they bəʊθ əv ðə tʃɪldrən ət sku:l ɒn mɔndi? jes, ðei were both at school on Monday. John is at school wə: bəʊθ ət sku:l ɒn mɔndi. dʒɒn iz ət sku:l goes

go
went

He goes every day.

They go every day.

He went yesterday.

They went yesterday.

Chapter Seven (7).

does

do

He does.

They do.

He is. Is he?

They are. Are they?

He has. Has he?

They have. Have they?

He learns. Does he learn?

They learn. Do they learn?

He goes. Does he go?

They go. Do they go?

both of = both

Both of the children went to school = both the children went to school.

book

to-day. He also went to school the day before yesterday.
tə'dei. hi: ɔ:lsoʊ wɛnt tə sku:l ðə dei bi'fɔ: jɛstədi.

Both the children went to school on Monday.

bəʊθ ðə tʃɪldrən wɛnt tə sku:l ɒn mʌndi.

The schools in England are English. The schools in ðə sku:lz ɪn ɪŋɡlənd a: ɪŋɡlɪʃ. ðə sku:lz ɪn France are French. In some French schools the children fra:ns a: frɛnʃ. ɪn sʌm frɛnʃ sku:lz ðə tʃɪldrən learn English. John goes to an English school. He lə:n ɪŋɡlɪʃ. dʒɒn ɡoʊz tu ən ɪŋɡlɪʃ sku:l. hi:

learns French at school. Does John go to school? Yes, lə:nz frɛnʃ æt sku:l. dʌz dʒɒn ɡoʊ tə sku:l? jɛs, he does; he goes to school every day except on Saturhi:, dʌz; hi: ɡoʊz tə sku:l evri dei ɪk'sept ɒn sətədays and Sundays. Does Helen go to school? Yes, she dɪz ænd sʌndɪz. dʌz helɪn ɡoʊ tə sku:l? jɛs, ʃi:

does; she also goes to school. Does John learn French?
dʌz; ʃi: ɔ:lsoʊ ɡoʊz tə sku:l. dʌz dʒɒn lə:n frɛnʃ?

Yes, he does; he learns French at school. Do both the jɛs, hi: dʌz; hi: lə:nz frɛnʃ æt sku:l. du: bəʊθ ðə children learn French? No, only John learns French; tʃɪldrən lə:n frɛnʃ? nəʊ, ɒnli dʒɒn lə:nz frɛnʃ;

Helen is too young to learn French; she is only ten years helɪn ɪz tu: jʌŋ tə lə:n frɛnʃ; ʃi: ɪz ɒnli ten jɪəz old. Do the French children learn English? Yes, they əʊld. du: ðə frɛnʃ tʃɪldrən lə:n ɪŋɡlɪʃ? jɛs, ðei do; they learn English at school.

du:; ðei lə:n ɪŋɡlɪʃ æt sku:l.

The schools in Denmark are Danish. Many Danish ðə sku:lz in denma:k a: deiniʃ. meni deiniʃ children learn English at school. The children tʃildrən læ:n ɪŋɡliʃ æt sku:l. ðə tʃildrən learn to read at school. They read books. They læ:n tə ri:d æt sku:l. ðei ri:d buks. ðei also learn to write. The big children write with ɔ:lsoʊ læ:n tə rait. ðə biɡ tʃildrən rait wið pens and ink. The small children write with pencils.

penz ənd ɪŋk. ðə smɔ:l tʃildrən rait wið pensilz.

They write on paper. What does John do at school?
ðei rait ɔn peɪpə. hwɒt dʌz dʒɒn du: æt sku:l?

He learns to read and to write. What does Helen do hi: læ:nz tə ri:d ənd tə rait. hwɒt dʌz helin du:

at school? She learns to read and to write. What do æt sku:l? ʃi: læ:nz tə ri:d ənd tə rait. hwɒt du:

the other children do at school? They also learn to ði ʌðə tʃildrən du: æt sku:l? ðei ɔ:lsoʊ læ:n tə read and to write. What does John learn to do? He ri:d ənd tə rait. hwɒt dʌz dʒɒn læ:n tə du:? hi:

learns to read and to write. What does Helen learn læ:nz tə ri:d ənd tə rait. hwɒt dʌz helin læ:n to do? She learns to read and to write. What do the tə du:? ʃi: læ:nz tə ri:d ənd tə rait. hwɒt du: ði other children learn to do? They also learn to read ʌðə tʃildrən læ:n tə du:? ðei ɔ:lsoʊ læ:n tə ri:d

and to write.
ənd tə rait.

ball

to do to read to write

What does John learn to do at school?

He learns to read
and to write.

a
the [ðə]
to [tə] } before

b c d f g h j k l m n p q r
s t v w x
y = [j] z u = [ju]

an
the [ði]
to [tu] } before

a
e i o u (h) a man an ink-stand a young [jʌŋ] man an old man

the [ðə] man
the [ði] ink-stand the [ðə] young [jʌŋ] man
the [ði] old man
to [tə] school to [tu] an English
school

What does John do on Sundays? On Sundays he reads hwɒt dʌz dʒɒn du: ɒn sʌndɪz? ɒn sʌndɪz hi: ri:dz a book or plays with a ball in the garden. What does ə buk ɔ: pleɪz wɪð ə bɔ:l ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dən. hwɒt dʌz Helen do on Sundays? She plays with her doll, or she helɪn du: ɒn sʌndɪz? ʃi: pleɪz wɪð hə: dɒl, ɔ: ʃi:

and John play with their ball. What do children do ænd dʒɒn pleɪ wɪð ðeə bɔ:l. hwɒt du: tʃɪldrən du:

when they are not at school? They read their schoolhwen ðei a: nɒt æt sku:l? ðei ri:d ðeə sku:l-books and play in the garden and in the house with buks ænd pleɪ ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dən ænd ɪn ðə haʊs wɪð dolls and with balls. What does John read? He reads dɒlz ænd wɪð bɔ:ls. hwɒt dʌz dʒɒn ri:d? hi: ri:dz books. What does Helen write with? She writes with buks. hwɒt dʌz helɪn raɪt wɪð? ʃi: raɪts wɪð a pen and ink.

ə pen ænd ɪŋk.

Where is the ink? The ink is in the ink-stand. What hweər ɪz ði ɪŋk? ði ɪŋk ɪz ɪn ði ɪŋkstænd. hwɒt is the colour of ink? The colour of ink is blue. What ɪz ðə kʌlə əv ɪŋk? ðə kʌlə əv ɪŋk ɪz blu:. hwɒt is the colour of John's eyes? They are also blue. Many ɪz ðə kʌlə əv dʒɒnz aɪz? ðei a: ɔ:lsəʊ blu:. meni people in England have blue eyes. What do the small pi:pl ɪn ɪŋɡlənd hæv blu: aɪz. hwɒt du: ðə smɔ:l children write with? They write with pencils. What tʃɪldrən raɪt wɪð? ðei raɪt wɪð pensɪlz. hwɒt do the children write on? They write on paper.

du: ðə tʃɪldrən raɪt ɒn? ðeɪ raɪt ɒn peɪpə.

Does John go to school on Sundays? No, he does not;

dʌz dʒɒn ɡəʊ tə sku:l ɒn sʌndɪz? nəʊ, hi: dʌz nɒt; on Sundays he is in the garden, or he reads a book in ɒn sʌndɪz hi: ɪz ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dn, ɔ: hi: ri:dz ə bʊk ɪn the house. Does Helen also read on Sundays? No, she ðə haʊs. dʌz helɪn ə:lsoʊ ri:d ɒn sʌndɪz? nəʊ, ʃi:

does not; she plays with a ball in the garden or with dʌz nɒt; ʃi: pleɪz wɪð ə bɔ:l ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dn ɔ: wɪð her doll. Does Baby play with a ball? No, she does hə: dɒl. dʌz beɪbi pleɪ wɪð ə bɔ:l? nəʊ, ʃi: dʌz not; she is too small to play with a ball; she plays with nɒt; ʃi: ɪz tu: smɔ:l tə pleɪ wɪð ə bɔ:l; ʃi: pleɪz wɪð a small doll and with her toes. Does John play with ə smɔ:l dɒl ænd wɪð hə: tu:z. dʌz dʒɒn pleɪ wɪð a doll? No, he does not; boys do not play with dolls.

ə dɒl? nəʊ, hi: dʌz nɒt; bɔɪz du: nɒt pleɪ wɪð dɒlz.

Does John learn German at school? No, he does not;

dʌz dʒɒn læ:n dʒə:mən æt sku:l? nəʊ, hi: dʌz nɒt; he learns French. Do the small children write with hi: læ:nʒ frenʃ. du: ðə smɔ:l tʃɪldrən raɪt wɪð pens and ink? No, they do not; they are too small to penz ænd ɪŋk? nəʊ, ðeɪ du: nɒt; ðeɪ a: tu: smɔ:l tə write with pens and ink. Do the parents go to school?

raɪt wɪð penz ænd ɪŋk. du: ðə peərənts ɡəʊ tə sku:l?

No, they do not; they are too old to go to school, but nəʊ, ðeɪ du: nɒt; ðeɪ a: tu: ould tə ɡəʊ tə sku:l, bʌt does not do not

Helen is not a boy.
They are not old.

The baby has not much hair.

They have not many children.

She does not read.
They do not read.

He does not write.
They do not write.

too
to

Too old to go to school.

they went to school when they were children. John ðei went tə sku:l hwen ðei wə: tʃɪldrən. dʒɒn does not go to school on Sundays. Helen does not learn dʌz nɒt ɡoʊ tə sku:l ɒn sʌndɪz. helɪn dʌz nɒt lə:n

Russian at school. The children in England do not learn rʌʃən æt sku:l. ðə tʃɪldrən ɪn ɪŋɡlənd du: nɒt lə:n

Russian at school. Baby does not go to school; she is rʌʃən æt sku:l. beɪbi dʌz nɒt ɡoʊ tə sku:l; ʃi: ɪz too young to go to school; she is only six months old.

tu: ʃʌŋ tə ɡoʊ tə sku:l; ʃi: ɪz ɒnli sɪks mʌnθs ould.

John's parents do not go to school; they are too old dʒɒnz peərənts du: nɒt ɡoʊ tə sku:l; ðei a: tu: ould to go to school, but when they were young, they went tə ɡoʊ tə sku:l, bʌt hwen ðei wə: ʃʌŋ, ðei went to school. John and Helen go to school; they are not tə sku:l. dʒɒn ənd helɪn ɡoʊ tə sku:l; ðei a: nɒt

too old to go to school.

tu: ould tə ɡoʊ tə sku:l.

Do all the children in the school write with pens and du: ɔ:l ðə tʃɪldrən ɪn ðə sku:l raɪt wɪð penz ənd ink? All the children write with pens and ink except ɪŋk? ɔ:l ðə tʃɪldrən raɪt wɪð penz ənd ɪŋk ɪk'sept the small children; they are too young to write with ðə smɔ:l tʃɪldrən; ðei a: tu: ʃʌŋ tə raɪt wɪð pens and ink. What do the small children learn to write penz ənd ɪŋk. hwɒt du: ðə smɔ:l tʃɪldrən lə:n tə raɪt with? They learn to write with pencils. What do wɪð? ðei lə:n tə raɪt wɪð pensɪlz. hwɒt du:

they write on? They write on paper. What is the ðei rait ɔn? ðei rait ɔn peɪpə. hwɔt ɪz ðə colour of the paper? The colour of the paper is white.

kʌlə əv ðə peɪpə? ðə kʌlə əv ðə peɪpə ɪz hwaɪt.

Are the parents too old to play? No, they are not.
ɑ: ðə peərənts tu: ould tə pleɪ? nou, ðei ɑ: nɒt.

Mrs. Smith plays with her baby, and Mr. Smith plays misɪz smɪθ pleɪz wɪð hæ: beɪbi, ænd mɪstə smɪθ pleɪz with John and Helen in the garden with a ball.
wɪð dʒɔn ænd helɪn ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dn wɪð ə bɔ:l.

EXERCISE A.

The day — Sunday is Monday. The day — Sunday is Saturday. The day — Saturday is Sunday. The day — Friday is Saturday. The day — Friday is Thursday. The day — Wednesday is Thursday. The day — Wednesday is Tuesday. To-day — Wednesday, and — is Thursday. To-morrow is Friday, and — is Thursday. To-day — Monday, and — was Sunday. Yesterday — Tuesday, and to-day — Wednesday. To-day is Thursday, — is Friday, and the — — — is Saturday.
 To-day is Tuesday; — was Monday, and the — — — was Sunday.

To-day is Wednesday; John and Helen are — school to-day. John — to school every day — on Saturdays

WORDS:

after before
to-day to-morrow yesterday
school
Danish
learn read write
book
pencil
pen ink ink-stand paper play doll
ball
blue with
to
too every except
go
goes
went
was were
do
does

and Sundays. John and Helen — to school — day except on Saturdays and Sundays. John — to school the day before yesterday. John and Helen — to school the day before yesterday. At some French schools the children — English. John — French at school. The children — books. John — English and French books. Helen does not — French at school; she is only ten —. The ink is in the —. The colour of the ink is —. The colour of John's eyes is also —. — John learn Russian at school? No, he — not learn Russian. — the French children learn English at school? Yes, some —. — the English children learn Russian? No, they — not. — they learn French? Yes, they —. What — the children learn at school? They learn — read and — write. What — the big children write with? They write with — and —. — the small children also write with pens and ink? No, they — not write with pens and ink. What — they write with? They write with —. What — John write on? He writes on —. What — Helen write on? She also — on paper. What — John do at school? He — to read and to write. What does Helen — at school? She also learns — read and — write.

What — the children do on Sundays? They — with balls or with dolls. Where — the children play? They — in the garden or in the house. — John play with dolls? No, he — — play with dolls; he — with a ball or — a book. Does the baby — to school? No, she is — young to go to school. Are the parents — young — go to school? No, they are not — young — go to school; they are — old. — Helen old? No, Helen —

old. — Helen learn French? No, Helen — not learn French. — John a boy? Yes, John — a boy. — he learn French? Yes, he — French. Are Helen and Baby old? No, Helen and Baby — — old. — the English children learn Russian? No, the English children — not learn Russian. — Helen and Baby sisters? Yes, Helen and Baby — sisters. — the children learn French? John — French; Helen — not learn French; she is — young — learn French; she is — ten years old. — John three sisters? No, John — — three sisters. — Helen and Alice two brothers? No, they — — two brothers; they have only one.

EXERCISE B.

When do the children go to school? ... Were the children at school yesterday? ... Is John at school today? ... What day is to-morrow? ... What do the children learn at school? ... Do they learn French in the English schools? ... Do the children in France learn English? ... What do the big children write with? ... What do the small children write with? ... What do they write on? ... What does John read? ... Does Baby go to school? ... Do the parents go to school? ... Are John and Helen too young to go to school? ... What do the children do after school? ... Where do they play? ... What does Baby play with? ... Does she play with a ball? ...

THE CLOCK

A day has twelve hours. A night has also twelve hours. a dei hæz twelv auə. a nait hæz ɔ:lsou twelv auə.

A day and a night have twenty-four (24) hours. An a dei and a nait hæv twenti'fɔ: auə. ən hour has sixty (60) minutes, and a minute has sixty (60) auə hæz siksti minits, and a minit hæz siksti seconds. How many hours has a day? It has twelve sekəndz. hau meni auə hæz a dei? it hæz twelv hours. How many hours have a day and a night?

auə. hau meni auə hæv a dei and a nait?

A day and a night have twenty-four (24) hours. How a dei and a nait hæv twenti'fɔ: auə. hau many minutes are there in an hour? There are sixty (60) meni minits a: ðeə in ən auə? ðeə a: siksti minutes in an hour. How many seconds are there in minits in ən auə. hau meni sekəndz a: ðeə in a minute? There are sixty seconds in a minute. An a minit? ðeə a: siksti sekəndz in a minit. ən hour is a long time; a second is a short time.

auə iz a lɔŋ taim; a sekənd iz a ʃɔ:t taim.

On the wall in Mr. Smith's house is a clock. The clock ɔn ðə wɔ:l in mistə smiθs haus iz a klɒk. ðə klɒk has a face with twelve figures on it. 1 is a figure, hæz a feis wið twelv figəz ɔn it. wʌn iz a figə, clock

3 is a figure, 11 is a figure. There are also two pri: iz ə figə, i'levn iz ə figə. ðær a: ɔ:lsou tu:

hands on the clock, a long hand and a short hand. The hændz ɔn ðə klɒk, ə lɔŋ hænd and ə ʃɔ:t hænd. ðə hands of the clock give the time. The short hand gives hændz əv ðə klɒk giv ðə taim. ðə ʃɔ:t hænd givz the hours, and the long hand gives the minutes. ði auəz, and ðə lɔŋ hænd givz ðə minits.

Where is Mr. Smith's clock? It is on the wall in his hwær iz mistə smiθs klɒk? it iz ɔn ðə wɔ:l in hiz house. What does the clock do? The clock gives the haus. hwɒt dʌz ðə klɒk du:? ðə klɒk givz ðə time of the day; the short hand gives the hours, and taim əv ðə dei; ðə ʃɔ:t hænd givz ði auəz, and the long hand gives the minutes. Is there no hand to ðə lɔŋ hænd givz ðə minits. iz ðeə nou hænd tə give the seconds? Yes, on the face of the clock there giv ðə sekəndz? jes, ɔn ðə feis əv ðə klɒk ðær is another small face with figures and a very small iz ə'nʌðə smɔ:l feis wið figəz and ə veri smɔ:l hand. Are the figures also very small? Yes, they are hænd. a: ðə figəz ɔ:lsou veri smɔ:l? jes, ðei a:

very small. Baby is very young; she is only six months veri smɔ:l. beibi iz veri jʌŋ; ʃi: iz ounli siks mʌnθs old. Is Mr. Smith very old? No, he is not; he is ould. iz mistə smiθ veri ould? nou, hi: iz nɒt; hi: iz thirty-six (36) years old. A second is a very short time.

þə:ti'siks jɪəz ould. ə sekənd iz ə veri ʃɔ:t taim.

watch

A watch is smaller than a clock. Mr. Smith has a watch, a wɒtʃ ɪz smɔ:lə ðæn ə klɒk. mɪstə smɪθ hæz ə wɒtʃ, and Mrs. Smith has a very small watch on her arm, but ænd mɪsɪz smɪθ hæz ə veri smɔ:l wɒtʃ ɔn hɜ: ɑ:m, bʌt

John and Helen have no watches; they are too young dʒɒn ænd helɪn hæv nə wɒtʃɪz; ðeɪ ɑ: tu: jʌŋ to have watches. Mr. Smith gave Mrs. Smith her watch tə hæv wɒtʃɪz. mɪstə smɪθ geɪv mɪsɪz smɪθ hɜ: wɒtʃ when she was twenty-five (25) years old. The day hwɛn ʃi: wəz twenti'faɪv jɪəz ould. ðə deɪ when she was twenty-five (25) years old was her birth-hwɛn ʃi: wəz twenti'faɪv jɪəz ould wəz hɜ: bɜ:θ-day. Her birthday is on the twenty-ninth (29th) of

deɪ. hɜ: bɜ:θdeɪ ɪz ɔn ðə twenti'nainθ əv

October. John's birthday is on the twenty-sixth (26th) ɔk'təʊbə. dʒɒnz bɜ:θdeɪ ɪz ɔn ðə twenti'sɪksθ of July. On his birthday his parents gave him some əv dʒʊ'laɪ. ɔn hɪz bɜ:θdeɪ hɪz peərənts geɪv hɪm sʌm books and a football.

bʊks ænd ə fu:tbo:l.

Has Mrs. Smith a watch? Yes, Mr. Smith gave Mrs. Smith hæz mɪsɪz smɪθ ə wɒtʃ? jɛs, mɪstə smɪθ geɪv mɪsɪz smɪθ a watch on her birthday, when she was twenty-five (25) ə wɒtʃ ɔn hɜ: bɜ:θdeɪ, hwɛn ʃi: wəz twenti'faɪv years old. Has John a football? Yes, his parents gave jɪəz ould. hæz dʒɒn ə fu:tbo:l? jɛs, hɪz peərənts geɪv him a football on his birthday. In two years, when he hɪm ə fu:tbo:l ɔn hɪz bɜ:θdeɪ. ɪn tu: jɪəz, hwɛn hɪ:

is fourteen (14) years old, his father will give him a iz fɔ:ti:n jɪz ould, hɪz fa:ðə wil gɪv hɪm ə watch on his birthday. When he is fourteen, he will wɒtʃ ɒn hɪz bɑ:pdeɪ. hwen hɪ: iz fɔ:ti:n, hɪ: wil have a watch. His father will not give him a watch hæv ə wɒtʃ. hɪz fa:ðə wil nɒt gɪv hɪm ə wɒtʃ when he is thirteen (13) years old. The children will hwen hɪ: iz þɜ:ti:n jɪz ould. ðə tʃɪldrən wil go to school to-morrow. They will read their books, ɡoʊ tə sku:l tə'mɔrəʊ. ðeɪ wil ri:d ðeə buks, and they will write with pens or pencils. When it is ænd ðeɪ wil raɪt wɪð penz ɔ: pensɪlz. hwen ɪt ɪz

John's birthday, he will be thirteen (13) years old. dʒɒnz bɑ:pdeɪ, hɪ: wil bi: þɜ:ti:n jɪz ould.

Helen will be eleven years old on her birthday. Baby helɪn wil bi: ɪ'levn jɪz ould ɒn hɜ: bɑ:pdeɪ. beɪbɪ will be one year old on her birthday. To-morrow the wɪl bi: wʌn jɪə ould ɒn hɜ: bɑ:pdeɪ. tə'mɔrəʊ ðə children will be at school. The parents will not be at tʃɪldrən wil bi: æt sku:l. ðə peərənts wil nɒt bi: æt school; they will be in the house. After school the sku:l; ðeɪ wil bi: ɪn ðə haʊs. ɑ:ftə sku:l ðə children will be in the garden. tʃɪldrən wil bi: ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dn.

When will John be fourteen (14) years old? He will hwen wil dʒɒn bi: fɔ:ti:n jɪz ould? hɪ: wil be fourteen (14) in two years. When is Helen's birthday?

bi: fɔ:ti:n ɪn tu: jɪz. hwen ɪz helɪnz bɑ:pdeɪ?

gives give gave will give

John gives Helen a pear.

John and Helen give Baby a ball.

Yesterday John gave Helen a pear.

Yesterday John and Helen gave Baby a ball.

To-morrow John will give Helen a pear.

To-morrow John and Helen will give Baby a ball.

is
are
was were will be

To-day John is at school.

To-day both John and Helen are at school.

Yesterday John was at school.

Yesterday both John and Helen were at school.

To-morrow John will be at school.

Both John and Helen will be at school to-morrow.

Helen's birthday is on the sixteenth (16th) of March.
helinz bæ:pdei iz ɔn ðə siksti:nþ əv ma:tʃ.

When is Mr. Smith's birthday? His birthday is on the hwen iz mistə smiþs bæ:pdei? hiz bæ:pdei iz ɔn ðə thirteenth (13th) of July. When is the baby's birthþə:ti:nþ əv dʒu'lai. hwen iz ðə beibiz bæ:p-day? Her birthday is on the tenth (10th) of June.

dei? hæ: bæ:pdei iz ɔn ðə tenþ əv dʒu:n.

Where will the children be to-morrow? To-morrow hwæə wil ðə tʃildrən bi: tə'mɔrəu? tə'mɔrəu they will be at school. When will the baby be one year ðei wil bi: æt sku:l. hwen wil ðə beibi bi: wʌn jɪə old? She will be one year old in six months. Helen ould? ʃi: wil bi: wʌn jɪə ould in siks mʌnθs. helin will be fourteen (14) in four years. Mrs. Smith will be wil bi: fɔ:ti:n in fɔ: jɪəz. misiz smiþ wil bi:

thirty-five (35) in three years.
þə:ti'faiv in pri: jɪəz.

When the short hand is at the figure 2 and the long hwen ðə ʃɔ:t hænd iz æt ðə fiɡə tu: ənd ðə lɔŋ hand at the figure 12, it is two o'clock. When the short hænd æt ðə fiɡə twelv, it iz tu: ə'klɔk. hwen ðə ʃɔ:t

hand is at 3 and the long hand at 12, it is three o'clock.
hænd iz æt pri: ənd ðə lɔŋ hænd æt twelv, it iz pri: ə'klɔk.

When the short hand is at 3 and the long hand at 11, hwen ðə ʃɔ:t hænd iz æt pri: ənd ðə lɔŋ hænd æt i'levn, it is five minutes to three. When the long hand is at it iz faiv minits tə pri:. hwen ðə lɔŋ hænd iz æt

1 and the short hand at 3, it is five minutes past wan and ðə ʃɔ:t hænd æt pri:, it iz faiv minits pa:st three. What time is it when the short hand is at 4 pri:. hwɔt taim iz it hwen ðə ʃɔ:t hænd iz æt ʃɔ:

and the long hand at 3? Then it is a quarter past four.
and ðə lɔŋ hænd æt pri:? ðen it iz ə kwɔ:tə pa:st ʃɔ:.

What time is it when the short hand is at 5 and the hwɔt taim iz it hwen ðə ʃɔ:t hænd iz æt faiv and ðə long hand at 9? Then it is a quarter to five. What lɔŋ hænd æt nain? ðen it iz ə kwɔ:tə tə faiv. hwɔt time is it when the long hand is at 5 and the short taim iz it hwen ðə lɔŋ hænd iz æt faiv and ðə ʃɔ:t

hand is between 1 and 2? Then it is twenty-five (25) hænd iz bi'twi:n wan and tu:? ðen it iz twenti'faiv minutes past one. What time is it when the long hand minits pa:st wan. hwɔt taim iz it hwen ðə lɔŋ hænd is at 6 and the short hand is between 5 and 6? iz æt siks and ðə ʃɔ:t hænd iz bi'twi:n faiv and siks?

Then it is half past five. Half an hour is thirty (30) ðen it iz ha:f pa:st faiv. ha:f ən auə iz þə:ti minutes. A quarter of an hour is fifteen (15) minutes.

minits. ə kwɔ:tə əv ən auə iz fifti:n minits.

At what time do the children go to school? They go æt hwɔt taim du: ðə tʃɪldrən ɡoʊ tə sku:l? ðei ɡoʊ to school at nine o'clock. (They go to school at nine.)

tə sku:l æt nain ə'klɔk. (ðei ɡoʊ tə sku:l æt nain.)

How long are the children at school? They are at haʊ lɔŋ a: ðə tʃɪldrən æt sku:l? ðei a: æt

What time is it?
 It is two o'clock.
 (It is two.)

It is ten minutes past two.

It is five minutes to two.

school from nine o'clock to four o'clock (from nine to sku:l frɒm naɪn ə'klɒk tə fɔ: ə'klɒk (frɒm naɪn tə four). They are at school from nine o'clock to twelve fɔ:). ðeɪ a: æt sku:l frɒm naɪn ə'klɒk tə twelv o'clock. At twelve o'clock they go to their houses. Then ə'klɒk. æt twelv ə'klɒk ðeɪ ɡəʊ tə ðeə haʊzɪz. ðen they go to school at two o'clock and are there from two ðeɪ ɡəʊ tə sku:l æt tu: ə'klɒk ənd a: ðeə frɒm tu: o'clock to four o'clock. At what time do the children ə'klɒk tə fɔ: ə'klɒk. æt hwɒt taɪm du: ðə tʃɪldrən go home from school? They go home from school at ɡəʊ haʊm frɒm sku:l? ðeɪ ɡəʊ haʊm frɒm sku:l æt four o'clock (at four). Their father is not at home when fɔ: ə'klɒk (æt fɔ:). ðeə fa:ðə ɪz nɒt æt haʊm hwɛn they come from school, but their mother is at home.
ðeɪ kʌm frɒm sku:l, bʌt ðeə mʌðə ɪz æt haʊm.
Their father comes home at half past five; then all the ðeə fa:ðə kʌmz haʊm æt ha:f pɑ:st faɪv; ðen ɔ:l ðə persons in the family are at home. pə:snz ɪn ðə fæmɪli a: æt haʊm.
When the children are at school, they are away from hwɛn ðə tʃɪldrən a: æt sku:l, ðeɪ a: ə'weɪ frɒm home. They are away from home from nine o'clock haʊm. ðeɪ a: ə'weɪ frɒm haʊm frɒm naɪn ə'klɒk to twelve o'clock, and from two o'clock to four o'clock. tə twelv ə'klɒk, ənd frɒm tu: ə'klɒk tə fɔ: ə'klɒk.
They are away from home for five hours. Mr. Smith ðeɪ a: ə'weɪ frɒm haʊm fɔ: faɪv aʊəz. mɪstə smɪθ goes away from home at half past eight and comes gouz ə'wei frɒm hɒm æt ha:f pa:st eit and kʌmz home at half past five; he is away from home for nine hɒm æt ha:f pa:st faɪv; hi: iz ə'wei frɒm hɒm fɔ: naɪn hours every day. He is at home for fifteen (15) hours.

auəz evri dei. hi: iz æt hɒm fɔ: fɪfti:n auəz.

The children are at home for nineteen (19) hours. When ðə tʃɪldrən a: æt hɒm fɔ: naɪnti:n auəz. hwen does Mr. Smith come home? He comes home at half dʌz mɪstə smɪθ kʌm hɒm? hi: kʌmz hɒm æt ha:f past five. What time is it when Mr. Smith comes pa:st faɪv. hwɒt taɪm iz ɪt hwen mɪstə smɪθ kʌmz home? It is half past five. How long is he away from hɒm? ɪt iz ha:f pa:st faɪv. haʊ lɔŋ iz hi: ə'wei frɒm home every day? He is away for nine hours. How hɒm evri dei? hi: iz ə'wei fɔ: naɪn auəz. haʊ long are the children away? They are away from lɔŋ a: ðə tʃɪldrən ə'wei? ðei a: ə'wei frɒm home for five hours. On Sundays they are all at hɒm fɔ: faɪv auəz. ɔn sʌndɪz ðei a: ɔ:l æt home. In summer the children play for two hours

hɒm. ɪn sʌmə ðə tʃɪldrən pleɪ fɔ: tu: auəz in the garden, but at half past six it is time for the ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dn, bʌt æt ha:f pa:st sɪks ɪt iz taɪm fɔ: ðə children to read their school-books. Where are John tʃɪldrən tə ri:d ðeə sku:lbuks. hwɛər a: dʒɒn and Helen when they read their school-books? Then ænd helɪn hwen ðei ri:d ðeə sku:lbuks? ðen they are in the house. When is it time to go to school?

ðei a: in ðə haus. hwen iz it taim tə gou tə sku:l?

It is time to go to school at nine o'clock. When is it it iz taim tə gou tə sku:l æt nain ə'klɒk. hwen iz it time to come in from the garden? It is time to come taim tə kʌm in frɒm ðə ga:dn? it iz taim tə kʌm in from the garden at half past six. What do the children in frɒm ðə ga:dn æt ha:f pa:st siks. hwɒt du: ðə tʃɪldrən do when they come in from the garden? They read du: hwen ðei kʌm in frɒm ðə ga:dn? ðei ri:d their school-books.

ðeə sku:lbuks.

EXERCISE A.

A day has twelve —. A — has also twelve hours.
A day and a night — twenty-four hours. An hour has sixty —, and a minute has sixty —. On a wall in the house is a —. The clock has a —. On the face of the clock are twelve —. The clock has two —.
The hands of the clock give the —. The short hand — the hours, and the long hand — the minutes. There is also a — small hand to give the seconds. A — is smaller than a clock. The day when Mrs. Smith was twenty-five years old was her —. John's — is on the twenty-sixth of July. On his birthday, John's parents — him a football. When he is fourteen, his father —
— him a watch.

When it is John's birthday, he will — thirteen years old. The children — go to school to-morrow. Helen will — eleven years old on her birthday. The baby — — one year old on her birthday. Helen will be fourteen years old — four years. Baby will be one year old — six months. When the short hand is at three and the long hand at twelve, it is three —. When the short hand is at five and the long hand at eleven, it is five minutes — five. When the short hand is at four and the long hand at two, it is ten minutes — four. When the long hand is at nine and the short hand at twelve, it is a — to twelve. When the short hand is at one and the long hand at three, it is a — past one. When the long hand is at six and the short hand is — three and four, it is — past —.

The children are at school — five hours. They go — from school — four o'clock. Their father is not — home when they come —. Their father — home at half — five. The children are — from — for five hours every day. Mr. Smith goes — from home at half — eight. How — are the children away from home? They are away for five —. — does Mr. Smith come home? He — home at half — five. — does he go away from home? He goes away from home — — past eight. — will John be fourteen years old? He will be fourteen — two years. When — Baby be one year old? She — — one year old in six months. — is Helen's birthday? Her birthday is — the sixteenth — March. — is John's birthday? His birthday is — — twenty-sixth — July.

WORDS:

o'clock
clock
watch
night hour
minute
second
give gave very time birthday football
in will be figure past
to half quarter then between for him

home
at home from come away fifteen nineteen twenty-four twenty-five sixty sixteenth twenty-sixth twenty-ninth thirty thirty-five

— Mrs. Smith a watch? Yes, Mr. Smith — her a watch on her birthday. — is on the face of the clock? On the face of the clock are two — and twelve —. What time is it — the small hand is at nine and the big hand at three? Then it is a — — nine. — time is it — the big hand is at five and the small hand between two and three? — it is — — past two. What time is it — the big hand is at twelve and the small hand at six? Then it is six —. What — is it — both hands are at twelve? Then it is — —. At what time — the children go to school? They go to school — nine —. — — time do they come home? They come home — four —.

EXERCISE B.

When is John's birthday? ... What is on the clock? ... What is there to give the time? ... How many minutes has an hour? ... How many hours are there in a day and a night? ... What time is it? ... Where do the children go at nine o'clock every day? ... When does Mr. Smith come home? ... How long are the children at school? ... How long is Mr. Smith away from home every day? ... When will John be thirteen years old? ... When will Helen be fourteen? ... In how many months will Baby be one year old? ... Is their father at home when the children come from school? ... Does Mrs. Smith go away from home every day? ... Where are the hands of the clock at a quarter past five? ... At ten minutes to three? ... At half past ten? ... At twenty-five (25) minutes to eight? ... At seven o'clock? ... At a quarter to one? ...

THE SCHOOL

In the school there are many rooms. There are not in ðə sku:l ðɛər a: meni ru:mz. ðɛər a: nɒt many rooms in Mr. Smith's house; there are only five meni ru:mz in mistə smiθs haʊs; ðɛər a: ɔnli faɪv rooms in his house. The school is a very big house, ru:mz in hɪz haʊs. ðə sku:l ɪz ə veri bɪg haʊs, and in it there are twenty (20) rooms.

and in it ðɛər a: twenti ru:mz.

At nine o'clock in the morning the children come into æt naɪn ə'klɒk ɪn ðə mɔ:nɪŋ ðə tʃɪldrən kʌm ɪntə the schoolroom. When all the children are in the room, ðə sku:lru:m. hwen ɔ:l ðə tʃɪldrən a: ɪn ðə ru:m, the teacher comes into the room. When he comes into ðə ti:tʃə kʌmz ɪntə ðə ru:m. hwen hi: kʌmz ɪntə the room, he says, "Good morning, children! Are you ðə ru:m. hi: sez, "gud mɔ:nɪŋ, tʃɪldrən! a: ju:

all here to-day?" John says, "No, my sister is not here ɔ:l hiə tə'deɪ?" dʒɒn sez, "nəʊ, maɪ sɪstə ɪz nɒt hiə to-day; she is at home." "Oh," says the teacher, "is tə'deɪ; ʃi: ɪz æt haʊm." "əʊ," sez ðə ti:tʃə, "ɪz your sister ill to-day?" "Yes, my sister is ill to-day.

juə sɪstə ɪl tə'deɪ?" "jes, maɪ sɪstə ɪz ɪl tə'deɪ.

Yesterday it was cold, and she was in the garden too jɛstədi ɪt wəz kəʊld, and ʃi: wəz ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dn tu:

teacher

go [ɡəʊ]
 goes [ɡəʊz]

do [du:] does [dʌz]

say [seɪ]
 says [sez]

I am
 you are
 he is she is it is we are you are they are

John says, "I am a boy."

He says to Helen,
 "You are a girl,
 and Baby is also a girl," and she says, "Yes, and you and Baby and I are children; we are children."

The pencil is good;
 it is good.

John says, "You and Alice are girls;
 you are girls."

Helen and Alice
 are girls; they are girls.

my your
his her
its

our
your
their

John says, "Helen is my sister."

"Where is your sister, John?"

The girls have a brother; his name
is John.

The teacher gives Helen her book.

The baby has a doll; its arms and legs are small.

John says, "Our house is small."

"How many rooms
has your house, John and Helen?"

The house of Mr.
and Mrs. Smith has five rooms;
their house is not
big.

long; and to-day she is ill, she has a cold." "Have you lɔŋ; and tə'dei fi: iz il, fi: hæz ə kould." "hæv ju:

also a cold, John?" "Oh no, I am not ill," says John, ə:lsoʊ ə kould, dʒɔn?" "ou nou, ai æm nɒt il," sez dʒɔn,

"I am well. I was not in the garden very long. When "ai æm wel. ai wəz nɒt in ðə ɡɑ:dn veri lɔŋ. hwen it was too cold, I went into the house."

it wəz tu: kould, ai went intə ðə haʊs."

Teacher: "What does your mother say to Helen, John?"

ti:tʃə: "hwɒt dʌs juə mʌðə sei tə helin, dʒɔn?"

"My mother says to my sister: You are not a good girl,

"mai mʌðə sez tə mai sistə: ju: a: nɒt ə ɡʊd ɡə:l, Helen, when you are in the garden for so long. John helin, hwen ju: a: in ðə ɡɑ:dn fɔ: soʊ lɔŋ. dʒɔn went into the house when he was too cold, and he has went intə ðə haʊs hwen hi: wəz tu: kould, and hi: hæz no cold; he is not ill, he is well."

nou kould; hi: iz nɒt il, hi: iz wel."

"How many rooms have you in your house, John?"

"hau meni ru:mz hæv ju: in juə haʊs, dʒɔn?"

"We have five rooms in our house." "How many

"wi: hæv faɪv ru:mz in əʊə haʊs." "hau meni persons are you in your family?" "We are five persons pə:snz a: ju: in juə fæmili?" "wi: a: faɪv pə:snz in our family." "How many children are there in your in əʊə fæmili." "hau meni tʃɪldrən a: ðeə in juə family?" "There are three children in our family."

fæmili?" "ðeə a: ʒri: tʃɪldrən in əʊə fæmili."

"Who are the children in your family?" "They are my "hu: a: ðə tʃɪldrən ɪn juə fæmili?" "ðei a: mai two sisters, Helen and Alice, and I."

tu: sistəz, helin ænd ælis, ænd ai."

The teacher gives all the children pencils to write with.

ðə ti:tʃə giʋz ɔ:l ðə tʃɪldrən pɛnsɪlz tə raɪt wɪð.

John says to the teacher, "Will you give me another dʒɒn seɪz tə ðə ti:tʃə, "wɪl ju: giʋ mi: ə'nʌðə pencil? My pencil is not very good."

"Yes, I will pɛnsɪl? maɪ pɛnsɪl ɪz nɒt veri gud." "jes, ai wɪl give you another pencil; here is one," the teacher says giʋ ju: ə'nʌðə pɛnsɪl; hiə ɪz wʌn," ðə ti:tʃə seɪz and gives him a pencil. He also gives him a pencil ænd giʋz hɪm ə pɛnsɪl. hi: ɔ:lsoʊ giʋz hɪm ə pɛnsɪl for Helen; John will give it to her when he comes fɔ: helɪn; dʒɒn wɪl giʋ ɪt tə hɜ: hwɛn hi: kʌmz home.

həʊm.

Has John a pencil? Yes, but it is not very good; the hæz dʒɒn ə pɛnsɪl? jes, bʌt ɪt ɪz nɒt veri gud; ðə teacher gives him another one, and he also gives him ti:tʃə giʋz hɪm ə'nʌðə wʌn, ænd hi: ɔ:lsoʊ giʋz hɪm one for Helen. John says he will give her the pencil wʌn fɔ: helɪn. dʒɒn seɪz hi: wɪl giʋ hɜ: ðə pɛnsɪl when he comes home. Are all the children at school?

hwɛn hi: kʌmz həʊm. a: ɔ:l ðə tʃɪldrən æt sku:l?

No, Helen is not at school, but when she is well, she nəʊ, helɪn ɪz nɒt æt sku:l, bʌt hwɛn ʃi: ɪz wel, ʃi:

one

John has a long pencil; Helen has a short one.

me
you
him
her
it
us
you
them

John says, "The teacher gives me a pencil."

The teacher says to John, "I will give you a pencil."

The teacher gives John a pencil; he gives him a pencil.

He gives Helen a book; he gives her a book.

Mr. Smith gives his house a name; he gives it a name.

The children say to the teacher, "Will you give us some pencils?"

The teacher says, "Yes, I will give you some pencils."

The teacher gives the children some pencils; he gives them some pencils.

will go to school. Does the teacher give all the children wil gou tə sku:l. dʌz ðə ti:tʃə giv ɔ:l ðə tʃildrən pencils? Yes, when their pencils are not very good, or pensilz? jes, hwen ðeə pensilz a: nɒt veri gud, ɔ:

when they have no pencils, the teacher gives them hwen ðei hæv nou pensilz, ðə ti:tʃə givz ðem pencils. What do the children say? They say, "Will pensilz. hwɒt du: ðə tʃildrən sei? ðei sei, "wil you give us some other pencils?" And the teacher ju: giv ʌs sʌm ʌðə pensilz?" ənd ðə ti:tʃə says, "Yes, I will give you some other pencils; here are sez, "jes, ai wil giv ju: sʌm ʌðə pensilz; hiə ʌ:

some pencils for you."

sʌm pensilz fɔ: ju:."

The teacher has no book. He says to one of the ðə ti:tʃə hæz nou bʊk. hi: sez tə wʌn əv ðə children, "Have you your book? Will you give it to tʃildrən, "hæv ju: juə bʊk? wil ju: giv it tə me? I have no book to-day." What is the colour of mi: ʔ ai hæv nou bʊk tə'dei." hwɒt iz ðə kʌlə əv ink? Its colour is blue. What is the colour of the ɪŋk? its kʌlə iz blu:. hwɒt iz ðə kʌlə əv ðə walls of the room? Its walls are green. What is the wɔ:lz əv ðə ru:m? its wɔ:lz ʌ: gri:n. hwɒt iz ðə colour of the paper of the books? Its colour is white.

kʌlə əv ðə peɪpə əv ðə bʊks? its kʌlə iz hwaɪt.

What will John's father give him on his birthday? He hwɒt wil dʒɒnz fa:ðə giv him ɒn hɪz bɜ:ðdeɪ? hi:

will give him a watch. Will he also give Helen a wil giʋ him ə wɒtʃ. wil hi: ɔ:lsoʊ giʋ helin ə watch? No, he will not give her a watch. When the wɒtʃ? nou, hi: wil nɒt giʋ hɜ: ə wɒtʃ. hwen ðə children are good, their mother gives them balls to play tʃɪldrən a: gud, ðeə mʌðə giʋz ðem bɔ:lz tə pleɪ with. When the children are good at school, the teacher

wɪð. hwen ðə tʃɪldrən a: gud æt sku:l, ðə ti:tʃə reads to them from his book. ri:dz tə ðem frəm hɪz bu:k.

Yesterday the children came to school at nine o'clock jɛstədi ðə tʃɪldrən keɪm tə sku:l æt naɪn ə'klɒk in the morning. When the children came to school ɪn ðə mɔ:nɪŋ. hwen ðə tʃɪldrən keɪm tə sku:l yesterday, the teacher said "Good morning" to them.

jɛstədɪ, ðə ti:tʃə sed "gud mɔ:nɪŋ" tə ðem.

Helen's mother said to her yesterday, "Come into the helɪnz mʌðə sed tə hɜ: jɛstədɪ, "kʌm ɪntə ðə house; it is too cold to play in the garden; come in, or haʊs; ɪt ɪz tu: kəʊld tə pleɪ ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dən; kʌm ɪn, ɔ:

you will be ill."
ju: wil bi: ɪl."

Was Mr. Smith at home yesterday when the children wɒz mɪstə smɪθ æt haʊm jɛstədɪ hwen ðə tʃɪldrən came home from school? No, he was not at home. Mr. keɪm haʊm frəm sku:l? nou, hi: wɒz nɒt æt haʊm. mɪstə

Smith comes home at half past five. Is Helen very ill?
smɪθ kʌmz haʊm æt hɑ:f pɑ:st faɪv. ɪz helɪn veri ɪl?

I you } play

he she it } plays

we you they } play

comes
 come
 came

John comes
 every day.

The children come
 every day.

John came
 yesterday.

The children came
 yesterday.

says say
 said

The teacher says
 "Good morning."

The children say
 "Good morning."

Yesterday the teacher said
 "Good morning."

Yesterday the children also said
 "Good morning."

come!

Come into the house,
 John!

Come into the house, John and Helen!

No, she is not very ill; she has only a cold, but she will nou, ʃi: ɪz nɒt veri ɪl; ʃi: hæz ounli ə kould, bʌt ʃi: wil be too ill for some days to go to school. Is she too ill bi: tu: ɪl fɔ: sʌm deɪz tə ɡoʊ tə sku:l. ɪz ʃi: tu: ɪl to read her school-books? No, she is not too ill to read.
tə ri:d hæ: sku:lbuks? nou, ʃi: ɪz nɒt tu: ɪl tə ri:d.
 She reads her school-books and her other books, and ʃi: ri:dz hæ: sku:lbuks ənd hæ: ʌðə buks, ənd when John comes home with the pencil for her from hwen dʒɒn kʌmz hoʊm wɪð ðə pensɪl fɔ: hæ: frɒm the teacher, she will also write. After some days at ðə ti:tʃə, ʃi: wil ə:lsoʊ raɪt. a:ftə sʌm deɪz ət home she will be well, and then she will go to school.
hoʊm ʃi: wil bi: wel, ənd ðen ʃi: wil ɡoʊ tə sku:l.

EXERCISE A.

There are five — in Mr. Smith's house. The children go to school at nine o'clock in the —. When all the children are in the schoolroom, the — comes into the room. When he comes, he says to the children, "— morning, children; are — all here?" Helen is not at school; she is —. John is not ill; he is —. Helen is ill; she has a —. The teacher gives John a pencil — Helen. John will give it to — when he comes home.
 When the children have no pencils, the teacher gives — some. The children write on paper; — colour is white. The children come — the schoolroom in the morning.

WORDS:

I
 me
 my
 you
 your we
 us
 our
 them

John has no pencil, but the teacher gives — one. The teacher says to John, “Are — ill, John?” “No,” he says, “—am not ill; I — well.” “How many persons are you in — family, John?” “— are five persons in — family.” “Is — house a big one, John?” “No, — house is not very big; — has only five rooms.” “Will — give — another pencil?” “Yes, — will; here is a pencil for —.” “What is — name, John?” “— name is John Smith.” What — the teacher say to the children every morning? He says “Good morning” to —. — is the name of John’s family? — name is Smith.

EXERCISE B.

How many rooms has the school? ... When do the children come into the schoolroom? ... What does the teacher say to the children every morning? ... Is Helen at school to-day? ... Is John ill? ... What does Mrs. Smith say to Helen? ... What do the children say to their teacher when they have no pencils? ... And what does he say to them? ... When will John’s father give him a watch? ... Does the teacher read to the children at school? ...

her
its am
came say
said
good ill
well
cold
here
for morning
into room
teacher
twenty

farm

THE FARM

Mr. Smith's brother is a farmer. He has a farm in mɪstə smɪθs brʌðə ɪz ə fa:mə. hi: hæz ə fa:m ɪn the country. Mr. Smith's house is not in the country; ðə kʌntri. mɪstə smɪθs haʊs ɪz nɒt ɪn ðə kʌntri;

it is in a city. Every summer Mr. Smith and his family ɪt ɪz ɪn ə sɪti. evri sʌmə mɪstə smɪθ ænd hɪz fæmli go to his brother in the country for the summer-holidays. ɡoʊ tə hɪz brʌðə ɪn ðə kʌntri fɔ: ðə sʌmə'hɒlɪdɪz.

In August, when the children do not go to school, it ɪn ɔ:gəst, hwen ðə tʃɪldrən du: nɒt ɡoʊ tə sku:l, ɪt is their summer-holidays. Mr. Smith's summer-holidays ɪz ðeə sʌmə'hɒlɪdɪz. mɪstə smɪθs sʌmə'hɒlɪdɪz are not so long as the children's; they are only two ɑ: nɒt səʊ lɒŋ æz ðə tʃɪldrənʒ; ðeɪ ɑ: ɒnli tu:

weeks. He works more than eleven months a year wi:ks. hi: wɜ:kz mɔ: ðæn ɪ'levn mʌnθs ə jɪə and has two weeks' holidays. ænd hæz tu: wi:ks hɒlɪdɪz.

The children have one month's holidays in summer, but ðə tʃɪldrən hæv wʌn mʌnθs hɒlɪdɪz ɪn sʌmə, bʌt they do not work eleven months at school. They also ðeɪ du: nɒt wɜ:k ɪ'levn mʌnθs æt sku:l. ðeɪ ɔ:lsəʊ have other holidays; they have two weeks' holidays in hæv ʌðə hɒlɪdɪz; ðeɪ hæv tu: wi:ks hɒlɪdɪz ɪn one month's holidays

two months'
holidays

December and January, two weeks' holidays in spring, di'sembə and dʒænjuəri, tu: wi:ks hɒlɪdɪz ɪn sprɪŋ, and one week's holidays in autumn. Mrs. Smith works and wʌn wi:ks hɒlɪdɪz ɪn ɔ:təm. mɪsɪz smɪθ wə:ks too; but she does not go away from home to work; she tu:; bʌt ʃi: dʌz nɒt ɡəʊ ə'wei frəm haʊm tə wə:k; ʃi:

works in her house.

wə:ks ɪn hə: haʊs.

What is Mr. Smith's brother? He is a farmer. Where hwɒt ɪz mɪstə smɪθs brʌðə? hi: ɪz ə fɑ:mə. hwɛər is his farm? His farm is in the country. When do ɪz hɪz fɑ:m? hɪz fɑ:m ɪz ɪn ðə kʌntri. hwen du:

Mr. Smith and his family go to his brother's farm?
mɪstə smɪθ and hɪz fæmɪli ɡəʊ tə hɪz brʌðəz fɑ:m?

They go there in summer for Mr. Smith's holidays. Are ðei ɡəʊ ðeə ɪn sʌmə fɔ: mɪstə smɪθs hɒlɪdɪz. a:

Mr. Smith's holidays as long as the children's? No, mɪstə smɪθs hɒlɪdɪz æz lɔŋ æz ðə tʃɪldrənz? nəʊ, he has only two weeks' holidays in summer; the children hi: hæz ɒnli tu: wi:ks hɒlɪdɪz ɪn sʌmə; ðə tʃɪldrən have one month's holidays. How many months does hæv wʌn mʌnθs hɒlɪdɪz. haʊ meni mʌnθs dʌz

Mr. Smith work a year? He works more than eleven mɪstə smɪθ wə:k ə jɪə? hi: wə:ks mɔ: ðæn ɪ'levn months a year. Does he work on Sundays? No, on mʌnθs ə jɪə. dʌz hi: wə:k ɒn sʌndɪz? nəʊ, ɒn Sundays he does not work; Sunday is a holiday. Is sʌndɪz hi: dʌz nɒt wə:k; sʌndɪ ɪz ə hɒlɪdi. ɪz too = also

She works too;
 she also works.

's
 s'
 the boy's ball (one person)
 the boys' ball (more than one person)
 the man's house (one person)
 the men's house (more than one person)

last year
this year next year

this This pencil is not good.

Monday also a holiday? No, Monday is a weekday.
mandi ɔ:lsoʊ ə hɒlɪdi? nou, mandɪ ɪz ə wi:kdeɪ.

Friday is also a weekday. Thursday is a weekday too.
fraɪdi ɪz ɔ:lsoʊ ə wi:kdeɪ. θɜ:zdi ɪz ə wi:kdeɪ tu:.

Wednesday is a weekday too. All the days of the week wenzdi ɪz ə wi:kdeɪ tu:. ɔ:l ðə deɪz əv ðə wi:k

are weekdays, except Sunday; Sunday is a holiday.

a: wi:kdeɪz, ɪk'sept sʌndɪ; sʌndɪ ɪz ə hɒlɪdi.

Mr. Smith is at the farm every summer. He has been mɪstə smɪθ ɪz æt ðə fɑ:m evri sʌmə. hi: hæz bi:n there every summer for many years. He was there ðeə evri sʌmə fɔ: meni jɪəz. hi: wəz ðeə last summer. He will go there this summer. John la:st sʌmə. hi: wɪl ɡoʊ ðeə ðɪs sʌmə. dʒɒn is twelve years old this year. Last year he was eleven ɪz twelv jɪəz ould ðɪs jɪə. la:st jɪə hi: wəz ɪ'levn years old; next year he will be thirteen years old.

jɪəz ould; nekst jɪə hi: wɪl bi: þe:ti:n jɪəz ould.

Helen is ten years old this year. Last year she was nine helɪn ɪz ten jɪəz ould ðɪs jɪə. la:st jɪə ʃi: wəz naɪn years old; next year she will be eleven years old. Baby jɪəz ould; nekst jɪə ʃi: wɪl bi: ɪ'levn jɪəz ould. beɪbi is six months old this year; last year there was no baby. ɪz sɪks mʌnθs ould ðɪs jɪə; la:st jɪə ðeə wəz nou beɪbi.

John said to his teacher, "This pencil is not very good;
dʒɒn sed tə hɪz ti:tʃə, "ðɪs pensɪl ɪz nɒt veri ɡʊd; will you give me another one?"

wɪl ju: ɡɪv mi: ə'nʌðə wʌn?"

John and Helen have been at the farm every summer dʒɒn ænd helɪn hæv bi:n æt ðə fɑ:m evri sʌmə for many years. Mr. Smith has had his family with fɔ: meni jɪəz. mɪstə smɪθ hæz həd hɪz fæmɪli wɪð him every year. Were Mr. Smith and his family at hɪm evri jɪə. wə: mɪstə smɪθ ænd hɪz fæmɪli æt the farm last year? Yes, they were. Do they go ðə fɑ:m la:st jɪə? jes, ðeɪ wə:. du: ðeɪ ɡoʊ there every year? Yes, they do; Mr. Smith has been ðeə evri jɪə? jes, ðeɪ du:; mɪstə smɪθ hæz bi:n at the farm every summer for many years, and his wife æt ðə fɑ:m evri sʌmə fɔ: meni jɪəz, ænd hɪz waɪf and children have been with him. Has Mr. Smith ænd tʃɪldrən hæv bi:n wɪð hɪm. hæz mɪstə smɪθ had his family with him? Yes, the parents have had həd hɪz fæmɪli wɪð hɪm? jes, ðə peərənts hæv həd their children with them at the farm. Mr. Smith's ðeə tʃɪldrən wɪð ðem æt ðə fɑ:m. mɪstə smɪθs brother is the uncle of John and Helen; his brother's brʌðə ɪz ðɪ ʌŋkl əv dʒɒn ænd helɪn; hɪz brʌðəz wife is their aunt. John is the nephew of Mr. Smith's waɪf ɪz ðeə a:nt. dʒɒn ɪz ðə nevjʊ: əv mɪstə smɪθs brother, and Helen is his niece. Has John an uncle?

brʌðə, ænd helɪn ɪz hɪz ni:s. hæz dʒɒn ən ʌŋkl?

Yes, his father's brother, Mr. Smith, is his uncle, and jes, hɪz fa:ðəz brʌðə, mɪstə smɪθ, ɪz hɪz ʌŋkl, ænd

John is his nephew. Who is Helen's aunt? Her aunt dʒɒn ɪz hɪz nevjʊ:. hu: ɪz helɪnz a:nt? hə: a:nt been

He is, he was, he has been.

They are, they were, they have been.

had

He has, he had, he has had.

They have, they had, they have had.

COW

is the wife of her uncle, Mr. Smith, and Helen is her iz ðə waif əv hə: ʌŋkl, mɪstə smɪθ, ənd helɪn ɪz hə: niece.
ni:s.

At the farm there are many animals. A cow is an æt ðə fa:m ðeər a: meni ænɪməlz. ə kaʊ ɪz ən animal, and a hen is an animal. From the cows we get ænɪməl, ənd ə heɪn ɪz ən ænɪməl. frəm ðə kaʊz wi: get milk. From the hens we get eggs. What animals are mɪlk. frəm ðə heɪnz wi: get eɡz. hwɒt ænɪməlz a: there at the farm? There are cows and hens. From ðeə æt ðə fa:m? ðeər a: kaʊz ənd heɪnz. frəm what animal do we get milk? We get milk from the hwɒt ænɪməl du: wi: get mɪlk? wi: get mɪlk frəm ðə cow. What do we get from the hens? We get eggs from
kaʊ. hwɒt du: wi: get frəm ðə heɪnz? wi: get eɡz frəm the hens. From where do we get fruit? We get fruit ðə heɪnz. frəm hwɛə du: wi: get fru:t? wi: get fru:t from the trees in the garden. From the milk we get frəm ðə tri:tz ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dn. frəm ðə mɪlk wi: get cream, and from the cream the farmer's wife makes kri:m, ənd frəm ðə kri:m ðə fa:məz waɪf meɪks butter.
bʌtə.

hen

In the morning, Mr. and Mrs. Smith drink coffee. The ɪn ðə mɔ:nɪŋ, mɪstə ənd mɪsɪz smɪθ dɪrɪŋk kɒfi. ðə children do not drink coffee; coffee is not good for tʃɪldrən du: nɒt dɪrɪŋk kɒfi; kɒfi ɪz nɒt ɡʊd fɔ:

children; they drink milk or tea. Mrs. Smith puts tʃildrən; ðei driŋk mi:lk ɔ: ti:. misiz smiθ puts cream in her coffee; Mr. Smith puts both cream and kri:m in hə: kɔ:fi; mistə smiθ puts bəʊθ kri:m ənd sugar in his coffee. In England people drink much ʃugə in hiz kɔ:fi. in ɪŋɡlənd pi:pl driŋk mʌtʃ tea. The English do not put cream in their tea; they ti:. ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ du: nɒt put kri:m in ðə ti:; ðei put milk in their tea. When John comes home from put mi:lk in ðə ti:. hwen dʒɒn kʌmz həʊm frəm school, he puts his books away in his room. sku:l, hi: puts hiz buks ə'wei in hiz ru:m.

What do Mr. and Mrs. Smith drink in the morning?
hwɒt du: mistə ənd misiz smiθ driŋk in ðə mɔ:nɪŋ?

They drink coffee. Who makes the coffee? Mrs. Smith ðei driŋk kɔ:fi. hu: meiks ðə kɔ:fi? misiz smiθ makes it. What do they put in their coffee? Mr. Smith meiks it. hwɒt du: ðei put in ðə kɔ:fi? mistə smiθ puts both cream and sugar in his coffee, but Mrs. Smith puts bəʊθ kri:m ənd ʃugə in hiz kɔ:fi, bʌt misiz smiθ puts only cream in her coffee. What do the English puts ɒnli kri:m in hə: kɔ:fi. hwɒt du: ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ put in their tea? They put milk in their tea. Do the put in ðə ti: ðei put mi:lk in ðə ti:. du: ðə children drink coffee? No, they do not drink coffee; tʃildrən driŋk kɔ:fi? nəʊ, ðei du: nɒt driŋk kɔ:fi; coffee is not good for children. They get tea or milk kɔ:fi ɪz nɒt ɡʊd fɔ: tʃildrən. ðei get ti: ɔ: mi:lk get gets

I get you get he gets she gets it gets we get you get they get makes?

does make?

Who makes the coffee?

Does Mrs. Smith
make the coffee?

egg

to drink. Who makes the butter at the farm? The tə driŋk. hu: meiks ðə bʌtə æt ðə fa:m? ðə farmer's wife makes it. From what does she make it? fa:məz waɪf meiks it. frɒm hwɒt dʌz ʃi: meɪk ɪt?

She makes it from cream. Where does she get the ʃi: meiks ɪt frɒm kri:m. hwɛə dʌz ʃi: get ðə cream from? She gets it from the milk.

kri:m frɒm? ʃi: gets ɪt frɒm ðə milk.

EXERCISE A.

Mr. Smith's brother is a —. He lives at a — in the —.
 Mr. Smith's house is in — —. In August, it is the children's —. Mr. Smith's — are not so long as the children's. The children have one — holidays every summer. Mr. Smith has only two — holidays. Mr. Smith — more than eleven months — year. Mrs. Smith works —; she works in — —. Sunday is a —. People do not work on holidays, but only on —. Mr. — holidays are in August. The — holidays are also in August. The — name is John. The — names are Helen and Alice. Mr. Smith has — at the farm every summer for many years. He has — his family with him every year. Helen is ten — old. — year she will be eleven years old. — year there was no baby.

Mr. Smith's brother is the children's uncle; his wife is their —. John is their —, and Helen is their —.
 There are many — at the farm. Cows and hens are —.
 From the cows we — milk, and from the hens we get —.

WORDS:

farmer
 farm
 holiday work
 too
 this next uncle aunt nephew niece animal
 cow
 hen
 get milk
 cream

We get — from the milk, and from the cream the farmer's wife — butter. The children — tea or milk in the morning, but Mr. and Mrs. Smith — coffee. Mr. Smith — both cream and sugar in his coffee, but Mrs. Smith — only cream in her coffee.

butter
egg
make drink
coffee
tea
put sugar
had
been

Where does John — his books? He — them in his room. Who — the coffee in the morning? Mr. — wife makes it. — the children drink coffee or tea? They — not drink coffee; they — tea or milk. — do we get milk from? We get it from the —. Where — we — eggs from? We get eggs from the —. — are cows and hens? They are —. Is Helen ten years —? Yes, — year she is ten years old, but — year she will — eleven years old.

EXERCISE B.

What is Mr. Smith's brother? ... Where is his farm? ... Where is Mr. Smith's house? ... Is Saturday a holiday? ... Does Mrs. Smith work too? ... Where does she work? ... Does Mr. Smith go to his brother's farm every year? ... Has his family been with him every year? ... Who is John's uncle? ... Who is his aunt? ... What do we get from the cows? ... Where do we get eggs from? ... Who makes the butter at the farm? ... What does she make it from? ... What do the English put in their tea? ... What do the children drink? ...

THE LAKE

One day at the farm Mr. Smith said to his brother wʌn dei æt ðə fa:m mistə smiþ sed tə hiz brʌðə

George, "To-day I shall go to the lake with the children."
dʒɔ:dʒ, "tə'dei ai ʃæl gou tə ðə leik wið ðə tʃildrən."

"Yes," said his brother, "it will be good for them."
"jes," sed hiz brʌðə, "it wil bi: gud fɔ: ðem."

The lake is only small. It is near the farm; it is only ðə leik iz ounli smɔ:l. it iz niə ðə fa:m; it iz ounli five minutes from the farm to the lake. The farm is faɪv minits frɒm ðə fa:m tə ðə leik. ðə fa:m iz not near the city; it is two hours from the city to the nɒt niə ðə siti; it iz tu: aʊəz frɒm ðə siti tə ðə farm. The lake is not far from the farm; it is near fa:m. ðə leik iz nɒt fa: frɒm ðə fa:m; it iz niə the farm. The farm is far from the city; it is not near ðə fa:m. ðə fa:m iz fa: frɒm ðə siti; it iz nɒt niə the city. England is far from Sweden, but England is ðə siti. ɪŋɡlənd iz fa: frɒm swi:dn, bʌt ɪŋɡlənd iz near France.

niə fra:ns.

Between the farm and the lake there are fields. In bi'twi:n ðə fa:m ənd ðə leik ðeə a: fi:ldz. in some fields there is grass, and in other fields there is səm fi:ldz ðeə iz gra:s, ənd in ʌðə fi:ldz ðeə iz shall will

I shall you will he will she will it will

we shall
you will
they will corn. In summer the animals are in the fields; there kɔ:n. in samə ði æniməlz a: in ðə fi:ldz; ðear are cows in the fields, and there are also horses in the a: kaʊz in ðə fi:ldz, ənd ðear a: ɔ:lsou hɔ:siz in ðə fields. The cows and the horses eat the grass in the fi:ldz. ðə kaʊz ənd ðə hɔ:siz i:t ðə gra:s in ðə fields. When the cows eat much grass, they give good fi:ldz. hwen ðə kaʊz i:t mʌtʃ gra:s, ðei giʋ gud milk. The hens eat grass too, and we eat the hens' eggs. milk. ðə henz i:t gra:s tu:, ənd wi: i:t ðə henz eɡz.

The hens also eat corn. When the hens get much corn ðə henz ɔ:lsou i:t kɔ:n. hwen ðə henz get mʌtʃ kɔ:n to eat, we get many eggs. tu i:t, wi: get meni eɡz.

Where is the lake? The lake is near the farm. Is the hwɛər iz ðə leik? ðə leik iz niə ðə fa:m. iz ðə farm near the city? No, the farm is not near the city; fa:m niə ðə siti? nou, ðə fa:m iz nɒt niə ðə siti;

it is far from the city. Is England far from France?
it iz fa: frɒm ðə siti. iz ɪŋɡlənd fa: frɒm fra:ns?

No, England is near France. What is between the lake nou, ɪŋɡlənd iz niə fra:ns. hwɒt iz bi'twi:n ðə leik and the farm? There are fields between the lake and ənd ðə fa:m? ðear a: fi:ldz bi'twi:n ðə leik ənd the farm. What animals are there in the fields? There ðə fa:m. hwɒt æniməlz a: ðəə in ðə fi:ldz? ðear are cows and horses in the fields. What do they eat? a: kaʊz ənd hɔ:siz in ðə fi:ldz. hwɒt du: ðei i:t?

They eat the grass in the fields.

ðei i:t ðə gra:s in ðə fi:ldz.

There is a road from the farm to the lake. There is ðær iz ə roud frɒm ðə fa:m tə ðə leik. ðær iz also a road from the city to the farm. The road from ɔ:lsoʊ ə roud frɒm ðə siti tə ðə fa:m. ðə roud frɒm the farm to the lake is short. It goes through the fields.

ðə fa:m tə ðə leik iz ʃɔ:t. it gouz þru: ðə fi:ldz.

The children go through the door of the house into the ðə tʃildrən gou þru: ðə dɔ: əv ðə haus intə ðə garden. Does the road go through the farm? No, one ga:dn. dʌz ðə roud gou þru: ðə fa:m? nou, wʌn road goes to the farm from the city, and another road roud gouz tə ðə fa:m frɒm ðə siti, and ə'nʌðə roud goes from the farm to the lake. What does the road gouz frɒm ðə fa:m tə ðə leik. hwɒt dʌz ðə roud to the lake go through? It goes through the fields.

tə ðə leik gou þru:ʔ it gouz þru: ðə fi:ldz.

How do the children get from the house into the garden?
hau du: ðə tʃildrən get frɒm ðə haus intə ðə ga:dn?

They go through the door; but sometimes John goes ðei gou þru: ðə dɔ:; bʌt sʌmtaɪmz dʒɒn gouz through the window. How do they get from the farm þru: ðə wɪndəʊ. hau du: ðei get frɒm ðə fa:m to the lake? They go by the road through the fields.

tə ðə leik? ðei gou baɪ ðə roud þru: ðə fi:ldz.

How do Mr. Smith and his family get from the farm hau du: mɪstə smɪθ ənd hɪz fæmɪli get frɒm ðə fa:m how?

how many?

how long?

How do we swim?
We swim with our arms and legs.

How many horses are there at the farm?
There are four horses at the farm.

How long have you walked?
I have walked for ten minutes.

to the city? They go by the road to the city. There tə ðə siti? ðei gou bai ðə roud tə ðə siti. ðɛər is water in the lake. In summer the water is warm. iz wɔ:tə in ðə leik. in sʌmə ðə wɔ:tə iz wɔ:m.

In winter it is cold, and sometimes there is ice on the in wintə it iz kould, ənd sʌmtaɪmz ðɛər iz aɪs ɔn ðə lake. But when it is summer, the water is warm. When leik. bʌt hwen it iz sʌmə, ðə wɔ:tə iz wɔ:m. hwen the children are very warm, they drink cold water, but ðə tʃɪldrən ɑ: veri wɔ:m, ðei drɪŋk kould wɔ:tə, bʌt the water in the lake is not good to drink. Mr. Smith ðə wɔ:tə in ðə leik iz nɒt gud tə drɪŋk. mɪstə smɪθ takes his children with him to the lake. John takes a teɪks hɪz tʃɪldrən wɪð hɪm tə ðə leik. dʒɒn teɪks ə ball with him to play with in the water, and Helen bɔ:l wɪð hɪm tə pleɪ wɪð in ðə wɔ:tə, ənd helɪn takes her doll with her.

teɪks hɜ: dɒl wɪð hɜ:.

What is in the lake? There is water in the lake. Do hwɒt iz in ðə leik? ðɛər iz wɔ:tə in ðə leik. du:

the children drink the water of the lake? No, they ðə tʃɪldrən drɪŋk ðə wɔ:tə əv ðə leik? nou, ðei do not, but the horses and the cows do. What is on the du: nɒt, bʌt ðə ha:sɪz ənd ðə kaʊz du:. hwɒt iz ɔn ðə lake in winter? Sometimes there is ice on the lake in leik in wintə? sʌmtaɪmz ðɛər iz aɪs ɔn ðə leik in winter. Does Mr. Smith take his children with him to wintə. dʌz mɪstə smɪθ teɪk hɪz tʃɪldrən wɪð hɪm tə the lake? Yes, he takes them with him. Does he take ðə leik? jes, hi: teiks ðem wið him. dʌz hi: teik his brother with him? No, his brother has no time hiz brʌðə wið him? nou, hiz brʌðə hæz nou taim to go to the lake; he works every day in summer, tə gou tə ðə leik; hi: wə:ks evri dei in sʌmə, except on Sundays. What do the children take with ik'sept ɔn sʌndiz. hwɒt du: ðə tʃildrən teik wið them to play with? John takes his ball, and Helen ðem tə plei wið? dʒɒn teiks hiz bɔ:l, and helin takes her doll. Does Helen take her doll with her into teiks hə: dɔl. dʌz helin teik hə: dɔl wið hə: intə the water? No, it is not good for her doll to get into ðə wɔ:tə? nou, it iz nɒt gud fɔ: hə: dɔl tə get intə the water. What do Mr. Smith and the children do at ðə wɔ:tə. hwɒt du: mistə smiθ and ðə tʃildrən du: æt the lake? They swim in the water. Do they all swim?

ðə leik? dei swim in ðə wɔ:tə. du: dei ɔ:l swim?

Yes, they all swim, except Baby, but Helen is not a very jes, dei ɔ:l swim, ik'sept beibi, bʌt helin iz nɒt ə veri good swimmer; she has learned to swim this summer. gud swimə; ʃi: hæz lə:nd tə swim ðis sʌmə.

Has John learned to swim this summer, too? No, he hæz dʒɒn lə:nd tə swim ðis sʌmə, tu:ʔ nou, hi:

learned to swim last summer, and he is a very good lə:nd tə swim la:st sʌmə, and hi: iz ə veri gud swimmer. Is the water warm enough to swim in?

swimə. iz ðə wɔ:tə wɔ:m i'nʌf tə swim in?

-ed

He learns, he learned, he has learned.

They learn, they learned, they have learned.

Yes, in August it is warm enough, but in spring it is jes, in ɔ:gast it iz wɔ:m i'naf. bat in sprɪŋ it iz not warm enough; it is too cold in spring to swim in.

not wɔ:m i'naf; it iz tu: kould in sprɪŋ tə swim in.

Is the baby big enough to learn to swim? No, she is iz ðə beibi big i'naf tə lə:n tə swim? nou, ʃi: iz too small to learn to swim.

tu: smɔ:l tə lə:n tə swim.

This morning John asked his father, "Father, when ðis mɔ:nɪŋ dʒɔn a:skt hɪz fa:ðə, "fa:ðə, hwen will you take us to the lake?" "I shall take you there wɪl ju: teɪk ʌs tə ðə leɪk?" "aɪ ʃæl teɪk ju: ðeə to-day," his father answered. "Will you come with us, tə'deɪ," hɪz fa:ðə a:nsəd. "wɪl ju: kʌm wɪð ʌs, George?" he asked his brother. "No," the farmer dʒɔ:dʒ? hɪ: a:skt hɪz brʌðə. "nou," ðə fa:mə answered, "I have no time to-day, but ask me on a:nsəd, "aɪ hæv nou taɪm tə'deɪ, bat a:sk mi: ɔn Sunday, and I shall answer 'yes'."

sʌndi, ænd aɪ ʃæl a:nsə 'jes'."

John has asked his father every day for a week, "Will dʒɔn hæz a:skt hɪz fa:ðə evri deɪ fɔ: ə wi:k, "wɪl you take us to the lake to-day?" and every day his father ju: teɪk ʌs tə ðə leɪk tə'deɪ?" ænd evri deɪ hɪz fa:ðə has answered, "No, not to-day," but this morning his hæz a:nsəd, "nou, not tə'deɪ," bat ðis mɔ:nɪŋ hɪz father answered, "Yes, to-day we shall all go to the fa:ðə a:nsəd, "jes, tə'deɪ wi: ʃæl ɔ:l gou tə ðə

-ed

He asks, he asked,
 he has asked.

They ask, they asked, they have asked.

-ed

He answers, he answered, he has answered.

They answer, they answered, they have answered.

-ed

He walks, he walked, he has walked.

They walk, they walked, they have walked.

town = city

lake." The children and their father will walk to the lake." ðə tʃɪldrən ænd ðeə fa:ðə wɪl wɔ:k tə ðə leɪk.

lake. What is "to walk"? To walk is to go on foot. leɪk. hʌwt ɪz "tə wɔ:k"? tə wɔ:k ɪz tə ɡoʊ ɒn fu:t.

The baby does not walk; she is not big enough to walk; ðə beɪbi dʌz nɒt wɔ:k; ʃi: ɪz nɒt bɪɡ ɪ'nʌf tə wɔ:k;

but her father takes her on his arm.

bʌt hɜ: fa:ðə teɪks hɜ: ɒn hɪz a:rm.

Yesterday the children walked for two hours through jɛstədi ðə tʃɪldrən wɔ:kt fɔ: tu: aʊəz þru:

the fields. How long has John walked to-day? He ðə fi:ldz. haʊ lɒŋ hæz dʒɒn wɔ:kt tə'deɪ? hi:

has walked for only ten minutes to-day, five minutes hæz wɔ:kt fɔ: ɒnli ten mɪnɪts tə'deɪ, faɪv mɪnɪts

to the lake and five minutes back to the house. After tə ðə leɪk ænd faɪv mɪnɪts bæk tə ðə haʊs. a:ftə

the summer-holidays the family will go back to town ðə sʌmə'hɒlɪdɪz ðə fæmɪli wɪl ɡoʊ bæk tə taʊn

(to the city), and the children will go back to school. (tə ðə sɪti), ænd ðə tʃɪldrən wɪl ɡoʊ bæk tə sku:l.

When will they go back to town? They will go back hwen wɪl ðeɪ ɡoʊ bæk tə taʊn? ðeɪ wɪl ɡoʊ bæk to the city in August.

tə ðə sɪti ɪn ɔ:ɡəst.

What does Mr. Smith say to his brother? He says, hʌwt dʌz mɪstə smɪθ seɪ tə hɪz brʌðə? hi: sez,

"Come with us to the lake to-day, George!" And what "kʌm wɪð ʌs tə ðə leɪk tə'deɪ, dʒɔ:dʒ!" ænd hʌwt does his brother answer? He answers, "Not to-day, dΛz hiz brΛðə a:nsə? hi: a:nsəz, "nɔt tə'dei, but ask me on Sunday, and I shall answer 'yes'."

bΛt a:sk mi: ɔn sΛndi, ənd ai ʃæl a:nsə 'jes'."

What does John ask his father? He asks, "Will you hwɔt dΛz dʒɔn a:sk hiz fa:ðə? hi: a:skz, "wil ju:

take us to the lake to-day?" And what does his father teik ʌs tə ðə leik tə'dei?" ənd hwɔt dΛz hiz fa:ðə answer? He answers, "Yes, go and take your ball and a:nsə? hi: a:nsəz, "jes, ɡoʊ ənd teik juə bɔ:l ənd your doll. To-day we shall all go to the lake and juə dɔl. tə'dei wi: ʃæl ɔ:l ɡoʊ tə ðə leik ənd swim."

swim."

EXERCISE A.

The animals of the farm drink —. The water is in a —. In winter there is — on the lake. The lake is — the farm. The farm is — from the city. There are — between the lake and the farm. In some fields there is —, and in other fields there is —. There are cows and — in the fields. The animals — the grass in the fields. From the farm to the lake there is a —.
 The road goes — the fields. To — is to go on foot. In winter there is — ice on the lake, but not every day.

John — his ball with him to the lake, and Helen — her doll. — do Mr. Smith and his children do at the lake?
 They — in the water of the lake. — John learned to

WORDS:

lake near far field corn horse eat road through
 by town sometimes water ice take swim

swimmer enough ask answer
walk
back
how?
get
shall

swim? Yes, he learned — — last summer; he is a very good —. Is the baby big — to swim? No, she is — small to swim. — do the children get from the house into the garden? They go — the door. — do they get from the farm to the lake? They — by the road to the lake. “When will you take us to the lake?” John — his father. “I — take you there to-day; to-day I have time,” his father —.

EXERCISE B.

Who drinks the water in the lake? ... What is on the lake sometimes in winter? ... Is the lake far from the farm? ... Is the farm far from the city? ... How do they get from the farm to the lake? ... Does the baby walk? ... What animals are in the fields? ... What does the road to the lake go through? ... What is there in the fields? ... Do all the children swim in the lake? ... What do the children take with them to the lake? ... How does Mr. Smith take the baby to the lake? ... Is it warm enough in spring to swim in the lake? ... Is Helen a good swimmer? ...

Has Helen learned to swim this year? ... Has John asked his father before to-day to take them to the lake? ... What does Mr. Smith's brother answer, when Mr. Smith asks him, “Will you come with us to the lake?” ... How long has John walked to-day? ... When will the family go back to town? ... How far is it from the farm to the lake? ... How far is it from the farm to the city? ...

MEALS

In England most people have three meals every day. in ɪŋɡlənd moʊst pi:pl hæv θri: mi:lz evri dei.

We also eat three meals a day. The first meal of the wi:ʤ:lsou i:t θri: mi:lz ə dei. ðə fə:st mi:l əv ðə day we call breakfast. In England people eat much dei wi: kɔ:l brekfəst. in ɪŋɡlənd pi:pl i:t mʌʃ more for breakfast than in other countries. In many mɔ: fɔ: brekfəst ðæn in ʌðə kʌntriz. in menɪ countries people have only bread and butter with coffee kʌntriz pi:pl hæv ʌnli bred ənd bʌtə wið kɔ:fi or tea, but in England they have fish, eggs and bacon, ɔ: ti:, bʌt in ɪŋɡlənd ðei hæv fɪʃ, eɡz ənd beɪkən, and sometimes porridge, too, for breakfast. After this, ənd sʌmtaɪnz pɔ:ridʒ, tu:, fɔ: brekfəst. ɑ:ftə ðɪs, they have tea or coffee with bread and butter. Some-dei hæv ti: ɔ: kɔ:fi wið bred ənd bʌtə. sʌmtimes they put marmalade on their bread and butter. tɑɪmz ðei put mɑ:məleɪd ɔn ðeə bred ənd bʌtə.

We make marmalade from one of the fruits.
wi: meɪk mɑ:məleɪd frɒm wʌn əv ðə fru:t.

The next meal of the day is lunch, at one o'clock. Some ðə nekst mi:l əv ðə dei ɪz lʌnʃ, æt wʌn ə'klɒk. sʌm people eat lunch at noon (twelve o'clock). For lunch pi:pl i:t lʌnʃ æt nu:n (twelv ə'klɒk). fɔ: lʌnʃ bacon

one potato two potatoes carrot

potato

most English people eat some meat and vegetables. The moust ɪŋɡlɪʃ pi:pl i:t sʌm mi:t ənd vedʒɪtəblz. ðə meat of cows is beef. Vegetables are plants. A potato mi:t əv kaʊz ɪz bi:f. vedʒɪtəblz ɑ: plɑ:nts. ə pə'tetɪtəʊ is a vegetable; a carrot is a vegetable. At seven o'clock ɪz ə vedʒɪtəbl; ə kærət ɪz ə vedʒɪtəbl. æt sevən ə'klɒk we have dinner. Dinner is the biggest meal of the wɪ: hæv dɪnə. dɪnə ɪz ðə bɪɡɪst mi:l əv ðə day. For dinner most people have meat and vegetables

deɪ. fɔ: dɪnə moust pi:pl hæv mi:t ənd vedʒɪtəblz first. After the meat they sometimes have fruit.

fɜ:st. ɑ:ftə ðə mi:t ðeɪ sʌmtaɪmz hæv fru:t.

How many meals do we eat a day? We eat three meals haʊ menɪ mi:lz du: wɪ: i:t ə deɪ? wɪ: i:t θri: mi:lz a day, but some people also drink tea between the meals.

ə deɪ, bʌt sʌm pi:pl ɔ:lsoʊ drɪŋk ti: bi'twi:n ðə mi:lz.

What are the three big meals of the day? They are hwɒt ɑ: ðə θri: bɪɡ mi:lz əv ðə deɪ? ðeɪ ɑ:

breakfast in the morning, lunch at noon or at one o'clock, brekfʌst ɪn ðə mɔ:nɪŋ, lʌnʃ æt nu:n ɔ: ət wʌn ə'klɒk, and dinner in the evening at seven o'clock. Do all ənd dɪnə ɪn ði i:vnɪŋ æt sevən ə'klɒk. du: ɔ:l people have dinner in the evening? No, some people pi:pl hæv dɪnə ɪn ði i:vnɪŋ? nəʊ, sʌm pi:pl have dinner at one o'clock, and then they call the hæv dɪnə ət wʌn ə'klɒk, ənd ðen ðeɪ kɔ:l ði evening meal supper. For supper people have bread i:vnɪŋ mi:l sʌpə. fɔ: sʌpə pi:pl hæv bred and butter, sometimes with cold meat.

ænd bʌtə, sʌmtaɪmz wɪð kəʊld mi:t.

What are vegetables? Vegetables are plants; potatoes hwɒt a: vedʒɪtəblz? vedʒɪtəblz a: plɑ:nts; pə'teɪtəʊz and carrots are vegetables. Food is what we eat. Meat ænd kærəts a: vedʒɪtəblz. fu:d ɪz hwɒt wi: i:t. mi:t is food, bread is food, everything we eat is food. A ɪz fu:d, bred ɪz fu:d, evriθɪŋ wi: i:t ɪz fu:d. ə tree is a thing; a house is a thing. A man is not a tri: ɪz ə θɪŋ; ə haʊs ɪz ə θɪŋ. ə mæn ɪz nɒt ə thing, a man is a person. A boy is not a thing, a boy θɪŋ, ə mæn ɪz ə pɜ:sn. ə bɔɪ ɪz nɒt ə θɪŋ, ə bɔɪ is a person, too.

ɪz ə pɜ:sn, tu:.

When it was time to have a meal, the mother went to hwɛn ɪt wəz taɪm tə hæv ə mi:l, ðə mʌðə went tə the door and called, "John and Helen, where are you?"

ðə dɔ: ænd kɔ:ld, "dʒɒn ænd helɪn, hwɛər a: ju:?"

Come in, it is dinner-time." But the children were not kʌm ɪn, ɪt ɪz dɪnətaɪm." bʌt ðə tʃɪldrən wə: nɒt in the garden. The mother called again, "John and ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dn. ðə mʌðə kɔ:ld ə'geɪn, "dʒɒn ænd Helen — it is dinner-time!"

helɪn — ɪt ɪz dɪnətaɪm!"

She went back into the house again and said to her ʃi: went bæk ɪntə ðə haʊs ə'geɪn ænd sed tə hɜ:

husband, "Allan, will you go out into the fields and see hʌsbænd, "ælən, wɪl ju: ɡəʊ aʊt ɪntə ðə fi:ldz ænd si:

what?

what

What does he say?

I take what you give me.

What we eat is food.

do
does did

The teacher does not see the children every day.

The children do not go to school every day.

He did not see them yesterday.

They did not go to school yesterday.

had been

He had been.
They had been.

where the children are? It is dinner-time. They do hwæa ða tfildræn a:ʔ it iz dinətaim. ðei du:

not hear me when I call. I have called three times.
nɒt hiə mi: hwen ai kɔ:l. ai hæv kɔ:ld þri: taimz.

They are not good children; every day at lunch-time ðei a: nɒt gud tfildræn; evri ðei æt lʌnstaim and dinner-time, they are not here and do not hear me." ænd dinətaim, ðei a: nɒt hiə ænd du: nɒt hiə mi:."

Mr. Smith went out, but when he came back, the mɪstə smɪθ went aʊt, bʌt hwen hi: keɪm bæk, ða children were not with him. "I called many times, but tfildræn wə: nɒt wið him. "ai kɔ:ld meni taimz, bʌt they were not there." "Oh, where are the children?" ðei wə: nɒt ðeə." "ou, hwær a: ða tfildræn?"

the mother said and went into the house — and there ðə mʌðə sed ænd went intə ðə haʊs — ænd ðeə were the children!

wə: ðə tfildræn!

They had been in their rooms in the house when their ðei hæd bi:n in ðeə ru:mz in ðə haʊs hwen ðeə mother called. "Have you called, father and mother?"

mʌðə kɔ:ld. "hæv ju: kɔ:ld, fa:ðə ænd mʌðə?" they asked. What did the mother go out into the ðei a:skt. hwɒt did ðə mʌðə ɡoʊ aʊt intə ðə garden for? She went out to call the children. Did ɡɑ:dn fɔ:ʔ ʃi: went aʊt tə kɔ:l ðə tfildræn. did she see them? No, she did not see them, they were ʃi: si: ðem? noʊ. ʃi: did nɒt si: ðem, ðei wə:

not there. What did the mother do when she did not ðə. hʌwt did ðə mʌðə du: hwen ʃi: did not see the children? She said to the father, "Will not si: ðə tʃɪldrən? ʃi: sed tə ðə fa:ðə, "wɪl you go out into the fields and call the children?"

ju: ɡəʊ aʊt ɪntə ðə fi:ldz ənd kɔ:l ðə tʃɪldrən?"

Did the children hear their parents call them? No, did ðə tʃɪldrən hiə ðeə peərənts kɔ:l ðem? nou, they did not. Where had the children been? They ðei did nɒt. hwɛə hæd ðə tʃɪldrən bi:n? ðei had been in their rooms. How many meals a day do hæd bi:n ɪn ðeə ru:mz. haʊ meni mi:lz ə dei du:

most people have? They have three meals a day.
mʌst pi:pl hæv? ðei hæv θri: mi:lz ə dei.

What is food? Everything we eat is food. Bread is hwɒt ɪz fu:d? evriθɪŋ wi: ɪt ɪz fu:d. bred ɪz food; meat is food. Is a man a thing? No, a man fu:d; mi:t ɪz fu:d. ɪz ə mæn ə θɪŋ? nou, ə mæn is not a thing, a man is a person. When do people ɪz nɒt ə θɪŋ, ə mæn ɪz ə pɜ:sn. hwen du: pi:pl have tea? Oh, some have tea many times a day.

hæv ti:? ʌ, sʌm hæv ti: meni taɪmz ə dei.

Most people have tea in the afternoon at four o'clock mʌst pi:pl hæv ti: ɪn ði ɑ:ftə'nu:n æt fɔ: ə'klɒk or five o'clock (at tea-time). Some people have coffee ɔ: faɪv ə'klɒk (æt ti:taɪm). sʌm pi:pl hæv kɒfi after lunch and after dinner.

ɑ:ftə lʌnʃ ənd ɑ:ftə dɪnə.

bed

comes?
does . . . come?

What comes?
Who comes?

Does the man
come?

do you have?
have you?

Do you have dinner at seven o'clock?

I do not have dinner at seven
o'clock.

Have you walked
to the lake?

I have not walked
to the lake.

When is it morning? It is morning from the time the hwen iz it mɔ:nɪŋ? it iz mɔ:nɪŋ frɔm ðə taɪm ðə sun is up till (until) noon. When is noon? Noon is sʌn iz ʌp tɪl (ʌn'tɪl) nu:n. hwen iz nu:n? nu:n iz at twelve o'clock. When is the afternoon? The after-æt twelv ə'klɔk. hwen iz ði ɑ:ftə'nu:n? ði ɑ:ftənoon is from lunch-time until tea-time. What do we 'nu:n iz frɔm lʌnstɑɪm ʌn'tɪl ti:taɪm. hwɔt du: wi:

call the time after tea-time? The time after tea-time kɔ:l ðə taɪm ɑ:ftə ti:taɪm? ðə taɪm ɑ:ftə ti:taɪm we call the evening. What comes after the evening?

wi: kɔ:l ði i:vɪnɪŋ. hwɔt kʌmz ɑ:ftə ði i:vɪnɪŋ?

After the evening comes the night. At night people ɑ:ftə ði i:vɪnɪŋ kʌmz ðə naɪt. æt naɪt pi:pl sleep. They sleep in beds. The children go to bed at slɪ:p. ðeɪ slɪ:p ɪn bedz. ðə tʃɪldrən ɡoʊ tə bed æt eight o'clock in the evening. Then their mother puts eɪt ə'klɔk ɪn ði i:vɪnɪŋ. ðen ðeə mʌðə pʊts them to bed and says, "Good night, John and Helen.

ðəm tə bed ʌnd sez, "ɡʊd naɪt, dʒɒn ʌnd helɪn.

sleep well!" The parents do not go to bed till eleven slɪ:p wel!" ðə peərənts du: nɔt ɡoʊ tə bed tɪl ɪ'levn o'clock.

ə'klɔk.

What do John and Helen have for breakfast? Somehwɔt du: dʒɒn ʌnd helɪn hæv fɔ: brekfʌst? sʌmtimes they have porridge and milk for breakfast. Do taɪmz ðeɪ hæv pɔrɪdʒ ʌnd mɪlk fɔ: brekfʌst. du:

the children have coffee in the afternoon? No, they ðə tʃɪldrən hæv kɒfi ɪn ði ɑːftəˈnuːn? nou, ðeɪ do not, but sometimes, when they come from school duː nɒt, bʌt sʌmtaɪmz, huːn ðeɪ kʌm frəm skuːl in the afternoon, they have tea with bread and butter.

ɪn ði ɑːftəˈnuːn, ðeɪ hæv tiː wɪð bred ænd bʌtə.

EXERCISE A.

We have three big — a day. The first meal of the day is —. Some people have — in the morning with — and butter, and the children sometimes have — and milk. The English eat more for — than most people; they have — and eggs, and sometimes —. They drink tea and have bread and butter with —. At one o'clock people have —. In some countries most people — bread and butter for lunch, but in England many people have — and — for lunch.

— and — are vegetables. The third big meal of the day is —. For dinner we have — and vegetables. The meat of cows is —. At twelve o'clock it is —. The time between lunch-time and tea-time is the —. Sometimes people have dinner at one o'clock, and then they call the meal at seven o'clock —. The time after tea-time is the —. — is what we eat. A tree is a —, and a house is also a —, but a man is not a —; a man is a person.

When did the mother — the children? The mother went to the door and — John and Helen before dinner. Did the children — their mother call? No, the children

WORDS:
 breakfast
 meal bread fish
 bacon porridge marmalade
 lunch vegetable potato
 carrot
 dinner meat beef supper food everything
 thing

call hear again see evening noon
did
afternoon sleep
bed till until out sun
up

did not — their mother call. What — the mother do, when the children did not come? When they did not come, she went into the house — and said to her husband, “I do not — the children. Will you go — and see — they are?” — do the children go to bed? The children go to — at eight o'clock. — puts the children to bed? Their mother puts them to bed and says, “Good night, children, — well!” — do the parents go to bed? The parents do not go to bed — eleven o'clock.

EXERCISE B.

How many meals do most people have a day? ... What are the three big meals of the day? ... What do they have in England for breakfast? ... What do people in some other countries have for breakfast? ... What do English people have for lunch? ... What do we call potatoes and carrots? ... Do all people have dinner at seven o'clock? ... Are trees and houses things or persons? ... Where had the children been when their mother called them? ... What did they say when they came from their rooms? ... When is the afternoon? ... What do we call the time after tea-time? ... When do the children go to bed? ...

LANGUAGES

English is a language, Swedish is a language, and ɪŋglɪʃ ɪz ə læŋɡwɪdʒ, swiːdɪʃ ɪz ə læŋɡwɪdʒ, ænd

French is a language. English, Swedish, and French frenʃ ɪz ə læŋɡwɪdʒ. ɪŋglɪʃ, swiːdɪʃ, ænd frenʃ are languages. The people in England speak the English ɑː læŋɡwɪdʒɪz. ðə piːpl ɪn ɪŋɡlənd spiːk ði ɪŋglɪʃ language; they speak English. The people in Sweden læŋɡwɪdʒ; ðeɪ spiːk ɪŋglɪʃ. ðə piːpl ɪn swiːdn speak the Swedish language; they speak Swedish. The spiːk ðə swiːdɪʃ læŋɡwɪdʒ; ðeɪ spiːk swiːdɪʃ. ðə people in France speak the French language; they speak piːpl ɪn fraːns spiːk ðə frenʃ læŋɡwɪdʒ; ðeɪ spiːk

French. A language has many words. "Man" is a frenʃ. ə læŋɡwɪdʒ hæz mæni wəːdz. "mæn" ɪz ə word; "go" is a word. The word "read" has four wəːd; "ɡoʊ" ɪz ə wəːd. ðə wəːd "riːd" hæz fɔː letters: r-e-a-d; "r" is a letter; "e" is a letter; "a" is letəz. ɑː-iː-eɪ-dɪː; "ɑː" ɪz ə letə; "iː" ɪz ə letə; "eɪ" ɪz a letter; "d" is a letter.

ə letə; "dɪː" ɪz ə letə.

What language do people speak in Norway? In Norway hwɒt læŋɡwɪdʒ duː piːpl spiːk ɪn nɔːwei? ɪn nɔːwei they speak Norwegian. Where do they speak the ðeɪ spiːk nɔːˈwiːdʒən. hwɛə duː ðeɪ spiːk ði

Chapter Thirteen (13).

The English
alphabet:

a [ei]
b [bi:] c [si:]
d [di:] e [i:] f [ef]
g [dʒi:]
h [eitʃ]
i [ai]
j [dʒei]
k [kei]
l [el] m [em]
n [en]
o [ou] p [pi:]
q [kju:]
r [a:] s [es] t [ti:]
u [ju:]
v [vi:]
w [dʌbl ju:]
x [eks]
y [wai]
z [zed]

English language? They speak the English language ɪŋɡlɪʃ læŋɡwɪdʒ? ðei spi:k ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ læŋɡwɪdʒ in many countries, for example: in England, in North in meni kʌntri:z, fər ɪɡˈzɑ:mpl: in ɪŋɡlənd, in nɔ:p

America, and in Australia. How many words has the əˈmerɪkə, ænd in ɔ:ˈstreɪljə. haʊ meni wə:dz hæz ði English language? They say it has 250,000 (two hundred ɪŋɡlɪʃ læŋɡwɪdʒ? ðei sei ɪt hæz tu: hʌndrɪd and fifty thousand) words. How many letters are ænd fɪfti ˈhaʊzənd wə:dz. haʊ meni letəz a:

there in the word "woman"? There are five letters ðeə ɪn ðə wə:d ˈwʊmən? ðeər a: faɪv letəz in the word "woman".

ɪn ðə wə:d ˈwʊmən".

How many letters has the alphabet? The English haʊ meni letəz hæz ði ˈælfəbɪt? ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ alphabet has twenty-six (26) letters. Some alphabets ˈælfəbɪt hæz ˈtwentiˈsɪks letəz. sʌm ˈælfəbɪts have more than twenty-six letters.

hæv mɔ: ðæn ˈtwentiˈsɪks letəz.

Can the children in the Swedish schools speak English?

kæn ðə ˈtʃɪldrən ɪn ðə swɪˈdiʃ sku:lz spi:k ɪŋɡlɪʃ?

No, not the small children, but the big children learn nəʊ, nɒt ðə smɔ:l ˈtʃɪldrən, bʌt ðə bɪɡ ˈtʃɪldrən læ:n to speak English. Can John speak Danish? No, the tə spi:k ɪŋɡlɪʃ. kæn dʒɒn spi:k ˈdeɪnɪʃ? nəʊ, ðə children in England cannot speak Danish; they do ˈtʃɪldrən ɪn ɪŋɡlənd kænɒt spi:k ˈdeɪnɪʃ; ðei du:

cannot = can not not learn to speak Danish in the English schools.

nɒt lə:n tə spi:k deiniʃ in ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ sku:lz.

Can the baby walk? No, she cannot walk, she is not kæn ðə beɪbi wɔ:k? nou, ʃi: kænɒt wɔ:k, ʃi: ɪz nɒt big enough to walk. The mother says that she cannot big ɪ'nʌf tə wɔ:k. ðə mʌðə sez ðæt ʃi: kænɒt see the children; the mother says, "I cannot see the si: ðə tʃɪldrən; ðə mʌðə sez, "aɪ kænɒt si: ðə children." The father says that they are in the fields; tʃɪldrən." ðə fa:ðə sez ðæt ðeɪ a: in ðə fi:ldz; he says, "They are in the fields." John said that he hi: sez, "ðeɪ a: in ðə fi:ldz." dʒɒn sed ðæt hi:

had been in his room; John said, "I have been in my həd bi:n in hɪz ru:m; dʒɒn sed, "aɪ hæv bi:n in maɪ room."

ru:m."

Some words say that a person or a thing does or is səm wə:dz sei ðæt ə pə:sn ɔ: ə ʃɪŋ dʌz ɔ: ɪz something, for example: The man goes; the house is in səmʃɪŋ, fər ɪg'zɑ:mpl: ðə mæn ɡəʊz; ðə haʊs ɪz ɪn the garden; the mother makes the food; the children ðə ɡɑ:dən; ðə mʌðə meɪks ðə fu:d; ðə tʃɪldrən play in the garden. The words we have here we call pleɪ ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dən. ðə wə:dz wi: hæv hɪə wi: kɔ:l

"verbs". The words "go", "play", "make" are verbs.
"və:bz". ðə wə:dz "ɡəʊ", "pleɪ", "meɪk" a: və:bz.

Are there other verbs? Yes, there are many other a: ðeə ʌðə və:bz? jes, ðeə a: menɪ ʌðə

Chapter Thirteen (13).

this these

This boy is English.

These children are English.

verbs. There is a word for everything we do, and və:bz. ðeər ɪz ə wə:d fɔ: evriθɪŋ wi: du:, and these words we call "verbs". "Give" is an English ði:z wə:dz wi: kɔ:l "və:bz". "gɪv" ɪz ən ɪŋglɪʃ verb; this verb is English. "Give" and "take" are və:b; ðɪs və:b ɪz ɪŋglɪʃ. "gɪv" and "teɪk" ɑ:

English verbs; these verbs are English.

ɪŋglɪʃ və:bz; ði:z və:bz ɑ: ɪŋglɪʃ.

We shall now write some of the English verbs we have wɪ: ʃæl naʊ raɪt sʌm əv ðɪ ɪŋglɪʃ və:bz wi: hæv learned till now: I learn, they call, he plays, we ask, lə:nd tɪl naʊ: aɪ lə:n, ðeɪ kɔ:l, hi: pleɪz, wi: ɑ:sk, you answer, she has, and many others. All these verbs ju: ɑ:nsə, ʃi: hæz, and menɪ ʌðəz. ɔ:l ði:z və:bz say that a person does or is something at this time, seɪ ðæt ə pə:sn dʌz ɔ: ɪz sʌmθɪŋ æt ðɪs taɪm, to-day, or now. But when we say: I learned, they have tə'deɪ, ɔ: naʊ. bʌt hwen wi: seɪ: aɪ lə:nd, ðeɪ hæv called, he played, we have asked, you answered, she kɔ:ld, hi: pleɪd, wi: hæv. ɑ:skt, ju: ɑ:nsəd, ʃi:

had, we do not say that the persons do something now, həd, wɪ: du: nɒt seɪ ðæt ðə pə:snz du: sʌmθɪŋ naʊ, at this time, but at another time, a time before now:

æt ðɪs taɪm, bʌt æt ə'nʌðə taɪm, ə taɪm bɪ'fɔ: naʊ:

we asked her yesterday; last year they were at the wɪ: ɑ:skt hə: jɛstədi; lɑ:st jɪə ðeɪ wə: æt ðə farm. In most of these verbs we put -ed after the word fɑ:m. ɪn mʌst əv ði:z və:bz wi: put ɪ'di: ɑ:ftə ðə wə:d

everything
something

Can you say everything in English?

No, but now I can say something in English.

when the time is not now, but a time before now.

hwæt ða taim is not nau, bat a taim bi'fɔ: nau.

But in some of the verbs we do not put -ed after the bat in sam æv ða və:bz wi: du: not put i:di: a:ftə ða word; we say: I give to-day, but: I gave yesterday. We wə:d; wi: sei: ai giv tə'dei, bat: ai geiv jɛstədi. wi:

also say: I have learned to read at school, but: I have ɔ:lsou sei: ai hæv læ:nd tə ri:d æt sku:l, bat: ai hæv given her the pencil. I take the book now. I took the gɪv hæ: ðə pensil. ai teik ðə buk nau. ai tuk ðə book yesterday. I have taken the book home with me.

buk jɛstədi. ai hæv teɪkən ðə buk houn wið mi:.

What does John do in the morning? He goes to school hwæt dʌz dʒɒn du: in ðə mɔ:nɪŋ? hi: goʊz tə sku:l in the morning. What did John do yesterday? He went in ðə mɔ:nɪŋ. hwæt dɪd dʒɒn du: jɛstədi? hi: wɛnt to school yesterday. What has John done for seven tə sku:l jɛstədi. hwæt hæz dʒɒn dʌn fɔ: sevn years? He has gone to school for seven years.

jɪəz? hi: hæz ɡɒn tə sku:l fɔ: sevn jɪəz.

I see the children in the garden. I also saw them there ai si: ðə tʃɪldrən in ðə ɡɑ:dn. ai ɔ:lsou sɔ: ðem ðeə yesterday. I have seen them there every day.

jɛstədi. ai hæv si:n ðem ðeə evri dei.

John hears mother call him now. He heard mother call dʒɒn hiəz mʌðə kɔ:l him nau. hi: hæ:d mʌðə kɔ:l him before. He has not heard mother call.

him bi'fɔ:. hi: hæz not hæ:d mʌðə kɔ:l.

They put their books in their rooms now. They put their dei put ðəə buks in ðəə ru:mz nau. dei put ðəə books in their rooms yesterday. They have put their buks in ðəə ru:mz jestadi. dei hæv put ðəə books in their rooms every day this week. buks in ðəə ru:mz evri dei ðis wi:k.

Mother makes the food to-day. Aunt Gwen made the mʌðə meiks ðə fu:d tə'dei. a:nt gwen meid ðə tea yesterday. Helen has not made the tea. ti: jestadi. helin hæz nɒt meid ðə ti:.

Baby sleeps in Helen's room now. Baby slept in her beibi sli:ps in helinz ru:m nau. beibi slept in hə:

mother's room till she was six months old. Baby has mʌðəz ru:m til ʃi: wəz siks mʌnθs ould. beibi hæz slept in Helen's room for twelve days. slept in helinz ru:m fɔ: twelv deiz.

We eat three meals a day. John ate a pear yesterday.
wi: i:t θri: mi:lz ə dei. dʒɒn et ə peə jestadi.

Helen has not eaten all her apples.
helin hæz nɒt i:tn ɔ:l hə: æplz.

Helen says something to her father now. She said helin sez sʌmθɪŋ tə hə: fɑ:ðə nau. ʃi: sed something to him yesterday. Has mother said "Good sʌmθɪŋ tə him jestadi. hæz mʌðə sed "gud night" to you?

nait" tə ju:?

Helen swims very well now. John swam in the lake helin swimz veri wel nau. dʒɒn swæm in ðə leik yesterday. He has swum many times in the lake.

jestadi. hi: hæz swam meni taimz in ðə leik.

The cows drink the water of the lake. John drank ðə kaʊz driŋk ðə wɔ:tə əv ðə leik. dʒɒn dræŋk milk yesterday. Baby has not drunk her milk.

milk jestadi. beibi hæz nɒt dræŋk hæ: milk.

I read a book every week. I read a book yesterday. I ai ri:d ə buk evri wi:k. ai red ə buk jestadi. ai have read this book many times.

hæv red ðis buk meni taimz.

John writes to his uncle every month. He wrote to his dʒɒn raits tə hiz ʌŋkl evri mʌnθ. hi: rəʊt tə hiz uncle yesterday. He has written many times to his uncle.

ʌŋkl jestadi. hi: hæz ritn meni taimz tə hiz ʌŋkl.

John can read books now. He could not read when he was dʒɒn kæn ri:d buks naʊ. hi: kʊd nɒt ri:d hwen hi: wɔz five years old. He has been able to read for six years.

faɪv jɪəz ould. hi: hæz bi:n eɪbl tə ri:d fɔ: siks jɪəz.

We say: I am able to, or I can. I was able to, or I could.

wi: sei: ai æm eɪbl tə, ɔ: ai kæn. ai wɔz eɪbl tə, ɔ: ai kʊd.

But we can only say: I have been able to. You are able bʌt wi: kæn ɒnli sei: ai hæv bi:n eɪbl tə. ju: a: eɪbl to, or you can. You were able to, or you could. You tə, ɔ: ju: kæn. ju: wə: eɪbl tə, ɔ: ju: kʊd. ju:

have been able to. He is able to, or he can. He was hæv bi:n eɪbl tə. hi: ɪz eɪbl tə, ɔ: hi: kæn. hi: wɔz able to, or he could. He has been able to. When you eɪbl tə, ɔ: hi: kʊd. hi: hæz bi:n eɪbl tə. hwen ju:

have read all these verbs many times, you will have hæv red ɔ:l ði:z və:bz meni taimz, ju: wil hæv learned them.

lə:nd ðem.

What is a verb? A verb is a word. What does a verb hwɒt iz ə və:b? ə və:b iz ə wə:d. hwɒt dʌz ə və:b say? A verb says what a person or a thing does or is.

sei? ə və:b sez hwɒt ə pə:sn ɔ: ə þɪŋ dʌz ɔ: iz.

Which of these words: "The father gives John a foot-hwɪts əv ði:z wə:dz: "ðə fa:ðə gɪvz dʒɒn ə futball", is a verb? The word "gives" is a verb; when bɔ:l", iz ə və:b? ðə wə:d "gɪvz" iz ə və:b; hwɛn we ask, "What does the father do?" we answer, "He wɪ: ɑ:sk, "hwɒt dʌz ðə fa:ðə du:?" wɪ: ɑ:nsə, "hi:

gives." Which of these words: "John was in the garden", gɪvz." hwɪts əv ði:z wə:dz: "dʒɒn wəz ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dən", is a verb? The word "was" is a verb. What do we put iz ə və:b? ðə wə:d "wəz" iz ə və:b. hwɒt du: wɪ: put after most English verbs when it is not now that we do ɑ:ftə maʊst ɪŋɡlɪʃ və:bz hwɛn ɪt ɪz nɒt naʊ ðət wɪ: du:

something, but at a time before now? We put the letters səmþɪŋ, bʌt ət ə taim bɪ'fɔ: naʊ? wɪ: put ðə letəz

-ed after the word. We have had some of these verbs.
ɪ:di: ɑ:ftə ðə wə:d. wɪ: hæv həd sʌm əv ði:z və:bz.

The word "learn" is one of these verbs; we say: I learn ðə wə:d "lə:n" ɪz wʌn əv ði:z və:bz; wɪ: sei: əi lə:n

English now, I learned some English words yesterday, ɪŋɡlɪʃ naʊ, əi lə:nd sʌm ɪŋɡlɪʃ wə:dz jestədi, but I have not learned enough English words.

bʌt aɪ hæv nɒt lɜːnd ɪˈnʌf ɪŋɡlɪʃ wɜːdz.

Have we had others of these verbs? Yes, we have hæv wiː hæd ʌðəz əv ðiːz vɜːbz? jɛs, wiː hæv learned some others: “call”, “play”, “ask”, “answer”, lɜːnd sʌm ʌðəzː “kɔːl”, “pleɪ”, “ɑːsk”, “ɑːnsə”, and “walk”; after all these verbs we put the letters -ed ænd “wɔːk”; ɑːftə ɔːl ðiːz vɜːbz wiː put ðə letəz ɪːdiː when we speak of a time before now. Do all verbs take hwen wiː spiːk əv ə taɪm bɪfɔː nau. duː ɔːl vɜːbz teɪk

-ed? No, we have also learned some other verbs, for ɪːdiː? nou, wiː hæv ɔːlsou lɜːnd sʌm ʌðə vɜːbz, fɔː example: “give”, “take”; these verbs do not take the -ed.

ɪɡˈzɑːmplː “ɡɪv”, “teɪk”; ðiːz vɜːbz duː nɒt teɪk ðɪ ɪːdiː.

other
others

Have we had other verbs?

Yes, we have had others.

EXERCISE A.

French is a —, and English is also a —. In England people — the English language, and in Sweden they — Swedish. “Man” and “book” are —. There are three — in the word “man”. There are twenty-six letters in the English —, but in other — there are more —. The big children in the Swedish schools can speak English, but in the English schools the children — speak Swedish. John says — he can swim. Helen says — she is not a good swimmer. I gave her the pencil; I have — her the pencil. He takes the book to-day; he — the book yesterday; he has — the book many times. Helen has — to school for five years.

Chapter Thirteen (13).

WORDS:

language speak
word
letter
alphabet
can cannot could able to that something example verb
these north fifty hundred thousand given took taken gone
done saw seen
said
heard
put made slept ate eaten swam swum drank drunk

Verbs say what a person or a thing does, — example:
The man goes. The words “play”, “walk”, “learn” we call —. In — three verbs we put -ed after the word when we speak of a time before —.

What — John do yesterday morning? He — to school.
What has Helen — for five years? She has — to school for five years. John asks Helen, “Have you seen my book?” and she —, “No, I have not — it to-day, but I — it yesterday.” Had John and Helen — their mother call them? No, but they — her when they came from their rooms. Where does John — his books when he comes home from school? He — them in his room. He — them there yesterday, and he has — them there every day. Who — the food? Mother — it. Who — the tea yesterday? Aunt Gwen — it. Has Helen — the tea? No, she has not — it.

Where — people sleep? They sleep in —. — Helen sleep last night? Yes, she — last night. — the baby slept in John's room? No, but she has — in Helen's room for twelve days. What — the children have for breakfast? They — porridge. Did they — porridge yesterday? No, yesterday they — bread and butter. Has Baby — bread for breakfast, too? No, she has — milk. — John and Helen swim in the lake every day? No, but they — there yesterday, and they have — there many times this summer. Has John — the book his father gave him? Yes, he read it yesterday, and Helen will — it now.

What — John write with at school? He — with pen and ink, but when he was small, he — with a pencil.

Has Helen — with pen and ink? Yes, but when she was small, she — not — with pen and ink. Can Helen swim? Yes, but last year she — not swim. Has John been — to swim for many years? No, he has only — able — swim for two years.

read
wrote written now twenty-six
time
America
Australia

EXERCISE B.

What language do they speak in England? ... What language do they speak in Norway? ... How many letters has the word "write"? ... What is a verb? ... Can you write some of the verbs we have learned? ... Were you able to write them last year? ... Who took the children to the lake? ... What do we put after the verbs "call", "learn", "walk", "ask", "answer" when we speak of some time before now? ...

MR. SMITH'S HOUSE

this
that

This book (here)
is my book.

That book (there) is your book.

chair

Mr. Smith has a house with five rooms. In one of the mistə smiþ hæz ə haus wið faiv ru:mz. in wʌn əv ðə rooms the family have their meals; that is the dining-room.

ru:mz ðə fæmili hæv ðeə mi:lz; ðæt iz ðə daɪniŋru:m.

They have their dinner in the dining-room; they dine ðei hæv ðeə dɪnə in ðə daɪniŋru:m; ðei daɪn in the dining-room. After dinner they go into another in ðə daɪniŋru:m. ɑ:ftə dɪnə ðei ɡoʊ ɪntu ə'nʌðə room; that is the sitting-room. Here they sit in big ru:m; ðæt iz ðə si:tɪŋru:m. hiə ðei sit in big chairs and read their books in the evenings. There is tʃeəz ənd ri:d ðeə buks in ði i:vɪniŋz. ðeər iz also a kitchen in the house. The kitchen is the room ɔ:lsoʊ ə kitʃən in ðə haus. ðə kitʃən iz ðə 'ru:m where Mrs. Smith makes the food.

hweə misɪz smiþ meɪks ðə fu:d.

How many rooms are there in Mr. Smith's house? There haʊ menɪ ru:mz ɑ: ðeə in mistə smiþs haus? ðeər are five rooms in it. Where do the family have their ɑ: faiv ru:mz in ɪt. hweə du: ðə fæmili hæv ðeə meals? They have their meals in the dining-room. Into mi:lz? ðei hæv ðeə mi:lz in ðə daɪniŋru:m. ɪntə which of the rooms do the family go after dinner? hwɪtʃ əv ðə ru:mz du: ðə fæmili ɡoʊ ɑ:ftə dɪnə?

After dinner they go into the sitting-room. What is a:ftə dɪnə ðeɪ ɡoʊ ɪntə ðə sɪtɪŋru:m. hʌt ɪz the kitchen? That is the room where Mrs. Smith ðə kɪtʃən? ðæt ɪz ðə ru:m hweə mɪsɪz smɪθ makes the food. What is in the sitting-room? In the meɪks ðə fu:d. hʌt ɪz ɪn ðə sɪtɪŋru:m? ɪn ðə sitting-room there are some big chairs and two small sɪtɪŋru:m ðeər a: sʌm bɪɡ tʃeəz ənd tu: smɔ:l tables. Are there chairs in the dining-room, too? Yes, teɪblz. a: ðeə tʃeəz ɪn ðə daɪnɪŋru:m, tu:ʔ jɛs, but the chairs in the dining-room are not so big. Is bʌt ðə tʃeəz ɪn ðə daɪnɪŋru:m a: nɒt səʊ bɪɡ. ɪz there a table? Yes, the family have their meals at a ðeə ə teɪbl? jɛs, ðə fæmɪli hæv ðeə mi:lz æt ə large table in the dining-room.

la:dʒ teɪbl ɪn ðə daɪnɪŋru:m.

Every room in Mr. Smith's house has four walls at the evri ru:m ɪn mɪstə smɪθs haʊs hæz fɔ: wɔ:lz æt ðə sides, a ceiling at the top, and a floor to walk on. From sɑɪdz, ə si:lɪŋ æt ðə tɒp, ənd ə flɔ: tə wɔ:k ɒn. frəm the ceiling of the room hangs a lamp. The lamp gives ðə si:lɪŋ əv ðə ru:m hæŋz ə læmp. ðə læmp ɡɪvz light in the room in the evenings so that people can laɪt ɪn ðə ru:m ɪn ði i:vənɪŋz səʊ ðæt pi:pl kæn read. In the day it is light, but at night it is dark.

ri:d. ɪn ðə ðeɪ ɪt ɪz laɪt, bʌt æt naɪt ɪt ɪz da:k.

People cannot read when it is dark. There are chairs pi:pl kənɒt ri:d hwen ɪt ɪz da:k. ðeər a: tʃeəz

table

large = big ceiling

light
light

The light of the lamp makes the room light.

which of?
which?

On which of the floors is Helen's room?
= On which floor is Helen's
room?

and a table on the floor of the dining-room. Mr. ænd ə teibl ɔn ðə flɔ: əv ðə daɪnɪŋru:m. mɪstə Smith's house has two gardens, one at the front and smɪθs haʊs hæz tu: ɡɑ:dnz, wʌn æt ðə frʌnt ænd another at the back of the house. When we come ə'nʌðə æt ðə bæk əv ðə haʊs. hwen wi: kʌm through the front garden into the house, we first come θru: ðə frʌnt ɡɑ:dn ɪntə ðə haʊs, wi: fə:st kʌm into the hall. In the hall people hang their hats and ɪntə ðə hɔ:l. ɪn ðə hɔ:l pi:pl hæŋ ðeə hæts ænd coats when they come in through the door. The kəʊts hwen ðeɪ kʌm ɪn θru: ðə dɔ:. ðə dining-room, the sitting-room, the kitchen, and the hall daɪnɪŋru:m, ðə sɪtɪŋru:m, ðə kɪtʃən, ænd ðə hɔ:l

are all on the ground floor of the house. On the first ɑ: ɔ:l ɔn ðə ɡraʊnd flɔ: 'əv ðə haʊs. ɔn ðə fə:st floor of the house there are three bedrooms. Mr. and flɔ: əv ðə haʊs ðeər ɑ: ʒri: bedru:mz. mɪstə ænd

Mrs. Smith sleep in one bedroom, John sleeps in mɪsɪz smɪθ sli:p ɪn wʌn bedru:m, dʒɔn sli:ps ɪn another bedroom, and Helen and Baby sleep in a third ə'nʌðə bedru:m, ænd helɪn ænd beɪbi sli:p ɪn ə ʒə:d bedroom.

bedru:m.

On which of the floors is the dining-room? The ɔn hʌwɪʃ əv ðə flɔ:z ɪz ðə daɪnɪŋru:m? ðə dining-room is on the ground floor. On which floor is daɪnɪŋru:m ɪz ɔn ðə ɡraʊnd flɔ:. ɔn hʌwɪʃ flɔ: ɪz

Helen's and Baby's bedroom? It is on the first floor.
helinz and beibiz bedru:m? it iz ɔn ðə fə:st flɔ:.

How do we get from the ground floor to the first floor?
haʊ du: wi: get frɒm ðə graʊnd flɔ: tə ðə fə:st flɔ:?

We go up the stairs to get to the first floor. On which wi: ɡəʊ ʌp ðə steəz tə get tə ðə fə:st flɔ:. ɔn hwitʃ floor is John's room at school? His room at school is flɔ: iz dʒɒnz ru:m æt sku:l? hiz ru:m æt sku:l iz on the second floor. The school is a big house; it has ɔn ðə sekənd flɔ:. ðə sku:l iz ə big haʊs; it hæz a ground floor, a first, and a second floor. In some ə graʊnd flɔ:, ə fə:st, and ə sekənd flɔ:. in sʌm schoolrooms there are many chairs and tables, one for sku:lru:mz ðeər a: meni tʃeəz and teiblz, wʌn fɔ:

each of the children. Each of the children in John's i:tʃ əv ðə tʃildrən. i:tʃ əv ðə tʃildrən in dʒɒnz school has a small table and a chair. Not every child sku:l hæz ə smɔ:l teibl and ə tʃeə. nɒt evri tʃaɪld has a table and a chair; Baby has not a table and a hæz ə teibl and ə tʃeə; beibi hæz nɒt ə teibl and ə chair; but each of the children in John's school has.

tʃeə; bʌt i:tʃ əv ðə tʃildrən in dʒɒnz sku:l hæz.

Has each of the persons in the Smith family a room?
hæz i:tʃ əv ðə pɜ:snz in ðə smiθ fæmili ə ru:m?

No, not each of the persons, only John has his own nəʊ, nɒt i:tʃ əv ðə pɜ:snz, ɒnli dʒɒn hæz hiz ɒn room. Helen does not sleep alone in her room; she and ru:m. helin dʌz nɒt sli:p ə'ləʊn in hɜ: ru:m; ʃi: and stairs

every each

Every child has two arms.

Each of the children in the school has a pencil.

bathroom

bath [ba:p] baths [ba:ðz] mouth [maʊθ] mouths [maʊðz]

wash-basin

Baby sleep in one room; they sleep together. Mr. and beibi sli:p in wʌn ru:m; ðei sli:p tə'gedə. mistə and Mrs. Smith also sleep in one room. John and Helen misiz smiθ ɔ:lsoʊ sli:p in wʌn ru:m. dʒɒn and helin go to school together in the morning. Helen does not gou tə sku:l tə'gedə in ðə mɔ:nɪŋ. helin dʌz nɒt go alone; she goes together with John. Baby does not gou ə'loun; ʃi: gouz tə'gedə wið dʒɒn. beibi dʌz nɒt sleep alone; she sleeps together with Helen; but John sli:p ə'loun; ʃi: sli:ps tə'gedə wið helin; bʌt dʒɒn sleeps alone in his own room.

sli:ps ə'loun in hiz oun ru:m.

How many rooms are there on the first floor of the hau meni ru:mz a: ðeə ɔn ðə fə:st flɔ: əv ðə house? There are three bedrooms and a bathroom.

haus? ðeər a: ʃri: bedru:mz and ə ba:pru:m.

Every morning Mr. Smith takes a cold shower in the evri mɔ:nɪŋ mistə smiθ teiks ə kould ʃaʊə in ðə bathroom. Mrs. Smith and the children do not take ba:pru:m. misiz smiθ and ðə tʃɪldrən du: nɒt teik cold showers, they take hot baths in the bath-tub every kould ʃaʊəz, ðei teik hɒt ba:ðz in ðə ba:ptʌb evri night before they go to bed. When they take hot baths, nait bi'fɔ: ðei gou tə bed. hwen ðei teik hɒt ba:ðz, they have hot water in the bath-tub. Hot water is very ðei hæv hɒt wɔ:tə in ðə ba:ptʌb. hɒt wɔ:tə iz veri warm water. Before the meals the children wash their wɔ:m wɔ:tə. bi'fɔ: ðə mi:lz ðə tʃɪldrən wɒʃ ðeə hands in the wash-basin. Their hands are very dirty hændz in ðə wɒʃbeɪsn. ðeə hændz a: veri dɑ:ti when they come in from their play in the garden, but hwen ðei kʌm in frɒm ðeə pleɪ in ðə ɡɑ:dn, bʌt when they have washed themselves, their hands are hwen ðei hæv wɒʃt ðəm'selvz, ðeə hændz a:

clean. They put hot water in the wash-basin and wash kli:n. ðei put hɒt wɔ:tə in ðə wɒʃbeɪsn ænd wɒʃ their hands with soap. "Soap and water are good things ðeə hændz wɪð səʊp. "səʊp ænd wɔ:tə a: ɡʊd þɪŋz for dirty hands," Mrs. Smith says to her children. Baby fɔ: dɑ:ti hændz," mɪsɪz smɪθ seɪz tə hɜ: tʃɪldrən. beɪbi cannot wash herself; she is too small; but John washes kənɒt wɒʃ hɜ:'self; ʃi: ɪz tu: smɔ:l; bʌt dʒɒn wɒʃɪz himself. Helen can wash herself, too; she is big enough hɪm'self. helɪn kæn wɒʃ hɜ:'self, tu:; ʃi: ɪz bɪɡ i'nʌf for that now. John and Helen both wash themselves. fɔ: ðæt naʊ. dʒɒn ænd helɪn bəʊθ wɒʃ ðəm'selvz.

himself
 herself
 themselves

John washes
himself.

Helen washes
herself.

John and Helen
 wash themselves.

EXERCISE A.

We have our meals in the —. We have dinner in the dining-room, or we — in the dining-room. After dinner Mr. Smith and his family go into the —. In the sitting-room they — in big chairs. There are big — and small — in the sitting-room. Mrs. Smith makes the food in the —. At the top of the room is the —. From Chapter Fourteen (14).

WORDS:

dining-room
that dine sitting-room sit
chair kitchen large
table
ceiling
floor ground floor lamp hang light
dark hall
coat hat
up
bedroom
stairs
each
together
alone
own soap bath shower bathroom
hot bath-tub
wash
wash-basin
dirty

the ceiling of the room — a lamp. The lamp gives — in the room at night. In the day it is —, but at night it is —. The lamp gives — in the room when it is —. We walk on the — of the room. On the floor of the room there are chairs and —. There are two floors in Mr. Smith's house; on the — — are two large rooms, a dining-room and a —; on the — — are three bedrooms and a —. Helen and Baby sleep in one —, and John sleeps in another —. We go — the — to get to the first floor. When Mr. Smith comes home, he hangs his — and his — in the hall.

— of the children in the school has a pencil. There is a table and a chair for — of the children in John's school. Has — child a pencil? No, not — child has a pencil, but — of the children in the school has a pencil. Has — of the persons in Mr. Smith's family a room? No, only John has his — room. Has Helen not her — room? No, Helen and Baby sleep —. Does John sleep —? Yes, he sleeps — in his own room.

Does Mrs. Smith take a cold — in the morning? No, Mrs. Smith and the children do not take cold —; they take hot baths in the —. — do we call very warm water? We call it — water. Where do the children — their hands before the meals? They wash their hands in the —. Are their hands dirty or — when they come in from their — in the garden? Their hands are —. What — the children wash their hands with? They wash their hands with — and hot —. Can the baby wash —? No, the baby cannot wash herself, but John and Helen wash —. Does Mr. Smith wash —? Yes, Mr. Smith washes —, and Mrs. Smith also washes —. — is the kitchen? The — is the room where Mrs. Smith makes the —.

clean
play
herself
himself
themselves

EXERCISE B.

In which of the rooms do we have our meals? ... Where do we sleep at night? ... Where does Mrs. Smith make the food? ... What do the family sit in in the sitting-room? ... Where does Mr. Smith hang his hat and coat? ... Has Helen her own bedroom? ... Has each of the persons in the family a room? ... Has every child a pencil? ... On which floor is the sitting-room? ... Where are the bedrooms? ... What hangs from the ceiling of the sitting-room? ... Do Helen and John sleep in their own rooms? ... Does the baby sleep alone? ... How do we get light when it is too dark to read? ...

skates*WINTER

One day this winter John and his friend George went wʌn dei ðis wintə dʒɒn ænd hiz frend dʒɔ:dʒ went out together. John has many friends, but his best aut tə'geðə. dʒɒn hæz meni frendz, bʌt hiz best friend is George. They go to school together in the friend iz dʒɔ:dʒ. dei gou tə sku:l tə'geðə in ðə morning, and they play together in the afternoon. John mɔ:nɪŋ, ænd dei plei tə'geðə in ði ɑ:ftə'nu:n. dʒɒn and Helen are good friends, too; but sometimes he is ænd helin ɑ: gud frendz, tu:; bʌt sʌmtaɪmz hi: iz not good to her, and then they are not friends.

nɒt gud tə hə:, ænd ðen dei ɑ: nɒt frendz.

George is the son of Mr. Smith's neighbour, Mr. Green.

dʒɔ:dʒ iz ðə sʌn əv mɪstə smɪθs neɪbə, mɪstə gri:n.

Mr. Green's house is next to Mr. Smith's house, and mɪstə gri:nz haʊs iz nekst tə mɪstə smɪθs haʊs, ænd the two men are neighbours. John's room is next to ðə tu: men ɑ: neɪbəz. dʒɒnz ru:m iz nekst tə

Helen's and Baby's room, and the bathroom is next to helinz ænd beɪbɪz ru:m, ænd ðə bɑ:θru:m iz nekst tə

Mr. and Mrs. Smith's room. The other day the two mɪstə ænd mɪsɪz smɪθs ru:m. ði ʌðə dei ðə tu:

boys walked to a little lake near their homes. They bɔɪz wɔ:kt tu ə litl leɪk nɪə ðeə haʊmz. dei little = small had their skates with them. John's skates were old, həd ðeə skeits wið ðem. dʒɒnz skeits wə: ould, but George's skates were new. John got his skates bʌt dʒɔ:dʒiz skeits wə: nju:. dʒɒn ɡɒt hiz skeits two years ago; they are old now; but George got his tu: jɪəz ə'ɡou; ðei a: ould nau; bʌt dʒɔ:dʒ ɡɒt hiz skates only three days ago; they are new.

skeits ounli θri: deiz ə'ɡou; ðei a: nju:.

What is the name of Mr. Smith's neighbour? It is hwət iz ðə neim əv mistə smiθs neibə? it iz

Mr. Green. Why do we call him Mr. Smith's neighmistə gri:n. hwai du: wi: kɔ:l him mistə smiθs neibour? Because he lives in the first house after that bə? bi'kɔz hi: livz in ðə fə:st haus a:ftə ðæt of Mr. Smith. Has Mr. Smith more than one neighəv mistə smiθ. hæz mistə smiθ mɔ: ðæn wʌn neibour? Yes, he has two; the man in the house before bə? jes, hi: hæz tu:; ðə mæn in ðə haus bi'fɔ:

that of Mr. Smith is also his neighbour. Why did ðæt əv mistə smiθ iz ɔ:lsoʊ hiz neibə. hwai did George get skates? Because it was Christmas. When dʒɔ:dʒ ɡet skeits? bi'kɔz it wəz krisməs. hwen is Christmas? Christmas Day is the twenty-fifth (25th) iz krisməs? krisməs dei iz ðə twenti'fifθ of December. Are John's skates new or old? They əv di'sembə. a: dʒɒnz skeits nju: ɔ: ould? ðei are old. Are George's skates also old? No, they are a: ould. a: dʒɔ:dʒiz skeits ɔ:lsoʊ ould? nou, ðei a:

John gets tea every day.

John got tea yesterday.

John has got tea the last five years.

(He gets, he got, he has got.)

that of

Mr. Green's house is larger than that of Mr. Smith = Mr. Green's house is larger than Mr. Smith's house.

why?
 because

Why do we call him Mr. Smith's neighbour?

Because he lives in the next house.

new; he has had them only three days.

nju:; hi: hæz hæd ðem ounli pri: deiz.

In summer the weather is warm, but in winter the in sʌmə ðə weðə iz wɔ:m, bʌt in wintə ðə weather is cold. The weather had been very cold weðə iz kould. ðə weðə hæd bi:n veri kould for the last two days. Then John said to his friend fɔ: ðə la:st tu: deiz. ðen dʒɒn sed tə hiz frend

George in the morning, "Now there is ice on the water.

dʒɔ:dʒ in ðə mɔ:niŋ, "nau ðeər iz ais ɒn ðə wɔ:tə.

Let us go out and skate on the lake to-day." He said let ʌs ɡəʊ aʊt ænd skeit ɒn ðə leɪk tə'deɪ." hi: sed nothing to his mother. She would not have let him nʌθɪŋ tə hi:z mʌðə. ʃi: wʊd nɒt hæv let him nothing = no thing

go. She would have said to him, "John, do not go

ɡəʊ. ʃi: wʊd hæv sed tə him, "dʒɒn, du: nɒt ɡəʊ

He will, he would.

and skate to-day, or you will go through the ice. The

He lets, he let, he has let.

ænd skeit tə'deɪ, ɔ: ju: wɪl ɡəʊ θru: ði ais. ði ice is not thick enough. In two days the ice will be ais iz nɒt θɪk i'nʌf. ɪn tu: deɪz ði ais wɪl bi:

One inch = 2.54 centimetres.

one or two inches thick, and then you can skate on it.

wʌn ɔ: tu: ɪnʃɪz θɪk, ænd ðen ju: kæn skeit ɒn ɪt.

To-day the ice is too thin, only half an inch thick, so tə'deɪ ði ais iz tu: ʃɪn, ounli ha:f ən ɪnʃ θɪk, səʊ that you will go through it and fall into the water."

ðæt ju: wɪl ɡəʊ θru: ɪt ænd fɔ:l ɪntə ðə wɔ:tə."

He falls, he fell, he has fallen.

John did not put on enough clothes; he did not put on dʒɒn dɪd nɒt pʊt ɒn i'nʌf kləʊðz; hi: dɪd nɒt pʊt ɒn his coat. Hats and coats are clothes. In the morning hiz kout. hæts and kouts a: kloudz. in ðə mɔ:nɪŋ people put on their clothes, and in the evening before pi:pl put ɔn ðeə kloudz, and in ði i:vniŋ bi'fɔ:

they go to bed, they take them off again. When you ðei gou tə bed, ðei teik ðem ɔ:f ə'geɪn. hwen ju:

go out, you put on your hat and coat, and when you gou aʊt, ju: put ɔn juə hæt and kout, and hwen ju:

come home, you take them off again. kʌm haʊm, ju: teik ðem ɔ:f ə'geɪn.

When the two boys came to the lake, they put on their hwen ðə tu: bɔɪz keɪm tə ðə leɪk, ðei put ɔn ðeə skates and went out on the ice. When they had skated skeɪts and went aʊt ɔn ði aɪs. hwen ðei hæd skeɪtɪd for some time, John fell through the ice into the water.

fɔ: sʌm taɪm, dʒɔn fel þru: ði aɪs ɪntə ðə wɔ:tə.

When he came out again, he was wet and cold. He hwen hi: keɪm aʊt ə'geɪn, hi: wɔz wet and kəʊld. hi:

went home at once. When he got home, his mother went haʊm æt wʌns. hwen hi: ɡɒt haʊm, hɪz mʌðə said, "Your clothes are wet. You must have fallen sed, "juə kloudz a: wet. ju: mʌst hæv fɔ:ln into the water. You must go to bed at once, or you ɪntə ðə wɔ:tə. ju: mʌst gou tə bed æt wʌns, ɔ: ju:

will get a cold."
wɪl ɡet ə kəʊld."

John's mother said that he must go to bed at once;
dʒɔnz mʌðə sed ðæt hi: mʌst gou tə bed æt wʌns;

He must = he has to;
 he must = he
had to;
 he has had to.

that is, he had to go to bed, not in two or three minutes, ðæt iz, hi: hæd tə gou tə bed, nɒt in tu: ɔ: pri: minits, but now, at once. Would John's mother have let him bət nau, æt wʌns. wʊd dʒɒnz mʌðə hæv let him go to the lake? No, she would have said to him, "You gou tə ðə leik? nou, ʃi: wʊd hæv sed tə him, "ju:

must not go there to-day, you must play here." Must mʌst nɒt gou ðeə tə'deɪ, ju: mʌst pleɪ hiə." mʌst the children go to school every day? (Do the children ðə tʃɪldrən gou tə sku:l evri dei? (du: ðə tʃɪldrən have to go to school every day?) Yes, they must (or hæv tə gou tə sku:l evri dei?) jes, ðeɪ mʌst (ɔ:

"have to") go to school every day. Why did John fall "hæv tə") gou tə sku:l evri dei. hwai did dʒɒn fɔ:l through the ice into the water? Because the ice was θru: ði ais intə ðə wɔ:tə? bi'kɒz ði ais wɔz too thin. Were John's clothes dry when he came out tu: þɪn. wə: dʒɒnz kləʊðz draɪ hwen hi: keɪm aʊt of the water? No, they were very wet; his mother əv ðə wɔ:tə? nou, ðeɪ wə: veri wet; hɪz mʌðə had to dry them for him. If you go out in wet weather, hæd tə draɪ ðem fɔ: him. ɪf ju: gou aʊt ɪn wet weðə, it will make your clothes wet. Then you must dry ɪt wɪl meɪk juə kləʊðz wet. ðen ju: mʌst draɪ them when you get home, and they will be dry again.

ðem hwen ju: get haʊm, ənd ðeɪ wɪl bi: draɪ ə'geɪn.

How long had the weather been cold? The weather had haʊ lɒŋ hæd ðə weðə bi:n kəʊld? ðə weðə hæd

I dry;
 he dries, he dried,
 he has dried.

been cold for two days. Did John tell his mother that bi:n kould fɔ: tu: deiz. did dʒɒn tel hɪz mʌðə ðæt he would go to the lake? No, he did not tell his hi: wʊd ɡəʊ tə ðə leɪk? nɒu, hɪ: dɪd nɒt tel hɪz mother. Would his mother have let him go if he had mʌðə. wʊd hɪz mʌðə hæv let hɪm ɡəʊ ɪf hɪ: həd told her that he would go and skate on the lake? təʊld hɜ: ðæt hɪ: wʊd ɡəʊ ənd skeɪt ɒn ðə leɪk?

No, she would not have let him go if he had told her nɒu, ʃi: wʊd nɒt hæv let hɪm ɡəʊ ɪf hɪ: həd təʊld hɜ:

that. What would she have said to him if she had
ðæt. hwɒt wʊd ʃi: hæv sed tə hɪm ɪf ʃi: həd seen him go to the lake? She would have said, "You sɪ:n hɪm ɡəʊ tə ðə leɪk? ʃi: wʊd hæv sed, "ju:

must not go to-day, but in two days." What did John's mʌst nɒt ɡəʊ tə'deɪ, bʌt ɪn tu: deiz." hwɒt dɪd dʒɒnz mother say when he came home? She said, "Go to mʌðə sei hʌven hɪ: keɪm hoʊm? ʃi: sed, "ɡəʊ tə bed at once, or you will get a cold." Did he go to bed bed ət wʌns, ɔ: ju: wɪl ɡet ə kəʊld." dɪd hɪ: ɡəʊ tə bed at once? No, he did not go to bed at once; he went to ət wʌns? nɒu, hɪ: dɪd nɒt ɡəʊ tə bed ət wʌns; hɪ: wɛnt tə bed five minutes after his mother had said that he must.

bed faɪv mɪnɪts ɑ:ftə hɪz mʌðə həd sed ðæt hɪ: mʌst.

John's father had said to his wife, "Do not let the dʒɒnz fɑ:ðə həd sed tə hɪz waɪf, "du: nɒt let ðə children go to the lake. The ice is too thin." The tʃɪldrən ɡəʊ tə ðə leɪk. ðɪ aɪs ɪz tu: pi:n." ðə tell = say to

He tells, he told, he has told.

go!
 do not go!

Do not go out to play again, John, but go to bed at once!

WORDS:

friend neighbour next to home
skate new why
got because ago Christmas
weather
let thick inch
(to) skate thin fall
fell

mother had said to Helen, "Do not put on that thin mʌðə hæd sed tə helin, "du: nɒt put ɒn ðæt þin coat to-day; the weather is too cold. Put on your kəʊt tə'dei; ðə weðə ɪz tu: kəʊld. put ɒn juə thick winter coat."
þɪk wɪntə kəʊt."

EXERCISE A.

George is John's —. Mr. Green is Mr. Smith's —. John and George went to the lake to — on the ice. George's father gave him — for Christmas. George's skates are —, but John's are —. — Day is the twenty-fifth of December. In winter the — is cold, in summer the weather is —. When it is very cold, there is — on the water. John did not — his mother that they went — the lake; he said — to his mother. John said to George, "— us go to the lake to-day." The mother will not — him go to-day, and she — not have let him go yesterday. She would have said, "— not go to the lake to-day, John!" The ice was not — enough to skate on; it was too —; it was only half an — thick.

In the morning people put on their —, and in the evening they take them — again. John — through the ice into the water, when he had — for some time. Many children — through the ice every year when the ice is not — enough. It was the first time that John had — through the ice. When John came out of the water, he was very —. His mother said to him, "You — go to bed at —, — you will get a cold.” John’s clothes were not — when he came home; they were —, and his mother had to — the wet clothes.

— are John’s clothes wet? — he has fallen into the water. — would John’s mother have said that he must not go to the lake? — the ice was too thin to skate on. — did John say nothing to his mother? — she would not have — him go. Why — the boys go to the lake? They went there to —.

EXERCISE B.

Who is Mr. Green? ... Why were the boys good friends? ... When did John get his skates? ... Did George get his skates for Christmas? ... Why did John say nothing to his mother before he went to the lake? ... Was the ice thick enough to skate on? ... What were John’s clothes when he had fallen into the water? ... What did his mother do with the wet clothes? ... Did John go to bed at once? ...

fallen put on clothes
off wet must at once dry
(to) dry little tell nothing would if had best twenty-fifth

boot

He comes, he came,
he has come.

should
would

I should,
you would,
he would,
we should,
you would,
they would.

a pair = two

shoe

CLOTHES

When George and John had come back from the lake, hwɛn dzɔ:dʒ and dʒɔn hæd kʌm bæk frɒm ðə leɪk, George went home to his parents' house. "Where have dzɔ:dʒ wɛnt hoʊm tə hɪz peərənts haʊs. "hwɛə hæv you been, George?" his mother asked. "Father is at ju: bi:n, dzɔ:dʒ?" hɪz mʌðə ɑːskt. "fa:ðə ɪz æt home to-day; he will go with us to town to get some hoʊm tə'deɪ; hɪ: wɪl ɡoʊ wɪð ʌs tə taʊn tə ɡet sʌm new clothes for you. If you had not come home now, nju: kləʊðz fɔ: ju:. ɪf ju: hæd nɒt kʌm hoʊm naʊ, we should have gone without you. Go and put on wɪ: ʃʊd hæv ɡɒn wɪð'aʊt ju:. ɡoʊ ənd pʊt ɒn another hat and coat! Take off your old boots and put ə'nʌðə hæt ənd kəʊt! teɪk ɔ:f juə ould bu:ts ənd pʊt on the new pair of shoes you got for Christmas!"

ɒn ðə nju: peə əv ʃu:z ju: ɡɒt fɔ: krɪsməs!"

When George was ready to go, that is, when he had hwɛn dzɔ:dʒ wəz redi tə ɡoʊ, ðæt ɪz, hwɛn hɪ: hæd put on his other clothes, his father said, "Are you ready pʊt ɒn hɪz ʌðə kləʊðz, hɪz fa:ðə sed, "a: ju: redi now? Then we can go." "Oh, but I am not ready yet," naʊ? ðen wɪ: kæn ɡoʊ." "oʊ, bʌt aɪ æm nɒt redi jet," his mother said from the first floor. "Where are my hɪz mʌðə sed frɒm ðə fɜːst flɔ:. "hwɛər a: maɪ gloves? I cannot find them. Have you seen my gloves, glʌvz? ai kənɒt faɪnd ðem. hæv ju: si:n mai glʌvz,

George? It is too cold to go without them; my fingers dʒɔ:dʒ? ɪt ɪz tu: kəʊld tə ɡoʊ wɪð'aʊt ðem; mai fɪŋɡəz will be cold." Mr. Green: "Oh, women can never find wɪl bi: kəʊld." mɪstə ɡri:n: "ou, wɪmɪn kæn nevə faɪnd their things. — Have you not found them yet? George, ðeə þɪŋz. — hæv ju: nɒt faʊnd ðem jət? dʒɔ:dʒ, please go and find them!" George went to see if he pli:z ɡoʊ ənd faɪnd ðem!" dʒɔ:dʒ wɛnt tə si: ɪf hi:

could find them — and there they were, on the table kʊd faɪnd ðem — ənd ðeə ðeɪ wə:, ɔn ðə teɪbl in the hall! "Here they are, mother, I have found them.

ɪn ðə hɔ:l! "hiə ðeɪ a:, mʌðə, ai hæv faʊnd ðem.

They were on the little table in the hall." "That is ðeɪ wə: ɔn ðə lɪtl teɪbl ɪn ðə hɔ:l." "ðæt ɪz fine, then I am ready — I have my gloves, my bag, my fɑɪn, ðen ai æm redɪ — ai hæv mai glʌvz, mai bæɡ, mai handkerchief — yes, I am ready to go now. I have all hæŋkətʃɪf — jɛs, ai æm redɪ tə ɡoʊ naʊ. ai hæv ɔ:l my things with me." Mr. Green: "It is time you came mai þɪŋz wɪð mi:." mɪstə ɡri:n: "ɪt ɪz taɪm ju: keɪm now. It will be very late before we get to town. First naʊ. ɪt wɪl bi: vɛrɪ leɪt bɪ'fɔ: wi: ɡet tə taʊn. fɜ:st

George came home late — we waited forty minutes for dʒɔ:dʒ keɪm hoʊm leɪt — wi: weɪtɪd fɔ:ti mɪnɪts fɔ:

him — and now we have had to wait a quarter of an hɪm — ənd naʊ wi: hæv həd tə weɪt ə kwɔ:tə əv ən glove

He finds, he found, he has found.

Find my gloves,
 please = Will you
 find my gloves
 for me?

bag

handkerchief

tram

shop

look at = see

trousers

hour for you; will this family never learn to be ready auə fɔ: ju:; wil ðis fæmili nevə læ:n tə bi: redi:

in time?"
in taim?"

At last they could go. It was so late that they did æt la:st ðei kud gou. it wəz sou leit ðæt ðei did not have time to walk to town, so they had to take a nɒt hæv taim tə wɔ:k tə taun, sou ðei hæd tə teik ə tram. The tram took them to a shop where George træm. ðə træm tuk ðem tu ə ʃɒp hwɛə dʒɔ:dʒ could get his new clothes. They went into the shop, kud get hiz nju: kləʊðz. ðei went intə ðə ʃɒp, and a man came and asked them what they wanted.

ænd ə mæn keim ænd ə:skt ðem hwɒt ðei wɒntid.

"I want to look at some clothes for my son, please," said
"ai wɒnt tə luk æt sʌm kləʊðz fɔ: mi: sʌn, pli:z," sed

Mr. Green. "What colour, sir?" "What colour do you mɪstə gri:n. "hwɒt kʌlə, sɜ:?" "hwɒt kʌlə du: ju:

want, George?" "Oh, I like brown best. My hair is wɒnt, dʒɔ:dʒ?" "ou, ai laik braʊn best. mi: heə iz brown, and my eyes are brown, too. Do you like brown, braʊn, ænd mi: aɪz ə: braʊn, tu:. du: ju: laik braʊn, too, mother?"

tu:, mʌðə?"

Mrs. Green is a dark-eyed and dark-haired little woman; misɪz gri:n iz ə dɑ:kʰaɪd ænd dɑ:kheəd lɪtl wʊmən;

she likes brown very much. "Well, let me see, then.
ʃi: laɪks braʊn veri mʌtʃ. "wel, let mi: si:, ðen.

You must have a pair of trousers, no, two pairs, one ju: mast hæv ə peə əv traʊzəz, nou, tu: peəz, wʌn pair of long trousers and one pair of trousers to play in.

peə əv lɔŋ traʊzəz ənd wʌn peə əv traʊzəz tə pleɪ ɪn.

You must also have a waistcoat and a coat. Do you ju: mast ɔ:lsoʊ hæv ə weɪskəʊt ənd ə kəʊt. du: ju:

like this suit of clothes, George?" "Yes, but I like laɪk ðɪs sju:t əv kləʊðz, dʒɔ:dʒ?" "jes, bʌt aɪ laɪk that suit better; which do you like best, mother?" "I ðæt sju:t betə; hwɪtʃ du: ju: laɪk best, mʌðə?" "aɪ like the dark-brown one best." "Do you want that suit laɪk ðə dɑ:kbraʊn wʌn best." "du: ju: wɒnt ðæt sju:t then, my boy?" "Yes, I should like to have the ðen, maɪ bɔɪ?" "jes, aɪ ʃʊd laɪk tə hæv ðə dark-brown one, please." "How much does it cost?" dɑ:kbraʊn wʌn, pli:z." "haʊ mʌtʃ dʌz ɪt kɒst?"

"It is very dear, sir, but it is also a very good suit, it
"ɪt ɪz veri diə, sɜ:, bʌt ɪt ɪz ɔ:lsoʊ ə veri gud sju:t, ɪt is the best we have. It costs six pounds (£6) with two ɪz ðə best wi: hæv. ɪt kɒsts sɪks paʊndz wɪð tu:

pairs of trousers, five pounds (£5) with only one pair." peəz əv traʊzəz, faɪv paʊndz wɪð ɒnli wʌn peə."

"That is too much money, Henry, for a suit of clothes
"ðæt ɪz tu: mʌtʃ mʌni, henri, fɔ: ə sju:t əv kləʊðz for a boy, is it not?" "Yes, it is very dear, but let fɔ: ə bɔɪ, ɪz ɪt nɒt?" "jes, ɪt ɪz veri diə, bʌt let him have it if he likes it so much." "Oh, thank you, hɪm hæv ɪt ɪf hi: laɪks ɪt soʊ mʌtʃ." "əʊ, θæŋk ju:.

waistcoat

good better
best

coat

It costs, it cost, it has cost.

£ 1 = 20 shillings

money

I thank you, I thanked you,
I have thanked
you.

Grey is the colour of dirty snow.

sir
madam

Thank you, sir =
thank you, Mr.
Green.

Thank you, madam
= thank you, Mrs.
Green.

He likes, he liked,
he has liked.

broad stripes

narrow stripes

father!" "We also want to look at some shirts for the fa:ðə!" "wi: ɔ:lsoʊ wənt tə luk æt sʌm ʃə:ts fɔ: ðə boy, please." "Yes, sir, we have here some very fine bɔɪ, pli:z." "jes, sə:, wi: hæv hiə sʌm veri faɪn grey shirts for boys, with blue stripes." "No," said greɪ ʃə:ts fɔ: bɔɪz, wið blu: straɪps." "nou," sed

Mrs. Green, "the stripes are too broad; have you no misɪz gri:n," "ðə straɪps a: tu: brɔ:d; hæv ju: nou shirts with narrow stripes? And the colour must not ʃə:ts wið nærou straɪps? ʌnd ðə kʌlə mʌst nɒt be blue; blue is for people with blue or grey eyes. I bi: blu:; blu: ɪz fɔ: pi:pl wið blu: ɔ: greɪ aɪz. aɪ like green better with the brown suit and his brown laɪk gri:n betə wið ðə braʊn sju:t ʌnd hɪz braʊn eyes. Let me see that shirt, please! Do you like it, aɪz. let mi: si: ðæt ʃə:t, pli:z! du: ju: laɪk ɪt,

George?" "Yes, mother, I do." "Let us take this one, dʒɔ:dʒ?" "jes, mʌðə, aɪ du:." "let ʌs teɪk ðɪs wʌn, then. How much does it cost?" "Eight shillings, madam;

ðen. haʊ mʌtʃ dʌz ɪt kɒst?" "eɪt ʃɪlɪŋz, mædəm;

that is very cheap, because it is a very good shirt. It ðæt ɪz veri tʃi:p, bɪ'kɒz ɪt ɪz ə veri gu:d ʃə:t. ɪt is so cheap because we have only two of these shirts, ɪz sʊ tʃi:p bɪ'kɒz wi: hæv ɒnli tu: əv ði:z ʃə:ts, and they are very small." "Yes, that is cheap; eight ʌnd ðeɪ a: veri smɔ:l." "jes, ðæt ɪz tʃi:p; eɪt shillings is not much for a good shirt. Shall we take ʃɪlɪŋz ɪz nɒt mʌtʃ fɔ: ə gu:d ʃə:t. ʃæl wi: teɪk both shirts for him, Henry?" "Yes, let us do that. Do bəʊp ʃə:ts fɔ: him, henri? "jes, let əs du: ðæt. du:

you want some underwear for him, too?" "Yes, but it ju: wənt sʌm ʌndəweə fɔ: him, tu:? "jes, bʌt it must be woollen underwear; this time of the year is mʌst bi: wulin ʌndəweə; ðis taɪm əv ðə jɪə ɪz too cold for cotton underwear. — Do you know where tu: kəʊld fɔ: kɒtn ʌndəweə. — du: ju: nəu hweə we get wool from, George?" "Oh, yes, I know that.

wi: get wul frəm, dʒɔ:dʒ? "ou, jes, əɪ nəu ðæt.

I have learned it at school. We get wool from sheep.
əɪ hæv lɜ:nd ɪt æt sku:l. wi: get wul frəm ʃi:p.

I also know where we get cotton from. It is a plant əɪ ɔ:lsoʊ nəu hweə wi: get kɒtn frəm. ɪt ɪz ə plɑ:nt product from warmer countries than our own." The prɒdʌkt frəm wɔ:mə kʌntrɪz ðæn ʌʊə ʌʊn. "ðə man in the shop: "Is that all, sir? No socks or ties?"

mæn ɪn ðə ʃɒp: "ɪz ðæt ɔ:l, sɜ:ʔ nəu sɒks ɔ: taɪz?"

"No, we have enough now, thank you. My wife makes "nəu, wi: hæv ɪ'naʃ nəu, þəŋk ju:. maɪ waɪf meɪks all his woollen socks herself, and he never puts on his ɔ:l hɪz wulin sɒks hə:'self, ʌnd hi: nevə pʊts ɒn hɪz ties. How much does it all come to, now?" "Let me taɪz. haʊ mʌtʃ dʌz ɪt ɔ:l kʌm tə, nəu?" "let mi:

see: a suit of clothes — six pounds (£6), 2 shirts si: ə sju:t əv kləʊðz — sɪks paʊndz, tu: ʃə:ts — 16 shillings, 2 suits of woollen underwear — — sɪksti:n ʃɪlɪŋz, tu: sju:ts əv wulin ʌndəweə — underwear

one sheep
 two sheep

sheep

tie

sock

25 shillings; 8 pounds 1 shilling in all, sir." Mr. twenti'faiv fīlɪŋz; eɪt paundz wʌn fīlɪŋ ɪn ɔ:l, sə:. mistə

Green: "Here is the money." The man: "Thank you, ɡri:n: "hiə ɪz ðə mʌni:." ðə mæn: "þæŋk ju:, sir." George: "Oh, thank you, father and mother, for sə:." dʒɔ:dʒ: "ou, þæŋk ju:, fa:ðə ənd mʌðə, fɔ:

all the fine things I have got to-day." Mr. Green: "Do ɔ:l ðə faɪn þɪŋz aɪ hæv ɡɒt tə'deɪ." mistə ɡri:n: "du:

you like them, my boy? That is fine, then." ju: laɪk ðem, maɪ bɔɪ? ðæt ɪz faɪn, ðen."

George: "Mother, I should like to go in and speak dʒɔ:dʒ: "mʌðə, aɪ ʃʊd laɪk tə ɡoʊ ɪn ənd spi:k

to John when we get home. Is there time for that tə dʒɒn hwen wi: ɡet haʊm. ɪz ðeə taɪm fɔ: ðæt before dinner?" Mrs. Green: "Oh, I know that Mrs. bɪ'fɔ: dɪnə?" mɪsɪz ɡri:n: "ou, aɪ nəʊ ðæt mɪsɪz

Smith would not like that! It is too late now, and she smɪp wʊd nɒt laɪk ðæt! ɪt ɪz tu: leɪt nəʊ, ənd ʃi:

has so many things to do before dinner that she cannot hæz sʌ mʌni þɪŋz tə du: bɪ'fɔ: dɪnə ðæt ʃi: kənɒt have two boys in the house." "But mother, John fell hæv tu: bɔɪz ɪn ðə haʊs." "bʌt mʌðə, dʒɒn fel through the ice this afternoon, and I want to know if þru: ði aɪs ðɪs ɑ:ftə'nu:n, ənd aɪ wɒnt tə nəʊ ɪf

he is in bed, and what his mother said." "So you have hi: ɪz ɪn bed, ənd hwɒt hɪz mʌðə sed." "sʌʊ ju: hæv been on the ice! Well, then it is better for you to go bɪ:n ɒn ði aɪs! wel, ðen ɪt ɪz betə fɔ: ju: tə ɡoʊ in and ask if John is ill, but you must be back in five in ənd ɑːsk ɪf dʒɒn ɪz ɪl, bʌt juː mʌst biː bæk ɪn faɪv minutes. And I shall have something to say to you minits. ənd aɪ ʃæl hæv sʌmθɪŋ tə seɪ tə juː when you come home. On the ice, and I did not know!

hwen juː kʌm haʊm. ɒn ði aɪs, ənd aɪ dɪd nɒt nəʊ!

We should not have given him the skates until the ice wɜː ʃʊd nɒt hæv gɪvən hɪm ðə skeɪts ʌn'tɪl ði aɪs was thick enough to skate on, Henry.” wɒz þɪk ɪ'nʌf tə skeɪt ɒn, henri.”

EXERCISE A.

If George had not — home now, his parents would have — without him. George's mother said that he must take off his old — and put on some new —. When George was — to go, his father said, “Are you — to go now?” But Mrs. Green was not ready yet; she could not — her —. Mr. Green said that women can — find their things. George's parents had to — for him, because he came home so —. It was so late that they had to take a — to town. The tram took them to a — where they could get George's new clothes.

The man in the shop asked them what they —. “I want to — at some clothes for my son, please,” said Mr. Green. George — the brown colour best. Mr.
 Green got two — of trousers for George. Mrs. Green said that the suit was too — for a boy. It cost too much —. “I like this suit, but I like that suit —,”

WORDS:

without boot
 shoe
 ready
 glove find found never yet
 bag
 handkerchief
 late wait tram
 shop want look at brown

like trousers
pair
madam
sir
coat waistcoat suit
better
cost
dear pound (£)
money thank shirt
fine broad stripe grey narrow cheap shilling
underwear
woollen wool cotton know product
sheep
sock
tie
should dark-eyed dark-haired dark-brown
please

George said. They got a shirt with narrow —, because Mrs. Green did not like the — stripes. The man in the shop said that the shirt was very —; it cost only eight shillings. They also got some woollen — for him. George said that we get — from sheep. We get — from warmer countries than our own.

— they get socks for George? No, they did —; Mrs. Green makes all his — socks herself. — did they not get a tie for him? — he never puts on his ties. — do you say to a person when he has given you something? You say, “— you!” to a person when you get something from him. — was Mrs. Green not ready to go? — she could not find her —. Where did George — her gloves? He — them in the hall. How long did George’s parents — for him? They — forty minutes for him.

EXERCISE B.

Did George have his boots on when he went to town? ... How did they go to town? ... Where did they get George’s new clothes? ... Why was it late, before they got to town? ... What things did Mrs. Green take with her to town? ... What did they get for George at the shop? ... Was his new suit cheap? ... Did they also get handkerchiefs for George? ... How much money did Mr. Green give the man in the shop? ... Did George like a brown suit best? ... Which shirt did his mother like best? ... Where do we get cotton and wool from? ... Who makes George’s socks? ... What did George say to his father when he had got all the fine things? ...

MRS. SMITH'S NEW FROCK

Mrs. Smith has a very good friend, Mrs. Daisy Brown; misiz smiþ hæz ə veri gud frend, misiz deizi braun;

she is the woman who lives on the other side of the ʃi: iz ðə wʊmən hu: livz ɔn ði ʌðə saɪd əv ðə road. Next Wednesday is her birthday, and Mrs. Smith rouð. nekst wenzdi iz hæ: bæ:þdei, ənd misiz smiþ and her other friends will come to her house in the ənd hæ: ʌðə frendz wil kʌm tə hæ: haʊs in ði evening to see her.

i:vnɪŋ tə si: hæ:.

Yesterday Mrs. Smith said to her husband, who was in jestədi misiz smiþ sed tə hæ: hʌzbənd, hu: wəz in the sitting-room with a good book, "Allan, I have no ðə sitɪŋru:m wið ə gud buk, "ælən, ai hæv nou frock to put on next Wednesday on Daisy's birthday. frɒk tə put ɔn nekst wenzdi ɔn deiziz bæ:þdei.

I must have a new one." "What, have you no frock?
ai mʌst hæv ə nju: wʌn." "hwɒt, hæv ju: nou frɒk?

You have a green silk frock, a brown one, and one ju: hæv ə gri:n silk frɒk, ə braʊn wʌn, ənd wʌn with little flowers; you have three good frocks." "No, wið litl flauəz; ju: hæv θri: gud frɒks." "nou, the green frock is the one which I had on last year on ðə gri:n frɒk iz ðə wʌn hwɪtʃ ai hæd ɔn lɑ:st jɪə ɔn

who
 which

The person who lives there.

The thing which is there.

frock

He buys, he bought, he has bought.

myself
yourself

Is this for myself?

Yes, it is for yourself.

I wash myself.

You wash
yourself.

new newer newest

her birthday, and the others are not good enough."
hə: bə:ʃdeɪ, and ði ʌðəz a: nɒt gud i'naʃ."

"Well, if you must have a new frock, you must. Here "wel, ɪf ju: mʌst hæv ə nju: frɒk, ju: mʌst. hɪə is twelve pounds (£12) to buy a new frock. Is that ɪz twelv paʊndz tə baɪ ə nju: frɒk. ɪz ðæt enough money?" "Oh yes, I can buy a very good frock i'naʃ mʌni?" "ou jes, aɪ kæn baɪ ə veri gud frɒk for £12. I know a little shop which has very fɔ: twelv paʊndz. aɪ nou ə lɪtl ʃɒp hwɪtʃ hæz veri good things, and they are not very dear. I shall go gud þɪŋz, and ðeɪ a: nɒt veri diə. aɪ ʃæl ɡoʊ now, so that I can be back in time for dinner."

nau, soʊ ðæt aɪ kæn bi: bæk ɪn taɪm fɔ: dɪnə."

In the Shop.

"What can I do for you, madam?" "I want to look at
"hwɒt kæn aɪ du: fɔ: ju:, mædəm?" "aɪ wɒnt tə luk æt some evening-frocks which are not too dear." "For səm i:vniŋfrɒks hwɪtʃ a: nɒt tu: diə." "fɔ:

yourself, madam?" "Yes, for myself." "We have some juə'self, mædəm?" "jes, fɔ: maɪ'self." "wi: hæv səm new silk frocks from Paris, the newest frocks we have nju: sɪlk frɒks frəm pæris, ðə nju:ɪst frɒks wi: hæv got." "Yes, let me look at them. Can I try them on?"

ɡɒt." "jes, let mi: luk æt ðem. kæn aɪ traɪ ðem ɒn?"

"Yes, madam, we have some small rooms here for that.
"jes, mædəm, wi: hæv səm smɔ:l ru:mz hɪə fɔ: ðæt.

It is better to try and see if the frocks are big enough it iz betə tə traɪ ənd si: ɪf ðə frɒks ɑ: bɪɡ ɪ'nʌf for you. This frock is very beautiful; the blue colour fɔ: ju:. ðɪs frɒk ɪz vɛrɪ bju:tɪfʊl; ðə blu: kələ goes very well with madam's beautiful blue eyes." ɡoʊz vɛrɪ wɛl wɪð mədəmz bju:tɪfʊl blu: aɪz."

"Yes, it is a beautiful frock. Let me try it on. — Oh, "jes, ɪt ɪz ə bju:tɪfʊl frɒk. let mi: traɪ ɪt ɒn. — ou, it is too big for me." The woman in the shop: "Will ɪt ɪz tu: bɪɡ fɔ: mi:." ðə wʊmən ɪn ðə ʃɒp: "wɪl you try on this frock, please, madam?" Mrs. Smith: ju: traɪ ɒn ðɪs frɒk, pli:z, mədəm?" mɪsɪz smɪθ:

"No, I do not like this one so well. Can you not make
"nəʊ, aɪ du: nɒt laɪk ðɪs wʌn səʊ wɛl. kæn ju: nɒt meɪk the blue frock smaller? I must have it next Tuesday.

ðə blu: frɒk smɔ:lə? aɪ mʌst hæv ɪt nekst tʃu:zdi.

Can it be ready then?" "Yes, we shall have it ready.
kæn ɪt bi: redi ðen?" "jes, wi: ʃəl hæv ɪt redi.

Shall we send it to you, madam?" "Yes, I should like ʃəl wi: send ɪt tə ju:, mədəm?" "jes, aɪ ʃʊd laɪk you to send it, please." "What is the address?" ju: tə send ɪt, pli:z." "hwɒt ɪz ðɪ ə'dres?"

"Forty-nine (49), Nelson Road. You sent me some
"fɔ:tɪ'nain, nɛlsn rəʊd. ju: sent mi: sʌm things last week, but they went to the wrong address θɪŋz lɑ:st wɪ:k, bʌt ðeɪ went tə ðə rɒŋ ə'dres first. You sent them to number forty-five (45). Have fɜ:st. ju: sent ðəm tə nʌmbə fɔ:tɪ'faɪv. hæv

I try;
 he tries, he tried.
 he has tried.

He sends, he sents, he has sent.

that

The person that lives there = the person who lives there.

The thing that is there = the thing which is there.

£ 1 (one pound)
= 20 shillings

1 shilling
= 12 pence

one penny eleven pence

you the right address now?" "Yes, madam, number ju: ðə rait ə'dres nau?" "jes, mædəm, nambə forty-nine." "Yes, that is the right number. Oh, how fɔ:ti'nain." "jes, ðæt iz ðə rait nambə. ou, hau much does the frock cost?" "Ten pounds ten shillings, mʌtʃ dʌz ðə frɒk kɒst?" "ten paundz ten ʃilɪŋz, madam. — Do you want to look at some silk stockings?

mædəm. — du: ju: wɒnt tə luk æt sʌm silk stɒkɪŋz?

We have some new colours that would go very well wi: hæv sʌm nju: kʌləz ðæt wud gou veri wel with the blue frock."

wɪð ðə blu: frɒk."

"These stockings are very good. What is the price?"
"ði:z stɒkɪŋz a: veri gud. hwɒt iz ðə praɪs?"

"The price is fourteen shillings and elevenpence
"ðə praɪs iz fɔ:ti:n ʃilɪŋz ənd ɪ'lɛvnpəns (14/11)." "I shall take only one pair, because (fɔ:ti:n ənd ɪ'lɛvn)." "aɪ ʃæl teɪk ʌnli wʌn peə, bɪ'kɒz

I want to buy a new petticoat, too, and I have only aɪ wɒnt tə baɪ ə nju: petɪkəʊt, tu:, ənd aɪ hæv ʌnli £ 12 with me. Have you petticoats in the same twelv paundz wɪð mi:. hæv ju: petɪkəʊts ɪn ðə seɪm blue colour as the frock, and at not too high a price?" blu: kʌlə æz ðə frɒk, ənd æt nɒt tu: haɪ ə praɪs?"

"We have some petticoats at a very low price, but they "wi: hæv sʌm petɪkəʊts æt ə veri lou praɪs, bʌt ðeɪ are the wrong blue colour. If you want the same a: ðə rɔŋ blu: kʌlə. ɪf ju: wɒnt ðə seɪm colour, the price is a little higher; but they are not kʌlə, ðə praɪs ɪz ə lɪtl haɪə; bʌt ðeɪ aː nɒt very dear. This one without lace costs ten shillings veri diə. ðɪs wʌn wɪð'aʊt leɪs kɒsts ten ʃɪlɪŋz and elevenpence (10/11), and the same petticoat ænd ɪ'levnpəns (ten ænd ɪ'levn), ænd ðə seɪm pətɪkəʊt with lace costs thirteen shillings and elevenpence wɪð leɪs kɒsts þɜːtiːn ʃɪlɪŋz ænd ɪ'levnpəns (13/11). It is just the right colour for your (þɜːtiːn ænd ɪ'levn). ɪt ɪz dʒʌst ðə raɪt kʌlə fɔː jʊə frock." "What beautiful lace! I shall take that one.

fɹɒk." "hwɒt bjʊːtɪfʊl leɪs! aɪ ʃæl teɪk ðæt wʌn.

I have just enough money to buy it. Oh, just one thing aɪ hæv dʒʌst ɪ'nʌf mʌni tə baɪ ɪt. ou, dʒʌst wʌn ʃɪŋ more! I should like to have a small lace collar for my mɔː! aɪ ʃʊd laɪk tə hæv ə smɔːl leɪs kɒlə fɔː maɪ old frock, but I have no more money with me. Will əʊld fɹɒk, bʌt aɪ hæv nəʊ mɔː mʌni wɪð miː. wɪl you send a bill for the collar with the frock when you jʊː send ə bɪl fɔː ðə kɒlə wɪð ðə fɹɒk hwɛn jʊː send it? — Thank you, that is very kind of you." "Oh, send ɪt? — þæŋk jʊː, ðæt ɪz veri kaɪnd əv jʊː." "ou, that is nothing, madam. We are glad to do that for ðæt ɪz nəθɪŋ, mædəm. wiː aː glæd tə duː ðæt fɔː

you."

jʊː."

Back at Home.

small smaller smallest (a short word)

but:
beautiful
more beautiful most beautiful (a long word)

The frock which
Mrs. Smith bought
= the frock that
Mrs. Smith bought
= the frock Mrs.
Smith bought.

I know, I knew,
I have known.

"Hallo, Allan! Here I am again." "Hallo, Patricia!
"hə'lou, ælən! hiə ai æm ə'gein." "hə'lou, pə'trifə!

Did you buy the frock that you wanted?" "Yes, I did ju: bai ðə frɒk ðæt ju: wɒntid?" "jes, ai bought the most beautiful blue silk frock I have seen bo:t ðə moust bjʊ:tɪfʊl blu: silk frɒk ai hæv si:n for a long time, and a pair of stockings, and a collar, fɔ: ə lɒŋ taɪm, ænd ə peə əv stɒkɪŋz, ænd ə kɒlə, and a petticoat." "Did you buy all that? Well, I should ænd ə petikout." "did ju: bai ɔ:l ðæt? wel, ai şud have known that I would get no money back!" "Allan, hæv noun ðæt ai wud get nou mʌni bæk!" "ælən,

I did not have enough money, but the woman who has ai did nɒt hæv i'nʌf mʌni, bʌt ðə wʊmən hu: hæz the shop said she would send a bill with the frock.

ðə ʃɒp sed ʃi: wud send ə bil wið ðə frɒk.

That was very kind of her, was it not?" "Not enough ðæt wɔ:z veri kaɪnd əv hə:, wɔ:z it nɒt?" "nɒt i'nʌf money? How big is the bill?" "Only four shillings mʌni? hau big iz ðə bil?" "əʊnli fɔ: ʃɪlɪŋz and elevenpence (4/11)." "Well, I am glad it is ænd i'levnpəns (fɔ: ænd i'levn)." "wel, ai æm glæd it iz no more. When will dinner be ready?" "In half an nou mɔ:. hwen wil dɪnə bi: redi?" "in ha:f ən hour." "Fine — oh, Patricia, will you be so kind as auə." "faɪn — ou, pə'trifə, wil ju: bi: sɔu kaɪnd əz to give me that book? Thank you!"

tə giv mi: ðæt buk? þæŋk ju:!

"Patricia!" "Yes, Allan?" "How many people will you

"pə'trifə!" "jes, ælən?" "hau meni pi:pl wil ju:

be at Daisy's house on her birthday?" "I do not know bi: æt deiziz haus ɔn hə: bə:ðdei?" "ai du: nɒt nou how many we shall be this year. Last year we were hau meni wi: ʃæl bi: ðis jɪə. la:st jɪə wi: wə:

ten." "All women?" "Yes, we girls like to be together ten." "ɔ:l wimin?" "jes, wi: gə:lz laik tə bi: tə'geðə sometimes without our husbands." "Oh, so I do not sʌmtaimz wið'aʊt əʊə hʌzbəndz." "ou, sou ai du: nɒt have to go, too? Fine! Then I could take the children hæv tə ɡəʊ, tu:ʔ faɪn! ðen ai kʊd teɪk ðə tʃɪldrən out with me and have dinner in town that day — that aʊt wið mi: ənd hæv dɪnə ɪn taʊn ðæt dei — ðæt is, not the baby. We could ask one of your aunts if ɪz, nɒt ðə beɪbi. wi: kʊd ɑ:sk wʌn əv juə ɑ:nts ɪf she would be so kind as to come and look after her."

ʃi: wʊd bi: sou kaɪnd əz tə kʌm ənd lʊk ɑ:ftə hə:."

"Yes, we could ask Aunt Jane. She is always very

"jes, wi: kʊd ɑ:sk ɑ:nt dʒeɪn. ʃi: ɪz ɔ:lweɪz veri kind. The baby likes her, and she looked after Helen kaɪnd. ðə beɪbi. laɪks hə:, ənd ʃi: lʊkt ɑ:ftə helɪn and John many times when they were younger. So ənd dʒɒn meni taimz hwen ðei wə: jʌŋgə. sou she knows where things are in the house, and how to ʃi: nəʊz hwɛə þɪŋz ɑ: ɪn ðə haus, ənd hau tə give the baby her food, and what to do when the baby giv ðə beibi hə: fu:d, and hwət tə du: hwen ðə beibi is wet — and everything.”

iz wet — and evriþiŋ.”

As you have seen in some of the last chapters, some of æz ju: hæv si:n in sam əv ðə la:st tʃæptəz, sam əv the verbs do not take an -s in the present tense. (The ðə və:bz du: nɒt teik ən es in ðə preznt tens. (ðə time of a verb we call its tense. The time “now” we taim əv ə və:b wi: kɔ:l its tens. ðə taim “nau” wi:

call the present tense.) Most of the verbs take an -s kɔ:l ðə preznt tens.) mʌst əv ðə və:bz teik ən es in the present tense when the verb says that one thing in ðə preznt tens hwen ðə və:b sez ðæt wʌn þiŋ or one person does something. We say: he goes, she ɔ: wʌn pə:sn dʌz sʌmþiŋ. wi: sei: hi: gouz, ʃi:

says. But some verbs do not take this -s. We say:
sez. bʌt sam və:bz du: nɒt teik ðis es. wi: sei:

he can, she will, he must, he shall, without the -s. hi: kæn, ʃi: wil, hi: mʌst, hi: ʃæl, wið'ʌt ði es.

Another thing, too, is not the same in these verbs as ə'nʌðə þiŋ, tu:, iz nɒt ðə seim in ði:z və:bz æz in other verbs. We say: he goes, he went, he has gone; in ʌðə və:bz. wi: sei: hi: gouz, hi: went, hi: hæz ɡɒn; she plays, she played, she has played. But with the ʃi: pleiz, ʃi: pleid, ʃi: hæz pleid. bʌt wið ðə verbs "can", "will", "must", "shall", we must put other və:bz "kæn", "wɪl", "mʌst", "ʃæl", wi: mʌst put ʌðə words after "has" and "have". We say: I can swim, wə:dz ɑ:ftə "hæz" ənd "hæv". wi: sei: ai kæn swim, or I am able to swim; I could swim, or I was able to ɔ: ai æm eibl tə swim; ai kud swim, ɔ: ai wəz eibl tə swim; but only: I have been able to swim for many swim; bʌt ounli: ai hæv bi:n eibl tə swim fɔ: meni years. — He must go, or he has to go; he must go, or jɪəz. — hi: mʌst gou, ɔ: hi: hæz tə gou; hi: mʌst gou, ɔ:

he had to go; but only: he has had to go. — He shall hi: həd tə gou; bʌt ounli: hi: hæz həd tə gou. — hi: ʃæl do it, or he has to do it; he should do it, or he had to do it; du: it, ɔ: hi: hæz tə du: it; hi: ʃud du: it, ɔ: hi: həd tə du: it; but only: he has had to do it. — I will give her the pencil, bʌt ounli: hi: hæz həd tə du: it. — ai wɪl gɪv hɜ: ðə pensɪl, or I want to give her the pencil; I would give her the ɔ: ai wɒnt tə gɪv hɜ: ðə pensɪl; ai wʊd gɪv hɜ: ðə pencil, or I wanted to give her the pencil; but only:

pensɪl, ɔ: ai wɒntɪd tə gɪv hɜ: ðə pensɪl; bʌt ounli:

I have wanted to give her the pencil.
ai hæv wɒntɪd tə gɪv hɜ: ðə pensɪl.

EXERCISE A.

Mrs. Smith told her husband that she had no — to put on on Daisy's birthday. People — — their clothes in the morning. Mr. Smith gave his wife £12 to — a new frock, and she — a beautiful one in town. When she

WORDS:

frock

silk

buy

bought

myself

yourself

try

tried

beautiful

address

send sent

who

which right

wrong

number

stocking

hallo

that

price

same

penny

pence

lace

petticoat

just

had — the frock, she wanted to buy — things, too. Mrs. Smith tried — some new — frocks from Paris. The woman in the shop said that Mrs. Smith's blue eyes were —. The woman asked, "— we send you the frock, madam?" and Mrs. Smith answered that she — like them to send it. Mrs. Smith said to the woman, "Will you — the frock to my —, 49, Nelson Road, please?" 49, Nelson Road, was the — address, and 45, Nelson Road, was the — address.

Mrs. Smith has a friend — lives on the other side of the road. The stockings — Mrs. Smith bought were made of —. The English say: The woman who lives on the other side of the road, or: The woman — lives on the other side of the road. They say: The stockings which Mrs. Smith bought, or: The stockings — Mrs. Smith bought. The time of a verb we call it: —. The price of the petticoat with lace was a — higher than the price of the petticoat without lace.

— in Nelson Road does Mrs. Smith live? She lives at — forty-nine. What did Mrs. Smith buy at the — of 14/11 (fourteen shillings and —)? She bought a pair of —. — did Mrs. Smith buy at the price of thirteen — and elevenpence? She bought a — of the — blue colour as the frock. Had she enough money to — it? Yes, she had — — money to buy it. Had she enough money to buy the — collar? No, but the woman in the shop would send a — for the lace —. — did Mrs. Smith say? She said it was — of her. Do you wash — in the morning? Yes, I wash — in the morning.

EXERCISE B.

Who is Mrs. Smith's friend? ... What did Mrs. Smith buy in town? ... Where did she try on the frock? ... What more did she buy? ... What colour is Mrs. Smith's new frock? ... What is the address of Mr. and Mrs. Smith? ... Was the petticoat the same colour as the frock? ... What did Mrs. Smith buy for her old frock? ... Had she enough money to buy the lace collar? ... Was the woman in the shop glad to send a bill for the collar? ... How big was the bill she sent for it? ...

collar
bill
known
kind a little glad present tense chapter forty-nine

postman

He brings, he brought, he has brought.

letter

THE BIRTHDAY PARTY

The other day, Mrs. Smith was at her friend Daisy's ði ʌðə dei, misiz smiθ wəz æt hæ: frend deiziz birthday party. (When it is your birthday, you have bə:ðdei pɑ:ti. (hwen it iz juə bə:ðdei, ju: hæv a party for your friends.) Some days before, the ə pɑ:ti fɔ: juə frendz.) sʌm deiz bi'fɔ:, ðə postman had brought her a letter from her friend. pəustmən hæd brɔ:t hæ: ə letə frəm hæ: frend.

In the letter Daisy wrote that she would be very glad in ðə letə deizi rəut ðæt si: wud bi: veri glæd to see her at her birthday party on the next Wednesday, tə si: hæ: æt hæ: bə:ðdei pɑ:ti ɔn ðə nekst wenzdi, and that she wanted her to come to dinner at seven ænd ðæt si: wɒntid hæ: tə kʌm tə dɪnə æt sevən o'clock.

ə'klɒk.

"Look here," Mrs. Smith said to her husband and gave
"lʊk hiə," misiz smiθ sed tə hæ: hæzbænd ænd geiv him the letter, "an invitation to my best friend Daisy's him ðə letə, "ən invɪ'teɪʃən tə məi best frend deiziz birthday party, and it is not an invitation to afternoon bə:ðdei pɑ:ti, ænd it iz nɒt ən invɪ'teɪʃən tu ɑ:ftə'nu:n

tea, but to dinner, and later we are to have chocolate. ti:, bʌt tə dɪnə, ænd leɪtə wi: ɑ: tə hæv tʃɒkəlɪt.

How glad I shall be to put on my new frock for the hau glæd ai fæl bi: tə put ɔn mai nju: frɒk fɔ: ðə first time! You will dine in town then that day, my fə:st taim! ju: wil dain in taun ðen ðæt dei, mai dear, will you not?"
diə, wil ju: nɒt?"

What is a letter? The English word letter means two hwɒt iz ə letə? ði ɪŋglɪʃ wə:d letə mi:nz tu: things. First it means one of the letters of the alpha-βɪŋz. fə:st it mi:nz wʌn əv ðə letəz əv ði ælfəbet: a, b, c, etc. (et cetera). Then it means a piece of bit: ei, bi:, si:, it'setə. ðen it mi:nz ə pi:s əv paper on which you have written something to a person. peɪpə ɔn hwɪtʃ ju: hæv rɪtən sʌmθɪŋ tu ə pə:sn.

Who brings you the letters? The postman brings the hu: brɪŋz ju: ðə letəz? ðə pəʊstmən brɪŋz ðə letters. Who wrote a letter to Mrs. Smith? Her friend letəz. hu: rəʊt ə letə tə misɪz smɪθ? hə: frend

Daisy wrote her a letter in which she asked her to deɪzi rəʊt hə: ə letə in hwɪtʃ ʃi: ɑ:skt hə: tə dinner on her birthday. Did Daisy invite Mrs. Smith's dɪnə ɔn hə: bɜ:θdeɪ. dɪd deɪzi ɪn'vaɪt misɪz smɪθs husband, too? No, she only invited Mrs. Smith; the hʌzbænd, tu:ə? nəʊ, ʃi: ɒnli ɪn'vaɪtɪd misɪz smɪθ; ði invitation was not for Mr. Smith. ɪnvɪ'teɪʃən wəz nɒt fɔ: mɪstə smɪθ.

What is chocolate? It is a brown drink which people hwɒt iz tʃɒkəlɪt? ɪt ɪz ə braʊn drɪŋk hwɪtʃ pi:pl

He begins, he began, he has begun.

to-night = this evening sometimes have on birthdays; but you can also buy samtaimz hæv ɔn bə:ðdeiz; bat ju: kæn ɔ:lsou bai a piece of chocolate in a shop to eat, and then you get a pi:s əv tʃɔkalit in ə ʃɒp tu i:t, and ðen ju: get it in a piece of paper. it in a pi:s əv peɪpə.

On Wednesday, Mrs. Smith had to begin two hours ɔn wenzdi, misiz smiθ hæd tə bi'gin tu: auəz before the party to make herself ready. She began to bi'fɔ: ðə pa:ti tə meik hə:'self redi. ʃi: bi'gæn tə make herself ready in the afternoon at five o'clock. meik hə:'self redi in ði a:ftə'nu:n æt faɪv ə'klɔk.

She took a bath, and then she dressed, that is, she put ʃi: tuk ə ba:θ, and ðen ʃi: drest, ðæt iz, ʃi: put on her clothes, and at half past six she was ready to go.

ɔn hə: kləʊðz, and æt ha:f pa:st siks ʃi: wəz redi tə goʊ.

"Now, be good children," she said to John and Helen;
"nau, bi: gud tʃildrən," ʃi: sed tə dʒɔn and helin;

"if you are naughty to-night when I am away, you
"if ju: a: nə:ti, tə'nait hwen ai æm ə'wei, ju:

must not go out and play to-morrow. George is always mast nɒt goʊ aʊt and pleɪ tə'mɔrəʊ. dʒɔ:dʒ iz ɔ:lweɪz a good boy when he is alone at home, but you are not a gud bɔɪ hwen hi: iz ə'loun æt haʊm, bat ju: a: nɒt always good. You have been naughty children the last ɔ:lweɪz gud. ju: hæv bi:n nə:ti tʃildrən ðə la:st two or three times I have been away." "But this time tu: ɔ: ʒri: taimz ai hæv bi:n ə'wei." "bat ðis taim we will be good children, mamma." "All right, then I wi: wil bi: gud tʃildrən, mə'ma:." "ɔ:l rait, ðen ai

I will go = I want to go.

will go. Good-bye, children!" "Good-bye, mamma!" wil gou. gud'bai, tʃildrən!" "gud'bai, mə'ma:!"

we will be good = we want to be good.

At what time did Mrs. Smith begin to make herself æt hwɒt taim did misiz smiθ bi'gin tə meik hæ:'self ready for Daisy's birthday party? She began at five redi fɔ: deiziz bæ:pdeɪ pɑ:ti? ʃi: bi'gæn æt faɪv o'clock. What did she do? First she took a bath, and ə'klɒk. hwɒt did ʃi: du:ʔ fə:st ʃi: tuk ə bɑ:p, and then she dressed. What does the word "to dress" mean?

ðen ʃi: drest. hwɒt dʌz ðə wə:d "tə dres" mi:nʔ

It means to put on your clothes. Are Helen and John it mi:nz tə put ɒn juə kləʊðz. a: helin ænd dʒɒn always good children? No, they are not always good;

ɔ:lweɪz gud tʃildrən? nou, ðei a: nɒt ɔ:lweɪz gud; sometimes they are naughty. Is George always a good sʌmtaɪmz ðei a: naʊti. ɪz dʒɔ:dʒ ɔ:lweɪz ə gud boy? Yes, he is always a good boy. What did Mrs. bɔɪ? jes, hi: ɪz ɔ:lweɪz ə gud bɔɪ. hwɒt did misiz

Smith say to her children just before she went to the smiθ sei tə hæ: tʃildrən dʒʌst bi'fɔ: ʃi: went tə ðə birthday party? She said, "Good-bye, children!" bə:pdeɪ pɑ:ti? ʃi: sed, "gud'bai, tʃildrən!"

"Hallo, Daisy, how are you?" "Hallo, Patricia, I am "hə'lou, deɪzi, hau a: ju:ʔ" "hə'lou, pə'trɪʃə, ai æm very well, thank you, and I hope you are well, too." veri wel, þæŋk ju:, ænd ai haʊp ju: a: wel, tu:."

still = yet

She is still in bed = she is in bed
yet.

"I am all right, thank you. And how is your sister?
"ai æm ɔ:l rait, þæŋk ju:. and hau iz juə sistə?"

The last time I heard of her, she was ill." "She is ðə la:st taim ai hæ:d əv hæ:, fi: wəz il." "fi: iz better now, thank you, but she is still in bed." "I betə nau, þæŋk ju:, bʌt fi: iz stil in bed." "ai hope it will not be long before she is all right again.

houp it wil nɒt bi: lɔŋ bi'fɔ: fi: iz ɔ:l rait ə'gein.

Here is my birthday present for you. I hope you will hiə iz mai bæ:ðdei preznt fɔ: ju:. ai houp ju: wil like it." "Oh, a pair of silk stockings; thank you, dear; laik it." "ou, ə peə əv silk stɔkiŋz; þæŋk ju:, diə;

I had hoped for a pair of stockings, but it is too much ai hæd houpt fɔ: ə peə əv stɔkiŋz, bʌt it iz tu: matʃ to give me such a fine birthday present." "Oh no, you tə giv mi: sʌtʃ ə faɪn bæ:ðdei preznt." "ou nou, ju:

have always been such a good and dear friend to me."
hæv ɔ:lweɪz bi:n sʌtʃ ə gud ənd diə frend tə mi:."

Daisy: "It is kind of you to say that, my dear. Now deizi: "it iz kaɪnd əv ju: tə sei ðæt, mai diə. nau all my guests have come. You know them all, Patricia, ɔ:l mai gests hæv kʌm. ju: nou ðem ɔ:l, pə'trɪʃə, except this young lady. This is Mrs. Hudson, and this ɪk'sept ðɪs jʌŋ leɪdi. ðɪs iz misɪz hʌdsn, ənd ðɪs is Mrs. Smith." Mrs. Smith: "How do you do, Mrs. iz misɪz smɪθ." misɪz smɪθ: "hau du: ju: du:, misɪz Hudson." Mrs. Hudson: "How do you do, Mrs. Smith." hʌdsn." misɪz hʌdsn: "hau du: ju: du:, misɪz smɪθ."

Daisy: "Dinner is ready now."

deizi: "dina iz redi nau."

Did Mrs. Smith give Daisy a birthday present? Yes, did misiz smiþ giv deizi ə bə:þdei preznt? jes, she gave her a pair of silk stockings as a birthday ʃi: geiv hæ: ə pɛə əv silk stɔkiŋz əz ə bə:þdei present. Did Daisy like her birthday present? Yes, preznt. did deizi laik hæ: bə:þdei preznt? jes, ladies are always glad to get such presents. They can leidiz a: ɔ:lweɪz glæd tə get sʌtʃ preznts. ðei kæn never get enough silk stockings.

nevə get i'naʃ silk stɔkiŋz.

Did Daisy have other guests than Mrs. Smith and Mrs.

did deizi hæv ʌðə gests ðæn misiz smiþ and misiz

Hudson on her birthday? Yes, she had still other guests hʌdsn ɔn hæ: bə:þdei? jes, ʃi: hæd stɪl ʌðə gests on her birthday. When do people have guests? When ɔn hæ: bə:þdei. hwen du: pi:pl hæv gests? hwen they give a party, they invite guests to come to their ðei giv ə pɑ:ti, ðei in'vaɪt gests tə kʌm tə ðeə home. Were all the people at the party ladies? No, həʊm. wə: ɔ:l ðə pi:pl æt ðə pɑ:ti leidiz? nou, not all, but almost all of them were ladies; the only nɒt ɔ:l, bʌt ɔ:lmoʊst ɔ:l əv ðem wə: leidiz; ði ɔnli gentleman was Daisy's husband. Were all the guests dʒentlmən wəz deɪzɪz hʌzbənd. wə: ɔ:l ðə gests ladies? Yes, all the guests were ladies; Daisy's husband leidiz? jes, ɔ:l ðə gests wə: leidiz; deɪzɪz hʌzbənd lady = woman gentleman = man

one lady two ladies

one gentleman
two gentlemen

was not a guest in his own house. Did Mrs. Smith know wɔːz nɒt ə gest ɪn hɪz ɒn haʊs. dɪd mɪsɪz smɪθ nəʊ all the guests? No, she did not know all of them, but ɔːl ðə gests? nəʊ, ʃiː dɪd nɒt nəʊ ɔːl əv ðəm, bʌt almost all; she had never seen Mrs. Hudson before. ɔːlməʊst ɔːl; ʃiː həd nəvə siːn mɪsɪz hʌdsn bɪ'fɔː.

What did Mrs. Smith say when she saw Mrs. Hudson?
hwɒt dɪd mɪsɪz smɪθ sei hwɛn ʃiː sɔː mɪsɪz hʌdsn?

She said, "How do you do." And what did Mrs. Hudson ʃiː sed, "haʊ duː juː duː." ənd hwɒt dɪd mɪsɪz hʌdsn say? She said, "How do you do", too. In England you sei? ʃiː sed, "haʊ duː juː duː.", tuː. ɪn ɪŋɡlənd juː say "How do you do" the first time you see a person; sei "haʊ duː juː duː." ðə fɜːst taɪm juː siː ə pɜːsn;

but when you see a person you know well, you only bʌt hwɛn juː siː ə pɜːsn juː nəʊ wel, juː ɒnli say "Hallo" or "How are you?"

sei "hə'ləʊ" ɔː "haʊ aː juː?"

EXERCISE A.

The other day Mrs. Smith was at her friend Daisy's birthday —. Some days before, she got an — for the party. The postman — the invitation in a —. It was not an invitation to — —, but to dinner. The word "letter" — two things: the letters of the alphabet, and a — of paper on which you have written something. Daisy had not — Mr. Smith, but only his wife. Mrs. Smith — to make herself ready at five o'clock. She took a —, and then she —. John and Helen are not always good children, sometimes they are —. George is — a good boy.

"Hallo, Patricia, — are you?" "I am very well, thank you, and I — you are well, too. How — your sister?" "She is better now, — you." What — Patricia give Daisy? Her birthday — for Daisy was a pair of silk stockings. — did Daisy say? She said, "It is too — to give me — a fine present."

Had Daisy invited both — and gentlemen to her party? No, the — were all ladies. What — Patricia say to Mrs. Hudson? She said, "How — you —, Mrs. Hudson." Had Mrs. Smith — all the guests before? No, she had seen — all the guests, but not Mrs. Hudson. — do you say the first time you see a person? You say, "———". And what — you say to a person you know well? You say, "—", or "— — —?"

EXERCISE B.

Who brings the letters? ... What does the word "letter" mean? ... What was in the letter for Mrs. Smith? ... When do people have parties? ... Are John and Helen always good children? ... Were all the guests ladies? ... When did Mrs. Smith begin to dress? ... Had the guests all come when Patricia came? ... What did Mrs. Smith say to her children just before she went to the party? ... What was Mrs. Smith's birthday present for Daisy? ... Was Daisy glad to get such a beautiful pair of silk stockings? ... Who was the only gentleman at the party? ... Had Patricia seen Mrs. Hudson before? ...

WORDS:
postman
letter
bring brought invitation invite ask guest party chocolate
drink
lady gentleman begin began dress to-night
such present
piece
mean etc.
et cetera mamma naughty hope all right always good-bye
dear
almost still

THE DINNER

He sits, he sat,
he has sat.

plate

Daisy's husband had been in his bedroom to dress, but deiziz hʌzbənd hæd bi:n in hiz bedru:m tə dres, bʌt now he came down from the first floor. When they nau hi: keim daun frəm ðə fə:st flɔ:. hwen ðei had all come into the dining-room, Daisy's husband hæd ɔ:l kʌm intə ðə daɪnɪŋru:m, deiziz hʌzbənd said, "Please sit down at the table. Will you sit down sed, "pli:z sit daun æt ðə teɪbl. wɪl ju: sit daun there, Mrs. Smith, and will you sit down on that chair ðeə, misiz smɪθ, ənd wɪl ju: sit daun ɔn ðæt tʃeə next to my wife, Mrs. Hudson?" When they had all nekst tə maɪ waɪf, misiz hʌdsn?" hwen ðei hæd ɔ:l sat down at the table, they began to eat. First they had sæt daun æt ðə teɪbl, ðei bɪ'ɡæn tu i:t. fə:st ðei hæd soup made from many vegetables. "What a good soup," su:p meɪd frəm meni vedʒɪtəblz. "hʌt ə gud 'su:p," Mrs. Hudson said, "how good it tastes!" Daisy: "I am misiz hʌdsn sed, "haʊ gud ɪt teɪsts!" deizi: "aɪ æm glad that it tastes good. Do you want another plate glæd ðæt ɪt teɪsts gud. du: ju: wʌnt ə'nʌðə pleɪt of soup?" "No, thank you, I can eat no more." Daisy's əv su:p?" "nəʊ, θæŋk ju:, aɪ kæn i:t nəʊ mɔ:." deiziz husband: "Please give me another plate of soup. I am hʌzbənd: "pli:z gɪv mi: ə'nʌðə pleɪt əv su:p. aɪ æm very hungry. I had so much work to do to-day that veri haŋgri. ai hæd sou matʃ wə:k tə du: tə'dei ðæt

I had no time for lunch, so now I am so hungry that ai hæd nou taim fɔ: lʌnʃ, sou nau ai æm sou haŋgri ðæt two plates of soup are not too much for me." tu: pleits əv su:p a: nɒt tu: matʃ fɔ: mi:."

Where had Daisy's husband been? He had been in his hwɛə hæd deiziz hʌzbənd bi:n? hi: hæd bi:n in hiz bedroom on the first floor to dress. Did he come down bedru:m ɒn ðə fə:st flɔ: tə dres. did hi: kʌm daʊn to the guests? Yes, he came down from the first floor tə ðə gests? jes, hi: keim daʊn frɒm ðə fə:st flɔ:

when he had dressed. What did the guests do when hwen hi: hæd drest. hwɒt did ðə gests du: hwen they came into the dining-room? They sat down at ðei keim intə ðə daɪnɪŋru:m? ðei sæt daʊn æt the table. Who asked them to sit down? Daisy's husðə teibl. hu: a:skt ðem tə sit daʊn? deiziz hʌzband asked them to sit down. What did they have bənd a:skt ðem tə sit daʊn. hwɒt did ðei hæv first? First they had soup. What is soup made from?

fə:st? fə:st ðei hæd su:p. hwɒt ɪz su:p meɪd frɒm?

It is made from vegetables, and sometimes it is also ɪt ɪz meɪd frɒm vedʒɪtəblz, ənd sʌmtaɪmz ɪt ɪz ɔ:lsoʊ made from meat; but the meat is not in the soup when meɪd frɒm mi:t; bʌt ðə mi:t ɪz nɒt in ðə su:p hwen you get it for dinner; it has been taken out again. It ju: get ɪt fɔ: dɪnə; ɪt hæz bi:n teɪkən aʊt ə'geɪn. ɪt is made was made has been made

How is soup made? = How do you make soup?

How was the soup made? = How did you make the soup?

How has the soup been made? = How have you made the soup?

you (here) =
 people

maid

dish

He cuts, he cut,
he has cut.

one knife
two knives

knife

fork

spoon was only put in to give the soup a good taste. Did the wɔz ounli put in tə giv ðə su:p ə gud teist. did ðə soup taste good? Yes, Mrs. Hudson said that it tasted su:p teist gud? jes, misiz hɒdsn sed ðæt it teistid very good. Why was Daisy's husband so hungry? veri gud. hwai wɔz deiziz hʌzbənd sou haŋgri?

Because he had had so much work to do that he had bi'kɔz hi: həd həd sou mʌtʃ wə:k tə du: ðæt hi: həd had no time for lunch; he was so hungry that he ate həd nou taim fɔ: lʌnʃ; hi: wɔz sou haŋgri ðæt hi: et two plates of soup.

tu: pleits əv su:p.

Then the maid came in with a large dish. On the dish ðen ðə meid keim in wið ə la:dʒ diʃ. ɔn ðə diʃ was beef. Daisy's husband cut the beef with a big wɔz bi:f. deiziz hʌzbənd kʌt ðə bi:f wið ə big knife, and then put a piece on each plate. Daisy put naif, and ðen put ə pi:s ɔn i:tʃ pleit. deizi put potatoes and vegetables on the plates and gave one plate pə'teitouz and vedʒitablz ɔn ðə pleits and geiv wʌn pleit to each of the guests. "Will you give me the salt, tu i:tʃ əv ðə gests. "wil ju: giv mi: ðə sɔ:lt, please," said Mrs. Hudson to Mrs. Smith. "I like salt pli:z," sed misiz hɒdsn tə misiz smiθ. "ai laik sɔ:lt both in the soup and with the meat." With the beef bəʊp in ðə su:p and wið ðə mi:t." wið ðə bi:f they had wine. Daisy's husband poured wine into the ði həd weɪn. deiziz hʌzbənd pɔ:d weɪn ɪntə ðə glasses from a big bottle, and when he had tasted it, gla:siz frɒm ə big bɒtl, and hwen hi: hæd teistid it, he said, "Oh, it would make a new and better man of hi: sed, "ou, it wud meik ə nju: and betə mæn əv me to have such a glass of wine every day. Water is mi: tə hæv sʌtʃ ə gla:s əv wain evri dei. wɔ:tə iz good to drink for people who are thirsty, but wine is gud tə driŋk fɔ: pi:pl hu: a: þə:sti, bʌt wain iz better." Then they had ice-cream, and when they had betə." ðen ðei hæd 'aɪs'kri:m, and hwen ðei hæd gone into the sitting-room, a cup of coffee was ready gɒn intə ðə sitɪŋru:m, ə kʌp əv kɔ:fi wəz redi there for each of the guests. ðeə fɔ: i:tʃ əv ðə gests.

Who came into the dining-room with the dishes? The hu: keɪm intə ðə daɪnɪŋru:m wɪð ðə dɪʃɪz? ðə maid came into the dining-room with the dishes. Is meɪd keɪm intə ðə daɪnɪŋru:m wɪð ðə dɪʃɪz. iz there a maid in every home? No, it is only people ðeə ə meɪd ɪn evri haʊm? nou, ɪt ɪz ɒnli pi:pl with big houses where there is much work to do, who wɪð big haʊzɪz hwɛə ðeər ɪz mʌtʃ wɜ:k tə du:, hu: have maids. Who cut the beef? Daisy's husband cut hæv meɪdz. hu: kʌt ðə bi:f? deɪzɪz hʌzbənd kʌt the beef. What do people use knives for? A knife is
ðə. bi:f. hwɒt du: pi:pl ju:z naɪvz fɔ:? ə naɪf ɪz used to cut the food into pieces before it is put into ju:zd tə kʌt ðə fu:d intə pi:sɪz bɪfɔ: ɪt ɪz pʊt intə

Chapter Nineteen (19).

is used are used

A pencil is used to write with.

Pencils are used to write with.

is called are called

The boy is called
John.

The small spoons are called teaspoons.

for instance = for example the mouth. Do they use knives to put the food into ðə maʊθ. du: ðei ju:z naɪvz tə put ðə fu:d intə their mouths? No, they use forks; a fork is used to put ðeə maʊðz? nou, ðei ju:z fɔ:ks; ə fɔ:k ɪz ju:zd tə put the food into the mouth. Do people also use forks when ðə fu:d intə ðə maʊθ. du: pi:pl ə:lsoʊ ju:z fɔ:ks hwen they eat soup? No, then they use spoons; a spoon is ðei i:t su:p? nou, ðen ðei ju:z spu:nz; ə spu:n ɪz used for soup. Spoons are also used to put sugar in tea ju:zd fɔ: su:p. spu:nz a: ə:lsoʊ ju:zd tə put fʊgə in ti:

or coffee; but they are smaller than the spoons which ɔ: kɔ:fi; bʌt ðei a: smɔ:lə ðæn ðə spu:nz hwɪtʃ are used for soup, and they are called teaspoons.

a: ju:zd fɔ: su:p, ənd ðei a: kɔ:ld ti:spu:nz.

What do people drink when they are thirsty? They hwɒt du: pi:pl driŋk hwen ðei a: þæ:sti? ðei drink water, but sometimes, for instance at parties, they driŋk wɔ:tə, bʌt sʌmtaɪmz, fəɪɪnstəns æt pɑ:tɪz, ðei drink wine. Who took the bottle and poured wine into driŋk weɪn. hu: tuk ðə bɒtl ənd pɔ:d weɪn intə the glasses? Daisy's husband took the bottle and poured ðə gla:sɪz? deɪzɪz hʌzbənd tuk ðə bɒtl ənd pɔ:d the wine into the glasses. What did the guests have ðə weɪn intə ðə gla:sɪz. hwɒt dɪd ðə gests hæv after the beef? They had ice-cream. What did they a:ftə ðə bi:f? ðei həd 'aɪs'kri:m. hwɒt dɪd ðei have in the sitting-room? They had a cup of coffee.

hæv ɪn ðə sɪtɪŋru:m? ðei həd ə kʌp əv kɔ:fi.

After the coffee the guests had a good, long talk a:ftə ðə kɔfi ðə gests həd ə gud, lɔŋ tɔ:k together. Mrs. Smith talked to Daisy about her three tə'geðə. misiz smiθ tɔ:kt tə deizi ə'baut hæ: ʒri:

children, and Daisy's husband had a good talk with tʃildrən, ənd deiziz həzbənd həd ə gud tɔ:k wið

Mrs. Hudson about his work. Later in the evening they misiz hədsn ə'baut hiz wə:k. leitə in ði i:vnɪŋ ðeɪ had birthday chocolate. "Oh, I have eaten so much for həd bə:θdeɪ tʃkəlɪt. "ou, aɪ həv i:tn sou mʌtʃ fɔ:

dinner," Daisy's husband said, "must I have chocolate, dɪnə," deiziz həzbənd sed, "mʌst aɪ həv tʃkəlɪt, too?" Daisy: "It is my birthday, and you must have tu:?" deizi: "ɪt ɪz maɪ bə:θdeɪ, ənd ju: mʌst həv chocolate, too." When it was almost eleven o'clock, tʃkəlɪt, tu:." hwen ɪt wəz ə:lmoʊst ɪ'levn ə'klɒk, Mrs. Smith said, "How late it is! Now I must go home. misiz smiθ sed, "hau leɪt ɪt ɪz! naʊ aɪ mʌst ɡəʊ haʊm.

It has been a very pleasant evening, Daisy. It was so ɪt həz bi:n ə veri pleznt i:vnɪŋ, deizi. ɪt wəz sou pleasant to be together again." "Yes, I was glad to see pleznt tə bi: tə'geðə ə'geɪn." "jes, aɪ wəz glæd tə si:

you again, too."

ju: ə'geɪn, tu:."

What did the guests do after the coffee? After the hwɒt dɪd ðə gests du: a:ftə ðə kɔfi? a:ftə ðə coffee the guests had a long talk together. What did kɔfi ðə gests həd ə lɔŋ tɔ:k tə'geðə. hwɒt dɪd to talk = to speak

We talk together.
 Can you speak
 English?

Mrs. Smith talk to Daisy about? She talked to Daisy misiz smiþ tɔ:k tə deizi ə'baut? ʃi: tɔ:kt tə deizi about her own children. Did the guests have a pleasant ə'baut hə: oun tʃildrən. did ðə gests hæv ə pleznt evening at Daisy's home? Yes, they had a very pleasant i:vniŋ æt deiziz hɒm? jes, ðei həd ə veri pleznt evening, and Mrs. Smith told Daisy that it had been i:vniŋ, ənd misiz smiþ təuld deizi ðæt it həd bi:n so good to see her.

sou gud tə si: hə:.

WORDS:

down
 sit sat
 soup
 taste
 (to) taste plate
 hungry
 work
 maid
 dish
 cut
 knife
 salt wine pour glass thirsty ice-cream
 fork
 use

EXERCISE A.

Daisy's husband came — from the first floor. He said, “— sit — at the table. Will you please — — on that chair?” — is made from vegetables and sometimes from meat, too. Mrs. Hudson said that the soup — good; it had a good —. Daisy's husband was so — that he ate two — of soup. He had had much — to do that day. The — came in with a dish. On the — was beef.
 Knives are used to — with. You cut your food into pieces with a —. A fork is — to put the food into the mouth. When you eat soup, you do not use a —, but a —. With the beef the guests had —. Daisy's husband — the wine into the — from a big —. People drink water when they are —. You put sugar in coffee with a —. People drink — from glasses.

Did the guests have more than — and beef for dinner?
 Yes, they also had —. Did the guests — together after the coffee? Yes, they had a long — together; Mrs. Smith talked to Daisy — her three children. Did the guests have a — evening at Daisy's home? Yes, they had a very — evening.

EXERCISE B.

What is soup made from? ... Why was Daisy's husband so hungry that day? ... How many plates of soup did he eat? ... What do people drink wine from? ... Did the soup have a good taste? ... Who came in with the dishes? ... What are knives used for? ... What are forks used for? ... What do people eat soup with? ... Did the guests have more than soup and beef for dinner? ... When did they talk together? ... Was it late when Mrs. Smith went home? ... Had it been a pleasant evening? ...

spoon
teaspoon bottle talk
(to) talk pleasant cup about instance

AT THE RESTAURANT

On the evening when Mrs. Smith went to her friend's ɔn ði i:vniŋ hwen misiz smiþ went tə hə: frendz birthday party, Mr. Smith took the children to a resbə:ðdeɪ pɑ:ti, mistə smiþ tuk ðə tʃildrən tu ə restaurant for dinner. It was the first time that the tərənt fɔ: dɪnə. ɪt wəz ðə fə:st taɪm ðæt ðə children had been to a restaurant, and they were very tʃildrən həd bi:n tu ə restərənt, ənd ðeɪ wə: veri happy = glad happy to go. Before they went, their father had to hæpi tə ɡəʊ. bɪ'fɔ: ðeɪ went, ðeə fɑ:ðə həd tə see that they put on their best clothes. "Tell Helen si: ðæt ðeɪ put ɔn ðeə best kləʊðz. "tel helɪn dress = frock

to put on her new green dress," he said to John, "and tə put ɔn hə: nju: gri:n dres," hi: sed tə dʒɔn, "ənd you can put on your new suit with the grey stripes." ju: kæn put ɔn juə nju: sju:t wið ðə greɪ straɪps."

late
later latest

A little later Mr. Smith went up to see if the children ə lɪtl leɪtə mistə smiþ went ʌp tə si: ɪf ðə tʃildrən were ready, and then he saw that Helen had not put wə: redɪ, ənd ðen hi: sɔ: ðæt helɪn həd nɒt put on her green dress. "Did you not tell her to put it on?"

 ɔn hə: gri:n dres. "dɪd ju: nɒt tel hə: tə put ɪt ɔn?"

he asked John. "Yes, I told her what you said, but hi: a:skt dʒɒn. "jes, ai tould hæ: hwɒt ju: sed, bʌt she said that the last time she had that dress on, she ʃi: sed ðæt ðə lɑ:st taim ʃi: hæd ðæt dres ɒn, ʃi:

dropped some ice-cream on it, and now there is a spot drɒpt sʌm 'aɪs'kri:m ɒn ɪt, ænd naʊ ðeər ɪz ə spɒt where the ice-cream has been." "Oh, is there a spot on hwɛə ði 'aɪs'kri:m hæz bi:n." "ou, ɪz ðeə ə spɒt ɒn the dress? Well, then she must put on another dress." ðə dres? wel, ðen ʃi: mʌst put ɒn ə'nʌðə dres."

"No, come here, Helen," said Aunt Jane, who had come
"nou, kʌm hɪə, helɪn," sed a:nt dʒeɪn, hu: hæd kʌm to look after the baby, "I shall take the spot away with tə luk ɑ:fʔə ðə beɪbi, "aɪ ʃæl teɪk ðə spɒt ə'wei wɪð some hot water. There, now it is gone, and you can sʌm hɒt wɔ:tə. ðeə, naʊ ɪt ɪz ɡɒn, ænd ju: kæn be happy again. Oh, look, Baby has dropped her doll bi: hæpi ə'geɪn. ou, luk, beɪbi hæz drɒpt hæ: dɒl on the floor; will you pick it up for me? I am too old ɒn ðə flɔ:; wɪl ju: pɪk ɪt ʌp fɔ: mi:ʔ aɪ æm tu: ould to pick things up from the floor. Don't give it to the tə pɪk θɪŋz ʌp frɒm ðə flɔ:. daʊnt gɪv ɪt tə ðə baby, Helen; it is not clean, now it has been on the beɪbi, helɪn; ɪt ɪz nɒt kli:n, naʊ ɪt hæz bi:n ɒn ðə floor; we must wash it first. I shall have to tie it to flɔ:; wi: mʌst wɒʃ ɪt fɜ:st. aɪ ʃæl hæv tə taɪ ɪt tə her bed with a piece of string so that she can't drop it hæ: bed wɪð ə pi:s əv striŋ sʌu ðæt ʃi: kɑ:nt drɒp ɪt gone = away

don't = do not string

can't = cannot

Chapter Twenty (20).

Have you got a penny? = Have you a penny?

I'll = I shall you'll = you will he'll = he will she'll = she will it'll = it will we'll = we shall you'll = you will they'll = they will ourselves

yourselves

Something for ourselves.

Something for yourselves.

We wash ourselves.

Wash yourselves,
John and Helen!

as = because on the floor. Have you got a piece of string, Helen?"

ɔn ðə flɔ:. hæv ju: ɡɒt ə pi: s əv striŋ, helin?"

"No, Aunt Jane, but I know where there is some string.
"nou, a:nt dʒein, bʌt ai nou hweə ðeər iz sʌm striŋ.

Mamma has always got some string in the kitchen.
mə'ma: hæz ɔ:lweɪz ɡɒt sʌm striŋ in ðə ki:tʃən.

I'll go and get it for you." "Thank you, my dear, you aɪl ɡəʊ ənd ɡet it fɔ: ju:." "þæŋk ju:, mai diə, ju:

are a very good little girl."
a: ə veri ɡʊd litl ɡə:l."

"Let me look at you now, children. John, you have not "let mi: luk æt ju: nau, tʃɪldrən. dʒɒn, ju: hæv nɒt tied your shoe-laces. Can't such a big boy tie his own taɪd juə fu:leɪsɪz. kɑ:nt sʌtʃ ə bɪɡ bɔɪ taɪ hɪz ɒn shoe-laces? Well, now you look fine, both of you. Here fu:leɪsɪz? wel, nau ju: luk faɪn, bəʊθ əv ju:. hiə is a shilling to buy something good for yourselves, my iz ə ʃɪlɪŋ tə baɪ sʌmþɪŋ ɡʊd fɔ: juə'selvz, mai dears. Good-bye, now!" "Good-bye, Aunt Jane, and diəz. ɡʊd'baɪ, nau!" "ɡʊd'baɪ, a:nt dʒein, ənd thank you for the money! We'll buy chocolate for þæŋk ju: fɔ: ðə mʌni! wi:l baɪ tʃɒkəlɪt fɔ:

ourselves, and something good for Alice, too." auə'selvz, ənd sʌmþɪŋ ɡʊd fɔ: əlɪs, tu:."

Mr. Smith wanted the children to have a good time mɪstə smɪθ wɒntɪd ðə tʃɪldrən tə hæv ə ɡʊd taɪm that evening, and as the children liked very much to ðæt i:vnɪŋ, ənd əz ðə tʃɪldrən laɪkt veri mʌtʃ tə ride in a car, he called a taxi. They rode for only ten raid in ə ka:, hi: kɔ:ld ə tæksi. ðei roud fɔ: ounli ten minutes in the taxi, but if they had ridden in a tram, minits in ðə tæksi, bət if ðei hæd ridn in ə trəm, it would have taken them half an hour to get to the it wud hæv teikn ðem ha:f ən auə tə get tə ðə restaurant. The restaurant was one to which Mr. Smith restərənt. ðə restərənt wəz wʌn tə hwɪtʃ mɪstə smɪθ often went when he had to have a meal in town. He ɔ:fən went hwən hi: hæd tə hæv ə mi:l in taʊn. hi:

had been there so often that the waiters knew his hæd bi:n ðeə sou ɔ:fən ðæt ðə weɪtəz njʊ: hɪz name.

neɪm.

“Good evening, Mr. Smith,” said one of the waiters “gud i:vniŋ, mɪstə smɪθ,” sed wʌn əv ðə weɪtəz when they came into the restaurant, “I’ll find you a hwən ðei keɪm ɪntə ðə restərənt, “aɪl faɪnd ju: ə good table. What will you have for dinner?” “What gud teɪbl. hwɒt wɪl ju: hæv fɔ: dɪnə?” “hwɒt have you got?” “Well, let me see — we have some hæv ju: gɒt?” “wel, let mi: si: — wi: hæv sʌm very good mutton with cabbage, and a fine vegetable veri gud mʌtn wɪð kæbɪdʒ, ənd ə faɪn vedʒɪtəbl soup.” Mr. Smith: “How would you like that, children?”

su:p.” mɪstə smɪθ: “haʊ wud ju: laɪk ðæt, tʃɪldrən?”

“That would be fine, daddy.” “And what would you “ðæt wud bi: faɪn, dædi.” “ənd hwɒt wud ju:

He rides, he rode,
 he has ridden.

waiter

often = many times

He knows, he knew, he has known.

mutton = the meat of sheep

cabbage

daddy = father

Chapter Twenty (20).

let's = let us

like for a sweet?" "Oh, an ice-cream!" "Let's have laik fɔ: ə swi:t?" "ou, ən 'ais'kri:m!" "lets hæv soup and mutton then, two ice-creams with fruit, and su:p ənd mʌtn ðen, tu: 'ais'kri:mz wið fru:t, ənd a cup of coffee for me, waiter." "Yes, thank you, sir."

ə kʌp əv kɔfi fɔ: mi:, weita." "jes, þæŋk ju:, sə:."

"Don't you want some more cabbage, John? Cabbage
"dʌnt ju: wɒnt sʌm mɔ: kæbidʒ, dʒɒn? kæbidʒ is good for you." "Yes, thank you; let me have a little iz gud fɔ: ju:." "jes, þæŋk ju:; let mi: hæv ə litl more cabbage before we have the sweet."

mɔ: kæbidʒ bi'fɔ: wi: hæv ðə swi:t." couldn't = could not

"Well, children, have you had enough to eat? What "wel, tʃildrən, hæv ju: hæd i'nʌf tu i:t? hwɒt shall we do now?" "Oh, daddy, couldn't we go to a ʃæl wi: du: naʊ?" "ou, dædi, kʌdnt wi: ɡəʊ tu ə cinema and see a picture? There is a very good picture sinəmə ənd si: ə pɪktʃə? ðeər iz ə veri gud pɪktʃə on at the 'Nelson Cinema'. It is an old picture with ɒn æt ðə 'nelɪn sinəmə'. it iz ən ɔld pɪktʃə wið

Shirley Temple, who played in 'Wee Willie Winkie'. ʃə:li templ, hu: pleid in 'wi: 'wili wiŋki'."

Mr. Smith: "It's your evening, and I want you to have mɪstə smɪθ: "its juə i:vnɪŋ, ənd ai wɒnt ju: tə hæv a good time, so let us go and see that picture. At what ə gud taɪm, sɒ let ʌs ɡəʊ ənd si: ðæt pɪktʃə. æt hwɒt time does it begin?" "It begins at half past seven."

taɪm dʌz it bi'ɡɪn?" "it bi'ɡɪnz æt ha:f pɑ:st sevən." wee = little

it's = it is

"Then we must go now. Waiter, I want to pay the "ðen wi: mʌst gou nau. weɪtə, ai wɒnt tə peɪ ðə

He pays, he paid, he has paid.

bill; how much is it, please?" "Twelve shillings and bil; hau mʌtʃ ɪz ɪt, pli:z?" "twelv ʃɪlɪŋz ənd tenpence (12/10), sir." "Here you are — and tenpəns (twelv ənd ten), sə:." "hiə ju: a: — ənd one and sixpence for yourself." "Thank you, sir; shall wʌn ənd sɪkspəns fɔ: juə'self." "θæŋk ju:, sə:, ʃəl

I get you a taxi?" "No, thank you, it's not very far; ai get ju: ə tæksi?" "nou, θæŋk ju:, ɪts nɒt veri fa:; we'll walk."

wi:l wɔ:k."

At the Cinema.

Mr. Smith to the lady at the booking-office: "Three mɪstə smɪθ tə ðə leɪdi æt ðə bukiŋɔ:fɪs: "pri:

tickets, please!" The lady: "Are the two children with tɪkɪts, pli:z!" ðə leɪdi: "a: ðə tu: tʃɪldrən wɪð you, sir? Then you only have to pay half price for their ju:, sə: ðen ju: ɒnli hæv tə peɪ ha:f praɪs fɔ: ðeə tickets. Three shillings and sixpence (3/6)." tɪkɪts. pri: ʃɪlɪŋz ənd sɪkspəns (pri: ənd sɪks)."

Mr. Smith paid for the tickets with a pound (£1) note.
mɪstə smɪθ peɪd fɔ: ðə tɪkɪts wɪð ə paʊnd nəʊt.

"Is it a good picture?" he asked when he picked up the
"ɪz ɪt ə gud pɪktʃə?" hi: ə:skt hwɛn hi: pɪkt ʌp ðə coins which she gave him. "Yes, very good," she said.

kɔɪnz hwɪtʃ ʃi: geɪv hɪm. "jes, veri gud," ʃi: sed.

"All the children have been so happy to see it."

"ɔ:l ðə tʃɪldrən hæv bi:n sou hæpi tə si: it."

The children looked at the pictures on the walls near ðə tʃɪldrən lukt æt ðə pɪktʃəz ɔn ðə wɔ:lz niə the booking-office, and before they went into the cinema, ðə bukiŋɔfis, ænd bi'fɔ: ðei went intə ðə sinəmə, they went to the chocolate-shop to buy something with ðei went tə ðə tʃɔkəlɪtʃɒp tə baɪ sʌmʃɪŋ wið their shilling. "Two pieces of milk-chocolate, please," ðeə ʃɪlɪŋ. "tu: pi:sɪz əv mɪlktʃɔkəlɪt, pli:z," John said and gave the coin to the lady. "Here is your dʒɔn sed ænd geɪv ðə kɔɪn tə ðə leɪdi. "hiə ɪz juə chocolate," she said, "that will be sixpence (6 d)." tʃɔkəlɪt," ʃi: sed, "ðæt wɪl bi: sɪkspəns."

They rode home in a taxi, and when they got home, ðei rəʊd hoʊm ɪn ə tæksɪ, ænd hwen ðei ɡɒt hoʊm,

John and Helen thanked their father for the good time dʒɔn ænd helɪn θæŋkt ðeə fa:ðə fɔ: ðə ɡʊd taɪm they had had. They said it was the best time that they ðei hæd hæd. ðei sed ɪt wəz ðə best taɪm ðæt ðei had had for a long time, and that it was much better hæd hæd fɔ: ə lɔŋ taɪm, ænd ðæt ɪt wəz mʌtʃ betə than to be with their mother at a birthday party for ðæn tə bi: wið ðeə mʌðə æt ə bə:θdeɪ pɑ:ti fɔ:

ladies, who talked and talked all the evening. When leɪdɪz, hu: tɔ:kt ænd tɔ:kt ɔ:l ði i:vniŋ. hwen they got home, Mrs. Smith had not yet come back from ðei ɡɒt hoʊm, mɪsɪz smɪθ hæd nɒt jət kʌm bæk frɒm the party. So Mr. Smith told the children to go up ðə pɑ:ti. sɔu mistə smiθ tould ðə tʃɪldrən tə ɡoʊ ʌp to bed, and then he said: "Please ask Aunt Jane to tə bed, ənd ðen hi: sed: "pli:z ə:sk ə:nt dʒein tə come down. If you like, you can bring your nightkʌm daʊn. ɪf ju: laɪk, ju: kæn briŋ juə nait-clothes down and dress for the night in the warm room.

kləʊðz daʊn ənd dres fɔ: ðə nait ɪn ðə wɔ:m ru:m.
Aunt Jane and I will have a cup of tea now, and then ə:nt dʒein ənd əɪ wɪl hæv ə kʌp əv ti: naʊ, ənd ðen you can tell her where we have been, and what we have ju: kæn tel hə: hwɛə wi: hæv bi:n, ənd hwɒt wi: hæv seen. And then you can also give Aunt Jane this piece si:n. ənd ðen ju: kæn ɔ:lsəʊ ɡɪv ə:nt dʒein ðɪs pi:s of chocolate that I have bought for her because she has əv tʃɒkəlɪt ðæt əɪ hæv bɔ:t fɔ: hə: bɪ'kɔz ʃi: hæz looked after Baby to-night." lʊkt ə:ftə beɪbi tə'nait."

EXERCISE A.

Mr. Smith and his children went to a — for dinner, and the children were very — to go. He told John that he should — Helen to put on her new green —.
Later the father asked John if he had — Helen to do what he had said. Helen had — some ice-cream on her new frock, so that now there was a — on it. Aunt Jane was too old to — things up from the floor. She had to — the baby's doll to the bed with a piece of —. John had not tied his —. "Buy something good for —,"

WORDS:

restaurant
dress
happy drop spot pick up
tie string shoe-lace
ourselves
yourselves

as ride rode ridden
car taxi often waiter
knew mutton cabbage
daddy
sweet cinema picture wee pay paid booking-office ticket
note
coin milk-chocolate chocolate-shop
gone

Aunt Jane said, and the children answered, "We shall buy chocolate for —, and something good for Alice, too."

Mr. Smith called a taxi, — the children liked very much to ride in a —. They — for ten minutes in the —. If they had — in a tram, it would have taken them much longer. Mr. Smith came so — to the restaurant that the — knew his name. The meat of sheep is called —. With the mutton they got —, and for a sweet they — ice-cream. Another word for father in English is —. Where — Mr. Smith and his children go at half past seven? They went to the 'Nelson —' to see an old — with Shirley Temple. How much did they — for the tickets? They — three shillings and sixpence for the —. What did Mr. Smith pay the lady at the — with? He paid her with a pound —. What did the children buy in the — with their money? They bought two pieces of —.

EXERCISE B.

Where did Mr. Smith and his children dine? ... What dress did Helen put on? ... What had Helen dropped on her new dress? ... What did Aunt Jane take the spot away with? ... What had Baby done with her doll? ... Did Mr. Smith and his children walk to the restaurant? ... Why did the waiters know Mr. Smith? ... What did the father and his children have for dinner? ... Where did they go after dinner? ... What did Mr. Smith ask the lady at the booking-office? ... What did the children buy with their shilling? ... Did the children have a good time? ...

THE STUDY OF ENGLISH

One winter evening in a small European town, three wʌn wɪntər iːvniŋ in ə smɔːl juərəˈpiən taʊn, ˈpriː young men came together in the home of one of their jʌŋ men keɪm təˈɡeðə in ðə haʊm əv wʌn əv ðeər old teachers. They had not been taught English at əʊld tiːtʃəz. ðeɪ həd nɒt biːn təːt ɪŋɡlɪʃ ət school, and in their work they had seen many times skuːl, ʌnd in ðeə wəːk ðeɪ həd siːn meni taɪmz that it would be a good thing for them to know some ðət ɪt wʊd biː ə ɡʊd þɪŋ fɔː ðəm tə nəʊ sʌm English. So five months ago, they wrote a letter to ɪŋɡlɪʃ. səʊ faɪv mʌnθs əˈɡəʊ, ðeɪ raʊt ə leɪtə tə one of the teachers of their old school and asked him wʌn əv ðə tiːtʃəz əv ðeər əʊld skuːl ʌnd ɑːskt hɪm to teach them English. They knew that he had been to tə tiːtʃ ðəm ɪŋɡlɪʃ. ðeɪ nəʊː ðət hiː həd biːn tu

England several times, and that he spoke the language ɪŋɡlənd severəl taɪmz, ʌnd ðət hiː spəʊk ðə læŋɡwɪdʒ well. He was glad to hear that they were interested wel. hiː wəz ɡlæd tə hiə ðət ðeɪ wəː ɪntrɪstɪd in English, and answered that he would like very much ɪn ɪŋɡlɪʃ, ʌnd ɑːnsəd ðət hiː wʊd laɪk veri mʌtʃ to teach them. They began their study of English tə tiːtʃ ðəm. ðeɪ bɪˈɡæn ðeə stʌdi əv ɪŋɡlɪʃ a European town = a town in Europe

He teaches,
 he taught,
 he has taught [tiːtʃɪz, təːt, təːt].

several times =
 more than one
 time

He speaks,
 he spoke,
 he has spoken [spiːks, spəʊk, spəʊkən].

Chapter Twenty-One (21).

twice = two times were to come = should come

once = one time

end of book

to be asleep=
to sleep

four months ago, and had come to the house of their fɔ: mʌnθs ə'gou, ʌnd həd kʌm tə ðə haʊs əv ðeə teacher several times every week, sometimes twice a ti:tʃə sevərə taimz evri wi:k, sʌmtaimz twaɪs ə week and sometimes three times a week. If they were to wi:k ʌnd sʌmtaimz θri: taimz ə wi:k. ɪf ðei wə: tə come only once a week, it would take too long to learn kʌm ʌnli wʌns ə wi:k, ɪt wʊd teɪk tu: lɒŋ tə lə:n

English. They had read about the Smith family and ɪŋglɪʃ. ðei həd red ə'baʊt ðə smɪθ fæmili ʌnd were almost at the end of the book.

wə: ɔ:lmoʊst ət ði end əv ðə bʊk.

Now the young men were in their teacher's sitting-room, nau ðə jʌŋ men wə: ɪn ðeə ti:tʃəz sɪtɪŋrʊm, ready to begin their studies. They were alone at first, redi tə bɪ'ɡɪn ðeə stʌdɪz. ðei wə: ə'ləʊn ət fɜ:st, but at ten minutes past eight their teacher came in.

bʌt ət ten mɪnɪts pɑ:st eɪt ðeə ti:tʃə keɪm ɪn.

"Good evening, boys," he said when he came in; "I am
"ɡʊd i:vniŋ, bɔɪz," hi: sed hwen hi: keɪm ɪn; "aɪ əm a little late to-night. I had to put my little son to bed, ə lɪtl leɪt tə'naɪt. aɪ həd tə put maɪ lɪtl sʌn tə bed, because my wife is not at home, and I had to wait bɪ'kɔ:z maɪ waɪf ɪz nɒt ət hoʊm, ʌnd aɪ həd tə weɪt until he was asleep, or he would call all the time."

ʌn'tɪl hi: wəz ə'sli:p, ɔ: hi: wʊd kɔ:l ɔ:l ðə taim."

"I have never seen your son," said one of the young
"aɪ həv nevə si:n jɔ: sʌn," sed wʌn əv ðə jʌŋ men; "couldn't we go and have a look at him?" "Yes," men; "kudnt wi: gou ənd həv ə luk at him?" "jes," the teacher answered, "but we shall have to be quiet."

ðə ti:tfə a:nsəd, "bət wi: šal həv tə bi: kwaiət.

If we make a noise, he will wake up from his sleep, if wi: meik ə nɔɪz, hi: wil weik əp frəm hiz sli:p, and then it will be a long time before he goes to sleep ənd ðen it wil bi: ə lɔŋ taɪm bɪ'fɔ: hi: gouz tə sli:p

again."

ə'geɪn."

So they went up into the bedroom to have a look at sou ðei went əp ɪntə ðə bedrʊm tə həv ə luk ət the sleeping child. "He is very quiet now, because ðə sli:pɪŋ tʃaɪld. "hi: ɪz veri kwaiət naʊ, bɪ'kɔz he is sleeping," the teacher said when they came down hi: ɪz sli:pɪŋ, "ðə ti:tfə sed hwen ðei keɪm daʊn again, "but when he is awake, he makes a great noise ə'geɪn, "bət hwen hi: ɪz ə'weɪk, hi: meɪks ə greɪt nɔɪz all the time. I must go up now and then to see that ɔ:l ðə taɪm. ɪ məst gou əp naʊ ənd ðen tə si: ðət he is warm enough, because my wife says that he is hi: ɪz wɔ:m ɪ'nʌf, bɪ'kɔz maɪ waɪf sez ðət hi: ɪz beginning a cold. He is sleeping in our room to-night, bɪ'gɪnɪŋ ə kəʊld. hi: ɪz sli:pɪŋ ɪn əʊə ru:m tə'naɪt, but when he is well, he always sleeps in his own room... bət hwen hi: ɪz wel, hi: ɔ:lweɪz sli:ps ɪn hiz əʊn ru:m...

Well, let us go back to our studies. You know that wel, let əs gou bæk tu əʊə stədɪz. ju: nəʊ ðət

He wakes,
 he woke,
 he has waked [weiks, wouk, weikt].

great = big now and then =

 from time to time

The child sleeps
every night.
 The child is sleeping now.

The girl has a smile on her face; she has a smiling face; she is smiling now. She often smiles.

parents always talk too much about their children," the pɛərənts ɔ:lwəz tɔ:k tu: mʌtʃ ə'baʊt ðə tʃɪldrən," ðə teacher said with a smile on his face. "Oh, that is all ti:tʃə sed wið ə smaɪl ɔn hɪz feɪs. "ou, ðæt ɪz ɔ:l right," one of the young men answered, smiling. raɪt," wʌn əv ðə jʌŋ men a:nsəd, smaɪlɪŋ.

An hour later, they got to the end of the last exercise ən aʊə leɪtə, ðeɪ gɒt tə ði end əv ðə la:st ɛksəsaɪz about the Smith family. They had given the answers ə'baʊt ðə smɪθ fæmɪli. ðeɪ həd gɪvən ði a:nsəz to all the questions in the exercises except the last one, tu ɔ:l ðə kwestʃənz ɪn ði ɛksəsaɪzɪz ɪk'sept ðə la:st wʌn, and now the teacher asked one of the young men the ænd naʊ ðə ti:tʃər a:skt wʌn əv ðə jʌŋ men ðə last question, "Did the children have a good time?" la:st kwestʃən, "dɪd ðə tʃɪldrən hæv ə gud taɪm?"

The young man gave the answer: "Yes, they had the ðə jʌŋ mæn geɪv ði a:nsə: "jes, ðeɪ həd ðə best time they had had for a long time." "That is best taɪm ðeɪ həd həd fər ə lɔŋ taɪm." "ðæt ɪz right," said the teacher, "and now I want to talk to raɪt," sed ðə ti:tʃə, "ænd naʊ aɪ wʌnt tə tɔ:k tə you about something new. You have learnt English ju: ə'baʊt sʌmʃɪŋ nju:. ju: hæv lə:nt ɪŋglɪʃ now for four months, and you already know many naʊ fə fɔ: mʌnθs, ænd ju: ɔ:l'redi naʊ menɪ words. Sometimes we speak English together, but from wə:dz. sʌmtaɪmz wi: spi:k ɪŋglɪʃ tə'geðə, bʌt frəm

He learns, he learned, he has learned = he learns, he learnt, he has learnt [lə:nz, lə:nt, lə:nt].

now on I want you to speak English always when we nau on ai wɔnt ju: tə spi:k ɪŋglɪʃ ɔ:l wəz hwen wi:

do our study work. How do you like that idea?" "It du: auə stʌdi wə:k. hau du: ju: laɪk ðæt aɪ'diə?" "it is a good idea, and I like it very much," one of the young ɪz ə gud aɪ'diə, ənd ai laɪk ɪt veri mʌtʃ," wʌn əv ðə jʌŋ men answered, and the others also said that the idea mən a:nsəd, ənd ði ʌðəz ɔ:l sʌu sed ðæt ði aɪ'diə was good. "It would be a good idea to begin now, wəz gud. "it wʊd bi: ə gud aɪ'diə tə bi'ɡɪn nau, to-night," the teacher said. "I will try to put the tə'nait," ðə ti:tʃə sed. "ai wɪl traɪ tə put ðə words together in such a way that you will be able to wə:dz tə'ɡedə ɪn sʌtʃ ə wei ðæt ju: wɪl bi: eɪbl tu understand the new words, and if you do not understand ʌndə'stænd ðə nju: wə:dz, ənd ɪf ju: du: nɒt ʌndə'stænd what a word means, just ask me what the meaning of hwɒt ə wə:d mi:nz, dʒʌst ɑ:sk mi: hwɒt ðə mi:nɪŋ əv it is, and I will explain it to you in some other way, ɪt ɪz, ənd ai wɪl ɪks'pleɪn ɪt tə ju: ɪn sʌm ʌðə wei, speaking English all the time. — Did you understand spi:kiŋ ɪŋglɪʃ ɔ:l ðə taɪm. — dɪd ju: ʌndə'stænd everything I said now?" "Yes, we understood every evrɪθɪŋ ai sed nau?" "jes, wi: ʌndə'stʊd evri word, also the new words."

wə:d, ɔ:l sʌu ðə nju: wə:dz."

One of the young men: "I have a good idea! It would wʌn əv ðə jʌŋ mən: "ai hæv ə gud aɪ'diə! ɪt wʊd

He understands,
 he understood,
 he has understood [ʌndə'stændz, ʌndə'stʊd,
 ʌndə'stʊd].

It means, it meant, it has meant [mi:nz, ment, ment].

He feels, he felt, he has felt [fi:lz, felt, felt].

be much better to use English names when we speak bi: mʌtʃ bətə tə ju:z ɪŋɡlɪʃ neɪmz hwen wi: spi:k English." "Yes," the teacher answered; "the English ɪŋɡlɪʃ." "jes," ðə ti:tʃər ɑ:nsəd; "ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ word for my name would be Miller, and your name wə:d fə mai neɪm wud bi: mɪlə, ənd jɔ: neɪm would be Brown." "Tell us the English words for our wud bi: braʊn." "tel əs ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ wə:dz fər əʊə names, too," the other young men asked the teacher. neɪmz, tu:," ði ʌðə jʌŋ men ɑ:skt ðə ti:tʃə.

"Your name," he said to one of them, "would be Storm,
"jɔ: neɪm," hi: sed tə wʌn əv ðəm, "wud bi: stɔ:m, and your name," he said to the other, "would be Wood.

ənd jɔ: neɪm," hi: sed tə ði ʌðə, "wud bi: wud.

It is a good idea; from to-night we will all be English ɪt ɪz ə gu:d aɪ'diə; frəm tə'naɪt wi: wɪl ɔ:l bi: ɪŋɡlɪʃ people twice a week." "I am already beginning to feel pi:pl twaɪs ə wi:k." "aɪ əm ɔ:l'redɪ bɪ'ɡɪnɪŋ tə fi:l very English," Brown said. "Well, the name is not veri ɪŋɡlɪʃ," braʊn sed. "wel, ðə neɪm ɪz nɒt enough for me to feel English," said Wood; "I shall ɪ'nʌf fə mi: tə fi:l ɪŋɡlɪʃ," sed wud; "aɪ ʃəl have to hear my new name several times before I can hæv tə hiə mai nju: neɪm severəl taɪmz bɪ'fɔ: aɪ kən remember who Mr. Wood is. I am writing it down in rɪ'membə hu: mɪstə wud ɪz. aɪ əm raɪtɪŋ ɪt daʊn ɪn my book now to remember my new name. What is it, maɪ bu:k naʊ tə rɪ'membə maɪ nju: neɪm. hwɒt ɪz ɪt,

Storm, why are you so quiet?" "I am just trying to stɔ:m, hʷai a: ju: sou kwaiət? "ai əm dʒʌst traɪɪŋ tə remember my new name, too." "When you have heard ri'membə mai nju: neim, tu:. "hwen ju: həv hə:d it three or four times, you will not forget it," said it ʒri: ɔ: fɔ: taimz, ju: wil nɒt fə'get it," sed

Mr. Miller.

mɪstə mɪlə.

"You have forgotten that you have been asked to look
"ju: həv fə'gɒtn ðət ju: həv bi:n a:skt tə luk after the boy, Mr. Miller; he is calling you now," said a:ftə ðə bɔɪ, mɪstə mɪlə; hi: ɪz kɔ:liŋ ju: nau," sed Brown. "Oh, and my wife is coming in through the braun. "ou, ənd mai waɪf ɪz kʌmɪŋ ɪn ʒru: ðə garden now; what will she say when she finds the boy gɑ:dn nau; hʷɒt wil ʃi: sei hwen ʃi: faɪndz ðə bɔɪ awake? I shall have to explain to her that we had ə'weɪk? ɪ ʃəl həv tu ɪks'pleɪn tə hə: ðət wi: həd so much to talk about to-night that we forgot him.

sou mʌtʃ tə tɔ:k ə'baut tə'nait ðət wi: fə'gɒt him.

I hope he will go to sleep again and have a good sleep ai hoʊp hi: wil ɡoʊ tə sli:p ə'geɪn ənd həv ə ɡud sli:p all night. Last night he woke up three times."

ɔ:l nait. la:st nait hi: wəʊk ʌp ʒri: taimz."

"I want to ask you a question," Storm said to the others
"ai wɒnt tu a:sk ju: ə kwɛstʃən," stɔ:m sed tə ði ʌðəz when the teacher had gone up to the boy. "What does hwen ðə ti:tʃə həd ɡɒn ʌp tə ðə bɔɪ. "hʷɒt dʌz

He forgets, he forgot, he has forgotten [fə'gets, fə'gɒt, fə'gɒtn].

the word 'explain' mean? I did not like to ask the ðə wəd 'iks'plein' mi:n? ai did nɒt laik tu a:sk ðə teacher about it, because I could see that you two ti:tfər ə'baut it, bi'kɒz ai kʊd si: ðæt ju: tu: understood it." "Yes, I understood it," Wood answered; ʌndə'stʊd it." "jes, ai ʌndə'stʊd it," wʊd ə:nsəd;
 "it means to give the meaning of something, or to tell "it mi:nz tə giv ðə mi:niŋ əv smɒpiŋ, ɔ: tə tel why something is done, or how it is done." "Oh yes; hwaɪ smɒpiŋ ɪz dʌn, ɔ: haʊ it ɪz dʌn." "ou jes; when you say it in this way, I understand what it hwen ju: sei it in ðis wei, ai ʌndə'stænd hwɒt it means. Thank you!"
mi:nz. þæŋk ju:!"

When Mr. Miller came down again, he said to the young hwen mistə milə keɪn daʊn ə'geɪn, hi: sed tə ðə jʌŋ men, "I hope you will have a cup of coffee with us.
men, "ai haʊp ju: wɪl hæv ə kʌp əv kɒfi wɪð ʌs.
 My wife has already made the coffee and is now putting maɪ waɪf hæz ɔ:l'redi meɪd ðə kɒfi ənd ɪz naʊ putɪŋ the cups on the table. She will be interested to hear ðə kʌps ɒn ðə teɪbl. ʃi: wɪl bi: ɪntrɪstɪd tə hiə you speak English, because she has been to England ju: spi:k ɪŋɡlɪʃ, bi'kɒz ʃi: hæz bi:n tu ɪŋɡlənd with me several times and speaks the language very wɪð mi: severəl taɪmz ənd spi:ks ðə læŋɡwɪdʒ veri well." "I don't feel hungry," said Wood; "but I would wel." "ai daʊnt fi:l haŋɡri," sed wʊd; "bʌt ai wʊd like a cup of coffee and a talk with your wife about the laik ə kʌp əv kɔfi ænd ə tɔ:k wið jɔ: waɪf ə'baʊt ðə language we are all so interested in."

læŋgwɪdʒ wi: a: ɔ:l sɔʊ ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn."

EXERCISE A.

The three young men — to their old teacher five months — and asked him to — them English. The teacher had been to England — times and was very much interested in English. His wife was also — in English.

The teacher said it would be a good — for them to speak English together when they did their — work. Would they be able to — the new words? Yes, the teacher would put the words together in such a — that they would understand the — of all the words. If there should be a word now and — that they did not understand, the teacher would — the meaning of it in English.

Could Mr. Wood — his new name? No, he said that he would — it if he did not write it down in his book. Had Mr. Miller remembered that he had been asked to — after his boy? No, he had — it. Was the teacher's boy — when he was awake? No, he always made a great — when he was —; he was only quiet when he was —. Did Wood — hungry? No, but he would — to have a cup of coffee.

WORDS:

European
 teach taught several interested very much twice
 once
 end at first asleep quiet noise wake woke waked awake great
 now and then
 smile
 smile (verb)
 exercise
 already idea understand understood meant meaning explain feel felt remember forget forgot forgotten study look way

question answer spoke spoken sleep learnt speak — speaking
call — calling
sleep —
 sleeping try — trying begin —
 beginning put — putting smile —
 smiling
come — coming write — writing
Miller
Brown
Storm
Wood

EXERCISE B.

What did the young men write to their teacher? ...
When did they write to him? ... What did he answer them? ... Why were they interested in English? ...
How many times a week did they come to their teacher's house for study? ... What idea did the teacher get? ...
Who got the idea that they should use English names? ... Did they feel that they could remember their new names? ... Did Storm understand everything the teacher said to them in English? ... What did he do to get the meaning of the word 'explain'? ... Did the teacher's boy wake up that evening? ... Was the teacher's wife at home when they were at their studies? ...

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'where'.

Where is London? Answer ... New question ...? Paris is in France. Where is John? Answer ... Question ...? Helen is at school. Where were John and Helen when their mother called them? Answer ... Question ...? Daisy's husband was on the first floor when the guests came. Where does the Smith family live? Answer ... Question ...? Mr. Smith's brother lives in the country. Where do the Swedes live? Answer ... Question ...? The Norwegians live in Norway. Where did George and John go with their skates? Answer ... Question ...? Mr. Smith went to a restaurant with the children. Where did they go after they had dined at the restaurant? Answer ... Question ...? After they had been to the cinema, they went home. Where did Mrs. Smith get twelve pounds to buy a new frock? Answer ... Question ...? They got their shilling from their Aunt Jane.

A GOOD IDEA

Our three young friends have come to their teacher's auə ʒri: ʒəŋ frendz həv kʌm tə ðeə ti:tʃəz house again to learn English. They have been working haʊs ə'geɪn tə lə:n ɪŋɡlɪʃ. ðeɪ həv bi:n wə:kɪŋ at their studies for an hour and are now having a cup ət ðeə stʌdiz fər ən aʊər ənd ɑ: naʊ həvɪŋ ə kʌp of coffee.

 əv kɒfi.

Brown: "Mr. Miller, this evening when I was walking braʊn: "mɪstə mɪlə, ðɪs i:vniŋ hwen aɪ wəz wɔ:kɪŋ home from work, I thought of the idea you told us hoʊm frəm wɜ:k, aɪ þɔ:t əv ðɪ aɪ'dɪə ju: təʊld əs about the other evening, to speak nothing but English ə'baut ðɪ ʌðə i:vniŋ, tə spi:k nʌθɪŋ bʌt ɪŋɡlɪʃ but (here) =

except

when we are together. I said to myself that when hwen wi: ɑ: tə'geðə. aɪ sed tə maɪ'self ðæt hwen the four of us have talked English for some time, it ðə fɔ:r əv əs həv tɔ:kt ɪŋɡlɪʃ fə sʌm taɪm, ɪt would be a good thing to try to talk to some English wʊd bi: ə gʊd θɪŋ tə traɪ tə tɔ:k tə sʌm ɪŋɡlɪʃ people. 'But where do you find English people to talk pi:pl. 'bʌt hweə du: ju: faɪnd ɪŋɡlɪʃ pi:pl tə tɔ:k to?' I asked myself. I couldn't think of an answer to tu?' aɪ ɑ:skt maɪ'self. aɪ kʊdn't θɪŋk əv ən ɑ:nsə tə that question at once; but when I was sitting at supper, ðæt kwɛstʃən æt wʌns; bʌt hwen ai wəz sitiŋ æt sʌpə,

I thought of this idea, 'Why not make a trip to England?
ai þɔ:t əv ðis ai'diə, 'hwaɪ nɒt meɪk ə tri:p tu ɪŋɡlənd?

Then there would be enough English people to talk to!
ðen ðeə wud bi: i'nʌf ɪŋɡlɪʃ pi:pl tə tɔ:k tu!

What do you think of that idea?" hwɒt du: ju: þɪŋk əv ðæt ai'diə?"

Mr. Miller: "I think it would be a very good idea if mɪstə mɪlə: "ai þɪŋk ɪt wud bi: ə veri ɡʊd ai'diə ɪf you could all make a trip to England together." Storm: ju: kʊd ɔ:l meɪk ə tri:p tu ɪŋɡlənd tə'ɡeðə." stɔ:m:

"I have another question to ask you, Mr. Miller. Do you "ai hæv ə'nʌðə kwɛstʃən tu ɑ:sk ju:, mɪstə mɪlə. du: ju:

think that you could come with us yourself?" Wood: þɪŋk ðæt ju: kʊd kʌm wɪð ʌs ʃɔ:'self?" wʊd:

"Yes, you know England and the English so well; but "jes, ju: nəʊ ɪŋɡlənd ənd ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ sʊ wel; bʌt perhaps you do not want to go to England again, pə'hæps ju: du: nɒt wɒnt tə ɡəʊ tu ɪŋɡlənd ə'geɪn, because you have been there so many times already?"

bɪ'kɔ:z ju: hæv bi:n ðeə sʊ meni taɪmz ɔ:l'redi?"

Mr. Miller: "Perhaps, and perhaps not. I shall have mɪstə mɪlə: "pə'hæps, ənd pə'hæps nɒt. ai ʃəl hæv to think more about it. You know I have a wife and tə þɪŋk mɔ:r ə'baut ɪt. ju: nəʊ ai hæv ə waɪf ənd a child to think of! But you have no wives to think of ə tʃɪld tə þɪŋk ɔv! bʌt ju: hæv nəʊ waɪvz tə þɪŋk ɔv one wife, two wives

yet. As you said yourself, Wood, I have made many jet. æz ju: sed jɔ:'self, wud, ai hæv meid meni trips to England, so there are few places where I have trips tu ɪŋɡlənd, sou ðeər a: fju: pleisiz hwɛər ai hæv not been before, but, on the other hand, it is several nɒt bi:n bi'fɔ:, bʌt, ɔn ði ʌðə hænd, it iz sevərəl years since I was there last time, and since then many jiəz sins ai wəz ðeə la:st taim, and sins ðen meni things have changed, that is, they are not the same þɪŋz hæv tʃeɪndʒd, ðæt iz, ðei a: nɒt ðə seɪm now as they were then. You know that most people nau æz ðei wə: ðen. ju: nou ðæt mʌst pi:pl think that the English are very conservative, that is, þɪŋk ðæt ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ a: veri kən'sə:vətɪv, ðæt iz, they like old ideas better than modern ones, and are ðei laɪk ould aɪ'diəz betə ðən mɒdən wʌnz, and a:

not glad to change things. I do not think that people nɒt glæd tə tʃeɪndʒ þɪŋz. aɪ du: nɒt þɪŋk ðæt pi:pl are right in this. The English of to-day are not the a: raɪt ɪn ðɪs. ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ əv tə'deɪ a: nɒt ðə same as the English of some years ago, so there will seɪm æz ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ əv sʌm jiəz ə'ɡəʊ, sou ðeə wɪl also be new things for me to learn on another trip to ɔ:lsoʊ bi:nju: þɪŋz fə mi: tə lə:n ɔn ə'nʌðə trɪp tu

England. I must say that of all the foreign countries ɪŋɡlənd. aɪ mʌst seɪ ðæt əv ɔ:l ðə fɔrɪn kʌntrɪz

I have seen, I have found England the most interesting."
ai hæv si:n, ai hæv faʊnd ɪŋɡlənd ðə mʌst ɪn'trɪstɪŋ."

few = not many

one
ones

Do you like an old house better than a modern one?

Do you like old ideas better than modern ones?

He spends,
he spent,
he has spent [spendz, spent, spent].

like = the same as world

the whole world = all the world

Storm: "I have never been to a foreign country before; stɔ:m: "ai hæv nevə bi:n tu ə fɔrɪn kəntri bɪ'fɔ:;

I have spent all my holidays in our own country. The ai hæv spent ɔ:l mai hɒlɪdɪz ɪn aʊər oun kəntri. ðə last five years I have spent my summer-holidays with la:st faɪv jɪəz ai hæv spent mai sʌmə'hɒlɪdɪz wɪð my parents in the country, where they have a small mai peərənts ɪn ðə kəntri, hwɛə ðeɪ hæv ə smɔ:l house near a lake. But it would be a good thing to haʊs nɪər ə leɪk. bʌt ɪt wʊd bi: ə gʊd ʃɪŋ tə try something new this year. Of all foreign countries traɪ sʌmʃɪŋ nju: ðɪs jɪə. əv ɔ:l fɔrɪn kəntrɪz

I am most interested in England, just like you, Mr. ai əm mʌst ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ɪŋɡlənd, dʒʌst laɪk ju:, mɪstə Miller. If we make the trip, we must visit the British mɪlə. ɪf wi: meɪk ðə trɪp, wi: mʌst vɪzɪt ðə brɪtɪʃ

Museum one of the first days we are in London. It mju:'ziəm wʌn əv ðə fə:st deɪz wi: a: ɪn lʌndən. ɪt is one of the greatest museums, not only in Europe, ɪz wʌn əv ðə greɪtɪst mju:'ziəmz, nɒt ounli ɪn jʊərəp, but in the whole world. I have seen a picture of the bʌt ɪn ðə haʊl wɜ:ld. ai hæv si:n ə pɪktʃər əv ðə museum, and I know that inside it there are so many mju:'ziəm, ənd ai nəʊ ðæt ɪn'saɪd ɪt ðɛər a: sʌu menɪ things which we must see. I should like to spend ʃɪŋz hwɪtʃ wi: mʌst si:. ai ʃʊd laɪk tə spend several hours there every day." sevrəl aʊəz ðɛə evri deɪ."

Mr. Miller: "And you can. I know a hotel in the same mɪstə mɪlə: "ænd ju: kən. aɪ nou ə haʊ'tel ɪn ðə seɪm part of the town as the British Museum. I have always pɑ:t əv ðə taʊn əz ðə brɪtɪʃ mju'ziəm. aɪ hæv ɔ:lweɪz lived there when I have been in London. It is a good lɪvd ðeə hwen aɪ hæv bi:n ɪn lʌndən. ɪt ɪz ə gud hotel, and cheap, too, so if we go, I think we will live haʊ'tel, and tʃi:p, tu:, sɒ ɪf wi: ɡoʊ, aɪ θɪŋk wi: wɪl lɪv there as long as we are in London. Then you can ðeə əz lɒŋ əz wi: ɑ: ɪn lʌndən. ðen ju: kən visit the British Museum as often as you like, Storm.

vɪzɪt ðə brɪtɪʃ mju'ziəm əz ɔ:fən əz ju: laɪk, stɔ:m.

It is only a few minutes' walk from the hotel. The ɪt ɪz ounli ə fju: mɪnɪts wɔ:k frəm ðə haʊ'tel. ðə first seven or eight days we could spend in London fɜ:st sevn ɔ:r eɪt deɪz wi: kʊd spend ɪn lʌndən itself. There are many things to be seen in a big town ɪt'self. ðeər ɑ: menɪ θɪŋz tə bi: si:n ɪn ə bɪɡ taʊn like London, so that a week would not be too much laɪk lʌndən, sɒ ðæt ə wi:k wʊd nɒt bi: tu: mʌtʃ for us to spend in London itself. Then we could visit fɜ: ʌs tə spend ɪn lʌndən ɪt'self. ðen wi: kʊd vɪzɪt some places just outside London, where the Thames səm pleɪsɪz dʒʌst 'aʊt'saɪd lʌndən, hweə ðə temz is not the same dirty river as in the town itself. I ɪz nɒt ðə seɪm dɑ:ti rɪvə əz ɪn ðə taʊn ɪt'self. aɪ often spent a whole day on the river Thames in summer ɔ:fən spent ə haʊl deɪ ɒn ðə rɪvə temz ɪn sʌmə steamer

think am thinking thought was thinking have thought have been thinking

I think of a trip to England now
and then.

I am thinking of a trip to England
now.

I thought of a trip to England
yesterday.

I was thinking of a trip to England
when he came into the room.

I have thought of a trip to England
many times.

I have just been thinking of a trip
to England.

that those

I like that house.
I like those houses.

my grandparents
= my parents'
parents

my grandmother
= the mother of one of my parents

my grandfather = the father of one of my parents

when the weather was fine. There are small steamers hwen ðə wedə wəz faɪn. ðær a: smɔ:l sti:məz to take you from place to place. It is not very far tə teɪk ju: frəm pleɪs tə pleɪs. ɪt ɪz nɒt veri fa:

from our hotel to the river, so that we could go down frəm ʌwə hau'tel tə ðə rɪvə, sʌt ðæt wi: kʊd ɡəʊ daʊn there one day and look at the steamers."

ðeə wʌn dei ænd lʊk ət ðə sti:məz."

Mrs. Miller: "I think the idea you have been talking misɪz mɪlə: "aɪ θɪŋk ði aɪ'diə ju: hæv bi:n tɔ:kiŋ about just now is a very good one. I should like to ə'baʊt dʒʌst naʊ ɪz ə veri ɡʊd wʌn. aɪ ʃʊd laɪk tə go with you on the trip to England, but I can't. We ɡəʊ wɪð ju: ɔn ðə trɪp tu ɪŋɡlənd, bʌt aɪ kɑ:nt. wi:

can't take the boy on a trip like that, he is too small;
kɑ:nt teɪk ðə bɔɪ ɔn ə trɪp laɪk ðæt, hi: ɪz tu: smɔ:l;

just think of him on a steamer! He and I will spend dʒʌst θɪŋk əv hɪm ɔn ə sti:mə! hi: ænd aɪ wɪl spend those few weeks with my parents; they will be only ðəʊz fju: wi:kz wɪð maɪ peərənts; ðei wɪl bi: ɒnli too glad to have us. You know what grandparents tu: ɡlæd tə hæv ʌs. ju: nəʊ haʊt ɡrændpeərənts are like — they always think that their grandchildren a: laɪk — ðei ɔ:lweɪz θɪŋk ðæt ðeə ɡrændtʃɪldrən are the best in the whole world. The boy's grand-a: ðə best ɪn ðə haʊl wə:ld. ðə bɔɪz ɡrænd-mother lets him do everything he wants to, and his mʌðə lets hɪm du: evrɪθɪŋ hi: wɒnts tu, ænd hɪz grandfather buys so many things for him to play with grændfa:ðə baiz sou meni þiŋz fə him tə plei wið that I don't know what to do with them. It will be ðæt ai dount nou hwɔt tə du: wið ðəm. it wil bi:

so good for the boy to be at a farm in the country;
sou gud fə ðə bɔi tə bi: ət ə fa:m in ðə kʌntri; he can play outside in the sun all day, and we shall hi: kən plei 'aʊt'said in ðə sʌn ɔ:l dei, ənd wi: ʃəl both have a good time."

bəʊθ hæv ə gud taim."

Mr. Miller: "Well, if you feel like that, my dear, I shall mɪstə mɪlə: "wel, ɪf ju: fi:l laɪk ðæt, maɪ diə, ai ʃəl be glad to go. It would be good to see old England bi: glæd tə ɡoʊ. ɪt wʊd bi: gud tə si: ould ɪŋɡlənd again with these young men." Storm: "We are glad ə'ɡeɪn wið ði:z jʌŋ men." stɔ:m: "wi: a: glæd to hear that. Well, boys, it's time to go home, I think.

tə hiə ðæt. wel, bɔiz, ɪts taim tə ɡoʊ hoʊm, ai þɪŋk.

Oh, it's cold outside, and look — there is snow falling!
oʊ, ɪts kəʊld 'aʊt'said, ənd lʊk — ðeə ɪz snəʊ fɔ:lɪŋ!

One doesn't think of that when it is so warm inside."
wʌn dʌznt þɪŋk əv ðæt hwɛn ɪt ɪz soʊ wɔ:m 'ɪn'said."

EXERCISE A.

What did Brown — of when he was walking home from work? He was thinking that it would be a good — to try to find some English people to — to. Later

WORDS:
 trip perhaps few

since change conservative modern foreign spend spent
like visit British
hotel
place outside Thames
river steamer
world
inside grandparents grandfather grandmother grandchild interesting
walk
whole museum
just ones
but work —
 working walk — walking fall — falling talk — talking sit — sitting have — having

in the evening he — of the idea that they could all make a — to England. The others — that this was a very good idea. Mr. Miller has been to most — in England; there are — places that he has not seen. But it is several years — he was there, and many things have — since then. The English are not so — as many people think. Many people go to — countries in their holidays, but Storm has — all his holidays in his own country.

The — at which Mr. Miller has lived in London is near the British Museum, so that the young men can — it as often as they —. A week is not too much to spend in a big town — London.

EXERCISE B.

What was Brown doing when he thought of a trip to England? ... What did Mr. Miller think of the idea? ... When was Mr. Miller in England last? ... Are the English very conservative? ... Which of the foreign countries he has visited has Mr. Miller found the most interesting? ... How many days will they spend in London itself? ... What will they visit after the first week? ... What is the name of the museum in London that is one of the biggest in the world? ... Who lives at the farm that Mrs. Miller will go to when her husband goes to England? ... Are the boy's grandparents kind to him? ...

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'how'.

How many children are there in the Smith family?

Answer ... New question ...? There are twenty-four hours in a day and a night. How old is Mr. Smith?

Answer ... Question ...? Mrs. Smith was twenty-five years old when she got her watch. How far is it from the farm to the lake? Answer ... Question ...? It is two hours in a car from the farm to the city. How long does Mr. Smith work every day? Answer ...

Question ...? Most English children go to school for ten years. How much did Mrs. Smith pay for her new frock? Answer ... Question ...? Mr. Smith gave his wife twelve pounds. How often does Mr. Smith visit his brother in the country? Answer ... Question ...?

The children go to school five days a week.

MAKING PLANS

The next time the young men were together to study ðə nekst taim ðə jʌŋ men wə: tə'geðə tə stʌdi

English, they had much to talk about. All of them had ɪŋglɪʃ, ðeɪ hæd mʌtʃ tə tɔ:k ə'baut. ɔ:l əv ðəm hæd been thinking about the trip and making plans. They bi:n ʔɪŋkiŋ ə'baut ðə tri:p ənd meɪkiŋ plænz. ðeɪ had talked to their families about it and asked people hæd tɔ:kt tə ðeə fæmɪlɪz ə'baut ɪt ənd ɑ:skt pi:pl who had visited England about the best time to go there.

hu: hæd vɪzɪtɪd ɪŋɡlənd ə'baut ðə best taim tə ɡoʊ ðeə.

Their families were very much interested in the plans, ðeə fæmɪlɪz wə: veri mʌtʃ ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ðə plænz, but thought that the young men would not be able to bʌt ʔɔ:t ðæt ðə jʌŋ men wʊd nɒt bi: eɪbl tə learn to speak English well enough before they were lə:n tə spi:k ɪŋglɪʃ wel ɪ'nʌf bi'fɔ: ðeɪ wə:

to go. Storm told the others that his brother smiled tə ɡoʊ. stɔ:m təʊld ðɪ ʌðəz ðæt hɪz brʌðə smaɪld when he spoke about the trip, as if he thought that hwen hi: spəʊk ə'baut ðə tri:p, əz ɪf hi: ʔɔ:t ðæt they would not be able to make it. “Well, wait and ðeɪ wʊd nɒt bi: eɪbl tə meɪk ɪt. “wel, wəɪt ənd start = begin

see,’ I tell him,” Storm said, smiling; “when we start sɪ:,’ aɪ tel hɪm,” stɔ:m sed, smaɪlɪŋ; “hwen wi: stɑ:t on our trip, and you must stay at home because you ɔn auə tri:p, ənd ju: mʌst steɪ ət haʊm bi'kɔ: ju:

don't speak English, I shall be the one to smile.' And dəʊnt spi:k ɪŋɡlɪʃ, aɪ ʃəl bi: ðə wʌn tə smaɪl.' ənd

I think that when he sees us start on our trip next aɪ θɪŋk ðæt hwen hi: si:z ʌs stɑ:t ɔn auə tri:p nekst summer, you will have him as a pupil in the autumn, sʌmə, ju: wɪl hæv hɪm əz ə pju:pl ɪn ðɪ ɔ:təm,

Mr. Miller!"

mɪstə mɪlə!"

Mr. Miller was very glad to hear that his three pupils mɪstə mɪlə wəz veri glæd tə hiə ðæt hɪz θri: pju:plz felt that they would be able to learn enough. "I hope felt ðæt ðeɪ wʊd bi: eɪbl tə lə:n ɪ'nʌf. "aɪ haʊp you know that you must do much work before the ju: nəʊ ðæt ju: mʌst du: mʌtʃ wə:k bɪ'fɔ: ðə summer-holidays. When we make our plans and talk sʌmə'hɒlɪdɪz. hwen wi: meɪk auə plænz ənd tɔ:k about all the things that we are going to do, you will ə'baʊt ɔ:l ðə θɪŋz ðæt wi: ɑ: ɡəʊɪŋ tə du:, ju: wɪl learn many words that you are going to use on the lə:n meni wə:dz ðæt ju: ɑ: ɡəʊɪŋ tə ju:z ɔn ðə trip. So the more we talk about it, the better you tri:p. səʊ ðə mɔ: wi: tɔ:k ə'baʊt ɪt, ðə betə ju:

will be able to make yourselves understood on the trip wɪl bi: eɪbl tə meɪk ʃɔ:'selvz ʌndə'stʊd ɔn ðə tri:p itself," said Mr. Miller. "First we must decide when ɪt'self," seɪd mɪstə mɪlə. "fɜ:st wi: mʌst dɪ'saɪd hwen

I am the one to smile = I am he who can smile.

I am going to do something = I shall do something.

the ... the
The more we do,
the better it is.

upon = on manager

we want to go, and you three will have to decide how wi: wɒnt tə gou, and ju: ʔri: wil hæv tə di'said hau long we are going to stay in England. My holidays are lɔŋ wi: a: ɡoʊɪŋ tə steɪ ɪn ɪŋɡlənd. maɪ hɒlɪdɪz a: two months, and I can stay there the whole summer, tu: mʌnθs, and aɪ kæn steɪ ðeə ðə haʊl sʌmə, if I want to, so you must decide that part of it your-ɪf aɪ wɒnt tu, soʊ ju: mʌst di'said ðæt pɑ:t əv ɪt ʔɔ:- selves.”
'selvz.”

“That depends upon how long our holidays are,” said “ðæt di'pendz ə'pɒn hau lɔŋ ʌwə hɒlɪdɪz a:,” sed

Storm. “I have two weeks; how much have you?” he stɔ:m. “aɪ hæv tu: wi:ks; hau mʌtʃ hæv ju:?” hi:

asked the others. Brown also had two weeks, but Wood a:skt ði ʌðəz. braʊn ɔ:lsoʊ həd tu: wi:ks, bʌt wʊd said, “I don't know whether I shall have two weeks or sed, “aɪ daʊnt nəʊ hwedə aɪ ʃəl hæv tu: wi:ks ɔ:

not, for I have not worked a whole year for my new nɒt, fər aɪ hæv nɒt wə:kt ə haʊl jɪə fə maɪ nju:

firm, you know. It all depends upon the manager of fə:m, ju: nəʊ. ɪt ɔ:l di'pendz ə'pɒn ðə mænɪdʒər əv the firm. I will ask him whether I can have two ðə fə:m. aɪ wɪl ʌ:sk hɪm hwedə aɪ kæn hæv tu:

weeks, which I think he will give me when he hears wi:ks, hwɪtʃ aɪ ʔɪŋk hi: wɪl ɡɪv mi: hwɛn hi: hɪəz that we are planning to go to England. I will ask the ðæt wi: a: plænɪŋ tə ɡoʊ tu ɪŋɡlənd. aɪ wɪl ʌ:sk ðə manager to-morrow whether I can have that or not.”

mænɪdʒə tə'mɔrou hwedə ai kən hæv ðæt ɔ: nɒt.

“Good,” said Mr. Miller; “we know that we shall have “gud,” sed mɪstə mɪlə; “wi: nou ðæt wi: ʃəl hæv at least twelve days for the trip, and perhaps two weeks. at li:st twelv deɪz fə ðə trɪp, ənd pə'hæps tu: wi:ks.

Now we must decide on the time for the trip. As you nau wi: mʌst dɪ'saɪd ɔn ðə taɪm fə ðə trɪp. əz ju:

know, I have been to England at different times of the nou, ai hæv bi:n tu ɪŋɡlənd ət dɪfrənt taɪmz əv ðə year, so it is not difficult for me to tell you which of the jɪə, sɔu ɪt ɪz nɒt dɪfɪkəlt fə mi: tə tel ju: hwɪtʃ əv ðə different holiday months will be best. June is often dɪfrənt hɒlɪdi mʌnθs wɪl bi: best. dʒu:n ɪz ɔ:fn a lovely month in England, a very beautiful month, ə lʌvli mʌnθ ɪn ɪŋɡlənd, ə vɛrɪ bju:təfʊl mʌnθ, but you can never be sure that the weather will be bʌt ju: kən nevə bi: ʃʊə ðæt ðə wedə wɪl bi:

good. July is often a very dry month; it is the month
ɡʊd. dʒʊ'lɑɪ ɪz ɔ:fn ə vɛrɪ draɪ mʌnθ; ɪt ɪz ðə mʌnθ that has the least rain. I was there for four weeks ðæt hæz ðə li:st reɪn. aɪ wəz ðeə fə fɔ: wi:ks in July once and had only half an hour's rain, but then ɪn dʒʊ'lɑɪ wʌns ənd həd ɒnli hɑ:f ən aʊəz reɪn, bʌt ðen that was less rain than they had had for years in that ðæt wəz les reɪn ðən ðeɪ həd həd fə jɪəz ɪn ðæt month. I am sure that July would be the best month. mʌnθ. aɪ əm ʃʊə ðæt dʒʊ'lɑɪ wʊd bi: ðə best mʌnθ.

little less least

lovely = beautiful

rain

Chapter Twenty-Three (23).

He leaves, he left,
he has left [li:vz, left, left].

some
any?
not any

We shall see some
football.

Is there any football this week?

We shall not see any football.

In August it is too hot to be in London. The school in ɔ:gəst it iz tu: hɒt tə bi: in lʌndən. ðə sku:l

holidays are in August, and every one who is able to hə'lɪdɪz a: in ɔ:gəst, ənd evri wʌn hu: iz eɪbl tə leave London in August goes away. Many of my li:v lʌndən in ɔ:gəst ɡəʊz ə'weɪ.meni əv maɪ friends that I should like to see again will have left frendz ðæt aɪ ʃʊd laɪk tə si: ə'ɡeɪn wɪl hæv left London if we go there in that month."

lʌndən ɪf wi: ɡəʊ ðeə ɪn ðæt mʌnθ."

Brown: "I should like to see some English football. Do braʊn: "aɪ ʃʊd laɪk tə si: sʌm ɪŋɡlɪʃ fʊtbɔ:l. du:

you think there will be any football in July?" "No, ju: ɪŋk ðeə wɪl bi: enɪ fʊtbɔ:l ɪn dʒʊ'laɪ?" "nəʊ, you will not see any football if we go in July; the ju: wɪl nɒt si: enɪ fʊtbɔ:l ɪf wi: ɡəʊ ɪn dʒʊ'laɪ; ðə football season does not begin until September. Perhaps fʊtbɔ:l si:zn dʌz nɒt bɪ'ɡɪn ʌn'tɪl səp'tembə. pə'hæps you think it would be better to go in September, then?"

ju: ɪŋk ɪt wʊd bi: betə tə ɡəʊ ɪn səp'tembə, ðen?"

"What is the weather like in September?" "Oh, some"hwɒt ɪz ðə weðə laɪk ɪn səp'tembə?" "əʊ, sʌmtimes it is very good, but you can't be sure. There is taɪmz ɪt ɪz veri ɡʊd, bʌt ju: kɑ:n't bi: suə. ðeər ɪz often very much rain in September, and the evenings ɔ:fən veri mʌtʃ reɪn ɪn səp'tembə, ənd ðɪ i:vɪnɪŋz are so short." "Well, then I think that July will be a: səʊ ʃɔ:t." "wel, ðen aɪ ɪŋk ðæt dʒʊ'laɪ wɪl bi:

the best month. I don't want to go in September," ðə best mʌnθ. aɪ daʊnt wɒnt tə ɡoʊ ɪn səp'tembə, Brown said with a smile, "just to see football. I can braʊn sed wɪð ə smaɪl, "dʒʌst tə si: fʊtbɔ:l. aɪ kən see English football when the English football players si: ɪŋɡlɪʃ fʊtbɔ:l hwen ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ fʊtbɔ:l pleɪəz come to our country to play." "Well, have we decided kʌm tu əʊə kʌntri tə pleɪ." "wel, hæv wi: dɪ'saɪdɪd to go in July, then?" asked Mr. Miller. "Yes," Wood tə ɡoʊ ɪn dʒʊ'laɪ, ðen?" ɑ:skt mɪstə mɪlə. "jes," wʊd answered, "we can at least decide upon July as the ɑ:nsəd, "wi: kən ət li:st dɪ'saɪd ə'pɒn dʒʊ'laɪ əz ðə best month to go in; then it depends upon whether best mʌnθ tə ɡoʊ ɪn; ðen ɪt dɪ'pendz ə'pɒn hwedə we can all get our holidays in July. But let us leave wi: kən ɔ:l ɡet əʊə hɒlɪdɪz ɪn dʒʊ'laɪ. bʌt let ʌs li:v that question now. We can talk about that later; it ðæt kwestʃən naʊ. wi: kən tɔ:k ə'baut ðæt leɪtə; ɪt is difficult for our managers to decide now when we ɪz dɪfɪkəlt fɜr əʊə mænɪdʒəz tə dɪ'saɪd naʊ hwen wi:

are to have our holidays this year." ɑ: tə hæv əʊə hɒlɪdɪz ðɪs jɪə."

are to have=shall have

"Well, boys," said Mr. Miller, "before we leave, you
"wel, bɔɪz," sed mɪstə mɪlə, "bɪ'fɔ: wi: li:v, ju:

have got at least six months in which to learn the hæv ɡɒt ət li:st sɪks mʌnθs ɪn hwɪtʃ tə lɜ:n ðə different words that you will need on the trip. To-night dɪfrənt wɜ:dz ðæt ju: wɪl ni:d ɒn ðə trɪp. tə'naɪt

Let me see some books, please = be kind enough to let me see some books!

order = ask for

I will talk to you about what to say when you go ai wil tɔ:k tə ju: ə'baʊt hwət tə sei hwen ju: gou into a shop to buy something that you need. What intu ə ʃɒp tə bai sʌmpɪŋ ðət ju: ni:d. hwət do you say when you want to buy a book, Wood?" du: ju: sei hwen ju: wɒnt tə bai ə bu:k, wud?"

Wood: "I think I should say: I want to buy a book; let wud: "ai ɪŋk ai ʃʊd sei: ai wɒnt tə bai ə bu:k; let me look at some."

mi: lʊk ət sʌm."

Mr. Miller: "Yes, you could say that. But you could mɪstə mɪlə: "jes, ju: kud sei ðət. bʌt ju: kud have put in a word which the English use very much, həv put ɪn ə wɜ:d hwɪtʃ ðɪ ɪŋglɪʃ ju:z veri mʌtʃ, that is 'please'. Very often, you need only give the ðət ɪz 'pli:z'. veri ɔ:fən, ju: ni:d ɔʊnli gɪv ðə name of the thing you want and put the word 'please' neɪm əv ðə ɪŋ ju: wɒnt ʌnd put ðə wɜ:d 'pli:z' after it. That is enough. But don't forget the word ɑ:ftər ɪt. ðət ɪz ɪ'nʌf. bʌt daʊnt fə'get ðə wɜ:d

'please' when you want to ask for something. Now
'pli:z' hwen ju: wɒnt tu ɑ:sk fə sʌmpɪŋ. naʊ let me hear you buy cinema tickets for us, Brown!" let mi: hiə ju: bai sɪnɪmə tɪkɪts fə ʌs, braʊn!"

Brown: "Four tickets for eight o'clock, please!" braʊn: "fɔ: tɪkɪts fə eɪt ə'klɒk, pli:z!"

"Right! And will you call the waiter and order our
"raɪt! ʌnd wɪl ju: kɔ:l ðə weɪtə ʌnd ɔ:də ʌʊə dinner, Storm?" Storm: "Waiter! Four vegetable soups, dinə, stɔ:m?" stɔ:m: "weɪtə! fɔ: vedʒɪtəbl su:ps, please!"

pli:z!"

"Yes, that is right. I think you can do that now; it "jes, ðæt iz rait. ai ɪŋk ju: kən du: ðæt nau; it is not very difficult. We will also talk about how to iz nɒt veri difɪkəlt. wi: wil ɔ:lsoʊ tɔ:k ə'baʊt hau tə go to London. Part of the trip we shall go by water, gou tə lʌndən. pɑ:t əv ðə trɪp wi: ʃəl gou bai wɔ:tə, and part of the trip we shall go by land. When we ænd pɑ:t əv ðə trɪp wi: ʃəl gou bai lænd. hwen wi:

travel by land, we shall go in a train, and on the part trævl bai lænd, wi: ʃəl gou in ə treɪn, ənd ɒn ðə pɑ:t

of our trip when we travel by water, we shall go in əv əʊə trɪp hwen wi: trævl bai wɔ:tə, wi: ʃəl gou in a steamer. Did any of you ever travel by train?"

ə sti:mə. dɪd eni əv ju: evə trævl bai treɪn?"

"Oh yes, we have all done that," they answered.

"ou jes, wi: həv ɔ:l dʌn ðæt," ðeɪ a:nsəd.

"But I never travelled much by steamer," one of them

"bʌt ai nevə trævld mʌtʃ bai sti:mə," wʌn əv ðəm said. "I have only made very short trips of about

sed. "ai həv ounli meɪd veri ʃɔ:t trɪps əv ə'baʊt twenty minutes, so it will be the first time that I shall twenti mɪnɪts, soʊ ɪt wɪl bi: ðə fə:st taɪm ðæt ai ʃəl ever try a long trip by water."

evə traɪ ə lɒŋ trɪp bai wɔ:tə."

I travel, I travelled, I have travelled.

WORDS:

study (verb)
stay
start pupil going to decide depend whether firm
manager
plan plan (verb)
at least different lovely sure
less least
rain
every one leave left
any player
play difficult land travel train ever need upon
the ... the order
about

EXERCISE A.

Storm's brother will have to — at home when they — on their trip, because he cannot — English; and then Storm will be the — to smile. The three young men must — how long they are — to stay in England, because their teacher can stay the — summer, if he — to. Which of the — holiday months is the best to — London? July is the best month; it has the — rain, and people have not — London yet. If they go in August, Mr. Miller cannot be — that he will find — of his friends in London. What is the shortest way to say that you want to — socks, for example? The shortest way is to say, "A pair of socks, —!" In what way were the teacher and his three pupils going to — to England? They were going to travel part of the trip by — and part by —. Had the young men — travelled by steamer before? Yes, but one of them had — been on a trip of more than twenty minutes.

EXERCISE B.

What does Storm's brother do when Storm speaks about the trip? ... Why do the young men's families think that they will not be able to learn enough English before they start on the trip? ... Which will be the one to smile when they start on their trip, Storm or his brother? ... In which month did they decide to make the trip? ... Did Wood know whether he would get two weeks' holidays? ... Has Wood worked for the manager of his firm for a whole year yet? ... Can they be sure that the weather will be good in July? ... In which month do most people leave London for their holidays? ... Is there any football in England in July? ... Could the young men's managers decide at once when they could have their holidays? ...

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'how'.

How do we go in and out of houses? Answer ... Question ...? John sometimes goes through the window. How do we get from the ground floor to the second floor? Answer ... Question ...? The children walk to school. How did Mrs. Smith get her friend Daisy's letter? Answer ... Question ...? The children bought the chocolate at the chocolate-shop. How are the three young men and their teacher going to get to England? Answer ... Question ...? By land they are going to travel in a train. How did Storm know that Mr. Miller's son was awake? Answer ... Question ...? He knew that the best time to go was July, because he had visited England at different times of the year. How did Mr. Smith take the baby to the lake? Answer ... Question ...? Mr. Smith took the children to the restaurant in a taxi.

GETTING MONEY FOR THE TRIP

"Well, have you made any plans for our trip?" Mr.
"wel, hæv ju: meid eni plænz fər auə tri:p?" mistə

Miller asked the boys on their next English evening.
milə a:skt ðə bɔiz ɒn ðeə nekst ɪŋglɪʃ i:vniŋ.

"Oh yes, we have made many, and we have something "ou jes, wi: hæv meid meni, ənd wi: hæv sʌmʃiŋ good to tell you; Wood's manager will let him have ɡud tə tel ju:; wudz mænɪdʒə wil let him hæv two weeks' holidays this summer. We have been tu: wi:ks hɒlɪdɪz ðɪs sʌmə. wi: hæv bi:n thinking of how much the trip will cost, and we have piŋkiŋ əv hau mʌtʃ ðə tri:p wil kɒst, ənd wi: hæv also asked about the tickets. We know how much it ə:lsoʊ a:skt ə'baʊt ðə ti:kɪts. wi: nəʊ hau mʌtʃ ɪt will cost us to go to England and back, but we do not wil kɒst ʌs tə ɡəʊ tu ɪŋɡlənd ənd bæk, bʌt wi: du: nɒt know how much it will cost to stay for two weeks in nəʊ hau mʌtʃ ɪt wil kɒst tə steɪ fə tu: wi:ks ɪn England. Could you tell us about that, Mr. Miller?" ɪŋɡlənd. kʊd ju: tel ʌs ə'baʊt ðæt, mistə milə?"

"Yes, two weeks in London at a hotel that is both good "jes, tu: wi:ks ɪn lʌndən ət ə haʊ'tel ðæt ɪz bəʊp ɡʊd and cheap will cost about fifteen pounds for each. Have ənd tʃi:p wil kɒst ə'baʊt fi:f ti:n paʊndz fər i:tʃ. hæv you got so much money?"

ju: ɡɒt sou mʌtʃ mʌni?"

Wood: "Fifteen pounds! That is much. I haven't got wud: "fifti:n paundz! ðæt iz mʌtʃ. ai hævnɪt ɡɒt so much money." Brown: "I think we shall all have sou mʌtʃ mʌni." braun: "ai þɪŋk wi: ʃəl ɔ:l hæv to try to earn some extra money, for we have very tə traɪ tu ə:n sʌm ɛkstrə mʌni, fə wi: hæv veri little, I am afraid."

lɪtl, ai əm ə'freɪd."

Storm: "When I spoke to the manager at the office stɔ:m: "hæwen ai spəuk tə ðə mænɪdʒə ət ði ɔfɪs about our trip to London, he was very interested. He ə'baut əʊə trɪp tə lʌndən, hi: wəz veri ɪntrɪstɪd. hi:

said that the firm would be glad to have a young man sed ðæt ðə fə:m wud bi: ɡlæd tə hæv ə jʌŋ mæn in the office who knew something about the English ɪn ði ɔfɪs hu: nju: sʌmpɪŋ ə'baut ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ and England. He said that such a man would always ænd ɪŋɡlənd. hi: sed ðæt sʌtʃ ə mæn wud ɔ:lweɪz be of great use to a big firm, and he gave me to under-bi: əv ɡreɪt ju:s tu ə bɪɡ fə:m, ænd hi: ɡeɪv mi: tu ʌndəstand that the firm would give me some of the money

'stænd ðæt ðə fə:m wud ɡɪv mi: sʌm əv ðə mʌni for the trip. So I do not think that I shall need to fə ðə trɪp. sou ai du: nɒt þɪŋk ðæt ai ʃəl ni:d tu earn extra money for the trip."

ə:n ɛkstrə mʌni fə ðə trɪp." haven't = have not

office

The idea is used by the manager = the manager uses
the idea.

next to nothing = almost nothing

Brown: "It must be a fine thing to work for a firm like braun: "it mast bi: ə fain piŋ tə wə:k fər ə fə:m laik that. But I will tell you something about the book-shop ðæt. bʌt ai wil tel ju: sʌmpŋ ə'baʊt ðə bu:kʃɒp where I work. If one of us gets a good idea for the hwɛər ai wə:k. ɪf wʌn əv ʌs gets ə gud ai'diə fə ðə shop, and it is used by the manager, we are paid well ʃɒp, ənd it iz ju:zd baɪ ðə mænɪdʒə, wi: a: peɪd wel for it. And I have an idea! It is just the right time fər it. ənd ai hæv ən ai'diə! it iz dʒʌst ðə raɪt taɪm now to speak to him about it. I will tell you all about nəʊ tə spi:k tə hɪm ə'baʊt it. ai wil tel ju: ɔ:l ə'baʊt it; then you can tell me what you think of it. Perhaps ɪt; ðen ju: kən tel mi: hwɒt ju: piŋk əv it. pə'hæps you know that some book-shops have a library. There ju: nəʊ ðæt sʌm bu:kʃɒps hæv ə laɪbrəri. ðeər are many people who would like to read, but they a: meni pi:pl hu: wʊd laɪk tə ri:d, bʌt ðeɪ cannot afford to buy many books, because the prices kənɒt ə'fɔ:d tə baɪ meni buks, bi'kɔz ðə praɪsɪz are so high. But at a library, they can borrow books a: sɒʊ haɪ. bʌt ət ə laɪbrəri, ðeɪ kən bɔ:rəʊ buks for next to nothing, and after they have read the books, fə nekst tə nəʃɪŋ, ənd a:ftə ðeɪ hæv red ðə buks, they bring them back again. At the back of the shop ðeɪ brɪŋ ðəm bæk ə'geɪn. ət ðə bæk əv ðə ʃɒp we have a small extra room, which could be made into wi: hæv ə smɔ:l ɛkstrə ru:m, hwɪtʃ kʊd bi: meɪd ɪntu a library where people could read for a short time to a laibrəri hwɛə pi:pl kud ri:d fər ə ʃɔ:t taim tə see what books they want to borrow. In this way, si: hwɔt buks ðei wɔnt tə brəʊ. in ðis wei, many people who cannot afford to buy the books they meni pi:pl hu: kənɔt ə'fɔ:d tə baɪ ðə buks ðei would like to read, can get all the books they want wud laɪk tə ri:d, kən get ɔ:l ðə buks ðei wɔnt without paying very much, but we should get some wɪð'aʊt peɪɪŋ veri mʌʃ, bʌt wi: ʃʊd get sʌm money out of it. Besides, when people come in to ˌmʌni aʊt əv ɪt. bi'saɪdz, hwɛn pi:pl kʌm in tə borrow books, they would also see all the other things bɒrəʊ buks, ðei wud ɔ:lsoʊ si: ɔ:l ði ʌðə ɪŋz we have in the shop, so that perhaps we could sell wi: hæv in ðə ʃɒp, səʊ ðət pə'hæps wi: kud sel them some of these things, too. There are four other ðəm 'sʌm əv ði:z ɪŋz, tu:. ðɛər a: fɔ:r ʌðə book-shops in our street; but this idea has not been bʊkʃɒps in ʌʊə stri:t; bʌt ðɪs aɪ'diə həz nɒt bi:n tried by any of them. And it would be a good thing traɪd baɪ ɛni ɔv ðəm. ʌnd ɪt wud bi: ə gʊd ɪŋ for us to be the first shop to take it up."

fər ʌs tə bi: ðə fɜ:st ʃɒp tə teɪk ɪt ʌp."

Mr. Miller: "That is a very good idea! I am sure that mɪstə mɪlə: "ðæt ɪz ə veri gʊd aɪ'diə! aɪ əm suə ðət it will be a good thing for your shop. And you would ɪt wɪl bi: ə gʊd ɪŋ fə jɔ: ʃɒp. ʌnd ju: wud street

The idea has not been tried by them = they have not tried the idea.

Chapter Twenty-Four (24).

He sells, he sold, he has sold [selz, sould, sould].

sell more books, too, because people would learn to sel mɔ: buks, tu:, bi'kɔz pi:pl wud lə:n tə read good books, and that would bring more people to ri:d gud buks, ənd ðæt wud briŋ mɔ: pi:pl tə the shop to buy them."
ðə ʃɒp tə baɪ ðəm."

Brown: "Yes, and I would write letters to the people braʊn: "jes, 'ənd aɪ wud raɪt letəz tə ðə pi:pl who live in our part of the town to tell them about hu: liv in əʊə pɑ:t əv ðə taʊn tə tel ðəm ə'baʊt new books and to invite them to read books in this nju: buks ənd tu in'vaɪt ðəm tə ri:d buks in ðɪs cheap way. I will take this idea to the manager tʃi:p wei. aɪ wɪl teɪk ðɪs aɪ'dɪə tə ðə mænɪdʒə to-morrow. I am sure he will use the idea, and then tə'mɒrəʊ. aɪ əm suə hi: wɪl ju:z ðɪ aɪ'dɪə, ənd ðen I shall be able to afford the trip, because he always aɪ ʃəl bi: eɪbl tu ə'fɔ:d ðə tri:p, bi'kɔz hi: ɔ:lweɪz pays well. My manager is a man of modern ideas; peɪz wel. maɪ mænɪdʒər ɪz ə mæn əv mɒdən aɪ'dɪəz;

he is always looking for something new, and he is not hi: ɪz ɔ:lweɪz lʊkɪŋ fə səmʃɪŋ nju:, ənd hi: ɪz nɒt afraid to try something very modern if he thinks it ə'freɪd tə traɪ səmʃɪŋ veri mɒdən ɪf hi: ɪŋks ɪt will bring more business to the shop. I think that he wɪl briŋ mɔ: bɪznɪs tə ðə ʃɒp. aɪ ɪŋk ðæt hi:

is a very clever business man, the cleverest I know.
ɪz ə veri klevə bɪznɪs mæn, ðə klevərɪst aɪ naʊ.

He always knows the right thing to do to sell more.

hi: ɔ:lwəz nouz ðə rait þɪŋ tə du: tə sel mɔ:.

The managers of the other shops in our street are not ðə mænɪdʒəz əv ði ʌðə ʃɒps ɪn əʊə stri:t a: nɒt half so clever as he is, and when their shops are almost ha:f sou klevə əz hi: ɪz, ənd hwen ðeə ʃɒps a: ɔ:lmoust empty, our shop is almost full of customers, and we are empti, əʊə ʃɒp ɪz ɔ:lmoust ful əv kʌstəməz, ənd wi: a:

always busy all day. Sometimes we are so busy that ɔ:lwəz bɪzi ɔ:l dei. sʌmtaɪmz wi: a: sou bɪzi ðət we cannot find time to have our lunch, because there wi: kənɒt faɪnd taɪm tə hæv əʊə lʌnʃ, bi'kɔ:z ðeər are customers coming in all the time so that our shop a: kʌstəməz kʌmɪŋ ɪn ɔ:l ðə taɪm sou ðət əʊə ʃɒp is never empty. I hope I shall be just as clever a ɪz nevər empti. aɪ haʊp aɪ ʃəl bi: dʒʌst əz klevər ə business man when I get older, but I am afraid there bɪznɪs mæn hwen aɪ ɡet ouldə, bʌt aɪ əm ə'freɪd ðeər are many things for me to learn first."

a: meni þɪŋz fə mi: tə lə:n fə:st."

Mr. Miller: "It is a good thing to work for such a clever mɪstə mɪlə: "ɪt ɪz ə ɡʊd þɪŋ tə wə:k fə sʌʃ ə klevə business man, for you can learn much from him and bɪznɪs mæn, fə ju: kən lə:n mʌʃ frəm hɪm ənd get cleverer yourself. Well, how about you, Wood?

ɡet klevərə ʤɔ:'self. wel, haʊ ə'baʊt ju:, wʊd?

You have been so quiet all the evening. What is ju: hæv bi:n sou kwaɪət ɔ:l ði i:vɪnɪŋ. hwɒt ɪz customers = people who want to buy something in a shop

wrong?" Wood: "I have been thinking that perhaps rɔŋ?" wud: "ai hæv bi:n þiŋkiŋ ðæt pə'hæps

I shall have to stay at home. There is no way for me ai ʃəl hæv tə stei æt haʊm. ðeər iz nou wei fə mi:

to earn extra money at our office, and, besides, there tu æ:n ekstrə mʌni æt auər ɔfis, ænd, bi'saidz, ðeər is so much work to do there, that it would be diffiiz sou mʌtʃ wə:k tə du: ðeə, ðæt it wud bi: difi-cult for me to take any other work in the evenings.

kʌlt fə mi: tə teik eni ʌðə wə:k ɪn ði i:vniŋz.

I don't know how to get the money. I don't like to ai daʊnt nou hau tə get ðə mʌni. ai daʊnt laik tə borrow it, because my salary is not very high, and it bɔrou it, bi'kɔz mai sæləri iz nɒt veri hai, ænd it would be difficult for me when the money had to be wud bi: difikʌlt fə mi: hwen ðə mʌni hæd tə bi:

paid back. I think my salary is too low for all the peid bæk. ai þiŋk mai sæləri iz tu: lou fər ɔ:l ðə work I do."

wə:k ai du:."

Brown: "Why don't you ask your manager for a rise braʊn: "hwaɪ daʊnt ju: ɑ:sk jɔ: mænɪdʒə fər ə raɪz of salary, then?" "Oh, I couldn't do that. I haven't əv sæləri, ðen?" "əʊ, ai kʊdn̩t du: ðæt. ai hævnt been there for a year yet, and, besides, I have just bi:n ðeə fər ə jɪə jət, ænd, bi'saidz, ai hæv dʒʌst asked him for longer holidays." Brown: "You can at ɑ:skt him fə lɔŋgə hɒlɪdɪz." braʊn: "ju: kæn æt least try. If you cannot earn the money you need in li:st trai. if ju: kænɔt ə:n ðə mʌni ju: ni:d in some other way, you must try. Go to him to-morrow sʌm ʌðə wei, ju: mʌst trai. ɡoʊ tə him tə'mɔrəʊ and ask for a rise; tell him how much work you do, and ænd ə:sk fəʀ ə raiz; tel him haʊ mʌtʃ wə:k ju: du:, ænd what you are going to spend the money on." Wood:

hwɔt ju: ə: ɡoʊɪŋ tə spend ðə mʌni ɔn." wʊd:

to spend money = to pay out money

"Well, I don't like to ask for a rise, but I will try. If "wel, ai daʊnt laɪk tu ə:sk fəʀ ə raiz, bʌt ai wɪl trai. if I can't earn a higher salary, I don't see where I shall ai kɑ:nt ə:n ə haɪə sələri, ai daʊnt si: hwɛər ai ʃəl get the money from. I am not full of ideas like Brown; get ðə mʌni frɒm. ai əm nɔt fʊl əv aɪ'diəz laɪk braʊn;

my head is empty."
maɪ hed ɪz ɛmti."

Mr. Miller: "Don't let us talk any more of it to-night.
mɪstə mɪlə: "daʊnt let ʌs tɔ:k ɛni mɔ:r əv ɪt tə'naɪt.

It is getting late now, I am afraid, and, besides, my wife ɪt ɪz ɡetɪŋ leɪt naʊ, ai əm ə'freɪd, ænd, bɪ'saɪdz, maɪ waɪf is already waiting with the coffee. Next time we shall ɪz ɔ:l'reɪdi weɪtɪŋ wɪð ðə kɔfi. nekst taɪm wi: ʃəl know whether you will be able to afford to go or not, naʊ hwedə ju: wɪl bi: eɪbl tu ə'fɔ:d tə ɡoʊ ɔ: nɔt, and then we will speak more about our plans."

ænd ðen wi: wɪl spi:k mɔ:r ə'baut ʌwə plænz."

Mrs. Miller: "Please come and have coffee. A cup of mɪsɪz mɪlə: "pli:z kʌm ænd hæv kɔfi. ə kʌp əv hot coffee will do you good, now that you have to go hɔt kɔfi wil du: ju: gud, nau ðæt ju: hæv tə gou out into the cold night." "Yes, thank you very much," aut intə ðə kould nait." "jes, þæŋk ju: veri mʌtʃ," the young men answered.

ðə jʌŋ men ɑ:nsəd.

Brown: "Hot coffee is a very good thing on a cold braun: "hɔt kɔfi iz ə veri gud þɪŋ ɔn ə kould night, and we should all like very much to speak English nait, and wi: ʃud ɔ:l laɪk veri mʌtʃ tə spi:k ɪŋglɪʃ with you for a few minutes, Mrs. Miller. We know from wɪð ju: fər ə fju: minɪts, mɪsɪz mɪlə. wi: nou frəm your husband that you speak English well, and that jɔ: hʌzbænd ðæt ju: spi:k ɪŋglɪʃ wel, and ðæt you like that language as much as we do." Mrs. Miller: ju: laɪk ðæt læŋgwɪdʒ əz mʌtʃ əz wi: du:." mɪsɪz mɪlə:

"Yes, my husband and I like English so well that we "jes, maɪ hʌzbænd and aɪ laɪk ɪŋglɪʃ sou wel ðæt wi:

often use it when we are alone together." ɔ:fn ju:z ɪt hwen wi: ɑ: ə'loun tə'geðə."

EXERCISE A.

WORDS:

earn extra office
 use
 library

The three friends would try to — some extra money.
 Many people like to read, but they cannot — to buy all the books which they want to —. So they borrow the books in a —, where they can get them for — — nothing. There were five book-shops in the — where Brown's — had his shop, and Brown thought that he was the — business man he knew. Mr. Miller thought that Brown's new idea would bring more — to the shop. Did they have many — in the shop? Yes, sometimes the shop was so — of customers that they had no time to have their —. Did Wood have a high —? No, but he would try to ask for a — of salary the next day. Why was he not glad to ask for a —? Because he had just asked the manager for longer —.

afford borrow sell sold
street
afraid business clever business man empty full customer busy
get salary besides rise
by

EXERCISE B.

What did Mr. Miller ask the young men on the next English evening? ... How much would it cost for each to stay two weeks in London? ... How would they get the money? ... Was Storm's manager interested in his trip to England? ... Why would Storm not need to earn extra money for the trip? ... What would Brown do to earn some extra money? ... Where could Brown's manager have his library? ... What would Brown do to let people know about the library? ... Why would it be difficult for Wood to take any other work in the evenings? ... Did he think that his salary was high enough? ... What did Brown tell him to do to get more money? ...

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'when'.

When is summer? Answer ... Question ...? Winter is in the months of December, January, and February. When are John and Helen at school? Answer ... Question ...? Mr. Smith is at his office from nine till five. When will John be fourteen years old? Answer ... Question ...? Helen will be thirteen years old in three years. When do the Smith family have their summer-holidays? Answer ... Question ...? In London the school holidays are in August. When did the three young men begin their study of English? Answer ... Question ...? John began to go to school seven years ago. When did Mr. Smith take his children to the cinema? Answer ... Question ...? Mr. Smith took his children out for a walk to the lake when the weather was fine. When are you going to England? Answer ... Question ...? I am going to town to-morrow. When did Mrs. Smith come home from the birthday party? Answer ... Question ...? George came home very late from the lake.

GOOD NEWS

"You look very happy to-night, boys," said Mr. Miller

"ju: luk veri hæpi tə'naɪt, bɔɪz," sed mɪstə mɪlə a few evenings later when they were together again;

ə fju: iːvniŋz leɪtə hwen ðei wə: tə'geðər ə'geɪn;

"you must have something good to tell me." "Yes,

"ju: mast hæv sʌmθɪŋ gud tə tel miː." "jes,

I, at least, have good news," Storm answered; "my ai, ət liːst, hæv gud njuːz," stɔ:m aːnsəd; "mai manager said yesterday that he would pay the whole mænɪdʒə sed jɛstədi ðæt hi: wud peɪ ðə haʊl trip for me. Isn't that good news? I had hoped that he trɪp fɔː miː. ɪznt ðæt gud njuːz? ai həd haʊpt ðæt hi:

would pay part of it; but it is very kind of him to wud peɪ pɑ:t əv ɪt; bʌt ɪt ɪz veri kaɪnd əv hɪm tə pay all of it, I think."

peɪ ɔ:l əv ɪt, ai ɪŋk."

"And I have good news, too," said Brown. "My manager

"ænd ai hæv gud njuːz, tuː," sed braʊn. "mai mænɪdʒə thought that my idea about the library was very good.

θɔ:t ðæt mai aɪ'diə ə'baut ðə laɪbrəri wəz veri gud.

I am going to begin to work at it at once. I am going ai əm ɡoʊɪŋ tə bɪ'ɡɪn tə wɜ:k æt ɪt ət wʌns. ai əm ɡoʊɪŋ to write all the letters myself and make all the plans, tə raɪt ɔ:l ðə letəz maɪ'self ænd meɪk ɔ:l ðə plænz.

He shows, he showed, he has shown [ʃəʊz, ʃəʊd, ʃəʊn].

I think of going = I think to go too, so it is a good chance for me to show what I can do.

tu:, sou it iz ə gud tʃɑ:ns fə mi: tə ʃəʊ hɔwt aɪ kən du:.

It is the first time I have had such a chance, and it is it iz ðə fə:st taim aɪ hæv həd sʌtʃ ə tʃɑ:ns, ənd it iz a very good chance for a young man like myself; so ə veri gud tʃɑ:ns fər ə jʌŋ mæn laɪk maɪ'self; sou you will understand that I am happy. I showed him ju: wɪl ʌndə'stænd ðæt aɪ əm hæpi. aɪ ʃəʊd him some of the letters I had written, and he said they səm əv ðə letəz aɪ həd rɪtn, ənd hi: sed ðei were very good. And now I come to the best part of wə: veri gud. ənd naʊ aɪ kʌm tə ðə best pɑ:t əv my news. The manager is so sure that the idea is good maɪ nju:z. ðə mænɪdʒər iz sou ʃʊə ðæt ði aɪ'diə iz gud that he is going to give me a month's extra pay. Is that ðæt hi: iz ɡəʊɪŋ tə ɡɪv mi: ə mʌnθs ɛkstrə peɪ. iz ðæt good news or not, I ask you?"

ɡud nju:z ɔ: nɒt, aɪ ɑ:sk ju:?"

Mr. Miller: "Yes, that is very good news. And even mɪstə mɪlə: "jes, ðæt iz veri gud nju:z. ənd i:vən Wood looks happy to-night."

wʊd lʊks hæpi tə'naɪt."

Wood: "Yes, I have some good news, too. You know wʊd: "jes, aɪ hæv sʌm gud nju:z, tu:. ju: nəʊ

I didn't like to ask for a rise, and yesterday I was aɪ dɪdn't laɪk tu ɑ:sk fər ə raɪz, ənd jɛstədi aɪ wəz thinking all day of going to my manager, but I hadn't pɪŋkɪŋ ɔ:l ðei əv ɡəʊɪŋ tə maɪ mænɪdʒə, bʌt aɪ hədn't the courage; I was afraid of asking him. Once I tried ðə kʌrɪdʒ; ai wəz ə'freɪd əv ɑːskiŋ him. wʌnz ai traɪd afraid of asking = afraid to ask

to take courage and had even got as far as the door, tə teɪk kʌrɪdʒ ənd həd iːvən ɡɒt əz fɑːr əz ðə dɔː, when the manager called one of the young ladies into hwɛn ðə mænɪdʒə kɔːld wʌn əv ðə jʌŋ leɪdɪz ɪntə his office, and I had to wait again. But later in the hɪz ɒfɪs, ənd ai həd tə weɪt ə'geɪn. bʌt leɪtər ɪn ðə day he called me in, as there was something he wanted deɪ hiː kɔːld miː ɪn, əz ðeə wəz smʌŋθɪŋ hiː wɒntɪd to speak to me about. He had been watching my work tə spiːk tə miː ə'baut. hiː həd biːn wɒtʃɪŋ maɪ wəːk to watch = to look at

for some time, he said, to see how I did it. He had fə sʌm taɪm, hiː sed, tə siː haʊ ai dɪd ɪt. hiː həd been watching that of some of the others, too, and biːn wɒtʃɪŋ ðæt əv sʌm əv ðɪ ʌðəz, tuː, ənd that of some of the others = the work of some of the others

although I was a new man there, he thought that I ɔːl'dʌu ai wəz ə njuː mæn ðeə, hiː þɔːt ðæt ai did my work best. I am going to work for him as his dɪd maɪ wəːk best. ai əm ɡoʊɪŋ tə wəːk fə him əz hɪz secretary, because, he said, he was getting older now, sekrətəri, bɪ'kɔːz, hiː sed, hiː wəz ɡetɪŋ ouldə naʊ, and he needed a young man to remember all the things ənd hiː niːdɪd ə jʌŋ mæn tə rɪ'membə ɔːl ðə θɪŋz that he forgot himself. 'I need a man,' he said, 'with ðæt hiː fə'ɡɒt hɪm'self. 'aɪ niːd ə mæn,' hiː sed, 'wɪð a good head, who can look after all the small things in ə ɡʊd hed, huː kən lʊk ɑːftər ɔːl ðə smɔːl θɪŋz ɪn

He becomes, he became, he has become [bi'kʌmz, bi'keim, bi'kʌm].

a rich man = a man with much money the office, so that there will be no need for me to ði ɔfis, sou ðæt ðeə wil bi: nou ni:d fə mi: tə think of them, a man who can write my letters, and þɪŋk əv ðəm, ə mæn hu: kæn rait mai letəz, ənd who is not afraid of a little extra work now and then. hu: ɪz nɒt ə'freɪd əv ə lɪtl ɛkstrə wə:k nau ənd ðen.

And you are not afraid of that, I know. How would ənd ju: a: nɒt ə'freɪd əv ðæt, ai nou. hau wʊd you like to become my secretary?' 'I should like ju: laɪk tə bi'kʌm mai sekətri?' 'ai şud laɪk nothing better,' I answered. 'Well, I shall be glad to nʌþɪŋ betə,' ai a:nsəd. 'wel, ai şəl bi: glæd tə have you do this work — oh, and I almost forgot to hæv ju: du: ðɪs wə:k — ou, ənd ai ɔ:lmʌst fə'gɒt tə tell you, that now you have become my secretary you tel ju:, ðæt nau ju: hæv bi'kʌm mai sekətri ju:

will become a rich man, too,' he said, smiling. 'From wil bi'kʌm ə rɪʃ mæn, tu:, 'hi: sed, smailɪŋ. 'frəm the first of next month you will get a rise. You will ðə fə:st əv nekst mʌnθ ju: wil get ə raɪz. ju: wil need the money for your trip, I think.' I thanked him, ni:d ðə mʌni fə jɔ: trɪp, ai þɪŋk.' ai þæŋkt him, but I did not tell him that I had been trying all the bʌt ai dɪd nɒt tel him ðæt ai həd bi:n traɪɪŋ ɔ:l ðə morning to work up courage enough to ask for a mɔ:nɪŋ tə wə:k ʌp kʌrɪdʒ ɪ'nʌf tu a:sk fər ə

rise."

raɪz."

Mr. Miller: "I 'could see that you all had good news, mistə milə: "ai kud si: ðæt ju: ɔ:l hæd gud nju:z.

although I didn't think it would be as good as this.
ɔ:l'dou ai didnt þɪŋk it wud bi: əz gud əz ðis.

Now, when can you have your holidays?" nau, hwen kən ju: hæv jɔ: hɒlɪdɪz?"

Storm: "I can have mine when I want them. Shall stɔ:m: "ai kən hæv maɪn hwen ai wɒnt ðəm. ʃəl we try to make the trip during the first fortnight of wi: traɪ tə meɪk ðə trɪp dʒuəriŋ ðə fə:st fɔ:tnaɪt əv a fortnight = two weeks

July? How does that time suit you?" dʒu'lai? hau dʌz ðæt taɪm sju:t ju:?"

Mr. Miller: "It suits me well enough, but the question mistə milə: "ɪt sju:ts mi: wel ɪ'nʌf, bʌt ðə kwestʃən is not so much how it suits me, as how it suits Brown ɪz nɒt səʊ mʌtʃ hau ɪt sju:ts mi:, əz hau ɪt sju:ts braʊn and Wood, because my holidays are longer than theirs.

ænd wud, bɪ'kɔ:z maɪ hɒlɪdɪz a: lɒŋgə ðən ðeəz.

mine
yours
his hers ours
yours
theirs

When do you think you can have yours, Wood?" "That hwen du: ju: þɪŋk ju: kən hæv jɔ:z, wud?" "ðæt time suits me very well. July is a quiet month at taɪm sju:ts mi: veri wel. dʒu'lai ɪz ə kwaɪət mʌnθ ət our office. Most of the people with whom we do aʊər ɒfɪs. maʊst əv ðə pi:pl wið hu:m wi: du:

business are away on their holidays, so we also have bɪznɪs a:r ə'wei ɔn ðeə hɒlɪdɪz, səʊ wi: ɔ:lsəʊ hæv

It is my book =
the book is mine.
It is your book =
the book is yours.
It is his book =
the book is his.
It is her book =
the book is hers.
It is our book =
the book is ours.
It is your book =
the book is yours.
It is their book =
the book is theirs.

ours in July. How about yours, Brown?" "I am aʊəz ɪn dʒu'lai. hau ə'baʊt jɔ:z, braʊn?" "aɪ əm

Chapter Twenty-Five (25).

easy = not difficult

who whom whose

The men who do business are business men.

The man whom you saw at my office is a business man.

The men with whom we do business are also business men.

The business man whose shop I work in is very clever.

afraid it is not going to be easy for me to have mine ə'freɪd ɪt ɪz nɒt ɡoʊɪŋ tə bi: i:zi fə mi: tə hæv maɪn in July, because I had half of July last year. But I ɪn dʒuˈlaɪ, biˈkɒz aɪ hæd hɑ:f əv dʒuˈlaɪ lɑ:st jɪə. bʌt aɪ will try to speak to some of the others at the shop wɪl traɪ tə spi:k tə sʌm əv ði ʌðəz ət ðə ʃɒp to-morrow. There are two whom I will ask to exchange tə'mɒrəʊ. ðeər a: tu: hu:m aɪ wɪl ɑ:sk tu ɪks'tʃeɪndʒ holidays with me. There is a young man whose hə'lɪdɪz wɪð mi:. ðeər ɪz ə jʌŋ mæn hu:z holidays are in July this year. I will ask him to hə'lɪdɪz ɑ:r ɪn dʒuˈlaɪ ðɪs jɪə. aɪ wɪl ɑ:sk hɪm tu exchange holidays with me, so that he can have mine, ɪks'tʃeɪndʒ hə'lɪdɪz wɪð mi:, səʊ ðæt hi: kən hæv maɪn, and I can have his. If his holidays are during the last ænd aɪ kən hæv hɪz. ɪf hɪz hə'lɪdɪz ɑ: dʒuəriŋ ðə lɑ:st fortnight of July, I can ask one of the young ladies, fɔ:tnaɪt əv dʒuˈlaɪ, aɪ kən ɑ:sk wʌn əv ðə jʌŋ leɪdɪz, whose holidays are during the first part of the month, hu:z hə'lɪdɪz ɑ: dʒuəriŋ ðə fə:st pɑ:t əv ðə mʌnθ, to exchange hers for mine. We often exchange our tu ɪks'tʃeɪndʒ hə:z fə maɪn. wi: ɔ:fn ɪks'tʃeɪndʒ ʌs holidays at the shop, when it suits us better that way, hə'lɪdɪz ət ðə ʃɒp, hwen ɪt sju:ts ʌs betə ðæt wei, won't = will not so I hope it won't be too difficult." Mr. Miller: "Well, səʊ aɪ hoʊp ɪt wəʊnt bi: tu: dɪfɪkəlt." mɪstə mɪlə: "wel, that is decided, then."

ðæt ɪz dɪ'saɪdɪd, ðen."

Some days later, Brown was able to bring the good sam deiz leitə, braun wəs eibl tə brinj ðə gud news that the young lady whose holidays were during nju:s ðət ðə jʌŋ leidi hu:s holidiz wə: dʒuəriŋ the first fortnight of July, was willing to exchange ðə fə:st fɔ:tnaɪt əv dʒu'laɪ, wəs wiliŋ tu ɪks'tʃeɪndʒ holidays with him, although his were a whole month holidiz wið him, ɔ:lðəu hɪz wə:r ə haʊl mʌnθ later. It had even been very easy to get her to do so, leitə. ɪt həd i:vən bi:n veri i:zi tə get hɜ: tə du: sɒ, because the time suited her plans much better.

bɪ'kɔ:z ðə taɪm sju:tɪd hɜ: plænz mʌtʃ betə.

Now that they knew they would have enough money, nau ðət ðeɪ nju: ðeɪ wʊd hæv i'nʌf mʌni, and that they would be able to take their holidays at ænd ðət ðeɪ wʊd bi: eibl tə teɪk ðeə holidiz ət one and the same time, the young men became still wʌn ænd ðə seɪm taɪm, ðə jʌŋ men bɪ'keɪm stɪl more interested in their studies. Every time they had mɔ:r ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ðeə stʌdiz. evri taɪm ðeɪ həd a chance of being together during the next month, they ə tʃɑ:ns əv bi:ɪŋ tə'geðə dʒuəriŋ ðə nekst mʌnθ, ðeɪ talked about their coming trip. Mr. Miller told them tɔ:kt ə'baʊt ðeə kʌmɪŋ trɪp. mɪstə mɪlə təʊld ðəm about the things he had seen in England, and they ə'baʊt ðə ʃɪŋz hi: həd si:n ɪn ɪŋɡlənd, ænd ðeɪ read about England in books and newspapers. Some-red ə'baʊt ɪŋɡlənd ɪn buks ænd nju:speɪpəz. sʌm-is willing to = is glad to a chance of being together =

a chance to be together

paper = newspaper

times they even bought the English newspaper 'The taimz ðei i:vən bɔ:t ði ɪŋglɪʃ nju:speɪpə 'ðə Times' and tried to read it; but that was not easy for taimz' ənd traɪd tə ri:d ɪt; bʌt ðæt wəz nɒt i:zi fɔ: them; although they could understand something, most ðəm; ɔ:l'ðəu ðei kʊd ʌndə'stænd sʌmθɪŋ, mʌst of it was too difficult, and Mr. Miller often had to əv ɪt wəz tu: dɪfɪkəlt, ənd mɪstə mɪlə ɔ:fən həd tu explain it to them in words that they knew. ɪks'pleɪn ɪt tə ðəm ɪn wə:dz ðæt ðei nju:.

Brown often bought the extra paper about books and braʊn ɔ:fən bɔ:t ði ɛkstrə peɪpər ə'baut buks ənd the men who write them, which 'The Times' brings ðə men hu: raɪt ðəm, hwiʃ 'ðə taimz' brɪŋz out every week. He could understand enough of the aʊt evri wi:k. hi: kʊd ʌndə'stænd ɪ'nʌf əv ðə language to be able to get many ideas for his library, læŋgwɪdʒ tə bi: eɪbl tə get mæni aɪ'diəz fə hɪz laɪbrəri, so that his manager began to think that he must be sʊ ðæt hɪz mænɪdʒə bɪ'ɡæn tə θɪŋk ðæt hi: mʌst bi:
 a very clever man who had studied much about modern ə veri klevə mæn hu: həd stʌdɪd mʌʃ ə'baut mɒdən books.
 buks.

Brown also tried to get Storm and Wood interested in braʊn ɔ:lsəʊ traɪd tə get stɔ:m ənd wʊd ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn this extra paper, but Wood was too busy with his new ðɪs ɛkstrə peɪpər, bʌt wʊd wəz tu: bɪzi wɪð hɪz nju:

work, and Storm was too much of a business man to be wə:k, and stɔ:m wəz tu: mʌtʃ əv ə biznis mæn tə bi: interested in "all these dry old books", as he called intristid in "ɔ:l ði:s drai ould buks", əz hi: kɔ:ld them. They never used a word of any language but
ðəm. ðei nevə ju:zd ə wəd əv ɛni læŋgwidʒ bʌt English when they were together. This was a very ɪŋglɪʃ hwen ðei wə: tə'geðə. ðis wəz ə vɛri good thing, and when the month of July came at ɡud þɪŋ, and hwen ðə mʌnθ əv dʒu'lai keɪm ət last, the young men had become very good at English la:st, ðə jʌŋ men həd bi'kʌm vɛri ɡud ət ɪŋglɪʃ and were able to say almost everything. and wɔ:r eɪbl tə sei ɔ:lmoʊst evriþɪŋ.

EXERCISE A.

The good — that Storm brought was that his manager was — to pay the whole trip for him. Brown had never before had a — to work at any idea of his own in the shop. When he had — his manager the letters which he had —, the manager said that they were — good.
 Wood was going to work for his — as his —, because the manager — a young man to — after things for him.
 The people with — Wood's office does — are away in July. Was it — for Brown to have his holidays in July?
 No, it was very — for him to have his — in July. Were there any persons at the shop — holidays were — the first fortnight of July? Yes, there was a young lady, and she was — to exchange holidays with Brown.

WORDS:

news chance
 show showed shown even courage watch (verb)
 although secretary become became fortnight suit (verb)
 whom

whose during so newspaper
mine
yours
hers
ours
theirs
need easy willing a few rich exchange

EXERCISE B.

Why did all the boys look happy? ... Had Wood taken courage to ask for a rise? ... Why was Brown's manager going to give him a month's extra pay? ... How did Wood's manager know that Wood was the best man to have as his secretary? ... When was Storm going to have his holidays, and when was Brown going to have his? ... Whose holidays were during the first fortnight of July, the young man's or the young lady's? ... With whom did Brown exchange holidays? ... During which month is it best to go to England? ... Where did the three young men read about England? ...

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'why'.

Why is it best to go to England in July? Answer ... Question ...? Because you cannot be sure that the weather will be good in June. Why are the young men going to England? Answer ... Question ...? Mrs. Miller and the child are going to a farm in the country, because the child is too young to go for a trip to England. Why was Wood happy? Answer ... Question ...? John's mother was afraid to let him go out on the ice, because it was too thin. Why did Daisy have a party? Answer ... Question ...? Mr. Smith and the children had dinner in town, because they had not been invited to the party. Why had the young men begun to study English? Answer ... Question ...? Wood's manager had watched his work to see how he did it. Why will

Mr. Miller get a new pupil next winter? Answer ...
Question ...? They will have to do much work so that they can speak English well enough when they go to England. Why would they like to visit the British Museum when they get to England? Answer ...
Question ...? Mr. Miller would like to go to England in July, because if he goes in August, most of his friends will have left London. Why would Mr. Smith's brother not go with Mr. Smith and the children to the lake?
Answer ... Question ...? Mr. Smith will not give John a watch yet, because he is too young.

THE TRIP BEGINS

at length = at last luggage

finish = come to the end of railway

station

along with = together with

At length the day has come when the teacher and his at lenθ ðə dei hɜz kɑm hwɛn ðə ti:tʃər ənd hi:z three pupils start on their trip to England. The time θri: pju:plz stɑ:t ɔn ðeə tri:p tu ɪŋɡlənd. ðə taɪm has gone too slowly for them, but at length the day hɜz ɡɔn tu: sləuli fɔ: ðəm, bʌt ət lenθ ðə dei has come. Brown has been packing his luggage all hɜz kɑm. braʊn hɜz bi:n pækɪŋ hi:z lʌɡɪdʒ ɔ:l

the morning, but now his mother comes into his room, ðə mʌ:nɪŋ, bʌt naʊ hi:z mʌðə kʌmz ɪntə hi:z ru:m, saying, "You must finish packing your luggage at once.

seɪɪŋ, "ju: mʌst fɪnɪʃ pækɪŋ jɔ: lʌɡɪdʒ ət wʌns.

You will have to be at the railway station in half an ju: wɪl hæv tə bi: ət ðə reɪlweɪ steɪʃən ɪn hʌf ən hour."

aʊə."

Brown: "I am ready to go, but I think I shall have to braʊn: "aɪ əm redi tə ɡəʊ, bʌt aɪ θɪŋk aɪ ʃəl hæv tə take a taxi to the station, or I shall be late for my train."

teɪk ə tæksi tə ðə steɪʃən, ɔ:r aɪ ʃəl bi: leɪt fə maɪ treɪn."

"Shall I come along with you to the station, or would
"ʃəl aɪ kʌm ə'lɔŋ wɪð ju: tə ðə steɪʃən, ɔ: wʊd you rather go alone?" Brown: "I would rather have ju: rə:ðə ɡəʊ ə'ləʊn?" braʊn: "aɪ wʊd rə:ðə hæv you along with me. But we must ask the driver to ju: ə'ləŋ wið mi:. bət wi: məst ə'sk ðə draɪvə tə go fast. We have only twenty-five minutes now, and gou fa:st. wi: həv ounli twenti'faɪv minits nau, and if he drives too slowly, I shall be late for my train." if hi: draɪvz tu: slouli, ai ʃəl bi: leɪt fə maɪ treɪn."

Five minutes later they were on their way to the faɪv minits leɪtə ðei wə:r ɔn ðeə wei tə ðə railway station in a taxi. Brown was nervous. "It is reɪlweɪ steɪʃən ɪn ə'tæksi. braʊn wəz nə:vəs. "ɪt ɪz too slow, driver, can't you drive a little faster?" he said tu: slou, draɪvə, kɑ:nt ju: draɪv ə lɪtl fa:stə?" hi: sed nervously. "All right, I will try," the driver answered.

nə:vəsli. "ɔ:l raɪt, ai wɪl traɪ," ðə draɪvər ə:nsəd.

When they arrived at the station, the three others were hwen ðei ə'raɪvd ət ðə steɪʃən, ðə ʒri: əðəz wə:r already there, waiting. "Oh, there you are, Brown, ɔ:l'redi ðeə, weɪtɪŋ. "əʊ, ðeə ju: a:, braʊn, we were a little nervous; we were afraid that you would wi: wə:r ə lɪtl nə:vəs; wi: wə:r ə'freɪd ðæt ju: wʊd be late. We arrived here ten minutes ago. Now let us bi: leɪt. wi: ə'raɪvd hiə ten minits ə'gou. nau let əs go to the train."

gou tə ðə treɪn."

They were the last people to enter the train. "Good-bye, ðei wə: ðə la:st pi:pl tu ɛntə ðə treɪn. "'gʊd'baɪ, mother," said Brown, kissing his mother on the mouth; məðə," sed braʊn, kɪsɪŋ hɪz məðər ɔn ðə maʊθ:

He drives, he drove, he has driven [draɪvz, draʊv, draɪvən].

slow
slowly

A slow driver.

The driver is slow.

The driver drives slowly.

nervous
nervously

The nervous boy dropped his book on the floor.

The boy is nervous.

"I cannot do it," said the boy nervously.

enter = go into kissing his mother = and kissed his mother

"now I am leaving you and our good old country for "nau ai əm li:vɪŋ ju: ənd auə gud ould kʌntri fə two weeks." "Good-bye, my boy, I hope you will have tu: wi:ks." "gud'bai, mai bɔi, ai haʊp ju: wɪl hæʊ a good time in England."
ə gud taɪm ɪn ɪŋɡlənd."

Wood's sister had also come along with her brother to wudz sistə həd ɔ:lsoʊ kʌm ə'lɔŋ wɪð hə: brʌðə tə the station, and when she kissed him good-bye, she ðə steɪʃən, ənd hwen ʃi: kɪst hɪm gud'bai, ʃi: asked him to buy something for her in England. When ɑ:skt hɪm tə baɪ sʌmθɪŋ fɔ: hə: ɪn ɪŋɡlənd. hwen the train was leaving the station, the three young men ðə treɪn wəz li:vɪŋ ðə steɪʃən, ðə ʃri: ʒəŋ men shouted a hurrah as loud as they could. "I never knew ʃaʊtɪd ə hu'ra: əz laʊd əz ðeɪ kʊd. "ai nevə nju: you could shout as loud as that," Mr. Miller said ju: kʊd ʃaʊt əz laʊd əz ðæt," mɪstə mɪlə sed smilingly.
smaɪlɪŋli.

smiling
 smilingly

We saw the men's smiling faces.

The men were smiling.

Themensaid goodbye smilingly.

He sings, he sang,
 he has sung [sɪŋz, sæŋ, sʌŋ].

Brown: "Well, I never knew, myself. But now that braʊn: "wɛl, ai nevə nju:, maɪ'self. bʌt nau ðæt we have started on our trip, let us sing a song. Wood wɪ: həv stɑ:tɪd ɔn auə trɪp, let ʌs sɪŋ ə sɔŋ. wʊd has a very good voice for singing, and he knows so hæz ə veri gud vɔɪs fə sɪŋɪŋ, ənd hi: nəʊz soʊ many songs." Wood: "Do you know the song of meni sɔŋz." wʊd: "du: ju: nəʊ ðə sɔŋ əv

'The Emperor Napoleon and his ten thousand men'?
'ðɪ ɛmpərə nə'pəʊljən ənd hɪz ten ʔaʊzənd men'?

Let us try that."
let ʌs traɪ ðæt."

For the next ten minutes they were singing English fə ðə nekst ten mɪnɪts ðeɪ wə: sɪŋɪŋ ɪŋɡlɪʃ songs at the top of their voices, so loud that almost sɔŋz ət ðə tɒp əv ðeə vɔɪsɪz, sʊ laʊd ðæt ɔ:lmoʊst everybody in the carriage could hear them. Then, evrɪbɒdi ɪn ðə kærɪdʒ kʊd hɪə ðəm. ðen.

after some time, they began talking together. The ɑ:f tə sʌm taɪm, ðeɪ bɪ'ɡæn tɔ:kɪŋ tə'ɡedə. ðə train in which they were travelling was a very fast treɪn ɪn hwɪtʃ ðeɪ wə: trævəlɪŋ wəz ə veri fɑ:st one with modern carriages. wʌn wɪð mɒdən kærɪdʒɪz.

Mr. Miller: "We are going at a very high speed now, mɪstə mɪlə: "wi: ɑ: ɡəʊɪŋ ət ə veri haɪ spi:d naʊ,

I should think seventy miles (a hundred and ten aɪ ʃʊd ʔɪŋk seɪvntɪ maɪlz (ə haʊdrəd ənd ten kilometres) an hour. At this speed we shall soon be kɪləmi:təz) ən aʊə. ət ðɪs spi:d wi: ʃəl su:n bi:

very far from home." Brown: "Have you got a ciga-veri fɑ: frəm haʊm." braʊn: "həv ju: ɡɒt ə sɪɡərette, Storm? I should like to smoke one now." Storm:

'ret, stɔ:m? aɪ ʃʊd laɪk tə sməʊk wʌn naʊ." stɔ:m:

"Yes, here are some cigarettes, but I have no matches.
"jes, hɪə ɑ: sʌm sɪɡə'rets, bʌt aɪ həv nəu mætʃɪz.

emperor

at the top of their voices = in as loud voices as they could everybody = every one began talking = began to talk carriage

1 mile = 1.61 kilometres soon = in a very short time match

Have you got a match, Mr. Miller?" Mr. Miller: "Yes, hæv ju: gɒt ə mætʃ, mɪstə mɪlə?" mɪstə mɪlə: "jes,

I have got matches, and I have also got tobacco, if you ai hæv gɒt mætʃɪz, ænd ai hæv ɔ:lsoʊ gɒt tə'bækou, if ju:

would rather smoke a pipe than cigarettes. I think a wʊd rə:ðə smouk ə paɪp ðən sɪgə'rets. ai ɪŋk ə pipe of good tobacco is better than cigarettes or cigars.

paɪp əv ɡʊd tə'bækou ɪz betə ðən sɪgə'rets ɔ: sɪ'gɑ:z.

And here are to-day's newspapers if you have not read ænd hɪə a: tə'deɪz nju:speɪpəz if ju: hæv nɒt red them yet. I think they will be the last newspapers we ðəm jet. ai ɪŋk ðeɪ wɪl bi: ðə la:st nju:speɪpəz wi:

shall read in our own language for the next fortnight. ʃəl ri:d ɪn ʌwə ʊn læŋɡwɪdʒ fə ðə nekst fɔ:tnaɪt.

To-morrow you must try to read a little in the English tə'mɒrəʊ ju: mʌst traɪ tə ri:d ə lɪtl ɪn ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ newspapers. I don't think you will be able to under-nju:speɪpəz. ai daʊnt ɪŋk ju: wɪl bi: eɪbl tu ʌndəstand much of them to begin with, but it will be good 'stænd mʌtʃ əv ðəm tə bɪ'ɡɪn wɪð, bʌt ɪt wɪl bi: ɡʊd for you to read them together every day, and I will fɔ: ju: tə ri:d ðəm tə'geðə evri deɪ, ænd ai wɪl explain the many new and difficult words to you." ɪks'pleɪn ðə meni nju: ænd dɪfɪkəlt wə:dz tə ju:."

Storm (looking out of the window): "How fine the stɔ:m (lʊkɪŋ ʌʊt əv ðə wɪndəʊ): "haʊ faɪn ðə weather is now! When I got up this morning, there wedəz ɪz naʊ! hwen ai gɒt ʌp ðɪs mɔ:nɪŋ, ðeə were many clouds in the sky, and I thought we were wə: meni klaudz in ðə skai, ənd ai þɔ:t wi: wə: going to have rain, but now the sun is shining, and the ɡoʊɪŋ tə hæv rein, bət nau ðə sʌn ɪz ʃaɪnɪŋ, ənd ðə sky is blue again, without any clouds.” skai ɪz blu. ə'geɪn, wið'aʊt eni klaudz.”

Mr. Miller: “I hope we shall have dry weather as long mɪstə mɪlə: “aɪ hoʊp wi: ʃəl hæv draɪ weðər əz lɔŋ as we are in England. But we cannot be sure. It very əz wi: a:r ɪn ɪŋɡlənd. bət wi: kənət bi: ʃʊə. ɪt veri often rains over there, and in winter they sometimes ɔ:fən reɪnz oʊvə ðeə, ənd ɪn wɪntə ðeɪ sʌmtaɪmz have fogs. Sometimes when you walk in the streets hæv fɔgz. sʌmtaɪmz hwen ju: wɔ:k ɪn ðə stri:t

of London, there is such a fog that you cannot see your əv lʌndən, ðeər ɪz sʌtʃ ə fɔɡ ðət ju: kənət si: ʃɔ:

hand before you. And a London fog is not white or hænd bɪ'fɔ: ju:. ənd ə lʌndən fɔɡ ɪz nɒt hwaɪt ɔ:

grey like the fogs in our own country, but dirty yellow.” ɡreɪ laɪk ðə fɔgz ɪn ʌʊər ʌn kʌntri, bət dɜ:ti ʒeləʊ.”

Storm: “What does yellow mean?” Mr. Miller: “Yellow stɔ:m: “hwɒt dʌz ʒeləʊ mi:n?” mɪstə mɪlə: “ʒeləʊ is the colour of butter, for example.” ɪz ðə kʌlər əv bʌtə, fər ɪɡ'zɑ:mpl.”

Storm: “Hurrah, in ten minutes we shall be on board stɔ:m: “hʊ'rɑ:, ɪn ten mɪnɪts wi: ʃəl bi: ɒn bɔ:d the steamer for England. I can see the water now.” ðə sti:mə fər ɪŋɡlənd. aɪ kən si: ðə wɔ:tə nau.”

It shines, it shone, it has shone [ʃaɪnz, ʃɔn, ʃɒn].

Brown: "Well, that is good. I hope we can get a good braun: "wel, ðæt iz gud. ai houþ wi: kən get ə gud lunch on board the steamer, for I am very hungry."

lʌnf ɔn bɔ:d ðə sti:mə, fər ai əm veri haŋgri."

All the others: "And so am I!" Mr. Miller: "Then let ɔ:l ði ʌðəz: "ənd sou əm ai!" mistə milə: "ðen let us have our lunch as soon as we get on board."

ʌs hæv ʌʊə lʌnf əz su:n əz wi: get ɔn bɔ:d."

EXERCISE A.

When Brown had — his luggage, his mother asked him whether he wanted her to come — with him, or whether he would — go alone. Brown asked the — to drive —, because he would be late for his train if the driver — too —. Before Brown — the train, he said good-bye to his mother and — her on the mouth. In the train they — a hurrah and sang so — that almost everybody in the carriage could — them. The train went at a high —, 70 — an hour. When the sun is —, the — is blue, but when it is raining, the sky is full of —. The train in which they were travelling was a very — one with modern —. Mr. Miller would — smoke a — than —. Brown wanted to —, but he had no —. Mr. Miller explained to them that the fog in London is not white or grey, but dirty —. They decided to have lunch as — as they got on board the steamer.

EXERCISE B.

What was Brown doing just before he started on the trip? ... How did Brown and his mother get to the rail-

WORDS:

at length pack finish luggage
 railway
 station
 rather driver drive drove driven fast
 slow
 nervous
 arrive

way station? ... Did the driver drive fast enough? ... Why was Brown nervous? ... Did Brown arrive in time? ... What did Wood's sister say when she kissed him good-bye? ... How loud did they sing in the train? ... What song did they sing? ... What did Mr. Miller smoke? ... What was the weather like when Storm got up that morning? ... Where does the rain come from? ... What is the colour of the London fog? ...

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'who', 'whom', or 'whose'.

Who is John? Answer ... Question ...? The farmer is Mr. Smith's brother. Who took the children to the cinema? Answer ... Question ...? Mrs. Smith's friend Daisy gave the birthday party. Whom did Mr. Smith give a watch? Answer ... Question ...? Aunt Jane gave John and Helen the shilling. Whom did Mr. Smith ask to go with him to the lake? Answer ... Question ...? In the picture 'Wee Willie Winkie' they saw Shirley Temple. From whom did Mrs. Smith get a letter? Answer ... Question ...? Mrs. Smith got the twelve pounds from her husband. With whom are the young men going to England? Answer ... Question ...? Brown had exchanged holidays with one of the young ladies at the shop. Whose sister had come along to the station? Answer ... Question ...? Brown's manager paid him a month's extra salary. Whose were the cigarettes that Brown smoked? Answer ... Question ...? It was in Mr. Miller's house that they came together to study English.

be late enter shout hurrah loud
sing sang sung song voice emperor kilometre speed
soon cigarette smoke
match
tobacco pipe cigar cloud sky
shine shone rain (verb)
fog yellow on board kiss everybody along carriage
get up
so
mile

ON BOARD THE STEAMER

As soon as our three young friends and their teacher əz su:n əz auə pri: jʌŋ frendz ənd. ðəə ti:tʃə had got on board the steamer which was to take them həd gɒt ɒn bɔ:d ðə sti:mə hwɪtʃ wəz tə teɪk ðəm to England, they went down to their cabin with their tu ɪŋɡlənd, ðei wɛnt daʊn tə ðəə kæbɪn wɪð ðəə luggage. They had got a cabin for four in the third ˈlʌɡɪdʒ. ðei həd gɒt ə kæbɪn fɔː fɔː ɪn ðə þɜːd class, so that they were going to have it all to themkla:s, sɔʊ ðæt ðei wə: ɡoʊɪŋ tə hæv ɪt ɔ:l tə ðəmselves. When they came up on deck again, they went to ˈselvz. hwɛn ðei keɪm ʌp ɒn dek əˈɡeɪn, ðei wɛnt tə look at people waving their handkerchiefs and shouting lʊk ət pi:pl weɪvɪŋ ðəə hæŋkətʃɪfz ənd ʃaʊtɪŋ good-bye to their friends. Storm: "Now the steamer ɡʊdˈbaɪ tə ðəə frendz. stɔ:m: "naʊ ðə sti:mə has begun to sail."

həz bɪˈɡʌn tə seɪl."

Mr. Miller: "The weather is not so fine; there is a strong mɪstə mɪlə: "ðə weðə ɪz nɒt sɔʊ faɪn; ðə ɪz ə strɒŋ wind blowing now. It is strong enough to blow our wɪnd bləʊɪŋ naʊ. ɪt ɪz strɒŋ ɪˈnʌf tə bləʊ auə hats into the water, so I think we should go down before hæts ɪntə ðə wɔ:tə, sɔʊ aɪ θɪŋk wi: ʃʊd ɡəʊ daʊn bɪˈfɔːr waving their handkerchiefs =

who were waving their
handkerchiefs

It blows, it blew, it has blown [blouz, blu:, bloun].

it is too late, and have our lunch with a cup of strong it iz tu: leit, and hæv auə lʌnf wið ə kʌp əv strɔŋ tea. With such a strong wind blowing, it is very possible ti: wið sʌf ə strɔŋ wi:nd blouɪŋ, it iz veri pɒsəbl that we shall be seasick before we get to England. And ðæt wi: ʃəl bi: si:sɪk bɪ'fɔ: wi: get tu ɪŋɡlənd. and from other trips I have made by steamer, I know that fɾəm ʌðə trips ai hæv meɪd baɪ sti:mə, ai nou ðæt it is better to have eaten something and had something it iz betə tə hæv i:tn sʌmʃɪŋ and hæd sʌmʃɪŋ to drink before the seasickness begins.” tə driŋk bɪ'fɔ: ðə si:sɪknɪs bɪ'ɡɪnz.”

Storm: “I do not think it is possible for me to get stɔ:m: “ai du: nɒt ʃɪŋk it iz pɒsəbl fə mi: tə get seasick. I have been on the sea many times, and I never si:sɪk. ai hæv bi:n ɒn ðə si: meni taɪmz, and ai nevə was seasick, so I do not think I shall get seasick this wɒz si:sɪk, sou ai du: nɒt ʃɪŋk ai ʃəl get si:sɪk ðɪs time. But I must say that the wind is very strong, taɪm. bʌt ai mʌst sei ðæt ðə wi:nd iz veri strɔŋ, and the waves of the sea are very big.”

and ðə weɪvz əv ðə si: a: veri bɪɡ.”

Wood: “Oh, that is nothing to speak of. Wait until wu:d: “ou, ðæt iz nəθɪŋ tə spi:k əv. weɪt ʌn'tɪl we get farther out to sea, then you are going to see wi: get fɑ:ðər aʊt tə si:, ðen ju: a: ɡəʊɪŋ tə si:

waves.”
weɪvz.”

with such a strong wind blowing = when such a strong wind is blowing

It is possible =
it can be done.

far farther
farthest

When they came down, they sat down at a table and hwen ðei keim daun, ðei sæt daun æt ə teibl ənd began to eat. Brown: "Which is the most important bi'gæn tu i:t. braun: "hwiʃ iz ðə moust im'pɔ:tənt route for Europeans to England, Mr. Miller?" Mr. ru:t fə juərə'pi:ənz tu iŋglənd, mistə milə?" mistə Miller: "It is difficult to say which is the most important.

milə: "it iz difikəlt tə sei hwiʃ iz ðə moust im'pɔ:tənt.

There are many different routes, and I have tried ðeər a: meni difrənt ru:ts, ənd ai hæv traɪd several of them. I think the three most important are:

sevrəl əv ðəm. ai θɪŋk ðə θri: moust im'pɔ:tənt a: :

Esbjerg-Harwich, The Hook of Holland-Harwich, and ezbjə:g-hæridʒ, ðə huk əv hɔlənd-hæridʒ, ənd Calais-Dover. The Esbjerg-Harwich route is used kælei-douvə. ði ezbjə:g-hæridʒ ru:t iz ju:zd especially by travellers coming from the north of is'peʃəli baɪ trævələz kʌmɪŋ frəm ðə nɔ:θ əv

Europe. It is a very long route. Travellers coming juərəp. it iz ə veri lɔŋ ru:t. trævələz kʌmɪŋ from Central Europe, from Germany, for example, go frəm sentrəl juərəp, frəm dʒə:məni, fər ig'zɑ:mpl, ɡoʊ via The Hook of Holland-Harwich. The shortest one vaɪə ðə huk əv hɔlənd-hæridʒ. ðə ʃɔ:tɪst wʌn is the Calais-Dover route. It does not take more than iz ðə kælei-douvə ru:t. it dʌz nɒt teɪk mɔ: ðən an hour and a quarter to get to England by that route.

ən aʊər ənd ə kwɔ:tə tə get tu iŋglənd baɪ ðæt ru:t.

via = by the route of

Perhaps you think that there is no time to get seasick pə'hæps ju: ɪŋk ðæt ðeər ɪz nou taim tə get si:sɪk on that route, but the trip is sometimes an hour and ɒn ðæt ru:t, bʌt ðə trɪp ɪz sʌmtaɪmz ən aʊər ənd a quarter too long when the wind is blowing hard.

ə kwɔ:tə tu: lɔŋ hwen ðə wɪnd ɪz bləʊɪŋ hɑ:d.

Especially travellers from the south of Europe go ɪs'peʃəli trævələz frəm ðə saʊθ əv jʊərəp gou via Calais-Dover. Then there are several other routes, vaɪə kəleɪ-dʊvə. ðen ðeər a: severəl ʌðə ru:ts, but they are not so much used as these three.”

bʌt ðeɪ a: nɒt sou mʌtʃ ju:zd əz ði:z ˈpri:.”

While they were eating and talking, the steamer got hwaɪl ðeɪ wə:r ɪ:tɪŋ ənd tɔ:kiŋ, ðə sti:mə gɒt far out from land, and here the wind was blowing fɑ:r aʊt frəm lænd, ənd hɪə ðə wɪnd wəz bləʊɪŋ harder than before they began to sail. People began hɑ:də ðən bɪ'fɔ: ðeɪ bɪ'gæn tə seɪl. pi:pl bɪ'gæn to leave their tables to go to their cabins. Their faces tə li:v ðeə teɪblz tə gou tə ðeə kæbɪnz. ðeə feɪsɪz were very pale. Storm's and Wood's faces looked wə: veri peɪl. stɔ:mz ənd wudz feɪsɪz lʊkt especially pale; they were almost white. “You look ɪs'peʃəli peɪl; ðeɪ wə:r ɔ:lmoʊst hwaɪt. “ju: lʊk a little pale,” said Mr. Miller; “wouldn't it be better ə lɪtl peɪl,” sed mɪstə mɪlə; “wʊdnt ɪt bi: betə for you to go up on deck to get some fresh air?”

fɔ: ju: tə gou ʌp ɒn dek tə get sʌm freʃ eə?”

while they were eating = during the time they were eating

quickly = fast

It is impossible =
it cannot be done.
impossible = not possible

Storm: "Yes, I think some fresh air would do me good.
stɔ:m: "jes, ai þɪŋk sʌm freʃ ə wʊd du: mi: gud.

The air is very hot down here, isn't it?" Wood: "I think ði ɛər ɪz veri hɒt daʊn hɪə, ɪznt ɪt?" wʊd: "ai þɪŋk

I will go out into the air with you. I like fresh air ai wɪl ɡoʊ aʊt ɪntə ði ɛə wɪð ju:. ai laɪk freʃ əə when I have been in a hot room for some time." They hæʊən ai hæʊ bi:n ɪn ə hɒt ru:m fə sʌm taɪm." ðeɪ went up on deck very quickly. went ʌp ɒn dek veri kwɪkli.

It is twenty minutes before the steamer gets to England.
ɪt ɪz twenti mɪnɪts bɪ'fɔ: ðə sti:mə gets tu ɪŋɡlənd.

The teacher and his three pupils are now all on ðə ti:tʃər ænd hɪz þri: pju:plz a: naʊ ɔ:l ɒn the deck of the steamer, looking at the land which ðə dek æv ðə sti:mə, lʊkɪŋ æt ðə lænd hwiʃ they can see.

ðeɪ kən si:.

Storm: "I thought it impossible for me to get seasick.
stɔ:m: "ai þɔ:t ɪt ɪm'pɒsəbl fə mi: tə get si:sɪk.

I was not very well when the wind was blowing its ai wəz nɒt veri wel hwen ðə wɪnd wəz bləʊɪŋ ɪts hardest and the waves were so big, but now I am all hɑ:dɪst ænd ðə weɪvz wə: səʊ bɪɡ, bʌt naʊ ai əm ɔ:l right again." Brown, smiling: "Nothing is impossible raɪt ə'ɡeɪn." braʊn, smaɪlɪŋ: "nʌθɪŋ ɪz ɪm'pɒsəbl in this world."

ɪn ðɪs wɜ:ld."

Mr. Miller: "Now we shall be in England in a short mistə milə: "nau wi: ʃəl bi: in ɪŋlənd in ə ʃɔ:t time. Before we arrive I want to talk to you about taɪm. bi'fɔ: wi: ə'raɪv ai wɒnt tə tɔ:k tə ju: ə'baut something important. I have a good friend in London. səm'piŋ ɪm'pɔ:tənt. ai hæv ə gud frend in lɒndən.

When I go to England, I always bring a box of fifty (50) hwen ai ɡəʊ tu ɪŋlənd, ai ɔ:lweɪz briŋ ə bɒks əv fɪfti cigars along for him." Wood: "Why don't you buy si'ɡa:z ə'lɔŋ fɔ: him." wud: "hwaɪ daʊnt ju: baɪ the box of cigars in London?" Mr. Miller: "Because ðə bɒks əv si'ɡa:z in lɒndən?" mistə milə: "bi'kɔz cigars are very expensive in England. You can get si'ɡa:z a: veri ɪks'pensɪv in ɪŋlənd. ju: kən ɡet a cigar for a shilling, but then it is not very good;

ə si'ɡa: fər ə ʃɪlɪŋ, bʌt ðen ɪz nɒt veri gud;

if you want a good cigar you have to pay two shillings.
ɪf ju: wɒnt ə gud si'ɡa: ju: hæv tə peɪ tu: ʃɪlɪŋz.

Now, a person must not take more than twenty-five (25) nau, ə pɜ:sən mʌst nɒt teɪk mɔ: ðən twenti'faɪv cigars with him through the Customs into England. si'ɡa:z wɪð him θru: ðə kʌstəmz ɪntu ɪŋlənd.

If you want to take more with you, you must pay duty ɪf ju: wɒnt tə teɪk mɔ: wɪð ju:, ju: mʌst peɪ dʒu:ti on them. There is a high duty on tobacco in England, ɒn ðəm. ðeər ɪz ə haɪ dʒu:ti ɒn tə'bækəʊ in ɪŋlənd, so even cigars from our country would be too expensive səʊ i:vən si'ɡa:z frəm ʌr kʌntri wʊd bi: tu: ɪks'pensɪv box

expensive = dear

one [wʌn]
two [tu:]
three [θri:]
four [fɔ:]
five [faɪv]
six [sɪks]
seven [sevn]
eight [eɪt]
nine [naɪn]
ten [ten] eleven [ɪ'levn]
twelve [twelv]
thirteen [θɜ:'ti:n] fourteen [fɔ:'ti:n] fifteen [fɪf'ti:n] sixteen [sɪks'ti:n] seventeen [sevn'ti:n]

Chapter Twenty-Seven (27).

eighteen ['ei'ti:n] nineteen ['nain'ti:n]
 twenty [twenti] thirty [θə:ti]
 forty [fɔ:ti]
 fifty [fifti]
 sixty [siksti] seventy [sevnti] eighty [eiti] ninety [nainti]
 a hundred [ə haʊdrəd]
 a thousand [ə haʊzənd]
 a million [ə miljən]

if I had to pay duty on them in England. This time if ai hæd tə pei dju:ti ɔn ðəm in ɪŋɡlənd. ðis taɪm

I have brought seventy-five (75) cigars along; fifty of ai hæv brɔ:t sevnti'faɪv si'ga:z ə'lɔŋ; fifti ɔv them are for my friend, and twenty-five are for myself, ðəm a: fə mai frend, ənd twenti'faɪv a: fə mai'self, for the two weeks we are going to stay in England.

 fə ðə tu: wi:kz wi: a: ɡoʊɪŋ tə steɪ ɪn ɪŋɡlənd.

Now I will give each of you twenty cigars to take naʊ ai wɪl ɡɪv i:tʃ əv ju: twenti si'ga:z tə teɪk through the Customs. I know you have brought no θru: ðə kʌstəmz. ai nəʊ ju: hæv brɔ:t nəʊ cigars yourselves, as you only smoke cigarettes." si'ga:z jɔ: 'selvz, əz ju: ɔnli sməʊk sigə'rets."

Wood: "I am not sure what is meant by the words duty wʊd: "ai əm nɒt ʃʊə hwət ɪz ment baɪ ðə wə:dz dju:ti and Customs." Mr. Miller: "When you want to take ənd kʌstəmz." mɪstə mɪlə: "hwən ju: wənt tə teɪk things like cigars or silk stockings into a foreign θɪŋz laɪk si'ga:z ɔ: sɪlk stɒkɪŋz ɪntu ə fɔrɪn country, you have to pay some money before they will kəntri, ju: hæv tə pei sʌm mʌni bɪ'fɔ: ðeɪ wɪl let you take them with you. That is called to pay duty. let ju: teɪk ðəm wɪð ju:. ðæt ɪz kɔ:ld tə peɪ dju:ti.

The place or the office where the duty is paid by the ðə pleɪs ɔ: ði ɔfɪs hwɛə ðə dju:ti ɪz peɪd baɪ ðə travellers is called the custom-house. You will undertrævələz ɪz kɔ:ld ðə kʌstəmhaʊs. ju: wɪl ʌndəstand that you cannot get into a foreign country without 'stænd ðæt ju: kənɒt get intu ə fɔːrɪn kʌntri wɪð'aʊt going through a custom-house or 'going through the ɡoʊɪŋ θru: ə kʌstəmhaʊs ɔ: 'ɡoʊɪŋ θru: ðə

Customs' as it is called. That is easy to understand, kʌstəmz' əz ɪt ɪz kɔːld. ðæt ɪz iːzi tu ʌndə'stænd, isn't it?" Wood: "Oh yes, now I see what the words ɪznt ɪt?" wʊd: "əʊ jɛs, naʊ aɪ si: hwət ðə wɜːdz mean."

mi:n."

EXERCISE A.

When people get on board a steamer, they first go down to their — with their —. Then they go up on — again to — good-bye with their handkerchiefs to their friends. At sea there is often a strong — blowing. When the wind is blowing —, many people get —. It is best to have eaten something before the — begins.

There are three — routes to England. — from the — of Europe especially go via Esbjerg-Harwich. Most — from the — of Europe go by the Calais-Dover —. When Storm got seasick, his face — very —. He said that he needed some —. When travellers arrive in England, they have to go through the —. They must pay — on cigars if they have more than twenty-five each. Why did Mr. Miller want to take a — of cigars

WORDS:

cabin
deck wave (verb)
sail wind blow blew blown strong hard possible
impossible seasick seasickness
sea

wave farther
farthest
route important especially traveller central via south pale fresh air quickly
box
Customs
custom-house
duty
expensive seventy-five class while Holland

with him into England? Because cigars are very — in England. When do people get —? When the wind is — hard. Was it — for Storm to — seasick? Yes, it was, although he had thought it was —. Which is the shortest — to England? The route — Calais-Dover is the shortest.

EXERCISE B.

Was the weather fine when our four travellers started to sail for England? ... Why did they want to have their lunch at once? ... Why did Storm think that it was impossible for him to get seasick? ... How long does it take to go to England via the Calais-Dover route? ... Was the wind blowing harder on land than farther out at sea? ... How was it possible to tell that the wind was blowing harder farther out at sea? ... By what travellers is the Esbjerg-Harwich route especially used? ... Did Mr. Miller know all the different routes to England? ... What is understood by paying duty? ... Did Mr. Miller have to pay duty on the cigars he had brought along with him to England? ...

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'what'.

What is white? Answer ... Question ...? The colour of a leaf is green. What is the name of the Smith boy? Answer ... Question ...? Mr. Smith's brother is a farmer. What day is Friday? Answer ... Question ...? Sunday is a holiday. What time is it now?

Answer ... Question ...? It was ten minutes past three when I came. What did George's parents buy for him? Answer ... Question ...? They gave him a pair of skates for Christmas. What stockings did Mrs. Smith give Daisy on her birthday? Answer ... Question ...? We have pears, apples, and berries in our gardens. What do children write with at school? Answer ... Question ...? We get butter from cream. What do people drink wine from? Answer ... Question ...? Knives are used for cutting meat.

IN THE TRAIN TO LONDON

Mr. Miller and the three friends were going ashore mistə milə ənd ðə ʔri: frendz wə: ɡəʊɪŋ ə'ʃɔ:

from the steamer. Just before the travellers left the fɹəm ðə sti:mə. dʒʌst bɪ'fɔ: ðə trəvləz left ðə a great many = very many porter

to each other = one to the other steamer, a great many porters came on board to take sti:mə, ə greit meni ʔɔ:təz keim ɔn bɔ:d tə teik the travellers' luggage ashore. Some of them were ðə trəvləz lʌɡɪdʒ ə'ʃɔ:. sʌm əv ðəm wə:

speaking together.

spi:kɪŋ tə'geðə.

Brown: "I heard the porters talk English to each braʊn: "aɪ hæ:d ðə ʔɔ:təz tɔ:k ɪŋɡlɪʃ tu i:tʃ other; I wonder why I did not understand a word of ʌðə; aɪ wʌndə hwaɪ aɪ dɪd nɒt ʌndə'stænd ə wɔ:d əv what they said." Mr. Miller: "I don't wonder. It hwɒt ðeɪ sed." mistə milə: "aɪ daʊnt wʌndə. ɪt would have been a wonder if you had understood what wʊd həv bi:n ə wʌndə ɪf ju: həd ʌndə'stʊd hwɒt they said. I can tell you that these porters are not ðeɪ sed. aɪ kən tel ju: ðæt ði:z ʔɔ:təz a: nɒt bad = not good very good at speaking English. Their English is bad; veri ɡʊd ət spi:kɪŋ ɪŋɡlɪʃ. ðeər ɪŋɡlɪʃ ɪz bæd; that is why you did not understand them. An ðæt ɪz hwaɪ ju: dɪd nɒt ʌndə'stænd ðəm. ən Englishman who speaks his language well, you would inglismən hu: spi:ks hiz læŋgwidʒ wel, ju: wud understand better."

ʌndə'stænd betə."

Brown: "Are you still feeling bad, Wood? You look braun: "a: ju: stil fi:liŋ bæd, wud? ju: luk a little pale still. I think that the very best thing for a litl peil stil. ai þiŋk ðæt ðə veri best þiŋ fə you to do would be to sleep a little in the train."

ju: tə du: wud bi: tə sli:p ə litl in ðə trein."

Wood: "No, I am already feeling much better." wud: "nou, ai əm ɔ:l'redi fi:liŋ mʌtʃ betə."

They were all glad to get ashore from the steamer.
ðei wə:r ɔ:l glæd tə get əʃɔ: frəm ðə sti:mə.

Brown asked Mr. Miller what they would have to do braun a:skt mistə milə hwɒt ðei wud hæv tə du:

now, and he answered that first they would have to nau, and hi: a:nsəd ðæt fə:st ðei wud hæv tə go to the custom-house to get their luggage through gou tə ðə kʌstəmhaus tə get ðeə lʌɡidʒ pru:

the Customs. When they got to the custom-house, they ðə kʌstəmz. hwen ðei gɒt tə ðə kʌstəmhaus, ðei were asked, "Have you anything to declare?" and at wə:r a:skt, "hæv ju: eniþiŋ tə di'kleə?" and ət the same time they were shown a list of things on ðə seim taim ðei wə: ʃəʊn ə list əv þiŋz ɔn which duty must be paid. Brown: "Mr. Miller, what hwɪtʃ dju:ti mʌst bi: peɪd. braun: "mistə milə, hwɒt very good much better very best

The boy is very good at speaking English.

His brother is much better at it.

Their father is the very best at it.

He may, he might [mei, mait].

We are through =
we have finished.

passport = a piece of paper or a small book that shows who you are does the word 'declare' mean?" Mr. Miller: "It means dʌz ðə wə:d 'di'kleə' mi:n?" mistə milə: "it mi:nz to tell whether you have anything to pay duty on, and tə tel hweðə ju: hæv eniθiŋ tə pei dʒu:ti ɒn, ənd on that piece of paper is a list of all the things on which ɒn ðæt pi:s əv peipə iz ə list əv ɔ:l ðə θiŋz ɒn hwɪtʃ duty must be paid." All four: "We have nothing to dʒu:ti mʌst bi: peɪd." ɔ:l fɔ:: "wi: hæv nʌθiŋ tə declare." "All right, then you may go through."

di'kleə." "ɔ:l rait, ðen ju: mei gou þru:."

When they came out, Mr. Miller said, "We are not hwen ðei keɪm aʊt, mistə milə sed, "wi: a: nɒt through yet; now we must go to the passport office. If þru: yet; naʊ wi: mʌst gou tə ðə pɑ:spɔ:t ɔfis. if they find our passports all right there, we may go on ðei faɪnd aʊə pɑ:spɔ:ts ɔ:l rait ðeə, wi: mei gou ɒn into England." As soon as they entered the office, a intu ɪŋɡlənd." əz su:n əz ðei entəd ði ɔfis, ə man took their passports and looked at them. Then he mæn tuk ðeə pɑ:spɔ:ts ənd lʊkt æt ðəm. ðen hi:

asked, "Why have you come to England?" Mr. Miller:
a:skt, "hwaɪ hæv ju: kʌm tu ɪŋɡlənd?" mistə milə:

"We have come here for a fortnight's holidays." "Where "wi: hæv kʌm hiə fə ə fɔ:tnaɪts hɒlɪdɪz." "hweə are you going to?" Mr. Miller: "We are going to a: ju: ɡəʊɪŋ tu?" mistə milə: "wi: a: ɡəʊɪŋ tə

London." "And where are you going to live?" Mr. lʌndən." "ənd hweə a: ju: ɡəʊɪŋ tə liv?" mistə

Miller shows him a letter from which it may be seen milə ʃouz him ə letə frəm hwiʃ it mei bi: si:n

that he has ordered rooms for four at a hotel in London.
 ðæt hi: hæz ɔ:dəd ru:mz fə fɔ: ət ə hau'tel in lʌndən.

"Thank you, you may go through."
 "hæŋk ju:, ju: mei gou þru:."

As soon as they had left the passport office, they went əz su:n əz ðei həd left ðə pɑ:spɔ:t ɔfis, ðei went to the train which was to take them to London. Wood: tə ðə treɪn hwiʃ wəz tə teɪk ðəm tə lʌndən. wud:

"I do not think there is so much room in this train as "ai du: nɒt þɪŋk ðeər ɪz sɒ mʌʃ ru:m in ðɪs treɪn əz in ours at home." Mr. Miller: "No, you are right; in əʊəz ət haʊm." mɪstə milə: "nou, ju: a: raɪt;

the English trains are narrower than those of most ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ treɪnz a: nərouə ðən ðəʊz əv maʊst other countries." Storm: "But they go very fast, much ʌðə kʌntri:z." stɔ:m: "bʌt ðei gou veri fa:st, mʌʃ faster than ours at home." Brown: "Yes, of all the fa:stə ðən əʊəz ət haʊm." braʊn: "jes, əv ɔ:l ðə trains in Europe the English go fastest, I think. At treɪnz in juərəp ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ gou fa:stɪst, ai þɪŋk. ət this speed we shall be in London in a short time."

 ðɪs spi:d wi: ʃəl bi: in lʌndən in ə ʃɔ:t taɪm."

Wood: "That is fine, for the steamer went very wud: "ðæt ɪz faɪn, fə ðə sti:mə went veri slowly."

 sləʊli."

fast faster fastest

The train goes
 fast.

It goes faster than ours at home.

The trains in England go fastest.

Chapter Twenty-Eight (28).

slowly
more slowly
most slowly

The steamer went slowly.

It went more slowly than last time.

It went most slowly twelve years ago.

very fast very slowly much faster much more slowly

The trains go very fast.

The steamer went very slowly.

The trains go much faster than at home.

The steamer went much more slowly than last time.

all over = in every place

They live on the grass = they get no other food than the grass.

Mr. Miller: "Yes, it went much more slowly than last mistə milə: "jes, it went mʌf mɔ: sləuli ðən la:st time I came to England. But it went most slowly taim ai keim tu ɪŋɡlənd. bʌt it went maʊst sləuli when once, twelve years ago, I was coming to England.

hwən wʌns, twelv jɪəz ə'gəʊ, ai wəz kʌmɪŋ tu ɪŋɡlənd.

Then the wind was the very strongest and the waves ðen ðə wɪnd wəz ðə veri strɒŋɡɪst ænd ðə weɪvz the very biggest I ever saw on a trip to England."

ðə veri bɪɡɪst ai evə sɔ: ɔn ə trɪp tu ɪŋɡlənd."

Storm: "What large fields of grass they have in this stɔ:m: "hwɒt la:dʒ fi:ldz əv grɑ:s ðei hæv in ðis country! And how many there are of them! Three kʌntri! ænd haʊ meni ðeər a: əv ðəm! θri:

fields out of four have grass! And there are a great fi:ldz aʊt əv fɔ: hæv grɑ:s! ænd ðeər a: ə greɪt many sheep in some of them." meni ʃi:p in sʌm əv ðəm."

Mr. Miller: "Yes, the English have large fields of grass mistə milə: "jes, ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ hæv la:dʒ fi:ldz əv grɑ:s

all over the country, and in many places there are sheep ɔ:l ɒvə ðə kʌntri, ænd ɪn meni pleɪsɪz ðeər a: ʃi:p which live on the grass." Storm: "But what about corn? hwɪtʃ liv ɔn ðə grɑ:s." stɔ:m: "bʌt hwɒt ə'baʊt kɔ:n?

The people in this country cannot live on the corn ðə pi:pl ɪn ðis kʌntri kənɒt liv ɔn ðə kɔ:n they have in their fields. I have seen some fields ðei hæv ɪn ðeə fi:ldz. ai hæv si:n sʌm fi:ldz of corn from the train, but there cannot be enough for əv kɔ:n frəm ðə treɪn, bʌt ðeə kænɒt bi: i'nʌf fə

45,000,000 people."
 fɔ:tɪ'faɪv mɪljən pi:pl."

Mr. Miller: "When I was in England years ago, I think mɪstə mɪlə: "hwen aɪ wəz ɪn ɪŋɡlənd jɪəz ə'ɡəʊ, aɪ ʃɪŋk that nine fields out of ten had grass. There are now ðæt naɪn fi:ldz aʊt əv ten həd ɡrɑ:s. ðeər a: naʊ many more fields with corn than before. But, as you meni mɔ: fi:ldz wɪð kɔ:n ðən bi'fɔ:. bʌt, əz ju:

say, there is not enough corn for 45,000,000 people. sei, ðeər ɪz nɒt i'nʌf kɔ:n fə fɔ:tɪ'faɪv mɪljən pi:pl.

The English get much of their corn from foreign ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ ɡet mʌtʃ əv ðeə kɔ:n frəm fɔ:rɪn countries. And not only corn, but butter, eggs, and kʌntrɪz. ənd nɒt ɒnli kɔ:n, bʌt bʌtə, eɡz, ənd meat as well." Wood: "But why did they have nine mi:t əz wel." wʊd: "bʌt hwaɪ dɪd ðeɪ hæv naɪn fields out of ten with grass?" fi:ldz aʊt əv ten wɪð ɡrɑ:s?"

Mr. Miller: "For many years, much of the land was mɪstə mɪlə: "fə meni jɪəz, mʌtʃ əv ðə lænd wəz in the hands of only a few people, and they were not ɪn ðə hændz əv ɒnli ə fju: pi:pl, ənd ðeɪ wə: nɒt much interested in growing corn. They went out mʌtʃ ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ɡrəʊɪŋ kɔ:n. ðeɪ went aʊt hunting in the fields and in the woods. But nowadays, haʊntɪŋ ɪn ðə fi:ldz ənd ɪn ðə wʊdz. bʌt naʊədeɪz,

He grows, he grew, he has grown [ɡrəʊz, ɡru:, ɡrəʊn].

nowadays = at the present time

There are more people who own the land = the land is in the hands of more people.

there are more people who own the land. Many of ðeər a: mɔ: pi:pl hu: oun ðə lænd. meni əv these people are interested in growing corn instead of ði:z pi:pl a:r intristid in growɪŋ kɔ:n in'sted əv having fields of grass, so there are more fields of corn hæviŋ fi:ldz əv ˌgrɑ:s, sou ðeər a: mɔ: fi:ldz əv kɔ:n than there were at one time. Then there is another ðən ðeə wə:r ət wʌn taɪm. ðen ðeər ɪz ə'nʌðə thing, too. From the year 1939 until the θɪŋ, tu:. frəm ðə jɪə naɪnti:n þə:ti'nain ʌn'tɪl ðə year 1945, it was very difficult for England jɪə naɪnti:n fɔ:ti'faɪv, ɪt wəz veri dɪfɪkəlt fər ɪŋɡlənd to get corn from other countries. It was important tə get kɔ:n frəm ʌðə kʌntriz. ɪt wəz ɪm'pɔ:tənt for England to grow more corn, so that many of the fər ɪŋɡlənd tə grou mɔ: kɔ:n, sou ðət meni əv ðə fields that had grass at one time, now have corn instead fi:ldz ðət həd ɡrɑ:s ət wʌn taɪm, naʊ hæv kɔ:n in'sted of grass."

əv ɡrɑ:s."

Wood: "Have they any woods in England?" Mr. Miller:
wud: "hæv ðei eni wudz ɪn ɪŋɡlənd?" mɪstə mɪlə:

"Yes, they have a great many woods, some of them
"jes, ðei hæv ə ɡreɪt meni wudz, sʌm əv ðəm owned by rich people. But before 1939, aʊnd baɪ rɪtʃ pi:pl. bʌt bɪ'fɔ: naɪnti:n þə:ti'nain, they did not make much use of the trees in their woods.

ðei dɪd nɒt meɪk mʌtʃ ju:s əv ðə tri:z ɪn ðeə wudz.

wood

From 1939 to 1945 it was imfrəm nainti:n þə:ti'nain tə nainti:n fɔ:ti'faiv it wəz impossible to get things from Sweden and Finland. In 'pɒsəbl tə get þɪŋz frəm swi:dn ənd finlənd. in those years the English had to make more use of their ðəʊz jɪəz ði ɪŋglɪʃ hæd tə meɪk mɔ: ju:s əv ðeə own trees. I think that the English are more interested əʊn tri:z. ai þɪŋk ðæt ði ɪŋglɪʃ a: mɔ:r ɪntrɪstɪd in shooting birds and other animals in their woods." in ʃu:tiŋ bæ:dz ənd ʌðər æniməlz in ðeə wudz."

Storm: "What do they shoot with? I don't know that stɔ:m: "hʌwɪt du: ðei ʃu:t wið? ai daʊnt nəʊ ðæt word in English." Mr. Miller: "It is called a gun. The wɔ:d in ɪŋglɪʃ." mɪstə mɪlə: "ɪt ɪz kɔ:ld ə ɡʌn. ði

English are also very interested in hunting foxes, but ɪŋglɪʃ a:r ɔ:lsəʊ vɛrɪ ɪntrɪstɪd in hʌntɪŋ fɒksɪz, bʌt they do not shoot the foxes with guns."

ðei du: nɒt ʃu:t ðə fɒksɪz wið ɡʌnz."

Wood: "No, I have heard that rich English people like wud: "nəʊ, ai hæv hɔ:d ðæt rɪʃ ɪŋglɪʃ pi:pl laɪk fox-hunting very much, and that they hunt the foxes fɒkshʌntɪŋ vɛrɪ mʌʃ, ənd ðæt ðei hʌnt ðə fɒksɪz on horseback with hounds, as the dogs are called which ɒn hɔ:sbæk wið haʊndz, əz ðə dɔgz a: kɔ:ld hwiʃ they use for this. They ride on their horses after the ðei ju:z fə ðɪs. ðei raɪd ɒn ðeə hɔ:sɪz a:ftə ðə fox, and the hounds run after it, too. The fox tries fɒks, ənd ðə haʊndz rʌn a:ftə ɪt, tu:. ðə fɒks traɪz bird

He shoots, he shot, he has shot [ʃu:ts, ʃɒt, ʃɒt].

gun

fox

on horseback = on the back of a horse

dog

hound = dog used for hunting

He rides, he rode,
he has ridden [raɪdz, raʊd, rɪdn].

Chapter Twenty-Eight (28).

He runs, he ran, he has run [rʌnz, ræn, rʌn].

ta run away, but it cannot run so fast as the horses tə rʌn ə'weɪ, bʌt ɪt kənɒt rʌn sɒʊ fɑːst əz ðə hɔːsɪz and the hounds, and at last it must give up running, ænd ðə haʊndz, ænd æt lɑːst ɪt mʌst gɪv ʌp rʌnɪŋ, and the hounds get it."

ænd ðə haʊndz get ɪt."

Mr. Miller: "Yes, that is right. And don't forget that mɪstə mɪlə: "jes, ðæt ɪz raɪt. ænd daʊnt fə'get ðæt it is only the dogs used for hunting which are called ɪt ɪz ɒnli ðə dɒgz juːzd fə hʌntɪŋ hwɪtʃ aː kɔːld hounds. You will find that many Englishmen like to haʊndz. juː wɪl faɪnd ðæt meni ɪŋglɪʃmən laɪk tə go out shooting. They go out with their guns to shoot ɡoʊ aʊt ʃuːtɪŋ. ðeɪ ɡoʊ aʊt wɪð ðeə ɡʌnz tə ʃuːt birds and other animals. But people go out shooting bɜːdz ænd ʌðər ænɪməlz. bʌt piːpl ɡoʊ aʊt ʃuːtɪŋ in every country. I have sometimes shot birds at home ɪn evri kʌntri. aɪ hæv sʌmtaɪmz ʃɒt bɜːdz æt haʊm myself."

maɪ'self."

Storm: "That may be so; but instead of that I would stɔːm: "ðæt meɪ biː sɒ; bʌt ɪn'sted əv ðæt aɪ wʊd rather take a good walk in the woods and look at the rəːðə teɪk ə ɡʊd wɔːk ɪn ðə wʊdz ænd lʊk æt ðə trees and the many beautiful birds." triːz ænd ðə meni bjʊ:təfʊl bɜːdz."

EXERCISE A.

When the steamer arrived in England, the travellers went —. The luggage was taken — by the —. Most of the — in England speak very — English. Storm had been — bad when the — were high out at sea, but now he was — better. Our four travellers did not have anything to — at the Customs. Before they could get into England, they had to show their — at the — office. The man at the passport office asked them several —. After they had — these, he said to them, "You — go through."

Can the people in England — on the — from their corn fields? No, they have to get corn as well as —, —, and — from — countries. What do the English have in their fields — — corn? They have — in their fields. How do rich Englishmen go —? They ride on — and have —. The fox tries to — away, but the horses and the hounds run — than the fox. Do these Englishmen also like to go —? Yes, they — birds and other animals with their —. Had Mr. Miller — any birds himself? Yes, he sometimes went — himself, but Storm would — take a good — in the —.

EXERCISE B.

What was Brown wondering at when he heard the English porters talk to each other? ... Whom did Mr. Miller say that they would have understood better? ...

WORDS:

ashore
a great many porter
each other wonder (verb) wonder anything bad declare list
may might
on passport office passport live on grow grew grown hunt fox-hunting
fox
wood
own (verb) nowadays instead of on horseback
dog
hound
ride
rode ridden

run ran shoot shot gun
bird
room
very all over
why
look (verb)
Englishman

Did the English trains look like those of their own country? ... What might be seen from the letter which Mr. Miller showed to the man at the passport office? ... Are there many people who own land nowadays in England? ... What do the English often use their woods for? ... Why don't the English have more corn on their land? ... What animals live on the grass of the fields? ...

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'which'.

Which of the months of the year is the first? Answer ...
Question ...? Saturday is the last day of the week.
Which is the oldest person of our four travellers?
Answer ... Question ...? Baby is the youngest person in the Smith family. In which of the rooms do we take our meals? Answer ... Question ...? We get milk from the cows, not from the sheep. Which of the four travellers got seasick? Answer ... Question ...? John and Helen go to school. Which do you like better, to travel by steamer or to travel by train? Answer ...
Question ...? I like to read better than I like to write.
Which route is the shortest to England? Answer ...
Question ...? Esbjerg-Harwich, The Hook of Holland-Harwich, and Calais-Dover are the most important routes.

IN LONDON

Wood: "It seems to me that there are so many trains wud: "it si:mz tə mi: ðæt ðeər a: sou meni treinz now. Every minute a train goes past us." Storm:

nau. evri minit ə trein gouz pɑ:st ʌs." stɔ:m:

"Yes, it seems that we are near London now." Mr.
"jes, it si:mz ðæt wi: a: niə lʌndən nau." mistə Miller: "We are not only near London; we are in Greater milə: "wi: a: nɒt ounli niə lʌndən; wi: a:r in greɪtə

London." Brown: "I have never seen so many trains lʌndən." braʊn: "aɪ həv nevə si:n sou meni treinz before. It seems as if there is no end to them. And bɪ'fɔ: it si:mz əz ɪf ðeər ɪz nou end tə ðəm. ənd all the trains which go in the opposite direction are ɔ:l ðə treinz hwiʃ gou in ði ɔpəzɪt dɪ'rekʃən a:

so filled with people that many of them cannot find sou fɪld wɪð pi:pl ðæt meni əv ðəm kənɒt faɪnd any seats and have to stand on their feet, but in the eni si:ts ənd həv tə stænd ɒn ðeə fi:t, bʌt in ðə trains going in the same direction as we go there are treinz goʊɪŋ in ðə seɪm dɪ'rekʃən əz wi: gou ðeər a:

so few people that they are almost empty." sou fju: pi:pl ðæt ðeɪ a:r ɔ:lməʊst emti."

Mr. Miller: "Yes, and no wonder! The trains going mɪstə milə: "jes, ənd nou wʌndə! ðə treinz goʊɪŋ

Greater London = London itself together with the places near the town

filled with = full of

He stands, he stood, he has stood [stændz, stʊd, stʊd].

the trains going in the same direction = the trains which go in the same direction

way (here) = direction

the main stations = the most important stations

building

platform

started counting = started to count

in the opposite direction come from London, and all in ði ɔpəzɪt di'rekʃən kəm frəm lʌndən, ʌnd ɔ:l

the people in them are going home from work. Re-ðə pi:pl in ðəm a: ɡoʊɪŋ hoʊm frəm wə:k. ri-member it is past five o'clock now. At this time of 'membə it ɪz pɑ:st faɪv ə'klɒk naʊ. ət ðɪs taɪm əv the day every one is leaving London, and no one is ðə dei evri wʌn ɪz li:vɪŋ lʌndən, ʌnd noʊ wʌn ɪz going the opposite way. That is why all the trains ɡoʊɪŋ ði ɔpəzɪt wei. ðæt ɪz hwaɪ ɔ:l ðə treɪnz going up to London are almost empty."

ɡoʊɪŋ ʌp tə lʌndən a:r ɔ:lmoʊst ɛmti."

A little later they arrived at one of the main stations ə lɪtl leɪtə ðei ə'raɪvd ət wʌn əv ðə meɪn steɪʃənz of London. It was a very large building. A great əv lʌndən. ɪt wəz ə veri la:dʒ bɪldɪŋ. ə ɡreɪt many people were standing on the platforms, waiting meni pi:pl wə: stændɪŋ ɔn ðə plətfɔ:mz, weɪtɪŋ for their trains.

fə ðeə treɪnz.

Wood: "How many platforms do you think there are?"

wʊd: "hau meni plətfɔ:mz du: ju: ɪŋk ðeər a:?"

Storm: "Let us try to count them." They all started stɔ:m: "let ʌs traɪ tə kaʊnt ðəm." ðei ɔ:l sta:tɪd counting.

kaʊntɪŋ.

Storm: "What a great number! I counted twentystɔ:m: "hʌvət ə ɡreɪt nʌmbə! ɪ kaʊntɪd twenti-four (24).” Wood: “Then you must add one to your ˈfɔː.” wud: “ðen ju: mast æd wʌn tə ʃɔː number, for I counted twenty-five (25).” nʌmbə, fər ai kauntɪd twentiˈfaɪv.”

Storm: “Well, Brown, tell us the right number now.
stɔːm: “wel, braʊn, tel əs ðə raɪt nʌmbə naʊ.

How many did you count?” Brown: “You must add one haʊ meni dɪd ju: kaʊnt?” braʊn: “ju: mast æd wʌn to Wood’s number. I think there are twenty-six (26).” tə wudz nʌmbə. ai ɪŋk ðəər a: twentiˈsɪks.”

Mr. Miller: “Well, we know that there are between mɪstə mɪlə: “wel, wi: nəʊ ðæt ðəər a: biˈtwiːn twenty (20) and thirty (30). Some of the main stations twenti and þə:ti. sʌm əv ðə meɪn steɪʃənz of London — and there are eleven or twelve of them — əv lʌndən — ənd ðəər a: ɪˈlevn ɔː twelv əv ðəm — have between twenty (20) and thirty (30) platforms.” hæv biˈtwiːn twenti and þə:ti plætˈfɔːmz.”

Many porters were very busy, working on the platforms.
meni pɔːtəz wə: veri bɪzi, wə:kɪŋ ɒn ðə plætˈfɔːmz.

As soon as a train stopped at a platform, some of them əz suːn əz ə treɪn stɒpt ət ə plætˈfɔːm, sʌm əv ðəm were ready to take the travellers’ luggage, and already wə: redi tə teɪk ðə trævələz lʌɡɪdʒ, ənd ɔːlˈredi before the train of our four travellers had stopped, one biˈfɔː ðə treɪn əv ʌʊə fɔː trævələz həd stɒpt, wʌn had got into it. He came up to them and asked them if həd ɡɒt ɪntu ɪt. hi: keɪm ʌp tə ðəm ənd ɑːskt ðəm ɪf

bag

off = down from

He builds, he built, he has built [bildz, bilt, bilt].

he might help them to carry their luggage.

hi: mait help ðəm tə kəri ðeə lʌɡɪdʒ.

Mr. Miller: "No, thank you, we have only one bag each, mɪstə mɪlə: "nou, θæŋk ju:, wi: hæv ounli wʌn bæɡ i:tʃ, so we can easily carry them without your help." When sou wi: kən i:zɪli kəri ðəm wið'aʊt jɔ: help." hwen they had got off the train, Mr. Miller said, "Now we ðei həd ɡɒt ɔ:f ðə treɪn, mɪstə mɪlə sed, "naʊ wi:

will go by an Underground train to the part of London wɪl ɡoʊ baɪ ən ʌndəɡraʊnd treɪn tə ðə pɑ:t əv lʌndən where our hotel is." Wood: "Underground? What does hwɛər aʊə həʊ'tel ɪz." wʊd: "ʌndəɡraʊnd? hwɒt dʌz that mean?"

ðæt mi:n?"

Mr. Miller: "The Underground is a railway which is mɪstə mɪlə: "ði ʌndəɡraʊnd ɪz ə reɪlweɪ hwɪtʃ ɪz built under the streets and buildings of London. You bɪlt ʌndə ðə stri:tɪz ənd bɪldɪŋz əv lʌndən. ju:

can go to many places in London by Underground." kən ɡoʊ tə menɪ pleɪsɪz ɪn lʌndən baɪ ʌndəɡraʊnd."

Wood: "Isn't it a wonder to think that they can build wʊd: "ɪznt ɪt ə wʌndə tə θɪŋk ðæt ðei kən bɪld railways under the streets and buildings of a large city?" reɪlweɪz ʌndə ðə stri:tɪz ənd bɪldɪŋz əv ə lɑ:dʒ sɪti?"

Just then a train arrived at the Underground station. dʒʌst ðen ə treɪn ə'raɪvd ət ði ʌndəɡraʊnd steɪʃən.

Wood: "There is a train. Let us run." He began to wʊd: "ðeər ɪz ə treɪn. let ʌs rʌn." hi: bɪ'ɡæn tə run along the platform, but it was too late. Just before ran ə'ləŋ ðə plətfɔ:m, bʌt ɪt wəz tu: leɪt. dʒʌst bɪ'fɔ:

he got to the door, it closed, and off the train went.
hi: gɒt tə ðə dɔ:, ɪt kləʊzd, and ɔ:f ðə treɪn went.

Wood: "Oh, I am sorry that we were late for it; now wʊd: "ou, aɪ əm sɔ:ri ðæt wi: wə: leɪt fər ɪt; naʊ we must wait for the next train." Mr. Miller: "You wi: mʌst weɪt fə ðə nekst treɪn." mɪstə mɪlə: "ju:

need not be sorry about that. We shall not have to ni:d nɒt bi: sɔ:ri ə'baʊt ðæt. wi: ʃəl nɒt hæv tə wait very long." Two minutes later another train weɪt veri lɒŋ." tu: mɪnɪts leɪtə ə'nʌðə treɪn arrived. When they had got into it, Brown tried to ə'raɪvd. hwen ðeɪ həd gɒt ɪntu ɪt, braʊn traɪd tə close the door, but Mr. Miller said, "You need not close kləʊz ðə dɔ:, bʌt mɪstə mɪlə sed, "ju: ni:d nɒt kləʊz it; the doors close of themselves." The train was so ɪt; ðə dɔ:z kləʊz əv ðəm'selvz." ðə treɪn wəz sʊ filled with people that there were no seats empty.

fɪld wɪð pi:pl ðæt ðeə wə: nəʊ si:ts ɛmptɪ.

Mr. Miller and the three young men had to stand, but mɪstə mɪlə and ðə θri: jʌŋ men həd tə stænd, bʌt it was only for a few minutes. They soon arrived at ɪt wəz ɒnli fər ə fju: mɪnɪts. ðeɪ su:n ə'raɪvd ət

Tottenham Court Road Station, where they got off the tɒtnəm kɔ:t rəʊd steɪʃən, hweə ðeɪ gɒt ɔ:f ðə train. As the hotel was only five minutes from the treɪn. əz ðə həʊ'tel wəz ɒnli faɪv mɪnɪts frəm ðə station, they decided to walk. While they were walking steifən, ðei di'saidid tə wɔ:k. hwail ðei wə: wɔ:kiŋ along, the three young men told Mr. Miller that now ə'lɔŋ, ðə ʒri: jæŋ men tould mistə milə ðət nau they found that they understood much of the language. ðei faund ðət ðei ʌndə'stud mʌtʃ əv ðə læŋgwidʒ.

While they were standing in the Underground train, hwail ðei wə: stændiŋ in ði ʌndəgraund trein, they had heard some people from an office talking ðei həd hə:d sʌm pi:pl frəm ən ɔfis tɔ:kiŋ together, and they had understood most of what they tə'geðə, ənd ðei həd ʌndə'stud mʌst əv hwɔt ðei said. Mr. Miller: "That was what I told you. Many sed. mistə milə: "ðæt wəz hwɔt ai tould ju:. meni porters speak bad English, and that is very difficult ɒɔ:təz spi:k bæd iŋglɪʃ, ənd ðæt iz veri difikəlt as spoken = in the way in which it is spoken

for you to understand, but English as spoken by people fə ju: tu ʌndə'stænd, bʌt iŋglɪʃ əz spoukən bai pi:pl working in an office, for example, will not be so difficult. wə:kiŋ in ən ɔfis, fə ig'zɑ:mpl, wil nɒt bi: sʌ difikəlt.

You will soon find that you can understand very much ju: wil su:n faɪnd ðət ju: kən ʌndə'stænd veri mʌtʃ of what they say."

əv hwɔt ðei sei."

EXERCISE A.

It — to Wood that a train went — them every minute. The trains which went in the same — as theirs were almost —, but the ones which went in the — direction were — with people. The trains were so full of people that there were not — enough for all, so that many had to — on their feet. The train arrived at one of the — stations of London. When they tried to — the platforms, they got different —. The porters helped people to carry their luggage, but Mr. Miller and the three young men had only one — each, so they did not need any —. The — is a railway which is — under the streets and buildings of London. The doors of the Underground trains — of themselves. Why did Wood run — the platform? Because a train had just —, and he wanted to get into the train. What were the young men talking to Mr. Miller about — they were walking to the hotel? They were talking about the way in which English is — by different people.

EXERCISE B.

Are there many people going up to London after five o'clock? ... Did they arrive at a small station in London? ... What do porters do? ... Did the young men and their teacher need any help with their luggage? ... How did they get from the main station to their hotel? ... What was Wood sorry to find? ... Why did they not have to close the doors of the Underground train? ... Why did they all have to stand in the Underground

WORDS:

seem
past opposite direction
filled seat stand stood main platform
count number
add stop help (verb)
help
bag
carry Underground
along close sorry no one
off
building
build built under train? ... Is English as spoken by the English porters easy to understand? ... Where is the Underground built? ... How many platforms were there at the main station where they arrived? ... How did the young men find out the number of platforms? ...

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'what' or 'which'.

What was the idea that Brown got when he was walking home from his work? Answer ... Question ...? The idea that Mr. Miller had been thinking of was to speak English always when they were together. Which did Brown smoke, a pipe or a cigarette? Answer ... Question ...? July is the best month to go to England. What did John and Helen take along to the lake? Answer ... Question ...? John's parents gave him a book and a football for his birthday. Which of the shirts did George get, the ones with broad stripes or the ones with narrow stripes? Answer ... Question ...? The younger children write with pencils. What museum were they going to see? Answer ... Question ...? Mrs. Smith was going to put on her new frock for Daisy's birthday-party. Which of the people they heard spoke bad English, the porters or the people working in offices? Answer ... Question ...? Mr. Miller and the three young men had to stand. In what way did they get from the Underground to the hotel? Answer ... Question ...? They got off the Underground train at Tottenham Court Road Station.

AT THE HOTEL

Mr. Miller: "We are now in the street where our hotel mistə milə: "wi: a: nau in ðə stri:t hwɛər auə hau'tel is. All the buildings we have passed the last three or

iz. ɔ:l ðə bildiŋz wi: hæv pɑ:st ðə la:st θri: ɔ:

four minutes, are hotels. This part of the town is well fɔ: minits, a: hau'telz. ðis pɑ:t əv ðə taun iz wel known for its many cheap hotels. It is called Blooms-noun fər its meni tʃi:p hau'telz. it iz kɔ:ld blu:mzbury and is situated between the West End and the bəri and iz sitʃueitid bi'twi:n ðə west end and ðə

City. It is an advantage for travellers to live at a siti. it iz ən əd'vɑ:ntidʒ fə trævələz tə liv at a hotel in this part of London, because they can get to hou'tel in ðis pɑ:t əv lʌndən, bi'kɔ:z ðei kən get tə the big shops and the cinemas and theatres of the West ðə big ʃɒps and ðə siniməz and θiətəz əv ðə west End quickly, and they also have the advantage of being end kwikli, and ðei ɔ:lsoʊ hæv ði əd'vɑ:ntidʒ əv bi:ɪŋ able to get to the offices in the City easily. That was eibl tə get tə ði ɔfisiz in ðə siti i:zili. ðæt wəz why I chose this hotel the first time I came to London.

hwai ai tʃəʊz ðis hau'tel ðə fə:st taim ai keim tə lʌndən.

I had to choose between several hotels, situated in ai hæd tə tʃu:z bi'twi:n sevərəl hau'telz, sitʃueitid in to pass = to go

past

it is situated = its place is the City = the central part of London

It is an advantage for you = it is better for you.

the advantage of being able = the advantage to be able

He chooses, he chose, he has chosen [tʃu:ziz.
tʃəʊz, tʃəʊzn].

Chapter Thirty (30).

a good friend of mine

a good friend of
yours

a good friend of ours, etc.

different parts of the town, and I thought this the best difrənt pɑ:ts əv ðə taʊn, ənd aɪ þɔ:t ðɪs ðə best one to choose. A good friend of mine had recommended wʌn tə tʃu:z. ə gud frend əv maɪn həd rekə'mendɪd it very much, and since then I have recommended it ɪt veri mʌtʃ, ənd sɪns ðen aɪ həv rekə'mendɪd ɪt myself to people who were going to England, as it is maɪ'self tə pi:pl hu: wə: ɡoʊɪŋ tu ɪŋɡlənd, əz ɪt ɪz a good hotel, and very cheap, too. In this way I have ə gud həu'tel, ənd veri tʃi:p, tu:. ɪn ðɪs wei aɪ həv become good friends with the hotel-keeper. But here bɪ'kʌm gud frendz wɪð ðə həu'telki:pə. bʌt hiə you see the hotel."

ju: si: ðə həu'tel."

They went inside, and the hotel-keeper, who was sitting ðeɪ went 'ɪn'saɪd, ənd ðə həu'telki:pə, hu: wəz sɪtɪŋ in his office, greeted Mr. Miller, saying, "Good evening, ɪn hɪz ɔfɪs, ɡri:tɪd mɪstə mɪlə, seɪɪŋ, "ɡud i:vniŋ.

Mr. Miller, I am glad to see you in London." Then he mɪstə mɪlə, aɪ əm ɡlæd tə si: ju: ɪn lʌndən." ðen hi:

greeted the three young men with the words, "How ɡri:tɪd ðə þri: jʌŋ men wɪð ðə wə:dz, "hau-do you do, gentlemen, I am glad to see you, too." dʒu'du:, dʒentlmən, aɪ əm ɡlæd tə si: ju:, tu:."

to reply = to answer

I reply,
he replies,
he replied,
but: replying.

To Mr. Miller's question about their rooms he replied, tə mɪstə mɪləz kwestʃən ə'baut ðeə ru:mz hi: ri'plaɪd,

"Your two rooms are ready, Mr. Miller, a single room "jɔ: tu: ru:mz a: redɪ, mɪstə mɪlə, ə sɪŋɡl ru:m for you, and a double room for your three friends.

fə ju:, ənd ə dʌbl ru:m fə jɔ: fri: frendz.

single room =
room for one person

I have put an extra bed into the double room, as you aɪ hæv put ən ekstrə bed intə ðə dʌbl ru:m, əz ju:

double room = room for two persons asked me to." To the three others he explained, a:skt mi: tu." tə ðə ʒri: ʌðəz hi: iks'pleind,

"Mr. Miller wanted me to make it as cheap as possible,
"mistə milə wɒntid mi: tə meɪk ɪt əz tʃi:p əz pɒsəbl, and because we are good friends, I agreed to put you ənd bi'kɔz wi: a: gud frendz, aɪ ə'gri:d tə put ju:

all in a double room and then give you a cheaper price.
ɔ:l ɪn ə dʌbl ru:m ənd ðen gɪv ju: ə tʃi:pə praɪs.

I have never agreed to do that before; therefore I must aɪ hæv nevər ə'gri:d tə du: ðæt bi'fɔ:; ðeəfɔ:r aɪ mʌst to agree to = to say 'yes' to ask you not to speak about it to other people." a:sk ju: nɒt tə spi:k ə'baʊt ɪt tu ʌðə pi:pl."

Mr. Miller: "We had better go to our rooms now to mistə milə: "wi: həd betə ɡəʊ tu ʌʊə ru:mz naʊ tə wash, and then we should like to have something to eat.

wɒʃ, ənd ðen wi: ʃʊd laɪk tə hæv sʌmθɪŋ tu i:t.

When is dinner?"
hwen ɪz dɪnə?"

Hotel-keeper: "Dinner is served between seven and hou'telki:pə: "dɪnər ɪz sə:vəd bi'twi:n sevn ənd eight-thirty (8.30). While we are speaking of meals, 'eɪt'θɜ:ti. hwaɪl wi: a: spi:kɪŋ əv mi:lz, breakfast is served between eight and ten, and lunch brekfəst ɪz sə:vəd bi'twi:n eɪt ənd ten, ənd ʌnʃ is served from twelve to two. If you would like a cup iz sə:vəd frəm twelv tə tu: if ju: wud laik ə kʌp of tea early in the morning when you get up, you can əv ti: ə:li in ðə mɔ:nɪŋ hwen ju: get ʌp, ju: kən easily have one. But perhaps you do not want to i:zili hæv wʌn. bʌt pə'hæps ju: du: nɒt wɒnt tə get up early while you are here? What do you say, get ʌp ə:li hwail ju: a: hiə? hwɒt du: ju: sei, gentlemen, do you want to get up early or late in the dʒentlmən, du: ju: wɒnt tə get ʌp ə:li ɔ: leɪt in ðə morning?"

mɔ:nɪŋ?"

Mr. Miller: "We want to see as much as possible while mɪstə mɪlə: "wi: wɒnt tə si: əz mʌtʃ əz pɒsəbl hwail we are here; therefore we shall get up early in the wi: a: hiə; ðeəfɔ: wi: ʃəl get ʌp ə:li in ðə morning." Hotel-keeper: "Then you can have an early mɔ:nɪŋ." hɒu'telki:pə: "ðen ju: kən hæv ən ə:li cup of tea if you like. Many Englishmen like to have kʌp əv ti: if ju: laik. meni ɪŋglɪsmən laik tə hæv that." Brown: "That would be a good idea. We should ðæt." braʊn: "ðæt wud bi: ə gud aɪ'diə. wi: ʃud like to live as far as possible as the English do." laɪk tə li:v əz fɑ:r əz pɒsəbl əz ði ɪŋglɪʃ du:." Hotel-keeper: "All right, now I will call the porter and hɒu'telki:pə: "ɔ:l rait, naʊ aɪ wɪl kɔ:l ðə pɔ:tə ənd tell him to take your bags up to your rooms." tɛl hɪm tə teɪk jɔ: bægz ʌp tə jɔ: ru:mz."

They were glad to see that they had got a nice large ðei wə: glæd tə si: ðæt ðei həd ɡɒt ə naɪs la:dʒ double room with hot and cold running water. Wood:

dʌbl ru:m wið hɒt ænd kəʊld ˈrʌniŋ wɔ:tə. wʊd:

“Well, this is going to be our home for the next two “wel, ðɪs ɪz ɡəʊɪŋ tə bi: ɔʊə haʊm fə ðə nekst tu:

weeks. It is nice here, isn’t it?” wi:kz. ɪt ɪz naɪs hɪə, ɪznt ɪt?”

Storm: “Yes, and a nice hotel-keeper, too. I think it stɔ:m: “jes, ænd ə naɪs haʊtelki:pə, tu:. aɪ θɪŋk ɪt very nice of him to give us a cheaper price, because we veri naɪs əv hɪm tə ɡɪv ʌs ə tʃi:pə praɪs, bɪˈkəʊz wi:

are all three in one room, when he has never agreed a:ɹ ɔ:l θri: ɪn wʌn ru:m, hwen hi: həz nevər əˈɡri:d to that before.”

tə ðæt biˈfɔ:.”

Brown went to the window and was surprised when braʊn went tə ðə wɪndəʊ ænd wəz səˈpraɪzd hwen he looked out of it. “Well, one would not think this hi: lʊkt aʊt əv ɪt. “wel, wʌn wʊd nɒt θɪŋk ðɪs was London. I thought that we should have had a wəz lʌndən. aɪ θɔ:t ðæt wi: ʃʊd hæv həd ə view from our window of streets full of people, and vju: frəm ɔʊə wɪndəʊ əv stri:tz fʊl əv pi:pl, ænd that there would be high buildings in all directions.

ðæt ðeə wʊd bi: haɪ bɪldɪŋz ɪn ɔ:l dɪˈrekʃənz.

Come and have a look at it.” Wood: “Yes, I must say kʌm ænd hæv ə lʊk ət ɪt.” wʊd: “jes, aɪ mʌst sei this is very surprising. How beautiful the view is!"

ðis iz veri sə'praiziŋ. hau bju:təfʊl ðə vju: iz!"

It is no wonder that the three friends were surprised it iz nou wʌndə ðət ðə ʃri: frendz wə: sə'praizd at the view from their window. It was a garden with ət ðə vju: frəm ðeə windəu. it wəz ə ɡɑ:dən wið tall trees, and everything was so quiet that it was tɔ:l tri:tz, ənd evriθiŋ wəz səʊ kwaɪət ðət it wəz difficult for them to understand that they were in dɪfɪkəlt fə ðəm tu ʌndə'stænd ðət ðei wə:r in London, the largest city in the world.

lʌndən, ðə lɑ:dʒɪst sɪti in ðə wɜ:ld.

Brown: "I think we shall sleep well to-night. It is so braʊn: "aɪ θɪŋk wi: ʃəl sli:p wel tə'naɪt. it iz səʊ quiet here, and I must say that I am a little tired after kwaɪət hɪə, ənd aɪ mʌst seɪ ðət aɪ əm ə lɪtl taɪəd ɑ:ftə having travelled all day."

hæviŋ trævld ɔ:l ðei."

Storm: "Yes, I am both tired and sleepy. Wouldn't it stɔ:m: "jes, aɪ əm bəʊθ taɪəd ənd sli:pi. wʊdnt it be a good idea to go to bed shortly after dinner, and bi: ə ɡʊd aɪ'diə tə ɡəʊ tə bed ʃɔ:tli ɑ:ftə dɪnə, ənd then get up early to-morrow morning? I think Mr. Miller ðen ɡet ʌp ə:li tə'mɔ:rəʊ mɔ:nɪŋ? aɪ θɪŋk mɪstə mɪlə will agree with us in that."

wɪl ə'ɡri: wið ʌs in ðæt."

And he was right. An hour and a half later they were ənd hi: wəz raɪt. ən aʊər ənd ə ha:f leɪtə ðei wə:r

When you work much, you get tired.

When you have not slept for a long time, you get sleepy.

all in their beds, happy, but tired.

ɔ:l in ðeə bedz, hæpi, bʌt taɪəd.

EXERCISE A.

On their way to the hotel Mr. Miller and his pupils — many buildings, all of them —. Their hotel was — between the West End and the —. Mr. Miller had — that hotel because it was good and —. In the West End there are many cinemas and —. The hotel-keeper — Mr. Miller, saying, “Good evening, I am — to — you in London.” What did the — reply when Mr. Miller asked about their rooms? He — that a — room was ready for Mr. Miller and a — room for his friends. Did the hotel-keeper tell them when the meals were —? Yes, and he said that they might have a cup of tea — in the morning if they liked. Was it a — large room that the three young men got? Yes, and they had a beautiful — from their window. Were they — and sleepy after having — all day? Yes, and therefore they — to go to bed — after dinner.

EXERCISE B.

Where was the hotel situated? ... What is Bloomsbury known for? ... Why is it an advantage to live at a hotel in Bloomsbury? ... Who had recommended the hotel to Mr. Miller? ... When was dinner served? ... Why were they surprised at the view from their window? ... What did they do after dinner? ... Where are the biggest shops in London situated? ... How had

WORDS:
pass situated advantage theatre choose chose chosen recommend hotel-keeper greet single double reply agree serve early nice surprise view
tired therefore sleepy
shortly

Mr. Miller become good friends with the hotel-keeper? ... Where was the hotel-keeper when Mr. Miller and the three young men arrived at the hotel? ... What rooms did Mr. Miller and his friends get? ...

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'who', 'whom', 'whose', or 'which'.

Who is John's uncle? Answer ... Question ...? The sister of Helen's mother is her aunt. Which is the oldest person in the Smith family? Answer ... Question ...? Mr. Miller is the cleverest at English of our four travellers. Who lives in the country? Answer ... Question ...? The French live in France. Which of the girls in the Smith family is ten years old? Answer ... Question ...? The boy John fell through the ice. Whom did Mr. Smith give a football on his last birthday? Answer ... Question ...? Mrs. Smith gave Daisy a pair of silk stockings on her birthday. Which of you will bring me to-day's newspaper? Answer ... Question ...? I will give you a cigar. Whose house was situated in the country? Answer ... Question ...? Mr. Smith's house was situated in the town.

SHOPPING IN LONDON

The next morning when they were having their break-ðə nekst mɔ:nɪŋ hwen ðei wə: hæviŋ ðəə brek-fast, they discussed what to do on their first day.

fəst, ðei dis'kʌst hwɒt tə du: ɔn ðəə fə:st dei.

When they had discussed the question for some time, hwen ðei həd dis'kʌst ðə kwestʃən fə sʌm taɪm, they agreed to take a long walk through the streets ðei ə'gri:d tə teɪk ə lɔŋ wɔ:k þru: ðə stri:t

of the West End to look at the shops and perhaps go əv ðə west end tə luk ət ðə ʃɒps ənd pə'hæps ɡoʊ shopping themselves. They walked down Charing ʃɒpiŋ ðəm'selvz. ðei wɔ:kt daʊn tʃæriŋ to shop = to go buying things in shops

Cross Road, a street which is well known for its many krɒs rəʊd, ə stri:t hwɪtʃ ɪz wel nəʊn fər ɪts menɪ second-hand book-shops.

sekəndhænd bu:kʃɒps.

"You understand," Mr. Miller explained to them,
"ju: ʌndə'stænd," mɪstə mɪlə ɪks'pleɪnd tə ðəm,

"that you can only buy books second-hand in these
"ðæt ju: kən ɔnli baɪ bu:kz 'sekənd'hænd ɪn ði:z book-shops. The books have already been bought once bu:kʃɒps. ðə bu:kz həv ɔ:l'redi bi:n bɔ:t wʌnz and read by people, and then sold by them to these ənd red baɪ pi:pl, ənd ðen səʊld baɪ ðəm tə ði:z second-hand book-shops. People are only able to get sekandhænd buksɔps. pi:pl a:r ounli eibl tə get a very low price when they sell second-hand books in a veri lou prais hwen ðei sel sekandhænd buks in this way to a book-shop." ðis wei tu ə buksɔp."

They stopped to look at some of the books which had ðei stɔpt tə luk ət sam əv ðə buks hwɪtʃ həd been put into large boxes outside the shops, and were bi:n put intə la:dʒ bɔksɪz 'aʊt'saɪd ðə ʃɔps, ənd wə:

pleased = glad pleased to find some in their own language. pli:zd tə faɪnd sam in ðeər oun læŋgwidʒ.

special = great and important

The shops with foreign stamps, of which there are a ðə ʃɔps wɪð fɔrɪn stæmps, əv hwɪtʃ ðeər a: ə great number, were of special interest to Wood and greɪt nʌmbə, wə:r əv speʃəl ɪntrɪst tə wʊd ənd

Storm, who had collected stamps for several years.
stɔ:m, hu: həd kə'lektɪd stæmps fə severəl jɪəz.

"When I started collecting stamps," said Wood, "I had "hwen ai stɑ:tɪd kə'lektɪŋ stæmps," sed wʊd, "ai həd at first a collection of about a hundred. Since then ət fə:st ə kə'leksən əv ə'baut ə haʊdrəd. sɪns ðen it has grown from year to year, and now I have a ɪt hæz grəʊn frəm jɪə tə jɪə, ənd naʊ ai hæv ə collection of about 8,000 stamps. However, I do kə'leksən əv ə'baut eɪt ʔaʊzənd stæmps. haʊ'evə, ai du:

not think it will grow very much during the next few nɒt θɪŋk ɪt wɪl grəʊ veri mʌtʃ dʒuərɪŋ ðə nekst fju:

stamp

however = but years, because I shall not have so much time to spend jiəz, bi'kəz ai ʃəl nɒt hæv sɒ mʌtʃ taɪm tə spend on it. During my first few years as a stamp collector, ɒn ɪt. dʒuəriŋ maɪ fə:st fju: jiəz əz ə stæmp kə'lektə,

I spent a great part of my time looking at my old ai spent ə greɪt pɑ:t əv maɪ taɪm lʊkiŋ ət maɪ ould stamps and going to the stamp shops for new ones; stæmps ænd goviŋ tə ðə stæmp ʃɒps fə nju: wʌnz; and, therefore, my collection grew very rapidly.

ænd, ðəfɔ:, maɪ kə'leksən gru: veri ræpidli.

rapidly = quickly

“At school, two of my schoolfellows and I were so “ət sku:l, tu: əv maɪ sku:lfe'ləʊz ænd ai wə: sɒ interested in our foreign stamps that we almost forgot ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ʌə fɔ:riŋ stæmps ðət wi: ɔ:lmoʊst fə'ɡɒt our school work. In the afternoon we three schoolʌə sku:l wə:k. ɪn ði 'a:ftə'nu:n wi: θri: sku:l-fellows used to go to the shops near our homes to look fe'ləʊz ju:st tə ɡəʊ tə ðə ʃɒps niə ʌə haʊmz tə lʊk

He used to go = he often went.

at the latest foreign stamps and buy as many as we ət ðə leɪtɪst fɔ:riŋ stæmps ænd baɪ əz meni əz wi:

could afford. But now I cannot spend so much time kʊd ə'fɔ:d. bʌt naʊ ai kənɒt spend sɒ mʌtʃ taɪm on my collection, although I am still a very interested ɒn maɪ kə'leksən, ɔ:l'ðəʊ ai əm stɪl ə veri ɪntrɪstɪd collector. I see they have the latest stamps from kə'lektə. ai si: ðeɪ hæv ðə leɪtɪst stæmps frəm our country in this shop, but the prices are higher ʌə kʌntri ɪn ðɪs ʃɒp, bʌt ðə praɪsɪz a: haɪə Piccadilly = a street in the West End consequently = therefore than at home.”

ðən æt haʊm.”

When they had walked for some time, they came to hævən ðei həd wɔ:kt fə sʌm taɪm, ðei keɪm tə Shaftesbury Avenue, a road running both ways from ʃa:ftsbəri ævɪnju:, ə rəʊd rʌnɪŋ bəʊp weɪz frəm Charing Cross Road. Wood: “Shall we turn to the tʃærɪŋ krɒs rəʊd. wʊd: “ʃəl wi: tə:n tə ðə left here, down this street?” left hiə, daʊn ðɪs stri:t?”

Mr. Miller: “No, I think we will turn to the right.
mɪstə mɪlə: “nəʊ, aɪ θɪŋk wi: wɪl tə:n tə ðə raɪt.

Both the street on our left and the street on our right bəʊp ðə stri:t ɒn əʊə left ænd ðə stri:t ɒn əʊə raɪt are parts of Shaftesbury Avenue. If we turn to the ɑ: pɑ:ts əv ʃa:ftsbəri ævɪnju:. ɪf wi: tə:n tə ðə left, we shall soon get back to the hotel again. There-left, wi: ʃəl su:n get bæk tə ðə haʊ'tel ə'geɪn. ðeə-fore we will turn to the right, which will take us to fɔ: wi: wɪl tə:n tə ðə raɪt, hwɪtʃ wɪl teɪk əs tə Piccadilly.” pɪkə'dɪli.”

Consequently, they now turned to the right, down kɒnsɪkwəntli, ðei naʊ tə:nd tə ðə raɪt, daʊn Shaftesbury Avenue. In this part of the town they ʃa:ftsbəri ævɪnju:. ɪn ðɪs pɑ:t əv ðə taʊn ðei noticed that they passed cinema after cinema, and nəʊtɪst ðæt ðei pɑ:st sɪnɪmə ɑ:ftə sɪnɪmə, ænd

Mr. Miller told his pupils that this part of the town mɪstə mɪlə təʊld hɪz pʃu:plz ðæt ðɪs pɑ:t əv ðə taʊn is so full of cinemas and theatres that the Londoners ɪz sɔʊ fʊl əv sɪnɪməz ənd θɪətəz ðæt ðə lʌndənəz often call it theatre-land.

ɔ:fən kɔ:l ɪt θɪətərlænd.

When they got to Piccadilly, they noticed one shop hwen ðeɪ gɒt tə pɪkə'dɪli, ðeɪ nəʊtɪst wʌn ʃɒp after another with shirts, ties, socks, etc. They spent ɑ:fətə ə'nʌðə wɪð ʃə:ts, taɪz, sɒks, ɪt'setə. ðeɪ spent a long time going from window to window, looking at ə lɔŋ taɪm ɡəʊɪŋ frəm wɪndəʊ tə wɪndəʊ, lʊkɪŋ ət all the different articles.

ɔ:l ðə dɪfrənt ɑ:tɪklz.

Storm: "What nice things they have in these shops!"

stɔ:m: "hʌwt naɪs θɪŋz ðeɪ hæv ɪn ðɪ:z ʃɒps!"

Have you noticed that shirt over there, Brown; how hæv ju: nəʊtɪst ðæt ʃə:t ɒvə ðeə, braʊn; haʊ do you like it? I think I will go in and buy it."

du: ju: laɪk ɪt? aɪ θɪŋk aɪ wɪl ɡəʊ ɪn ənd baɪ ɪt."

Mr. Miller: "No, you had better not, Storm. Money mɪstə mɪlə: "nəʊ, ju: həd bətə nɒt, stɔ:m. məni for buying shirts is not included in the fifteen pounds fə baɪɪŋ ʃə:ts ɪz nɒt ɪn'klʊ:dɪd ɪn ðə fɪfti:n paʊndz we are going to spend in England. These shirts, and wɪ: ɑ: ɡəʊɪŋ tə spend ɪn ɪŋɡlənd. ðɪ:z ʃə:ts, ənd all the other articles you see in the shops in Piccadilly, ɔ:l ðɪ ʌðə ɑ:tɪklz ju: si: ɪn ðə ʃɒps ɪn pɪkə'dɪli, a Londoner = a person living in London

articles = things
 in a shop

You had better not do it = it is better for you not to do it.

are very expensive.”

a: veri iks'pensiv.”

Some time later Brown asked whether they were near sam taim leita braun a:skt hweda dei wa: nia Bond Street, as, he said, he took a special interest in bond stri:t, əs, hi: sed, hi: tuk ə spesəl intrist in seeing that street.

si:ɪŋ ðæt stri:t.

Mr. Miller: “Well, Bond Street was not included in mista milə: “wel, bond stri:t wəz nɒt in'kludid in our plans for to-day, but we can pass through it to auə plənz fə tə'dei, bʌt wi: kən pɑ:s þru: it tu

Oxford Street.”

ɒksfəd stri:t.”

The three friends were surprised to see the shops in ðə θri: frendz wə: sə'praɪzd tə si: ðə ʃɒps in Bond Street. Many of them were tailors' shops. Mr.

bond stri:t. meni əv ðəm wə: teɪləz ʃɒps. mistə Miller: “This is a street especially for men's shopping.

milə: “ðis ɪz ə stri:t ɪs'peʃəli fə menz ʃɒpɪŋ.

The best tailors in London have their shops in this ðə best teɪləz in lʌndən hæv ðeə ʃɒps in ðis street. But you will notice that no prices are shown stri:t. bʌt ju: wɪl nəʊtɪs ðæt nəʊ praɪsɪz a: ʃəʊn on the suits of clothes you see in the windows, and I ɒn ðə sju:ts əv kləʊðz ju: si: in ðə wɪndəʊz, ənd aɪ will tell you the reason. If you buy a suit of clothes at wɪl tel ju: ðə ri:zn. ɪf ju: baɪ ə sju:t əv kləʊðz ət a tailor's in Bond Street, you will have to pay him a teiləz in bɒnd stri:t, ju: wil hæv tə pei him about twenty guineas for it. 'Out of the twenty guineas ə'baʊt twenti ɡɪnɪz fɔ:r it. aʊt əv ðə twenti ɡɪnɪz ten, I think, will pay for the suit itself; the other ten ten, ai ɪŋk, wil pei fə ðə sju:t ɪt'self; ði ʌðə ten you pay for the name of 'Bond Street'. You see that ju: pei fə ðə neɪm əv 'bɒnd stri:t'. ju: si: ðæt there are good reasons why you should not buy your ðeər a: ɡud ri:znz hwaɪ ju: ʃʊd nɒt baɪ jɔ:

clothes here. However, you must not think that most kləʊðz hiə. haʊ'evə, ju: mʌst nɒt ɪŋk ðæt mʌst

Londoners buy their clothes at a Bond Street tailor's; lɒndənəz baɪ ðeə kləʊðz ət ə bɒnd stri:t teɪləz; only people with lots of money go shopping here. But əʊnli pi:pl wið lɒts əv mʌni ɡoʊ ʃɒpɪŋ hiə. bʌt now I will take you to Selfridge's, one of the biggest nəʊ ai wil teɪk ju: tə selfrɪdʒɪz, wʌn əv ðə bɪɡɪst shops in the world. They have lots of different articles ʃɒps ɪn ðə wɜ:ld. ðeɪ hæv lɒts əv dɪfrənt ɑ:tɪklz there, so that people can buy everything from a pin ðeə, sʌʊ ðæt pi:pl kən baɪ evrɪθɪŋ frəm ə pɪn to an elephant, as the saying goes, and there you will tʊ ən ɪləfənt, əz ðə seɪɪŋ ɡəʊz, ænd ðeə ju: wil be able to get something for your money." bɪ: eɪbl tə ɡet sʌmθɪŋ fə jɔ: mʌni."

Our four travellers spent an hour or two in Selfridge's, əʊə fɔ: trævələz spent ən aʊər ɔ: tʊ: ɪn selfrɪdʒɪz, a guinea = 21

shillings

a lot = a great many

/
pin

as the saying goes = as people say

elephant

You see a person
smile.

You hear a person laugh.

WORDS:

discuss pleased
stamp
second-hand collect collection collector
grow rapidly schoolfellow buying sticks, handkerchiefs, and cigarettes. When they baɪn stɪks, hənˈkətʃɪz, ənd sɪgəˈrets. hwen ðeɪ came out again, Wood said to Storm, "How do you like keɪm aʊt əˈɡeɪn, wʊd sed tə stɔ:m, "hau du: ju: laɪk my new stick? With this in my right hand, I feel that maɪ nju: stɪk? wɪð ðɪs ɪn maɪ raɪt hænd, aɪ fi:l ðæt

I could walk to the end of the world." He saw Mr. aɪ kʊd wɔ:k tə ðɪ end əv ðə wɜ:ld." hi: sɔ: mɪstə Miller smile, and then heard him laugh, saying: "I am mɪlə smaɪl, ənd ðen hæ:d hɪm la:f, seɪɪŋ: "aɪ əm sure you could. However, I think we have bought ʃʊə ju: kʊd. haʊˈevə, aɪ θɪŋk wi: hæv bɔ:t enough for to-day. Now let us go home through Oxford ɪˈnaʃ fə təˈdeɪ. naʊ let ʌs ɡoʊ hoʊm θru: ɔksfəd Street; a cup of tea would do us good." stri:t; ə kʌp əv ti: wʊd du: ʌs ɡʊd."

EXERCISE A.

The first morning our four friends were in London they decided to go — in the West End. Charing Cross Road is well known for its many — book-shops and shops with foreign —. These shops were of great — to Storm and Wood, who were both stamp —. Wood's first — of stamps was only small, but it has — from year to year to about 8,000 stamps, because he has — much time on it together with two of his old —. When they came to Shaftesbury Avenue, they — to the —. If they had — to the —, they would have got back to the hotel again.

Londoners often call the part of the town near Shaftesbury Avenue —, because there are so many cinemas and — there. In Piccadilly they — that there were many men's shops, and there were many of the different — in the windows that they would — to buy, but Mr. Miller told them that money for that was not — in their fifteen pounds. The — why they should not buy their clothes at a Bond Street — shop was that half of the price was for the name, Mr. Miller explained. It is only people with — of money who go shopping here.

EXERCISE B.

What did Mr. Miller and his pupils discuss the first morning in London? ... What did they agree to do? ... What is a second-hand book-shop? ... Why were the stamp shops of special interest to Wood and Storm? ... What is theatre-land? ... Why did Mr. Miller tell Storm that he had better not buy the shirt he liked so well? ... What shops do you especially find in Bond Street? ... What is the reason why prices are not shown in the Bond Street tailors' windows? ... What people go shopping in Bond Street? ... What is Selfridge's? ... What do people say about Selfridge's? ...

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'is, are, was, were, has, have, had'.

Are you English? Answer ... Question ...? Yes, Mr. Miller is the teacher of the three young men. Has Mr.

turn
right
left notice
include tailor reason guinea
lot
pin
elephant
stick interest cross consequently article
shop (verb) however special avenue Londoner
saying
laugh over
book-shop

Miller a son? Answer ... Question ...? No, the young men have no wives to think of. Was Mrs. Smith the only guest at Daisy's birthday party? Answer ... Question ...? No, Mrs. Miller and the boy were not with them in England. Had John a watch? Answer ... Question ...? No, they had not enough money for the trip. Was Mrs. Miller ever in England? Answer ... Question ...? Yes, they were at Selfridge's, a big shop where they bought several things. Has Mr. Miller had the young men as his pupils before? Answer ... Question ...? Yes, Mr. and Mrs. Miller have had rooms at the same hotel where the young men are now. Had Mr. Miller's boy been at his grandparents' home before? Answer ... Question ...? Yes, the young men had been at school together as boys. Had Mrs. Smith had her watch for a long time? Answer ... Question ...? Yes, they had had breakfast when they started on their shopping trip.

A TRIP UP THE RIVER

The next day Mr. Miller proposed a trip up the river ðə nekst dei mistə milə prə'pəuzd ə tri:p ʌp ðə rɪvə Thames to Hampton Court Palace. "We can go down temz tə həmtən kɔ:t pælis. "wi: kən gou daʊn to Westminster Bridge," he said, "and take the boat tə westmɪnstə brɪdʒ," hi: sed, "ænd teɪk ðə baʊt from there. Westminster Bridge is one of the many fɹəm ðeə. westmɪnstə brɪdʒ ɪz wʌn əv ðə meni bridges that go across the river and connect North brɪdʒɪz ðæt gou ə'krɒs ðə rɪvə ænd kə'nekt nɔ:θ

London with South London. We can go across the lʌndən wɪð saʊθ lʌndən. wi: kən gou ə'krɒs ðə river to look at that part of the town some other day."

rɪvə tə luk æt ðæt pɑ:t əv ðə taʊn sʌm ʌðə dei."

When they got on board, they noticed a board on which hwen ðei gɒt ɔn bɔ:d, ðei nəʊtɪst ə bɔ:d ɔn hwi:tʃ were given the names of the different places where the wə: gɪvən ðə neɪmz əv ðə dɪfrənt pleɪsɪz hwɛə ðə boat was going to. They walked across to read the baʊt wəz gouɪŋ tu. ðei wɔ:kt ə'krɒs tə ri:d ðə notice on the board, and Brown noticed that the boat nəʊtɪs ɔn ðə bɔ:d, ænd braʊn nəʊtɪst ðæt ðə baʊt was going to Oxford, the town in which the great wəz gouɪŋ tu ɒksfəd, ðə taʊn ɪn hwi:tʃ ðə greɪt palace

boats

bridge

board

the notice = that which was written on the board

English university is situated.

ɪŋɡlɪʃ ʃuːnɪˈvɜːsɪti ɪz sɪtʃueɪtɪd.

Mr. Miller explained to them that there are thousands mɪstə mɪlər ɪksˈpleɪnd tə ðəm ðæt ðeər aː ˈhaʊzənz of students from all over the world who study at this əv stjuːdənts frəm ɔːl ɒvə ðə wɜːld huː stadi æt ðɪs old university, and that they are taught by a great əʊld juːnɪˈvɜːsɪti, ænd ðæt ðeɪ aː tɔːt baɪ ə greɪt many professors. After having read the notice, he meni prəˈfesəz. ɑːftə hæviŋ red ðə nɒtɪs, hiː said, "It seems that every day during the spring and sed, "ɪt siːmz ðæt evri dei dʒuəriŋ ðə sprɪŋ ænd summer there is a boat to Oxford." "It must be a samə ðeər ɪz ə baʊt tu ɔksfəd." "ɪt mʌst biː ə lovely trip up the river," Wood said, "I propose that lʌvli trɪp ʌp ðə rɪvə," wʊd sed, "aɪ prəˈpəʊz ðæt we try the trip. It isn't very far to Oxford, is it?"

weɪ traɪ ðə trɪp. ɪt ɪznt veri faː tu ɔksfəd, ɪz ɪt?"

"No, it isn't far to Oxford; a train will take you there

"nəʊ, ɪt ɪznt fɑː tu ɔksfəd; ə treɪn wɪl teɪk juː ðeə in an hour and a half, and yet by boat the trip takes ɪn ən aʊər ænd ə haːf, ænd yet baɪ baʊt ðə trɪp teɪks two days. The train goes in an almost straight line, tuː deɪz. ðə treɪn ɡəʊz ɪn ən ɔːlməʊst streɪt laɪn, while the river makes many bends, as most rivers do.

hwaɪl ðə rɪvə meɪks meni bendz, əz mʌst rɪvəz duː.

Although London is connected with Oxford by the river, ɔːlˈðəʊ lʌndən ɪz kəˈnektɪd wɪð ɔksfəd baɪ ðə rɪvə, a straight line

a line with bends

yet it is mostly tourists who make the trip to Oxford jet it iz moustli tuəristz hu: meik ðə trip tu ɔksfəd by boat. The steamer goes so slowly that they have baɪ bəʊt. ðə sti:mə ɡəʊz səʊ sləʊli ðæt ðeɪ hæv time to see everything, and at night the boat stops at taɪm tə si: evriθɪŋ, ænd æt naɪt ðə bəʊt stɒps æt a town, and the tourists go ashore to sleep at a hotel.”

ə taʊn, ænd ðə tuəristz ɡəʊ əʃɔ: tə sli:p æt ə haʊtel.”

The first thing they noticed when the boat had started, ðə fə:st θɪŋ ðeɪ nəʊtɪst hwen ðə bəʊt həd stɑ:tɪd, was a big palace on the right bank of the river. “What wəz ə bɪɡ pælɪs ɒn ðə raɪt bæŋk əv ðə rɪvə. “hwaɪt palace is that?” asked Storm. “Does the King or pælɪs ɪz ðæt?” ə:skt stɔ:m. “dʌz ðə kɪŋ ɔ:

some other person of the royal family live there?” “No, sʌm ʌðə pə:sn əv ðə rɔɪəl fæmɪli li:v ðeə?” “nəʊ, it is not used by the royal family. It is called Lambeth ɪt ɪz nɒt ju:zd baɪ ðə rɔɪəl fæmɪli. ɪt ɪz kɔ:ld læmbəθ

Palace.”
pælɪs.”

A little farther up the river, just after a bend, they ə lɪtl fɑ:ðər ʌp ðə rɪvə, dʒʌst ɑ:ftər ə bend, ðeɪ passed under Putney Bridge, and Mr. Miller told them pɑ:st ʌndə pʌtneɪ brɪdʒ, ænd mɪstə mɪlə təʊld ðəm about the great boatrace which takes place every year ə'baʊt ðə ɡreɪt baʊtreɪs huɪtʃ teɪks pleɪs evri jɪə between students from the universities of Oxford and bɪ'twi:n stju:dənts frəm ðə ju:nɪ'və:sɪtɪz əv ɔksfəd ænd mostly = most often

king

the royal family = the king's family

boatrace

Cambridge. The boats start at Putney Bridge and go keimbridʒ. ðə bəʊts stɑ:t ət pʌtneɪ brɪdʒ ænd goʊ as far as Mortlake, which is about $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles əz fa:r əz mɔ:tleɪk, hwɪtʃ ɪz ə'baʊt fɔ:r ænd ə ha:f maɪlz farther up the river. The men in each boat do all they fɑ:ðər ʌp ðə rɪvə. ðə men ɪn i:tʃ bəʊt du: ɔ:l ðeɪ can to make their boat get there first. The young men kæn tə meɪk ðeə bəʊt get ðeə fə:st. ðə jʌŋ men were very surprised to hear that the boatrace takes wə: veri sə'praɪzd tə hiə ðæt ðə bəʊtreɪs teɪks only about twenty minutes.

əʊnli ə'baʊt twenti mɪnɪts.

Some time later they came to Kingston-on-Thames.

səm taɪm leɪtə ðeɪ keɪm tə kɪŋstən ɒn temz.

"It is a very old town, and as the name tells us, it has

"it ɪz ə veri ould taʊn, ænd əz ðə neɪm telz ʌs, ɪt hæz something to do with kings; it means the king's town.

səmʃɪŋ tə du: wɪð kɪŋz; ɪt mi:nz ðə kɪŋz taʊn.

About twelve hundred years ago, the old Saxon kings ə'baʊt twelvə haʊdrəd jɪəz ə'gəʊ, ði ould sæksn kɪŋz were crowned here," Mr. Miller said to the young men.

wə: kraʊnd hɪə," mɪstə mɪlə sed tə ðə jʌŋ men.

"Do you know where the English kings are crowned

"du: ju: nəʊ hwɛə ði ɪŋglɪʃ kɪŋz ɑ: kraʊnd nowadays?" he asked. "Oh, yes, we know that all naʊədeɪz?" hi: ɑ:skt. "əʊ, jɛs, wi: nəʊ ðæt ɔ:l right," they all replied; "it is at Westminster Abbey.

raɪt." ðeɪ ɔ:l rɪ'plaɪd; "ɪt ɪz ət westmɪnstə ʌbi.

Saxons = the name of some of the people who lived in England a thousand years ago

The last time an English king was crowned there, we ðə la:st taɪm ən ɪŋɡlɪʃ kɪŋ wəz kraʊnd ðeə. wi:

read all about it in the newspapers, and from the many red ɔ:l ə'baʊt ɪt ɪn ðə nju:speɪpəz, ənd frəm ðə meni pictures that were taken we were able to see how it pɪktʃəz ðæt wə: teɪkn wi: wə:r eɪbl tə si: haʊ ɪt was done. It was very interesting to see all the people wəz dʌn. ɪt wəz veri ɪntrɪstɪŋ tə si: ɔ:l ðə pi:pl in their fine silk clothes, some of them with crowns ɪn ðeə faɪn sɪlk kləʊðz, sʌm əv ðəm wɪð kraʊnz upon their heads. One would think that they were ə'pɒn ðeə hedz. wʌn wʊd θɪŋk ðæt ðeɪ wə:

pictures from very old times, and not pictures of pɪktʃəz frəm veri ould taɪmz, ənd nɒt pɪktʃəz əv something taking place in modern times."

sʌmθɪŋ teɪkɪŋ pleɪs ɪn mɒdən taɪmz."

They had now got past Kingston. On their way up the ðeɪ həd naʊ gɒt pɑ:st kɪŋstən. ɒn ðeə wei ʌp ðə river they passed many small boats from which people rɪvə ðeɪ pɑ:st meni smɔ:l bəʊts frəm hwi:ʃ pi:pl were fishing in the river, and on the banks of the river wə: fɪʃɪŋ ɪn ðə rɪvə, ənd ɒn ðə bæŋks əv ðə rɪvə they also saw many people fishing. Every time the ðeɪ ɔ:lsəʊ sɔ: meni pi:pl fɪʃɪŋ. evri taɪm ðə steamer passed one of the boats, the man in the boat sti:mə pɑ:st wʌn əv ðə bəʊts, ðə mæn ɪn ðə bəʊt looked up and shouted angry words at them.

lʊkt ʌp ənd ʃaʊtɪd æŋɡri wə:dz æt ðəm.

picture

CROWN

one fish
many fish
two fish, or two fishes

He catches, he caught, he has caught [kætʃɪz, kɔ:t, kɔ:t].

"Why are they so angry?" Wood asked. "I can see "hawai a: dei sou æŋgri?" wud a:skt. "ai kən si:

that you have never been fishing," Brown said to him.
ðət ju: hæv nevə bi:n fiʃɪŋ," braun sed tə him.

"When a boat like this passes, all the fish go away,
"hwen ə bout laik ðis pa:sɪz. ɔ:l ðə fiʃ gou ə'wei.

and then the men in the boats do not catch any fish.
ænd ðen ðə men in ðə bouts du: nɒt kætʃ eni fiʃ.

— Do they catch many fish here?" he asked Mr. Miller.

— du: dei kætʃ meni fiʃ hiə?" hi: a:skt mistə milə.

"No, I don't think so; there are fish enough in the river,
"nou, ai daunt ɪŋk sou; ðeər a: fiʃ i'nʌf in ðə rɪvə, but there are too many boats passing up and down bʌt ðeər a: tu: meni bouts pa:sɪŋ ʌp ænd daʊn the river all the time. But I don't understand why ðə rɪvə ɔ:l ðə taɪm. bʌt ai daunt ʌndə'stænd hwaɪ they get so angry; they must know that there are ðei get sou æŋgri; ðei mʌst nou ðət ðeər a:

steamers going up and down the river all day, so that sti:məz goʊɪŋ ʌp ænd daʊn ðə rɪvə ɔ:l dei, sou ðət there is nothing to be so angry about. They had better ðeər ɪz nʌθɪŋ tə bi: sou æŋgri ə'baut. ðei həd betə go to a quieter place to fish. I once did some fishing gou tu ə kwaɪətə pleɪs tə fiʃ. ai wʌns dɪd sʌm fiʃɪŋ here with a friend. We spent a whole day on the river, hiə wɪð ə frend. wi: spent ə haʊl dei ɔn ðə rɪvə, and at the end of the day I had caught only one small ænd ət ði end əv ðə dei ai həd kɔ:t ɒnli wʌn smɔ:l fish, three inches long!"

fɪʃ, θri: ɪnʃɪz lɔŋ!

They arrived at Hampton Court after a short time ðei ə'raɪvd ət hæmtən kɔ:t a:ftər ə ʃɔ:t taɪm and went up to look at the palace. It is situated very ænd went ʌp tə lʊk ət ðə pælɪs. ɪt ɪz sɪtʃueɪtɪd veri beautifully in some gardens. They stood for a long bju:təfʊli ɪn sʌm gɑ:dnz. ðei stʊd fər ə lɔŋ time looking at the lovely flowers, and especially at taɪm lʊkɪŋ ət ðə lʌvli flauəz, ænd ɪs'pɛsəli ət a long straight walk with many beautiful flowers on ə lɔŋ streɪt wɔ:k wɪð meni bju:təfʊl flauəz ɔn both sides. In some parts of the palace people may bəʊp saɪdz. ɪn sʌm pɑ:ts əv ðə pælɪs pi:pl meɪ go in and look at the rooms and all that is in them.

ɡəʊ ɪn ænd lʊk ət ðə ru:mz ænd ɔ:l ðət ɪz ɪn ðəm.

Everything is left just as it was hundreds of years ago.

evriθɪŋ ɪz left dʒʌst əz ɪt wəz haʊndrədz əv jɪəz ə'ɡəʊ.

Most of the things in the palace are connected with məʊst əv ðə θɪŋz ɪn ðə pælɪs a: kə'nektɪd wɪð the Tudor and Stuart kings and queens, especially with ðə tju:dər ænd stjuət kɪŋz ænd kwi:nz, ɪs'pɛsəli wɪð Queen Anne, the great Stuart queen of England. One kwi:n æn, ðə greɪt stjuət kwi:n əv ɪŋɡlənd. wʌn of the things which interested them very much was əv ðə θɪŋz hwɪtʃ ɪntrɪstɪd ðəm veri mʌtʃ wəz

Queen Anne's bedroom. "You can see," Wood said kwi:n ænz bedrʊm. "ju: kən si:," wʊd sed

Tudor } = the fa-Stuart } mily names of several English
kings and queens queen

bus

to the others, "that women were the same then as tə ði ʌðəz, "ðæt wimin wə: ðə seim ðen əz now," and he showed them all the things that the nau," ənd hi: ʃəʊd ðəm ɔ:l ðə þɪŋz ðæt ðə

Queen had used to make herself beautiful.
kwi:n həd ju:zd tə meɪk hæ:'self bju:təfʊl.

When it was time to go home, Mr. Miller proposed hwɛn ɪt wəz taɪm tə ɡoʊ hoʊm, mɪstə mɪlə prə'pəʊzd taking a bus straight back to London, as far as teɪkɪŋ ə bʌs streɪt bæk tə lʌndən, əz fɑ:r əz

Wimbledon. From Wimbledon they could go by tram wɪmblɒn. frəm wɪmblɒn ðeɪ kʊd ɡoʊ baɪ trəm to Westminster Bridge. "If we go that way," he said, tə westmɪnstə brɪdʒ. "ɪf wi: ɡoʊ ðæt weɪ," hi: sed,

"we shall be able to see much of South London from "wi: ʃəl bi: eɪbl tə si: mʌtʃ əv saʊθ lʌndən frəm the windows." They all thought this a good idea, and ðə ˈwɪndəʊz." ðeɪ ɔ:l θɔ:t ðɪs ə ɡʊd aɪ'dɪə, ənd consequently they went back by bus and tram as Mr. kɒnsɪkwəntli ðeɪ went bæk baɪ bʌs ənd trəm əz mɪstə

Miller proposed.
mɪlə prə'pəʊzd.

EXERCISE A.

Mr. Miller — that they should go on a trip to Hampton Court —. They would go by boat from Westminster —. This bridge goes — the Thames and —

North London with South London. The four travellers thought of going by — to Oxford, where the great English — is situated. At Oxford — there are many — to teach the students. Lambeth Palace is situated on the right — of the river. Kingston-on-Thames is a town where the Saxon — were — many years ago.

Did Mr. Miller — many fish the day when he was out fishing? No, he only — one small fish. Who lived at Hampton Court — many years ago? — Anne lived there, and her — may still be seen in the palace. Did Mr. Miller — going home by boat? No, he — going home by —.

EXERCISE B.

How did the four travellers get to Hampton Court? ... Is it far from London to Oxford? ... Do most tourists go by train to Oxford? ... Where does the boatrace between the universities of Oxford and Cambridge start from? ... What is Kingston-on-Thames? ... Are the English kings crowned at Kingston nowadays? ... Why do the people fishing in the river get angry when steamers pass them? ... Do they catch many fish? ... Did Mr. Miller ever go fishing in the Thames? ... What did they see at Hampton Court Palace? ...

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'do' or 'does'.

Does Mr. Smith's brother live in town? Answer ...
Question ...? No, Mr. Smith lives in town. Does

WORDS:

propose
palace
bridge across
notice
board
boat university straight line tourist bank
bend royal boatrace connect
king
queen
crown crown (verb)
abbey
picture
fish (verb)
angry catch caught
walk
bus
yet Saxon
professor student
way

John go to school every day? Answer ... Question ...?
No, Mr. Smith does not go to town on Sundays. Do you have coffee for breakfast? Answer ... Question ...?
Yes, I often have soup and meat for dinner. Does Helen swim as well as her brother? Answer ... Question ...?
No, her father sings better than she does. Does it suit you to pay the money now? Answer ... Question ...?
No, English does not seem difficult to me. Do any of the young men collect stamps? Answer ... Question ...? Yes, tourists often take bus trips right through London. Do the English like tea better than coffee?
Answer ... Question ...? Yes, the three young men get shorter holidays than their teacher. Do John and Helen stay in the house when it is cold? Answer ... Question ...? Yes, John and Helen come when their father calls them.

LONDON FROM WEST TO EAST

Mr. Miller and his three young friends were having mɪstə mɪlə ənd hɪz ʒriː jʌŋ frɛndz wəː hæviŋ breakfast at the hotel.

brekfəst ət ðə hau'tel.

Wood: "We have now been here for several days, long wudː "wi hæv nau biːn hiə fə sevərəl deɪz, lɔŋ enough at least to have got an impression of London.

i'nʌf ət liːst tə hæv ɡɒt ən im'preʃən əv lʌndən.

It seems, however, that there is no end to this big town.

ɪt siːmz, hau evə, ðət ðeər ɪz nou end tə ðɪs biɡ taʊn.

It is very difficult to get a full impression of it."

ɪt ɪz veri dɪfɪkəlt tə ɡet ə ful im'preʃən əv ɪt."

Mr. Miller: "Yes, you are right. Everybody has that mɪstə mɪləː "jes, juː aː raɪt. evrɪbɒdi hæz ðæt feeling the first time he is in London. I should like fɪːliŋ ðə fəːst taɪm hiː ɪz ɪn lʌndən. aɪ ʃʊd laɪk feeling = that which one feels to propose a trip which few tourists make. Let us go tə prə'pəʊz ə trɪp hwaɪf fjuː tuəɪsts meɪk. let ʌs ɡoʊ by Underground to the western part of London, and bai ʌndəɡraʊnd tə ðə westən pɑːt əv lʌndən, ənd western = which is to the west

from there we will have a bus ride right through fɾəm ðeə wiː wɪl hæv ə bʌs raɪd raɪt θruː right (here) =

straight

London from west to east. On this trip we can see lʌndən fɾəm west tu iːst. ɒn ðɪs trɪp wiː kən siː

Chapter Thirty-Three (33).

suburbs = the parts of a town that are farthest away from the central part the western and the eastern suburbs of London." "I ðə westən ənd ði i:stən sʌbəbz əv lʌndən." "ai think that is a very good idea," said Wood, and the piŋk ðæt iz ə veri gud aɪ'diə," sed wud ənd ði others agreed with him.

ʌðəz ə'gri:d wið him.

As soon as they had had their breakfast, they went əz su:n əz ðei həd həd ðeə brekfəst, ðei went by Underground to Ealing, a suburb in the west of baɪ ʌndəgraʊnd tu i:liŋ, ə sʌbəb in ðə west əv London with a great number of small houses. Having lʌndən wið ə greɪt nʌmbər əv smɔ:l haʊzɪz. hæviŋ arrived at Ealing, they got on a bus going to Barking ə'raɪvd ət i:liŋ, ðei gɒt ɒn ə bʌs goɪŋ tə bɑ:kɪŋ in East London. After they had passed through the ɪn i:st lʌndən. ɑ:ftə ðei həd pɑ:st ʃru: ðə western suburbs of London and got an impression of westən sʌbəbz əv lʌndən ənd gɒt ɒn ɪm'prefən əv them, Brown said to the teacher, "Each suburb seems ðəm, braʊn sed tə ðə ti:tfə, "i:tf sʌbəb si:mz to be much like a town, with a High Street or a High tə bi: mʌtʃ laɪk ə taʊn, wið ə haɪ stri:t ɔ:r ə haɪ

Road where the biggest and best shops, the theatres, raʊd hwɛə ðə bɪɡɪst ənd best ʃɒps, ðə piətəz, and the cinemas are to be found." ənd ðə sɪnɪməz ɑ: tə bi: faʊnd."

Storm: "I have noticed that some of the shops in the stɔ:m: "aɪ həv nəʊtɪst ðæt sʌm əv ðə ʃɒps ɪn ðə suburbs are just as big as those we have seen in the sʌbə:bz a: dʒʌst əz biɡ əz ðəʊz wi: hæv si:n in ðə

West End, and some of the cinemas are even bigger.”
west end, ənd sʌm əv ðə siniməz a:r i:vən biɡə.”

Wood: “What long rows of small houses they have in wud: “hʊəl ləŋ rouz əv smɔ:l haʊziz ðei hæv in the suburbs!” Mr. Miller: “Yes, that is what the Lonðə sʌbə:bz!” mistə milə: “jes, ðæt iz hʊəl ðə lʌndoners like. Instead of living in flats in big buildings dənəz laik. in'stəd əv liviŋ in flæts in biɡ bildiŋz in the centre of the town, they prefer to live in their in ðə sentər əv ðə taʊn, ðei pri'fə: tə liv in ðeər centre = central part

own houses in the suburbs. That's why you see those oun haʊziz in ðə sʌbə:bz. ðæts hʊəi ju: si: ðəʊz long rows of small houses, street upon street of them.”

ləŋ rouz əv smɔ:l haʊziz, stri:t ə'pɒn stri:t əv ðəm.”

street upon street = one street after another

Wood: “I do not wonder that the Londoners like small wud: “ai du: nɒt wʌndə ðæt ðə lʌndənəz laik smɔ:l houses. I should also prefer a small house of my own haʊziz. ai ʃʊd ə:lsoʊ pri'fə:r ə smɔ:l haʊs əv mai oun to prefer... to = to like... better

than

to a flat in a big building. Besides, they have their tu ə flæt in ə biɡ bildiŋ. bi'saidz, ðei hæv ðeər own gardens with trees and flowers.” oun ɡɑ:dnz wið tri:z ənd flauəz.”

Now they began to get near the centre of London; the nau ðei bi'ɡæn tə ɡel niə ðə sentər əv lʌndən; ðə bus went along Oxford Street, and before long they bʌs went ə'ləŋ ɒksfəd stri:t, ənd bi'fɔ: ləŋ ðei

Chapter Thirty-Three (33).

the middle = the centre

were in the City. Mr. Miller: "Now we are in the wə:r in ðə siti. mistə milə: "nau wi: a:r in ðə middle of London." Brown: "Then we have only midl əv lʌndən." braun: "ðen wi: həv ounli travelled half-way from west to east. It gives us a good trævlɪd hæ:fwei frəm west tu i:st. it givz ʌs ə gud impression of how large London is."

im'presʃən əv hau la:dʒ lʌndən iz."

Mr. Miller: "Yes, but look at the streets now. They are mistə milə: "jes, bʌt luk ət ðə stri:ts nau. ðei a:

much narrower than in the suburbs. We are in the old mʌʃ nərouə ðən in ðə sʌbə:bz. wi: a:r in ði ould part of London. That building over there is the Bank pɑ:t əv lʌndən. ðæt bɪldɪŋ ouwə ðeə iz ðə bæŋk of England. It is the greatest bank in the country; a əv ɪŋɡlənd. it iz ðə greɪtɪst bæŋk in ðə kʌntri; ə lot of money passes through it every year, but I think lɒt əv mʌni pɑ:sɪz þru: it evri jɪə, bʌt ai θɪŋk you have already heard of the Bank of England many ju: həv ɔ:l'redi hæ:d əv ðə bæŋk əv ɪŋɡlənd meni times at home."

taɪmz ət haʊm."

motor-car = car

bicycle

Storm: "What a lot of traffic there is here! There are sle:m: "hwɒt ə lɒt əv træfɪk ðeər iz hiə! ðeər a:

large numbers of people, motor-cars, and buses, but I la:dʒ nʌmbəz əv pi:pl, moutəka:z, ənd bʌsɪz, bʌt ai see very few bicycles."

si: veri fju: baɪsaɪklz."

Wood: "Yes, the bus can hardly get through the traffic, wud: "jes, ðə bʌs kən ha:dli get pru: ðə træfɪk, and it must be very difficult to ride a bicycle in all and it mʌst bi: veri dɪfɪkəlt tə raɪd ə baɪsɪkl ɪn ɔ:l this traffic."

ðɪs træfɪk."

Mr. Miller: "It is hardly ever possible to get through mɪstə mɪlə: "ɪt ɪz ha:dli evə pɒsəbl tə get pru:

hardly = almost
not

the traffic here quickly. The Bank is one of the two ðə træfɪk hɪə kwɪkli. ðə bæŋk ɪz wʌn əv ðə tu:

the Bank = the Bank of England

places in London at which the traffic is greatest. All pleɪsɪz ɪn lʌndən ət hwɪtʃ ðə træfɪk ɪz greɪtɪst. ɔ:l

the buildings in the City are office buildings, and ðə bɪldɪŋz ɪn ðə sɪti a:r ɒfɪs bɪldɪŋz, ənd hardly any one lives here, so that this part of the town ha:dli ɛni wʌn lɪvz hɪə, sʊ ðæt ðɪs pɑ:t əv ðə taʊn is almost empty at night. In the evening, all who work ɪz ɔ:lmʌst ɛmtɪ ət naɪt." ɪn ðɪ i:vɪnɪŋ, ɔ:l hu: wɜ:k in the City want to go home almost at the same time.

ɪn ðə sɪti wɒnt tə ɡəʊ hoʊm ɔ:lmʌst ət ðə seɪm taɪm.

Consequently, the streets are just full of people at kɒnsɪkwəntli, ðə stri:ts a: dʒʌst fʊl ɒf pi:pl ət that time."

ðæt taɪm."

Brown: "I have noticed that there are no trams to be braʊn: "aɪ hæv nəʊtɪst ðæt ðeər a: nəʊ træmz tə bi:

seen in the City."

sɪ:n ɪn ðə sɪti."

Chapter Thirty-Three (33).

neither in the City nor in the West End = not in the City and not in the West End

no trams at all = not a single tram

the very houses =
even the houses

Mr. Miller: "No, they are used neither in the City mistə milə: "nou, ðei a: ju:zd naiðər in ðə siti nor in the West End, and you can see for yourselves nɔ:r in ðə west end, ənd ju: kən si: fə ʃə:'selvz that in these narrow streets it would hardly be possible ðæt in ði:z nærou stri:ts it wud hɑ:dlɪ bi: pɒsəbl to have any trams at all. In four or five years, I tə hæv ɛni træmz ət ɔ:l in ʃɔ:r ɔ: ʃaɪv ʃiəz, aɪ think, there will be no trams at all in London. They þɪŋk, ðeə wɪl bi: nou træmz ət ɔ:l in lʌndən. ðei are neither very fast nor easy to drive. Instead, they a: naiðə veri ʃa:st nɔ:r i:zi tə draɪv. ɪn'sted, ðei will have either more buses or more Underground railwɪl hæv aɪðə mɔ: bʌsɪz ɔ: mɔ:r ʌndəgraʊnd reɪl-ways. That is just the same as in Paris." weɪz. ðæt ɪz dʒʌst ðə seɪm əz ɪn pæris."

After leaving the City, they passed through the East a:ftə li:vɪŋ ðə siti, ðei pɑ:st ʃru: ði i:st End, and Mr. Miller said, "Many poor people live in end, ənd mistə milə sed, "meni puə pi:pl liv ɪn this part of the town. You can see from the very ðɪs pɑ:t əv ðə taʊn. ju: kən si: frəm ðə veri houses that the people living in them must be poor, haʊzɪz ðæt ðə pi:pl li:vɪŋ ɪn ðəm mʌst bi: puə, that is, they have very little money." ðæt ɪz, ðei hæv veri lɪtl mʌni."

Some time later, after passing through many other sʌm taɪm leɪtə, a:ftə pɑ:sɪŋ ʃru: meni ʌðə parts of London, they arrived at Barking, a suburb in pa:ls əv lʌndən, ðei ə'raɪvd əl bɑ:kɪŋ, ə sʌbə:b in the east of London. They found that the suburbs of ði i:st əv lʌndən. ðei faʊnd ðæt ðə sʌbə:bz əv

East London were just like those of West London; i:st lʌndən wə: dʒʌst laɪk ðəʊz əv west lʌndən; consequently, after a short time, they returned by kənsɪkwəntli, ɑ:ftər ə ʃɔ:t taɪm, ðei rɪ'tə:nd baɪ Underground to their hotel.

ʌndəgraʊnd tə ðeə haʊ'tel.

to return = to go back

EXERCISE A.

The three young men have got a good — of how large London is. However, they have the — that they do not know the city yet. Mr. Miller — a trip from west to — right — London. They went by — to one of the — in the west of London. In each — there is a — Street or High — where most of the big shops and the — are to be —.

The Londoner does not like to live in a —. He — his own house. There are long — of such houses in the — of London. In the City the streets are much — than in the suburbs, and there is a lot of — in the streets. There are many — to be seen in the streets of the City, but not many —. It is very difficult to — a bicycle in all that —. It is — possible to get through the — quickly. There are no — in the narrow streets of the City, and in a few years there will be no trams — in London.

WORDS: impression western west eastern east
ride

right
suburb
High Street
row flat prefer centre
middle bank traffic

motor-car

bicycle

hardly any one

neither . . . nor either . . . or no . . . at all poor

return

feeling

very

half-way

EXERCISE B.

Where did Mr. Miller and the three young men have their breakfast on the morning of the day when they went right through London by bus? . . . How did they start their trip? . . . What did they find that each suburb looked like? . . . What was there to be found in each suburb? . . . Why does the Londoner not like to live in a flat? . . . What are the streets like in the centre of London? . . . Is it easy to ride on a bicycle in the streets of the City? . . . What people live in the East End of London? . . . Were the suburbs of East London different from those of West London? . . . What did the four travellers do when they arrived at Barking? . . .

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'did'.

Did Brown go alone to the railway station when he left his home to travel to England? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, Wood's sister went along with him to the station. Did the driver drive fast enough when going to the station? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, the others waited for him at the station. Did you think that there would be so much traffic in London that the buses could hardly get through? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, they noticed that the streets got narrower when they came back to the centre of London. Did they stop at any of the second-hand bookshops? Answer . . . Question . . .? No, they turned to the right when they came to Shaftesbury Avenue. Did the young men pay for their tickets themselves?

Answer . . . Question . . .? No, they did not buy anything in Bond Street. Did the four travellers visit any palaces on their trip up the river? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, they saw Lambeth Palace from the boat. Did they find the old town of Kingston very interesting? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, they saw many people fishing on the banks of the river.

THE PARKS OF LONDON

At lunch the next day, they discussed the buildings ət lʌnf ðə nekst dei, ðei dis'kʌst ðə bildɪŋz they had seen in London. "We have now got an im-ðei həd si:n in lʌndən. "wi: həv nau got ən impression of the buildings of London, but we should also 'prefən əv ðə bildɪŋz əv lʌndən, bʌt wi: ʃud ə:lsou like to see its many fine and big parks," said Wood.

 laɪk tə si: ɪts meni faɪn ənd bɪg pɑ:kz," sed wud.

"We have often read about them in the newspapers,
 "wi: həv ə:fn red ə'baʊl ðəm ɪn ðə nju:spɛɪpəz, and sometimes we have seen pictures of them, too; ənd sʌmtaɪmz wi: həv si:n pɪktʃəz əv ðəm, tu:;

but a picture does not give a real impression of them, I bʌt ə pɪktʃə dʌz nɒt gɪv ə riəl ɪm'prefən əv ðəm, ɪ think. One must see them in reality to get the right

 ɪŋk. wʌn mʌst si: ðəm ɪn ri'ælɪti tə get ðə raɪt impression." "Yes," answered Mr. Miller, "that would ɪm'prefən." "jes," ɑ:nsəd mɪstə mɪlə, "ðæt wud be a good idea for to-day's trip. But you speak of the bi: ə gud aɪ'diə fə tə'deɪz trip. bʌt ju: spi:k əv ðə parks of London as if you could see them all in a day.

 pɑ:kz əv lʌndən əz ɪf ju: kʊd si: ðəm ə:l ɪn ə dei.

You really can't see more than one, or two at the most, ju: riəli kɑ:n't si: mɔ: ðən wʌn, ɔ: tu: ət ðə maʊst, in one day. I propose that we go to Regent's Park first.

in wʌn dei. ai prə'pouz ðæt wi: gou tə ri:dʒənts pɑ:k fə:st.

From there we can go through Baker Street and Oxfɾəm ðeə wi: kən gou ʃru: beikə stri:t ənd ɔksford Street to Hyde Park, and while we are on our fɔd stri:t tə haɪd pɑ:k, ənd hwail wi: a:r ɒn əuə way, we might stop and have some tea somewhere in wei, wi: maɪt stɒp ənd hæv sʌm ti: sʌmhweər in

Oxford Street."

ɔksfəd stri:t."

They did as Mr. Miller proposed and took a bus to ðei dɪd əz mɪstə mɪlə prə'pouzɪd ənd tuk ə bʌs tə Regent's Park. In this park are the well-known Zoo-ri:dʒənts pɑ:k. in ðɪs pɑ:k a: ðə welnəʊn zulogical Gardens of London. They went in to look at 'lədʒɪkəl ɡɑ:dnz əv lʌndən. ðei went in tə luk ət the animals. Mr. Miller told the young men that Lonði ænɪməlz. mɪstə mɪlə təʊld ðə jʌŋ men ðæt lʌndoners call the Zoological Gardens the 'Zoo', for short.

dənəz kɔ:l ðə zu'lɒdʒɪkəl ɡɑ:dnz ðə 'zu:', fə ʃɔ:t.

They stood for a long time watching the monkeys playðei stʊd fɜr ə lɔŋ taɪm wɒtʃɪŋ ðə mʌŋkɪz pleɪing with each other. "They are so funny," said Brown, ɪŋ wɪð i:tf ʌðə. "ðei a: sʊ fʌni," sed braʊn,

"that I could watch them for hours." Suddenly, one of "ðæt ai kʊd wɒtʃ ðəm fɜr aʊəz." sʌdnli, wʌn əv the monkeys put out his hand and took an umbrella ðə mʌŋkɪz put aʊt hɪz hænd ənd tuk ɒn ʌm'brelə somewhere = at some place or other

for short = to make it shorter monkey

suddenly = quickly and surprisingly umbrella

near by = near

as = when from a little girl who was standing near by. The fɾəm ə lɪtl gə:l hu: wəz stændɪŋ niə baɪ. ði umbrella was not open, but a few minutes later, the ʌm'brelə wəz nɒt oupən, bʌt ə fju: minɪts leɪtə, ðə monkey had got it opened. It was so funny to see the mʌŋki həd gɒt ɪt oupənd. ɪt wəz sou ʃʌni tə si: ðə monkey running about with the umbrella that all the mʌŋki rʌnɪŋ ə'baʊt wɪð ði ʌm'brelə ðæt ɔ:l ðə people who watched it had to laugh, except the little pi:pl hu: wɒtʃt ɪt həd tə lɑ:f, ɪk'sept ðə lɪl girl.

gə:l.

They also went to see the snakes, which interested ðei ɔ:lsou went tə si: ðə sneɪks, hwɪtʃ ɪntrɪstɪd

Wood very much, and after having seen the other wʊd veri mʌtʃ, ənd ɑ:ftə hævɪŋ si:n ði ʌðə animals, they left Regent's Park and went to a restauæniməlz, ðei left ri:dʒənts pɑ:k ənd went tu ə restərant in Oxford Street for tea. "What a big place this rənt ɪn ɒksfəd stri:t fə ti:. "hwɒt ə bɪg pleɪs ðɪs is!" the young men said as they entered the restauɪz!" ðə jʌŋ men sed əz ðei ɛntəd ðə restərant. "It is the largest we have ever seen. What is the rɔ:ŋ. "ɪt ɪz ðə lɑ:dʒɪst wi: həv evə si:n. hwɒt ɪz ðə name of it?" "The Marble Arch Corner House," Mr. neɪm əv ɪt?" "ðə mɑ:bl ɑ:tʃ kɔ:nə haus," mɪstə

Miller answered. "Yes, it is a long name," he said, mɪlə ɑ:nsəd. "jes, ɪt ɪz ə lɔŋ neɪm," hi: sed, laughing at the look of surprise on the young men's la:fiŋ æt ðə luk əv sə'praiz ɔn ðə jʌŋ menz faces. "I'll explain it to you, while we are having our feisiz. "ail iks'plein it tə ju:, hwail wi: a: hæviŋ auə tea."

ti:."

When the tea had been served, he explained, "This is hwen ðə ti: həd bi:n sə:vd, hi: iks'pleind, "ðis iz one of the many restaurants and tea-rooms which the wʌn əv ðə meni restərɔ:ŋz ənd ti:rumz hwitʃ ðə big firm of 'Lyons' has all over England. In London big fə:m əv 'laiənz hæz ɔ:l ɔuvər iŋglənd. in lʌndən alone there are hundreds of them, and each one is ə'loun ðeər a: hʌndrədz əv ðəm, ənd i:tf wʌn iz called a 'Lyons'. The very first big one was in a corner kɔ:ld ə 'laiənz'. ðə veri fə:st big wʌn wəz in ə kɔ:nə house, that is, a house built where two streets cross haus, ðæt iz, ə haus bilt hwɛə tu: stri:ts krɔs to cross = to go across

each other. The restaurant was therefore called a i:tf ʌðə. ðə restərɔ:ŋ wəz ðeəfɔ: kɔ:ld ə

Corner House, and now the four or five biggest 'Lyons' kɔ:nə haus, ənd naʊ ðə fɔ:r ɔ: faiv bigist 'laiənz' restaurants are called Corner houses, even if they are restərɔ:ŋz a: kɔ:ld kɔ:nə haʊziz, i:vən if ðei a:

not situated at corners. You will be surprised, perhaps, nɒt sitʃueitid æt kɔ:nəz. ju: wil bi: sə'praizd, pə'hæps, to hear that one or two of the Corner Houses never tə hiə ðæt wʌn ɔ: tu: əv ðə kɔ:nə haʊziz nevə corner

arch

stones

to move = to take from one place to another

nobody = no one

close, but have rooms that are open day and night.
klouz, bʌt hæv ru:mz ðæt a:r ɒpən dei ənd naɪl.

Now you know what a 'Corner House' is. This one nau ju: nou hʊət ə 'kɔ:nə haus' iz. ðis wʌn is called the Marble Arch Corner House, because it is iz kɔ:ld ðə ma:bl a:tf kɔ:nə haus, bi'kɔz ɪt iz only one or two minutes from Marble Arch, a big ɒnli wʌn ɔ: tu: minɪts frəm ma:bl a:tf, ə bɪg arch built of marble, situated just outside the entrance a:tf bɪlt əv ma:bl, sɪtʃueɪtɪd dʒʌst 'aʊt'saɪd ði entrəns to Hyde Park. Marble is a very expensive and beautitə haɪd pa:k. ma:bl iz ə veri ɪkspensɪv ənd bjʊ:təful stone, which is often shining and white. Marble ful stəʊn, huɪtʃ iz ɔ:fn ʃaɪnɪŋ ənd hwaɪt. ma:bl

Arch was built for King George IV as an entrance a:tf wəz bɪlt fɜ kiŋ dʒɔ:dʒ ðə fɔ:p əz ən entrəns to Buckingham Palace, but after it had been built, tə bʌkɪŋəm pælɪs, bʌt a:ftər ɪt həd bi:n bɪlt, they found that it was too narrow for the King's ðei faʊnd ðæt ɪt wəz tu: nərou fɜ ðə kiŋz carriage to pass through it. In 1851 it was moved kærɪdʒ tə pa:s ʒru: ɪt. ɪn eɪtɪ:n fɪfti wʌn ɪt wəz mu:vɪd from Buckingham Palace to this corner of Hyde Park. It frəm bʌkɪŋəm pælɪs tə ðɪs kɔ:nər əv haɪd pa:k. ɪt cost £ 80,000 to build. Now it just stands there, kɒst eɪtɪ paʊzənd paʊndz tə bɪld. nau ɪt dʒʌst stændz ðeə, and nobody uses it; it is even closed, so that you can't ənd nəʊbədi ju:zɪz ɪt; ɪt iz i:vən kləʊzd, sɒ ðæt ju: kɑ:nt get through it, but have to go round it. But the Londoners like it, and tourists go to see it. There is always much traffic round Marble Arch, and at night when the lights are on, it is beautiful to look at. There are always people standing round it, selling different things: newspapers, fruit, chocolate, etc. It has really become part of London, a part which the Londoners like very much. But if you have finished your tea, we might walk round it before entering the Park, so that you may see it from all sides. I will pay the bill while you finish your bread and butter, Wood. You seem to eat a lot," the teacher said, laughing, "because you are always the last of us to finish."

get through it, but have to go round it. But the Londoners like it, and tourists go to see it. There is always much traffic round Marble Arch, and at night when the lights are on, it is beautiful to look at. There are always people standing round it, selling different things: newspapers, fruit, chocolate, etc. It has really become part of London, a part which the Londoners like very much. But if you have finished your tea, we might walk round it before entering the Park, so that you may see it from all sides. I will pay the bill while you finish your bread and butter, Wood. You seem to eat a lot," the teacher said, laughing, "because you are always the last of us to finish."

much traffic round Marble Arch, and at night when the lights are on, it is beautiful to look at. There are always people standing round it, selling different things: newspapers, fruit, chocolate, etc. It has really become part of London, a part which the Londoners like very much. But if you have finished your tea, we might walk round it before entering the Park, so that you may see it from all sides. I will pay the bill while you finish your bread and butter, Wood. You seem to eat a lot," the teacher said, laughing, "because you are always the last of us to finish."

the lights are on, it is beautiful to look at. There are always people standing round it, selling different things: newspapers, fruit, chocolate, etc. It has really become part of London, a part which the Londoners like very much. But if you have finished your tea, we might walk round it before entering the Park, so that you may see it from all sides. I will pay the bill while you finish your bread and butter, Wood. You seem to eat a lot," the teacher said, laughing, "because you are always the last of us to finish."

the lights are on = the lights are shining

always people standing round it, selling different things: newspapers, fruit, chocolate, etc. It has really become part of London, a part which the Londoners like very much. But if you have finished your tea, we might walk round it before entering the Park, so that you may see it from all sides. I will pay the bill while you finish your bread and butter, Wood. You seem to eat a lot," the teacher said, laughing, "because you are always the last of us to finish."

things: newspapers, fruit, chocolate, etc. It has really become part of London, a part which the Londoners like very much. But if you have finished your tea, we might walk round it before entering the Park, so that you may see it from all sides. I will pay the bill while you finish your bread and butter, Wood. You seem to eat a lot," the teacher said, laughing, "because you are always the last of us to finish."

become part of London, a part which the Londoners like very much. But if you have finished your tea, we might walk round it before entering the Park, so that you may see it from all sides. I will pay the bill while you finish your bread and butter, Wood. You seem to eat a lot," the teacher said, laughing, "because you are always the last of us to finish."

like very much. But if you have finished your tea, we might walk round it before entering the Park, so that you may see it from all sides. I will pay the bill while you finish your bread and butter, Wood. You seem to eat a lot," the teacher said, laughing, "because you are always the last of us to finish."

we might walk round it before entering the Park, so that you may see it from all sides. I will pay the bill while you finish your bread and butter, Wood. You seem to eat a lot," the teacher said, laughing, "because you are always the last of us to finish."

that you may see it from all sides. I will pay the bill while you finish your bread and butter, Wood. You seem to eat a lot," the teacher said, laughing, "because you are always the last of us to finish."

while you finish your bread and butter, Wood. You seem to eat a lot," the teacher said, laughing, "because you are always the last of us to finish."

seem to eat a lot," the teacher said, laughing, "because you are always the last of us to finish."

cause you are always the last of us to finish."

They crossed Oxford Street and entered the Park, and just inside they found a lot of people standing round dʒʌst 'in'saɪd ðeɪ faʊnd ə lɒt əv pi:pl stændɪŋ raʊnd a speaker who had got up on a soap-box to speak.

ə spi:kə hu: həd ɡɒt ʌp ɒn ə soʊpbɒks tə spi:k.

They listened to him and tried to understand what he ðeɪ lɪsnd tə him ənd traɪd tu ʌndə'stænd hwət hi:

was saying, but could hear very little. "This is a thing wəz seɪɪŋ, bʌt kʊd hiə veri lɪl. "ðɪs ɪz ə pɪŋ which you will find in many places in England," said hwɪlf ju: wɪl faɪnd ɪn menɪ pleɪsɪz ɪn ɪŋɡlənd," sed

Mr. Miller. "If a man wants to speak about something, mɪstə mɪlə. "ɪf ə mæn wɒnts tə spi:k ə'baut sʌmpɪŋ, he can bring a box to stand on and say what he likes.

hi: kən brɪŋ ə bɒks tə stænd ɒn ənd seɪ hwət hi: laɪks.

Nobody will stop him, and there will always be some nəʊbədi wɪl stɒp hɪm, ənd ðəə wɪl ɔ:lwəz bi: sʌm one out walking who stops on his way to listen to his wʌn aʊt wɔ:kiŋ hu: stɒps ɒn hɪz wei tə lɪsn tə hɪz talk or laugh at him."

tɔ:k ɔ: la:f ət hɪm."

On their way through the Park they came to the ɒn ðəə wei þru: ðə pa:k ðeɪ keɪm tə ðə

Serpentine, a long lake which looks like a snake or a sə:pəntaɪn, ə lɒŋ leɪk hwɪlf luks laɪk ə sneɪk ɔ:r ə serpent = snake

serpent, and in which people may bathe. "In the sə:pənt, ənd ɪn hwɪlf pi:pl meɪ beɪð. "ɪn ðɪ evenings in summer," Mr. Miller told them, "there i:vənɪŋz ɪn sʌmə," mɪstə mɪlə təʊld ðəm, "ðəər are bands or orchestras playing in the Park, and there a: bændz ɔ:r ɔ:kistrəz pleiɪŋ in ðə pa:k, ənd ðeər are always many people who come to listen to them. a:r ɔ:lweɪz meni pi:pl hu: kʌm tə lɪsn tə ðəm.

But we cannot stop to-night; perhaps we can come bʌt wi: kænɒt stɒp tə'naɪt; pə'hæps wi: kən kʌm this way some other evening and hear one of the bands ðɪs wei sʌm ʌðər i:vniŋ ənd hiə wʌn əv ðə bændz play. Look!" he said suddenly and stopped them. "Now plei. lʊk!" hi: sed sʌdnli ənd stɒpt ðəm. "nau

I will show you something funny, which I think will aɪ wɪl ʃəʊ ju: sʌmpɪŋ fʌni, hwɪtʃ aɪ ʔɪŋk wɪl surprise you." They looked and saw — a flock of sə'praɪz ju:." ðeɪ lʊkt ənd sɔ: — ə flɒk əv sheep! "Is this really a flock of sheep in the centre ʃi:p! "ɪz ðɪs riəli ə flɒk əv ʃi:p in ðə sentər of London?" they shouted in surprise. "Yes, sheep," əv lʌndən?" ðeɪ ʃaʊtɪd in sə'praɪz. "jes, ʃi:p," their teacher replied, "real sheep! They move about ðeə ti:tʃə ri'plaɪd, "riəl ʃi:p! ðeɪ mu:v ə'baʊt the Park to eat the grass, so that it does not get too ðə pa:k tu i:t ðə gra:s, səʊ ðət ɪt dʌz nɒt get tu:

long."
lɒŋ."

They finished their walk through the Park at Hyde ðeɪ fɪnɪʃt ðeə wɔ:k þru: ðə pa:k ət haɪd Park Corner, and Mr. Miller told them that it is the pa:k kɔ:nə, ənd mɪstə mɪlə təʊld ðəm ðət ɪt ɪz ðə place which has the most traffic in the whole world. pleis hwɪtʃ hæz ðə maʊst træfɪk ɪn ðə haʊl wɜːld.

It was not difficult for them to understand this, beit wəz nɒt dɪfɪkəlt fə ðəm tu ʌndə'stænd ðɪs, bi-cause it was several minutes before they were able to 'kɔz ɪt wəz severəl minɪts bɪ'fɔː ðeɪ wəːr eɪbl tə cross to the other side of the street.
krɒs tə ði ʌðə saɪd əv ðə stri:t.

WORDS:

park
 real reality really Zoological Gardens
 Zoo
 monkey
 funny suddenly umbrella
 open open (verb)
 as corner
 marble
 arch
 entrance round speaker

EXERCISE A.

Mr. Miller proposed that their next trip should be to some of the great — of London. They had often seen pictures of them at home, but they wanted to see them in — to get a — impression of them. In Regent's Park are the — Gardens of London, which the Londoners call the —. In the Zoo they — a — playing with an — which it had taken from a little girl standing near by. All the people watching it had to —, except the girl. She did not think it —. The big 'Lyons' restaurants are called — Houses, even if they are not situated at —. Marble Arch was first built as an — to Buckingham Palace, but as it was too narrow for the King's —, they — it to this corner of Hyde Park. It is not used as an entrance here, but there is much traffic — it. Mr. Miller thought that Wood ate a —, because he was always the last of them to —. In Hyde Park they saw a — standing on a soap-box. There were many people there listening to what he was —. In the Park there is a long lake called the —, because it looks like a snake or —. While they were walking in the Park, Mr. Miller — stopped them and showed them a — of sheep.

EXERCISE B.

What did they decide to see the day after they had been out to see the buildings of London? . . . Where had they got their first impression of the parks of London? . . . What is the Zoo? . . . Why did the people who were watching the monkeys laugh? . . . Why was the restaurant called a Corner House? . . . Where was Marble Arch first built? . . . Why was it moved? . . . Why were people standing round the man on the soap-box in Hyde Park? . . . Why is the lake in Hyde Park called the Serpentine? . . . What can you hear on summer evenings in the Park? . . . What did the young men see in the Park, which surprised them very much? . . .

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'has, have, or had'.

Has Mr. Miller seen other countries than England? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, many things have changed since Mr. Miller was in England some years ago. Has Wood collected stamps for a long time? Answer . . . Question . . .? No, the young men have never visited England before. Have they all travelled by steamer before this trip? Answer . . . Question . . .? No, Mrs. Miller has not come along with them on the trip. Has Storm spent his holidays in town? Answer . . . Question . . .? No, they have not seen everything they want to see in London yet. Had they dined before

snake
serpent orchestra band
play
flock move listen nobody some one surprise for short somewhere stone cross (verb) eighty bathe
look
tea-room

they got on board the steamer? Answer . . . Question . . . ? Yes, every evening when they were together before the trip, they had talked about the things they were going to see in England. Had Mr. Miller found a good hotel for them in London? Answer . . . Question . . . ? Yes, Storm's firm had paid the whole trip for him. Had they planned to buy many things in London? Answer . . . Question . . . ? No, they had not been able to understand the language which the porters spoke. Had they brought much luggage with them to England? Answer . . . Question . . . ? No, they had carried their own bags.

PARLIAMENT

One morning the hotel-keeper came in to have a wʌn mɔːniŋ ðə hau'telki:pə keim in tə hæv ə word with our four travellers. "I hope you are enjoying wə:d wið auə fɔː trævlez. "ai houp juː a:r in'dʒɔɪiŋ yourselves in London," he said.

jɔː'selvz in lʌndən," hiː sed.

Mr. Miller: "We are having a lovely time, thank mistə milə: "wiː aː hæviŋ ə lʌvli taim, pæŋk you." Wood: "Yes, we have enjoyed ourselves very juː" wud: "jes, wiː hæv in'dʒɔɪd auə'selvz veri much all the time we have been here, and we have mʌtʃ ɔ:l ðə taim wiː hæv bi:n hiə, ənd wiː hæv seen a lot of things. Now we wish to see the King si:n ə lɒt əv piŋz. nau wiː wiʃ tə siː ðə kiŋ and the Queen, but how is that done?"

ənd ðə kwi:n, bʌt hau iz ðæt dʌn?"

Hotel-keeper: "That will be very difficult just now, hau'telki:pə: "ðæt wil biː veri difikəlt dʒʌst nau, because the King and the Queen are spending part of bi'kɔz ðə kiŋ ənd ðə kwi:n aː spendiŋ pa:t əv the summer at Balmoral Castle in Scotland, a castle ðə sʌmə ət bælmərəl kɑːsl in skɒtlənd, ə kɑːsl situated in a very beautiful part of the country, where sitʃueitid in ə veri bjʊ:təfʊl pa:t əv ðə kʌntri, hwɛə

I am enjoying myself = I am having a good
 time.

to wish = to want

castle

the King and Queen spend some of their time every ðə kiŋ ənd kwi:n spend sʌm əv ðeə taɪm evri year. Many travellers who come to England wish to jiə. meni trævələz hu: kʌm tu ɪŋɡlənd wɪʃ tə see the King and Queen.
 si: ðə kiŋ ənd kwi:n.

"Speaking for myself, I have never seen the present
 "spi:kiŋ fə maɪ'self, ai hæv nevə si:n ðə preznt

King; the only time I have seen a king was when I kiŋ; ði ounli taɪm ai hæv si:n ə kiŋ wəz hwen ai went to see George V, who was the father of our went tə si: dʒɔ:dʒ ðə fɪfθ, hu: wəz ðə fɑ:ðər əv əʊə present King, George VI. The real reason why I went preznt kiŋ, dʒɔ:dʒ ðə sɪksθ. ðə riəl ri:zn hwaɪ ai went was not so much to see the King himself as to see the wəz nɒt sʊ mʌʃ tə si: ðə kiŋ hɪm'self əz tə si: ðə horses which drew his carriage, and also the many hɔ:sɪz hwɪtʃ dru: hɪz kærɪdʒ, ənd ɔ:lsoʊ ðə meni men in uniforms. His carriage was drawn by eight men ɪn ju:nɪfɔ:mz. hɪz kærɪdʒ wəz drɔ:n baɪ eɪt horses, and after it came a long row of men in fine hɔ:sɪz, ənd ɑ:ftər ɪt keɪm ə lɔŋ rəʊ əv men ɪn faɪn uniforms. I know that people say that the English ju:nɪfɔ:mz. ai nəʊ ðæt pi:pl sei ðæt ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ are very interested in the King and Queen and speak ɑ: veri ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ðə kiŋ ənd kwi:n ənd spi:k of nothing else. But nearly every week when I look əv nʌθɪŋ els. bʌt niəli evri wi:k hwen ai luk

He draws, he drew, he has drawn [drɔ:z, dru:, drɔ:n].

uniform

nothing else = no other thing

nearly = almost at the pictures in foreign papers, I notice that people ət ðə pɪktʃəz ɪn ʃərɪn peɪpəz, aɪ nəʊtɪs ðət pi:pl everywhere go to see the different kings and queens, evrihwɛə ɡəʊ tə si: ðə dɪfrənt kɪŋz ənd kwi:nz, everywhere = at all places and if a country has no king, then I see pictures of ənd ɪf ə kʌntri hæz nəʊ kɪŋ, ðen aɪ si: pɪktʃəz əv people that go to see the president. So I think that pi:pl ðət ɡəʊ tə si: ðə prezɪdənt. səʊ aɪ θɪŋk ðət people in other countries are just as interested in these pi:pl ɪn ʌðə kʌntriz a: dʒʌst əz ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ði:z things as we English are. You only have to think of θɪŋz əz wi: ɪŋɡlɪʃ a:. ju: ɒnli hæv tə θɪŋk əv the King's visit to President Roosevelt of the United ðə kɪŋz vɪzɪt tə prezɪdənt ɾəʊzəvɛl əv ðə ju:'naɪtɪd States in the spring of 1939."

steɪts ɪn ðə sprɪŋ əv naɪnti:n þə:ti'nain."

Although the King and Queen were not staying in ɔ:lðə ðə kɪŋ ənd kwi:n wə: nɒt steɪɪŋ ɪn

London, our four friends went to look at Buckingham lʌndən, ɔʊə ʃɔ: frɛndz wɛnt tə lʊk ət bʌkɪŋəm Palace. Mr. Miller: "As you see, it is built of grey pælɪs. mɪstə mɪlə: "əz ju: si:, ɪt ɪz bɪlt əv ɡreɪ stone. How do you like it?" Wood: "Well, I don't stəʊn. haʊ du: ju: laɪk ɪt?" wʊd: "wel, aɪ daʊnt think there is anything unusual about it. It looks like θɪŋk ðeər ɪz enɪθɪŋ ʌn'ju:ʒʊəl ə'baʊt ɪt. ɪt lʊks laɪk all other palaces."

ɔ:l ʌðə pælɪsɪz."

Storm: "I have heard so much about Buckingham stɔ:m: "ai həv hə:d sou mʌtf ə'baʊt bʌkiŋəm

Palace that I thought that the place where the King pælis ðæt ai þɔ:t ðæt ðə pleis hwɛə ðə kiŋ and Queen of England lived must be a very unusual and kwi:n əv iŋɡlənd livd mʌst bi: ə veri ʌn'ju:ʒuəl building, but I like many of our palaces at home bildiŋ, bʌt ai laik meni əv auə pælisiz ət hoʊm better."

betə."

From Buckingham Palace they walked through a park frəm bʌkiŋəm pælis ðei wɔ:kt pru: ə pa:k to the Houses of Parliament. Mr. Miller: "Here you tə ðə haʊziz əv pa:ləmənt. mistə milə: "hiə ju:

see the building where Parliament, that is, the men si: ðə bildiŋ hwɛə pa:ləmənt, ðæt iz, ðə men who are chosen by the people to decide what is best hu: a: tʃouzn bai ðə pi:pl tə di'said hwɔt iz best for the country, comes together. Altogether there are fə ðə kʌntri, kʌmz tə'geðə. ɔ:l'tə'geðə ðeər a:

between 1300 and 1400 people who bi'twi:n 'þə:'ti:n hʌndrəd ənd 'fɔ:'ti:n hʌndrəd pi:pl hu:

sit in Parliament, or are members of the two Houses sit in pa:ləmənt, ɔ:r a: membəz əv ðə tu: haʊziz of Parliament. Of these members, 640 əv pa:ləmənt. əv ði:z. membəz, siks hʌndrəd ənd fɔ:ti are chosen by the people; they make up one of the a: tʃouzn bai ðə pi:pl; ðei meik ʌp wʌn əv ðə two parts of Parliament and are called the House of tu: pa:ts əv pa:ləmənt ənd a: kɔ:ld ðə haus əv Commons. The other part, the House of Lords, has kəmənz. ði ʌðə pa:t, ðə haus əv lɔ:dz, hæz about 750 members, made up of men ə'baut sevən hʌndrəd ənd fifti membəz, meɪd ʌp əv men who are the heads of either very old or very rich hu: a: ðə hedz əv aɪðə veri ould ɔ: veri rɪf head (here) = most important

person

families. Since old times such men have had the right fæmiliz. sɪnz ould taimz sʌtf men hæv hæd ðə raɪt to be members of the House of Lords. The two Houses tə bi: membəz əv ðə haus əv lɔ:dz. ðə tu: haʊzɪz together make up Parliament. The British Parliament tə'geðə meɪk ʌp pa:ləmənt. ðə brɪtɪʃ pa:ləmənt is the oldest in the world. It is so old that nobody ɪz ði ouldɪst ɪn ðə wɜ:ld. ɪt ɪz sʊ ould ðæt nəʊbɔ:di really knows when it first started." riəli nəʊz hwen ɪt fɜ:st stɑ:tɪd."

Storm: "The building where Parliament sits is a very stɔ:m: "ðə bɪldɪŋ hwɛə pa:ləmənt sɪts ɪz ə veri old one, too, isn't it?" Mr. Miller: "No, most people think ould wʌn, tu:, ɪznt ɪt?" mɪstə mɪlə: "nəʊ, mʌst pi:pl piŋk that the building must be very old; but it is only ðæt ðə bɪldɪŋ mʌst bi: veri ould; bʌt ɪt ɪz ɔʊnli about a hundred years old. It was built from 1840 ə'baut ə hʌndrəd jɪəz ould. ɪt wəz bɪlt frəm eɪti:n jɜ:ti to 1852." As it was Saturday, they were allowed tu eɪti:n fɪfti'tu:." əz ɪt wəz sætədi, ðeɪ wə:r ə'laʊd to go in and look at the whole building, including the tə gou in ənd luk ət ðə houl bildiŋ, in'klu:diŋ ðə hall where the House of Commons comes together. hɔ:l hwεə ðə haus əv kɔmənz kʌmz tə'geðə.

"It is the only day that people are allowed to go almost "it iz ði ounli dei ðæt pi:pl a:r ə'laud tə gou ə:lmoust everywhere inside," Mr. Miller explained; "on all evrihwεə 'in'said," mistə milə iks'pleind; "ən ə:l other days they do not allow people to go round every-ʌðə deiz ðei du: nɔt ə'lau pi:pl tə gou raund evriwhere." Storm, Wood, and Brown were very surprised hwεə." stɔ:m, wud, ənd braun wə: veri sə'praizd at the smallness of some of the rooms. They first went ət ðə smɔ:lnis əv sʌm əv ðə ru:mz. ðei fə:st went to the House of Lords. Brown: "This place looks very tə ðə haus əv lɔ:dz. braun: "ðis pleis luks veri small. There cannot be room for 750 smɔ:l. ðεə kænɔt bi: ru:m fə sevn hʌndrəd ənd fifti people here."

pi:pl hiə."

does not matter =
is not important

Mr. Miller, laughing: "That does not matter, because mistə milə, la:fiŋ: "ðæt dʌz nɔt mætə, bi'kɔz one third = $\frac{1}{3}$ one half = $\frac{1}{2}$ it would be very unusual if more than one third or it wud bi: veri ʌn'ju:zuəl if mɔ: ðən wʌn þə:d ə:

one half of the members were present at the same wʌn ha:f əv ðə membəz wə: preznt ət ðə seim usually = most often

time. Usually, only about one hundred of the mem-taim. ju:zuəli, ounli ə'baut wʌn hʌndrəd əv ðə members are present, so you see it does not matter much bəz a: preznt, sou ju: si: it dʌz nɒt mætə mʌtʃ that the room is small. I must tell you, however, that ðæt ðə ru:m iz smɔ:l. ai mʌst tel ju:, hau'evə, ðæt after the Germans were over London between 1940 ɑ:ftə ðə dʒə:mənz wə:r oʊvə lʌndən bi'twi:n naɪnti:n fɔ:tɪ and 1945, many buildings, including the ænd naɪnti:n fɔ:tɪ'faɪv, meni bɪldɪŋz, ɪn'klu:diŋ ðə

House of Commons, cannot be used. At the present haus əv kəmənz, kænɒt bi: ju:zd. ət ðə preznt time this hall is used by the members of the House of taim ðis hɔ:l iz ju:zd baɪ ðə membəz əv ðə haus əv Commons. The members of the House of Lords come kəmənz. ðə membəz əv ðə haus əv lɔ:dz kʌm together in another hall. We will now go and look at tə'geðər ɪn ə'nʌðə hɔ:l. wi: wil naʊ ɡoʊ ænd luk ət the place where the House of Commons was situated." ðə pleɪs hwɛə ðə haus əv kəmənz wəz sɪtʃueɪtɪd."

When they got there, Mr. Miller continued to explain, hwɛn ðeɪ ɡɒt ðɛə, mɪstə mɪlə kən'tɪnju:d tu ɪks'pleɪn,

"You see that this room was also very small. It was
"ju: si: ðæt ðis ru:m wəz ɔ:lsou veri smɔ:l. ɪt wəz impossible for all the members to find seats here at the ɪm'pɒsəbl fər ɔ:l ðə membəz tə faɪnd si:ts hɪə ət ðə same time, so that when anything unusual was to be seɪm taim, sou ðæt hwɛn ɛnɪθɪŋ ʌn'ju:ʒuəl wəz tə bi:

discussed, and all the members wished to be present, dɪs'kʌst, ænd ɔ:l ðə membəz wɪʃt tə bi: preznt, tower

flag

a Norman = a man from Normandy (the north-western part of France) a member had to come very early to get a seat." When ə membə hæd tə kʌm veri ɜ:li tə get ə si:t." hwen they came out again, the teacher pointed with his ðei keim aʊt ə'geɪn, ðə ti:tʃə poɪntɪd wɪð hi:z stick to one of the towers of the Houses of Parliament, stɪk tə wʌn əv ðə taʊəz əv ðə haʊzɪz əv pɑ:ləmənt, saying, "If Parliament is sitting, that is, if the members seɪɪŋ, "ɪf pɑ:ləmənt ɪz sɪtɪŋ, ðæt ɪz, ɪf ðə membəz are present in the building, a flag is to be seen at the ɑ: preznt ɪn ðə bɪldɪŋ, ə flæg ɪz tə bi: si:n æt ðə top of that tower." A little later he continued, "Now tɒp əv ðæt taʊə." ə lɪtl leɪtə hi: kən'tɪnju:d, "nau we will go to another building which I wish to show wi: wɪl ɡoʊ tu ə'nʌðə bɪldɪŋ hwɪʃ aɪ wɪʃ tə ʃoʊ you to-day; it is the Tower, a very old castle situated ju: tə'deɪ; ɪt ɪz ðə taʊə, ə veri ould kɑ:sl sɪtʃueɪtɪd in the central part of London. They went to have ɪn ðə sentrəl pɑ:t əv lʌndən." ðei went tə hæv a look at it, and on the way Mr. Miller continued to ə luk æt ɪt, ənd ɒn ðə wei mɪstə mɪlə kən'tɪnju:d tu explain, "The Tower was built by William the Con-ɪks'pleɪn, "ðə taʊə wəz bɪlt baɪ wɪljəm ðə kɔŋ-queror, a Norman who became King of England, and kərə, ə nɔ:mən hu: bɪ'keɪm kɪŋ əv ɪŋɡlənd, ənd it is nearly 900 years old. After the time of ɪt ɪz niəli naɪn haʊdrəd jɪəz ould. ɑ:ftə ðə taɪm əv

William the Conqueror, the English kings continued wɪljəm ðə kɔŋkərə, ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ kɪŋz kən'tɪnju:d to live there for many years. Then they built other tə liv ðeə fə meni jɪəz. ðen ðei bɪlt ʌðə castles to live in, and now the Tower has not been kɑːslz tə liv ɪn, ənd naʊ ðə taʊə həz nɒt biːn used by any king for hundreds of years. It has got its juːzd baɪ enɪ kɪŋ fə hʌndrədz əv jɪəz. ɪt həz gɒt ɪts name from one of the towers of the building that is neɪm frəm wʌn əv ðə taʊəz əv ðə bɪldɪŋ ðæt ɪz called 'the White Tower'. kɔːld 'ðə hwaɪt taʊə'."

EXERCISE A.

The hotel-keeper asked the travellers if they had — themselves in London. The King and Queen had gone to Balmoral — in Scotland. In the United States they have no king, but a —. The Tower is — 900 years old. After the time of William the Conqueror the English kings — to live there for many years. Buckingham Palace is built of grey —. The two parts of Parliament are called the House of — and the House of —. The House of Commons has 640 — Were our travellers — to go inside the Houses of Parliament? Yes, they were allowed to go almost —, because it was Saturday. How many members of the House of Lords are usually — at a time? — there are only about one hundred of the members present. Was it possible for all 640 — of the House of Commons to find seats at a time? No, if they — to find — they had to come very early.

WORDS:

enjoy wish castle
 present
 draw drew drawn uniform
 else everywhere president
 visit usually unusual
 Parliament
 member

House of Commons
House of Lords
right
allow smallness matter point third
half
tower
flag continue nearly United States
altogether
make up
hall
Conqueror

EXERCISE B.

Why was it not possible to see the King and Queen? ...
What was the real reason why the hotel-keeper went to see the King? ... Do they have a king in the United States? ... What is Buckingham Palace built of? ...
What are the names of the two Houses of Parliament?
... Are the members of the House of Lords chosen by the people? ... Is the Parliament building very old? ...
When are people allowed to go almost everywhere inside the Houses of Parliament? ... Why cannot all the members of the House of Commons find seats at a time? ... What is to be seen at the top of one of the towers of the Houses of Parliament when Parliament is sitting? ... Who built the Tower? ... Where is the Tower situated? ...

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'will'.

Will John be fourteen years old on his next birthday?
Answer ... Question ...? No, Mr. Miller will not go to France this year, but to England. Will the four travellers visit places outside London? Answer ...
Question ...? Yes, they will spend some time at the British Museum. Will Mr. Miller have to look after his child while Mrs. Miller is away? Answer ...
Question ...? Yes, they will have to work very much at their studies until summer. Will they wait for Brown at the station? Answer ... Question ...? No, the boy will not wake up if they are quiet. Will it suit Mr. Miller to go to England in the first half of July? Answer... Question...? Yes, it will cost Storm more than eight pounds to go to England. Will the English King and Queen stay at Balmoral Castle the whole summer? Answer... Question...? No, John and Helen will not play in the garden in winter. Will the three young men be able to speak English this summer? Answer... Question...? Yes, they will be able to understand the porters, too, when they have been there for some time.

THE EARLY HISTORY OF ENGLAND

The same evening they were having coffee after ðə seim i:vniŋ ðei wə: hæviŋ kəʃi a:ftə dinner at the hotel, and talking about the Tower, dinər ət ðə hau'tel, ənd tɔ:kiŋ ə'baut ðə taʊə, which they had seen in the afternoon, and about the hwɪlf ðei həd si:n in ði 'a:ftə'nu:n, ənd ə'baut ðə king who built it. While they were discussing these kiŋ hu: bɪlt ɪt. hwail ðei wə: dɪs'kʌsiŋ ði:z

none = no one

things, they found that none of them knew very much pɪŋz, ðei faʊnd ðət nʌn əv ðəm nju: veri mʌtʃ about the history of England before the time of William ə'baut ðə histəri əv ɪŋɡlənd bi'fɔ: ðə taɪm əv wɪljəm the Conqueror. "Won't you tell us something about ðə kɔŋkərə. "wəʊnt ju: tel ʌs sʌmpɪŋ ə'baut the early history of England to-night, Mr. Miller?" ði ə:li histəri əv ɪŋɡlənd tə'nait, mɪstə mɪlə?"

the young men asked the teacher. "It's raining now, ðə jʌŋ men ɑ:skt ðə ti:tʃə "ɪts reɪniŋ naʊ, and we are tired after having walked so much this ənd wi: ɑ: taɪəd a:ftə hæviŋ wɔ:kt sou mʌtʃ ðɪs afternoon, so if you are not too tired to talk, we should

 'a:ftə'nu:n, sou ɪf ju: ɑ: nɒt tu: taɪəd tə tɔ:k, wi: ʃʊd like very much to stay at home this evening and hear laɪk veri mʌtʃ tə steɪ ət haʊm ðɪs i:vniŋ ənd hiə something about England and the English before the sʌmpɪŋ ə'baʊt ɪŋɡlənd ənd ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ bi'fɔː ðə time of William the Conqueror." "No, only my feet taɪm əv wɪljəm ðə kɒŋkərə." "nou, ounli mai fɪ:t

are tired, not my head. It is tiring to walk about aː taɪəd, nɒt mai hed. ɪt ɪz taɪərɪŋ tə wɔːk ə'baʊt town on a hot day like to-day, so it will be nice to taʊn ɒn ə hɒt dei laɪk tə'dei, sou ɪt wɪl biː naɪs tə have a quiet evening at the hotel. Well, let us start hæv ə kwaɪət iːvənɪŋ ət ðə hou'tel. wel, let ʌs sta:t

at the beginning, as far back as history can take us. ət ðə bi'ɡɪnɪŋ, əz faː bæk əz hɪstəri kən teɪk ʌs.

We must go back about 2,000 years, to the time wɪː mʌst ɡoʊ bæk ə'baʊt tuː paʊzənd jɪəz, tə ðə taɪm when Cæsar, the Roman general, sailed to England hwen siːzə, ðə roumən dʒenərəl, seɪld tu ɪŋɡlənd with an army of Roman soldiers. At that time the wɪð ən aːmi əv roumən souldʒəz. ət ðæt taɪm ðə country was named Britain, and the people living in kʌntri wəz neɪmd brɪtən, ənd ðə piːpl lɪvɪŋ ɪn it were called Britons or Celts." ɪt wəː kɔːld brɪtənz ɔː kelts."

Brown: "When did the country get the name of Eng-braʊnː "hwen dɪd ðə kʌntri ɡet ðə neɪm əv ɪŋ-

land?"
ɡlənd?"

Mr. Miller: "It was not named England until several mɪstə mɪləː "ɪt wəz nɒt neɪmd ɪŋɡlənd ʌn'tɪl sevərəl

Chapter Thirty-Six (36).

a nation = the people of a country

He fights, he fought, he has fought [faɪts, fɔ:t, fɔ:t].

hundred years later. Rome in Italy, where the Romans hʌndrəd jɪəz leɪtə. rəʊm ɪn ɪtəli, huweə ðə rəʊmənz came from, had conquered many of the nations of keɪm frəm, həd kɒŋkəd menɪ əv ðə neɪʃənz əv

Europe at that time, and in the year 54 B. C. juərəp ət ðæt taɪm, ənd ɪn ðə jɪə fɪfti'fɔ: bi: si:

(before Christ) they had got as far as the Channel (bi'fɔ: kraɪst) ðei həd ɡɒt əz fɑ:r əz ðə tʃænl between England and France. In that year, Cæsar bi'twi:n ɪŋɡlənd ənd frɑ:ns. ɪn ðæt jɪə, si:zə sailed across the Channel to Britain with an army of seɪld ə'krɒs ðə tʃænl tə brɪtən wɪð ən a:mɪ əv Roman soldiers to fight the Britons. An army of rəʊmən souldʒəz tə faɪt ðə brɪtənz. ən a:mɪ əv

Britons, under their general Cassivelaunus, was waiting brɪtənz, ʌndə ðeə dʒenərəl kæsɪvi'lɔ:nəs, wəz weɪtɪŋ for them, and a great battle was fought near the river fɔ ðəm, ənd ə greɪt bæll wəz fɔ:t nɪə ðə rɪvə Thames between the two armies. The Roman soldiers temz bi'twi:n ðə tu: a:mɪz. ðə rəʊmən souldʒəz were far too good for the Britons; but some time after wə: fɑ: tu: ɡʊd fɔ ðə brɪtənz; bʌt sʌm taɪm a:fte the battle the Romans returned to their own country.

ðə bæll ðə rəʊmənz rɪ'tə:nd tə ðeər oun kʌntri.

About a hundred years later, however, a large part of ə'baut ə hʌndrəd jɪəz leɪtə, haʊ'evə, ə la:dʒ pɑ:t əv Britain was conquered by the Romans. brɪtən wəz kɒŋkəd baɪ ðə rəʊmənz.

"For about 350 years, Rome continued to "fər ə'baʊt pri: hʌndrəd ənd fifti jɪəz, roum kən'tɪnju:d tə send soldiers to Britain, and it was not long before the send souldʒəz tə brɪtən, ənd ɪt wəz nɒt lɒŋ bi'fɔ: ðə

Britons and their conquerors became quite good brɪtənz ənd ðeə kən'kweərəz bi'keɪm kwaɪt gud quite = very friends." Storm: "They brought many new ideas to frendz." stɔ:m: "ðei brɔ:t meni nju: aɪ'diəz tə

Britain, too, didn't they?" Mr. Miller: "Yes, Britain, brɪtən, tu:, dɪdn't ðei?" mɪstə mɪlə: "jes, brɪtən, as you know, is an island, that is, a piece of land with əz ju: nou, ɪz ən aɪlənd, ðæt ɪz, ə pi:s əv lænd wɪð water on all sides, and the Britons, therefore, had lived wɔ:tər ɒn ɔ:l saɪdz, ənd ðə brɪtənz, ðeəfɔ:, həd lɪvd quite alone and had not learned all the new things kwaɪt ə'loun ənd həd nɒt læ:nd ɔ:l ðə nju: pɪŋz which had come from the East. But now the Romans hwɪtʃ həd kʌm frəm ði i:st. bʌt naʊ ðə roumənz taught them many modern things. They made good tə:t ðəm meni mɒdən pɪŋz. ðei meɪd gud roads through the country, and built bridges across the rəʊdz θru: ðə kʌntri, ənd bɪlt brɪdʒɪz ə'krɒs. ðə rivers. But at last the Romans had to leave the country.

 rɪvəz. bʌt ət la:st ðə roumənz həd tə li:v ðə kʌntri.

Rome itself was in difficulties, and consequently the roum ɪt'self wəz ɪn dɪfɪkəltɪz, ənd kɒnsɪkwəntli ðə difficulty = that which is difficult

soldiers were called back."
 souldʒəz wə: kɔ:ld bæk."

a tribe = a very small nation, especially in old times an enemy = the opposite of a friend one enemy

two enemies

He sets, he set, he has set [sets, set, set].

Storm: "And then the Britons could enjoy all the stɔ:m: "ænd ðen ðə britənz kud in'dʒɔi ɔ:l ði advantages the Romans had brought them, without əd'vɑ:ntidʒiz ðə roumənz həd brɔ:t ðəm, wið'aʊt having foreign soldiers in the country!" hæviŋ ʃərin souldʒəz in ðə kʌntri!"

Mr. Miller: "No, for as soon as the Romans had left mislə milə: "nou, ʃər əz su:n əz ðə roumənz həd left the country, the Britons began to have difficulties with ðə kʌntri, ðə britənz bi'gæn tə hæv difikəltiz wið the Picts and Scots, two tribes who lived in the north.
ðə pikts ənd skɔts, tu: traibz hu: livd in ðə nɔ:p.

These two tribes had always been the enemies of the ði:z tu: traibz həd ɔ:lwəz bi:n ði enimiz əv ðə Britons, but as long as the Romans were there, the britənz, bʌt əz lɔŋ əz ðə roumənz wə: ðeə, ðə

Picts and the Scots had lived in peace with the Britons. pikts ənd ðə skɔts həd livd in pi:s wið ðə britənz.

Now they would not let them live in peace any longer.
nau ðei wud nɔt let ðəm liv in pi:s eni lɔŋgə.

They sent armies down to fight with the Britons; they ðei sent a:miz daʊn tə ʃaɪt wið ðə britənz; ðei set fire to their towns and took their children away set ʃaɪə tə ðeə taʊnz ənd tuk ðeə ɪ'fildrən ə'wei from them. The Britons could not fight them alone, frəm ðəm. ðə britənz kud nɔt ʃaɪt ðəm ə'loun, because they had not done any fighting while the bi'kɔz ðei həd nɔt dʌn eni ʃaɪtiŋ hwail ðə

Romans were in Britain, and things went badly for roumənz wə:r in brɪtən, ʌnd ɹɪŋz went bædli ʃə:

them.” Wood: “Couldn’t they get any help?” ðəm.” wud: “kudnt ðei get ɛni help?”

Mr. Miller: “Yes, they sent word to three tribes living mɪstə mɪlə: “jes, ðei sent wəd tə ɹri: traɪbz lɪvɪŋ in northern Europe, asking them to come and help in nɔ:ðən ʃuərəp, ɑ:skɪŋ ðəm tə kʌm ʌnd help them fight their enemies. The three tribes were the ðəm faɪt ðeər ɛnɪmɪz. ðə ɹri: traɪbz wə: ðə Jutes, the Saxons, and the Angles. The Angles were dʒu:ts, ðə sæksnz, ʌnd ði æŋɡlz. ði æŋɡlz wə:

the largest tribe, and from their name they all got the ðə lɑ:dʒɪst traɪb, ʌnd frəm ðeə neɪm ðei ɔ:l ɡɒt ðə name of ‘English’. The English liked the island of neɪm əv ‘ɪŋɡlɪʃ’. ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ laɪkt ði aɪlənd əv

Britain so well that they stayed there after the war brɪtən sɔv wɛl ðət ðei steɪd ðeə ɑ:ftə ðə wɔ:

with the Picts and the Scots was over.” Storm: “I can wɪð ðə pɪkts ʌnd ðə skɒts wəz ɔuvə.” stɔ:m: “aɪ kən well understand that. I should like to stay a little longer wɛl ʌndə'stænd ðæt. aɪ ʃud laɪk tə steɪ ə lɪl lɔŋɡə myself!” Mr. Miller: “Me too! Well, for the next maɪ'self!” mɪstə mɪlə: “mi: tu:! wɛl, ʃə ðə nekst 70 years Angles and Saxons continued to come to sevntɪ ʃɪəz æŋɡlz ʌnd sæksnz kən'tɪnju:d tə kʌm tu

England, as Britain is now called, from the Continent. ɪŋɡlənd, əz brɪtən ɪz naʊ kɔ:ld, frəm ðə kɒntɪnənt.

to send word = to send a letter, or to send a person to tell something

war = fighting

continent

Africa is a continent, Europe is a
continent.

Chapter Thirty-Six (36).

the greater part (of only two parts); the greatest part (of more than two parts)

mountains

the Continent =
the European continent = all the countries of Europe together, except England,
Wales, Scotland, and Ireland

ship = big boat

They conquered the greater part of the country from ðei kɔŋkəd ðə greɪlə pa:t əv ðə kʌnlrɪ frəm the Britons, whom they had come to help, and the ðə brɪtənz, hu:m ðei həd kʌm tə help, ənd ðə

Welsh, as the English called the Britons or Celts, had wɛlf, əz ði ɪŋglɪʃ kɔ:ld ðə brɪtənz ɔ: kelts, həd to go to the mountains in Wales to be able to live in tə gou tə ðə maʊntɪnz ɪn weɪlz tə bi: eɪbl tə liv ɪn peace. The tribes that came from the Continent had at pi:s. ðə traɪbz ðət keɪm frəm ðə kɒntɪnənt həd ət first several kings, but in 825 Egbert fə:st sevərəl kɪnz, bʌt ɪn eɪt hʌndrəd ənd twenti'faɪv eɡbɜ:t became king of all England. While he was king, the bɪ'keɪm kɪŋ əv ɔ:l ɪŋɡlənd. hwɑɪl hi: wəz kɪŋ, ðə Vikings from Norway and Denmark began to come to vɑɪkɪŋz frəm nɔ:weɪ ənd denmɑ:k bɪ'ɡæn tə kʌm tu England. For 200 years the English and the ɪŋɡlənd. fə tu: hʌndrəd jɪəz ði ɪŋglɪʃ ənd ðə

Vikings were at war with each other, and the Vikings vɑɪkɪŋz wə:r ət wɔ: wɪð i:tʃ ʌðə, ənd ðə vɑɪkɪŋz came nearly every summer in their long ships. They keɪm niəli evri sʌmə ɪn ðeə lɔŋ ʃɪps. ðei set fire to the towns of the English and sailed back set faɪə tə ðə taʊnz əv ði ɪŋglɪʃ ənd seɪld bæk with their ships full of the fine things they had taken wɪð ðeə ʃɪps fʊl əv ðə faɪn ʃɪŋz ðei həd teɪkn from them." Brown: "Did the Vikings ever conquer frəm ðəm." braʊn: "dɪd ðə vɑɪkɪŋz evə kɔŋkər

England?"

ɪŋɡlənd?"

Mr. Miller: "Yes, they did, and from 1016 until mɪstə mɪlə: "jes, ðei dɪd, ənd frəm ten 'sɪks'ti:n ʌn'tɪl 1042 there were even Danish kings in England. ten ʃɔ:'ti'tu: ðeə wə:r i:vən deɪnɪʃ kɪŋz ɪn ɪŋɡlənd.

In 1066 the Normans, who were Vikings that ɪn ten sɪks'ti'sɪks ðə nɔ:mənz, hu: wə: vaɪkɪŋz ðət had conquered the north of France and learned to həd kɔŋkəd ðə nɔ:θ əv frɑ:ns ənd lə:nd tə speak French, conquered England, and William, who spi:k frɛnf, kɔŋkəd ɪŋɡlənd, ənd wɪljəm, hu:

was now called the Conqueror, was made king. That wəz nau kɔ:ld ðə kɔŋkərə, wəz meɪd kɪŋ: ðæt was the last time that an army from the European wəz ðə la:st taɪm ðət ən a:mi frəm ðə juərə'pi:ən continent conquered Britain. Many other countries kɒntɪnənt kɔŋkəd brɪtən. meni ʌðə kʌntrɪz have made war against England; Spain sent a large həv meɪd wɔ:r ə'geɪnst ɪŋɡlənd; speɪn sent ə la:dʒ number of ships against her, but neither the Spaniards nʌmbər əv ʃɪps ə'geɪnst hɜ:, bʌt naɪðə ðə spænjədz the Spaniards = the people living in Spain

nor any other nations have ever conquered her after nɔ:r enɪ ʌðə neɪʃənz həv evə kɔŋkəd hɜ: a:ftə the Battle of Hastings in 1066. ðə bætl əv heɪstɪŋz ɪn ten sɪks'ti'sɪks.

"In our time we can see how the different conquerors
"ɪn ʌwə taɪm wi: kən si: hau ðə dɪfrənt kɔŋkərəz

Anglo-Saxon =
the language spoken by the Angles and the Saxons

of Britain have left their impression on the country, əv brɪtən hæv left ðeər ɪm'presən ən ðə kʌntri, on its people and its language. In the north and east ən ɪts pi:pl ənd ɪts læŋɡwɪdʒ. ɪn ðə nɔ:p ənd i:st of England, there are many towns with Danish and əv ɪŋɡlənd, ðeər a: meni taunz wɪð deɪnɪf ənd Norwegian names, for example, Derby and Grimsby, nɔ:'wi:dʒən neɪmz, fər ɪɡ'za:mpl, da:bi ənd grɪmzbi, and the people use many old Danish and Norwegian ənd ðə pi:pl ju:z meni ould deɪnɪf ənd nɔ:'wi:dʒən words. In the English language we find many words wə:dʒ. ɪn ði ɪŋɡlɪf læŋɡwɪdʒ wɪ: faɪnd meni wə:dʒ which the English have borrowed from the Normans, hwɪtʃ ði ɪŋɡlɪf hæv bərəʊd frəm ðə nɔ:mənz, and just as the language is a mixture of French and ənd dʒʌst əz ðə læŋɡwɪdʒ ɪz ə mɪkstʃər əv frɛnʃ ənd Anglo-Saxon, the people, too, mixed with their con-'æŋɡləʊ'sæksn, ðə pi:pl, tu:, mɪkst wɪð ðeə kəŋquerors. And the mixture is a good one, I think. But kərəz. ənd ðə mɪkstʃər ɪz ə ɡʊd wʌn, aɪ pɪŋk. bʌt the Welsh, who went to the mountains in the west, ðə wɛlf, hu: wɛnt tə ðə maʊntɪnz ɪn ðə wɛst, did not mix so much with the different conquerors of dɪd nɒt mɪks sʊ mʌʃ wɪð ðə dɪfrənt kəŋkərəz əv Britain. The enemies could not cross the mountains brɪtən. ði ɪnɪmɪz kʊd nɒt krɒs ðə maʊntɪnz and, therefore, had to leave them in peace, so that ənd, 'ðeəfɔ:, hæd tə li:v ðəm ɪn pi:s, sʊ ðət to-day we find people in Wales who are quite different tə'dei wi: ʃaɪnd pi:pl in weɪlz hu: a: kwaɪt dɪfrənt from the usual English people. They are darker, they fɹəm ðə ju:ʒuəl ɪŋɡlɪʃ pi:pl. ðei a: da:kə, ðei like very much to sing and to play, and they all feel laɪk veri mʌʃ tə sɪŋ ənd tə pleɪ, ənd ðei ɔ:l ʃi:l that they are Welsh, not English. But for several ðət ðei a: welʃ, nɒt ɪŋɡlɪʃ. bʌt fə severəl hundred years the three peoples, the Welsh, the Scotch, haʊdrəd jɪəz ðə pri: pi:plz, ðə welʃ, ðə skɒʃ, the Scotch = the Scots and the English, have lived in peace with each other ənd ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ, həv lɪvd ɪn pi:s wið i:lf ʌðə in Great Britain. I should explain, however, that the ɪn greɪt brɪtən. aɪ ʃʊd ɪks'pleɪn, haʊ'evə, ðət ðə

Scotch do not like to be called Scotch. They themselves skɒʃ du: nɒt laɪk tə bi: kɔ:ld skɒʃ. ðei ðəm'selvz always use the word 'Scots'." ɔ:lweɪz ju:z ðə wɔ:d 'skɒts'."

Storm: "It has been very interesting to learn all this, stɔ:m: "ɪt hæz bi:n veri ɪntrɪstɪŋ tə lɜ:n ɔ:l ðɪs, and it has given us a greater understanding of the ənd ɪt hæz ɡɪvn ʌs ə greɪtər ʌndə'stændɪŋ əv ðə country we are visiting. It was a good thing that we kʌntri wi: a: vɪzɪtɪŋ. ɪt wəz ə ɡʊd ʃɪŋ ðət wi:

stayed at home to-night."

steɪd ət haʊm tə'naɪt'."

WORDS:

none history tiring
beginning
Roman
Rome
general soldier
name (verb)
nation the Channel
Christ
B. C. battle
army quite difficulty
Briton
Britain
Celt
Pict
Scot
Scotch tribe enemy peace set fire fight fought

EXERCISE A.

The three young men did not know much about the — of England before William the Conqueror. —, they asked their teacher to tell them — about early times in England. They had been — so much in the afternoon that they had all got very —. The teacher told them about the Roman — who had sailed to England with his —. He also told them about the — that was fought between the — of Cæsar and that of Cassivelaunus.

Long after the battle the Romans — a large — of the country. Did the Romans and the Britons continue to be —? No, it was not long before the Britons and their — became — good friends. Why had the Britons continued to live — alone, so that they had not — the many new things from the —? Because Britain is an — with water on all —. Why did the Romans have to — the country again? Because — itself was in —. What two — from the north began to — with the Britons after the Romans had —? The Picts and the Scots sent — down to — with the Britons. Whom did the Britons ask to come and — them against their enemies? They sent word to three tribes — in northern — to come and — them. Is there — between the different people living in Britain now? No, the —, the —, and the English all live together in — now.

EXERCISE B.

What were the travellers talking about while they were having coffee after dinner? ... What was the weather like that evening? . . . How far back did they start their view of the history of England? . . . What nation had conquered many of the European nations about the year 50 B.C.? . . . For how long did Rome continue to send soldiers to Britain? . . . What good did the Romans do to the Britons? . . . Why could the Britons not fight their enemies alone after the Romans had left? . . . Whose ships began to come to England while Egbert was king? . . . What did the Vikings want in England? . . . Who was made king after the Normans had conquered England? . . . Has England had wars with other nations since then? . . . What is the name of the people who live in Wales? . . .

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with do, does, did, have, has, had'.

Does it blow harder at sea than ashore? Answer . . .
 Question . . .? No, it only rains very little in London during the month of July. Did snow ever fall in the country where the four travellers came from? Answer . . .
 Question . . .? No, there did not seem to be any end to London. Has any snow fallen in your town during the last six months? Answer . . .
 Question . . .? No, it has not rained to-day. Do you wash yourself every morning? Answer . . .
 Question . . .? No, the Smith baby does not wash itself; it is too young for that. Did the four travellers enjoy themselves in London? Answer . . .
 Question . . .? Yes, Mrs. Smith washed herself before she went to the birthday-party. Have you not made yourself ready yet? Answer . . .

fighting northern Jute
 Saxon
 Angle
 Welsh
 war mountain Viking
 continent
 island against Spain
 Spaniard
 Norman
 Anglo-Saxon
 mixture mix usual ship
 nice
 Italy
 conquer

Question . . .? Yes, I have washed myself in hot water.
Had the young men walked until they had become tired? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, they had often talked themselves sleepy in the evenings in their own country.

ENGLISH INSTITUTIONS

One day our four friends passed a hospital. Outside wʌn dei auə ʃɔ: frendz pa:st ə həspɪl. 'aʊt'saɪd they saw a placard or poster, on which was written ðei sɔ: ə plækɑ:d ɔ: pəʊstə, ɒn hwiːf wəz rɪtɪn in big letters: £ 10,000 still needed to pay for ɪn bɪɡ leɪtəz: ten ˈpauzənd paʊndz stɪl niːdɪd tə peɪ ʃə last year.

laːst jɪə.

Brown: "What is the meaning of the placard? Would braʊn: "hʊət ɪz ðə miːnɪŋ əv ðə plækɑ:d? wʊd you be kind enough to explain that to us, Mr. Miller?" ju: biː kaɪnd ɪ'nʌf tu ɪks'pleɪn ðæt tu ʌs, mɪstə mɪlə?"

Mr. Miller: "Yes, that means that the hospital still mɪstə mɪlə: "jes, ðæt miːnz ðæt ðə həspɪl stɪl needs £ 10,000 to be able to pay its bills niːdz ten ˈpauzənd paʊndz tə biː eɪbl tə peɪ ɪts bɪlz for last year. Many of the big hospitals in England ʃə laːst jɪə. mæni əv ðə bɪɡ həspɪtlz ɪn ɪŋɡlənd are private, that is, neither the State nor the towns ɑ: praɪvət, ðæt ɪz, naɪðə ðə steɪt nɔ: ðə taʊnz in which they are situated have anything to do with ɪn hwiːf ðei ɑ: sɪtʃueɪtɪd hæv ɛnɪθɪŋ tə duː wɪð them, so that they do not get any money from the ðəm, səʊ ðæt ðei duː nɒt ɡet ɛnɪ mʌni frəm ðə poster = placard

state = nation

towns or from the State to pay for their work." Brown:
taunz ɔ: frəm ðə steit tə pei fə ðeə wə:k. braun:

"How do they get money, then?"

"hau du: ðei get mʌni, ðen?"

Mr. Miller: "It is given to them by private people.
mistə milə: "it iz giʊn tə ðəm bai praɪvɪt pi:pl.

Money for the hospitals is often collected on special mʌni fə ðə həspɪtlz iz ɔ:fən kə'lektɪd ɒn speʃəl days in the year. There is, for example, a special deɪz ɪn ðə - jɪə. ðeər iz, fər ɪg'zɑ:mpl, ə speʃəl

Saturday called Hospital Saturday on which a lot of sætədi kɔ:ld həspɪtl sætədi ɒn hwi:tf ə lɒt əv money is collected for the hospitals in the streets, at mʌni iz kə'lektɪd fə ðə həspɪtlz ɪn ðə stri:tɪz, ət the doors, etc. And as you have seen just now, posters ðə dɔ:z, ɪt'setɹə. ənd əz ju: həv si:n dʒʌst nau, pəʊstəz tell people all the year round that the hospitals need tɛl pi:pl ɔ:l ðə jɪə raʊnd ðæt ðə həspɪtlz ni:d money. In some countries, most of the hospitals, mʌni. ɪn sʌm kʌntrɪz, mʌst əv ðə həspɪtlz, schools, and churches are paid for either by the State sku:lz, ənd ɪfə:ɪfɪz a: peɪd fɔ: aɪðə bai ðə steɪt or by the towns. They are what we call public and get ɔ: bai ðə taunz. ðei a: hʌt wi: kɔ:l pʌblɪk ənd get public help; but in England this is not always so. Here pʌblɪk help; bʌt ɪn ɪŋɡlənd ðɪs iz nɒt ɔ:lweɪz səʊ. hɪə those three institutions are often private. I have ðəʊz θri: ɪnstɪ'tju:ʃənz a:r ɔ:fən praɪvɪt. aɪ həv church

already mentioned one of them, the hospitals.

ɔ:l'redi menfənd wʌn əv ðəm, ðə həspɪlɪz.

to mention = to speak of

"Now I will tell you a little about the schools. They

"nau ai wil tel ju: ə lɪl ə'baʊt ðə sku:lz. ðei may be divided into higher and lower schools. Most mei bi: di'vaɪdɪd ɪntə haɪər ənd laʊə sku:lz. maʊst to divide = to make into parts lower schools are paid for by the towns. They are open laʊə sku:lz a: peɪd fɔ: baɪ ðə taʊnz. ðei a:r ɒpən to everybody, and nobody has to pay anything for tu evrɪbɒdi, ənd nəʊbɒdi hæz tə peɪ enɪθɪŋ fə sending his children to one of the lower schools. The sendɪŋ hɪz ɪfɪldrən tə wʌn əv ðə laʊə sku:lz. ðə pupils enter the lower schools, which are also called pju:plz ɛntə ðə laʊə sku:lz, hwɪtʃ a:r ɔ:lsoʊ kɔ:ld primary = first

the Primary or Elementary Schools, at the age of ðə praɪməri ɔ:r ɛlɪmentəri sku:lz, ət ði eɪdʒ əv

What is his age?
= How old is he?

five. When they are about eleven years old, they pass fəɪv. hwen ðei a:r ə'baʊt ɪ'levn jɪəz ould, ðei pa:s they pass on to = they are moved to on to the higher or Secondary Schools, which they ɒn tə ðə haɪər ɔ: sekəndəri sku:lz, hwɪtʃ ðei do not leave until they are between sixteen and du: nɒt li:v ʌn'tɪl ðei a: bɪ'twi:n sɪksti:n ənd secondary = second eighteen years of age. Most of the higher or Secondary eɪti:n jɪəz əv eɪdʒ. maʊst əv ðə haɪər ɔ: sekəndəri

Schools are paid for by the towns. It does not cost sku:lz a: peɪd fɔ: baɪ ðə taʊnz. ɪt dʌz nɒt kɒst anything to send children to these schools. However, enɪθɪŋ tə send ɪfɪldrən tə ði:z sku:lz. haʊ'evə,

	there is also a large number of private Secondary ðeər iz ɔ:lsoʊ ə ʎla:dʒ nʌmbər əv praɪvɪt sekəndəri Schools. sku:lz. “The third institution I mentioned is the Church. “ðə þə:d ɪnstɪ'tʃu:fən aɪ mənʃənd iz ðə tʃə:tʃ. People usually think that the English are very religious. pɪ:pl ju:ʒuəli þɪŋk ðæt ði ɪŋglɪʃ a: veri rɪ'lɪdʒəs. a foreigner = a person from another country	Foreigners have the idea that all Englishmen go to ʃəɪnəz hæv ði aɪ'dɪə ðæt ɔ:l ɪŋɡlɪʃmən ɡoʊ tə church very often, so I think you will be surprised to tʃə:tʃ veri ɔ:fən, soʊ aɪ þɪŋk ju: wɪl bi: sə'praɪzd tə hear that the Church of England is not a State church. hiə ðæt ðə tʃə:tʃ əv ɪŋɡlənd iz nɒt ə steɪt tʃə:tʃ. though = although	It is called the Church of England, but though it has ɪt iz kɔ:ld ðə tʃə:tʃ əv ɪŋɡlənd, bʌt ðəʊ ɪt hæz this name, it is not a State church, because it does ðɪs neɪm, ɪt iz nɒt ə steɪt tʃə:tʃ, bɪ'kɔ:z ɪt dʌz not get any money from the State. We may, however, nɒt ɡet enɪ mʌni frəm ðə steɪt. wɪ: meɪ, haʊ'evə, national = of the whole nation	say that it is a national church, because more Eng- seɪ ðæt ɪt iz ə næʃənəl tʃə:tʃ, bɪ'kɔ:z mɔ:r ɪŋ- lishmen are members of this church than of any other ɡlɪʃmən a: mɛmbəz əv ðɪs tʃə:tʃ ðən əv enɪ ʌðə church in England. tʃə:tʃ ɪn ɪŋɡlənd. “You see, therefore, that some institutions which are “ju: si:, ðeəʃə:, ðæt sʌm ɪnstɪ'tʃu:fənz hwɪlf a: usually public in other countries are very often private ju:ʒuəli pʌblik in ʌðə kʌntriz a: veri ɔ:fŋ praɪvɪt in England.”

in ɪŋɡlənd.”

Storm: “Yes, and those are not the only things in stə:m: “jes, ənd ðəʊz a: nɒt ði ounli þɪŋz in which the English are different from the people in hwɪtʃ ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ a: dɪfrənt frəm ðə pi:pl in most other countries. I think that England and Sweden maʊst ʌðə kʌntriz. aɪ þɪŋk ðət ɪŋɡlənd ənd swɪ:dn are the only two countries where the traffic keeps to a: ði ounli tu: kʌntriz hwɛə ðə træfɪk ki:ps tə the left. If you come from a country where the traffic ðə left. ɪf ju: kʌm frəm ə kʌntri hwɛə ðə træfɪk keeps to the right, it is important when you cross a ki:ps tə ðə raɪt, ɪt ɪz ɪm'pɔ:tənt hwen ju: krɒs ə street always to look in both directions. It is not a stri:t ɔ:lweɪz tə luk ɪn bəʊp dɪ'rekʃənz. ɪt ɪz nɒt ə good thing to take chances. Why do England and ɡʊd þɪŋ tə teɪk tʃa:nsɪz. hwaɪ du: ɪŋɡlənd ənd

Sweden keep to the left, when most other nations in swɪ:dn ki:p tə ðə left, hwen maʊst ʌðə neɪʃənz ɪn the world keep to the right?” ðə wɜ:ld ki:p tə ðə raɪt?”

Mr. Miller: “I am afraid I can't answer that question.
mɪstə mɪlə: “aɪ əm ə'freɪd aɪ kɑ:nt ɑ:nsə ðæt kwestʃən.

However, when foreigners come to England, it only haʊ'evə, hwen ʃərɪnəz kʌm tu ɪŋɡlənd, ɪt ounli

He keeps, he kept, he has kept [ki:ps, kept, kept].

monetary = which has to do with money

equal to = the same as takes them a short time to get used to it. There are teiks ðəm ə ʃɔ:t taim tə get ju:st tu it. ðeər a:

many other things in which the English are different meni ʌðə piŋz in hwitʃ ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ a: difrənt from other nations. As an example I might mention frəm ʌðə -neɪʃənz. əz ən ɪg'zɑ:mpl ai maɪt menʃən the English monetary system. Most countries in the ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ mənɪtəri sistəm. maʊst kʌntrɪz ɪn ðə world now use the decimal system. The decimal wɜ:ld naʊ ju:z ðə desɪməl sistəm. ðə desɪməl system, as you know, is built upon figures which may sistəm, əz ju: nou, ɪz bɪlt ə'pɒn fɪɡəz hwitʃ meɪ be divided by ten. But the English continue to use bi: dɪ'vaɪdɪd baɪ ten. bʌt ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ kən'tɪnju: tə ju:z their pounds, shillings, and pence.

ðeə paʊndz, ʃɪlɪŋz, ənd pens.

“Their weights and measures, too, are different from “ðeə weɪts ənd meʒəz, tu:, a: difrənt frəm those of other countries. In some countries they still ðəʊz əv ʌðə kʌntrɪz. ɪn sʌm kʌntrɪz ðeɪ stɪl have a weight called a pound, which is equal to hæv ə weɪt kɔ:ld ə paʊnd, hwitʃ ɪz i:kwəl tə 500 grammes (or half a kilogramme), but in Eng-faɪv haʊdrəd græmz (ɔ: ha:f ə kɪləgræm), bʌt ɪn ɪŋ-land one pound (1 lb) is equal to 454 gləʊnd wʌn paʊnd ɪz i:kwəl tə ʃɔ: haʊdrəd ənd fɪfti'fɔ:

grammes. While other countries speak of kilometres, græmz. hwail ʌðə kʌntrɪz spi:k əv kɪləmi:təz, metres, and centimetres, the English have such mi:təz, ənd sentimi:təz, ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ hæv sʌtʃ measures as miles and yards. The length of a mile is meɪəz əz maɪlz ənd ja:dz. ðə leŋθ əv ə maɪl ɪz equal to 1.61 kilometres, and the i:kwəl tə wʌn pɔɪnt sɪks wʌn kɪləmi:təz, ənd ðə point = .

length of a yard is equal to 0.91 metre.
leŋθ əv ə ja:d ɪz i:kwəl tə nɔ:t pɔɪnt naɪn wʌn mi:tə.

naught [nɔ:t] = 0

A yard has 36 inches.
ə ja:d hæz þə:ti'sɪks ɪnfɪz.

"The main reason why the English do not change their "ðə meɪn ri:zn hwaɪ ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ du: nɔt tʃeɪndʒ ðeə weights and measures is that they like to keep to the weɪts ənd meɪəz ɪz ðæt ðeɪ laɪk tə ki:p tə ði old things, and the most important reason for this is, əʊld þɪŋz, ənd ðə maʊst ɪm'pɔ:tənt ri:zn ʃə ðɪs ɪz, perhaps, that England is an island, cut off by the sea pə'hæps, ðæt ɪŋɡlənd ɪz ən aɪlənd, kʌt ɔ:f baɪ ðə si:

from the other countries of the world. When the fɾəm ði ʌðə kʌntrɪz əv ðə wɜ:ld. hwen ði

English cross the Channel, they seem to feel that they ɪŋɡlɪʃ krɒs ðə tʃænl, ðeɪ si:m tə ʃi:l ðæt ðeɪ enter quite another world, different from their own, entə kwɑɪt ə'nʌðə wɜ:ld, dɪfrənt fɾəm ðeər oun, and mostly they do not like what they see in other ənd maʊstli ðeɪ du: nɔt laɪk hwət ðeɪ si: ɪn ʌðə countries so well as they do their own things." kʌntrɪz sɔu wel əz ðeɪ du: ðeər oun þɪŋz."

WORDS:

hospital placard poster private public state
church
institution mention divide elementary primary secondary age religious though national keep kept system decimal monetary weight measure length pound (lb)
equal gramme kilogramme metre

EXERCISE A.

One day the young men saw a — or poster on which they read that a — needed money to pay its bills. The hospitals are not all paid for by the towns or the —; many of them are —. In some countries the hospitals, schools, and — are all —. English schools are — into higher and lower schools. The children enter the lower schools at the — of five. The Church of England is not a State church, but it may be called a — church. In England and Sweden traffic — to the left. The English — system is different from that of most other countries, too. In some countries they still have a — called a —, which is — to 500 grammes. The English — is — to 454 grammes. Instead of kilometres, metres, and centimetres, the English — are —, —, and inches. The — of a mile is — to 1.61 kilometres.

EXERCISE B.

What does it mean that an institution is public? . . . What three institutions in England do you know that are mostly private? . . . How do many hospitals get money to pay for their work? . . . At what age do the children begin school? . . . Where do the children pass on to from the Primary or Elementary Schools? . . . Why do we call the Church of England a national church? . . . Why must foreigners look in both directions when they cross streets in London? . . . To which side of the street does the English traffic keep? . . . What is the English monetary system like? . . . What are the English measures? . . . What is the length of a yard? . . . What is the main reason why the English keep to their old systems? . . .

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'can, could, may, might'.

Can Mr. Miller speak English? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, the young men can understand most of what they hear now. Can Brown afford to buy his clothes in Bond Street? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, you can buy many things at Selfridge's; the Londoners say: everything from a pin to an elephant. May you take any cigars along with you into England without paying duty? Answer . . . Question . . .? No, you may not get into England without a passport. May people see the inside of Parliament? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, you may drive on the left side of the streets of London, because in England all traffic keeps to the left. Could the young men hear what the speaker in the park was saying? Answer . . . Question . . .? No, the King's carriage could not pass through Marble Arch, because it was too narrow. Could the young men get their holidays at the same time? Answer . . . Question . . .? No, they could not see the King and Queen, because they were in Scotland. Might our friends swim in the Serpentine if they wanted to? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, he might take the seventy-five cigars into England without paying duty, because each of the four men took some of them through the Customs. Might they see any part of Hampton Court Palace? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, the speakers in Hyde Park might say what they wanted to; nobody stopped them centimetre

yard foreigner naught
point

A VISIT TO AN ENGLISH FAMILY branch = part of a firm, situated at another place than the main firm

Before they started on the trip, Storm's manager had bɪ'fɔ: ðei sla:tɪd ɒn ðə trɪp, stɔ:mz mænɪdʒə həd asked him to go one day to the manager of the London ɑ:skt him tə ɡoʊ wʌn dei tə ðə mænɪdʒər əv ðə lʌndən branch of the firm. It would interest the young man, brɑ:nʃ əv ðə ʃə:m. ɪt wʊd ɪntrɪst ðə jʌŋ mæn, he thought, to see the work in a big English office, hi: þɔ:t, tə si: ðə wɜ:k ɪn ə bɪɡ ɪŋɡlɪʃ ɔfɪs, and he would learn something which might be useful ænd hi: wʊd lə:n sʌmpɪŋ hwɪtʃ maɪt bi: ju:sfʊl to him later on in his work at home.

tə him leɪtər ɒn ɪn hɪz wɜ:k ət haʊm.

So one day during the last week of their stay in sou wʌn dei 'dʒuəriŋ ðə la:st wi:k əv ðeə steɪ ɪn

London, Storm went to pay a visit to the London lʌndən, stɔ:m went tə peɪ ə vɪzɪt tə ðə lʌndən office. Mr. Edwards, the manager, greeted him very ɔfɪs. mɪstər edwədz, ðə mænɪdʒə, ɡri:tɪd him veri kindly. "How do you do," he said; "your manager kaindli. "haʊdʒu:du:," hi: sed; "jɔ: mænɪdʒə wrote and told me that you were coming, so I have rʊt ænd təʊld mi: ðæt ju: wə: kʌmɪŋ, sou aɪ həv been expecting you. But come into my private office bi:n ɪks'pektɪŋ ju:. bʌt kʌm ɪntə maɪ praɪvət ɔfɪs and tell me what you have been doing. Your manager and tel mi: hwæt ju: hæv bi:n du:ɪŋ. jɔ: mænɪdʒər and I are old friends, you know. He was over here and ai a:r ould frendz, ju: nou. hi: wəz ouvə hiə to study the business when I was a young man in tə stʌdi ðə biznis hwen ai wəz ə jʌŋ mæn in this same office, so we know each other very well. I ðis seim ɔfɪs, sou wi: nou i:tf ʌðə veri wel. ai shall be glad to show you round the place." ʃəl bi: glæd tə ʃou ju: raund ðə pleɪs."

A little later, when they were walking round, Mr. ə lɪtl leɪtə, hwen ðei wə: wɔ:kɪŋ raund, mɪstər

Edwards showed him several modern machines that edwədz ʃəʊd him sevərəl mɒdən mə'fi:nz ðæt they had just bought. "Come and have a look at this ðei həd dʒʌst bɔ:t. "kʌm and hæv ə luk æt ðis one," he said, showing him an adding machine. "It wʌn," hi: sed, ʃəʊɪŋ him ən ædɪŋ mə'fi:n. "ɪt is a very useful machine, which saves us a lot of time.

ɪz ə veri ju:sfʊl mə'fi:n, hwɪtf seɪvz ʌs ə lɒt əv taɪm.

Before we got it, we had a man who sat all day adding bɪ'fɔ: wi: ɡɒt ɪt, wi: həd ə mæn hu: sæt ɔ:l dei ædɪŋ figures; now the same man does the same work in less figəz; naʊ ðə seɪm mæn dʌz ðə seɪm wɜ:k in les than three hours with his machine. That means more ðən θri: aʊəz wɪð hɪz mə'fi:n. ðæt mi:nz mɔ:

than five hours saved every day." Storm was shown ðən faɪv aʊəz seɪvd evri dei." stɔ:m wəz ʃəʊn round (here) =

about a conversation = a talk between two or more persons

dinner-jacket

some other modern things that are useful in an office, sɑm ʌðə mɒdən þɪŋz ðæt a: ju:sfʊl ɪn ən əfɪs, and then they went back to the manager's private ænd ðen ðeɪ wɛnt bæk tə ðə mænɪdʒəz praɪvət office. After Storm had told the manager what they əfɪs. ɑ:fteɪ stɔ:m hæd təʊld ðə mænɪdʒə hʊət ðeɪ had seen and done during their stay in England, Mr. hæd si:n ænd dʌn dʒuəriŋ ðeə steɪ ɪn ɪŋɡlənd, mɪstər Edwards said, "I know what it is like to be in a foredwədz sed, "aɪ nou hʊət ɪt ɪz laɪk tə bi: ɪn ə fɔign country as a tourist. You do not get into conrɪn kʌntri əz ə tuərɪst. ju: du: nɒt get ɪntə kən-versation with Englishmen as much as you would like və'seɪʃən wɪð ɪŋɡlɪʃmən əz mʌʃ əz ju: wʊd laɪk to. So if you would like to come and dine with us to-

tu. sou ɪf ju: wʊd laɪk tə kʌm ænd daɪn wɪð ʌs tənight, all four of you, my wife and I would be very 'naɪl, ɔ:l fɔ:r əv ju:, maɪ waɪf ænd aɪ wʊd bi: veri pleased. Could you come at half past seven?" "Thank pli:zd. kʊd ju: kʌm ət ha:f pa:st sevən?" "þæŋk you very much, that is very kind of you!" Storm ju: veri mʌʃ, ðæt ɪz veri kaɪnd əv ju:!" stɔ:m answered, "but I am afraid that we have not brought ɑ:nsəd, "bʌt aɪ əm ə'freɪd ðæt wi: hæv nɒt brɔ:t the right clothes for that. We took as little luggage ðə raɪt kləʊðz fɔ ðæt. wi: tuk əz lɪl lʌɡɪdʒ as possible, and none of us have brought our dinnerəz pɒsəbl, ænd nən əv ʌs hæv brɔ:t əʊə daɪnə-jackets. We didn't expect an invitation to dinner, you dʒækits. wi: didnt iks'pekt ən invi'teɪʃən tə dɪnə, ju:

know." At this reply Mr. Edwards laughed, saying, nou." ət ðɪs rɪ'plai mɪstər edwədz lɑ:ft, seɪɪŋ,

"My dear boy, what a funny idea that it would be "maɪ diə bɔɪ, hwət ə ʃʌni aɪ'diə ðæt ɪt wʊd bi:

necessary for you to wear a dinner-jacket! I am nesɪsəri ʃə ju: tə weər ə dɪnədʒækɪt! aɪ əm afraid that it is an idea that many foreigners have. I ə'freɪd ðæt ɪt ɪz ən aɪ'diə ðæt mæni ʃɔːrɪnəz hæv. aɪ know that some English writers give that impression nou ðæt sʌm ɪŋɡlɪʃ raɪtəz gɪv ðæt ɪm'presən in their books. Kipling, for example, gives the im-ɪn ðeə buks. kipliŋ, ʃər ɪɡ'zɑ:mpl, gɪvz ðɪ ɪmpression that Englishmen wear dinner-jackets for 'presən ðæt ɪŋɡlɪʃmən weə dɪnədʒækɪts ʃə dinner every evening. But this may only be said of dɪnə evri i:vniŋ. bʌt ðɪs meɪ ounli bi: sed əv some people of the upper classes. The Englishman of sʌm pi:pl əv ðɪ ʌpə kla:sɪz. ðɪ ɪŋɡlɪʃmən əv the middle classes wears his usual clothes for dinner, ðə mɪdl kla:sɪz weəz hɪz ju:ʒuəl kləʊðz ʃə dɪnə, and he is not so much interested in the clothes that ænd hi: ɪz nɒt sʌʊ mʌʃ ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ðə kləʊðz ðæt people wear as in the people wearing them. Speaking pi:pl weə əz ɪn ðə pi:pl weəriŋ ðəm. spi:kɪŋ for myself, it has not been necessary for me to wear ʃə maɪ'self, ɪt həz nɒt bi:n nesɪsəri ʃə mi: tə weər necessary = which must be done

He wears, he wore, he has worn [weəz, wɔː, wɔːn].

upper = higher

a dinner-jacket for six months, and the last time I ə dɪnədʒækɪt fə sɪks mʌnθs, ənd ðə la:st taɪm aɪ wore mine it was only because it was necessary to wə: maɪn ɪt wəz ɒnli bɪ'kɔ:z ɪt wəz nesɪsəri tə give it some fresh air. May we expect you to dinner, gɪv ɪt sʌm freʃ ɛə. meɪ wi: ɪks'pekt ju: tə dɪnə, then?" Storm: "Yes, thank you, we shall be very pleased ðen?" stɔ:m: "jes, þæŋk ju:, wi: fəl bi: veri pli:zd to come."
 tə kʌm."

When Storm told his friends about the invitation, hwen stɔ:m təuld hɪz frendz ə'baut ði ɪnvɪ'teɪʃən, they were all very pleased at the chance of speaking ðeɪ wə:r ɔ:l veri pli:zd ət ðə tʃɑ:ns əv spi:kɪŋ to an Englishman and his family in their home. They tu ən ɪŋɡlɪʃmən ənd hɪz fæmɪli ɪn ðeə haʊm. ðeɪ arrived at Mr. Edwards's a little before 7.30 and ə'raɪvd ət mɪstər edwədʒɪz ə lɪl bɪ'ʃɔ: sevn þə:ti ənd were shown into the sitting-room. They found Mr. wə: ʃəʊn ɪntə ðə sɪtɪŋrʊm. ðeɪ faʊnd mɪstər Edwards with his wife, and he introduced Storm to edwədʒ wɪð hɪz waɪf, ənd hi: ɪntrə'dju:st stɔ:m tə his wife with the words, "My dear, may I introduce hɪz waɪf wɪð ðə wə:dʒ, "maɪ diə, meɪ aɪ ɪntrə'dju:s Mr. Storm to you? Mr. Storm, this is my wife." Storm mɪstə stɔ:m tə ju:? mɪstə stɔ:m, ðɪs ɪz maɪ waɪf." stɔ:m greeted her, saying, "How do you do, Mrs. Edwards," ɡri:tɪd hæ:, seɪɪŋ, "haʊdju'du:, mɪsɪz edwədʒ," and then he introduced his friends, "This is Mr. Miller, ænd ðen hi: intrə'dju:st hiz frendz, "ðis iz mistə milə, our teacher, and these are my two friends, Mr. Wood auə ti:tfə, ænd ði:z a: mai tu: frendz, mistə wud and Mr. Brown."

ænd mistə braun."

Mr. Miller thanked Mr. and Mrs. Edwards for their mistə milə þæŋkt mistər ænd misiz edwədz fə ðeə kindness in asking three strangers — three men whom kaindnis in a:skiŋ pri: streindʒəz — pri: men hu:m they did not know — to dinner. After a glass of wine ðei did nɒt nou — tə dinə. a:ftər ə gla:s əv wain

Mr. Edwards said to Mr. Miller, Brown, and Wood, mistər edwədz sed tə mistə milə, braun, ænd wud,

"May Mr. Storm and I leave you for a few minutes?
"mei mistə stɔ:m ænd ai li:v ju: fər ə fju: minits?"

There is something I want to speak to Mr. Storm ðeər iz sʌmpŋ ai wɒnt tə spi:k tə mistə stɔ:m about before dinner. — Will you fill the gentlemen's ə'baʊt bi'fɔ: dinə. — wil ju: fil ðə dʒentlmənz glasses again, my dear," he said to his wife, "while gla:siz ə'gein, mai diə," hi: sed tə hiz waif, "hwail

Mr. Storm and I go into my study?" mistə stɔ:m ænd ai ɡoʊ intə mai stʌdi?"

Mr. Edwards's study was a nice large room with book-mistər edwəd:z stʌdi wəz ə naɪs la:dʒ ru:m wið bukshelves along two walls, a fire-place, in front of which felvz ə'ləŋ tu: wɔ:lz, ə faɪəpleɪs, in frʌnt əv hwɪf one shelf two shelves

writing-table

fire-place

stay on = stay

to be taken ill = to become ill

there were some big chairs, and a large writing-table ðeə wə: sʌm biɡ tʃeəz, ənd ə la:dʒ raɪtɪŋleɪbl with many papers and books. Over the fire-place was wɪð meni peɪpəz ənd buks. oʊvə ðə ˈfaɪəpleɪs wəz a shelf, on which there was a fine old clock. "Sit down ə ʃelf, ɒn hwɪlf ðeə wəz ə ˈfaɪn ould klɒk. "sɪt daʊn in that chair, Storm," said Mr. Edwards, "I will take ɪn ðæt tʃeə, stɔ:m," sed mɪstə edwədz, "aɪ wɪl teɪk this one." He then began, "How would you like to ðɪs wʌn." hi: ðen bɪˈɡæn, "haʊ wʊd ju: laɪk tə stay on here a few months longer, Storm? You see, steɪ ɒn hɪə ə fju: mʌnθs lɒŋɡə, stɔ:m? ju: si:, one of my young men at the office was taken ill last wʌn əv maɪ jʌŋ men ət ðɪ ɒfɪs wəz teɪkən ɪl la:st week, and he will not be able to start work again wi:k, ənd hi: wɪl nɒt bi: eɪbl tə stɑ:t wə:k əˈgeɪn until the beginning of next year. He has been doing ʌn'tɪl ðə bɪˈɡɪnɪŋ əv nekst jɪə. hi: həz bi:n du:ɪŋ all our foreign correspondence; most of it is with ɔ:l əʊə ˈfɔrɪn kɔrɪsˈpɒndəns; mʌst əv ɪt ɪz wɪð your country, you know. He writes your language jɔ: kʌntri, ju: nəʊ. hi: raɪts jɔ: læŋɡwɪdʒ quite well and knows something of several other kwɪt wel ənd nəʊz sʌmˈpɪŋ əv severəl ʌðə languages besides. I might get another young man læŋɡwɪdʒɪz bɪˈsaɪdz. aɪ maɪt ɡet əˈnʌðə jʌŋ mæn to take his position, but it may be difficult, as it is tə teɪk hɪz pəˈzɪʃən, bʌt ɪt meɪ bi: dɪfɪkəlt, əz ɪt ɪz only for six months. You see, I told him that he could ounli fə siks mʌnθs. ju: si:, ai tould him ðæt hi: kud have his position back when he is well again. But tell hæv hi:z pə'zifən bæ:k hwen hi: iz wel ə'geɪn. bʌt tel me now what work you are used to, and whether you mi: nau hwət wə:k ju: a: ju:st tu, ənd hweðə ju:

think you would be able to fill the position." Storm piŋk ju: wud bi: eibl tə fil ðə pə'zifən." stɔ:m told him then that he was quite used to business tould him ðen ðæt hi: wəz kwait ju:st tə biznis correspondence; he had written all the letters for his kəris'pɒndəns; hi: həd ritn ɔ:l ðə letəz fə hi:z

manager for some time, and he was used to all office mænɪdʒə fə sʌm taɪm, ənd hi: wəz ju:st tu ɔ:l əfɪs work. "I should like very much to stay on over here, wə:k. "ai fud laɪk veri mʌʃ tə steɪ ɒn ɔvə hiə, but don't you think it will be difficult for my manager bʌt daʊnt ju: piŋk ɪt wɪl bi: dɪfɪkəlt fə maɪ mænɪdʒə to find somebody to fill my position so suddenly?

tə faɪnd sʌmbədi tə fil maɪ pə'zifən sou sʌdnli?

somebody = some one

What will he say to it? It is for him to decide."
hwət wɪl hi: sei tu ɪt? ɪt ɪz fə him tə dɪ'saɪd."

"I will send him a telegram and ask him about it.
"ai wɪl send him ə telɪgræm ənd ɑ:sk him ə'baut ɪt.

If he sends a quick reply by telegram, which is so ɪf hi: sendz ə kwɪk ri'plai baɪ telɪgræm, hwɪʃ ɪz sou much quicker than a letter, the whole thing can be mʌʃ kwɪkə ðən ə letə, ðə houl piŋ kən bi:

decided in a day or two.”
di'saidid in ə dei ɔ: tu:.”

When they had finished their conversation, they went hwen ðei həd finiʃt ðeə kɒnvə'seɪʃən, ðei went in to have dinner with the others. in tə hæv dɪnə wɪð ði ʌðəz.

EXERCISE A.

WORDS:
 branch
 useful
 stay conversation pay a visit expect machine save dinner-jacket
 writer wear wore worn upper classes middle classes introduce kindness stranger fill study
 shelf book-shelf

Storm went to pay a — to the London — of his firm.
 The manager had — him for some days. He showed Storm some modern — which he had bought. One of them was an — machine. The manager said that the machines — much time. Some English — give the impression that Englishmen wear — for dinner every day. Most of the English, however, are more interested in people themselves than in the clothes they —.
 When the four travellers got to the manager's house, he — Storm to his wife. He and Storm went to his — to talk together. Did Storm think that he could fill the —? Yes, he said that he was used to business —.
 Why are adding machines so —? Because they — so much time.

EXERCISE B.

Where had Storm's manager asked him to go? . . . Why had Mr. Edwards expected Storm? . . . What did he show him in his office? . . . Had any of the four men brought their dinner-jackets along? . . . Do the English usually wear dinner-jackets for dinner? . . . Into which room did Mr. Edwards and Storm go to talk together?
 . . . What was over the fire-place in Mr. Edwards's study? . . . Did Storm think that he would be able to fill the position? . . . What did they send to Storm's manager to ask if Storm might take the position? . . . Why didn't Mr. Edwards get another Englishman to fill the position? . . .

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'am, is, are, was, were, has been, have been, had been' and verbs in -ing.

Is John coming home for dinner now? Answer . . .
 Question . . .? Yes, I am going to town next week.
 Are the four travellers having a good time in England? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, they are thinking of a trip up the Thames. Was Mr. Edwards expecting Storm when he visited his office? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, the business people were leaving their offices when our four travellers arrived in London. Were Mr. Miller and the three young men standing on deck when the steamer started on the trip to England? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, Mr. Miller, Storm, and Wood were waiting at the railway station when Brown arrived. Has Wood been working at the office for a year? Answer . . . Question . . .? No, the three friends have not been studying English for so very long. Had John been skating on the lake in the afternoon? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, Helen had been learning to swim all the summer. Had the young men been planning their trip to England for a long time? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, this time Mrs. Miller had been staying at the farm all the time her husband was in England.

fire-place
 writing-table
 correspondence position somebody quick telegram interest (verb)
 reply
 necessary
 over
 round
 adding machine

AN ENGLISH HOUSE

When dinner was over, Mr. Edwards offered to show hwen dinə wəz ouvə, mistər edwədz ɔfəd tə fou his guests the house. "You haven't seen the inside of hiz gɛsts ðə haus. "ju: hævnt si:n ði insaɪd əv an English home, have you?" he asked them. "Perhaps ən ɪŋɡlɪʃ hoʊm, hæv ju?" hi: ɑ:skt ðəm. "pə'hæps it might interest you to see ours. It is a little larger ɪt maɪt ɪntrɪst ju: tə si: auəz. ɪt ɪz ə lɪtl la:dʒə than what we might call 'the typical English house'.

ðən hwət wi: maɪt kɔ:l 'ðə tɪpɪkəl ɪŋɡlɪʃ haus'.

The typical English house, I should say, has five rooms.
ðə tɪpɪkəl ɪŋɡlɪʃ haus, aɪ ʃʊd sei, hæz faɪv ru:mz.

Four fifths (4/5) of all the small houses that you have foʊ: fɪfθs əv ɔ:l ðə smɔ:l haʊzɪz ðæt ju: hæv seen on your trips about London have been of that si:n ɒn jɔ: trɪps ə'baʊt lʌndən hæv bi:n əv ðæt type, and it is not only in London that this type is taɪp, ənd ɪt ɪz nɒt ɒnli ɪn lʌndən ðæt ðɪs taɪp ɪz common = usual

common, but all over England.
kɒmən, bʌt ɔ:l ɒuvər ɪŋɡlənd.

"Now, we have three rooms on the ground floor. You "naʊ, wi: hæv θri: ru:mz ɒn ðə graʊnd flɔ:. ju:

have seen two of them, and I will show you the study hæv si:n tu: əv ðəm, ənd aɪ wɪl ʃəʊ ju: ðə stʌdi now," he added, opening the door to his study. "This nau, hi: ædid, ɔupənɪŋ ðə dɔ: tə hɪz stʌdi. "ðɪs is my room, where I can have my books and papers ɪz maɪ ru:m, hweər aɪ kən hæv maɪ buks ænd peɪpəz in peace. The maid comes in here about once a week ɪn pi:s. ðə meɪd kʌmz ɪn hɪə ə'baʊt wʌnz ə wi:k

to clean the room, and on that day I can never find tə kli:n ðə ru:m, ænd ɒn ðæt deɪ aɪ kən nevə faɪnd any of my things. She has been here to-day, I think, eni əv maɪ ʒɪŋz. ʃi: həz bi:n hɪə tə'deɪ, aɪ ʒɪŋk, for I can't see my cigars anywhere. Well, they must fər aɪ kɑ:nt si: maɪ sɪ'gɑ:z enɪhweə. wel, ðeɪ mʌst be somewhere, so I'll see if I can find them." He bi: səmhweə, sɔu aɪl si: ɪf aɪ kən faɪnd ðəm." hɪ:

looked round the room, found the box of cigars at last lʊkt raʊnd ðə ru:m, faʊnd ðə bɒks əv sɪ'gɑ:z ət lɑ:st on one of the book-shelves, and then offered one to ɒn wʌn əv ðə buksʃelvz, ænd ðen ə'fəd wʌn tu each of his guests.

i:f əv hɪz ɡests.

"These arm-chairs in front of the fire-place look very
"ði:z a:mʃeəz ɪn frʌnt əv ðə faɪəpleɪs lʊk veri comfortable," said Wood, and Mr. Edwards replied, kʌmfəʔəbl," sed wʊd, ænd mɪstər edwədz rɪ'plaɪd,

"Yes, they are very nice to sit in. I have tried to "jes, ðeɪ a: veri naɪs tə sɪt ɪn. aɪ hæv traɪd tə make my house as comfortable as possible, for it is so meɪk maɪ haʊs əz kʌmfəʔəbl əz pɒsəbl, fər ɪt ɪz sɔu to cook = to make food ready for eating

the ground floor = the floor nearest to the ground

nice, when you come home after a long day's work, to nais, huən ju: kʌm hoʊm a:ftər ə lɔŋ deɪz wə:k, tə sit in a big, comfortable chair, reading the paper or sit in ə big, kʌmfətəbl ɪʃə, ri:diŋ ðə peɪpə ɔ:r a good book. But come along and see the other rooms ə guɪd bu:k. bʌt kʌm ə'lɔŋ ənd si: ði ʌðə ru:mz of the house. The kitchen, where the food is cooked, əv ðə haʊs. ðə kɪtʃɪn, huweə ðə fu:d ɪz kʊkt, is not very interesting to men; it is here at the back ɪz nɒt veri ɪntrɪstɪŋ tə men; ɪt ɪz hiə ət ðə bæk of the house; but next to the kitchen is a small room əv ðə haʊs; bʌt nekst tə ðə kɪtʃɪn ɪz ə smɔ:l ru:m which is typical of an English house. It is called the hwɪlf ɪz tɪpɪkəl əv ən ɪŋɡlɪʃ haʊs. ɪt ɪz kɔ:ld ðə scullery, and it is used for the washing up and for the skʌləri, ənd ɪt ɪz ju:zd fə ðə wɔʃɪŋ ʌp ənd fə ðə dirty part of the cooking, such as cleaning potatoes də:li pɑ:t əv ðə kʊkɪŋ, sʌtʃ əz kli:nɪŋ pə'teɪtəʊz and vegetables." After having shown them the ground ənd vedʒɪtəblz." a:ftə hævɪŋ ʃaʊn ðəm ðə graʊnd floor, Mr. Edwards took them upstairs to the first flɔ:, mɪstər edwədz tu:k ðəm 'ʌp'steəz tə ðə ʃə:st floor. "Upstairs we have all the bedrooms and the flɔ:. "'ʌp'steəz wi: hæv ɔ:l ðə bedrʊmz ənd ðə bathroom. This big one is our own room; here is one bɑ:prʊm. ðɪs bɪɡ wʌn ɪz ʌʊər ʌʊn ru:m; hiə ɪz wʌn for the maid, and this is my daughter's room. She is fə ðə meɪd, ənd ðɪs ɪz maɪ dɔ:təz ru:m. ʃi: ɪz not at home to-night; these young people are never nɒt ət haʊm tə'naɪt; ði:z jʌŋ pi:pl a: nevər at home! She has gone out with some friends to see ət haʊm! ʃi: hæz ɡɒn aʊt wɪð sʌm frɛndz tə si:

a picture. That room used to be my son's, but he is ə pɪktʃə. ðæt ru:m ju:st tə bi: maɪ sʌnz, bʌt hi: ɪz now married to the daughter of an old friend of mine naʊ mærid tə ðə dɔ:tər əv ən ould frɛnd əv maɪn and has his own home. It is nice to have an extra ənd hæz hɪz ʌn haʊm. ɪt ɪz naɪs tə hæv ən ɛkstrə room. Since my son married two years ago, we have ru:m. sɪns maɪ sʌn mærid tu: jɪəz ə'ɡəʊ, wi: hæv often used the room for guests. Well, shall we go ɔ:fən ju:zd ðə ru:m fə ɡɛsts. wel, ʃəl wi: ɡəʊ downstairs again? I think you have seen all there is 'daʊn'steəz ə'geɪn? aɪ θɪŋk ju: hæv si:n ɔ:l ðeər ɪz to be seen upstairs and downstairs now. Perhaps you tə bi: si:n 'ʌp'steəz ənd 'daʊn'steəz naʊ. pə'hæps ju:

would like to see the garden, too. You know that, like wʊd laɪk tə si: ðə ɡɑ:dn, tu:. ju: nəʊ ðət, laɪk most Englishmen, I love my garden. I love to work mʌst ɪŋɡlɪʃmən, aɪ lʌv maɪ ɡɑ:dn. aɪ lʌv tə wɜ:k in it in the evening after sitting in the office most of ɪn ɪt ɪn ði i:vniŋ a:ftə sɪtɪŋ ɪn ði ɔfɪs mʌst əv the day. On Sunday mornings I get a lot of work done ðə dei. ɒn sʌndi mɔ:nɪŋz aɪ ɡet ə lɒt əv wɜ:k dʌn in the garden. I am hardly ever ill, and I think it ɪn ðə ɡɑ:dn. aɪ əm hɑ:dli evər ɪl, ənd aɪ θɪŋk ɪt to love = to like

 very much

rose

lawn

is my love of garden work that does this. Work like iz mai lʌv əv ɡɑ:dən wə:k ðæt dʌz ðis. wə:k laɪk this is necessary for a business man to keep him well.

ðis iz nesisəri fər ə biznis mæn tə ki:p him wel.

I am especially interested in roses. Over here on the ai əm is'pefəli intristid ,in rouziz. ʊvə hiə ɒn ðə south side of the house and along the garden wall, I saʊp said əv ðə haʊs ænd ə'lɔŋ ðə ɡɑ:dən wɔ:l, ai have my rose-bushes. Aren't they beauties? hæv mai rouzbʊʃiz. a:nt ðei bjʊ:tiz?

"You see that we have a big lawn. Most English people "ju: si: ðæt wi: hæv ə big lɔ:n. moust iŋɡlif pi:pl like to have a piece of ground with grass in their laɪk tə hæv ə pi:s əv ɡraʊnd wið ɡrɑ:s in ðeə gardens. As you can see, the lawn goes right up to the ɡɑ:dnz. əz ju: kən si:, ðə lɔ:n ɡouz raɪt ʌp tə ðə house, so that looking out of the windows, we almost haʊs, sɔ ðæt lʊkiŋ aʊt əv ðə wi:ndəʊz, wi:ɔ:lmoust feel that we are in the garden. The lawns of many fi:l ðæt wi: a:r in ðə ɡɑ:dən. ðə lɔ:nz əv meni large old English country-houses are famous all over la:dʒ ould iŋɡlif kʌntrihaʊziz a: feɪməs ɔ:l ʊvə the world. These old lawns are so famous and well ðə wɜ:ld. ði:z ould lɔ:nz a: sɔ feɪməs ænd wel known that, when people want to say that a lawn is nəʊn ðæt, hwen pi:pl wɒnt tə sei ðæt ə lɔ:n iz really beautiful, they say it is a 'real English lawn'.

riəli bjʊ:təfʊl, ðei sei it iz ə 'riəl iŋɡlif lɔ:n'.

Some of them are several hundred years old.

sʌm əv ðəm a: sevrəl hʌndrəd jɪəz ould.

"At the back of the garden are my fruit trees, and we

"ət ðə bæk əv ðə ga:dn a: mai fru:t tri:z, ənd wi:

also have a small kitchen-garden with a few vegetables.

əlsou hæv ə smɔ:l kitʃinga:dn wið ə fju: vedʒitəblz.

It isn't of very much use to us, but I get lots of fun it iznt əv veri mʌʃ ju:s tu ʌs, bʌt ai get lɒts əv ʃʌn out of working in it." On their way back to the house aʊt əv wə:kiŋ in it." ɒn ðeə wei bæk tə ðə haus

Mr. Edwards showed them the garage and opened the mɪstər edwədz ʃəʊd ðəm ðə ɡæra:ʒ ənd ɒpənd ðə door so that they might see his car. It was a beauty, dɔ: sou ðət ðei maɪ si: hɪz kɑ:. ɪt wəz ə bjʊ:ti, and quite new. "It is a small Morris," he said. "I ənd kwait nju:. "ɪt ɪz ə smɔ:l mɔ:ris," hi: sed. "ai think you know Morris cars in your country, too. It θɪŋk ju: nou mɔ:ris kɑ:z in jɔ: kʌntri, tu:. ɪt is quite famous in other countries for its low price and ɪz kwait feɪməs in ʌðə kʌntriz fɔr ɪts lou praɪs ənd for being cheap to run. I have had other cars before, fɔr bi:ɪŋ tʃi:p tə rʌn. ai hæv hæd ʌðə kɑ:z bi'fɔ:, larger ones, but now that we are only three, this one lɑ:dʒə wʌnz, bʌt nau ðət wi: a:r ɒnli θri:, ðɪs wʌn is big enough, and, nowadays, cheapness is something ɪz bɪɡ i'nʌʃ, ənd, naʊədeɪz, tʃi:pnis ɪz sʌmpɪŋ one must think of, too. It runs many miles for a few wʌn mʌst θɪŋk əv, tu:. ɪt rʌnz meni maɪlz fɔr ə fju:

garage

to run (here) = to drive

rosy = like a rose

wavy hair = hair with waves in it

shillings." There was a door from the garage into the filiŋz." ðeə wəz ə dɔː frəm ðə ɡæraːʒ intə ðə hall, and they returned to the house by this door. Miss hɔːl, ʌnd ðei ri'təːnd tə ðə haʊs baɪ ðɪs dɔː. mɪs Edwards had now returned and was introduced to the edwədz həd naʊ ri'təːnd ʌnd wəz ɪntrə'djuːst tə ðə guests by her father, who said, "This is my daughter ɡests baɪ hɜː fɑːðə, huː sed, "ðɪs ɪz maɪ dɔːtə Marion. Marion, this is Mr. Miller, who is staying in mæriən. mæriən, ðɪs ɪz mɪstə mɪlə, huː ɪː steɪɪŋ ɪn England with his pupils, Mr. Storm, Mr. Wood, and ɪŋɡlənd wɪð hɪz pjuːplz, mɪstə stɔːm, mɪstə wʊd, ʌnd Mr. Brown." Miss Edwards was a lovely young girl, mɪstə braʊn." mɪs edwədz wəz ə lʌvli jʌŋ ɡɜːl, a typical English beauty, with a rosy face, blue eyes, ə tɪpɪkəl ɪŋɡlɪʃ bjuːti, wɪð ə rɒʊzi feɪs, bluː aɪz, and brown, wavy hair. They sat for some hours talking ʌnd braʊn, weɪvi heə. ðei sæt fə sʌm aʊəz tɔːkɪŋ in front of the fire in the study. Mr. Edwards was able ɪn frʌnt əv ðə faɪə ɪn ðə stʌdi. mɪstə edwədz wəz eɪbl to tell them about many interesting things in London, tə tel ðəm ə'baʊt mæni ɪntrɪstɪŋ ʃɪŋz ɪn lʌndən, which he said they must see before leaving, and when hwɪlf hiː sed ðei mʌst siː bi'fɔː liːvɪŋ, ʌnd hwen at last it was time for them to take their leave, they ət lɑːst ɪt wəz taɪm fə ðəm tə teɪk ðeə liːv, ðei all thanked Mr. and Mrs. Edwards as well as Miss ɔːl ʔæŋkt mɪstə ʌnd mɪsɪz edwədz əz wel əz mɪs

Edwards for the pleasant evening they had spent in edwədz fə ðə plezn̩t i:vniŋ ðei həd spent in their home. They said that they would never forget ðeə haʊm. ðei sed ðæt ðei wʊd nevə fə'get the kindness that had been shown them when they ðə kaɪndnis ðæt həd bi:n ʃaʊn ðəm huən ðei came as strangers to their home, and they added that keɪm əz streɪndʒəz tə ðeə haʊm, ənd ðei ədɪd ðæt they would write them a letter when they got back ðei wʊd raɪt ðəm ə letə huən ðei ɡɒt bæk to their own country.

tə ðeə ʌn kʌntri.

EXERCISE A.

Mr. Edwards said that the — English house has five rooms. He could not find his cigars —, because the maid had just been in to — his room. At last he found them on one of the —. Mr. Edwards liked a — chair to sit in when he came home from his office work. The food is — in the —, but the washing up is done in the —. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards had a son who was — to the daughter of an old friend of theirs. The daughter was not at home; she had gone to see a — with some friends. She returned later and was — to the guests by her father.

In the garden was a big — with beautiful grass. There were also many beautiful flowers, especially —. Mr. Edwards called his rose-bushes —. After they had seen the garden, they went to the — and had a look at Mr. Edwards's car. He said that it was famous for its low

WORDS:

offer
 inside typical type clean anywhere arm-chair comfortable
 cook cooking scullery washing up upstairs downstairs married

marry
love love (verb)
rose
rose-bush rosy beauty
lawn famous fun ground
garage
car
run
cheapness wavy common leave
Miss
fifth

price and for being — to run, not only in England, but also in other countries. When at last they took their —, they thanked Mr. and Mrs. Edwards for the — evening.

EXERCISE B.

How many rooms did the Edwards family have downstairs, and how many upstairs? . . . How many times a week did the maid get into the study to clean the room? . . . What did Mr. Edwards offer his guests after he had shown them his study? . . . What is the scullery used for in a typical English house? . . . What did Mr. and Mrs. Edwards use the extra room for after their son had married? . . . What good did Mr. Edwards get out of his love of garden work? . . . Where did he have his roses? . . . Where were the fruit trees to be found? . . . Why did the family have such a small car now? . . . How did Mr. Edwards introduce his daughter to the guests? . . .

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'am, is, are, was, were, has been, have been, had been, will be' and verbs in -ed, etc.

Is Mr. Edwards's study cleaned every day? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, I am often invited to my manager's home for dinner. Were the guests introduced to Mrs. Edwards? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, all the rooms in the house were shown to the guests. Are the lawns of English country-houses known all over the world? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, money for hospital work is collected on special days. Was Storm greeted kindly by Mr. Edwards when he paid him a visit at his office? Answer . . . Question . . .? No, his friends were also invited to dinner at Mr. Edwards's house. Was William called the Conqueror before or after he came to England? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, Egbert became king of all England. Has England been conquered by any nation since the Battle of Hastings? Answer . . . Question . . .? No, the two other young men have not been asked to stay in England for another six months. Had the travellers been shown the inside of an English home before they were invited to dinner at Mr. and Mrs. Edwards's? Answer . . . Question . . .? No, cigars had not been offered to the guests before they entered the study. Will Storm be allowed by his manager to stay in England for another six months, do you think? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, the question about his stay will be decided very quickly, I think.

THE DEPARTURE

The next few days Storm woke up every morning ðə nekst fju: deiz stɔ:m wʊk ʌp evri mɔ:niŋ expecting a telephone call from Mr. Edwards, and at iks'pektiŋ ə telifoun kɔ:l frəm mistər edwədz, ənd ət last, when Storm had almost given up hope, Mr. Edla:st, hwen stɔ:m həd ɔ:lmoust gɪvən ʌp hoʊp, mistər edwards called him on the telephone, "Hallo, this is wədz kɔ:ld him ɔn ðə telifoun, "hə'lou, ðis iz Edwards speaking. Is Mr. Storm there?" edwədz spi:kiŋ. iz mistə stɔ:m ðeə?"

"Just a minute, Mr. Edwards, and I will call him to "dʒʌst ə minit, mistər edwədz, ənd ai wil kɔ:l him tə the telephone," replied Brown, who had answered the ðə telifoun," ri'plaid braʊn, hu: həd a:nsəd ðə telephone. Storm came to the telephone and was told telifoun. stɔ:m keim tə ðə telifoun ənd wəz təuld some very good news. His manager had thought it was sʌm veri gud nju:z. hiz mænɪdʒə həd þɔ:t it wəz a good idea and was very pleased that one of his young ə gud ai'diə ənd wəz veri pli:zd ðæt wʌn əv hiz jʌŋ men should have this chance of studying English men fʊd hæv ðis tʃɑ:ns əv stʌdiɪŋ ɪŋglɪʃ method = the way to do things

business methods. It would be very useful for the firm bɪznɪs meθədz. ɪt wʊd bi: veri ju:sfʊl fə ðə fə:m

to have a man whose knowledge of English was good, tə hæv ə mæn hu:z nəlidʒ əv ɪŋɡlɪʃ wəz gud, and who also had some knowledge of the English ænd hu: ə:lsoʊ hæd sʌm nəlidʒ əv ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ method of doing business.

mɛʃəd əv du:ɪŋ bɪznɪs.

During the last two or three days they were in London, dʒuəriŋ ðə la:st tu: ə pri: deɪz ðei wə:r ɪn lʌndən, they were very busy, because there was not much time ðei wə: veri bɪzi, bi'kəz ðeə wəz nɒt mʌʃ taɪm before their departure, and there were so many things bɪ'fɔ: ðeə dɪ'pɑ:tʃə, ænd ðeə wə: sɔu meni þɪŋz they wanted to see before they left. On the very last ðei wəntɪd tə si: bɪ'fɔ: ðei left. ɒn ðə veri la:st day, they went out to buy some small presents for dei, ðei went aʊt tə baɪ sʌm smɔ:l preznts fə their relations and friends at home. Wood had promised ðeə rɪ'leɪʃənz ænd frendz ət haʊm. wʊd həd prəmɪst his sister to bring something nice home for her. He hɪz sɪstə tə brɪŋ sʌmþɪŋ naɪs haʊm fɔ: hə:. hi:

had not forgotten his promise, but as he was not used həd nɒt fə'ɡɒtən hɪz prəmɪs, bʌt əz hi: wəz nɒt ju:st to buying presents for young ladies, the other three went tə baɪɪŋ preznts fə jʌŋ leɪdɪz, ði ʌðə pri: went along with him to help him. They knew Selfridge's, ə'lɒŋ wɪð hɪm tə help hɪm. ðei nju: selfrɪdʒɪz, where they had bought sticks, handkerchiefs, and hwɛə ðei həd bɔ:t stɪks, hæŋkətʃɪz, ænd knowledge = that which a man knows

departure = going away

relations Father, mother,
 sisters, brothers,
 uncles, aunts, etc.,
 are relations.

a saleswoman = a woman who sells things at a shop cigarettes, so they went there again. In the part of the sigə'rets, sou ðei went ðær ə'geɪn. ɪn ðə pa:t əv ðə shop where women's things are sold, they looked at fɒp huəə wɪmɪnz pɪŋz a: sould, ðei lʊkt ət all sorts of articles, but could not decide what to buy.

ɔ:l sɔ:ts əv a:tɪklz, bʌt kud nɒt dɪ'saɪd hwɒt tə baɪ.
At last they asked one of the young ladies to help them.
ət la:st ðei a:skt wʌn əv ðə jʌŋ leɪdɪz tə help ðəm.
She first asked what sort of things the young lady ʃi: fə:st a:skt hwɒt sɔ:t əv pɪŋz ðə jʌŋ leɪdi would be interested in. "Oh, something to wear, I wud bi: ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn. "ou, sʌmpɪŋ tə weə, aɪ should think," said Wood. "What size clothes does she fud pɪŋk," sed wud. "hwɒt saɪz kləʊðz dʌz ʃi: take?" Wood had no idea of the size of his sister's teɪk?" wud hæd nou aɪ'diə əv ðə saɪz əv hɪz sɪstəz clothes. "Well, perhaps you can tell me whether the kləʊðz. "wel, pə'hæps ju: kən tel mi: huədə ðə young lady is big or small, then," said the saleswoman. jʌŋ leɪdi ɪz bɪg ɔ: smɔ:l, ðen," sed ðə seɪlzwʊmən.
"She is neither big nor small; she is just like most "ʃi: ɪz naɪðə bɪg nɔ: smɔ:l; ʃi: ɪz dʒʌst laɪk mʊst other girls." That did not help very much to give the ʌðə ɡɜ:lz." ðæt dɪd nɒt help vɛrɪ mʌtʃ tə ɡɪv ðə saleswoman an idea of Miss Wood's size, so she said, seɪlzwʊmən ən aɪ'diə əv mɪs wudz saɪz, sou ʃi: sed,
"I don't think that you should buy clothes for her, if
"aɪ daʊnt pɪŋk ðæt ju: fud baɪ kləʊðz ʃə: hæ:, ɪf you don't know the size. She wouldn't be pleased if ju: dount nou ðə saiz. fi: wudnt bi: pli:zd if you bought something which was either too small or ju: bɔ:t sʌmpɪŋ hwɪlf wəz aɪðə tu: smɔ:l ɔ:

too big for her, because then she would not be able tu: biɡ fɔ: hæ:, bi'kɔz ðen fi: wəd nɒt bi: eɪbl to wear it. But we have many other things, handtə weər ɪt. bʌt wi: hæv meni ʌðə piŋz, hændbags, for example. We have some very fine leather bægz, fɜr ɪg'zɑ:mpl. wi: hæv sʌm veri faɪn leðə bags here." "What sort of leather is this?" Wood bægz hiə." "hwɒt. sɔ:t əv leðər ɪz ðɪs?" wud asked, when he was shown the bags. "It is goatskin," ɑ:skt, huən hi: wəz ʃaʊn ðə bægz. "ɪt ɪz ɡoʊtskɪn," the saleswoman answered; "the bags cost only forty ðə seɪlzwʊmən ɑ:nsəd; "ðə bægz kɒst ɔʊnli ʃɔ:ti shillings apiece."

ʃɪlɪŋz ə'pi:s."

"That is quite cheap," Wood said to the others. "At
"ðæt ɪz kwaɪt tʃi:p," wud sed tə ði ʌðəz. "ət home we shouldn't be able to get bags of goatskin as həʊm wi: ʃʊdnt bi: eɪbl tə ɡet bægz əv ɡoʊtskɪn əz cheap as that. Goatskin is a very fine sort of leather tʃi:p əz ðæt. ɡoʊtskɪn ɪz ə veri faɪn sɔ:t əv leðə and is usually very expensive. I once bought a bag ænd ɪz ju:zʊəli veri ɪks'pensɪv. aɪ wʌns bɔ:t ə bæɡ for an aunt or some other relation at home, and that fɜr ən ɑ:nt ɔ: sʌm ʌðə rɪ'leɪʃən ət həʊm, ænd ðæt goat goatskin = the skin of goats

apiece = for each to take leave of =

to say good-bye to fare = price of ticket

was much more expensive. Bags of this sort would wəz mʌtʃ mɔːr ɪks'pensɪv. bægz əv ðɪs sɔːt wʊd cost at least sixty shillings apiece. I think I will take kɒst ət liːst sɪksti ʃɪlɪŋz ə'piːs. aɪ ʒɪŋk aɪ wɪl teɪk one of them."
wʌn əv ðəm."

The hour of their departure from England had arrived.
ði aʊər əv ðeə dɪ'pɑːtʃə frəm ɪŋɡlənd həd ə'raɪvd.

The other three were sorry to take leave of Storm, for ði ʌðə θriː wəː sɔːri tə teɪk liːv əv stɔːm, fɔː they had had such a lovely time together. Wood said ðei həd həd sʌtʃ ə lʌvli taɪm tə'geðə. wʊd sed that he was jealous of his friend. "I wish I was the ðæt hiː wəz dʒeləs əv hɪz frend. "aɪ wɪʃ aɪ wəz ðə one to stay over here for another six months," he said, wʌn tə steɪ oʊvə hiə fɔː ə'nʌðə sɪks mʌnθs," hiː sed,

"you seem to be getting all the fun. First, your firm
"juː siːm tə biː getɪŋ ɔːl ðə fʌn. fɜːst, jɔː fɜːm pays your fare to England, and the ticket from our peɪz jɔː feə tu ɪŋɡlənd, ənd ðə tɪkɪt frəm ʌʊə home town to London is not cheap; and now they let haʊm taʊn tə lʌndən ɪz nɒt tʃiːp; ənd naʊ ðei let you stay here for another six months. I wish I juː steɪ hiə fɔː ə'nʌðə sɪks mʌnθs. aɪ wɪʃ aɪ worked for a firm that would have paid my fare, then wɜːkt fɔː ə fɜːm ðæt wʊd həv peɪd maɪ feə, ðen I should not have had to think of the ticket!" aɪ ʃʊd nɒt həv həd tə θɪŋk əv ðə tɪkɪt!"

But Storm knew that his friend was not really jealous bʌt stɔ:m nju: ðæt hiz frend wəz nɒt riəli dʒeləs of him, but only pleased that this chance should have ʌv him, bʌt ounli pli:zd ðæt ðis tʃɑ:ns ʃʊd hæv been offered him. Storm went with them to the station bi:n əʃəd him. stɔ:m went wið ðəm tə ðə sleɪʃən to wish them a pleasant trip back. On the way they tə wiʃ ðəm ə pleznɪ trip bæk. ɒn ðə wei ðei spoke of all the things they had seen and of the places spəʊk əv ɔ:l ðə piŋz ðei həd si:n ænd əv ðə pleɪsɪz they had not yet been to.

ðei həd nɒt jət bi:n tu.

"You know," said Mr. Miller, "there are many people "ju: nou," sed mistə milə, "ðeər a: meni pi:pl who think that when they have seen the capital of a hu: piŋk ðæt hwen ðei hæv si:n ðə kæpɪtəl əv ə country, they have seen everything the country has to kʌntri, ðei hæv si:n evripiŋ ðə kʌntri hæz tə show them. We have visited London, the capital of ʃəʊ ðəm. wi: hæv vizɪtɪd lʌndən, ðə kæpɪtəl əv

England, but we must not think that this is the whole ɪŋɡlənd, bʌt wi: mʌst nɒt piŋk ðæt ðis ɪz ðə haʊl of England. There are many other large cities of great əv ɪŋɡlənd. ðeər a: meni ʌðə la:dʒ sɪtɪz əv greɪt importance in England, such as Birmingham, Sheffield, ɪm'pɔ:təns ɪn ɪŋɡlənd, sʌʃ əz bæ:mɪŋəm, ʃeɪfɪld, Manchester, and Newcastle. All these towns are very mæntfɪstə, ænd nju:kɑ:sl. ɔ:l ði:z taʊnz a: veri important and would be very interesting to visit. You im'pɔ:tənt ənd wud bi: veri intristɪŋ tə vɪzɪt. ju:

all know why they are of such great importance?" ɔ:l nou hwaɪ ðei a:r əv sʌlf greɪt im'pɔ:təns?"

"Birmingham and Sheffield are famous for their metal
"bə:mɪŋəmə ənd ʃefi:ld a: feɪməs fə ðeə mell articles," said Wood. "We have some knives at home a:tɪklz," sed wud. "wi: hæv sʌm naɪvz ət hoʊm made of Sheffield steel." meɪd əv ʃefi:ld sti:l."

"Yes," said Mr. Miller, "steel is a very hard metal, and "jes," sed mɪstə mɪlə, "sti:l ɪz ə veri hɑ:d mell, ənd the best knives are always made of steel. The best ðə best naɪvz a:r ɔ:lwəz meɪd əv sti:l. ðə best trains, machines, bicycles, steamers, etc., are made of treɪnz, məʃi:nz, baɪsɪklz, sti:məz, ɪt'setə, a: meɪd əv steel. Sometimes, however, it would be too expensive sti:l. sʌmtaɪmz, haʊ'evə, ɪt wud bi: tu: ɪks'pensɪv to use steel to make these things, so iron is used tə ju:z sti:l tə meɪk ði:z þɪŋz, sou aɪən ɪz ju:zd instead. Steel is really iron, but iron that has been ɪn'sted. sti:l ɪz riəli aɪən, bʌf aɪən ðət hæz bi:n made very hard. That is the reason why steel is more meɪd veri hɑ:d. ðæt ɪz ðə ri:zn hwaɪ sti:l ɪz mɔ:r

expensive. ɪks'pensɪv.

"In nearly all English houses there are fire-places. In "ɪn niəli ɔ:l ɪŋɡlɪʃ haʊzɪz ðeər a: ʃaɪəpleɪsɪz. ɪn winter it is very comfortable to sit in front of the fire.

wintə it iz veri kʌmfortəbl tə sit in frʌnt əv ðə faɪə.

The English nearly always use coal for their fires.

ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ niəli ɔ:lweɪz ju:z koul fə ðeə faɪəz.

Usually, they have had more than enough coal for their ju:ʒuəli, ðei hæv həd mɔ: ðən i'nʌf koul fə ðeə own houses, trains, steamers, etc., so that they have been ʌn haʊzɪz, treɪnz, sti:məz, i'setɹə, sou ðæt ðei hæv bi:n able to export coal to other countries. Newcastle is a eɪbl tu eks'pɔ:t koul tu ʌðə kʌntrɪz. nju:kɑ:sl iz ə very important coal town, from which much coal has veri im'pɔ:tənt koul taʊn, frəm hwɪlf mʌʃ koul hɜz been exported to foreign countries. Newcastle, however, bi:n eks'pɔ:tɪd tə fɔrɪn kʌntrɪz. nju:kɑ:sl, haʊ'evə, is also a very important town for the building of ships.

iz əlsou ə veri im'pɔ:tənt taʊn fə ðə bɪldɪŋ əv ʃɪps.

Manchester, as you will all remember, is famous for mæntʃɪstə, əz ju: wɪl ɔ:l rɪ'membə, iz feɪməs fɔr its cotton articles, and many things made of cotton are ɪts kɒtn ɑ:tɪklz, ənd menɪ ʒɪŋz meɪd əv kɒtn ɑ:r exported to the whole world. In our shops at home it eks'pɔ:tɪd tə ðə haʊl wɔ:ld. ɪn ʌʊə ʃɒps ət haʊm ɪt is also possible to buy cotton articles made in Manɪz əlsou pɒsəbl tə baɪ kɒtn ɑ:tɪklz meɪd ɪn mænchester. You will all understand, then, that there is ʃɪstə. ju: wɪl ɔ:l ʌndə'stænd, ðen, ðæt ðeə ɪz much more to be seen in England. But we have been mʌʃ mɔ: tə bi: si:n ɪn ɪŋɡlənd. bʌt wi: hæv bi:n to export = to sell to a foreign country

busy every second of our visit, and I think it is the bizi evri sekənd əv auə vizit, ənd ai piŋk it iz ðə hope of all of us to be able to return to England some houp əv ɔ:l əv ʌs tə bi: eibl tə ri'te:n tu iŋglənd sʌm other time. Now I see that it is time for the train ʌðə taim. nau ai si: ðət it iz taim fə ðə trein to start, so we shall have to say good-bye to Storm."

tə sta:t, sou wi: fəl hæv tə sei gud'bai tə stɔ:m."

They shouted together, "Good-bye, Storm!" ðei faʊtɪd tə'geðə, "gud'bai, stɔ:m!"

to remember (here)
 = to mention

Storm: "Good-bye, a pleasant trip, and remember me stɔ:m: "gud'bai, ə pleznt trip, ənd ri'membə mi:

to your families at home!"
tə jɔ: fæmiliz ət haʊm!"

Storm waved to his friends as long as he could see stɔ:m weɪvd tə hiz frendz əz lɔŋ əz hi: kud si:

them. Then he left the station with mixed feelings.
ðəm. ðen hi: left ðə steɪʃən wið mɪkst fi:lɪŋz.

He was sorry that his friends had gone, and yet at hi: wəz sɔri ðət hiz frendz həd gɒn, ənd jət ət the same time he was very happy to be able to stay ðə seɪm taim hi: wəz veri hæpi tə bi: eibl tə steɪ on for some time in England. He returned slowly to ɒn fə sʌm taim in iŋglənd. hi: ri'tə:nd sləʊli tə the hotel, thinking of his friends and of his relations ðə haʊ'tel, piŋkiŋ əv hiz frendz ənd əv hiz ri'leɪfənz at home.

ət haʊm.

EXERCISE A.

Mr. Edwards called Storm on the — to tell him some good news. On the day of their — from London, they went out to buy some presents for their friends and — at home, and especially for Wood's sister. Wood had — her some nice present. When the saleswoman asked what — of thing he wanted, he said that something to — would be best; but as he did not know what — — his sister took, he decided to buy a bag of — for her. Goatskin is a very fine sort of — which is usually very expensive. The bags which she showed him cost forty shillings —.

Many people think that when they have seen the — of a country, they have seen the — country, but England has many other big towns of great —. The best knives are made of —, because steel is such a hard —. Steel is really — which has been made hard.

EXERCISE B.

Why was Storm's manager pleased that Storm had been offered a position in the London branch of the firm? . . . What was the promise that Wood had made to his sister? . . . What did he buy for her? . . . Why did Wood say that he was jealous of Storm? . . . What is the capital of England? . . . What English towns do you know that are famous for their metal articles? . . . What is steel? . . . What do the English mostly use for their fires? . . . What is exported from Newcastle? . . . What is Manchester famous for? . . . Did Storm take leave of his friends at the hotel? . . . What was the last thing that Storm said to his friends before the train left? . . .

WORDS:

telephone
call
hope
departure relation promise (verb) promise sort size saleswoman hand-bag leather
goat goatskin skin apiece jealous fare capital importance metal steel iron coal export knowledge method
hard
remember

EXERCISE C.

How to ask and answer questions with 'must'
or 'have to'.

Must Mrs. Miller always stay at home? Answer . . .
Question . . .? Yes, when you go to England, you must pay duty on such things as wine or silk. Do you have to show your passports to get into England? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, you have to cross the sea to get to England. Did the young men have to do much work at their studies before they went to England? Answer . . .
Question . . .? No, Storm did not have to pay his own fare. Has Wood had to take extra work in the evenings to get money for the trip? Answer . . . Question . . .? No, Mrs. Miller has not had to stay at home every time Mr. Miller has been to England; only this year, because their son is so small. Will Storm have to return home with his friends? Answer . . . Question . . .? Yes, the others will have to go back when their holidays are over. Would Wood have had to stay at home if he had not got a rise? Answer . . . Question . . .? No, if her son had been older, Mrs. Miller would not have had to stay at home. Must English children go to school when they are four years old? Answer . . .
Question . . .? No, English children do not have to go to school after they are fifteen years old. Must all French children learn English at school? Answer . . .
Question . . .? No, not all children have to write with pens and ink at school; the small children write with pencils.

THE FIRST DAY AT THE OFFICE

The morning after the departure of his friends, Storm ðə mɔːniŋ aːftə ðə diˈpɑːtʃər əv hiːz ˈfrendz, stɔːm went by bus to his new office, where he was at once went baɪ bʌs tə hiːz njuː ɔːfɪs, hwɛə hiː wəz ət wʌns taken in to see the manager. "Good morning, sir," teɪkən ɪn tə siː ðə mænɪdʒə. "gud mɔːniŋ, sɜː," Storm said as he entered the manager's office: "It is stɔːm sed əz hiː ɛntəd ðə mænɪdʒəz ɔːfɪs. "ɪt ɪz really a great pleasure to me to start working here." riəli ə greɪt pleʒə tə miː tə stɑːt wɜːkiŋ hiə."

It is a great pleasure to me =
 I am very pleased.

"Good morning, Storm," answered the manager, "it is
"gud mɔːniŋ, stɔːm," ɑːnsəd ðə mænɪdʒə, "ɪt ɪz also a pleasure to us to have you work for us." "I am əːlsəʊ ə pleʒə tu ʌs tə hæv juː wɜːk fər ʌs." "aɪ əm not only pleased to start here, but I am glad to remain nɒt ɒnli pliːzd tə stɑːt hiə, bət aɪ əm glæd tə riːmeɪn remain = stay in London. There are still so many things that I wish ɪn lʌndən. ðeə stɪl səʊ meni ˈpɪŋz ðæt aɪ wɪʃ to see, and now that I am going to remain here for tə siː, ənd naʊ ðæt aɪ əm ɡəʊɪŋ tə riːmeɪn hiə fər another five or six months, it will be possible for me to əˈnʌðə ˈfaɪv ə sɪks mʌnθs, ɪt wɪl biː pɒsəbl fər miː tə see them all," Storm continued. "I think you said it siː ðəm əˈlː, stɔːm kənˈtɪnjuːd. "aɪ ˈpɪŋk juː sed ɪt

	was your first visit to a foreign country. Don't you wəz ʃɔ: fə:st vɪzɪt tu ə ʃɒrɪn kʌntri. daʊnt ju: think that you will miss many things that you were θɪŋk ðæt ju: wɪl mɪs mæni θɪŋz ðæt ju: wə: used to at home?" asked the manager. "Yes," said ju:st tu ət haʊm?" ɑ:skt ðə mænɪdʒə. "jes," sed Storm, "there are some things at home that I shall stɔ:m, "ðeə sʌm θɪŋz ət haʊm ðæt aɪ ʃəl miss in England. There will, perhaps, also be things mɪs ɪn ɪŋɡlənd. ðeə wɪl, pə'hæps, ə:lsoʊ bi: θɪŋz that will seem strange to me, because they are different ðæt wɪl si:m streɪndʒ tə mi:, bɪ'kɔz ðeɪ ɑ: dɪfrənt from what I am used to. But it will be very interesting fɾəm hwət aɪ əm ju:st tu. bət ɪt wɪl bi: veri ɪntrɪstɪŋ to see things that are different, things that are strange tə si: θɪŋz ðæt ɑ: dɪfrənt, θɪŋz ðæt ɑ: streɪndʒ to me." tə mi:." matter = thing	"There is another matter that I should like to mention," "ðəz ə'nʌðə mætə ðæt aɪ ʃəd laɪk tə menʃən," receive = get	said the manager. "You will not receive your salary sed ðə mænɪdʒə. "ju: wɪl nɒt rɪ'si:v ʃɔ: sæləri until the end of the month. If you have to wait four ʌn'tɪl ði end əv ðə mʌnθ. ɪf ju: hæv tə weɪt ʃɔ: before receiving (here) = before you receive	weeks before receiving any money, will you have wi:ks bɪ'ʃɔ: rɪ'si:vɪŋ ɛni mʌni, wɪl ju: hæv enough?" "No," said Storm, "I must find a room, and ɪ'nʌf?" "nou," sed stɔ:m, "aɪ mʌst faɪnd ə ru:m, ənd it will be necessary to pay for it in advance when I it wil bi: nesisəri tə pei fər it in əd'va:ns hwen ai take it." "There will be other things, too," said the teik it. "ðeə wil bi: ʌðə piŋz, tu:," sed ðə manager, "so it will be necessary for you to have some mænɪdʒə, "sou it wil bi: nesisəri fə ju: tə hæv səm money. If you like, you may have part of your salary mʌni. ɪf ju: laɪk, ju: mei hæv pɑ:t əv jɔ: sæləri in advance, and you might just as well have the money in əd'va:ns, ənd ju: maɪt dʒʌst əz wel hæv ðə mʌni now." "It is very kind of you, sir, to make me this offer.

nau. "ɪt ɪz veri kaɪnd əv ju:, sə:, tə meɪk mi: ðɪs ɔfə.

I shall be very glad to accept it. I never had much ai ʃəl bi: veri glæd tu ək'sept ɪt. ai nevə hæd mʌʃ accept = agree to take money, and after a fortnight's holiday one hasn't got mʌni, ənd a:ftər ə fɔ:tnaɪts həlɪdi wʌn hæznt gɒt very much money."

veri mʌʃ mʌni."

The manager laughed, saying, "I can very well underðə mænɪdʒə la:ft, seɪɪŋ, "ai kən vəri wel ʌndəstand that you haven't got very much money after a 'stænd ðət ju: hævnt gɒt veri mʌʃ mʌni a:ftər ə fortnight's holiday. I am glad that you will accept my fɔ:tnaɪts həlɪdi. ai əm glæd ðət ju: wil ək'sept maɪ offer. And while we are speaking of this matter, you ɔfə. ənd hwaɪl wi: a: spi:kiŋ əv ðɪs mætə, ju:

had better tell me how much money you require."
həd betə tel mi: hau mʌʃ mʌni ju: rɪ'kwaɪə."

require = need

send for = send a person to call six feet = 1.83 metres (one foot = 12 inches =

0.305 metre)

Storm said that he didn't know the prices in England stɔ:m sed ðæt hi: didnt nou ðə praisiz in ɪŋɡlənd yet, so that it was a little difficult for him to say how jet, sou ðæt it wəz ə lɪl dɪfɪkəlt fə him tə sei hau much he would require. At last, however, they agreed mʌtʃ hi: wəd rɪ'kwaɪə. ət la:st, hau'veə, ðei ə'ɡri:d to make the advance ten pounds.

tə meɪk ði əd'vɑ:ns ten paundz.

The manager now sent for a young Englishman by the ðə mænɪdʒə nau sent fər ə jʌŋ ɪŋɡlɪʃmən baɪ ðə name of Marshall and asked him to introduce Storm neɪm əv mɑ:fəl ænd ɑ:skt him tu ɪntrə'dju:s stɔ:m to everybody in the office, and also to tell him about tu evrɪbɒdi ɪn ði ɔfɪs, ænd ə:lsoʊ tə tel him ə'baut his work. Storm was six feet tall, and he noticed that hɪz wə:k. stɔ:m wəz sɪks fi:t tə:l, ænd hi: nəʊtɪst ðæt the Englishman was also about six feet tall, so that the ði ɪŋɡlɪʃmən wəz ə:lsoʊ ə'baut sɪks fi:t tə:l, sou ðæt ðə two young men were of about the same height. Many tu: jʌŋ men wə:r əv ə'baut ðə seɪm haɪt. meni Englishmen are tall; their height is greater than that ɪŋɡlɪʃmən ɑ: tə:l; ðeə haɪt ɪz greɪtə ðən ðæt of people in many foreign countries. Marshall said that əv pi:pl ɪn meni fɔrɪn kʌntrɪz. mɑ:fəl sed ðæt he would lead the way, and he went in front, telling hi: wəd li:d ðə wei, ænd hi: went ɪn frʌnt, telɪŋ Storm to follow him. "All right," replied Storm, "if stɔ:m tə fɒləʊ him. "ɔ:l raɪt," rɪ'plaɪd stɔ:m, "ɪf you will lead, I will follow you."

ju: wil li:d, ai wil fɔlou ju:.

lead the way = go in front and show the way

Marshall asked Storm how long he had worked for ma:fəl a:skt stɔ:m hau lɔŋ hi: həd wə:kt fə

He leads, he led, he has led [li:dz, led, led].

the firm at home and learnt that he had worked for ðə fə:m ət haʊm ənd lə:nt ðæt hi: həd wə:kt fə the firm for five years, so that he had had five years' ðə fə:m fə faɪv jɪəz, sou ðæt hi: həd həd faɪv jɪəz experience. "I have only worked for the firm for four iks'piəriəns. "ai həv ounli wə:kt fə ðə fə:m fə fɔ:

years," Marshall said. "I have less experience than jɪəz," ma:fəl sed. "ai həv les iks'piəriəns ðən you. How long have you been learning English?" ju:. hau lɔŋ həv ju: bi:n lə:nɪŋ ɪŋɡlɪf?"

"About nine months," said Storm, "but although I can

"ə'baut nain mʌnθs," sed stɔ:m, "bət ɔ:l'ðou ai kən say many things, I can't express myself as well as I sei meni piŋz, ai kɑ:nt iks'pres mai'self əz wel əz ai should like to. But now I shall get as much practice and fəd laɪk tu. bət nau ai fəɪ get əz mʌʃ præktɪs ənd experience in speaking your language as I could wish."

iks'piəriəns ɪn spi:kiŋ fɔ: læŋɡwɪdʒ əz ai kəd wɪʃ."

"You express yourself quite well in English, and as you

"ju: iks'pres fɔ:'self kwaɪt wel ɪn ɪŋɡlɪf, ənd əz ju:

will be speaking nothing but English from now on,

wɪl bi: spi:kiŋ nʌθɪŋ bət ɪŋɡlɪf frəm nau ɒn, you will soon get great practice in expressing yourself.

ju: wil su:n get greɪt præktɪs ɪn iks'presɪŋ fɔ:'self.

pronounce a word = say a word as it should be said

suppose = think

so far = until now

Do you find that English words are difficult to du: ju: faɪnd ðæt ɪŋɡlɪʃ wə:dz a: dɪfɪkəl tə pronounce?" "Sometimes," Storm answered, "your prə'naʊns?" "sʌmtaɪmz," stɔ:m a:nsəd, "jɔ:

words are difficult for my tongue to pronounce, but I wə:dz a: dɪfɪkəl fə maɪ tʌŋ tə prə'naʊns, bət aɪ suppose that after a time my mouth and my tongue sə'pəʊz ðæt a:ftər ə taɪm maɪ maʊθ ənd maɪ tʌŋ will get used to the English pronunciation." "Yes, I wɪl ɡet ju:st tə ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ prənʌnsi'eɪʃən." "jes, aɪ suppose they will. I am quite sure that the pronuncisə'pəʊz ðeɪ wɪl. aɪ əm kwaɪtʃ suə ðæt ðə prənʌnsiation of the words in your language would be very 'eɪʃən əv ðə wə:dz ɪn jɔ: læŋɡwɪdʒ wəd bi: veri difficult to me at first. The manager told me this is dɪfɪkəl tə mi: ət fə:st. ðə mænɪdʒə təʊld mi: ðɪs ɪz your first visit to England. Do you like what you have jɔ: fə:st vɪzɪt tu ɪŋɡlənd. du: ju: laɪk hwət ju: hæv seen of England?"

sɪ:n əv ɪŋɡlənd?"

Storm told him that so far he had enjoyed his stay stɔ:m təʊld hɪm ðæt sou fə: hi: həd ɪn'dʒɔɪd hɪz steɪ in England very much, and that although he had ɪn ɪŋɡlənd veri mʌʃ, ənd ðæt ə:l'dəʊ hi: həd learned about England at school, he was glad to see for lənd ə'baut ɪŋɡlənd ət sku:l, hi: wəz ɡlæd tə si: fə himself what the country was really like. He said that hɪm'self hwət ðə kʌntri wəz riəli laɪk. hi: sed ðæt the things you read about a foreign country are not ðə piŋz ju: ri:d ə'baʊt ə ʃərin kʌntri a: nɒt always the real facts. If you want to know what another ɔ:lwəz ðə riəl fæktz. if ju: wɒnt tə nou hwɒl ə'nʌðə country is like, it is necessary for you to visit it yourkʌntri iz laɪk, ɪt iz nesɪsəri fə ju: tə vɪzɪt ɪt ʃə:- self. It is a fact that books do not always give you the 'self. ɪt iz ə fækt ðət buks du: nɒt ɔ:lwəz ɡɪv ju: ðə right impression.

raɪt ɪm'preʃən.

The firm was divided into five different departments, ðə ʃə:m wəz dɪ'vaɪdɪd ɪntə faɪv dɪfrənt dɪ'pa:tmənts, each with its own work to take care of. In order that i:tʃ wið ɪts oun wə:k tə teɪk keər əv. ɪn ɔ:də ðət in order that = so that

Storm might see everything, Marshall took him round stɔ:m maɪt si: evrɪθɪŋ, mɑ:ʃəl tuk hɪm raʊnd to each of the five departments of the firm. "It is my tu i:tʃ əv ðə faɪv dɪ'pa:tmənts əv ðə ʃə:m. "ɪt iz maɪ experience," said Marshall, "that the men in the ɪks'piəriəns," sed mɑ:ʃəl, "ðət ðə men ɪn ðə different departments all think that the work they take dɪfrənt dɪ'pa:tmənts ɔ:l piŋk ðət ðə wə:k ðeɪ teɪk care of is the most important. I think you will have keər əv ɪz ðə maʊst ɪm'pɔ:tənt. aɪ piŋk ju: wɪl hæv the same experience. We'll begin by going to the ðə seɪm ɪks'piəriəns. wi:l bɪ'ɡɪn baɪ ɡoʊɪŋ tə ðə factory where the different goods are made." Marshall ʃæktəri hwɛə ðə dɪfrənt ɡudz a: meɪd." mɑ:ʃəl later on = later

Scotchman = Scot

led the way to the factory, and one of the men working led ðə wei tə ðə ʃæktəri, and wʌn əv ðə men wə:kiŋ there explained to Storm that this was the place where ðeə iks'pleind tə stɔ:m ðæt ðis wəz ðə pleis hweə the goods were made. "We produce the goods, that is, ðə gudz wə: meid. "wi: prə'dju:s ðə gudz, ðæt iz, we make the goods here. The other departments may wi: meik ðə gudz hiə. ði ʌðə di'pa:tmənts mei be useful, but remember that we produce the things."

bi: ju:sful, bət ri'membə ðæt wi: prə'dju:s ðə piŋz."

Later on, they went into the department where the leɪtər ɒn, ðei went intə ðə di'pa:tmənt hweə ðə books were kept. Here they were told the same thing buks wə: kept. hiə ðei wə: təuld ðə seim piŋ as in the factory: the department that keeps the books əz in ðə ʃæktəri: ðə di'pa:tmənt ðæt ki:ps ðə buks and gets the money for the goods that have been ænd gets ðə mʌni fə ðə gudz ðæt hæv bi:n produced and sold, must be the most important. The prə'dju:st ænd sould, məst bi: ðə moust im'pɔ:tənt. ðə man to whom they spoke in this department told Storm mæn tə hu:m ðei spəuk in ðis di'pa:tmənt təuld stɔ:m that he was a Scot and not an Englishman. He showed ðæt hi: wəz ə skɒt ænd nɒt ən iŋɡlɪʃmən. hi: ʃəʊd

Marshall a big book, saying to him, "Everybody that mɑ:fəl ə big buk, seiɪŋ tə him, "evribədi ðæt buys from us has an account in this book, in order that baɪz frəm ʌs hæz ən ə'kaʊnt in ðis buk, in ɔ:ðə ðæt we may know how much money he owes us, that is, wi: mei nou hau mʌlf mʌni hi: ouz ʌs, ðæt iz, how much money he has to pay us. You can see that hau mʌlf mʌni hi: hæz tə pei ʌs. ju: kæn si: ðæt there are hundreds of accounts in this book, and I am ðə hændrədz əv ə'kaunts in ðis buk, ənd ai əm sure you'll agree that it is very important to collect fʊə ju:l ə'gri: ðæt it iz veri im'pɔ:tənt tə kə'lekt the money that people owe us as quickly as possible.

ðə mʌni ðæt pi:pl ou ʌs əz kwikli əz pɒsəbl.

That is my work. I am a book-keeper, and I take care ðæt iz maɪ wə:k. ai əm ə bukki:pə, ənd ai teik keə of the book-keeping." Marshall told Storm that the əv ðə bukki:piŋ." mɑ:fəl təʊld stɔ:m ðæt ðə

London branch of the firm had been established in the lʌndən brɑ:nʃ əv ðə fə:m həd bi:n is'tæbliʃt in ðə year 1909, and that this Scotchman, or Scot as jiə nainti:n ou nain, ənd ðæt ðis skɔtʃmən, ɔ: skɔt əz he called himself, had started working for the firm in hi: kɔ:ld him'self, həd stɑ:tɪd wə:kiŋ fə ðə fə:m in the same year; he had worked for it ever since it was ðə seim jiə; hi: həd wə:kt fə it evə sins it wəz established. Storm asked Marshall what a man who is'tæbliʃt. stɔ:m ɑ:skt mɑ:fəl hwɔt ə mæn hu:

works in an office is called, and learned that he is wə:ks in ən ɔfis iz kɔ:ld, ənd lə:nd ðæt hi: iz called a clerk. "You and I are clerks, then," said Storm.

kɔ:ld ə kla:k. "ju: ənd ai ɑ: kla:ks, ðen," sed stɔ:m.

collect money = ask for and get the money people owe one

post = mail

attend to = take care of

"I have never heard the word 'clerk' before."

"ai hæv nevə hæ:d ðə wə:d 'kla:k' bi'fɔ:."

After visiting the other departments, they went to their a:ftə vizitiŋ ði ʌðə di'pa:tmənts, ðei wɛnt tə ðeər own, the correspondence department. Marshall now told oun, ðə kəris'pɒndəns di'pa:tmənt. mɑ:fəl naʊ təʊld

Storm about his work. "We receive all the foreign post, stɔ:m ə'baʊt hiz wək. "wi: ri'si:v ɔ:l ðə ʃɒrɪn pəʊst, or foreign mail as we usually call it," he said, "and ɔ: ʃɒrɪn meɪl əz wi: ju:ʒuəli kɔ:l ɪt," hi: sed, "ænd first of all we open the letters, after which we take fɜ:st əv ɔ:l wi: ɒpən ðə letəz, a:ftə hwɪtf wi: teɪk them to the different departments in order to get the ðəm tə ðə dɪfrənt di'pa:tmənts ɪn ɔ:də tə get ði answers. When you open the letters, there is a very ɑ:nseɪ. hwen ju: ɒpən ðə letəz, ðəz ə veri good chance of getting some foreign stamps if you're ɡʊd tʃɑ:ns əv getɪŋ səm ʃɒrɪn stæmps ɪf juər interested in collecting stamps. Later in the day, we ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn kə'lektɪŋ stæmps. leɪtər ɪn ðə dei, wi:

have to see that all the foreign letters are written and hæv tə si: ðæt ɔ:l ðə ʃɒrɪn letəz a: rɪtən ənd the mail sent off. These are the matters that we attend ðə meɪl sent ɔ:f. ði:z a: ðə mətəz ðæt wi: ə'tend to in this department. You may be sure that it is quite tu ɪn ðɪs di'pa:tmənt. ju: meɪ bi: ʃuə ðæt ɪt ɪz kwaɪt enough to attend to, for the foreign mail is very big."

ɪ'nʌf tu ə'tend tu, ʃə ðə ʃɒrɪn meɪl ɪz veri bɪɡ."

"Thank you very much for all the useful information
"pæŋk ju: veri maʌf fər ɔ:l ðə ju:sfʊl ɪnfə'meɪʃən you have given me," said Storm. "If I want any more ju: hæv ɡɪvən mi:," sed stɔ:m. "ɪf aɪ wənt enɪ mɔ:r information about my work or other things here, I ɪnfə'meɪʃən ə'baʊl maɪ wə:k ɔ:r ʌðə ʒɪŋz hɪə, aɪ hope I may come to you for it."

haʊp aɪ meɪ kʌm tə ju: fər ɪt."

EXERCISE A.

It was a — to Storm to be able to — in London for another six months, although he might — his family. The manager made him the — that he might — part of his salary in —. He — the offer, because he had not very much —, but he had not had — enough with prices in England to know how much money he would —. Storm — that he and Marshall were of the same —; they were both six —. In — that Storm might learn to — himself well in English and to — the words right, he would require a lot of —. His — must get used to the English —. A — is a man who — the books of a firm and takes — of the many hundreds of — which show how much money people — the firm. Marshall — the way to the different — of the firm, and Storm — him from one department to another. Every — in the office and every man in the — where the — were produced, thought that the work he — to was the most important. Marshall gave Storm the — that his work would be to receive and take care of the foreign —. Storm — that he might come to Marshall

WORDS:

pleasure
 remain
 miss
 offer receive advance in advance accept experience require strange height
 foot in order express pronounce pronunciation practice tongue

book-keeper book-keeping keep books
care account
owe lead led department follow clerk factory goods produce attend to information
post suppose matter establish fact Scotchman
collect
mail later on
learn

if there were other — that he wanted information about. The firm had been — in the year 1909. It is a — that book-keepers think that their work, —, is the most important. The book-keeper of the firm was a —.

EXERCISE B.

Write about your holidays last summer or some other year. The exercise should have a length of 200—300 words. Tell us when you had your holidays, whether you went away from home during the holidays, how you travelled, where you went, what you did, and anything else that you remember. Use your own words as well as you can. If you cannot always remember the right words, try to explain what you mean in some other way.

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

If you have started the study of "English by the Nature Method" only in order to be able to speak to and understand an Englishman as well as to read a newspaper or a good book in the English language, you need not work at this exercise. But if you want to go on with the study of English after you have finished reading these chapters, for example, in order to become a teacher of English, or because you are interested in the language itself, it will be necessary for you to go through Exercise C. It tells you something about the different sorts of words of which the English language is made up, and how to use them, in other words, it teaches you English grammar in English.

Language is made up of words. When we speak, we put the words together into sentences [sentənsɪz]. Man, woman, teacher, always, are words. "He is a good man", is a sentence [sentəns]; the words: he, is, a, good, man, have been put together to make a sentence. Grammar [græmə] teaches us how to use the different words of a language and how to make sentences of them. We are now going to have some short exercises in English grammar.

The names of the things or the people that we speak about in our sentences are called nouns [naʊnz]. Man is a noun [naʊn], woman is a noun, Storm is a noun, London is a noun. Here are some more nouns: boy, cow, ice, book, train, paper, day, month, year, office, firm, teacher, experience, fact, department. These are all nouns, that is, they are names of people or of things that we can tell something about.

When a noun tells us of one thing or one person only, we call it a singular [sɪŋɡjʊlə] noun, or we say that the noun is in the singular. Man, woman, boy, book, horse, are all singular nouns. Only one man, one woman, etc., is mentioned.

When a noun tells us of two or more things or persons, we call it a plural [plʊərəl] noun, or we say that the word is in the plural. Men, women, boys, books, horses, are all in the plural; they are plural nouns, because they mention more than one man, more than one woman, etc. Most English nouns add -s in the plural, for instance: girl, house, room, tree, person, animal.

When we speak of more than one of these, we say: girls, houses, rooms, trees, persons, animals.

Some English nouns, however, have no -s in the plural, for instance: man, woman, child. The plurals of these three nouns are: men, women, children. We are going to hear more about this in the next chapter.

Questions:

What are sentences made of? ... What do we call the sort of words which give the names of the things or the people that we speak of? ... Write some examples of such words. ... What do we call a noun which tells us of only one thing or one person? ... Write a few examples of such nouns. ... Explain what a plural noun is. ... How can you tell whether a noun is in the singular or in the plural? ... Do you know any English nouns that do not end in -s in the plural? ...

A KIND OFFER

Marshall now showed Storm the desk at which he was ma:fəl nau foud stɔ:m ðə desk ət hwi:f hi: wəz desk = writing

table

to sit when working. At both sides of the desk there tə sit hwen wə:kiŋ. ət boup saidz əv ðə desk ðeə were four or five drawers. "We keep a good supply of wə: fɔ:r ə faiv drɔ:əz. "wi: ki:p ə gud sə'plai əv paper, ink, pens, pencils, etc., in the drawers. Then it peipə, iŋk, penz, penslz, i'tsetrə, in ðə drɔ:əz. ðen it is unnecessary to go out and buy things of that sort iz ʌn'nesisəri tə gou aut ənd bai piŋz əv ðæt sɔ:t every day. You see, for instance, the supply of pencils evri dei. ju: si:, fər instəns, ðə sə'plai əv penslz in this drawer; that will last for three months and in ðis drɔ:ə; ðæt wil lɑ:st fə pri: mʌnpz ənd means that we shall not have to buy any more pencils mi:nz ðæt wi: fəl nɔt hæv tə bai eni mɔ: penslz for a long time. In the same way, the paper supply will fər ə lɔŋ taim. in ðə seim wei, ðə peipə sə'plai wil last for one month. We use a lot of thin paper for lɑ:st fə wʌn mʌnp. wi: ju:z ə lɔt əv piŋ peipə fə copies, as we take a copy of every letter that we write.

kɒpiz, əz wi: teik ə kɒpi əv evri letə ðæt wi: rait.

Sometimes we even take several copies of a letter when sʌmtaimz wi: i:vən teik sevərəl kɒpiz əv ə letə hwen it is a very important one."

it iz ə veri im'pɔ:tənt wʌn."

"You noticed," Marshall continued, "that when we "ju: noutist," mɑ:fəl kən'tinju:d, "ðət huwen wi:

visited the different departments to see how the work vizitid ðə difrənt di'pɑ:tmənts tə si: hau ðə wə:k was organised, we went from one floor to another by wəz ɔ:gənaizd, wi: went frəm wʌn flɔ: tu ə'nʌðə baɪ the stairs. Instead we might have used the lift, which ðə steəz. in'sted wi: maɪt hæv ju:zd ðə lift, hwɪf goes all the way from the ground floor to the top floor gəʊz ɔ:l ðə wei frəm ðə graʊnd flɔ: tə ðə tɒp flɔ:

and stops at all floors. There is one lift for persons, and stɒps ət ɔ:l flɔ:z. ðəz wʌn lift fə pə:snz, and another lift for goods. The lift that is used for and ə'nʌðə lift fə gʊdz. ðə lift ðət iz ju:zd fə goods can easily lift as many pounds as the weight of gʊdz kən i:zili lift əz meni paʊndz əz ðə weiɪt əv twenty big men. The one for persons is smaller; it twenti big men. ðə wʌn fə pə:snz iz smɔ:lə; ɪt takes three persons at a time." "Fine!" Storm said, teɪks θri: pə:snz ət ə taɪm." "fain!" stɔ:m sed,

"if I have to go up to the fourth floor, you may be
"if aɪ hæv tə ɡəʊ ʌp tə ðə fɔ:θ flɔ:, ju: mei bi:

sure that I shall take the lift. Now that I have seen fʊə ðət aɪ ʃəl teɪk ðə lift. naʊ ðət aɪ hæv si:n all the different departments, I must say that I am ɔ:l ðə difrənt di'pɑ:tmənts, aɪ mʌst sei ðət aɪ əm really surprised at the size of this branch of the firm. ri:li sə'praizd ət ðə saiz əv ðis bra:nf əv ðə fə:m.

Everything is bigger than I expected it to be." "One evripiŋ iz bigə ðən ai iks'pektid it tə bi:." "ωΛη reason for this," said Marshall. "is that the manager ri:zn fə ðis," sed mɑ:fəl, "iz ðət ðə mænidʒə is a very good business man. All the departments work iz ə veri gud biznis mæn. ɔ:l ðə di'pɑ:tmənts wə:k well together, even in the smallest things. All the work wel tə'geðə, i:vən in ðə smɔ:liŋ piŋz. ɔ:l ðə wə:k of the firm is very well organised. I don't think I ever əv ðə fə:m iz veri wel ɔ:gənaizd. ai daʊnt piŋk ai evə saw a firm with more system and organisation in its sə: ə fə:m wið mɔ: sistim ənd ɔ:gənai'zeifən in its work, but then I haven't seen a great many yet. But wə:k, bət ðen ai hævnt si:n ə greit meni jet. bət to speak of something quite different: Where are you tə spi:k əv sʌmpɪŋ kwait difrənt: hwær a: ju:

staying?" "I have been staying at a hotel in Bloomssteiɪŋ?" "ai hæv bi:n steiɪŋ ət ə hau'tel in blu:mzbury," answered Storm, "but I shall have to find somebəri," a:nsəd stɔ:m, "bət ai fəl hæv tə faɪnd sʌmthing cheaper." "The manager told me that he thought piŋ tʃi:pə." "ðə mænidʒə təʊld mi: ðət hi: pɔ:t

you would be wanting a room, and I have an offer to ju: wəd bi: wɒntɪŋ ə ru:m, ənd ai hæv ən ɔ:fə tə make you. We have a bedroom at home which we never meɪk ju: wi: hæv ə bedrʊm ət haʊm hwɪtʃ wi: nevə use. It was my sister's, but she is married now. Would ju:z. it wəz mai sistəz, bət fi: iz mærid nau. wəd you like to come and live with us? I live alone with ju: laik tə kʌm ænd liv wið ʌs? ai liv ə'loun wið my parents, as all my brothers and sisters are married, mai peərənts, əz ɔ:l mai brʌðəz ænd sistəz a: mærid, and I should be glad to have some company." "Thank ænd ai ʃəd bi: glæd tə hæv səm kʌmpəni." "pæŋk you very much, it is very kind of you. I shall be glad ju: veri mʌtʃ, it iz veri kaɪnd əv ju:. ai ʃəl bi: glæd to accept your kind offer, especially as it will mean tu ək'sept jɔ: kaɪnd əfə, ɪs'peʃəli əz it wil mi:n that I shall have pleasant company." ðət ai ʃəl hæv pleznt kʌmpəni."

"I think it will be an advantage for you to live with
"ai piŋk it wil bi: ən əd'vɑ:ntɪdʒ fə ju: tə liv wið us," said Marshall. "There are many things you will ʌs," sed mɑ:ʃəl. "ðeə meni piŋz ju: wil want to see, and I might be your guide and show you wɒnt tə si:, ænd ai maɪt bi: jɔ: gaɪd ænd ʃou ju:

the most interesting things." "Thank you, it would be ðə maʊst ɪntrɪstɪŋ piŋz." "pæŋk ju:, it wəd bi:

fine to have you as a guide to show me the town." "As ʃaɪn tə hæv ju: əz ə gaɪd tə ʃou mi: ðə taʊn." "əz soon as we finish at the office this afternoon, we can su:n əz wi: ʃɪnɪʃ ət ði əfɪs ðɪs ɑ:ftə'nu:n, wi: kən go to your hotel and pay the bill and then go straight gou tə jɔ: hau'tel ænd peɪ ðə bɪl ænd ðen gou streɪt down to my home. Have you got many bags?" "No," daun tə mai hɒm. hæv ju: gɒt meni bægz?" "nou," said Storm, "I have only one bag, and there are so sed stɔ:m, "ai hæv ounli wʌn bægz, ənd ðeə sou few things in it that it is not heavy to carry. I am glad fju: piŋz in it ðæt it iz nɒt hevi tə kæri. ai əm glæd of this, for the weather is very hot, and it would not be əv ðis, fə ðə weðər iz veri hɒt, ənd it wəd nɒt bi:

very pleasant to carry a heavy weight in such a heat."
veri pleznt tə kæri ə hevi weɪt in sʌtʃ ə hi:t."

Having got Storm's bag, the two young men went to hæviŋ gɒt stɔ:mz bægz, ðə tu: jʌŋ men went tə the Underground. In the streets the heat was still very ði ʌndəgraʊnd. in ðə stri:tʃ ðə hi:t wəz stil veri great, but in the Underground train the air was quite greɪt, bʌt in ði ʌndəgraʊnd treɪn ði eə wəz kwaɪt cool. After having got so hot, they were glad to feel ku:l. a:ftə hæviŋ gɒt sou hɒt, ðeɪ wə: glæd tə fi:l cool again. Storm found the house of Marshall's parents ku:l ə'geɪn. stɔ:m faʊnd ðə haʊs əv mɑ:fəlz peərənts to be a typical English house with five rooms. He was tə bi: ə tipikəl ɪŋɡlɪʃ haʊs wið faɪv ru:mz. hi: wəz introduced to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, after which Mrs. ɪntrə'dju:st tə mɪstər ənd mɪsɪz mɑ:fəl, a:ftə hwɪlf mɪsɪz

Marshall took him upstairs to his bedroom. He saw mɑ:fəl tuk hɪm 'ʌp'steəz tə hɪz bedrʊm. hi: sə:

that there was a nice comfortable bed, a large table, ðæt ðeə wəz ə naɪs kʌmfərtəbl bed, ə la:dʒ teɪbl, sofa

chest of drawers linen (here) = shirts, handkerchiefs, underwear,

etc. (which are made of linen)

He hangs,
he hung,
he has hung [hæŋz, hʌŋ, hʌŋ].

photograph

an armchair, a sofa, a chest of drawers, a wardrobe, ən 'a:m'tʃɛə, ə soufə, ə tʃɛst əv drɔ:əz, ə wɔ:droub, and some other pieces of furniture. He was very happy ænd səm ʌðə pi:siz əv fə:nitʃə. hi: wəz veri hæpi to see so much furniture, much more than there had tə si: sou mʌtʃ fə:nitʃə, mʌtʃ mɔ: ðən ðeə həd been in the hotel room.

bi:n in ðə hau'tel ru:m.

Storm opened his bag and took out some shirts, handstɔ:m oupənd hiz bæɡ ənd tuk aʊt səm ʃə:ts, hæŋkerchiefs, etc., and went to the chest of drawers and kətʃɪz, it'setɹə, ənd went tə ðə tʃɛst əv drɔ:əz ənd opened one of the drawers. As he had come to England oupənd wʌn əv ðə drɔ:əz. əz hi: həd kʌm tu ɪŋɡlənd for a fortnight only, he had brought very little linen fɔr ə fɔ:tnait ounli, hi: həd brɔ:t veri lɪl linɪn and would have to buy some more in London. There ənd wəd hæv tə baɪ səm mɔ:r in lʌndən. ðeə were some pictures on the walls, but Mrs. Marshall wə: səm pɪktʃəz ɒn ðə wɔ:lz, bʊt mɪsɪz mɑ:ʃəl said that perhaps he would like to hang up some sed ðæt pə'hæps hi: wəd laɪk tə hæŋ ʌp səm pictures of his own or some photographs of relations pɪktʃəz əv hiz oun ɔ: səm fəʊtəɡrɑ:fz əv rɪ'leɪfənz or friends. Storm replied that he had no pictures to ɔ: frɛndz. stɔ:m rɪ'plaɪd ðæt hi: həd nou pɪktʃəz tə hang up, but he had a photograph of his father. He hæŋ ʌp, bʊt hi: həd ə fəʊtəɡrɑ:f əv hiz fa:ðə. hi:

told Mrs. Marshall that he had no father now; his tould misiz ma:fəl ðət hi: hæd nou fa:ðə nau; hiz father was dead. "I am very sorry," said Mrs. Marshall, fa:ðə wəz ded. "ai əm veri səri," sed misiz ma:fəl,

"to hear that your father is not alive. How long has
"tə hiə ðət jɔ: fa:ðər iz nət ə'laiv. hau lɔŋ hæz he been dead?" "Let me see," answered Storm, "he hi: bi:n ded?" "let mi: si:," a:nsəd stɔ:m, "hi:

was alive until shortly after I became a clerk, so he wəz ə'laiv ʌn'til ʃɔ:tlɪ a:ftər ai bi'keim ə kla:k, sou hi:

has been dead for five years."

hæz bi:n ded fə faiv jɪəz."

Mrs. Marshall now showed Storm some hooks in a misiz ma:fəl nau ʃəʊd stɔ:m səm huks in ə corner of the room, upon which he could hang some kɔ:nər əv ðə ru:m, ə'pɒn hwɪlf hi: kəd hæŋ sʌm of his clothes. He took one or two things out of his bag əv hiz kləʊðz. hi: tuk wʌn ə tu: þɪŋz aʊt əv hiz bæɡ and hung them on hooks, and the rest he hung in the ænd hʌŋ ðəm ɒn huks, ænd ðə rest hi: hʌŋ in ðə wardrobe. She also pointed to the door, which had a wɔ:droub. ʃi: ɔ:lsoʊ pɔɪntɪd tə ðə dɔ:, hwɪlf hæd ə key in the lock, and told Storm that she would give ki: in ðə lɒk, ænd tould stɔ:m ðət ʃi: wəd ɡɪv him a key to the front door, too. He thanked Mrs.

him ə ki: tə ðə frʌnt dɔ:, tu:. hi: þæŋkt misiz

Marshall for thinking of all these things, but said, ma:fəl fə þɪŋkɪŋ əv ɔ:l ði:z þɪŋz, bət sed, the rest — the other things

button

come of = fall off

He sews,
he sewed,
he has sewn [souz, soud, soun].

extremely = very thumb

however, that he didn't think it necessary to lock his hau'evə, ðæt hi: didnt þɪŋk ɪt nesɪsəri tə lɒk hɪz bedroom door.

bedrʊm dɔː.

Mrs. Marshall told Storm that if a button should come misɪz mɑːʃəl təʊld stɔːm ðæt ɪf ə bʌtn ʃəd kʌm off his coat, she would be glad to sew it on again. ɔːf hɪz kəʊt, ʃiː wəd biː glæd tə sou ɪt ɒn ə'geɪn.

"Such things," she said, "are not difficult for a woman ˈsʌtʃ ˈþɪŋz," ʃiː sed, "aː nɒt dɪfɪkəlt fər ə wʊmən to do; they're quite simple, because we do them so tə duː; ðeə kwaɪt sɪmpl, bɪ'kəz wiː duː ðəm sou often, but they're not always simple for men." "That ɔːfn, bət ðeə nɒt ɔːlwəz sɪmpl fər men." "ðæt is extremely kind of you, Mrs. Marshall. Once, when I ɪz ɪks'triːmli kaɪnd əv juː, misɪz mɑːʃəl. wʌns, hwen aɪ was in the country on holiday, I sewed on some buttons wəz ɪn ðə kʌntri ɒn hɒlɪdi, aɪ səʊd ɒn səm bʌtnz which had come off, but the next day they came off hwɪlf həd kʌm ɔːf, bət ðə nekst deɪ ðeɪ keɪm ɔːf again; they were so badly sewn on. Although I really ə'geɪn; ðeɪ wəː sou bædli soun ɒn. ɔːl'dəʊ aɪ riəli have only one thumb on each hand, as soon as I start hæv ounli wʌn þʌm ɒn ɪːtʃ hænd, əz suːn əz aɪ stɑːt sewing, I feel as if all five fingers were thumbs." "I səʊɪŋ, aɪ fiːl əz ɪf ɔːl faɪv fɪŋgəz wəː þʌmz." "aɪ think there is only one more thing to ask you about," þɪŋk ðəz ounli wʌn mɔː þɪŋ tu ɑːsk juː ə'baut," said Mrs. Marshall, "after which I will leave you with sed misiz ma:fəl, "a:ftə hwitf ai wil li:v ju: wið my son. At what time would you like to get up in the mai sən. ət hwət taim wəd ju: laik tə get ʌp in ðə morning, early or late?" "At home," Storm answered, mə:nɪŋ, ə:li ə leɪt?" "ət haʊm," stɔ:m a:nsəd,

"I usually get up about seven o'clock in the morning."
"ai ju:ʒuəli get ʌp ə'baʊt sevn ə'klɒk in ðə mə:nɪŋ."

"That suits us very well. My son usually gets up a "ðæt sju:ts ʌs veri wel. mai sən ju:ʒuəli gets ʌp ə little later, so you can have the bathroom first. There lɪtl leɪtə, sou ju: kən hæv ðə ba:θrʊm fə:st. ðeə will be a special hook there for you to hang your wil bi: ə speʃəl huk ðeə fə ju: tə hæŋ jɔ:

things on."
pɪŋz ɒn."

Mrs. Marshall now left the room, and the two young misiz ma:fəl nau left ðə ru:m, ənd ðə tu: jʌŋ men sat down to have a talk. Storm sat down in the men sæt daʊn tə hæv ə tɔ:k. stɔ:m sæt daʊn in ði armchair, while Marshall lay down on the sofa and 'a:m'tʃeə, hwail ma:fəl lei daʊn ɒn ðə soufə ənd made himself comfortable. This was not difficult, for meid him self kʌmfətəbl. ðɪs wəz nɒt dɪfɪkəlt, fə there were two or three very good cushions on it. "I ðeə wə: tu: ə pri: veri gud kʊʃənz ɒn ɪt. "ai am afraid I shall fall asleep," said Marshall. "Yesterəm ə'freɪd ai ʃəl fɔ:l ə'sli:p," sed ma:fəl. "jestə-

He lies, he lay,
he has lain [laɪz, lei, leɪn].

cushion

feel like = want day, I lay down after dinner, and before long I was di, ai lei daun a:ftə dinə, ənd bi'fɔ: lɔŋ ai wəz asleep. When you lie down on the sofa after a day's ə'sli:p. hwen ju: lai daun ɔn ðə soufə a:ftər ə deiz work and a nice dinner, you feel like a good sleep. But wə:k ənd ə nais dinə, ju: fi:l laik ə gud sli:p. bət perhaps you would like me to help you to hang up the pə'hæps ju: wəd laik mi: tə help ju: tə hæŋ ʌp ðə photograph? When we moved into this house, I put in fəʊtəgrɑ:f? hwen wi: mu:vɪd intə ðis haʊs, ai put in the nails for all the pictures. I will go downstairs to ðə neilz fər ɔ:l ðə piktʃəz. ai wil ɡəʊ 'daʊn'steəz tə get a nail for your photograph. It will be a good thing get ə neil fə jɔ: fəʊtəgrɑ:f. it wil bi: ə gud piŋ to get it hung up at once; then the room will begin to tə get it hʌŋ ʌp ət wʌns; ðen ðə ru:m wil bi'ɡin tə look a little like home to you." Storm wanted to hang lʊk ə litt laik həʊm tə ju:." stɔ:m wəntɪd tə hæŋ the photograph over the chest of drawers, and as it was ðə fəʊtəgrɑ:f ɒvə ðə tʃest əv drɔ:əz, ənd əz it wəz too high for them to reach, Marshall stood on a chair. tu: hai fə ðəm tə ri:tʃ, mɑ:fəl stʊd ɔn ə tʃeə.

He was then able to reach the place where it was to hi: wəz ðen eɪbl tə ri:tʃ ðə pleɪs hwɛər it wəz tə hang, and before long the nail was in the wall and hæŋ, ənd bi'fɔ: lɔŋ ðə neil wəz in ðə wɔ:l ənd

Storm's photograph put up.

stɔ:mz fəʊtəgrɑ:f put ʌp.

EXERCISE A.

In the — of the desk the office keeps a — of pens, ink, paper, etc., which is large enough to — for several months, so that it is — to go out and buy more every day. An example of the good — and system of the firm is that a — is taken of every letter written at the office. The — on which goods are taken from the ground floor to the top floor can — goods which have the same — as twenty big men. Storm said that it would be a great advantage for him to live at Marshall's home, as he would have — in the evenings instead of being alone, and a — to show him the town. On the way home Storm noticed that although the sun was shining and there was a great — in the streets, the air in the Underground was quite —. There was a lot of furniture in Storm's room, for instance, a — with some — which Marshall put under his head when he — down on it. Storm moved his things from his bag to the — of drawers, and put handkerchiefs, shirts, etc., in one —. He had brought very little — and would have to buy some more in London. He then — his coat upon a — in a corner of the room, and on a — over the chest of drawers he hung a — of his father, who was no longer —; he had been — for five years. There was a — in the — of the door, but Storm said that he would have no use for it. Before she went down, Mrs. Marshall offered to — on a — if one should come off. "That is so — for a woman to do, while a man feels as if he has ten — on his hands when he has to do a thing like that."

WORDS:

drawer supply last (verb) unnecessary organisation copy lift lift (verb)
heavy company
guide heat cool furniture
sofa
cushion
stay
lie lay lain chest linen hung hook nail photograph
alive dead

reach key lock lock (verb) sew sewed sewn button simple thumb
desk organise wardrobe rest extremely badly

EXERCISE B.

Answer these questions with full sentences, but not necessarily with the real facts:

Do you live in a town or in the country? ... Do you live with your parents? ... What is your work? ... What do you like to do when you are not working? ... How do you get to and from your work? ... How old are you? ... How many persons are there in your family? ... Have you ever been outside your own country? ... When did you begin to study English? ... Which do you like best of the languages that you know? ...

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

Every word is made up of sounds [saundz]. It is the sounds that we hear when a word is pronounced. A word is written with letters. The word 'height' has six letters, but it is pronounced with only four sounds: hait. We see, therefore, that the letters and the sounds of a word are not always the same. The sounds of a word are put together into syllables [siləblz]. The word 'height' has only one syllable [siləbl], but the word 'follow' has two, and the word 'establish' has three syllables.

We heard last time that most English nouns add an -s in the plural, which is used when we speak of more than one person or thing. For instance, book — books, dog — dogs, pen — pens, river — rivers. If the word ends [endz] in an s-sound, which means that the last sound is either s, z, f, or ʒ, the plural ends in -es [pronounced -iz] For instance, church — churches [tʃə:tʃ — tʃə:tʃiz], box — boxes [bɒks — bɒksiz], dish — dishes [dif — difiz], glass — glasses [gla:s — gla:siz]. Some words are written with an -e after the s-sound in the singular. Then only -s is added, but the -s together with the -e is pronounced as an extra syllable: iz. For instance, experience — experiences [iks'piəriəns — iks'piəriənsiz], bridge — bridges [bridʒ — bridʒiz], horse — horses [hɔ:s — hɔ:siz].

Some words that end in -o in the singular, add -es in the plural, for instance, potato — potatoes [pə'teɪləʊ — pə'teɪləʊz].

Most words that end in -y in the singular, change -y into -i in the plural and add -es. For instance, enemy — enemies [enimi — enimiz], lady — ladies [leɪdi — leɪdiz], city — cities [sɪli — sɪlɪz], baby — babies [beɪbi — beɪbiz], sky — skies [skai — skaɪz].

But if one of the letters a, e, o, u goes before -y in the singular, the -y remains in the plural. For instance, boy — boys [bɔɪ — bɔɪz], day — days [deɪ — deɪz], key — keys [ki: — ki:z].

Questions:

Is a sound and a letter always the same thing? ... What do we call the parts into which we can divide words? ... What nouns add -es in the plural? ... When is the -y at the end of some nouns changed into -i? ... And what nouns ending in -y do not change this -y into an -i in the plural? ...

THE FOUR PEOPLES OF THE BRITISH ISLES

"I noticed that one of the men to whom I was introduced to-day explained that he was a Scotchman, not an Englishman. Wasn't that rather a strange thing to say?" asked Storm. "You may think so, but that is only because you're a stranger. People in foreign countries speak about this country as England and the people as English, and know nothing about the existence of other nations in the British Isles, but there are really four different countries, England, Wales, Scotland, and Ireland, with four different nations, the English, the Welsh, the Scotch, and the Irish. In Wales, isle = island

Scotland, and Ireland you will find the Celts, the people skøllənd, ənd aɪələnd ju: wil faɪnd ðə kelts, ðə pi:pl to whom all four countries used to belong before the tə hu:m ə:l fɔ: kʌntriz ju:st tə bi'lɔŋ bi'fɔ: ðə Romans and, later on, the Saxons came to England." roumənz ənd, leɪtər ɒn, ðə sæksnz keɪm tu ɪŋɡlənd."

Storm: "I remember our teacher telling us that the stɔ:m: "aɪ rɪ'membər auə ti:tʃə teliŋ ʌs ðæt ðə country belonged to the Celts until their enemies took kʌntri bi'lɔŋd tə ðə kelts ʌn'tɪl ðeər enɪmɪz tuk it away from them; but I must say that I never knew ɪt ə'weɪ frəm ðəm; bət aɪ məst seɪ ðæt aɪ nevə nju:

that the Celts exist as a nation, or rather, as three ðæt ðə kelts ɪɡ'zɪst əz ə neɪʃən, ɔ: rə:ðə, əz ʒri:

exist = be nations." "You had better never say that to a Celt," said neɪʃənz." "ju: həd betər nevə seɪ ðæt tu ə kelt," sed Marshall, laughing, "for he would not like to hear that mɑ:fəl, lɑ:ʃɪŋ, "fə hi: wəd nɒt laɪk tə hiə ðæt anybody, even a stranger, did not know of the existence enɪbədi, i:vən ə streɪndʒə, dɪd nɒt nəʊ əv ði ɪɡ'zɪstəns of the Celts. All Celts are rather proud that they are əv ðə kelts. ə:l kelts a: rə:ðə praʊd ðæt ðeɪ a:

Celts. The Scotchman to whom you spoke to-day was kelts. ðə skɒtʃmən tə hu:m ju: spəʊk tə'deɪ wəz proud that he was a Scotchman; that was the reason praʊd ðæt hi: wəz ə skɒtʃmən; ðæt wəz ðə ri:zn why he mentioned that he was a Scotchman, and not hwaɪ hi: menʃənd ðæt hi: wəz ə skɒtʃmən, ənd nɒt but little = very little

anything else = any other thing

an Englishman." "I am afraid," said Storm, "that I ən ɪŋɡlɪʃmən." "ai əm ə'freɪd," sed stɔ:m, "ðæt ai know but little about Scotland. I have read many nou bət lɪl ə'baʊt skɒtlənd. ai hæv red meni funny stories about Scotchmen, but the stories that I ʃʌni stɔ:rɪz ə'baʊt skɒtʃmən, bət ðə stɔ:rɪz ðæt ai know about them do not tell me anything about nou ə'baʊt ðəm du: nɒt tel mi: enɪpɪŋ ə'baʊt

Scotland."
skɒtlənd."

"The stories will not tell you anything about the
"ðə stɔ:rɪz wɪl nɒt tel ju: enɪpɪŋ ə'baʊt ðə

Scotch either," Marshall replied, "for most of those skɒtʃ aɪðə," mɑ:fəl rɪ'plaɪd, "fə mɔ:st əv ðəʊz stories give the idea that the Scotch love money more stɔ:rɪz gɪv ði aɪ'diə ðæt ðə skɒtʃ lʌv mʌni mɔ:

than anything else in the world. You're told that they ðən enɪpɪŋ els ɪn ðə wɜ:ld. juə təʊld ðæt ðeɪ will do anything to get money, and that they don't like wɪl du: enɪpɪŋ tə get mʌni, ənd ðæt ðeɪ daʊnt laɪk spending it. This, however, is not so. The Scotchman spendɪŋ ɪt. ðɪs, haʊ'evə, ɪz nɒt səʊ. ðə skɒtʃmən takes good care of his money; he is very careful with teɪks ɡʊd keə əv hɪz mʌni; hi: ɪz veri keəfʊl wɪð money; but that is all. I think there must be many mʌni; bət ðæt ɪz ɔ:l. ai ʃɪŋk ðeə mʌst bi: meni other people who are careful with their money, and ʌðə pi:pl hu: a: keəfʊl wɪð ðeə mʌni, ənd who look twice at a penny before spending it. I myself hu: luk twais æt ə peni bi'ʃə: spendiŋ it. ai mai'self do not waste money, spending it unnecessarily, and I du: nɒt weɪst mʌni, spendiŋ it ʌn'nesisərili, ænd ai am sure that you don't waste your money either." əm fuə ðæt ju: daʊnt weɪst jə: mʌni aiðə."

Storm: "No, I am rather careful with my money. — stɔ:m: "nou, ai əm rə:ðə keəfʊl wið mai mʌni. —

I should like to hear a little about these three nations.
ai ʃəd laɪk tə hiər ə lɪtl ə'baʊt ði:z ʒri: neɪʃənz.

Will you tell me about them?" "I shall be only too wɪl ju: tel mi: ə'baʊt ðəm?" "ai ʃəl bi: ounli tu:

pleased to do so," Marshall replied. "To begin with pli:zd tə du: sou," mɑ:ʃəl ri'plaɪd. "tə bi'ɡɪn wið

Wales, it has had English kings for about 700 weɪlz, ɪt həz hæd ɪŋɡlɪʃ kɪŋz fər ə'baʊt sevn haʊdrəd years. When the country was conquered by Edward jiəz. huwen ðə kʌntri wəz kɔŋkəd baɪ edwəd the First, who was then king of England, the Welsh ðə ʃə:st, hu: wəz ðen kɪŋ əv ɪŋɡlənd, ðə welf told him that they would never accept a king who had təʊld hɪm ðæt ðei wəd nevər ək'sept ə kɪŋ hu: hæd not been born in their own country and did not speak nɒt bi:n bɔ:n ɪn ðeər oun kʌntri ænd dɪd nɒt spi:k their language. So Edward called the most important ðeə læŋɡwɪdʒ. sou edwəd kɔ:ld ðə maʊst ɪm'pɔ:tənt men of Wales to the Castle of Carnarvon and told them mɛn əv weɪlz tə ðə ka:sl əv kə'na:vən ænd təʊld ðəm

She bears,
 she bore,
 she has born [beəz, bɔ:, bɔ:n].

be born = come into the world

Chapter Forty-Three (43).

prince = son of the king old, older, oldest but: old, elder, eldest (about sisters and brothers)

harmony = peace

that he would with pleasure give them a king who had ðæt hi: wəd wið pleʒə giv ðəm ə kiŋ hu: hæd been born in Wales and could not speak one word of bi:n bɔ:n in weilz ənd kud nɒt spi:k wʌn wəd əv English. They were very pleased with this and promised iŋglɪʃ. ðei wə: veri pli:zd wið ðis ənd prəmɪst to accept such a king. Their surprise, however, was tu ək'sept sʌtʃ ə kiŋ. ðeə sə'praɪz, hau'evə, wəz great when Edward's first-born son, who had been born greɪt hwen edwədʒ fə:stbɔ:n sʌn, hu: hæd bi:n bɔ:n at the castle a few days before, and who was to be ət ðə kɑ:sl ə fju: deɪz bɪ'fɔ:, ənd hu: wəz tə bi: king after Edward, was brought in to them. But they kiŋ a:ftər edwəd, wəz brɔ:t in tə ðəm. bət ðei had to agree with the King that he had kept his hæd tu ə'gri: wið ðə kiŋ ðæt hi: hæd keɪpt hɪz promise, as the little prince really had been born in prəmɪs, əz ðə lɪl prɪns riəli hæd bi:n bɔ:n in Wales and could not speak one word of English, and weilz ənd kud nɒt spi:k wʌn wəd əv iŋglɪʃ, ənd so they accepted him. Since that time the eldest son səu ðei ək'septɪd hɪm. sɪns ðæt taɪm ði eldɪst sʌn of the English king has always been called the Prince əv ði iŋglɪʃ kiŋ hæz ɔ:lwəz bi:n kɔ:ld ðə prɪns of Wales, and the Welsh and the English have lived əv weilz, ənd ðə welf ənd ði iŋglɪʃ həv lɪvd together in harmony.
tə'geðər in hɑ:məni.

"It has been much more difficult for the English and "it hæz bi:n mʌlf mɔ: difikəlt fə ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ ənd the Scotch to live in peace and harmony with each ðə skɒtʃ tə liv in pi:s ənd hæ:məni wið i:lf other, and the two countries have had the same kings ʌðə, ənd ðə tu: kʌntriz hæv hæd ðə seim kiŋz for no more than 300 years. For many hundred fə nou mɔ: ðæn pri: hʌndrəd jɪəz. fə meni hʌndrəd years the two nations were enemies, and the Scotch jɪəz ðə tu: neɪfənz wə:r enɪmɪz, ənd ðə skɒtʃ had just as great a hatred of the English as the English həd dʒʌst əz greɪt ə heɪtrɪd əv ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ əz ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ of the Scotch. But the two countries have now become əv ðə skɒtʃ. bət ðə tu: kʌntriz hæv nau bi'kʌm the best of friends, and the existence of the old hatred ðə best əv frendz, ənd ði ɪg'zɪstəns əv ði ould heɪtrɪd has been forgotten. As Queen Elizabeth of England had hæz bi:n fə'gɒtn. əz kwi:n i'lizəbəθ əv ɪŋɡlənd hæd no children, the people in both countries agreed that nou tʃɪldrən, ðə pi:pl in bəʊp kʌntriz ə'gri:d ðət it would be best for England and Scotland to be joined ɪt wəd bi: best fər ɪŋɡlənd ənd skɒtlənd tə bi: dʒɔɪnd together under one king. James the Sixth of Scotland tə'geðər ʌndə wʌn kiŋ. dʒeɪmz ðə sɪksθ əv skɒtlənd became James the First of England. Since that time bi'keɪm dʒeɪmz ðə fə:st əv ɪŋɡlənd. sɪns ðæt taɪm the two countries have been joined together and have ðə tu: kʌntriz hæv bi:n dʒɔɪnd tə'geðə ənd hæv would (here) = used to hurry = go

quickly

He hides, he hid, he has hidden [haidz, hid, hidn].

had the same kings.

hæd ðə seim kiŋz.

"Until then the English and the Scotch had often "ʌn'til ðen ði iŋɡlɪʃ ənd ðə skɒtʃ hæd ɔːfn fought each other. In the early wars the Scotch would fo:t iːtʃ ʌðə. in ði əːli wɔːz ðə skɒtʃ wəd send soldiers to the nearest English towns, where they send souldʒəz tə ðə niərist iŋɡlɪʃ taʊnz, hwɛə ðei would do as much damage as possible. Sometimes the wəd duː əz mʌʃ dæmɪdʒ əz pɒsəbl. sʌmtaɪmz ðə damage was very great. Houses were set on fire and dæmɪdʒ wəz veri greɪt. haʊzɪz wəː set ɒn faɪə ənd quite destroyed, so that not one stone was left upon kwɪt di'strɔɪd, sɒ θæt nɒt wʌn stəʊn wəz left ə'pɒn another. The Scotch only came to destroy houses and ə'nʌðə. ðə skɒtʃ ɒnli keɪm tə di'strɔɪ haʊzɪz ənd fields and to take the cows and sheep of the English.

fiːldz ənd tə teɪk ðə kaʊz ənd ʃiːp ɒv ði iŋɡlɪʃ.

Having done that, they hurried back as quickly as hæviŋ dʌn ðæt, ðei hʌrɪd bæk əz kwɪkli əz possible to Scotland to hide in the mountains, where pɒsəbl tə skɒtlənd tə haɪd in ðə maʊntɪnz, hwɛər it would be difficult to find them. They knew that the ɪt wəd biː dɪfɪkəlt tə faɪnd ðəm. ðei njuː θæt ði

English would hurry after them, but very often they iŋɡlɪʃ wəd hʌri ɑːftə ðəm, bʌt veri ɔːfn ðei were so well hidden that the English had to give up wəː sɒ wɛl hɪdn θæt ði iŋɡlɪʃ hæd tə ɡɪv ʌp trying to find them.

traiiŋ tə faɪnd ðəm.

"I have told you about the Scotch coming into England,

"aɪ hæv təʊld ju: ə'baʊt ðə skɒtʃ kʌmɪŋ ɪntu ɪŋɡlənd, but the English were no better. They went just as often bət ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ wə: nou betə. ðeɪ wɛnt dʒʌst əz ɔ:fən into Scotland and did the same damage to the Scotch.

ɪntə skɒtlənd ənd dɪd ðə seɪm dəmɪdʒ tə ðə skɒtʃ.

Sometimes the English even sent large armies into sʌmtaɪmz ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ i:vən sent lɑ:dʒ a:mɪz ɪntə Scotland. Once, the English went into Scotland with skɒtlənd. wʌns, ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ wɛnt ɪntə skɒtlənd wɪð an army of 150 000 men. The Scotch got ən a:mɪ əv wʌn hʌndrəd ənd fɪfti paʊzənd mɛn. ðə skɒtʃ ɡɒt together an army of good soldiers, but they were few tə'geðər ən a:mɪ əv ɡʊd səʊldʒəz, bət ðeɪ wə: fju:

in comparison with the English. The two armies met ɪn kəm'pærɪsn wɪð ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ. ðə tu: a:mɪz mɛt

He meets, he met,
he has met [mi:ts, met, met].

at Bannockburn, where a great battle was fought. The ət 'bænək'bɔ:n, hwɛər ə greɪt bætl wəz ʃɔ:t. ðə

Scotch soldiers were very brave; they were not afraid skɒtʃ səʊldʒəz wə: veri breɪv; ðeɪ wə: nɒt ə'freɪd of meeting and fighting against a much larger army.

əv mi:liŋ ənd ʃaɪliŋ ə'geɪnst ə mʌʃ lɑ:dʒər a:mɪ.

At the end of the day, the English either lay dead on ət ði ɛnd əv ðə deɪ, ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ aɪðə lei ded ən the field of battle or were hurrying back to England ðə fi:ld əv bætl ɔ: wə: hʌriiŋ bæk tu ɪŋɡlənd as quickly as their legs would carry them.

əz kwikli əz ðeə legz wəd kəri ðəm.

"At one time, many European nations had Scotchmen

"ət wʌn taɪm, meni juərə'piən neɪfənz həd skɒtʃmən in their armies, because they were such brave soldiers, in ðeər a:mi:z, bi'kɔ:z ðei wə: sʌtʃ breɪv souldʒəz, but now that England and Scotland have the same king, bət naʊ ðət ɪŋɡlənd ənd skɒtlənd hæv ðə seɪm kiŋ, the Scotch soldiers fight side by side with the English ðə skɒtʃ souldʒəz faɪt saɪd baɪ saɪd wið ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ in the British army. And now I had better tell you in ðə brɪtɪʃ a:mi. ənd naʊ aɪ həd betə tel ju:

something about the Irish.

sʌmpɪŋ ə'baʊt ði aɪərɪʃ.

"Ireland is different from Wales and Scotland in many

"aɪələnd ɪz dɪfrənt frəm weɪlz ənd skɒtlənd ɪn meni things, as a comparison between the Irish and the other þɪŋz, əz ə kəm'pærɪsn bi'twi:n ði aɪərɪʃ ənd ði ʌðə two nations will soon show. While it has been rather tu: neɪfənz wɪl su:n ʃəʊ. hwaɪl ɪt hæv bi:n rɑ:ðər easy for England, Wales, and Scotland to work together, i:zi ʃər ɪŋɡlənd, weɪlz, ənd skɒtlənd tə wɜ:k tə'geðə, there have been great difficulties in arriving at peace ðeə hæv bi:n greɪt dɪfɪkəltɪz ɪn ə'raɪvɪŋ ət pi:s and harmony between the Irish and the English. One ənd hɑ:məni bi'twi:n ði aɪərɪʃ ənd ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ. wʌn reason is that the Irish live in an island of their own, ri:zn ɪz ðət ði aɪərɪʃ liv ɪn ən aɪlənd əv ðeər oun, while the English, the Scotch, and the Welsh live hwail ði iŋglif, ðə skɒtʃ, ənd ðə welf liv together in another island. Then we must also remem-tə'gedəʁ in ə'nʌðəʁ ailənd. ðen wi: məst ɔ:lsou ri'mem-ber that most of the Irish are Catholics, while most bə ðət moust əv ði aiərif a: kæpəliks, hwail moust of the people of the other countries are Protestants.

əv ðə pi:pl əv ði ʌðə kʌntriz a: prɒtistənts.

I don't think that we English understand the Irish very aɪ daʊnt piŋk ðət wi: iŋglif ʌndə'stænd ði aiərif veri well, and we have not always been particularly kind wel, ənd wi: həv nɒt ɔ:lwəz bi:n pə'tikjʊləi kaɪnd particularly = especially

to them. All this has meant that some of the Irish, tə ðəm. ɔ:l ðis həz ment ðət sʌm əv ði aiərif, particularly those in the southern part which is called pə'tikjʊləi ðəʊz in ðə sʌðən pɑ:t hwɪtʃ iz kɔ:ld

Eire, have not been very satisfied with the English.
ɛərə, həv nɒt bi:n veri sætɪsfɑɪd wɪð ði iŋglɪf.

You will understand, however, that it is almost imju: wɪl ʌndə'stænd, hau'evə, ðət ɪt ɪz ɔ:lməʊst 'ɪmpossible to satisfy people unless you understand them.

'pɒsəbl tə sætɪsfɑɪ pi:pl ʌn'les ju: ʌndə'stænd ðəm.

unless = except if

Scotland and Wales send representatives to the British skɒtlənd ənd weɪlz send reprɪzəntətɪvz tə ðə brɪtɪʃ

Parliament in London, but since 1922 Eire pɑ:ləmənt in lʌndən, bʌt sɪns naɪnti:n twenti'tu: ɛərə has had a parliament of her own, and she no longer həz həd ə pɑ:ləmənt əv hə:r oun, ənd ʃɪ: nou lɔŋɡə sends representatives to London. Northern Ireland has sendz repri:'zentativz tə lʌndən. nɔ:ðən aɪələnd hæz a parliament of its own, but, at the same time, sends a pa:ləmənt əv its oun, bʌt, ət ðə seɪm taɪm, sendz representatives to London. When we speak about all repri:'zentativz tə lʌndən. hwen wi: spi:k ə'baut ɔ:l four countries together, we usually call them either fɔ: kʌntriz tə'geðə, wi: ju:ʒuəli kɔ:l ðəm aɪðə the British Isles or Great Britain and Eire (Ireland).

ðə britɪʃ aɪlz ɔ: greɪt brɪtən ənd eərə (aɪələnd).
 There you have a few facts about the Welsh, the ðeə ju: hæv ə fju: fæktz ə'baut ðə welf, ðə Scotch, and the Irish. Are you satisfied with that? If skɒtʃ, ənd ði aɪərɪʃ. a: ju: sætɪsfaɪd wɪð ðæt? ɪf not, I promise to tell you more some other time." nɒt, aɪ prəmɪs tə tel ju: mɔ: sʌm ʌðə taɪm."

EXERCISE A.

WORDS:

British Isles
 belong existence exist proud story careful waste not... either 414

Although Storm knew that the British — had — to the Celts once, he had never thought of the — of three nations of Celts in the British Isles. The Scotch are very — that they are Celts, but many of the funny — that are told about them are made by the Scotch themselves. The stories tell us that the Scotch love money, but they are only — with it and do not — it by buying things —. But it is not the Scotch alone who are like that; there are many other people who do not waste their money unnecessarily —. In our days the English, the Welsh, and the Scotch live in peace and — together, but several hundred years ago there was great — between the nations. The Welsh were the first to make peace with the English; the two nations were — together, and the English king called his — son the — of Wales. The eldest son of King Edward the First was — at the Castle of Carnarvon. The Scotch and the English continued to send armies into each other's countries to — the towns and do as much — as possible. Sometimes, after such a trip into England, the Scotch would run back and — in the mountains, but often they — the English armies and fought great battles with them. The Scotch soldiers were very —, and after the Battle of Bannockburn the English army, which was much bigger than the Scotch army, had to — back to England as fast as possible. No difficulties — between these three nations now. The — live in another island by themselves. It has been more difficult for England to — the Irish. If we make a — between the Irish and the Celts of Great Britain, we find that the Irish are —, while most of the others are —. The Scotch live in —, and the Welsh live in —. Scotland and Wales send — to the British Parliament, but Eire was not — until she had her own parliament. You cannot expect people to be satisfied — they are met with kindness and understanding.

EXERCISE B.

As soon as Mr. Miller and the two young men came home, Wood wrote a letter to Storm telling him about the trip. Now we want you to write a letter as if you harmony hatred join elder eldest prince destroy bear bore born damage hide hid hidden meet met brave hurry

Irish satisfy satisfied comparison Catholic Protestant representative
Eire
unless particularly southern Ireland
rather unnecessarily

were Wood. Please write the letter in such a way that you use all the words in the following list: steamer — sea — seasick — nice — train — restaurant — carriage — wine — cup — newspaper — look — window — station — family — carry — good-bye — teacher — taxi — remember.

How to write a letter in English.

At the top of the paper, in the right hand corner, write the address, the day of the month, and the year. For example:

68, Victory Road, Ealing.
August 4th, 19-.

You may write either 'August 4th' or '4th August', but you usually pronounce 'the fourth of August'. On the left hand side of the paper a little farther down, the words 'Dear Storm', followed by a comma [,], begin the letter itself. This is the usual way of beginning a letter in English. If you write to a person whom you do not know very well, you first write the person's name and address and under that the words: Dear Sir, or Dear Madam, for example:

Mr. George Bentham,
47, Nelson Road, Wimbledon.

Dear Sir,

Notice that the number of the house comes before the name of the street. If you wish to send greetings to somebody else, too, for instance to a person called John, you can do so with the words: "Please remember me to John." At the end of the letter, it is most common to write 'Yours sincerely' [sin'siəli], followed by your name. If you write to a person whom you do not know well, you may write 'Yours faithfully' [faiþfʊli] or 'Yours truly' [tru:li], and then your name.

Now you know enough about writing letters in English to write the letter from Wood to Storm.

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

If we want to express that something belongs to somebody, we may add an -s to the name of the person to whom it belongs. For example: the boy's pencil. When this -s is added to a noun, we say that the noun is in the genitive [dʒenitiv]. We notice that there is an apostrophe [ə'pɒstrəʃi], which looks like this ['']; it is put either before or after the -s, to make it different from the plural -s.

In the singular the apostrophe is always put before the -s. For example: the boy's pencil, the baby's doll, the child's ball. In the plural there are two ways of making the genitive. Nouns that already have a plural -s do not add an extra -s in the genitive, but only add the apostrophe. Examples: the boys' pencils, the babies' dolls. So we see there is a difference between the singular and the plural in writing: the boy's pencils, the boys' pencils; but to the ear there is no difference. Nouns, however, that do not end in -s in the plural, have the apostrophe and the -s just like the genitive in the singular. Examples: the men's hats, the children's balls. The genitive -s is pronounced in the same way as the plural -s: the dog's [dɒgz] nose, the horse's [hɔ:sɪz] head.

The s-genitive is used to express that something belongs to a person or an animal. But we may express the idea of the genitive in another way, too: John's father, or: the father of John. If it is not a person or an animal that something belongs to, we use the word 'of' to express the genitive: the roof of the house was high; the leaves of the trees had fallen.

Perhaps you have noticed that we speak, for example, of two weeks' holiday or of a day's work. When we speak of a measure of time, the s-genitive is used.

There is also another way in which the s-genitive is used. People speak of shopping at Selfridge's. It looks as if a word should have followed Selfridge's, and really the word 'shop' should have followed; but people are so used to hearing the name that everybody knows what is meant. In the same way we speak of having dinner at your uncle's, that is, at your uncle's house, or of dining at your brother's, etc.

Questions:

What may we add to the name of a person to show that something belongs to that person? ... What takes place in the genitive if a noun already has a plural -s? ... What is the genitive plural of the words: woman, child, boy, lady, girl? ... How do we express the genitive of the noun if it is not a person or an animal that something belongs to? ... May we use only the s-genitive when we speak of persons? ...

ENGLISH MONEY

Marshall and Storm have been working hard the whole ma:ʃəl ənd stɔ:m hæv bi:n wə:kiŋ ha:d ðə houl morning and are now waiting for the lunch hour. A mɔ:niŋ ənd a: nau weitiŋ fə ðə lʌnf auə. ə few of the clerks have lunch from twelve to one, but fju: əv ðə kla:ks hæv lʌnf frəm twelv tə wʌn, bət all the others from one to two. Suddenly, the clock in ɔ:l ði ʌðəz frəm wʌn tə tu:. sʌdnli, ðə klɒk in the office strikes one. "I knew it had struck half past ði ɒfis straiks wʌn. "aɪ nju: ɪt həd strʌk ha:f pa:st twelve, but I had begun to think it would never reach twelv, bət aɪ həd bi'ɡʌn tə piŋk ɪt wəd nevə ri:f one o'clock," says Marshall.

wʌn ə'klɒk," sez ma:ʃəl.

The two young men now got up, went to the restaurant ðə tu: jʌŋ men nau ɡɒt ʌp, went tə ðə restərɔ:ŋ where they usually had their lunch, and sat down. hwɛə ðei ju:ʒuəli həd ðeə lʌnf, ənd sæt daʊn.

They at once began to look at the menu, a long list of ðei ət wʌns bi'ɡæn tə luk ət ðə menju:, ə lɔŋ list əv the different sorts of food that one could get. A little ðə difrənt sɔ:ts əv fu:d ðət wʌn kəd ɡet. ə lɪl later, they saw the young lady who served at their leɪtə, ðei sɔ: ðə jʌŋ leɪdi hu: sə:vəd ət ðeə

He strikes,
 he struck,
 he has struck [straiks, strʌk, strʌk].

waitress

tray

place = put table, coming to take their order. "Here comes the teibl, kʌmiŋ tə teik ðeər ɔ:də. "hiə kʌmz ðə waitress," said Storm; "I'm glad to see her, for I'm very weitrɪs," sed stɔ:m; "aɪm glæd tə si: hə:, fər aɪm veri hungry to-day."

hʌŋgri tə'deɪ."

They ordered their lunch, and in two or three minutes ðeɪ ɔ:dəd ðeə lʌnf, ənd ɪn tu: ə ʒri: mɪnɪts the waitress was back again, carrying the food on a ðə weitrɪs wəz bæk ə'geɪn, kæriiŋ ðə fu:d ɒn ə tray. One of the most important things on the treɪ. wʌn əv ðə maʊst ɪm'pɔ:tənt ʒɪŋz ɒn ðə waitress's tray was a big pot of tea. Storm had now weitrɪsɪz treɪ wəz ə bɪg pɒt əv ti:. stɔ:m həd naʊ learned to drink tea as often as an Englishman. The lə:nd tə driŋk ti: əz ɔ:fən əz ən ɪŋɡlɪʃmən. ðə waitress placed the pot of tea and the other things on weitrɪs pleɪst ðə pɒt əv ti: ənd ði ʌðə ʒɪŋz ɒn the table and went away. Although the food had been ðə teibl ənd went ə'wei. ɔ:lðəʊ ðə fu:d həd bi:n

placed on the table, Storm continued to look at the pleɪst ɒn ðə teibl, stɔ:m kən'tɪnju:d tə luk ət ðə prices on the menu. "I thought you said you were praɪsɪz ɒn ðə menju:. "aɪ þɔ:t ju: sed ju: wə:

hungry, but you seem to be much more interested in hʌŋgri, bət ju: si:m tə bi: mʌtʃ mɔ:r ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn the menu than in the food itself," Marshall said to him, ðə menju: ðən ɪn ðə fu:d ɪt'self," mɑ:ʃəl sed tə hɪm, smiling. Storm replied that the prices interested him smailiŋ. stɔ:m ri'plaid ðæt ðə praisiz intristid him a great deal, and finished by asking Marshall to tell a greit di:l, ænd finift bai a:skiŋ ma:fəl tə tel a great deal =

 very much

him something about English money and coins. He him sʌmpɪŋ ə'baut iŋɡlɪʃ mʌni ænd kɔɪnz. hi:

explained that these things were difficult for a stranger iks'pleind ðæt ði:z piŋz wə: difikəlt fər ə streindʒə to get used to, because nearly the whole world uses the tə get ju:st tu, bi'kɔ:z niəli ðə houl wə:ld ju:ziz ðə decimal system. "Even the Americans, who use the desiməl sistim. "i:vən ði ə'merikənz, hu: ju:z ði

English system of weights and measures, have their iŋɡlɪʃ sistim əv weɪts ænd meʒəz, hæv ðeə dollar which is equal to a hundred cents," said Storm. dɒlə hwɪlf ɪz i:kwəl tu ə hʌndrəd sentz," sed stɔ:m.

"I always have great trouble in understanding the "ai ɔ:lwəz hæv greit trʌbl in ʌndə'stændiŋ ðə prices in the shops in London. You have more than praisiz in ðə ʃɒps in lʌndən. ju: hæv mɔ: ðən one way of saying the same thing, at least when it wʌn wei əv seiŋ ðə seɪm piŋ, ət li:st hwen it comes to money."

kʌmz tə mʌni."

"You must know quite a lot of these things already,
"ju: məst nou kwail ə lɒt əv ði:z piŋz ɔ:l'redi, seeing that you have been here almost a month. But I si:iŋ ðæt ju: hæv bi:n hiə ɔ:lmoust ə mʌnθ. bət ai seeing that = as think it will be better if I explain to you all the details þiŋk it wil bi: betər if ai iks'plein tə ju: ɔ:l ðə di:teɪlz of our monetary system, especially as you seem to have əv əʊə mənɪtəri sistim, ɪs'pefəli əz ju: si:m tə hæv so much trouble in finding out what things really sou mʌtʃ trʌbl in faɪndɪŋ aʊt hwət þɪŋz riəli cost," Marshall told his friend. "I should be glad if you kɒst," mɑ:fəl təʊld hɪz frend. "ai ʃəd bi: glæd ɪf ju:

would give me all the details about English money.
wəd gɪv mi: ɔ:l ðə di:teɪlz ə'baʊt ɪŋɡlɪʃ mʌni.

Before you start, however, you had better pour me bɪ'fɔ: ju: stɑ:t, haʊ'evə, ju: həd betə pɔ: mi:

another cup of tea," Storm said. ə'nʌðə kʌp əv ti:," stɔ:m sed.

Some of the tea went on the table and over the edge sʌm əv ðə ti: went ɒn ðə teɪbl ənd oʊvə ði edʒ of the table on to the floor. Marshall said, "I'm sorry, əv ðə teɪbl ɒn tə ðə flɔ:. mɑ:fəl sed, "aɪm sɔ:ri,

I wasn't very careful, but it doesn't matter so much as aɪ wəznt veri keəfʊl, bət ɪt dʌznt mætə sou mʌtʃ əz there is no cloth on the table, and the floor isn't very ðəz nəʊ klɒθ ɒn ðə teɪbl, ənd ðə flɔ:r ɪznt veri clean. If you want a restaurant where they have cloths kli:n. ɪf ju: wɒnt ə restərɔ:ŋ hwɛə ðeɪ hæv klɒps on the tables and clean floors, you must pay more for ɒn ðə teɪblz ənd kli:n flɔ:z, ju: mʌst peɪ mɔ: ʃə your meals," he continued laughing. "But if you will ʃə: mi:lz," hi: kən'tɪnju:d lɑ:fɪŋ. "bət ɪf ju: wil pass me the sugar, I will start. I like a lot of sugar in pa:s mi: ðə fʊgə, ai wil sta:t. ai laik ə lɒt əv fʊgə in my tea, in my coffee — in everything, in fact. I love mai ti:, in mai kɒfi — in evriθɪŋ, in fækt. ai lʌv in fact = in reality

sweet things." Storm told him that he never took sugar swi:t θɪŋz." stɔ:m tould him ðæt hi: nevə tuk fʊgə in tea or coffee, because he didn't like sweet things. in ti: ɔ: kɒfi, bi'kɔz hi: didnt laik swi:t θɪŋz.

In fact, he didn't like anything that was full of sugar. in fækt, hi: didnt laik eniθɪŋ ðæt wəz fʊl əv fʊgə.

Marshall began by explaining that there are pounds, ma:fəl bi'gæn bai iks'pleiniŋ ðæt ðeər a: paundz, shillings, pence, and farthings in the English monetary filiŋz, pens, ənd fɑ:ðɪŋz in ði iŋglɪʃ mʌnɪləri system. "A pound," he continued, "is divided into sistim. "ə paund," hi: kən'tɪnju:d, "ɪz di'vaɪdɪd ɪntə twenty shillings, a shilling into twelve pence, and a twenti filiŋz, ə filiŋ ɪntə twelv pens, ənd ə penny into four farthings. At one time a pound was peni ɪntə fɔ: fɑ:ðɪŋz. ət wʌn taim ə paund wəz always a gold coin, called a sovereign because the ɔ:lweɪz ə ɡould kɔɪn, kɔ:ld ə səvrɪn bi'kɔz ðə sovereign = king king's head was to be found on one side of it. There kɪŋz hed wəz tə bi: faʊnd ɒn wʌn saɪd əv ɪt. ðeə was a ten shilling coin, too, also made of gold, that was wəz ə ten filiŋ kɔɪn, tu:, ɔ:lsou meɪd əv ɡould, ðæt wəz called a half-sovereign. In nearly every country of the kɔ:ld ə ha:fəsəvrɪn. in niəli evri kʌntri əv ðə

American Indian

world three metals were used for coins before the war wə:ld pri: mellz wə: ju:zd fə kɔɪnz bi'fə: ðə wə:r of 1914—1918. Gold had the greatest əv nainti:n fə:ti:n tə nainti:n eiti:n. gould hæd ðə greɪlɪst value of the three metals that were used for money, vælju: əv ðə pri: mellz ðæt wə: ju:zd fə mʌni, and silver was next in value. Silver is the sort of metal ænd silvə wəz nekst ɪn vælju:. silvə ɪz ðə sɔ:t əv mell my parents' forks and spoons are made of," Marshall maɪ peərənts fɔ:ks ænd spu:nz a: meɪd əv," mɑ:fəl explained. "The third metal was copper, a metal of a ɪks'pleɪnd. "ðə þə:d mell wəz kɒpə, ə mell əv ə red colour. Copper is the same colour as an American red kʌlə. kɒpə ɪz ðə seɪm kʌlə əz ən ə'merɪkən Indian. Nowadays, however, it would be very difficult to ɪndʒən. naʊədeɪz, haʊ'evə, ɪt wəd bi: veri dɪfɪkəlt tə find a gold coin; paper money is used instead. In Engfaɪnd ə gould kɔɪn; peɪpə mʌni ɪz ju:zd ɪn'sted. ɪn ɪŋ-land we use a pound note and a ten shilling note instead glænd wi: ju:z ə paʊnd nout ænd ə ten fɪlɪŋ nout ɪn'sted of the gold sovereign and half-sovereign. Until some əv ðə gould səvrɪn ænd hɑ:fəsəvrɪn. ʌn'tɪl sʌm time after the war of 1939—1945 taɪm a:ftə ðə wə:r əv nainti:n þə:li nain tə nainti:n fə:ti'faɪv, we had coins that people spoke of and thought of as wi: hæd kɔɪnz ðæt pi:pl spəʊk əv ænd þɔ:t əv əz silver coins. In reality, we had no coins in England silvə kɔɪnz. ɪn ri'ælɪti, wi: hæd nou kɔɪnz ɪn ɪŋglænd that were made of silver only; we had no coins of ðæt wə: meɪd əv sɪlvər ounli; wi: hæd nou kɔɪnz əv any sort or size that were made of pure metals. Less eni sɔ:t ɔ: saɪz ðæt wə: meɪd əv pjʊə mellz. les than half of the metal of the so-called silver coins was ðæn ha:f əv ðə mell əv ðə soukɔ:ld sɪlvə kɔɪnz wəz silver. However, in order to pay America in silver some sɪlvə. hau'evə, ɪn ɔ:də tə peɪ ə'merɪkə ɪn sɪlvə sʌm of the money we owe her, we changed instead to a əv ðə mʌni wi: ou hæ:, wi: tʃeɪndʒd ɪn'stəd tu ə mixture of copper and nickel. The old copper coins, mɪkstʃər əv kɒpər ænd nɪkl. ði ould kɒpə kɔɪnz, however, have not been changed and are still the same hau'evə, hæv nɒt bi:n tʃeɪndʒd ænd a: stɪl ðə seɪm as they were, made of a mixture of copper and some əz ðeɪ wə:, meɪd əv ə mɪkstʃər əv kɒpər ænd sʌm other metal. The world is full of paper money, and it ʌðə mell. ðə wɜ:ld ɪz fʊl əv peɪpə mʌni, ænd ɪt is hardly possible to find a coin of any real value. It ɪz hæ:dli pɒsəbl tə faɪnd ə kɔɪn əv enɪ rɪəl vælju:. ɪt is not very often that coins are pure; they're mostly ɪz nɒt veri ɔ:fən ðæt kɔɪnz a: pjʊə; ðeə maʊstli mixtures of at least two metals. Now I will tell you mɪkstʃəz əv ət li:st tu: mellz. naʊ aɪ wɪl tel ju:

about the English coins and at the same time show ə'baʊt ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ kɔɪnz ænd ət ðə seɪm taɪm ʃəʊ you what they look like, for I have some in my pocket." ju: hwət ðeɪ lʊk laɪk, fɜ: aɪ hæv sʌm ɪn maɪ pɒkɪt."

a half-crown = two shillings
and sixpence

as to = about

Marshall put his hand in his trouser pocket and brought ma:fəl put hiz hænd in hiz trauzə pəkɪt ænd brɔ:l out a number of coins. He showed Storm four copper aut ə nʌmbər əv kɔɪnz. hi: ʃəʊd stɔ:m ʃɔ: kɒpə coins: a farthing which is a quarter of a penny; a half-kɔɪnz: ə ʃa:ðɪŋ hwɪtʃ ɪz ə kwɔ:tər əv ə peni; ə hei-penny; a penny; and a threepenny bit. He also had four pni; ə peni; ænd ə ʒrepəni bɪt. hi: ə:lsoʊ hæd ʃɔ:r

of the new coins: a sixpence; a shilling; a two-shilling əv ðə nju: kɔɪnz: ə sɪkspəns; ə ʃɪlɪŋ; ə 'tu:ʃɪlɪŋ piece (a florin); and a half-crown. "We used to have a pi:s (ə ʃlɒrɪn); ænd ə 'ha:f'kraʊn. "wi: ju:st tə hæv ə crown, too," said Marshall, "but the size of the coin kraʊn, tu:," sed mɑ:fəl, "bət ðə saɪz əv ðə kɔɪn was too great." "That is all quite easy to understand," wəz tu: greɪt." "ðæt ɪz ə:l kwɪt ɪ:zɪ tu ʌndə'stænd," Storm told him, "but will you also explain to me the stɔ:m təʊld hɪm, "bət wɪl ju: ə:lsoʊ ɪks'pleɪn tə mi: ðə different ways in which people give prices, for somedɪfrənt weɪz ɪn hwɪtʃ pi:pl gɪv praɪsɪz, ʃə sʌmtimes when I hear a price, I don't know how much it taɪmz hwen aɪ hiər ə praɪs, aɪ daʊnt nəʊ haʊ mʌtʃ ɪt is, and, consequently, I am in doubt as to how much I ɪz, ænd, kɒnsɪkwəntli, aɪ əm ɪn daʊt əz tə haʊ mʌtʃ aɪ have to pay." "I shouldn't like you to be in doubt about hæv tə peɪ." "aɪ ʃʊdn't laɪk ju: tə bi: ɪn daʊt ə'baut the price," Marshall replied. "Now I will mention all ðə praɪs," mɑ:fəl rɪ'plaɪd. "naʊ aɪ wɪl menʃən ə:l

the different ways in which we give prices in writing ðə difrənt weiz in hwɪf wi: giv praɪsɪz in raɪtɪŋ and in speaking. Five pounds is written £5. The letter ænd in spi:kɪŋ. faɪv paʊndz ɪz rɪtn ... ðə letə £ stands for the Latin word 'libra' or pound. Five .. stændz fə ðə lætɪn wə:d 'laɪbrə' ɔ: paʊnd. faɪv shillings is written 5s. or 5/-, but fivepence is written fɪlɪŋz ɪz rɪtn .. ɔ: .., bət faɪ/pəns ɪz rɪtn

5d. The letter d stands for 'denarius' which is the Latin ... ðə letə di: stændz fə 'dɪnəriəs' hwɪf ɪz ðə lætɪn word for an old Roman coin. Now, two figures that are wə:d fər ən ould rəʊmən kɔɪn. naʊ, tu: fɪgəz ðət a:

not connected by 'and' mean pence and farthings. If nɒt kə'nektɪd baɪ 'ænd' mɪ:n pəns ænd fa:ðɪŋz. ɪf

I say 'five-three', I mean fivepence three farthings, and aɪ sei 'faɪv-θri:', aɪ mɪ:n faɪ/pəns θri: fa:ðɪŋz, ænd this is written 5¾d. Two figures connected by 'and' ðɪs ɪz rɪtn ... tu: fɪgəz kə'nektɪd baɪ 'ænd' mean shillings and pence, so that if I say five-andmɪ:n fɪlɪŋz ænd pəns, səʊ ðət ɪf aɪ sei faɪv-ændthree, I mean five shillings and threepence; this is θri:, aɪ mɪ:n faɪv fɪlɪŋz ænd θreɪpəns; ðɪs ɪz written 5/3. When speaking of pounds, we express rɪtn ... hwen spi:kɪŋ əv paʊndz, wi: ɪks'pres ourselves in this way: three pounds five-and-three, əʊə'selvz ɪn ðɪs wei: θri: paʊndz faɪv-ænd-θri:, which means three pounds five shillings and threepence, hwɪf mɪ:nz θri: paʊndz faɪv fɪlɪŋz ænd θreɪpəns, and is written £3/5/3."

and iz ritn . . .

"Thank you, Marshall; it is all clear to me now, but I
"þæŋk ju:, ma:fəl; it iz ɔ:l kliə tə mi: nau, bət ai must say that I can't see the advantage of having məst sei ðət ai kɑ:nt si: ði əd'vɑ:ntidʒ əv hæviŋ pounds, shillings, pence, and farthings. It seems very paundz, filiŋz, pens, ənd fɑ:ðɪŋz. it si:mz veri foolish to me, as shillings and pence would be quite fʊ:lɪʃ tə mi:, əz filiŋz ənd pens wəd bi: kwait enough." "I might mention, Storm, that only English i'nʌʃ." "ai maɪt menʃən, stɔ:m, ðət ounli ɪŋɡlɪʃ business men would say £3/5/3. Nearly bɪznɪs men wəd sei pri: paundz faɪv-ənd-pri:. niəli everybody else = any other person

everybody else would prefer to express it 65/3." evribɒði els wəd pri'fə: tu iks'pres ɪt sɪksti'faɪvənd pri:."

"Then," Storm answered, "there is no doubt that the
"ðen," stɔ:m ɑ:nsəd, "ðəz nou daʊt ðət ði

English system is foolish. In my country we always ɪŋɡlɪʃ sistɪm iz fʊ:lɪʃ. ɪn maɪ kʌntri wi: ɔ:lwəz say that it is foolish to do things in such a way that sei ðət ɪt iz fʊ:lɪʃ tə du: þɪŋz ɪn sʌʃ ə wei ðət they give extra work. But I think that we have spent ðei gɪv ɛkstrə wə:k. bət ai þɪŋk ðət wi: hæv spent enough time in talking about money. To finish my meal i'nʌʃ taɪm ɪn tɔ:kiŋ ə'baʊt mʌni. tə fɪnɪʃ maɪ mi:l

I should like some cheese and another cup of tea. I find ai ʃəd laɪk səm tʃi:z ənd ə'nʌðə kʌp əv ti:. ai faɪnd cheese

that the cheese in England is very good, and I always ðæt ðə ʈi:z in iŋglənd iz veri gud, ənd ai ə:lweɪz have a piece of bread and cheese for supper." "Yes," hæv ə pi:s əv bred ənd ʈi:z fə sʌpə. "jes," said Marshall, "bread, a bit of cheese, and a good glass sed mɑ:fəl, "bred, ə bit əv ʈi:z, ənd ə gud gla:s of beer make a fine end to the day. I like a glass of əv biə meik ə faɪn end tə ðə dei. ai laik ə gla:s əv beer before going to bed."

biə bi:fə: ɡəʊɪŋ tə bed."

bit = (small)
piece

EXERCISE A.

When the clock — one, Storm and Marshall went out to lunch. Storm was interested in the prices on the — The — came with a — of tea and the food on a — and — it on the table. The American — is equal to one hundred — Sometimes Storm had much — in understanding English money and prices, so he wanted Marshall to give him all the — of their monetary system. Some of Storm's tea went over the — of the table on to the floor. There was no — on the table in the restaurant. Marshall asked Storm to — the sugar; he liked — things very much. Once, a pound was a — coin called a —.

Spoons and forks are sometimes made of —. — has not so great a — as silver; it is red like an —. Nowadays most coins are not made of — metals. Marshall took several coins out of his —; there were four copper coins: a threepenny bit, a penny, a —, and a —. A — is equal to threepence. Two threepenny bits have the strike struck menu

WORDS:

waitress
pot
tray
place (verb)
dollar cent trouble detail edge cloth pass
sweet
gold sovereign

half-sovereign silver copper value American Indian
pure pocket halfpenny farthing threepenny bit florin half-crown
crown
doubt foolish cheese
beer red Latin
denarius
order
clear
a great deal
in fact nickel
libra

same value as a —. A — is equal to two shillings. One — is equal to two shillings and sixpence. Now and then Storm was in — about the prices in the shops. He found it — to have both pounds and shillings. Marshall and Storm liked bread and — and a glass of —.

EXERCISE B.

Answer these questions with full sentences:

Did you learn any foreign language at school? ... Are you interested in football? ... Did you play football at school? ... Have you any brothers or sisters? ... Where did you spend your last summer-holidays? ... Did you travel by land or by sea? ... Was the weather good? ... Did you spend much money? ... Do you like to go to the theatre, or do you prefer to see a good picture? ... How do you like singing? ...

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

Adjectives [ædʒɪktɪvz] are words that say what things or persons are like. Examples: I have a big dog; he is often dirty; when he is clean, he is a nice dog. In these sentences 'big', 'dirty', 'clean', and 'nice' are adjectives, and each of these adjectives tells us something about the 'dog', which is a noun. Other adjectives are: high, beautiful, kind, blue, good, bad, whole, big, great, and many others.

Adjectives may be used to make comparisons. When used in this way, -er and -est are added to them. In the sentence, "My dog is cleaner than yours, but Henry's is the cleanest of the three," a comparison is made between the dogs. When -er is added to an adjective, we say that the adjective is in the comparative [kəm'pæ-rə-tiv]; when -est is added, the adjective is said to be in the superlative [ʃju:'pæ:lə-tiv].

There are several things to notice about the comparative and the superlative of adjectives. If an adjective already has an 'e' as the last letter, only -r and -st are added, for example: nice, nicer, nicest.

Most adjectives that end in 'y' change 'y' to 'i' in the comparative and the superlative, for example: dirty, dirtier, dirtiest.

In some adjectives of one syllable the last letter is written twice before -er or -est is added; for instance: big, bigger, biggest.

Long adjectives do not add -er and -est, but comparison is expressed by the help of more and most: She is more beautiful than her sister, and the most beautiful girl I know.

Some adjectives have special comparatives and superlatives. For example: good, better, best; many, more, most; much, more, most.

Questions:

What are adjectives? . . . Write some examples of adjectives. . . . What are the comparatives and the superlatives of the following adjectives: warm, large, hot (add an extra -t), blue, red (add an extra -d), hard, kind, cheap, loud, good, many, much, early, dry, funny? . . .

EXERCISE D.

Write the following with the usual letters of the alphabet:

lʌndən, ði eɪlp əv ɔ:gəst.

diə wud,

ai ri:si:vɔd jɔ: letə ðis mɔ:nɪŋ ənd wəz veri glæd tə ri:d ə'baut jɔ: tri:p haʊm. ai hæv mist ju: ɔ:l veri mʌtʃ, is'pefəli ðə fə:st deɪz ɑ:f'tə ju: left. ai felt kwait ə'loun in ðis greɪt sɪli, bət ai əm hæpi tə bi: eɪbl tə tel ju: ðət ai ɔ:l'redi fɪ:l mʌtʃ mɔ:r ət haʊm naʊ. ðə mein ri:zən fə ðis, ai nou, ɪz ðət ə ʤʌŋ mæn ət auər ɔfɪs baɪ ðə neɪm əv mɑ:fəl, ɔ:l'redi ɔn ðə fə:st dei ɔfəd mi: ə ru:m ət hiz peərənts haʊs. ai teɪk ɔ:l mai mi:lz wɪð ðə mɑ:fəlz, ənd ðei ɔ:l du: ðeə best tə meɪk mi: fɪ:l ðət ai ri:əli bi'lɔŋ tə ðə fæmili.

it ɪz tu: ɔ:li tə tel ju: mʌtʃ ə'baut mai wə:k; ai məst nou ɪt ə lɪl betə fə:st. ai hæv bi:n pleɪst in ðə kɔrɪs'pɒndəns dɪ'pɑ:t-mənt, ənd ju: kən ʌndə'stænd ðət ai felt ə rɑ:ðər ɪm'pɔ:tənt pə:sən, hwen ðeə wəz ə letər in mai oun læŋgwidʒ tu ɑ:nsə ɔ:l'redi ɔn mai sekənd dei ət ði ɔfɪs. bət ai dɪdnt fɪ:l hæf sou ɪm'pɔ:tənt hwen ai faʊnd ðət ai hæd tu ɑ:sk ə hʌndrəd streɪndʒ kwɛstʃənz in ði ʌðə dɪ'pɑ:tmənts in ɔ:də tə gel ðə raɪl ɪnfə'meɪʃən ə'baut ðə mætər in mai letə — bi'kɔz ai dɪd nɒt nou ði ɪŋglɪʃ wə:dz. pə'hæps ju: wɪl bi: sou kaɪnd əz tə kɔ:l mai sistər ɔn ðə telɪfəʊn ənd ɑ:sk hæ: tə send mi: səm lɪnɪn. fɪ: wɪl faɪnd ɔ:l mai ʃɪŋz in ðə ɪfest əv drɔ:əz in mai ru:m. mai mʌðər ɪz in ðə kʌntri ɔn hɒlɪdi, ju: nou, ənd ai daʊnt nou huweðə mai sistər ɪz ət haʊm ɔ: steɪɪŋ wɪð ə gə:l frend, əz fɪ: ɔ:fn dʌz. bət ju: meɪ kɔ:l hæ:r ət ði ɔfɪs huweðə fɪ: wə:ks.

pli:z rɪ'membə mi: tə braʊn ənd mɪstə mɪlə.

jɔ:z sɪn'siəli,

stɔ:m

A FOOTBALL MATCH

One day in September, when the football season had wan dei in səp'tembə, hwen ðə futbɔ:l si:zn həd begun, Marshall asked Storm if he would like to go bɪ'ɡʌn, mɑ:fəl ɑ:skt stɔ:m if hi: wəd laɪk tə ɡoʊ to a football match with him. "Are you doing anything tu ə futbɔ:l mætʃ wið him. "ɑ: ju: du:ɪŋ enɪθɪŋ else next Saturday, or is that day convenient to you?" els nekst sætədi, ɔ:r ɪz ðæt dei kən'vi:njənt tu ju:?"

Storm: "No, I have nothing else on, so that Saturday stɔ:m: "nou, aɪ həv nəθɪŋ els ɔn, sou ðæt sætədi afternoon will be quite convenient to me. I shall be ɑ:ftə'nu:n wɪl bi: kwaɪt kən'vi:njənt tu mi:. aɪ ʃəl bi:

very pleased to go to the match with you. I wonder veri pli:zd tə ɡoʊ tə ðə mætʃ wið ju:. aɪ wʌndər if the kind of football we are going to see is the same ɪf ðə kaɪnd əv futbɔ:l wi: ɑ: ɡoʊɪŋ tə si: ɪz ðə seɪm kind as we have at home, for I know that you have two kaɪnd əz wi: həv ət haʊm, fər aɪ nəʊ ðæt ju: həv tu:

kinds of football in England." Marshall: "Yes, we have kaɪndz əv futbɔ:l ɪn ɪŋɡlənd." mɑ:fəl: "jes, wi: həv two kinds of football. The game we are going to see tu: kaɪndz əv futbɔ:l. ðə ɡeɪm wi: ɑ: ɡoʊɪŋ tə si:

on Saturday is the one you know, so you will not have ɔn sætədi ɪz ðə wʌn ju: nəʊ, sou ju: wɪl nɒt həv have nothing else on = have nothing else to do

kind = sort

Rugby football any difficulty in following it. The other kind is called eni difikælti in folouɪŋ it. ði ʌðə kaɪnd ɪz kɔːld Rugby after the famous school where it was first rʌɡbi ɑːftə ðə feɪməs skuːl hwɛər ɪt wəz fəːst played." Storm: "I have never seen any Rugby footpleɪd." stɔːm: "aɪ hæv nevə siːn eni rʌɡbi futball." "Then you would not understand much of it, bɔːl." "ðen juː wəd nɒt ʌndə'stænd mʌtʃ əv ɪt, for the rules of the game are quite different from those fɔː ðə ruːlz əv ðə geɪm ɑː kwaɪt dɪfrənt frəm ðəʊz of the kind of football you know. There are fifteen əv ðə kaɪnd əv futbɔːl juː nou. ðeə 'fɪftiːn players; they may carry the ball in their hands if they pleɪəzː ðeɪ meɪ kæri ðə bɔːl ɪn ðeə hændz ɪf ðeɪ like; and the ball itself is not round."

laɪk; ənd ðə bɔːl ɪt'self ɪz nɒt raʊnd."

"I am very surprised," Storm replied; "I have never
"aɪ əm veri sə'praɪzd," stɔːm ri'plaɪd; "aɪ hæv nevə heard how it is played, but from what you say, I under-hɜːd haʊ ɪt ɪz pleɪd, bʌt frəm hwɒt juː seɪ, aɪ ʌndəstand that the rules of the game must be very different 'stænd ðæt ðə ruːlz əv ðə geɪm mʌst biː veri dɪfrənt from the rules of the kind of football that is played in frəm ðə ruːlz əv ðə kaɪnd əv futbɔːl ðæt ɪz pleɪd ɪn my country. I don't see how it is possible to kick a ball maɪ kʌntri. aɪ daʊnt siː haʊ ɪt ɪz pɒsəbl tə kɪk ə bɔːl straight if it's not round. I'm sure it must be much streɪt ɪf ɪts nɒt raʊnd. aɪm suər ɪt mʌst biː mʌtʃ more difficult to kick the ball to the right man." "Well!

mɔ: difikəlt tə kik ðə bɔ:l tə ðə rait mæn." "wel!

wait till some other time, and you'll see for yourself weɪt tɪl sʌm ʌðə taɪm, ənd ju:l si: fə ʃɔ:'self how it is done."

haʊ ɪt ɪz dʌn."

Saturday had come, and Marshall and Storm were on sætədi həd kʌm, ənd mɑ:ʃəl ənd stɔ:m wə:r ɔn their way to the match. They went by bus to the ðeə wei tə ðə mætʃ, ðei went baɪ bʌs tə ðə nearest Underground station. As it was rather late, nɪərist ʌndəgraʊnd steɪʃən. əz ɪt wəz rɑ:ðə leɪt, they jumped on a bus after it had started moving.

ðei dʒʌmpt ɔn ə bʌs ɑ:ftər ɪt həd stɑ:tɪd mu:vɪŋ.

People in London often jump on and off the buses pi:pl ɪn lʌndən ɔ:fən dʒʌmp ɔn ənd ɔ:f ðə bʌsɪz while they are moving, in order to save time. Having hwaɪl ðei ɑ: mu:vɪŋ, ɪn ɔ:də tə seɪv taɪm. hævɪŋ arrived at the Underground station, they went down to ə'raɪvd ət ði ʌndəgraʊnd steɪʃən, ðei went daʊn tə the platform. Storm: "It's quite a long way down to ðə plʌtfo:m. stɔ:m: "ɪts kwaɪt ə lɔŋ wei daʊn tə the platform; it must be very deep under the ground."

ðə plʌtfo:m; ɪt mʌst bi: veri di:p ʌndə ðə graʊnd."

Marshall told him that some lines of the Underground mɑ:ʃəl təʊld hɪm ðæt sʌm laɪnz əv ði ʌndəgraʊnd railways are only just under the ground, but that he reɪlweɪz ɑ:r ɔʊnli dʒʌst ʌndə ðə graʊnd, bʌt ðæt hi:

behind = at the back of was right in saying that this line was very far down, wəz raɪt ɪn seɪɪŋ ðæt ðɪs laɪn wəz veri faː daʊn, and he added that it was the deepest in London. The ænd hiː ædɪd ðæt ɪt wəz ðə diːpest ɪn lʌndən. ðə train came into the station, and the doors opened. There treɪn keɪm ɪntə ðə steɪʃən, ænd ðə dɔːz ɒpənd. ðeə were so many people just behind the two friends that wəː sɒu meni piːpl dʒʌst bɪ'hænd ðə tuː frendz ðæt it was hardly necessary for them to do anything to ɪt wəz haːdli nesɪsəri fɔː ðəm tə duː enɪθɪŋ tə get into the carriage; they were pushed into it by the get ɪntə ðə kærɪdʒ; ðeɪ wəː pʊʃt ɪntu ɪt baɪ ðə people behind them; but many of those who were piːpl bɪ'hænd ðəm; bət meni ɔv ðəʊz huː wəː standing behind them did not get into the carriage, stændɪŋ bɪ'hænd ðəm dɪd nɒt get ɪntə ðə kærɪdʒ, because there was no more room, and then the doors bɪ'kɔz ðeə wəz nəʊ mɔː ruːm, ænd ðen ðə dɔːz closed.

kləʊzd.

“People don’t usually push so much as they did on “piːpl daʊnt juːʒuəli pʊʃ sɒu mʌtʃ əz ðeɪ dɪd ɒn this platform,” said Storm; but Marshall only laughed, ðɪs plʌtfɔːm,” sed stɔːm; bət mɑːʃəl ɒnli lɑːft, saying, “Remember that you are going to a football seɪɪŋ, “rɪ'membə ðæt juː ɑː ɡoʊɪŋ tu ə fʊtbɔːl match. We are interested in many different games in mætʃ. wiː ɑːr ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn meni dɪfrənt geɪmz ɪn this country, but in the eyes of most English people ðis kʌntri, bʌt in ði aɪz əv mʌst ɪŋɡlɪʃ pi:pl football is the best game." Storm: "I noticed that the fʊtbɔ:l ɪz ðə best geɪm." stɔ:m: "aɪ nəʊtɪst ðæt ðə doors opened and closed of themselves. How long have dɔ:z ɒpənd ənd kləʊzd əv ðəm'selvz. haʊ lɔŋ hæv you had doors which open and close automatically?" ju: hæd dɔ:z hʍɪtʃ ɒpən ənd kləʊz ɔ:tə'mætɪkəlɪ?"

"I can't tell you how long we have had them, but you
"aɪ kɑ:nt tel ju: haʊ lɔŋ wi: hæv hæd ðəm, bʌt ju:

know that during the last fifty years so many inventions nəʊ ðæt dʒuəriŋ ðə la:st fɪfti jɪəz sɒ mæni ɪn'venʃənz have been made which save us much time and money, hæv bi:n meɪd hʍɪtʃ seɪv ʌs mʌtʃ taɪm ənd mʌni, as for instance doors which work automatically. To the əz fɜːr ɪnstəns dɔ:z hʍɪtʃ wɜ:k ɔ:tə'mætɪkəlɪ. tə ði Underground this invention is very useful. It is no ʌndəgraʊnd ðɪs ɪn'venʃən ɪz veri ju:sfʊl. ɪt ɪz nəʊ longer necessary to have two or three men to shut lɔŋɡə nesɪsəri tə hæv tu: ə ˈpri: men tə ʃʌt the doors of the trains, for now they are all shut by ðə dɔ:z əv ðə treɪnz, fɜː nəʊ ðeɪ ɑ:r ɔ:l ʃʌt baɪ one man."

wʌn mæn."

Marshall told Storm that they were going to see the mɑ:ʃəl təʊld stɔ:m ðæt ðeɪ wə: ɡəʊɪŋ tə si: ðə famous Arsenal football club, which is one of the most feɪməs ɑ:sɪnl fʊtbɔ:l klʌb, hʍɪtʃ ɪz wʌn əv ðə mʌst shut the door = close the door

He shuts, he shut, he has shut [ʃʌts, ʃʌt, ʃʌt].

Chapter Forty-Five (45).

by reason of its many good players = because it has so many good players

Arsenal = the Arsenal players

He beats, he beat, he has beaten [bi:ts, bi:t, bi:tn].

He wins, he won, he has won [winz, wʌn, wʌn].

seldom = very few times

rush = run with great speed

famous clubs in the world by reason of its many good feimas klabz in ðə wə:ld bai ri:zn əv its meni gud players. Storm had once seen Arsenal at home, where pleiaʒ. stɔ:m həd wʌns si:n ə:sɪnl at haʊm, hʊə they had beaten his own country by 4—1.

ðei həd bi:tn his oun kʌntri bai fɔ: tə wʌn.

Marshall: "That is not strange, because they have ma:fəl: "ðæt iz nɒt streɪndʒ, bi'kʌz ðei həv nearly always won when playing on the Continent.

niəli ɔ:lweɪz wʌn hʌwen pleɪɪŋ ɒn ðə kɒntɪnənt.

It is very seldom that a foreign club is able to beat ɪt iz veri seldəm ðæt ə fɔ:ɪn klʌb iz eɪbl tə bi:t them. I expect that they will win this afternoon, too,

ðəm. aɪ ɪks'pekt ðæt ðei wɪl wɪn ðɪs ɑ:ftə'nu:n, tu:, as they are playing so well this year."

əz ðei ɑ: pleɪɪŋ sʊ wel ðɪs jɪə."

A few minutes later the train stopped, and the people ə fju: mɪnɪts leɪtə ðə treɪn stɒpt, and ðə pi:pl rushed out of the train to get up to the street as quickly rʌft aʊt əv ðə treɪn tə get ʌp tə ðə stri:t əz kwɪkli as possible. Storm had never seen people rush about əz pɒsəbl. stɔ:m həd nevə si:n pi:pl rʌʃ ə'baʊt so much as they do in London, especially in the City sʊ mʌtʃ əz ðei du: ɪn lʌndən, ɪs'peʃəli ɪn ðə sɪti and when going to games of some kind. While they and hʌwen ɡəʊɪŋ tə ɡeɪmz əv sʌm kaɪnd. hwaɪl ðei were waiting for the game to start, Marshall told Storm wə: weɪtɪŋ fə ðə ɡeɪm tə stɑ:t, ma:fəl təʊld stɔ:m something about the English football clubs: "In the sʌmpɪŋ ə'baʊt ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ fʊtbɔ:l klʌbz: "in ðə best known football clubs in England the players are best noun fʊtbɔ:l klʌbz in ɪŋɡlənd ðə pleɪəz a:

professionals, which means that football is their work, prə'fesənəlz, hwiʃ mi:nz ðæt fʊtbɔ:l ɪz ðə wɜ:k, not only a game that gives them pleasure. As it is nɒt ɒnli ə geɪm ðæt gɪvz ðəm pleʒə. əz ɪt ɪz necessary for a professional football player to be able nesəsəri fə ə prə'fesənəl fʊtbɔ:l pleɪə tə bi: eɪbl to run very fast, he must not only have good legs, but tə rʌn veri fa:st, hi: mʌst nɒt ɒnli hæv gud legz, bʌt also very good lungs. It is also very important to have ɔ:lsoʊ veri gud lʌŋz. ɪt ɪz ɔ:lsoʊ veri ɪm'pɔ:tənt tə hæv a strong heart. Without especially good lungs and a a strɒŋ ha:t. wɪð'aʊt ɪs'peʃəli gud lʌŋz ənd ə strong heart, a man will not be able to last very long strɒŋ ha:t, ə mæn wɪl nɒt bi: eɪbl tə 'la:st veri lɒŋ as a professional. These are two of the most important əz ə prə'fesənəl. ði:z a: tu: əv ðə maʊst ɪm'pɔ:tənt things required of a professional, but, besides, he has þɪŋz rɪ'kwaɪəd əv ə prə'fesənəl, bʌt, bɪ'saɪdz, hi: hæz to be in very good health, for if he has not got that, tə bi: ɪn veri gud helθ, fə ɪf hi: hæz nɒt ɡɒt ðæt, he cannot play football. A professional must, therefore,

hi: kənɒt pleɪ fʊtbɔ:l. ə prə'fesənəl mʌst, ðəfɔ:, give much attention to his health. These players are ɡɪv mʌʃ ə'tenʃən tə hɪz helθ. ði:z pleɪəz a:

lungs

heart

to last = to continue to be in good health = not to be ill

give attention to = attend to

nearly always thinking of their health, giving it even niəli ɔ:lweɪs ʔiŋkiŋ əv ðə helθ. gi:vɪŋ it i:vən more attention than they give to their practice in playing mɔ:r ə'tenʃən ðən ðei gi:v tə ðə præk'tis in pleɪɪŋ football or their exercise in running, jumping, kicking, futbɔ:l ɔ: ðəər eksəsaɪz in rʌniŋ. dʒʌmpiŋ, ki:kiŋ.

etc. Many of them smoke and drink very little. Just etʃ. meni ðə ðəm smouk ənd driŋk veri littl. dʒʌst as the ladies at Hollywood are proud of their legs, so, əz ðə leɪdɪz ət hɒliwud ɑ: praud əv ðə legz, sɒ, too, are professionals. The muscles of their legs are tu:, ɑ: prə'feʃənəlz. ðə mʌslz əv ðə legz ɑ:

quite hard. They take exercise in running, kicking, kwaɪt ha:d. ðei teɪk eksəsaɪz in rʌniŋ, ki:kiŋ, and jumping every day, and this makes the muscles ənd dʒʌmpiŋ evri dei. ənd ðis meɪks ðə mʌslz of their legs hard.”

əv ðə legz ha:d.”

Storm and Marshall had been waiting for the game to stɔ:m ənd mɑ:fəl həd bi:n weɪtɪŋ fə ðə geɪm tə start, and now the whistle was blown. Storm noticed sta:t, ənd naʊ ðə hwɪsl wəz blɒn. stɔ:m nəʊtɪst that the grass was not particularly good, and in some ðæt ðə grɑ:s wəz nɒt pə'tɪkjʊləli gud, ənd in sʌm places he was even able to see the earth itself under pleɪsɪz hi: wəz i:vən eɪbl tə si: ði ə:p ɪt'self ʌndə the grass. “Where I play football at home, you can ðə grɑ:s. “hweər ai pleɪ futbɔ:l ət haʊm, ju: kən see nothing but grass," he told Marshall. "You would si: nʌʃɪŋ bət grɑ:s." hi: tould mɑ:ʃəl. "ju: wəd not find any places where the earth might be seen."

nɒt faɪnd enɪ pleɪsɪz hɜwə ði ə:p məɪt bi: si:n."

Storm and Marshall soon saw that the Arsenal players stɔ:m and mɑ:ʃəl su:n sɔ: ðæt ði ɑ:sɪnl pleɪəz were much stronger than the players of the other club. wə: mʌʃ strɔŋgə ðən ðə pleɪəz əv ði ʌðə klʌb.

Every time the ball was kicked over the white line at evri taɪm ðə bɔ:l wəz kɪkt oʊvə ðə hwaɪt laɪn ət the side by one club, the whistle was blown, and the ðə saɪd baɪ wʌn klʌb, ðə hwaɪsl wəz bləʊn, and ðə play stopped, until the other club had taken the ball pleɪ stɒpt, ʌntɪl ði ʌðə klʌb həd teɪkən ðə bɔ:l and thrown it in again. Storm had very seldom seen and θrəʊn ɪt ɪn ə'geɪn. stɔ:m həd vɛrɪ seldəm si:n

the players in a match throw the ball in so many times. ðə pleɪəz ɪn ə mætʃ θrəʊ ðə bɔ:l ɪn səʊ mæni taɪmz.

The Arsenal players were playing against the wind, ði ɑ:sɪnl pleɪəz wə: pleɪɪŋ ə'geɪnst ðə wɪnd, but yet the first half of the match finished 2—1 in bət jet ðə fɜ:st hɑ:f əv ðə mætʃ fɪnɪʃt tu: wʌn ɪn favour of Arsenal. In the second half of the game they feɪvər əv ɑ:sɪnl. ɪn ðə sekənd hɑ:f əv ðə geɪm ðeɪ had the advantage of the wind, and with the wind behind həd ði əd'vɑ:ntɪdʒ əv ðə wɪnd, and wɪð ðə wɪnd bɪ'hænd them they finished the match 5—1 in their favour.

ðəm ðeɪ fɪnɪʃt ðə mætʃ faɪv wʌn ɪn ðeə feɪvər.

He throws, he threw, he has thrown [θrəʊz, θru: θrəʊn].

favour (here) =
 advantage

sport = swimming, riding, hunting,
fishing, etc.

they've = they have to their credit = in their favour

A large number of men were present either to take ə la:dʒ nʌmbə əv men wə: prɛznt aɪðə tə teɪk photographs or to write reports of the match for the fəʊtəgrɑ:fz ɔ: tə raɪt rɪ'pɔ:ts əv ðə mætʃ fə ðə newspapers, which always bring long reports of all that nju:sp'eɪpəz, hʊwɪʃ ɔ:lweɪz brɪŋ lɒŋ rɪ'pɔ:ts əv ɔ:l ðət has taken place in the world of sport. həz teɪkn pleɪs ɪn ðə wɜ:ld əv spɔ:t.

There had been about 50,000 people at the match, ðeə həd bi:n ə'baʊt fɪftɪ haʊzənd pi:pl at ðə mætʃ, and when the two friends left the place, it was almost ænd hwen ðə tu: frɛndz left ðə pleɪs, ɪt wəz ə:lmoʊst impossible to take more than one short step at a time. ɪm'pɒsəbl tə teɪk mɔ: ðən wʌn ʃɔ:t step at ə taɪm.

"It is rather tiring to have to take such small ladies'
"ɪt ɪz rɑ:ðə taɪərɪŋ tə hæv tə teɪk sʌʃ smɔ:l leɪdɪz steps," said Marshall, laughing. Storm: "How many steps," sed mɑ:ʃəl, lɑ:fɪŋ. stɔ:m: "hau meni matches have Arsenal played this season?" Marshall: mætʃɪz hæv a:sɪnl pleɪd ðɪs si:zn?" mɑ:ʃəl:

"Counting the one to-day, they've played six times, but
"kaʊntɪŋ ðə wʌn tə'deɪ, ðeɪv pleɪd sɪks taɪmz, bʌt once they didn't win, so that there are five matches wʌnz ðeɪ dɪdn't wɪn, sɔʊ ðæt ðeə faɪv mætʃɪz to their credit. I remember that some years ago they tə ðeə kredɪt. ɪ rɪ'membə ðæt sʌm jɪəz ə'gəʊ ðeɪ played eighteen matches on the Continent and came pleɪd 'eɪ'ti:n mætʃɪz ɔn ðə kɒntɪnənt ænd keɪm back with all eighteen to their credit."

bæk wið ɔ:l 'eɪ'ti:n tə ðeə kredit."

They continued to discuss football, and during the ðei kən'tinju:d tə dis'kʌs futbɔ:l, ənd djuəriŋ ðə discussion Storm asked how long football had been dis'kʌʃən stɔ:m ɑ:skt hau lɔŋ futbɔ:l həd bi:n played in England. "It has been played in some form pleid in ɪŋɡlənd. "it hæz bi:n pleid in sʌm fɔ:m or other for hundreds of years, but it has only been ɔ:r əðə fə hʌndrədz əv jɪəz, bət it hæz ounli bi:n played in its present form for about a hundred years."

pleid in its preznt fɔ:m fər ə'baut ə hʌndrəd jɪəz."

When they reached the Underground station, they had hævn ðei ri:tʃt ði ʌndəgraʊnd steɪʃən, ðei həd not yet finished their discussion of football. Marshall nɒt jet fɪnɪʃt ðeə dis'kʌʃən əv futbɔ:l. mɑ:ʃəl was telling Storm about the most important match of wəz telɪŋ stɔ:m ə'baut ðə maʊst ɪm'pɔ:tənt mætʃ əv the year, the one between England and Scotland. "The ðə jɪə, ðə wʌn bɪ'twi:n ɪŋɡlənd ənd skɒtlənd. "ðə number of people who go to a match like that is very nʌmbər əv pi:pl hu: ɡoʊ tu ə mætʃ laɪk ðæt ɪz veri great. One year there were 150,000 ɡreɪt. wʌn jɪə ðeə wə: wʌn hʌndrəd ənd fɪfti haʊzənd present in Glasgow. It's not always the country that preznt in ɡlɑ:sgəʊ. ɪts nɒt ɔ:lweɪz ðə kʌntri ðət plays best that wins. The players know that the eyes pleɪz best ðæt wɪnz. ðə pleɪəz nəʊ ðət ði aɪz of 150,000 people are upon them, əv wʌn haʊdrəd ænd fɪfti ˈhaʊzənd piːpl aːr əˈpɒn ðəm, and very often it gets on their nerves; it makes them ænd veri ɔːfn ɪt ɡets ɒn ðeə nəːvz; ɪt meɪks ðəm nervous. This means that it's often the players who nəːvəs. ðɪs miːnz ðæt ɪts ɔːfn ðə pleɪəz huː have the best nerves that win. Besides the match with hæv ðə best nəːvz ðæt wɪn. bɪˈsaɪdz ðə mætʃ wɪð Scotland, we play many international matches every skɒtlənd, wiː pleɪ menɪ ɪntəˈnæʃənəl mætʃɪz evri year, for example against France and Holland. Such jɪə, fər ɪɡˈzɑːmpl əˈɡeɪnst fraːns ænd hɒlənd. sʌtʃ matches are called international matches, because mætʃɪz aː kɔːld ɪntəˈnæʃənəl mætʃɪz, biˈkɔːz players of different nations take part in them. I think pleɪəz əv dɪfrənt neɪʃənz teɪk pɑːt ɪn ðəm. aɪ θɪŋk that these international matches in the world of sport ðæt ðiːz ɪntəˈnæʃənəl mætʃɪz ɪn ðə wɜːld əv spɔːt are of great importance in helping the different nations aːr əv greɪt ɪmˈpɔːtəns ɪn helˈpɪŋ ðə dɪfrənt neɪʃənz of the world to get a better understanding of each əv ðə wɜːld tə ɡet ə betər ʌndəˈstændɪŋ əv ɪtʃ other.”

 ʌðə.”

EXERCISE A.

Marshall asked if it would be — to Storm to go to a football — on the following Saturday. In England they have a — of football called —, which has other — than the usual kind of football. The players — a ball which is not —. Marshall and Storm were rather late and — on a bus to be in time for their train. The platform was — under the ground. The two friends were — into the train by the people — them. One of the — which have been made during the last fifty years, is doors that open and — —. One of the most famous football — is Arsenal. It has — many matches, and it is very — that it is — by other clubs on the Continent. When the train stopped, the people — up to the street. Two of the most important things required of a — football player are to have good — and a strong —. He must also give very much — to his —. The — of his legs are very hard. When the — was blown, the play started. In some places Storm could see the — under the grass. When the ball was kicked out by one club, it was — in again by the other. The — finished in — of Arsenal, and now the club had five matches to its —. Many men had been present to write — for the newspapers, which write about all that takes place in the world of —. When the two friends left the place, they could only take one — at a time. They continued their — of football, which game has been played in England in some — or other for hundreds of years. In the — matches it is often the players with the best — that win.

WORDS:

kick
round
jump deep push convenient
match
kind rule behind invention shut automatically club win won seldom beat beaten rush professional lung
heart attention health muscle whistle earth throw threw thrown game favour credit report sport step discussion

form international nerve understanding
count
last

EXERCISE B.

Write about a game you are interested in. Do you take part in any sort of game yourself, or do you go to see matches between famous clubs? Tell us about some interesting facts connected with that game, in about 200—300 words. If you do not know all the right words, express what you mean in some other words.

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

In the sentences: This is a tree; I saw a man; he gave me a big apple, the word "a" is called the indefinite article [in'definit a:tɪkl].

The indefinite article, however, is not always "a". Sometimes it is "an". If the word which follows the indefinite article begins with a consonant [kɒnsənənt], that is, b, d, ð, ʃ, f, g, h, j, k, l, m, n, p, r, s, ʒ, t, v, w, the indefinite article is "a". Examples: John is a boy. We have a tall tree in the garden.

If the word which follows the indefinite article, begins, not with a consonant, but with a vowel [vauəl], that is, a:, æ, ai, au, ʌ, e, ei, ə, ɜ:, i, i:, ou, ɔi, u, u:, ʌə, ɔ:, ɔ:, it is "an". Examples: I found an apple. My father is an old man. I have got an idea, but: I have got a good idea.

Notice that it is the way in which the word is pronounced that matters. Sometimes the letter "u" is pronounced as [ju] or [ju:]: then the indefinite article "a" is used in front of it: A usual thing; Oxford has a university. Sometimes the letter “u” is pronounced [ʌ]; then the indefinite article is “an”: An uncle; an unusual thing.

If the indefinite article is used before a word which begins with an “h” which is not pronounced, as for example “hour”, it takes the form “an”, not “a”. Example: An hour has sixty minutes; but: A hospital needs money.

The word “the” we call the definite article [definit a:tɪkl]. In the sentences, “He took the book from the book-shelf in the sitting-room”, “the flowers in his garden are beautiful”, the word “the” is the definite article. The definite article is pronounced in two ways: [ðə] and [ði]. It is pronounced [ðə] in front of consonants, [ði] in front of vowels: The man [ðə mæn]; the old man [ði ould mæn]. Again it is the way the word is pronounced that matters: The uncle [ði ʌŋkl]; the United States [ðə ju:ˈnaitɪd steɪts]; the hour [ði aʊə]; the hospital [ðə hɒspɪtl].

Questions:

What are the two forms of the indefinite article in English? ... When do we use one, and when the other? ... What is the definite article? ... What are the two pronunciations of the definite article, and when are they used? ... Which sounds are called vowels, and which consonants? ...

A SUNDAY MORNING IN THE EAST END

Most people do not work on Sundays; they rest from moust pi:pl du: not wə:k ɒn sʌndɪz; ðeɪ rest frəm their usual work. In England, Sunday is therefore also ðeə ju:ʒʊəl wə:k. ɪn ɪŋɡlənd, sʌndɪ ɪz ðeəfɔ:r ɔ:lsoʊ called the day of rest. But Marshall — like many other kɔ:ld ðə ðeɪ əv rest. bət mɑ:ʃəl — laɪk meni ʌðər

Englishmen — was not the kind of man to rest very ɪŋɡlɪʃmən — wəz not ðə kaɪnd əv mæn tə rest veri on a Sunday = on Sundays

much on a Sunday. He often went into the country mʌtʃ ɒn ə sʌndɪ. hi: ɔ:fən went ɪntə ðə kʌntri or spent the day on the river; that was his kind of rest.

ɔ: spent ðə ðeɪ ɒn ðə rɪvə; ðæt wəz hɪz kaɪnd əv rest.

People in foreign countries think that Englishmen go pi:pl ɪn fɔrɪn kʌntriz þɪŋk ðæt ɪŋɡlɪʃmən ɡoʊ to church two or three times every Sunday, but as soon tə tʃə:tʃ tu: ə ɒri: taɪmz evri sʌndɪ, bət əz su:n

as they come to England, they make the discovery that, əz ðeɪ kʌm tu ɪŋɡlənd, ðeɪ meɪk ðə dɪs'kʌvəri ðæt, although many Englishmen go to church, the English ɔ:lðəʊ meni ɪŋɡlɪʃmən ɡoʊ tə tʃə:tʃ, ðɪ ɪŋɡlɪʃ as a nation spend their Sundays doing many other things əz ə neɪʃən spend ðeə sʌndɪz du:ɪŋ meni ʌðə þɪŋz as well = besides as well. Storm had been like other foreigners in this əz wəl. stɔ:m həd bi:n laɪk ʌðə fɔrɪnəz ɪn ðɪs matter and had made the same discovery: that Sunday mætə ənd həd meɪd ðə seɪm dɪs'kʌvəri: ðæt sʌndi in England is not what it is said to be.

ɪn ɪŋɡlənd ɪz nɒt hwət ɪt ɪz sed tə bi:.

One Sunday Marshall said to him, "I am sure that you wʌn sʌndi mɑ:fəl sed tə him, "aɪ əm fʊə ðæt ju:

have wondered what people do in London on Sundays.

həv wʌndəd hwət pi:pl du: ɪn lʌndən ɒn sʌndɪz.

If you have time, we could spend the whole day visiting ɪf ju: hæv taɪm, wi: kəd spend ðə haʊl dei vɪzɪtɪŋ different interesting places. I will not tell you in dɪfrənt ɪntrɪstɪŋ pleɪsɪz. aɪ wɪl nɒt tel ju: ɪn advance what we're going to see, but you may be sure əd'vɑ:ns hwət wɪə ɡəʊɪŋ tə si:, bʌt ju: meɪ bi: fʊə that there will be many surprises." "I should like ðæt ðəə wɪl bi: menɪ sə'praɪzɪz." "aɪ ʃəd laɪk nothing better," Storm told Marshall.

nʌθɪŋ betə," stɔ:m təʊld mɑ:fəl.

To begin with, they went right through the City by tə bɪ'ɡɪn wɪð, ðeɪ went raɪt θru: ðə sɪti baɪ bus until they reached the East End. Here they bʌs ʌn'tɪl ðeɪ ri:tʃt ði i:st end. hɪə ðeɪ got off the bus. Storm had been to that part of London ɡɒt ɔ:f ðə bʌs. stɔ:m həd bi:n tə ðæt pɑ:t əv lʌndən before and was very pleased to be able to recognize it.

bɪ'fɔ: ənd wəz veri pli:zd tə bi: eɪbl tə rekəɡnaɪz ɪt.

Marshall: "London is so big, not only to a foreigner, mɑ:fəl: "lʌndən ɪz səʊ bɪɡ, nɒt ɒnli tu ə fɒrɪnə, quite (here) =

well seller = a man who sells goods

but even to many Englishmen, so I can quite understand that it must be very pleasant to recognize a place where you have been before." Storm and Marshall now left the main street and entered a side street which was filled with thousands of people. Storm had seen a crowd of 50,000 at the football match, and the crowd of people in this street seemed to be nearly as big. Along both sides of the street there were sellers, who were crying at the top of their voices to make people buy their goods. Each seller seemed to be trying to cry louder than his fellow-seller. The street itself was rather narrow, and being so filled with people, it didn't leave room for traffic of any kind. It was very different from the main street which was very wide, with room enough for the great bus traffic veri waid, wið ru:m i'nʌf fə ðə greit bʌs træfik to East London. Most of the side streets in this part tu i:st lʌndən. mʌst əv ðə saɪd stri:tɪz ɪn ðɪs pɑ:t

of the town, however, were not very wide.

əv ðə taʊn, haʊ'eɪə, wə: nɒt veri waid.

Marshall: "A place of this kind, where people do their mɑ:fəl: "ə pleɪs əv ðɪs kaɪnd, hʌweə pi:pl du: ðeə buying not only in the shops, but in the street itself, baɪɪŋ nɒt ɒnli ɪn ðə ʃɒps, bʌt ɪn ðə stri:t ɪt'self.

we call a street market. All over the country we have wi: kɔ:l ə stri:t mɑ:kɪt. ɔ:l ɒvə ðə kʌntri wi: hæv street markets like this."

stri:t mɑ:kɪts laɪk ðɪs."

Many of the sellers had baskets on their arms, others meni əv ðə seləz hæd bɑ:skɪts ɒn ðeə ɑ:mz, ʌðəz were holding up their goods in both hands, so that wə: haʊldɪŋ ʌp ðeə gʊdz ɪn bəʊθ hændz, sʌ ðæt everybody might see what they had. If the goods were evrɪbɒdi maɪt si: hwɒt ðeɪ hæd. ɪf ðə gʊdz wə:

not held up in this way, the sellers would not do so nɒt held ʌp ɪn ðɪs weɪ, ðə seləz wʊd nɒt du: sʌ much business. Storm and Marshall looked into many mʌʃ bɪznɪs. stɔ:m ənd mɑ:fəl lʊkt ɪntə meni of the baskets, sometimes asking the prices of the goods.

əv ðə bɑ:skɪts, sʌmtaɪnz ɑ:skɪŋ ðə praɪsɪz əv ðə gʊdz.

Storm heard that the prices were very low, but Mar-stɔ:m hæd ðæt ðə praɪsɪz wə: veri laʊ, bʌt mɑ:-

wide = broad market

basket

to hold up = to lift

He holds, he held, he has held [houldz, held, held].

quality = value

shall, on seeing his surprise, told him that the quality fəl, ɔn si:ɪŋ hɪz sə'praɪz, təʊld hɪm, ðət ðə kwoʊlɪti of the goods was just as low. "You can't expect to get əv ðə guːdz wəz dʒʌst əz laʊ. "ju: kɑ:nt ɪks'pekt tə get goods of a high quality at such low prices," he added. guːdz əv ə haɪ kwoʊlɪti ət sʌtʃ laʊ praɪsɪz," hɪ: ədɪd.

When passing a woman with a basket of apples, they hævn pa:sɪŋ ə wʊmən wɪð ə bɑ:skɪt əv æplz, ðeɪ noticed that she was rubbing the apples hard to make nəʊtɪst ðət ʃi: wəz rʌbɪŋ ðɪ æplz hɑ:d tə meɪk them shine. They would have quite liked some apples, ðəm ʃaɪn. ðeɪ wʊd hæv kwaɪt laɪkt səm æplz, but after seeing the apples rubbed on her dirty dress, bət ɑ:ftə si:ɪŋ ðɪ æplz rʌbd ɔn hɜ: dɜ:ti dres, they passed on without buying any. All the articles ðeɪ pa:st ɔn wɪð'aʊt baɪɪŋ ɛni. ɔ:l ðɪ ɑ:tɪklz poor = bad

they saw were cheap, but their quality was so poor ðeɪ sɔ: wə: tʃi:p, bət ðeə kwoʊlɪti wəz sʊ pʊə that they were not worth the money. Marshall said ðət ðeɪ wə: nɒt wə:p ðə mʌni. mɑ:fəl sed that although the prices were low, he had seldom ðət ɔ:l'ðəʊ ðə praɪsɪz wə: laʊ, hɪ: həd səldəm found anything worth buying when he went to street faʊnd ɛnɪθɪŋ wə:p baɪɪŋ hævn hɪ: wɛnt tə stri:t markets.

mɑ:kɪts.

increase = get bigger

As they walked along, Storm's surprise increased with əz ðeɪ wɔ:kt ə'lɔŋ, stɔ:mz sə'praɪz ɪn'kri:st wɪð each step they took. At last he turned to Marshall, i:tf step ðei tuk. at la:st hi: tænd tə mɑ:fəl, and said, "Now I am beginning to discover that there ænd sed, "nau ai əm bi'giniŋ tə dis'kʌvə ðæt ðeə are more sides to the English nation than I had thought; mɔ: saidz tə ði iŋglɪʃ neɪʃən ðæn ai həd þɔ:t;

but I have also discovered that it is necessary to come bət ai həv ɔ:lsou dis'kʌvəd ðæt it iz nesɪsəri tə kʌm discover = find

out

to England in order to find out about them. I am sure tu iŋglənd in ɔ:də tə faɪnd aʊt ə'baʊt ðəm. ai əm suə that when I return to my own country and tell people ðæt hwen ai ri'tə:n tə mai oun kʌntri ænd tel pi:pl the facts about the English, most of them will not ðə fæktz ə'baʊt ði iŋglɪʃ, moust əv ðəm wil nɒt believe me. If anybody had told me in advance that bi'li:v mi:. if enɪbɒdi həd təʊld mi: in əd'vɑ:ns ðæt anybody = any one

it was possible to buy goods in the streets of London it wəz pɒsəbl tə baɪ gu:dz in ðə stri:ts əv lʌndən on a Sunday morning, I should not have believed it ɒn ə sʌndi mɔ:nɪŋ, ai ʃəd nɒt həv bi'li:vð it myself." Marshall: "Well, I told you before we started maɪ'self." mɑ:fəl: "wel, ai təʊld ju: bi'fɔ: wi: stɑ:tɪd that you must prepare yourself for many surprises." ðæt ju: mʌst pri'peə jɔ:'self fə meni sə'praɪzɪz."

Storm: "And I thought I had prepared myself for stɔ:m: "ænd ai þɔ:t ai həd pri'peəd maɪ'self fə everything. But now I see that there is a surprise evriθɪŋ. bət nau ai si: ðæt ðəz ə sə'praɪz of course = it is understood every minute or two for which I have not been prepared." Marshall: "Of course I might have told you 'head." ma:ʃəl: "əv kɔ:s ai maɪt hæv təʊld ju:

all about our trip before we went out, but I thought ɔ:l ə'baʊt əʊə trɪp bɪ'fɔ: wi: wɛnt aʊt, bʌt ai θɔ:t

beforehand = in advance it would be still better to show you things without it wəd bi: stɪl bɛtə tə ʃəʊ ju: ʒɪŋz wɪð'aʊt telling you about them beforehand." Storm: "You telɪŋ ju: ə'baʊt ðəm bɪ'fɔ:hænd." stɔ:m: "ju:

are quite right! Of course it has been much more fun a: kwaɪt raɪt! əv kɔ:s ɪt hæz bi:n mʌʃ mɔ: fʌn for me in this way." fə mi: ɪn ðɪs weɪ."

surround = be on all sides of

Now and then they saw men standing on boxes, nau ənd ðen ðeɪ sɔ: mɛn stændɪŋ ɔn bɒksɪz, speaking, surrounded by people who were listening to spi:kɪŋ, sə'raʊndɪd baɪ pi:pl hu: wə: lɪsɪŋ tə them. Some of these men said such funny things that ðəm. sʌm əv ði:z mɛn sed sʌʃ fʌni ʒɪŋz ðət everybody laughed. Many people seemed to have come evrɪbɔ:di lɑ:ft. mɛni pi:pl si:md tə hæv kʌm to the street market, not in order to buy anything, but tə ðə stri:t mɑ:kɪt, nɒt ɪn ɔ:də tə baɪ enɪθɪŋ, bʌt only in order to enjoy themselves. When the sellers ɒnli ɪn ɔ:də tu ɪn'dʒɔɪ ðəm'selvz. hwen ðə seləz saw a possible customer, four or five of them would at sɔ: ə pɒsəbl kʌstəmə, fɔ:r ə faɪv əv ðəm wəd ət once surround him so that it was difficult for him to wʌns sə'raʊnd him sou ðæt it wəz difikəlt fə him tə get away.

get ə'wei.

Storm suddenly saw a strange sight, one of the strangest stɔ:m sʌdnli sɔ: ə streɪndʒ saɪt, wʌn əv ðə streɪndʒɪst sights he had ever seen, a monkey sitting on a man's saɪts hi: həd evə si:n, ə mʌŋki sɪtɪŋ ɒn ə mænz shoulder with the man's hat in its hand. The man was ʃouldə wɪð ðə mænz hæʔ in ɪts hænd. ðə mæn wəz not able to see, for he was blind. On his coat was a nɒt eɪbl tə si:, fə hi: wəz blaɪnd. ɒn hɪz kəʊt wəz ə piece of paper with the word 'blind', so that people pi:s əv peɪpə wɪð ðə wə:d 'blaɪnd, sou ðæt pi:pl might know that he could not see. The monkey was maɪt nəʊ ðæt hi: kʊd nɒt si:. ðə mʌŋki wəz holding out the blind man's hat, and many people put həʊldɪŋ aʊt ðə blaɪnd mænz hæʔ, ənd menɪ pi:pl put.. money into it. It seemed to like its work, and somemʌni ɪntu ɪt. ɪt si:md tə laɪk ɪts wə:k, ənd sʌmtimes it jumped from one shoulder of the man to the taɪmz ɪt dʒʌmpt frəm wʌn ʃouldə əv ðə mæn tə ði other.
ʌðə.

A little later, they discovered a man selling knives ə lɪtl leɪtə, ðeɪ dɪs'kʌvəd ə mæn selɪŋ naɪvz which were so cheap that Storm wanted to buy one;
hwi:tf wə: sou tʃi:p ðæt stɔ:m wɒntɪd tə baɪ wʌn:

but Marshall told him that if he wanted a sharp knife, bət ma:ʃəl təʊld him ðət if hi: wəntɪd ə ʃa:p naɪf.

that is, a knife that is really able to cut, he would ðæt ɪz, ə naɪf ðət ɪz riəli eɪbl tə, kʌt, hi: wəd have to go somewhere else for it, as it was impossible hæv tə ɡo səmhweər els fər ɪt, əz ɪt wəz ɪmˈpɒsəbl to get a sharp knife very cheap.

tə ɡet ə ʃa:p naɪf veri tʃi:p.

Marshall suddenly noticed that Storm was not there, ma:ʃəl sʌdnli nəʊtɪst ðət stɔ:m wəz nɒt ðeə, and he could not see him anywhere. Five minutes ænd hi: kʊd nɒt si: him enɪweə. faɪv mɪnɪts passed, and then Storm appeared again, returning round pɑ:st, ænd ðen stɔ:m əˈpiəd əˈɡeɪn, rɪˈtə:nɪŋ raʊnd the corner of a side street with a small parcel in his ðə kɔ:nər əv ə saɪd stri:t wɪð ə smɔ:l pɑ:sl ɪn hɪz hand. "It is always hard for me to find my way about hænd. "ɪt ɪz ə:lweɪz hɑ:d fə mi: tə faɪnd maɪ wei əˈbaʊt the streets of London, so when I saw a man selling maps ðə stri:ts əv lʌndən, sɔʊ hwɛn aɪ sɔ: ə mæn selɪŋ mæps of London which were both large and cheap, I bought əv lʌndən hwɪtʃ wə: bəʊθ la:dʒ ænd tʃi:p, aɪ bɔ:t one," Storm explained. "I was really very glad," said wʌn," stɔ:m ɪksˈpleɪnd. "aɪ wəz riəli veri ɡlæd," sed Marshall, "to see you appear once more. Although the ma:ʃəl, "tə si: ju: əˈpiə wʌnz mʊ:. əˈldʊn ðə parcel you have in your hand is very small, there seems pɑ:sl ju: hæv ɪn jɔ: hænd ɪz veri smɔ:l, ðeə si:mz parcel

hard = difficult

map

to be more in it than a map of London." "Perhaps," tə bi: mɔ:r in it ðən ə mæp əv lʌndən. "pə'hæps," said Storm, "I bought one or two other things at the sed stɔ:m, "ai bɔ:t wʌn ə tu: ʌðə ʃɪŋz ət ðə same time; who knows?" "I won't ask you to tell me seɪm taɪm: hu: nəʊz?" "ai wəʊnt ɑ:sk ju: tə tel mi:

what you have bought, of course. I only hope that you'll hwət ju: hæv bɔ:t, əv kɔ:s. ai ɔnli hoʊp ðət ju:l

not be sorry later on and regret that you bought it."
nɒt bi: sɔri leɪtə ɔn ənd ri'gret ðət ju: bɔ:t it."

"What I have bought," Storm replied, "is both of good
"hwət ai hæv bɔ:t," stɔ:m ri'plaid, "iz boʊp əv gud quality and cheap, so that I'm quite sure that I shan't kweɪlɪti ənd tʃi:p, səʊ ðət aɪm kweɪt suə ðət ai ʃɑ:nt regret it. Remember, Marshall," he said, laughing, ri'gret it. ri'membə, mɑ:fəl," hi: sed, lɑ:fiŋ,

"that the money came out of my pocket and not yours."
"ðət ðə mʌni keɪm aʊt əv maɪ pɒkɪt ənd nɒt jɔ:z."

"It is almost too hot to-day," said Marshall, "to enter "it iz ɔ:lməʊst tu: hɒt tə'deɪ," sed mɑ:fəl, "tu ɛntə into a discussion. I think it must be 90° (degrees) ɪntu ə dɪs'kʌʃən. ai ʃɪŋk ɪt mʌst bi: naɪntɪ di'ɡri:z

in the shade, so it is no wonder if we feel a little hot ɪn ðə ʃeɪd, səʊ ɪt ɪz nəʊ wʌndə ɪf wi: fi:l ə lɪtl hɒt here in the sun. I propose that we cross the street to hɪə ɪn ðə sʌn. ai prə'pəʊz ðət wi: krɒs ðə stri:t tə get into the shade on the other side of the street." get ɪntə ðə ʃeɪd ɔn ði ʌðə saɪd əv ðə stri:t."

shan't = shall not

ninety degrees Fahrenheit
[færənhaɪt] = 32.2° (thirty-two point two degrees) Celsius [sɛl'siəs]

WORDS:

market
wide crowd rest (verb)
rest recognize seller fellow-seller cry basket
hold held worth quality rub increase discovery discover prepare anybody beforehand believe surround sight shoulder blind sharp appear
parcel
map

EXERCISE A.

Storm made the — that the English do not — very much on Sundays, even if Sunday is called the day of —. When Marshall and Storm came to the East End, Storm was able to — the place. The street — are situated in streets that are not so — as the main streets. There were — of people listening to the — who were — at the top of their voices. Some of the sellers had — on their arms, while others were — up the goods in their hands. The goods are not always — the money, because the — is poor.

Marshall and Storm saw a woman — apples on her dirty dress. Storm's surprise — while they were walking along, because he — so many new things which he had not been — for. He said that if — had told him — that it was possible to buy goods in the streets of London on a Sunday morning, he would not have — it. Later they saw a man speaking from a box, — by people. Another — they saw was a monkey sitting on the — of a — man. Marshall was telling Storm that he could not buy — knives for next to nothing, but Storm was not there. He — five minutes later with a — in his hand. In the parcel was a — and other things, and Marshall said, "I hope you will not — that you bought them." The weather was very hot, 90 — in the —. Marshall said that of — he might have told Storm all about their trip beforehand.

EXERCISE B.

Answer these questions with full sentences:

What do you do before you go to your work? ... What do you have for breakfast? ... Where do you work, in town or in the country? ... What does your manager say if you are late in the morning? ... How many hours do you work a day? ... For how long have you had your present work? ... Are you interested in it, or would you like to try some other work? ... Are you more busy in the morning or in the afternoon? ... How do you like your manager? ...

regret degree shade of course as well
hard
plus
poor

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

Some words tell us how, when, or where something is done. Examples: slowly, easily, automatically, kindly, now, then, already, here, there. These words are called adverbs [advə:bz].

The adverbs that tell us how something is done are usually made by adding -ly to an adjective. Examples: He walked quickly to the door (quick + ly). They lived happily for many years (happy + ly). She was sitting comfortably in a big chair (comfortable + ly). Notice that 'y' at the end of an adjective is changed into 'i' before -ly is added, and that -le at the end of an adjective becomes -ly. — Adverbs that tell how, that is, in what way or manner [mə'nə] something is done, are called adverbs of manner.

+ = plus [p/ʌs]

The adverbs that tell us when or how often something takes place, are called adverbs of time. Now, then, already, soon, yesterday, to-day, to-morrow, are adverbs that tell us when something is done. Often, never, usually, always, sometimes, are some adverbs that say how often something takes place. Examples: It often rains in England. He is never at home.

Adverbs that tell us where something takes place are, for instance, somewhere, there, here, far, away. They are usually called adverbs of place.

The adverbs we have spoken of, so far, are adverbs that are used with verbs. You will also find some that are used with adjectives or with other adverbs to tell us how much. Here are some examples of adverbs used with adjectives: I am not quite ready. You are very naughty children. That is good enough for me. The coat is too big. This is not so difficult. And here are some examples of adverbs used with other adverbs: He spoke quite openly of what he had done. They walked very slowly. You don't come here often enough. It cannot be done too well ('well' is an adverb). We are not working so hard now ('hard' is an adverb here). These adverbs are called adverbs of degree.

Many adverbs may be used for making comparisons. When used in that way, 'more' and 'most' are put before the adverbs, for instance: He talked more quietly than ever before. Who ran most quickly?

Questions:

What different sorts of adverbs have you learned? ...
Can you find examples of the different sorts of adverbs in chapter 46? ...

A BUSY SUNDAY

Marshall explained to Storm that the so-called East ma:fəl iks'pleind tə stɔ:m ðət ðə soukɔ:ld i:st

End, where they were now, is part of East London.
end, hwɛə ðei wə: nau, iz pɑ:t əv i:st lʌndən.

"Most of the people in the East End are very poor,"
"moust əv ðə pi:pl in ði i:st end a: veri puə," he said, "and you will often find two families living hi: sed, "ənd ju: wil ɔ:fn faɪnd tu: fæmiliz livɪŋ together in the same flat or in a one-family house. tə'geðər in ðə seɪm flæt ɔ:r in ə wʌnfæmili haʊs.

These people live under very bad conditions, but the ði:z pi:pl liv ʌndə veri bæd kən'dɪʃənz, bət ðə poor in the large cities all over the world live under puə in ðə la:dʒ sitiz ɔ:l oʊvə ðə wɜ:ld liv ʌndə conditions just as bad, I think." kən'dɪʃənz dʒʌst əz bæd, aɪ þɪŋk."

To Storm's question if there were any stores in this tə stɔ:mz kwestʃən ɪf ðeə wə:r eni stɔ:z in ðɪs part of the town, Marshall answered, "You will not pɑ:t əv ðə taʊn, ma:fəl a:nsəd, "ju: wil nɒt find many stores in the East End; most of the shops faɪnd meni stɔ:z in ði i:st end; moust əv ðə ʃɒps here are rather small. You will notice that fruit is hiə a: rɑ:ðə smɔ:l. ju: wil nɒtɪs ðət fru:t ɪz store = a very large shop, selling all kinds of goods

store

cheap in the East End. I must remember to buy some tʃi:p in ði i:st end. ai məst ri'membə tə baɪ səm fruit for my mother, because the price here is much fru:t fə mai mʌðə. bi'kəz ðə praɪs hiə ɪz mʌtʃ lower than in our suburb." ləʊə ðən in ʌʊə sʌbə:b."

After having bought the fruit, Marshall said that there a:ftə hæviŋ bɔ:t ðə fru:t. mɑ:fəl sed ðət ðəə were two or three streets that he wished to show Storm.
wə: tu: ə ʒri: stri:ts ðət hi: wɪʃt tə ʃəʊ stɔ:m.

"They sell nothing but cats, dogs, birds, and other
"ðei sel nəθɪŋ bʌt kæts, dɔgz, bɜ:dz, ənd ʌðə domestic animals in those streets. We English love də'mestik ænɪməlz in ðəʊz stri:ts. wi: ɪŋɡlɪʃ lʌv domestic animals very much, and every Sunday morning də'mestik ænɪməlz vɛrɪ mʌtʃ, ənd evri sʌndi mɔ:nɪŋ large numbers of cats, dogs, and birds are sold in the la:dʒ nʌmbəz ɔf kæts, dɔgz, ənd bɜ:dz a: sɔld in ði

East End."

i:st end."

Before long they reached one of the streets that Marbɪ'fɔ: lɔŋ ðei ri:tʃt wʌn əv ðə stri:ts ðət mɑ:- shall had mentioned, and they saw that every third or ʃəl həd menʃənd, ənd ðei sɔ: ðət evri þɜ:d ə fourth person had bought a dog and had it on a chain.

fɔ:θ pɜ:sn həd bɔ:t ə dɔg ənd həd ɪt ɒn ə tʃeɪn.

Storm: "I am always sorry to see a man walking with stɔ:m: "ai əm ɔ:lweɪz sɔri tə si: ə mæn wɔ:kɪŋ wɪð on a chain = at the end of a chain his dog on a chain, but of course it is necessary for a hiz dɒg ɒn ə tʃeɪn, bət əv kɔ:s it ɪz nesɪsəri fər ə man who has just bought a dog to have it on a chain mæn hu: həz dʒʌst bɔ:t ə dɒg tə hæv it ɒn ə tʃeɪn at first every time he walks out with it, until he is ət fə:st evri taɪm hi: wɔ:ks aut wɪð it, ʌn'tɪl hi: ɪz sure that the dog knows its new home and will not ʃuə ðæt ðə dɒg nəʊz ɪts nju: haʊm ənd wɪl nɒt run away. After that he may let it run loose when rʌn ə'weɪ. a:ftə ðæt hi: meɪ let it rʌn lu:s həven he takes it out." Marshall: "I quite agree with you, hi: teɪks it out." mɑ:fəl: "aɪ kwaɪt ə'gri: wɪð ju:, but it is not always possible. In this busy part of the bət it ɪz nɒt ɔ:lweɪz pɒsəbl. ɪn ðɪs bɪzi pɑ:t əv ðə town, for example, you cannot let the dogs run loose, taʊn, fər ɪg'zɑ:mpl. ju: kænɒt let ðə dɒgz rʌn lu:s, for they would very quickly run into the middle of fə ðeɪ wəd veri kwɪkli rʌn ɪntə ðə mɪdl əv the street and, perhaps, get under a car or get run over, ðə stri:t ənd, pə'hæps, get ʌndə ə kɑ: ɔ: get rʌn oʊvə, as we say In several of the suburbs, however, it is əz weɪ seɪ. ɪn sevrəl əv ðə sʌbə:bz, haʊ'evə, it ɪz possible to let them go loose. Speaking of dogs, I don't pɒsəbl tə let ðəm ɡəʊ lu:s. spi:kɪŋ əv dɒgz, aɪ daʊnt like the way some kinds of dogs have part of their tails laɪk ðə weɪ sʌm kaɪndz əv dɒgz hæv pɑ:t əv ðeə teɪlz cut off just because it is thought beautiful by some of kʌt ɔ:f dʒʌst bɪ'kɔz it ɪz þɔ:t bju:təfʊl baɪ sʌm əv tail

He smells,
he smelt,
he has smelt [smelz, smelt,
smelt].

the so-called friends of dogs." Storm: "No, I also ðə soukɔ:ld frendz əv dɔgz." stɔ:m: "nou, ai ɔ:lso prefer them with their tails." pri'fə: ðəm wið ðeə teils."

The two friends now began walking along the street, ðə tu: frendz nau bi'gæn wɔ:kiŋ ə'lɔŋ ðə stri:t.

and soon their noses told them what was sold there, ænd su:n ðeə nouziz təuld ðəm hwɒt wəz səuld ðeə.

for they could smell the animals. Storm said that he fə ðei kəd smel ði æniməlz. stɔ:m sed ðət hi:

had smelt something like it when he went with his həd smelt sʌmpɪŋ laɪk ɪt hwɛn hi: wɛnt wið hɪz friends to the Zoo. Seeing some very beautiful birds frendz tə ðə zu:. si:ŋ sʌm veri bjutəfʊl bɔ:dz and cats in a shop, they went inside to have a better ænd kæts ɪn ə ʃɒp, ðei wɛnt ɪn'saɪd tə hæv ə betə look at them. They spent several minutes there playing lʊk ət ðəm. ðei spent severəl mɪnɪts ðeə pleɪɪŋ with a small cat, which jumped up on Storm's shoulder wið ə smɔ:l kæt, hwɪtʃ dʒʌmpt ʌp ɒn stɔ:mz ʃəʊldə as soon as they entered the shop, but at last Marshall əz su:n əz ðei ɛntəd ðə ʃɒp, bʌt ət la:st mɑ:ʃəl said, "We must leave now! There's still a lot more on sed, "wi: məst li:v naʊ! ðəz stɪl ə lɒt mɔ:r ɒn our programme for to-day, so we had better move on.

aʊə prəʊgræm fə tə'deɪ, sʊ wi: həd betə mu:v ɒn.

My real purpose in taking you out to-day was to show maɪ riəl pʊrps in teɪkɪŋ ju: aʊt tə'deɪ wəz tə ʃəʊ you the many different things we do on Sundays, and ju: ðə meni difrənt þɪŋz wi: du: ɔn sʌndɪz, and as it's my purpose to get through all of our programme əz ɪts maɪ pʌ:pas tə get ʒru: ɔ:l əv əʊə prəʊgræm before we return, we'll now go on to one of the shops bɪ'fɔ: wi: rɪ'tʌ:n, wi:l naʊ ɡoʊ ɔn tə wʌn əv ðə ʃɔps that sell beer and other strong drinks. A shop of this ðət sel biə and əðə strɔŋ drɪŋks. ə ʃɔp əv ðɪs kind is called a public house, or a pub for short, and kɑɪnd ɪz kɔ:ld ə pʌblik haʊs, ɔ:r ə pʌb fə ʃɔ:t, and in England we have so many of them that we say that ɪn ɪŋɡlənd wi: hæv sʊ meɪni əv ðəm ðət wi: seɪ ðət there is a pub on every street corner."

ðəz ə pʌb ɔn evri s'tri:t kɔ:nə."

In less than a minute they reached a public house.

ɪn les ðən ə mɪnɪt ðeɪ rɪ:tʃt ə pʌblik haʊs.

Storm was surprised to find that the shop was so full stɔ:m wəz sə'praɪzd tə faɪnd ðət ðə ʃɔp wəz sʊ ful of people drinking that many had to stand outside with əv pi:pl drɪŋkɪŋ ðət meɪni həd tə stænd aʊt'saɪd wɪð the glasses in their hands. Storm was all the more ðə ɡlɑ:sɪz ɪn ðeə hændz. stɔ:m wəz ɔ:l ðə mɔ:

all the more = so much more

surprised, because he had always thought that public sə'praɪzd, bɪ'kɔz hi: həd ɔ:lweɪz θɔ:t ðət pʌblik houses in England were closed on Sundays.

haʊzɪz ɪn ɪŋɡlənd wə: kləʊzd ɔn sʌndɪz.

A man that had had a little too much to drink, dropped ə mæn ðət həd həd ə lɪtl tu: mʌtʃ tə drɪŋk, drɒpt his glass, which was at once smashed to pieces. Another hiz gla:s, hwitʃ wəz ət wʌns smæft tə pi:siz. ə'nʌðə man, who had had far too much to drink, seemed to mæn, hu: həd həd fɑ: tu: mʌft tə drɪŋk, si:md tə like the noise, for he at once picked up his glass and laɪk ðə nɔɪz, fə hi: ət wʌns pɪkt ʌp hiz gla:s ənd smashed it, too. "I am afraid that you are getting one smæft ɪt, tu: "aɪ əm ə'freɪd ðæt ju: a: getɪŋ wʌn surprise after another," Marshall said; "but you are sə'praɪz a:ftər ə'nʌðə," mɑ:fəl sed; "bət ju: a: really seeing the East End on a Sunday morning."

riəli si:ɪŋ ði i:st end ɒn ə sʌndi mɔ:nɪŋ."

It was very difficult for the man to stand on his feet.
ɪt wəz veri dɪfɪkəlt fə ðə mæn tə stænd ɒn hiz fi:t.

Some of his friends tried to support him by holding his səm əv hiz frendz traɪd tə sə'pɔ:t hɪm baɪ haʊldɪŋ hiz arms, but although they supported him as well as they a:mz, bət ɔ:l'dəu ðeɪ sə'pɔ:tɪd hɪm əz wel əz ðeɪ could, he suddenly fell to the ground. "If that is a kʊd, hi: sʌdnli fel tə ðə graʊnd. "ɪf ðæt ɪz ə typical picture of an English public house, I'm sure tɪpɪkəl pɪktʃər əv ən ɪŋglɪʃ pʌblɪk haʊs, aɪm ʃʊə that people break many glasses in this way," said ðæt pi:pl breɪk meni gla:sɪz ɪn ðɪs weɪ," sed Storm. "You are right," Marshall replied, "thousands stɔ:m. "ju: a: raɪt," mɑ:fəl rɪ'plaɪd, "paʊzəndz of glasses must get broken every year. But this is not əv gla:sɪz mʌst get braʊkn evri jɪə. bət ðɪs ɪz nɒt

He breaks,
 he broke,
 he has broken [breɪks, braʊk, braʊkn].

a typical English pub; at least it is only typical of some ə tipikəl ɪŋɡlɪʃ pʌb; ət liːst ɪt ɪz ɔʊnli tipikəl əv sʌm pubs in the East End. But now, I think, we will leave pʌbz ɪn ði iːst end. bʌt naʊ, aɪ θɪŋk, ˈwiː wɪl liːv the East End, not because we've seen all that is to be ði iːst end, nɒt biˈkɔːz wiːv siːn ɔːl ðæt ɪz tə biː seen, but because our time is limited. I must say, Storm, siːn, bʌt biˈkɔːz ʌʊə taɪm ɪz lɪmɪtɪd. aɪ mʌst seɪ, stɔːm, that I find the East End one of the most interesting ðæt aɪ faɪnd ði iːst end wʌn əv ðə maʊst ɪntrɪstɪŋ parts of London.”

paːts əv lʌndən.”

“Yes, that may be so, but you would not like to exchange ˈjes, ðæt meɪ biː soʊ, bʌt juː wəd nɒt laɪk tu ɪksˈtʃeɪndʒ your own suburb for this place, would you? You would jɔːr ɔʊn sʌbʊrb fə ðɪs pleɪs, wʊd juː? juː wəd not exchange your house for a house in the East End nɒt ɪksˈtʃeɪndʒ jɔː haʊs fər ə haʊs ɪn ði iːst end with another family living in it. But you said that our wɪð əˈnʌðə fæmɪli ˈlɪvɪŋ ɪn ɪt. bʌt juː sed ðæt ʌʊə time was limited as our programme was so long. What taɪm wəz lɪmɪtɪd əz ʌʊə ˈprəʊɡræm wəz soʊ lɔːŋ. hwɒt are we going to do now?” Marshall replied, looking at ɑː wiː ɡoʊɪŋ tə duː naʊ?” mɑːʃəl rɪˈplaɪd, lʊkɪŋ ət his watch, that it was an hour or two past lunch-time, hɪz wɒtʃ, ðæt ɪt wəz ən aʊər ə tuː ˈpɑːst lʌnʃtaɪm, and that before he could think of doing anything else, ænd ðæt bɪˈfɔː hɪː kəd θɪŋk əv duːɪŋ enɪθɪŋ els, they must have some lunch and a little rest, and later ðei məst hæv səm lʌnf ənd ə litl rest, ənd leɪtə he would take Storm to church. "Without a visit to hi: wəd teɪk stɔ:m tə tʃə:tf. "wɪð'aʊt ə vɪzɪt tu a church," he told Storm, "I can't give you a really ə tʃə:tf," hi: təʊld stɔ:m. "aɪ kɑ:nt gɪv ju: ə riəli typical picture of a Sunday in London. Before the first tɪpɪkəl pɪktʃər əv ə sʌndi in lʌndən. bɪ'fɔ: ðə fə:st world war the English were a church-going nation, and wɜ:ld wɔ: ði ɪŋglɪʃ wə:r ə tʃə:tfɡoʊɪŋ neɪʃən, ənd they still are, even if, perhaps, fewer people go to church ðei stɪl ɑ:, i:vən ɪf, pə'hæps, fju:ə pi:pl ɡoʊ tə tʃə:tf

now. Most of those who go to church on Sundays, go naʊ. mɔ:st əv ðəʊz hu: ɡoʊ tə tʃə:tf ɔn sʌndɪz, ɡoʊ because they really want to and feel that they could bɪ'kɔz ðei riəli wənt tu ənd fi:l ðæt ðei kʊd not do without it, but there are, of course, some who nɒt du: wɪð'aʊt ɪt, bʌt ðeər ɑ:, əv kɔ:s, sʌm hu:

proper = right

only go because they think it the proper thing to do. əʊnli ɡoʊ bɪ'kɔz ðei θɪŋk ɪt ðə prɒpə θɪŋ tə du:.

Their parents and grandparents went to church, and ðeə peərənts ənd grændpeərənts wɛnt tə tʃə:tf, ənd so they go, too."

səʊ ðei ɡoʊ, tu:."

Storm: "Yes, in my country it is almost the same. Many stɔ:m: "jes, ɪn maɪ kʌntri ɪt ɪz ɔ:lmo:st ðə seɪm. meni people, for example, go to church only on the twenty-pi:pl. fə ɪg'zɑ:mpl, ɡoʊ tə tʃə:tf əʊnli ɔn ðə twenti-fourth or the twenty-fifth of December, because they

 'fɔ:θ ɔ: ðə twenti'fifθ əv dɪ'sembə. bi'kɔz ðei think it the proper thing to do, or, perhaps, because piŋk it ðə prɒpə θɪŋ tə du: ɔ:, pə'hæps, bi'kɔz they have always done so; but there are, of course, ðei hæv ɔ:lweɪs dʌn sɔ:; bət ðeə ɑ:, əv kɔ:s, also a great many people who go to church every Sunday ɔ:lsoʊ ə greɪt meni pi:pl hu: ɡoʊ tə tʃə:tʃ evri sʌndi because they really want to."
 bi'kɔz ðei ri:əli wɒnt tu:."

It took the two friends more time to get through their it tuk ðə tu: frendz mɔ: taɪm tə get þru: ðeə lunch than they had expected. They spent more than lʌŋ ðən ðei həd ɪkspektɪd. ðei spent mɔ: ðən two hours eating and reading the Sunday papers. "We tu: auəs i:tiŋ ənd ri:diŋ ðə sʌndi peɪpəz. "wi: are a little late now," Marshall said. "There is a service ɑ:r ə litl leɪt naʊ," mɑ:ʃəl sed. "ðəz ə sɑ:vɪs in a church a quarter of an hour's walk from here, so ɪn ə tʃə:tʃ ə kwɔ:tər əv ən auəs wɔ:k frəm hiə, soʊ we must hurry." When they reached the church, the wi: məst hʌri." hwen ðei ri:tʃt ðə tʃə:tʃ, ðə service had already begun, and the clergyman had sɑ:vɪs həd ɔ:l'redi bi'ɡʌn, ənd ðə klə:dʒimən həd just appeared. Before the clergyman began to speak, dʒʌst ə'piəd. bi'fɔ: ðə klə:dʒimən bi'ɡʌn tə spi:k. however, Marshall found time to say to Storm in a very haʊ'evə, mɑ:ʃəl faʊnd taɪm tə sei tə stɔ:m ɪn ə veri clergyman

low voice: "Listen carefully, now! You will hear many lou vois: "lɪsn kɛəfʊli, naʊ! ju: wil hiə meni strange old expressions that are not in use any more, streɪndʒ ould ɪks'presʃənz ðæt a: nɒt ɪn ju:s eni mɔ:, but a clergyman usually speaks so slowly in church bət ə klɛ:dʒɪmən ju:ʒuəli spi:ks sɔʊ sləʊli ɪn tʃɜ:tʃ and in such a loud voice, that I have no doubt you will ænd ɪn sʌtʃ ə laʊd vois, ðæt aɪ hæv nə daʊt ju: wil be able to hear and find out the meaning of most of bi: eɪbl tə hiə ænd faɪnd aʊt ðə mi:nɪŋ əv maʊst əv the words and expressions. You will recognize the ðə wɜ:dz ænd ɪks'presʃənz. ju: wil rekəɡnaɪz ðə matter he is speaking about, of course, and that will mætə hi: ɪz spi:kɪŋ ə'baʊt, əv kɔ:s, ænd ðæt wil help, too." The clergyman had a strong voice, that help, tu:." ðə klɛ:dʒɪmən həd ə strɒŋ vois, ðæt sounded rather pleasant, and it was quite an experience saʊndɪd rɑ:ðə pleznt, ænd ɪt wəz kwaɪt ən ɪks'piəriəns for Storm to hear the many old English words and fə stɔ:m tə hiə ðə meni ould ɪŋɡlɪʃ wɜ:dz ænd expressions which sounded very strange and also very ɪks'presʃənz hwɪtʃ saʊndɪd veri streɪndʒ ænd ɔ:lsəʊ veri beautiful to his ears, as he told Marshall after the bju:təfʊl tə hɪz iəz, əz hi: təʊld mɑ:fəl a:ftə ðə service was over.

sə:vɪs wəz oʊvə.

Shortly after seven they left the church and went to ʃɔ:tli a:ftə sevn ðeɪ left ðə tʃɜ:tʃ ænd wɛnt tu a restaurant for a cup of tea. "We've had a very busy a restərɔ:ŋ fər ə kʌp əv ti:. "wi:v həd ə veri bizi day," said Storm, "and I think that your programme dei," sed stɔ:m, "ænd ai θɪŋk ðæt jɔ: prəʊgræm could hardly have been better." "Do you think, perkəd hɑ:dli hæv bi:n betə. "du: ju: θɪŋk, pəhaps," Marshall asked, "that our programme is finished

'hæps," mɑ:fəl a:skt, "ðæt əʊə prəʊgræm ɪz fɪnɪʃt already? Just as soon as we've had enough tea and ɔ:l'redi? dʒʌst əz su:n əz wi:v həd i'nʌf ti: ənd bread and butter, we will go and see a good film." bred ənd bʌtə, wi: wil ɡəʊ ənd si: ə gud film."

"See a good film!" said Storm in great surprise; "you "si: ə gud film!" sed stɔ:m ɪn greɪt sə'praɪz; "ju:

must have forgotten that the cinemas are closed to-day." mʌst hæv fə'ɡɒtn ðæt ðə sɪnɪməz a: kləʊzd tə'deɪ."

"That is again the strange idea that foreigners have of "ðæt ɪz ə'ɡeɪn ðə streɪndʒ aɪ'dɪə ðæt fɔ:ɪnəz hæv əv

England. There are in all far more than 200 ɪŋɡlənd. ðəər ɪn ɔ:l fɑ: mɔ: ðən tu: haʊdrəd towns in England, in which the cinemas are open on taʊnz ɪn ɪŋɡlənd, ɪn hweɪtʃ ðə sɪnɪməz a:r ɒpən ɒn Sundays."

sʌndɪz."

They went to a cinema in Leicester Square, and before ðeɪ wɛnt tu ə sɪnɪmə ɪn lestə skweə, ənd bɪ'fɔ:

going in, stood for a time on one of the four sides of ɡəʊɪŋ ɪn, stʊd fər ə taɪm ɒn wʌn əv ðə fɔ: saɪdz əv the square, looking at the great number of very bright ðə skwɛə, lʊkiŋ ət ðə greɪt nʌmbər əv ʔeri braɪt lights outside most of the buildings. The lights were laɪts ˈaʊtˈsaɪd moʊst əv ðə bɪldɪŋz. ðə laɪts wə:

so bright that it was almost like daylight. They went sou braɪt ðət ɪt wəz ɔ:lmoʊst laɪk deɪlaɪt. ðeɪ wɛnt inside the cinema, which was so comfortable that it ˈɪnˈsaɪd ðə sɪnɪmə, hwiːtʃ wəz sou kʌmfətəbl ðət ɪt was almost like a palace. The prices were rather high, wəz ɔ:lmoʊst laɪk ə ˈpælɪs. ðə praɪsɪz wə: rɑ:ðə haɪ, but Marshall told Storm that they must pay for all the bət mɑ:fəl təʊld stɔ:m ðət ðeɪ mʌst peɪ fər ɔ:l ðə comforts. "If you want to have all modern comforts, kʌmfəts. ˈɪf ju: wɒnt tə hæv ɔ:l mɒdən kʌmfəts, you'll usually find that you have to pay for them in ju:l ju:ʒuəli faɪnd ðət ju: hæv tə peɪ fɔ: ðəm ɪn some way or other."

səm weɪ ɔ:r əðə."

They saw a war film, and when they left the cinema, ðeɪ sɔ: ə wɔ: fɪlm, ənd hwen ðeɪ left ðə sɪnɪmə, they agreed that they did not wish to see any more ðeɪ əˈɡri:d ðət ðeɪ dɪd nɒt wɪʃ tə si: ɛni mɔ:

war films for a long time to come. It was about an wɔ: fɪlmz fər ə lɒŋ taɪm tə kʌm. ɪt wəz əˈbaʊt ən Englishman who had been taken by the Germans, but ɪŋɡlɪʃmən hu: həd bi:n teɪkən baɪ ðə dʒə:mənz, bət after a lot of trouble he had got away from them and ɑ:ftər ə lɒt əv trʌbl hi: həd ɡɒt əˈweɪ frəm ðəm ənd escaped to Sweden, where he received a shock on is'keipt tə swi:dn, hweə hi: ri'si:ʔd ə ʃɒk ɒn hearing that both his parents were dead, and that his hiəriŋ ðət bəʊp hi: ʔeərənts wə: ded, ənd ðət hi:z wife had run away with another man. Marshall: "I have wɪf həd rʌn ə'wei wið ə'nʌðə mæn. mɑ:fəl: "aɪ hæv a brother who also escaped from Germany during the ə brʌðə hu: ə:lsoʊ is'keipt frəm dʒə:məni dʒuəriŋ ðə war; but I am glad to say that nothing unpleasant had wɔ:; bət aɪ əm glæd tə sei ðət nʌʃɪŋ ʌn'pleznt həd taken place in his family which might give him a shock teɪkŋ pleɪs ɪn hi:z fæmɪli hweɪtʃ maɪt gɪv hɪm ə ʃɒk when he got back."

hweŋ hi: ɡɒt bæk."

When they got home that evening, Storm thanked his hweŋ ðeɪ ɡɒt hoʊm ðæt i:vnɪŋ. stɔ:m ʔæŋkt hi:z guide and said, "I'm sure this has been the most ɡaɪd ənd sed. "aɪm suə ðɪs hæz bi:n ðə moʊst interesting Sunday I have spent for a long time, full ɪntrɪstɪŋ sʌndi aɪ həv spent fəɹ ə lɒŋ taɪm, fʊl of surprises from morning till night."

əv sə'praɪzɪz frəm mɔ:nɪŋ tɪl naɪt."

Marshall's parents had gone to bed, but as he and Storm mɑ:fəlz ʔeərənts həd ɡɒn tə bed, bət əz hi: ənd stɔ:m were both hungry after their long and tiring day, they wə: bəʊp haŋɡri ɑ:ftə ðeə lɒŋ ənd taɪəriŋ ðeɪ, ðeɪ went into the kitchen, where they found some cold went ɪntə ðə kɪtʃɪn, hweə ðeɪ faʊnd səm kəʊld

WORDS:

condition

store

cat domestic loose

chain

smell

smelt

tail

programme

purpose

public house

pub

smash

support

break

broke broken limited proper service

clergyman

expression

sound (verb)

square supper which Mrs. Marshall had left for them. They sʌpə hwiʃ misiz mɑ:fəl həd left fɔ: ðəm. ðei made themselves some tea to drink with their supper. meid ðəm'selvz səm ti: tə drɪŋk wɪð ðeə sʌpə.

EXERCISE A.

Most people in the East End live under bad —. In the East End fruit is sold cheap, and the prices are — than in the suburbs. A very large shop, selling all kinds of goods, is called a —. In the East End dogs and other — animals are sold in the streets. It is not allowed to let a dog go —, but it is taken away on a —. The friends could — that animals were sold in these streets. Some kinds of dogs have part of their — cut off. Their — for the day was very long, because it was Marshall's — to show Storm as much as possible. In a — they saw a man — his glass to pieces. It was difficult for him to stand, and his friends had to — him. Storm thought that many glasses were — in this way. They soon had to leave the East End. Many Englishmen find it the — thing to go to church and listen to a — on Sundays. Storm was able to understand most of the words and — used by the clergyman. The clergyman's voice — pleasant. The friends went to a cinema in Leicester — to see a —. The light outside the building was almost as — as —, and inside there were all modern —. The film was about an Englishman who — from Germany to Sweden, where he received a — when hearing that his parents were dead, and that his wife had left him.

EXERCISE B.

In chapter 44, Exercise D, you found a letter from Storm to his friend Wood. Please answer this letter as if you were Wood, in such a way that you use all the words in the following list:

than — letter — sister — receive — send — require — Brown — office — evening — discussion — pleasant — photograph — visit — London.

You will have to make up some sort of story in which these words appear. This will give you practice in expressing yourself in English.

film bright daylight comfort escape shock unpleasant

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

We have some words which we call pronouns [prounauns]. Pronouns are words like I, you, his, this, which, somebody. Pronouns may be put instead of nouns. Here are some examples: The man gave the boy an apple, and he ate it at once. In the sentence 'and he ate it at once' we see that 'he' is used instead of 'boy' and 'it' instead of 'apple'. In the sentence 'John took the books and put them into his bag', 'them' is used instead of 'books', and 'his' is used instead of 'John's'.

There are different kinds of pronouns. The words: I, you, he, she, it, me, you, him, her, it, we, you, they, us, you, them, we call the personal [pə:snl] pronouns, because they are mostly used instead of persons. Examples: John has a dog, which he likes very much.

(‘He’ is used instead of ‘John’.) The boys ran after the cat, until they got it. (‘They’ is used instead of ‘boys’, and ‘it’ instead of ‘cat’.)

We have also some pronouns called possessive [pə'zesiv] pronouns; there are two kinds of possessive pronouns: firstly, my, your, his, her, its, our, your, their; secondly, mine, yours, his, hers, its, ours, yours, theirs. You will notice that the words in the second list have added an s, except ‘my’, which becomes ‘mine’, and ‘his’ and ‘its’, which have an s already.

The pronouns first mentioned are used with a noun, and the pronouns last mentioned are used when no noun follows. In the sentence ‘I showed him my house’, ‘my’ is used with the noun ‘house’, but in the sentence ‘I have shown him mine’, no noun follows, so the word ‘mine’ is used instead of ‘my’. Here are some other examples: This is her hat; where is yours? Your garden is small, ours is big. It is her book — no, it is his. It is his ball — no, it is hers.

Questions:

Can you give some examples of pronouns? ... What different sorts of pronouns do you know? ... How are pronouns used? ... In what way are the two kinds of possessive pronouns different? ... Please write a few sentences where a possessive pronoun is used together with a noun, and some where a possessive pronoun is used without a noun. ...

ENGLISH NEWSPAPERS

Storm: "While I know a great deal about the things stɔ:m: "hwaɪl aɪ nou ə greɪt di:l ə'baʊt ðə þɪŋz that happen in my own country, I am afraid that I don't ðət hæpən ɪn maɪ oun kəntri, aɪ əm ə'freɪd ðət aɪ daʊnt know very much about events that happen in other nou veri mʌtʃ ə'baʊt i'vents ðət hæpən ɪn ʌðə countries, so I think that in the future I had better read kəntriz, sou aɪ þɪŋk ðət ɪn ðə fju:tʃə aɪ həd betə ri:d an English newspaper every day. In that way I should ən ɪŋglɪʃ nju:spetʃə evri dei. ɪn ðæt wei aɪ ʃəd also get to know more about what the English think ɔ:lsoʊ get tə nou mɔ:r ə'baʊt hwət ði ɪŋglɪʃ þɪŋk about things; I should learn the opinions of the English.

ə'baʊt þɪŋz; aɪ ʃəd læ:n ði ə'pinjənz əv ði ɪŋglɪʃ.

I am sure that one of the best ways to learn the opinions aɪ əm suə ðət wʌn əv ðə best weɪz tə læ:n ði ə'pinjənz of a foreign nation is to read the newspapers of the əv ə fɔrɪn neɪʃən ɪz tə ri:d ðə nju:spetʃəz əv ðə country. Living in England, as I do now, I think I ought kəntri. lɪvɪŋ ɪn ɪŋɡlənd, əz aɪ du: naʊ, aɪ þɪŋk aɪ ɔ:t to know more about the nation. I think it's almost my tə nou mɔ:r ə'baʊt ðə neɪʃən. aɪ þɪŋk ɪts ɔ:lmoʊst maɪ duty to learn all that I can about the English."

dʒu:ti tə læ:n ɔ:l ðət aɪ kæn ə'baʊt ði ɪŋglɪʃ."

event = thing that happens

happen = take place

the future = the time to come

He ought,
he ought, — [ɔ:t, ɔ:t].

duty = the work or the things a person ought to do

putting it too strongly = making too much out of it

"You don't really mean what you say, do you?" asked
"ju: dount riəli mi:n hweɪt ju: sei, du: ju:?" a:skt Marshall. "You cannot be serious; you must be saying ma:fəl. "ju: kænɒt bi: siəriəs: ju: məst bi: seiŋ this just in fun." "No, not in fun; I am serious all dis dʒʌst in fʌn." "nou, nɒt in fʌn; ai əm siəriəs ɔ:l right; I mean just what I say," replied Storm. "It is rait; ai mi:n dʒʌst hweɪt ai sei," ri'plaid stɔ:m. "it iz very pleasant," said Marshall, "to hear that you take veri pleznt," sed ma:fəl, "tə hiə ðæt ju: teik such an interest in us, but I think that you are putting sʌtʃ ən intrist in ʌs, bʌt ai θɪŋk ðæt ju: a: putiŋ it too strongly when you say that you ought to know it tu: strɒŋli hwen ju: sei ðæt ju: ɔ:t tə nou all about us, just because you live here for a few ɔ:l ə'baʊt ʌs, dʒʌst bi'kɔ: ju: liv hiə fɜr ə fju:

months. If I had a chance of living in your country, mʌnθs. if ai hæd ə tʃɑ:ns əv li:vɪŋ in jɔ: kʌntri.

I don't think I should look upon it as my duty to make ai dount θɪŋk ai ʃəd lʊk ə'pɒn it əz mai dju:ti tə meɪk a study of the people and the conditions under which ə stʌdi əv ðə pi:pl ənd ðə kən'dɪʃənz ʌndə hwi:tʃ they live, although, on the other hand, I might be glad ðei liv, ɔ:l'ðəʊ, ɒn ði ʌðə hænd, ai maɪt bi: glæd to learn a few things about them. You will find, Storm, tə læ:n ə fju: θɪŋz ə'baʊt ðəm. ju: wɪl faɪnd, stɔ:m, that all nations know much more about themselves than ðæt ɔ:l neɪʃənz nou mʌtʃ mɔ:r ə'baʊt ðəm'selvz ðən about each other. We might say that this is inter-ə'baʊt i:tʃ ʌðə. wi: mait sei ðət ðis iz intə-national, for it is to be seen in every country. But if 'næʃənəl, fər it iz tə bi: si:n in evri kʌntri. bət if you do take such a great interest in the English, it ju: du: teik sʌtʃ ə greit intrist in ði ɪŋglɪʃ, it would be a good idea for you to read an English paper wəd bi: ə gud aɪ'diə fə ju: tə ri:d ən ɪŋglɪʃ peɪpər in future, both while you are staying in England and in fju:tʃə, bəʊp hwaɪl ju: a: steɪɪŋ in ɪŋɡlənd ænd when you return to your own country."

hwen ju: ri'tə:n tə jɔ:r oun kʌntri."

Storm: "I have heard the names of quite a number of stɔ:m: "aɪ hæv hə:d ðə neɪmz əv kwaɪt ə nʌmbər əv

English papers, but it is hard for me to remember them, ɪŋglɪʃ peɪpəz, bət it iz hɑ:d fə mi: tə rɪ'membə ðəm, because I have such a bad memory for foreign names."

bɪ'kɔz aɪ hæv sʌtʃ ə bæd meməri fə fərɪn neɪmz."

Marshall: "While working at the office, I have not found mɑ:fəl: "hwaɪl wə:kɪŋ ət ði ɒfɪs, aɪ hæv nɒt faʊnd your memory so poor. I've sometimes been quite sur-jɔ: meməri sɒʊ pʊə. aɪv sʌmtaɪmz bi:n kwaɪt sə-prised at the things you can remember. It is always

'praɪzd ət ðə þɪŋz ju: kən rɪ'membə. it iz ɔ:lweɪs difficult, however, to remember a lot of foreign names."

dɪfɪkəlt, haʊ'evə, tə rɪ'membə ə lɒt əv fərɪn neɪmz."

Storm: "You English seem to read a great number of stɔ:m: "ju: ɪŋglɪʃ si:m tə ri:d ə greɪt nʌmbər əv do take (here) = really take

in future = in the future

on account of =
because of page

race

care about = feel interested in papers. Many of the men at the office sometimes buy peipaz. meni əv ðə men at ði ɔfis saɪntaɪmz baɪ two or three papers a day. Is that because they're so tu: ə ʔri: peipaz ə dei. ɪz ðæt bi'kɔz ðeə sou interested in the latest news?" ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ðə leɪtɪst nju:z?"

Marshall: "Not always; in most cases it is on account mɑ:ʃəl: "nɒt ɔ:lweɪz; ɪn maʊst keɪsɪz ɪt ɪz ɔn ə'kaʊnt of their interest in sport. The evening papers usually əv ðeər ɪntrɪst ɪn spɔ:t. ði i:vɪnɪŋ peipaz ju:ʒuəli have several pages, and in most cases only two or three hæv severəl peɪdʒɪz, ənd ɪn maʊst keɪsɪz ɔʊnli tu: ə ʔri:
of the pages have news; on the rest there are reports əv ðə peɪdʒɪz hæv nju:z; ɔn ðə rest ðeə ri'pɔ:ts of big events in sport. But there is a limit to the əv bɪg ɪ'vents ɪn spɔ:t. bət ðəz ə lɪmɪt tə ðə number of papers one can comfortably read, so I am nʌmbər əv peipəz wʌn kən kʌmfə'təbli ri:d, sʊaɪ əm sure that the people who buy so many papers on days fʊə ðæt ðə pi:pl hu: baɪ sʊə meni peipəz ɔn deɪz when a horse-race, a bicycle-race, or a big football match hwen ə hɔ:sreɪs, ə baɪsaɪklreɪs, ɔ:r ə bɪg fʊtbɔ:l mætʃ takes place, only read a few words on each page. I teɪks pleɪs, ɔʊnli ri:d ə fju: wə:dz ɔn i:tʃ peɪdʒ. aɪ don't care much about the many pages of sport, myself; dəʊnt keə mʌtʃ ə'baʊt ðə meni peɪdʒɪz əv spɔ:t, maɪ'self; I'm more interested in the rest of the paper. There aɪm mɔ:r ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ðə rest əv ðə peɪpə. ðəz is one thing particularly that I always read. Perhaps wʌn þɪŋ pə'tɪkjʊləli ðæt aɪ ɔ:lweɪz ri:d. pə'hæps you have already noticed the many letters to the editor ju: hæv ɔ:l'redi nɒtɪst ðə meni letəz tə ði editə editor = the head of a newspaper in our papers? People from all parts of the country ɪn əʊə peɪpəz? pi:pl frəm ɔ:l pɑ:ts əv ðə kʌntri write letters to the papers and give their opinions about raɪt letəz tə ðə peɪpəz ənd gɪv ðeər ə'pɪnjənz ə'baʊt all sorts of things. Some of the letters are quite ɔ:l sɔ:ts əv þɪŋz. sʌm əv ðə letəz a: kwaɪt interesting, but in most cases, of course, they are very ɪntrɪstɪŋ. bʌt ɪn mʌst keɪsɪz, əv kɔ:s. ðeɪ a: veri funny, because the letter-writers don't know enough fʌni, bɪ'kɔz ðə lɛtəraɪtəz daʊnt nəʊ ɪ'nʌf about the things they write about. However, people ə'baʊt ðə þɪŋz ðeɪ raɪt ə'baʊt. haʊ'evə, pi:pl in England have been doing this for so long that it has ɪn ɪŋɡlənd hæv bi:n du:ɪŋ ðɪs fə sɒ lɒŋ ðæt ɪt hæz become almost an English institution.” bɪ'kʌm ɔ:l'mʌst ən ɪŋɡlɪʃ ɪnstɪ'tju:ʃən.”

The newspapers of a country are spoken of as the press, ðə nju:sp'eɪpəz-əv ə kʌntri a: spəʊkən əv əz ðə pres, and Storm now wanted Marshall to give him some ənd stɔ:m nəʊ wəntɪd mɑ:ʃəl tə gɪv hɪm sʌm information about the English press. “You will, perhaps, ɪnfə'meɪʃən ə'baʊt ðɪ ɪŋɡlɪʃ pres. “ju: wɪl, pə'hæps, be able to make a good suggestion as to which paper bɪ: eɪbl tə meɪk ə gʊd sə'dʒestʃən əz tə hʌwɪʃ peɪpə suggest = propose will be the best for me." "Yes, I could easily do that," wil bi: ðə best fɔ: mi:. "jes, ai kəd i:zili du: ðæt," Marshall replied, "but I have a better suggestion to ma:fəl ri'plaid, "bət ai hæv ə betə sə'dʒestʃən tə make. I will first tell you the most important details meik. ai wil fə:st tel ju: ðə moust im'pɔ:tənt di:teils about the papers, and then I suggest that you try a few ə'baut ðə peipəz, ənd ðen ai sə'dʒest ðət ju: trai ə fju:

of them. In quite a short time you'll discover which əv ðəm. in kwait ə ʃɔ:t taim ju:l dis'kʌvə hwitʃ one you can read to best advantage."

wʌn ju: kən ri:d tə best əd'vɑ:ntidʒ."

Storm answered that he would do as Marshall suggested, stɔ:m ə:nsəd ðət hi: wəd du: əz ma:fəl sə'dʒestid, and Marshall went on, saying, "You mentioned that ənd ma:fəl went ɔn, seiŋ, "ju: menʃənd ðət you would like to know more about the opinions of ju: wəd laik tə nou mɔ:r ə'baut ði ə'pinjənz əv the English, but, of course, you understand that not all ði ɪŋglɪʃ, bʌt, əv kɔ:s, ju: ʌndə'stænd ðət nɔt ɔ:l

Englishmen have the same opinion. In Parliament we ɪŋglɪʃmən hæv ðə seim ə'pinjən. in pɑ:ləmənt wi:

have a very good example of this. Those who are of hæv ə veri gud ig'zɑ:mpl əv ðis. ðəuz hu: a:r əv the same opinion, and have the same programme for ðə seim ə'pinjən, ənd hæv ðə seim prəʊgræm fə what they want to do for the good of the country, are hwɔt ðei wɔnt tə du: fə ðə gud əv ðə kʌntri, a:

spoken of as a political party, while what they want spoukan əv əz ə pə'litikəl pɑ:ti, hævəl hævət ðei wɒnt to do is spoken of as their political programme. tə du: ɪz spoukan əv əz ðeə pə'litikəl prəʊgræm.

"The most important men of the largest party usually
"ðə maʊst ɪm'pɔ:tənt men əv ðə lɑ:dʒɪst pɑ:ti ju:ʒuəlɪ make up the government of the country; and it is the meɪk ʌp ðə ɡʌvənmənt əv ðə kʌntri; ənd ɪt ɪz ðə duty of the government to look after the affairs of the dʒu:ti əv ðə ɡʌvənmənt tə lʊk ɑ:f tə ði ə'feəz əv ðə affair = matter nation. In England we have three large political neɪʃən. ɪn ɪŋɡlənd wi: hæv ʒri: lɑ:dʒ pə'litikəl parties: the Labour Party, the Conservatives, and the pɑ:tɪz: ðə leɪbə pɑ:ti, ðə kən'sə:tvətɪvz, ənd ðə labour = work

Liberals. All the papers that I shall mention to you, lɪbərlz. ɔ:l ðə peɪpəz ðæt aɪ ʃəl menʃən tə ju:.

give the opinions of one or other of these three large ɡɪv ði ə'pɪnjənz əv wʌn ɔ:r əðə əv ði:z ʒri: lɑ:dʒ political parties, although they are not owned by the pə'litikəl pɑ:tɪz, ɔ:l'ðəu ðei a: nɒt ɒnd baɪ ðə parties. I will begin with the Daily Telegraph, as I pɑ:tɪz. aɪ wɪl bɪ'ɡɪn wɪð ðə deɪli telɪgrɑ:f əz aɪ the telegraph is used for sending telegrams have a copy of it in my pocket. Of course, you have hæv ə kɒpi əv ɪt ɪn maɪ pɒkɪt. əv kɔ:s, ju: hæv seen it many times before, and you know what it is si:n ɪt meni taɪmz bɪ'fɔ:, ənd ju: nəʊ hævət ɪt ɪz like. It has a circulation of about a million, and is, laɪk. ɪt hæz ə sə:kju'leɪʃən əv ə'baʊt ə mɪljən, ənd ɪz.

as you'll have seen, a very Conservative paper. Two əz ju:l hæv si:n, ə veri kən'sə:vətɪv peɪpə. tu:

other important Conservative papers are the Daily Mail ʌðə ɪm'pɔ:tənt kən'sə:vətɪv peɪpəz a: ðə deɪli meɪl and the Daily Express, the first with a circulation ənd ðə deɪli ɪks'pres, ðə fə:st wɪð ə sə:kju'leɪfən of 2,000,000, and the second with a circulation of ɒv tu: mɪljən, ənd ðə sekənd wɪð ə sə:kju'leɪfən ɒv

3,800,000."

þri: mɪljən eɪt haʊdrəd haʊzənd."

Storm: "I can't understand that you have not menstɔ:m: "aɪ kɑ:nt ʌndə'stænd ðæt ju: hæv nɒt mentioned The Times. It is almost the only English fænd ðə taɪmz. ɪt ɪz ɔ:lmoʊst ði ɒnli ɪŋɡlɪʃ paper ever mentioned at home." Marshall: "The Times peɪpə ɛvə menʃənd æt hoʊm." mɑ:ʃəl: "ðə taɪmz has a circulation of about 300,000." Storm: hæz ə sə:kju'leɪfən ɒv ə'baʊt þri: haʊdrəd haʊzənd." stɔ:m:

"Has The Times only a circulation of 300,000?"

"hæz ðə taɪmz ɒnli ə sə:kju'leɪfən ɒv þri: haʊdrəd haʊzənd?"

Marshall: "Most foreigners are inclined to think that mɑ:ʃəl: "moʊst fɔ:ɪnəz a:r ɪn'klaɪnd tə θɪŋk ðæt

The Times is the paper with the largest circulation. The ðə taɪmz ɪz ðə peɪpə wɪð ðə lɑ:dʒɪst sə:kju'leɪfən. ðə reason for this is that many times in the past it has given ri:zn fə ðɪs ɪz ðæt meni taɪmz ɪn ðə pɑ:st ɪt hæz ɡɪvən the opinion of the British government, and on account ði ə'pɪnjən ɒv ðə brɪtɪʃ ɡʌvən'mənt, ənd ɒn ə'kaʊnt the past = the time that has passed

of this fact it is, of course, one of the most important əv ðis fækt it iz, əv kɔ:s. wʌn əv ðə maʊst im'pɔ:tənt papers, even though it is not one of the biggest. The peɪpəz, i:vən ðəʊ it iz nɒt wʌn əv ðə biɡɪst. ðə biggest Liberal paper is called the News Chronicle with biɡɪst li'bərəl peɪpə iz kɔ:ld ðə nju:z krɒnikl wið chronicle = report a circulation of 1,750,000.

ə sə:kju'leɪʃən əv wʌn miljən sevn haʊdrəd ænd fɪfti haʊzənd.

Then I must mention the Labour paper, called the ðen ai məst menʃən ðə leɪbə peɪpə, kɔ:ld ðə

Daily Herald, a paper with a circulation of over deɪli herəld, ə peɪpə wið ə sə:kju'leɪʃən əv oʊvə herald = one who tells news

2,250,000.

In 1918

tu: miljən tu: haʊdrəd ænd fɪfti haʊzənd. in naɪnti:n eɪtɪ:n

it was a small paper with a circulation of only it wəz ə smɔ:l peɪpə wið ə sə:kju'leɪʃən əv ɒnli 100,000, but its growth has been so rapid rapid = fast

wʌn haʊdrəd haʊzənd. bət ɪts grəʊp hæz bi:n sʊ ræpɪd that already in 1939 its circulation had in-ðæt ɔ:l'redi in naɪnti:n þə:ti'nain ɪts sə:kju'leɪʃən həd increased to twenty times as much."

'kri:st tə twenti taɪnz əz mʌtʃ."

"What a growth!" said Storm; "I have heard of papers
"hweɪt ə grəʊp!" sed stɔ:m; "ai hæv hæ:d əv peɪpəz growing quickly, but never of such a rapid growth as grəʊɪŋ kwɪkli, bət nevə əv sʌtʃ ə ræpɪd grəʊp əz that." "In your place," Marshall continued, "I should ðæt." "in jɔ: pleɪs." mɑ:fəl kən'tɪnju:d. "ai ʃəd buy a copy of each of these different papers. It is best bai ə kɒpi əv i:tʃ əv ði:z difrənt peɪpəz. it ɪz best for you to decide for yourself which one you are going fə ju: tə dɪ'saɪd fə ʃɔ:'self hwaɪf wʌn ju: a: goʊɪŋ to read. In all the papers I've mentioned you'll find tə ri:d. ɪn ɔ:l ðə peɪpəz aɪv menʃənd ju:l faɪnd long articles about home affairs, and about foreign lɒŋ a:tɪklz ə'baut haʊm ə'feəz, ənd ə'baut fɔ:ɪn affairs as well. I haven't said anything about the ə'feəz əz wel. aɪ hævnt sed enɪθɪŋ ə'baut ði evening papers, as I don't think they will interest you; i:vɪnɪŋ peɪpəz, əz aɪ daʊnt θɪŋk ðeɪ wɪl ɪntrɪst ju: : they are almost full of articles about sport." Storm:

ðeɪ a:r ɔ:lmoʊst ful əv a:tɪklz ə'baut spɔ:t." stɔ:m:
 "I am inclined to think you are right. I shall keep to "aɪ əm ɪn'klaɪnd tə θɪŋk ju: a: raɪt. aɪ ʃəl ki:p tə the morning papers and buy a copy of each of those ðə mɔ:nɪŋ peɪpəz ənd baɪ ə kɒpi əv i:tʃ əv ðəʊz you have suggested."
ju: hæv sə'dʒestɪd."

Marshall then told Storm that, with one or two mɑ:ʃəl ðen təʊld stɔ:m ðæt, wɪð wʌn ə tu: exceptions, all the big papers are printed both in ɪk'seɪpʃənz, ɔ:l ðə bɪg peɪpəz a: prɪntɪd boʊp ɪn London and in some town in the north of England at lʌndən ənd ɪn sʌm taʊn ɪn ðə nɔ:θ əv ɪŋɡlənd ət the same time. "It is a good idea to print the papers ðə seɪm taɪm. "ɪt ɪz ə gud aɪ'diə tə prɪnt ðə peɪpəz in two places. A man in the north of England is then in tu: pleisiz. ə mæn in ðə nɔ:θ əv ɪŋɡlənd ɪz ðen able to get a copy of his paper just as quickly as a man eɪbl tə ɡet ə kɒpi əv hɪz peɪpə dʒʌst əz kwɪkli əz ə mæn in London," he said. Storm: "I think that is a good in lʌndən." hi: sed. stɔ:m: "aɪ θɪŋk ðæt ɪz ə ɡʊd thing. Nowadays it's important to read newspapers."

θɪŋ. naʊədeɪz ɪts ɪm'pɔ:tənt tə ri:d nju:speɪpəz."

"Yes, it is one of the ways in which people, if they "jes, ɪt ɪz wʌn əv ðə weɪz ɪn hwi:tf pi:pl. ɪf ðei take things seriously, may learn more, and so continue teɪk θɪŋz sɪəriəsli. meɪ lə:n mɔ:, ənd sʊ kən'tɪnju:

their education after they have left school. Books, of ðeə edʒu:'keɪʃən a:ftə ðei hæv left sku:l. buks, əv course, are a great help to people who wish to educate kɔ:s, a:r ə ɡreɪt help tə pi:pl hu: wɪʃ tu edʒu:'keɪt themselves, but newspapers can do quite a lot. The ðəm'selvz, bət nju:speɪpəz kən du: kwaɪt ə lɒt. ðə papers, however, might do even more to give people peɪpəz, haʊ'evə, maɪt du: i:ʔən mɔ: tə ɡɪv pi:pl a better education; but in our days there is a tendency ə betə edʒu:'keɪʃən; bət ɪn ʌʊə deɪz ðəz ə tendənsi to fill the papers with articles about sport and politics, tə fɪl ðə peɪpəz wɪð a:tɪklz ə'baut spɔ:t ənd pəlɪtɪks, and to leave out things that might be more useful.

ənd tə li:v aʊt θɪŋz ðæt maɪt bi: mɔ: ju:sfʊl.

One notices this tendency more and more as the years wʌn nəʊtɪsɪz ðɪs tendənsi mɔ:r ənd mɔ: əz ðə jɪəz pass, and as it is the case in every country with hardly pa:s, and əz it ɪz ðə keɪs ɪn evri kəntri wið ha:dli any exception, I think we might speak of it as an intereni ɪk'seɪʃən, aɪ θɪŋk wiː maɪt spi:k əv ɪt əz ən ɪntə-national tendency." "I see nothing wrong in reading 'næʃənəl tendənsi." "aɪ siː nʌʃɪŋ rɔŋ ɪn riːdɪŋ articles about politics," Storm answered. "In a country ɑːtɪklz ə'baʊt pəlɪtɪks," stɔ:m ɑːnsəd. "ɪn ə kəntri where the people take part in the government of their hwɛə ðə piːpl teɪk pɑ:t ɪn ðə ɡʌvənmənt əv ðeə country and any man may become a Member of kəntri and eni mæn mei bɪ'kʌm ə mɛmbər əv

Parliament, the more people know about politics, the pɑːləmənt, ðə mɔː piːpl nəʊ ə'baʊt pəlɪtɪks, ðə better, in my opinion." "There is something in what betə, ɪn maɪ ə'pɪnjən." "ðəz smɪŋɪŋ ɪn hwɒt you say there," was all that Marshall could say to this.

juː sei ðeə," wəz ɔ:l ðət mɑːʃəl kəd sei tə ðɪs.

"Speaking of reading," Storm continued, "I have noticed "spiːkɪŋ əv riːdɪŋ," stɔ:m kən'tɪnjuːd, "aɪ hæv nəʊtɪst that there is not much space between the lines in your ðət ðəz nɒt mʌtʃ speɪs bɪ'twiːn ðə laɪnz ɪn jɔː papers. That is bad for one's eyes, I think. But of peɪpəz. ðæt ɪz bəd, fə wʌnz aɪz, aɪ θɪŋk. bʌt əv course, if you add up all the space saved between the kɔːs, ɪf juː əd ʌp ɔ:l ðə speɪs seɪvd bɪ'twiːn ðə lines in this way, it comes to quite a lot, doesn't it? laɪnz ɪn ðɪs weɪ, ɪt kʌmz tə kwaɪt ə lɒt, dʌznt ɪt?

More reading matter for the same money!

mɔ: ri:diŋ mætə fə ðə seim mʌni!

"Newspaper work interests me. I think that when I "nju:speɪpə wə:k intrɪsts mi:. aɪ θɪŋk ðæt hæven aɪ know England and the English a little better, I shall nəu ɪŋɡlənd ənd ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ ə lɪtl bɛtə. aɪ ʃəl write some articles about England and try to send them raɪt səm ɑ:tɪklz ə'baut ɪŋɡlənd ənd traɪ tə send ðəm to one of our papers at home. So be careful what you tə wʌn əv əʊə peɪpəz ət haʊm. səʊ bi: keəfʊl hwət ju:

say and do from now on, Marshall; everything that you seɪ ənd du: frəm nəʊ ɒn, mɑ:ʃəl: ɛvriθɪŋ ðæt ju:

say will be used against you!" "And I," replied Marshall seɪ wɪl bi: ju:zd ə'geɪnst ju:!" "ənd aɪ," rɪ'plaid mɑ:ʃəl with a smile, carefully folding up his Daily Telegraph wɪð ə smaɪl, keəfʊli fəʊldɪŋ ʌp hɪz deɪli telɪgrɑ:f

and putting it under his arm, "shall write an article ənd pʊtɪŋ ɪt ʌndə hɪz ɑ:m, "ʃəl raɪt ən ɑ:tɪkl called "Educating a Young Foreigner in London" and kɔ:ld "edju:keɪtɪŋ ə jʌŋ fɔ:ɪnə ɪn lʌndən" ənd tell about all the funny questions you have asked me."

tɛl ə'baut ɔ:l ðə fʌni kwɛstʃənz ju: hæv ɑ:skt mi:."

So saying, Marshall took his friend back to the office səʊ seɪɪŋ, mɑ:ʃəl tuk hɪz frɛnd bæk tə ði ɒfɪs from the small restaurant where they had been having frəm ðə smɔ:l restərɔ:ŋ hwɛə ðeɪ həd bi:n hævɪŋ lunch. Each had his paper folded under his arm.

lʌŋʃ. i:tʃ həd hɪz peɪpə fəʊldɪd ʌndə hɪz ɑ:m.

WORDS:

event happen opinion ought future
serious
duty
memory case
page
on account of limit press suggestion suggest copy
political party Conservatives
Liberals
Labour Party politics government affair inclined circulation growth rapid space fold exception print

EXERCISE A.

In order to know something about the — that happened in England and to learn what are the — of the English, Storm thought that he — to read an English newspaper every day in the —. He was quite — about it and said to Marshall that he thought it his — to do so. He did not remember many of the names of the English newspapers, because he had a bad — for foreign names. In most — the English evening papers have several —, only two or three of which bring news, while the — are given up to sport. On — of their interest in the big events in sport there is almost no — to the number of papers the English will buy. Storm asked Marshall for some information about the English — and for a good — as to which paper would be the best for him to read. Marshall — that he should buy a — of several of them, in order to decide which one would suit him best. In England there are three great — parties: the — —, the —, and the —. What they wish to do for the — of the country, is spoken of as their —. It is the duty of the — to look after the — of the nation. People are — to think that the Times has a very great —, but in reality its circulation is not nearly so great as that of the Daily Herald. The — of the circulation of the Daily Herald has been very — since 1918. Storm found the English newspapers difficult to read on account of the small — between the lines. He thought it funny to see Englishmen walking with their papers carefully — under their arms. With only one or two — all the big papers are — in two towns at the same time.

EXERCISE B.

Answer these questions with full sentences:

Where do you live, in a flat or in a house of your own? ... Do you like to be at home in the evenings, or do you prefer to go out? ... How many newspapers do you read a day, and what are the names of them? ... Do you collect foreign stamps or coins? ... How long have you been studying English? ... What are your reasons for studying English? ... Did you ever make a trip to England? ... If you did, what part of England did you visit? ... What part of England would you like to go to, if you were to go there during your holidays? ...

care (verb) education educate tendency article
race
daily telegraph chronicle herald editor
past

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

We have mentioned two kinds of pronouns: the personal and the possessive pronouns. Now we will talk about a third kind called the demonstrative [di'mɒn-strətiːz] pronouns. The demonstrative pronouns are: this, these; that, those. 'This' and 'that' are used in the singular, and 'these' and 'those' are used in the plural.

'This' and 'these' are used about persons or things that are near us, and 'that' and 'those' about persons or things that are farther away. Examples: This is my house, and that is Johnson's, that is, the house here is my house, and the house over there is Johnson's. This is my brother (here). That is Mr. Smith (over there). This book is one of the best I have read. That book is no good. This evening (to-day) I have come home early. That evening (some days ago) I came home very late. These shoes are very expensive, but those are cheaper.

Questions:

Which of the demonstrative pronouns point at things near us? ... And which demonstrative pronouns point at things farther away? ... Which of the demonstrative pronouns are used in the singular, and which are used in the plural? ...

EXERCISE D.

siksti'eit, nelsn roud, wimblæn. ðə fə:st əv sɒp'tembə.

diə wud,

ai wəz veri glæd tə get ðə bæŋ ful əv linin and lɒðə piŋz hwi:ʃ mai sistə sent mi:. ai ɔ:lmu:st bi'li:v ðət ju: helpt hə: tə pæk it; ə gə:l wəd nevə həv bi:n eibl tə piŋk əv ɔ:l ðəus piŋz.

it iz nais əv ju: tə rait and tel mi: hʌwət ju: and braʊn a: du:ɪŋ. ai əm stil di'vaɪdiŋ mai ha:t in i:kwəl pa:ts bi'twi:n mai nju: wə:k and laɪf ət haʊm, sɒu ai əm veri ɪn'tristɪd in ðə nju:z ðət ju: send. wɪl ju: pli:z send mi: səm əv ðə fəʊtəgrə:fz frəm əʊə tri:p, tu:? la:st sætədi ai went tə si: ə geɪm əv rægbi futbɔ:l, ə veri streɪndʒ geɪm, ai kən tel ju:. ai rə:ðə gɒt ði ɪm'presən ðət ə greɪt bætl wəz bi:ɪŋ fɔ:t fər ə fəni kaɪnd əv hɔ:l, hwi:ʃ evrɪbɔ:di wəz traɪɪŋ tə teɪk ə'twei frəm evrɪbɔ:di els and kæri frəm wʌn pleɪs tu: ə'nʌðə andə hi:z a:m! ai əm lə:nɪŋ meni nju: piŋz ət ði ɔ:fɪs, hwi:ʃ ai ʃəl tel ju: ə'baʊt in mai nekst letə. rɪ'membə mi: tə braʊn, pli:z.

*ɔ:z sɪn'siəlɪ.
stɔ:m*

A VISIT TO THE HARBOUR OF LONDON

Storm had had a busy morning at the office; the stɔ:m həd həd ə bɪzi mɔ:nɪŋ ət ði ɔfɪs; ðə manager's bell had rung for him at least five times. mænɪdʒəz bel həd rʌŋ fə him ət li:st faɪv taɪmz.

"The old man does nothing but ring his bell for me
"ðɪ ould mæn dʌz nʌθɪŋ bət rɪŋ hɪz bel fə mi:

this morning," Storm said to Marshall. While he was ðɪs mɔ:nɪŋ," stɔ:m sed tə mɑ:fəl. hwaɪl hi: wəz speaking, the bell rang once more. When he had spi:kɪŋ, ðə bel ræŋ wʌnz mɔ:. hwen hi: həd entered the manager's office, the manager began by entəd ðə mænɪdʒəz ɔfɪs, ðə mænɪdʒə bi'gæn baɪ saying, "You know that the harbour of London is the seɪɪŋ, "ju: nou ðət ðə hæ:bər əv lʌndən ɪz ðə greatest harbour in existence, and that ships go from greɪtɪst hæ:bər ɪn ɪg'zɪstəns, ænd ðət ʃɪps ɡəʊ frəm there to all parts of the world; but have you ever ðeə tu ɔ:l pɑ:ts əv ðə wɜ:ld; bət həv ju: evə visited it? If not," he continued, "there is a chance vɪzɪtɪd ɪt? ɪf nɒt," hi: kən'tɪnju:d, "ðəz ə tʃɑ:ns for you to do so to-day. I want you to go down to a fə ju: tə du: sɔu tə'deɪ. aɪ wɒnt ju: tə ɡəʊ daʊn tu ə ship lying in the harbour and speak to the captain of ʃɪp laɪɪŋ ɪn ðə hæ:bə ænd spi:k tə ðə kæptɪn əv

He rings, he rang, he has rung [rɪŋz, ræŋ, rʌŋ].

the old man = a name used in fun by clerks about the manager

authority = the right to decide things and give orders

the boat. We often have trouble with him, because he ðə bout. wi: ɔ:fən hæv trʌbl wið him, bi'kɔz hi: decides things for the firm without asking us. If he di'saidz þɪŋz fə ðə fə:m wið'aut a:skɪŋ əs. if hi: is in doubt about anything connected with the affairs ɪz ɪn daʊt ə'baut enɪþɪŋ kə'nektɪd wið ði ə'feɪəz of the firm, he does not ask us what to do, but decides əv ðə fə:m, hi: dʌz nɒt a:sk əs hwɒt tə du:, bət di'saidz the matter himself; it matters nothing to him that we've ðə mətə him'self; ɪt mətəz nʌþɪŋ tu him ðət wi:v never given him any authority to do so. But, of course, nevə gɪvən him eni ɔ: 'pɔ:riti tə du: sɒ. bʌt, əv kɔ:s, we cannot take the responsibility for what he does wi: kənɒt teɪk ðə rɪspɒnsə'bɪlɪti fə hwɒt hi: dʌz without being told by us. If the responsibility is to wið'aut bi:ɪŋ təʊld baɪ əs. if ðə rɪspɒnsə'bɪlɪti ɪz tə be ours, that is, if we are to pay for the goods and bi: əʊəz, ðæt ɪz, ɪf wi: a: tə peɪ fə ðə gʊdz ənd anything that is done with them, he must ask us what enɪþɪŋ ðət ɪz dʌn wið ðəm, hi: məst a:sk əs hwɒt to do and not decide things on his own. It is very tə du: ənd nɒt di'said þɪŋz ɒn hɪz ɒwn. ɪt ɪz veri unpleasant to have anything to do with people like ʌn'pleznt tə hæv enɪþɪŋ tə du: wið pi:pl laɪk this captain, who do things without any authority from ðɪs kæptɪn, hu: du: þɪŋz wið'aut eni ɔ: 'pɔ:riti frəm those for whom they work. This man speaks English ðəʊz fə hu:m ðeɪ wə:k. ðɪs mæn spi:ks ɪŋɡlɪʃ very poorly, but I hope that you'll be able to make veri puali, bat ai houp ðat ju:l bi: eibl tə meik out what he says, for I want you to tell him that he aut hwæt hi: sez, fər ai wɒnt ju: tə tel him ðat hi:

may give as many orders as he likes to the men on mei giv əz meni ɔ:dəz əz hi: laiks tə ðə men ɒn his ship, but that if the firm has any orders to give, hiz fip, bat ðat if ðə fə:m hæz eni ɔ:dəz tə giv,

I will give them. — We also want some goods that are ai wil giv ðəm. — wi: ɔ:lsou wɒnt səm gudz ðat a:

lying in the harbour, and on which duty must be paid laiɪŋ in ðə hæ:bə, ənd ɒn hwɪtʃ dju:ti mʌst bi: peɪd first. We need the goods badly, because we have sold fə:st. wi: ni:d ðə gudz bædli, bi'kəz wi: hæv sould all that we had, so that we have no more in stock. If ɔ:l ðat wi: hæd, sou ðat wi: hæv nou mɔ:r in stɒk. if an article sells well, it's always best to have a good ən a:tɪkl selz wel, its ɔ:lwəz best tə hæv ə gud supply in stock. I will write out a cheque for the sə'plai in stɒk. ai wil rait aut ə tʃek fə ði amount of money that will have to be paid in duty, ə'maʊnt əv mʌni ðat wil hæv tə bi: peɪd in dju:ti, and you can take it with you. The amount of the duty ənd ju: kən teɪk ɪt wɪð ju:. ði ə'maʊnt əv ðə dju:ti is £ 10/9/6, and I will write out the cheque ɪz ten paʊndz naɪn ənd sɪks, ənd ai wil rait aut ðə tʃek at once. You will remember, of course, to get a receipt ət wʌns. ju: wil rɪ'membə, əv kɔ:s, tə get ə rɪ'si:t

make out = understand

We need the goods badly = we need the goods very much.

cheque

receipt

for the amount, so that our book-keeping department fə ði ə'maunt, sou ðæt auə buki:piŋ di'pa:t'mənt can see that the money has been paid."

kən si: ðæt ðə mʌni həz bi:n peid."

Storm promised to get a receipt for the cheque, and stɔ:m prəmɪst tə get ə ri'si:t fə ðə tʃek, ənd mentioned that it would be his first visit to the harbour, menʃənd ðæt it wəd bi: hi:z fə:st vɪzɪt tə ðə hɑ:bə, after which he left the manager's office.

ɑ:ftə hwɪtʃ hi: left ðə mænɪdʒəz əfɪs.

The man to whom he paid the money at the customðə mæn tə hu:m hi: peɪd ðə mʌni ət ðə kʌstəm-house soon discovered that Storm was a foreigner, and haʊs su:n dɪs'kʌvəd ðæt stɔ:m wəz ə fɔ:riŋə, ənd on hearing that it was his first visit to the harbour, ɒn hiəriŋ ðæt it wəz hi:z fə:st vɪzɪt tə ðə hɑ:bə, he offered to show him some of the things worth seeing hi: ɔ:fəd tə ʃəʊ hɪm sʌm əv ðə þɪŋz wə:p si:ɪŋ there. The first building to which they came was used ðeə. ðə fə:st bɪldɪŋ tə hwɪtʃ ðeɪ keɪm wəz ju:zd to store corn. Storm's new friend said that many of tə stɔ: kɔ:n. stɔ:mz nju: frend sed ðæt menɪ əv grain = corn

the buildings were used for grain. "What kind of grain ðə bɪldɪŋz wə: ju:zd fə greɪn. "hwɒt kaɪnd əv greɪn do you store here?" he asked the man. "There are du: ju: stɔ: hiə?" hi: ɑ:skt ðə mæn. "ðeə three or four important kinds," he answered, "but by θri: ə fɔ:r ɪm'pɔ:tənt kaɪndz," hi: ɑ:nsəd, "bət baɪ far the most important is wheat, because most of the fa: ðə moust im'pɔ:tənt iz hwi:t, bi'kɔz moust əv ðə bread eaten in England is white bread. However, we bred i:tn in ɪŋɡlənd iz hwait bred. hau'vev, wi: don't produce enough wheat in England for our own dəʊnt prə'dju:s i'nʌf hwi:t in ɪŋɡlənd fər əʊər oun supply, and although there is such a lot stored here, sə'plai, ənd ɔ:l'ðəʊ ðəz sʌtʃ ə lɒt stɔ:d hiə, it is not enough to supply the country with white bread it iz nɒt i'nʌf tə sə'plai ðə kʌntri wið hwait bred for more than a month. Other countries have supplied fə mɔ: ðən ə mʌnθ. ʌðə kʌntriz həv sə'plaɪd us with the greater part of our wheat for the last ʌs wið ðə greɪtə pɑ:t əv əʊə hwi:t fə ðə lɑ:st hundred years. At one time England was a country hʌndrəd jɪəz. ət wʌn taɪm ɪŋɡlənd wəz ə kʌntri with many farms and farmers, and as in those days wið meni fɑ:mz ənd fɑ:məz, ənd əz in ðəʊz deɪz there was more than enough wheat, we used to export ðeə wəz mɔ: ðən i'nʌf hwi:t, wi: ju:st tu eks'pɔ:t wheat to other countries. Then the rise of industries hwi:t tu ʌðə kʌntriz. ðen ðə raɪz əv ɪndəstriz using a lot of machinery suddenly changed the whole ju:zɪŋ ə lɒt əv mə'ʃi:nəri sʌdnli tʃeɪndʒd ðə haʊl picture, and one factory was built after another, so that pɪktʃə, ənd wʌn fæktəri wəz bɪlt ɑ:ftər ə'nʌðə, səʊ ðət in our days England is most interested in her industries. in əʊə deɪz ɪŋɡlənd iz moust ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn hə:r ɪndəstriz.

industry = the system of producing goods with the help of machines machinery = machines woollen (here) = wool

rat

He feeds, he fed, he has fed [fi:dz, fed, fed].

The coal, steel, iron, cotton, and woollen industries are ðə koul, sti:l, aɪən, kɒtn, and wulin ɪndəstri:z a:

by far the most important. I will now take you to a baɪ fa: ðə maʊst ɪm'pɔ:tənt. aɪ wɪl naʊ teɪk ju: tu ə building that will, no doubt, interest you very much. bɪldɪŋ ðæt wɪl, nəʊ daʊt, ɪn'trɪst ju: veri mʌtʃ.

In it we store the many different articles that come ɪn ɪt wi: stɔ: ðə meni dɪfrənt ɑ:tɪklz ðæt kʌm from the East."
frəm ði i:st."

As soon as they entered the building, Storm saw five əz su:n əz ðeɪ ɛntəd ðə bɪldɪŋ, stɔ:m sɔ: faɪv or six cats and asked the man what they wanted cats ə sɪks kæts ænd ɑ:skt ðə mæn hwɒt ðeɪ wɒntɪd kæts for. "These are very special cats — our fellow-workers, fɔ:. "ði:z ɑ: veri spɛʃəl kæts — ɑʊə fəluuwɜ:kəz, so to speak," his guide explained. "The buildings here səʊ tə spi:k," hɪz gaɪd ɪks'pleɪnd. "ðə bɪldɪŋz hɪə are all full of rats, and it is the duty of the cats to ɑ: ɔ:l ful əv ræts, ænd ɪt ɪz ðə dju:ti əv ðə kæts tə catch and eat the rats. We feed them once a day on kætʃ ænd i:t ðə ræts. wi: fi:d ðəm wʌns ə ðeɪ ɔn fresh meat, not very much, of course, but just enough fref mi:t, nɒt veri mʌtʃ, əv kɔ:s, bʌt dʒʌst ɪ'nʌf to make them feel that they belong to us. For the rest, tə meɪk ðəm fi:l ðæt ðeɪ bi'lɒŋ tu ʌs. fə ðə rest, they must catch rats, and as they all look nice and well ðeɪ mʌst kætʃ ræts, ænd əz ðeɪ ɔ:l lʊk naɪs ænd wel fed, it seems that they are doing their work properly. fed, it si:mz ðæt ðei a: du:ɪŋ ðeə wə:k prɒpəli.

Some of the rats are very big and will sometimes even səm əv ðə ræts a: veri big ənd wɪl sʌmtaɪmz i:vən bite a man's leg. I was bitten by a rat once myself — bait ə mænz leg. aɪ wəz bitn baɪ ə ræt wʌns maɪself — a very unpleasant experience, I can tell you.” ə veri ʌn'pleznt ɪks'piəriəns, aɪ kən tel ju:.”

Storm saw a man standing in front of a large box with stɔ:m sɔ: ə mæn stændɪŋ ɪn frʌnt əv ə la:dʒ bɒks wɪð a hammer in his hand. He was using the hammer to ə hæmər ɪn hɪz hænd. hi: wəz ju:zɪŋ ðə hæmə tu open the box, on one of the sides of which were some əʊpən ðə bɒks, ɒn wʌn əv ðə saɪdz əv hwɪtʃ wə: səm very strange marks. Storm could not understand the veri streɪndʒ mɑ:ks. stɔ:m kəd nɒt ʌndə'stænd ðə meaning of the marks, but was told that the box had mi:nɪŋ əv ðə mɑ:ks, bət wəz təʊld ðæt ðə bɒks həd come from the East, and that the marks must be in kʌm frəm ði i:st, ənd ðæt ðə mɑ:ks mʌst bi: ɪn some strange eastern language. This man had worked səm streɪndʒ i:stən lɛŋgwɪdʒ. ðɪs mæn həd wə:kɪt there for twenty-five years and knew almost all that ðeə fə twenti'faɪv jɪəz ənd nju: ɔ:lmoʊst ɔ:l ðæt could be known about articles from the East; he was kəd bi: nəʊn ə'baʊt a:tɪklz frəm ði i:st; hi: wəz an expert at his work. There were a number of other ən ɛkspə:t ət hɪz wə:k. ðeə wə:r ə nʌmbər əv ʌðə

He bites, he bit, he has bitten [baitɪs, bit, bitn].

hammer

marks

an expert = a man of great experience in his work

men, too, who on account of many years' experience men, tu:, hu: ɔn ə'kaunt əv meni jɪəz iks'piəriəns had become real experts at their work. Storm remained həd bi'kʌm riəl eks'pə:ts ət ðəə wə:k. stɔ:m ri'meind in front of the box that was being opened, as he wanted in frʌnt əv ðə bɒks ðət wəz bi:iŋ ɒpənd, əz hi: wɒntɪd to see what it contained. After a few minutes, he saw tə si: hwɒt ɪt kən'teind. ɑ:f'tə ə fju: minɪts, hi: sɔ:

that it contained many eastern articles which are usually ðət ɪt kən'teind meni i:stən ɑ:tɪklz hwɪtʃ ɑ: ju:ʒuəli sold very cheap. The man, however, explained that səʊld veri tʃi:p. ðə mæn, haʊ'evə, iks'pleind ðət the articles were no longer so cheap as they used to be.

ði ɑ:tɪklz wə: nəʊ lɒŋɡə səʊ tʃi:p əz ðei ju:st tə bi:.

They had always paid insurance on the goods, so that ðei həd ɔ:lweɪz peɪd ɪn'sʊərəns ɔn ðə ɡʊdz, səʊ ðət if anything should happen to them on the way to Europe, ɪf enɪθɪŋ ʃəd hæpən tə ðəm ɔn ðə wei tə jʊərəp, the firm would receive money for the damage that had ðə fə:m wəd ri'si:v mʌni fə ðə dæmɪdʒ ðət həd been done, but both during and after the war, they had bi:n dʌn, bət bəʊð dʒuəriŋ ənd ɑ:f'tə ðə wɔ:, ðei həd had to pay a much higher insurance on goods from həd tə peɪ ə mʌtʃ haɪər ɪn'sʊərəns ɔn ɡʊdz frəm foreign countries.

fɔrɪn kʌntrɪz.

Storm noticed that the building had many large doors, stɔ:m nəʊtɪst ðət ðə bɪldɪŋ həd meni lɑ:dʒ dɔ:z, through which he could see some lorries and also a þru: hwitʃ hi: kəd si: səm lɔrɪz ænd ɔ:lsou ə horse and cart. Porters were busy taking goods to the hɔ:s ænd kɑ:t. pɔ:təz wə: bɪzi teɪkɪŋ ɡʊdz tə ðə doors, where the lorries and carts were being loaded. dɔ:z, hwɛə ðə lɔrɪz ænd kɑ:ts wə: bi:ɪŋ laʊdɪd.

Storm watched the porters at work for some minutes stɔ:m wɒtʃt ðə pɔ:təz ət wə:k fə səm mɪnɪts and then spoke to one of them, saying that it must be ænd ðen spəʊk tə wʌn əv ðəm, seɪɪŋ ðæt ɪt mʌst bi:

hard work. "Yes, indeed it is, sir," the porter replied.
hɑ:d wə:k. "jes, ɪn'di:d ɪt ɪz, sə:," ðə pɔ:tə rɪ'plaid.

"And if I had one pound in money for every pound I
"ænd ɪf aɪ hæd wʌn paʊnd ɪn mʌni fə evri paʊnd aɪ have loaded in weight, I should be a very rich man!"

hæv laʊdɪd ɪn weɪt, aɪ ʃəd bi: ə veri rɪʃ mæn!"

Storm's new friend now offered to show him down to stɔ:mz nju: frend naʊ ɔ'fəd tə ʃəʊ hɪm daʊn tə the ship that he wanted to visit. On their way they ðə ʃɪp ðæt hi: wɒntɪd tə vɪzɪt. ɔn ðeə weɪ ðeɪ saw a boat full of coal leaving the harbour. Storm: "The sɔ: ə bəʊt fʊl əv kəʊl li:vɪŋ ðə hɑ:bə. stɔ:m: "ðə ship is just as dirty and black as the coal itself." "Yes, ʃɪp ɪz dʒʌst əz dɑ:ti ænd blæk əz ðə kəʊl ɪt'self." "jes, black is the right colour for a ship carrying coal." blæk ɪz ðə raɪt kʌlə fə ə ʃɪp kəriɪŋ kəʊl."

Storm: "Look, there are two small boats just in front stɔ:m: "lʊk, ðeə tu: smɔ:l bəʊts dʒʌst ɪn frʌnt load = put goods on indeed = really carrying coal = loaded with coal

Where is she bound for = where is she going to?

He ships,
he shipped,
he has shipped.

of her, pulling her along! They're called tugs, aren't əv hæ:, pulɪŋ hæ:r ə'ləŋ! ðə kɔ:ld tʌgz, a:nt they? Do you know where she is bound for?" "She is ðei? du: ju: nou hwæə fi: iz baʊnd fɔ:?" "fi: iz bound for Scandinavia, for one of the countries with baʊnd fə skændi'neɪvjə, fə wʌn əv ðə kʌntri:z wið little or no coal. The two small boats are called tugs lɪtl ɔ: nou kəʊl. ðə tu: smɔ:l bəʊts a: kɔ:ld tʌgz all right. They're pulling her out into the middle of ɔ:l rait. ðə pulɪŋ hæ:r aʊt ɪntə ðə mɪdl əv the river." "I don't understand why coal is shipped ðə rɪvə." "aɪ daʊnt ʌndə'stænd hwaɪ kəʊl ɪz ʃɪpt from London," said Storm, "because all the mines from frəm lʌndən," sed stɔ:m, "bi'kɔ:z ɔ:l ðə maɪnz frəm which the coal is taken are much farther north." "They hwɪtʃ ðə kəʊl ɪz teɪkn a: mʌtʃ fɑ:ðə nɔ:θ." "ðei usually ship the coal from some place near the coal ju:ʒuəli ʃɪp ðə kəʊl frəm sʌm pleɪs nɪə ðə kəʊl mines, but now and then it's shipped from London," the maɪnz, bʌt naʊ ənd ðen ɪts ʃɪpt frəm lʌndən," ðə man replied.

mæn rɪ'plaɪd.

When at last they reached the ship that Storm was hwen ət la:st ðei rɪ:tʃt ðə ʃɪp ðæt stɔ:m wəz looking for, he saw two sailors painting the side of the lu:kɪŋ fɔ:, hi: sɔ: tu: seɪləz peɪntɪŋ ðə saɪd əv ðə ship with black paint. Storm turned to his friend, and ʃɪp wið blæk peɪnt. stɔ:m tə:nd tə hɪz frend, ənd said, "We have now passed five or six ships, and on sed, "wi: hæv nau pa:st faiv ə siks fips, ənd ɔn all of them one or two sailors have been painting. Have ɔ:l əv ðəm wʌn ə tu: seiləz hæv bi:n peintiŋ. hæv sailors nothing else to do but to paint the sides of their seiləz nʌθiŋ els tə du: bət tə peint ðə saɪdz əv ðeə ships?" He called to the two sailors, asking them if fips?" hi: kɔ:ld tə ðə tu: seiləz, ɑ:skiŋ ðəm if the captain was on board. On hearing that he was, ðə kæptɪn wəz ɔn bɔ:d. ɔn hiəriŋ ðət hi: wəz, Storm said good-bye to his guide, and went on board.

stɔ:m sed gud'bai tə hi:z gaɪd, ənd went ɔn bɔ:d.
He found the captain standing with another officer of hi: faʊnd ðə kæptɪn stændiŋ wið ə'nʌðər ɔfisə əv the ship. When Storm had introduced himself, the ðə fip. hævn stɔ:m həd intrə'dju:st him'self, ði officer walked away, and Storm began to tell the cap-ɔfisə wɔ:kt ə'weɪ, ənd stɔ:m bi'gæn tə tel ðə kæptain what the manager had said. The captain soon got tin hʌwt ðə mænɪdʒə həd sed. ðə kæptɪn su:n gɒt very angry and said to Storm, "I'm a man who has veri æŋgri ənd sed tə stɔ:m, "aɪm ə mæn hu: hæz sailed all the oceans of the world, and yet your manager, seɪld ɔ:l ði ɒfənz əv ðə wɜ:ld, ənd jət jɔ: mænɪdʒə, who sits in his office all day, sends me his foolish hu: sɪts ɪn hi:z ɔfis ɔ:l dei, sendz mi: hi:z fu:lɪʃ orders."
ɔ:dəz."

officer

ocean = sea

grew (here) = got trade = business

However, after Storm had explained in detail why it haw'evə, a:ftə stɔ:m həd ɪks'pleɪnd ɪn di:teɪl hwaɪ ɪt was important that the captain should never decide wəz ɪm'pɔ:tənt ðət ðə kæptɪn ʃəd ˈnevə dɪ'saɪd anything for the firm on his own, the captain grew ənɪθɪŋ fə ðə fə:m ɔn hɪz oun, ðə kæptɪn grʊ:

quieter and promised to do only what he was told.
kwaɪətə ənd prɒmɪst tə du: ɔnli hwɒt hi: wəz təʊld.

"I will do as your manager wishes," he said. "The "aɪ wɪl du: əz jɔ: mænɪdʒə wɪʃɪz," hi: sed. "ðə trade between England and my country is very great, treɪd bi'twi:n ɪŋɡlənd ənd maɪ kʌntri ɪz veri greɪt, and I hope that I may help to make the two countries ənd aɪ haʊp ðət aɪ meɪ help tə meɪk ðə tu: kʌntriz buy still more from each other, so that the trade may baɪ stɪl mɔ: frəm i:tʃ əðə, sʌ ðət ðə treɪd meɪ become still greater."

bɪ'kʌm stɪl greɪtə."

When Storm returned to the office, the manager thanked hwen stɔ:m rɪ'tə:nd tə ðɪ ɔfis, ðə mænɪdʒə ʃæŋkt him for what he had done.

hɪm fə hwɒt hi: həd dʌn.

EXERCISE A.

While Storm was speaking to Marshall, the manager — the — for him and said that he wanted him to go down to a — lying in the — and speak to the — of the boat. The captain often decided things for the firm on his —, although he had no — to do so. The manager hoped that Storm would be able to — — what the captain said. He also asked him to go and pay the — on some goods. Then he wrote a — for the — of money that had to be paid in duty and told Storm to get a — for the cheque. Near the harbour Storm saw many buildings which were used for storing —. He learned that most of the grain which was — in the buildings was —, and that foreign countries — England with the greater part of her wheat. England has great cotton and woollen —. Storm's friend told him that as there were many — in the buildings, they had to keep cats, which were — on fresh meat. He had once been — by a rat. Storm saw a man using a — to open a box with strange — on its sides. The man was an — at his work and soon got it opened, and then Storm saw that it — many eastern articles. These goods were not so cheap now on account of the higher — that had to be paid. Through the doors of the building Storm saw some — and a horse and — which were being — with goods. A dirty — ship was leaving the harbour — along by two small boats. Storm learned that sometimes coal is — from London, and that this ship was — for Scandinavia. "But most of the coal is shipped from places near the coal —," Storm's new friend said.

EXERCISE B.

Write 200—300 words about a trade with a foreign country that has to do with your work in some way.

WORDS:
bell ring rang rung harbour
ship
ship (verb)
captain responsibility authority make out cheque amount receipt
stock store (verb)
grain wheat supply (verb)
industry machinery
rat
feed fed bite
bit bitten hammer
mark expert contain insurance lorry cart load black bound pull

mine
paint paint (verb)
sailor officer
ocean trade indeed Scandinavia
tug

There is sure to be something or other that you use in your work which comes from a foreign country. Tell us as much as you know about where it comes from, and how it gets here. Explain everything as well as you can in your own words.

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

The words who, whom, whose, which, are called relative [relativ] pronouns. Here is an example to show you how they are used: It is the postman who brings the letters in the morning. In this sentence there are two parts: 'It is the postman' and 'who brings the letters in the morning'. The relative pronoun who in the last part is connected with and takes the place of the word 'postman' in the first part.

Now, these relative pronouns are not all used in the same way. From the following examples you will see that who, whom, whose are used about persons, and that which is used about animals and things. You will also notice that who is used about the person who does or is something, but that whom is used about the person to whom something is done or happens, while whose is used about the person to whom something belongs. Examples: The man who found the boy was very old. The dog which found the boy was very old. The woman whom I saw yesterday was very old. The dog which I saw yesterday was very old. The book which I bought to-day was very dear. There comes the girl whose brother is ill.

Instead of who, whom, and which in the examples given we might have put that, which may also be used as a relative pronoun, both when we speak of persons and when we speak of animals or things. Here are some examples: Here comes the man that lives in the new house. It was his wife that I saw yesterday. Is this the cat that your mother gave you?

‘My father, whom you saw yesterday, has left for London this morning.’ ‘Buckingham Palace, which is one of the finest buildings in London, is the home of the King and Queen.’ In these sentences, where the relative pronoun is connected with and takes the place of the name of a thing or person, well-known beforehand, we cannot use that, but only the pronouns who (whom, whose) and which.

Notice that you may leave out the relative pronoun altogether when it takes the place of the person, the animal, or the thing that something is done to. Examples: It was his wife I saw yesterday. Is this the cat your mother gave you?

Questions:

What words are called relative pronouns? ... Which relative pronouns do we use when speaking of persons? ... And which do we use when speaking of animals or things? ... What word may be used instead of the relative pronouns ‘who’, ‘whom’, and ‘which’? ... Can you give an example of how the pronoun ‘whom’ is used? ... What is the genitive of the relative pronoun ‘who’? ... Can you give an example of how it is used? ...

DIRTY BUSINESS

“What have you got there?” Marshall asked, noticing “hʷɔt hæv ju: ɡɔt ðeə?” ma:fəl a:skt, noutisiŋ something that Storm was taking out of his pocket as səmθiŋ ðət stɔ:m wəz teikiŋ aut əv hi:z pɒkit əz they sat down to their lunch. “Stamps,” came the ðei sæt daʊn tə ðeə lʌnʃ. “stæmps,” keim ðə reply. “Let’s have a look at them,” Marshall said, riˈplai. “lets hæv ə luk ət ðəm,” ma:fəl sed, with the ready interest of a fellow-collector. Storm wið ðə redi intrist əv ə ˈfeloukəˈlektə. stɔ:m placed the stamps on the table, and Marshall began to pleist ðə stæmps ɔn ðə teibl, ənd ma:fəl biˈɡæn tə go through them. He took up one at a time, held it ɡo θru: ðəm. hi: tuk ʌp wʌn ət ə taɪm, held it regard = look at up to the light, and regarded it carefully from all sides.

ʌp tə ðə laɪt, ənd riˈɡɑ:dɪd ɪt keəfʊli frəm ɔ:l saɪdz.

among = in the number of

At last he picked out three among them and asked, ət la:st hi: pikt aʊt θri: əˈmʌŋ ðəm ənd a:skt,

“Who sold them to you?” “Why?” Storm wanted to “hu: sould ðəm tə ju:?” “hʷai?” stɔ:m wɒntɪd tə know. “Is there anything wrong with them?” “I nəʊ. “ɪz ðə r eniθiŋ rɔŋ wið ðəm?” “aɪ should say there is,” Marshall replied. “As far as I’m ʃəd sei ðə r ɪz,” ma:fəl riˈplaɪd. “əz fɑ:r əz aɪm able to judge, there are at least three false stamps eibl tə dʒʌdʒ, ðeər æt li:st pri: fɔ:ls stæmps among them." Storm regarded Marshall with surprise ə'maɪ ðəm." stɔ:m ri'ga:dɪd mɑ:fəl wɪð sə'praɪz in his eyes: "But the owner of the stamp-shop told me ɪn hɪz aɪz: "bət ði ɔʊnər əv ðə stæmpʃɒp təʊld mi:

on his word of honour that they were real and worth ɒn hɪz wə:d əv ɔnə ðæt ðeɪ wə: riəl ənd wə:θ the money. I must say that I don't know very much ðə mʌni. aɪ mʌst seɪ ðæt aɪ daʊnt nəʊ veri mʌʃ about stamps from that country, so I wasn't able to ə'baʊt stæmps frəm ðæt kʌntri, səʊ aɪ wəznt eibl tə judge for myself, but the owner was such a nice old dʒʌdʒ fə maɪ'self, bət ði ɔʊnə wəz sʌʃ ə naɪs əʊld man, and I really felt that he was telling me the truth mæn, ənd aɪ riəli felt ðæt hi: wəz təliɪŋ mi: ðə tru:θ truth = what is not false

about those stamps. It was that little shop with ə'baʊt ðəʊz stæmps. ɪt wəz ðæt litl ʃɒp wɪð stamps and coins a few houses from the office, you stæmps ənd kɔɪnz ə fju: haʊzɪz frəm ði ɔfis, ju:

know." "I thought so!" said Marshall. "Word of nəʊ." "aɪ θɔ:t səʊ!" sed mɑ:fəl. "wə:d əv honour! That man doesn't know what the word ɔnə! ðæt mæn dʌznt nəʊ hwɒt ðə wə:d

'honour' means. He won't tell the truth about anything
'ɔnə' mi:nz. hi: wəʊnt tel ðə tru:θ ə'baʊt enɪθɪŋ if he thinks he can make money by lying about it. It ɪf hi: θɪŋks hi: kæn meɪk mʌni baɪ laɪɪŋ ə'baʊt ɪt. ɪt

He lies, he lied, he has lied [laɪz, laɪd, laɪd] to lie — lying former = earlier

was the same with the former owner of the shop; he wæz ðə seim wið ðə fɔ:mər ounər əv ðə ʃɒp; hi:

was just as bad as this one; you can't trust those two wæz dʒʌst əz bæd əz ðis wʌn; ju: kɑ:nt trʌst ðəʊz tu:

either = any (of two)

men. You should never believe anything that either men. ju: ʃəd nevə bi'li:v eniθiŋ ðət aɪðər of them says. I went there once to buy some Roman əv ðəm sez. aɪ went ðeə wʌnz tə baɪ səm roumən coins in order to start a collection. I didn't know much kɔɪnz ɪn ɔ:də tə stɑ:t ə kə'leksən. aɪ dɪdnt nəʊ mʌtʃ about coins at that time and was not able to judge the ə'baʊt kɔɪnz ət ðæt taɪm ænd wæz nɒt eɪbl tə dʒʌdʒ ðə quality of two silver pieces the man showed me, so I kwoʊli ti əv tu: sɪlvə pi:sɪz ðə mæn ʃəʊd mi:, sɒ aɪ had to trust his word that the coins were real old həd tə trʌst hɪz wə:d ðət ðə kɔɪnz wə: riəl ould

Roman pieces. Some months later I was showing roumən pi:sɪz. sʌm mʌnθs leɪtə aɪ wæz ʃəʊɪŋ my new little collection to a friend, an expert in the maɪ nju: lɪtl kə'leksən tu ə frend, ən ɛkspə:t ɪn ðə matter of coins; and do you know what? He was mætər əv kɔɪnz; ænd du: ju: nəʊ hwɒt? hi: wæz able to pick out two false pieces among the coins, and eɪbl tə pik aʊt tu: fɔ:ls pi:sɪz ə'mʌŋ ðə kɔɪnz, ænd they were the ones which that lying old man, the former ðeɪ wə: ðə wʌnz hwaɪf ðæt laɪɪŋ ould mæn, ðə fɔ:mər owner of the shop, had sold me. No, you can't trust ounər əv ðə ʃɒp, həd səʊld mi:. nəʊ, ju: kɑ:nt trʌst either of those men. Now, of course, I've learned some aiðər əv ðəʊz men. nau, əv kɔ:s, aiv læ:nd sam of the ways to judge of the quality of a coin; when you əv ðə weiz tə dʒʌdʒ əv ðə kwɒliti əv ə kɔɪn; hwen ju:

drop it, for instance, you can often hear if it's false or dɹɒp ɪt, fər ɪnstəns, ju: kən ɔ:fən hiər ɪf ɪts fɔ:ls ə not." "But I don't understand their motives for doing nɒt." "bət aɪ daʊnt ʌndə'stænd ðeə maʊtɪvz fər du:ɪŋ motive = reason things like that," Storm said. "Even if they do earn a θɪŋz laɪk ðæt," stɔ:m sed. "i:vən ɪf ðeɪ du: ə:n ə few shillings more one day by saying something which fju: ʃɪlɪŋz mɔ: wʌn ðeɪ baɪ seɪɪŋ sʌmθɪŋ hwɪtʃ isn't correct, they're sure to make their customers angry, ɪznt kə'rekt, ðeə fʊə tə meɪk ðeə kʌstəməz æŋɡrɪ, correct = right so that they never return. Such business methods sou ðət ðeɪ nevə rɪ'tə:n. sʌtʃ bɪznɪs meθədz can't be very good." "No, of course not," Marshall kɑ:nt bi: veri ɡʊd." "nou, əv kɔ:s nɒt," mɑ:fəl replied. "I say, let's go and have some fun with him! rɪ'plaɪd. "aɪ seɪ, lets ɡəʊ ənd hæv səm fʌn wɪð hɪm!

He doesn't know me; I might go in and try to make hi: dʌznt nəʊ mi:; aɪ maɪt ɡəʊ ɪn ənd traɪ tə meɪk him buy back those stamps. Shall we?" "There's hɪm baɪ bæk ðəʊz stæmps. ʃəl wi:?" "ðəz no keeping you down," Storm answered with a laugh; nou ki:piŋ ju: daʊn," stɔ:m ɑ:nsəd wɪð ə lɑ:f;

"but how will you do it?" "I don't quite know, yet.
"bət haʊ wɪl ju: du: ɪt?" "aɪ daʊnt kwaɪt nəʊ, jət.

	Persons like our kind friend with the false stamps pə:snz laik auə kaind frend wið ðə fə:ls stæmps usually have great respect for people with money, so ju:ʒuəli həv greit ris'pekt fə pi:pl wið mʌni, sou perhaps I might tell him a story about being a young pə'hæps ai mait tel him ə stɔ:ri ə'baut bi:ɪŋ ə jʌŋ a man of property = a rich man	man of property, who has become interested in stamps mæn əv prɒpəti, hu: həz bi'kʌm intristid in stæmps and wants to buy a whole collection at once. What ænd wɒnts tə baɪ ə haʊl kə'leksən ət wʌnz. hwɒt do you think of that?" Marshall asked. "The plan du: ju: ɪŋk əv ðæt?" mɑ:ʃəl ɑ:skt. "ðə plæn perfect = which cannot be better	seems perfect to me," Storm answered. "I can find si:mz pə:fikt tə mi:," stɔ:m ɑ:nsəd. "ai kən faɪnd perform = do	nothing wrong with it, if you think you can perform nʌθɪŋ rɒŋ wið it, ɪf ju: ɪŋk ju: kən pə'fɔ:m admire = look up to	your part of the fun. I must say that I admire your jɔ: pɑ:t əv ðə fʌn. ai mʌst sei ðæt ai əd'maɪə jɔ: courage. I'm sure I couldn't go through with it without kəɪdʒ. aɪm suə ai kʊdn't ɡoʊ θru: wið it wið'aʊt act = thing done	showing by some word or act that I was making fun ʃəʊɪŋ baɪ sʌm wə:d ɔ:r ækt ðæt ai wəz meɪkɪŋ fʌn of him." "Well, to tell the truth," Marshall replied, əv hɪm. "wel, tə tel ðə tru:θ," mɑ:ʃəl rɪ'plaɪd, "I'm a little afraid, myself. And I have to support my "aɪm ə lɪtl ə'freɪd, maɪ'self. ænd ai həv tə sə'pɔ:t maɪ self-respect by telling myself that our motives in this 'selfrɪs'pekt baɪ telɪŋ maɪ'self ðæt əʊə məʊtɪvz ɪn ðɪs foolish affair are perfectly pure! — Well, here we are fu:lɪʃ ə'fɛə a: pə:'fɪktli pjuə! — wel, hɪə wi: a:r at the shop. You wait outside for me!" ət ðə ʃɒp. ju: weɪt 'aʊt'saɪd fɔ: mi:!"

A quarter of an hour later Marshall appeared again at ə kwɔ:tər əv ən aʊə leɪtə mɑ:ʃəl ə'piəd ə'geɪn ət the door of the shop. He was smiling all over his face, ðə dɔ:r əv ðə ʃɒp. hi: wəz smaɪlɪŋ ɔ:l ɒvə hɪz feɪs, so Storm could understand that everything had gone sou stɔ:m kəd ʌndə'stænd ðæt evrɪθɪŋ həd gɒn well. As soon as they had turned round the corner, wel. əz su:n əz ðeɪ həd tɜ:nd raʊnd ðə kɔ:nə,

Marshall had to stop and have a good laugh, before mɑ:ʃəl həd tə stɒp ænd hæv ə gud la:f, bɪ'fɔ:

he was able to tell Storm what had taken place in hi: wəz eɪbl tə tel stɔ:m hwɒt həd teɪkn pleɪs ɪn the shop.

ðə ʃɒp.

"First," Marshall said, "I told him my name was
"fɜ:st," mɑ:ʃəl sed, "aɪ təʊld hɪm maɪ neɪm wəz

Reginald Willoughby, just returned from India, where redʒɪnəld wɪləbi, dʒʌst rɪ'tɜ:nd frəm ɪndjə, hwɛər

I had been hunting lions, or whatever it is one hunts aɪ həd bi:n haʊntɪŋ laɪənz, ɔ: hwɒt'evər ɪz wʌn haʊnts in India. There are lions in India, aren't there? This ɪn ɪndjə. ðeər a: laɪənz ɪn ɪndjə, a:nt ðeə? ðɪs seemed to make a deep impression upon him, especially sɪ:md tə meɪk ə di:p ɪm'presən ə'pɒn hɪm, ɪs'peʃəli lion

when I began speaking about the stamp-collection that hwen ai bi'gæn spi:kiŋ ə'baut ðə 'stæmpkə'lekʃən ðæt

I was planning to start. His behaviour at once showed ai wəz plæniŋ tə sta:t. hi: bi'heivjə ət wʌns ʃaʊd great respect, and he gave me to understand that he ɡreɪt rɪs'pekt, ənd hi: ɡeɪv mi: tu ʌndə'stænd ðæt hi:

would think it a privilege to be allowed to help me wəd ɪŋk ɪt ə prɪvɪlɪdʒ tə bi: ə'laʊd tə help mi:

to find the very best stamps for my collection. I told tə faɪnd ðə veri best stæmps fə mai kə'lekʃən. ai təʊld him all about 'my life in India': that I had visited the him ɔ:l ə'baut 'mai laɪf ɪn ɪndjə: ðæt ai həd vɪzɪtɪd ðə court of a famous prince in India and had been invited kɔ:t əv ə feɪməs prɪns ɪn ɪndjə ənd həd bi:n ɪn'vaɪtɪd to stay at his palace, where I lived like a prince among tə steɪ ət hi: pælɪs, hwɛər ai lɪvd laɪk ə prɪns ə'mʌŋ the real princes — he had seven sons and four brothers! ðə rɪəl prɪnsɪz — hi: həd sevn sʌnz ənd fɔ: brʌðəz!

It was perfectly clear from my words and behaviour ɪt wəz pə'fɪktli kliə frəm mai wə:dz ənd bi'heivjə that I wasn't very clever and knew nothing at all about ðæt ai wəznt veri klevə ənd nʃu: nʌpiŋ ət ɔ:l ə'baut stamps. He brought out all kinds of stamps, and when stæmps. hi: brɔ:t aʊt ɔ:l kaɪndz əv stæmps, ənd hwen he saw that I showed an interest in those from India, hi: sɔ: ðæt ai ʃaʊd ən ɪntrɪst ɪn ðəʊz frəm ɪndjə, he gave me a lot of information about them, only half hi: ɡeɪv mi: ə lɒt əv ɪnfə'meɪʃən ə'baut ðəm, ʌnli ha:f

of which was correct; the rest had very little to do əv hwiʃ wəz kə'rekt; ðə rest həd veri litl tə du:

with the truth. I 'believed' every word, of course, wɪð ðə tru:θ. ai 'bi:li:vəd' evri wə:d, əv kɔ:s, and I could see from the look in his eyes that he and ai kəd si: frəm ðə luk in hɪz aɪz ðət hi:

thought he was going to get a nice bit of good English þɔ:t hi: wəz ɡəʊɪŋ tə get ə naɪs bɪt əv ɡʊd ɪŋɡlɪʃ money out of me. The more foolish my words were, mʌni aʊt əv mi:. ðə mɔ: fu:lɪʃ maɪ wə:dz wə:, and the more foolish things I did, the more he seemed and ðə mɔ: fu:lɪʃ þɪŋz ai dɪd, ðə mɔ: hi: si:məd to admire and respect me. I tell you, I had such trouble tʊ əd'maɪər ənd rɪs'pekt mi:. ai tel ju:, ai həd sʌʃ tɹəbl trying not to laugh that I was quite weak.

traɪɪŋ nɒt tə lɑ:f ðət ai wəz kwaɪt wi:k.

weak = not strong

"At last I thought the right time had come to take out
"ət la:st ai þɔ:t ðə raɪt taɪm həd kʌm tə teɪk aʊt your false stamps. 'Look here!' I said; 'I've just bought jɔ: fɔ:ls stæmps. 'luk hɪə!' ai sed; 'aɪv dʒʌst bɔ:t some very fine stamps from a friend, but as you have səm veri faɪn stæmps frəm ə frend, bət əz ju: həv made me much more interested in Indian stamps now, meɪd mi: mʌʃ mɔ:r ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ɪndjən stæmps naʊ,

Indian = from India

perhaps you would like to buy these?' He grew a bit pə'hæps ju: wəd laɪk tə baɪ ði:z?' hi: ɡru: ə bɪt cool at that, so I started for the door, as if I wanted to ku:l ət ðæt, sʌʊ ai stɑ:tɪd fə ðə dɔ:. əz ɪf ai wɒntɪd tə

quite (here) =
I agree

drop the whole matter. At once, his humour changed, drɒp ðə haʊl mətə. ət wʌns, hɪz hju:mə tʃeɪndʒd, and he was all smiles again and doing his best to keep ænd hi: wəz ɔ:l smaɪlz ə'geɪn ænd du:ɪŋ hɪz best tə ki:p an important customer. 'Hem, how much have you paid ən ɪm'pɔ:tənt kʌstəmə. 'hɛm, haʊ mʌtʃ həv ju: peɪd for them?' he asked, opening the drawer where he kept fɔ: ðəm?' hɪ: ɑ:skt, ɒpəniŋ ðə drɔ:ə hævð hɪ: keɪt his money, as if he was going to pay for them at once. hɪz mʌni, əz ɪf hɪ: wəz ɡəʊɪŋ tə peɪ fɔ: ðəm ət wʌns.

'A pound,' I replied, thinking it better to add something
'ə paʊnd,' aɪ ri'plaɪd, θɪŋkɪŋ ɪt betə tu æd sʌmθɪŋ to the amount. 'Well, I can't give you as much as that, tə ðɪ ə'maʊnt. 'wel, aɪ kɑ:nt ɡɪv ju: əz mʌtʃ əz ðæt, of course,' he answered; 'I have to sell them again, you əv kɔ:s,' hɪ: ɑ:nsəd; 'aɪ hæv tə sel ðəm ə'geɪn, ju:

know.' 'Oh, quite,' I said; 'I understand that perfectly.
nəʊ.' 'əʊ, kwaɪt,' aɪ sed; 'aɪ ʌndə'stænd ðæt pə:fɪktli.

Shall we say fifteen shillings? That will satisfy us both.'
ʃəl wi: sei fɪfti:n ʃɪlɪŋz? ðæt wɪl sʌtɪsfai ʌs bəʊθ.'

He had a hard time pulling himself together, poor hi: həd ə hɑ:d taɪm pulɪŋ hɪm'self tə'ɡedə, puə fellow! Just think of it — to have to take back the feləʊ! dʒʌst θɪŋk əv ɪt — tə hæv tə teɪk bæk ðə false stamps he himself had sold! And he couldn't very fɔ:ls stæmps hi: hɪm'self həd səʊld! ænd hi: kʊdn't veri well say anything, because I might find out that it was wel sei enɪθɪŋ. bɪ'kɔ:z aɪ maɪt faɪnd aʊt ðæt ɪt wəz he who had sold them. I was having the time of my hi: hu: həd sould ðəm. ai wəz həvɪŋ ðə taɪm əv maɪ life, I tell you.

laɪf, ai tel ju:.

“Well, he tried to get out of paying any money to me, “wel, hi: traɪd tə get aʊt əv peɪɪŋ enɪ mʌni tə mi:, of course, by suggesting that when I had decided what əv kɔ:s, baɪ sə'dʒestɪŋ ðæt hwen ai həd dɪ'saɪdɪd hwɔt stamps I wanted, I could pay that amount less. ‘Yes, stæmps ai wɒntɪd, ai kəd peɪ ðæt ə'maʊnt les. 'jes, just as you wish,’ I said; ‘that’s perfectly all right.

dʒʌst əz ju: wɪʃ,’ ai sed; ‘ðæts pə:fɪktli ɔ:l raɪt.

I can pay for everything when I come for the stamps, ai kən peɪ fər evrɪθɪŋ hwen ai kʌm fə ðə stæmps, then. You see, I should like you to put them in the ðen. ju: si:, ai ʃəd laɪk ju: tə put ðəm ɪn ðə right order for me, put them in a book, you know, and raɪt ɔ:də fɔ: mi:, put ðəm ɪn ə buk, ju: nəʊ, ənd all that. You do that, too, don’t you?” ‘Yes, it will cost ɔ:l ðæt. ju: du: ðæt, tu:, daʊnt ju:?’ ‘jes, ɪt wɪl kɔst a bit extra, of course,’ he answered. ‘Of course!’

ə bɪt ɛkstrə, əv kɔ:s,’ hi: ɑ:nsəd. ‘əv kɔ:s!’

I replied.
ai rɪ'plaɪd.

“We looked at the stamps again, and I told him some “wi: lʊkt ət ðə stæmps ə'geɪn, ənd ai təʊld hɪm səm more ‘facts’ about myself: I had returned to look after mɔ: 'fæktz ə'baut maɪ'self: ai həd rɪ'tə:nd tə lʊk ɑ:fteɪ

Chapter Fifty (50).

property = that which is owned

some property in Scotland that had become mine after səm prɒpəti in skotland ðæt həd bi'kʌm main a:ftə an uncle. To be sure, it was very strange for me to ən ʌŋkl. tə bi: suə, it wəz veri streindəz fə mi: tə be back in England after having lived for more than bi: bæk in iŋɡlənd a:ftə hæviŋ livd fə mɔ: ðən a year at the court of an Indian prince. Out there, ə jɪə ət ðə kɔ:t əv ən indjən prins. aut ðeə, there had been five men just to look after the rooms ðeə həd bi:n faiv men dʒʌst tə luk a:ftə ðə ru:mz and the clothes of each guest at the palace, and to see ænd ðə kləʊðz əv i:tʃ gest ət ðə pælis, ænd tə si:

that their masters had everything they wanted. But ðæt ðeə mɑ:stəz həd evriθiŋ ðei wəntid. bət here I felt that I was hardly master of my own house — hiə ai felt ðæt ai wəz 'hɑ:dli mɑ:stə əv mai oun haʊs — the housemaids did as they wanted to, etc.

ðə haʊsmeidz did əz ðei wəntid tu, i'tsetrə.

“You should have heard me, Storm! One would think “ju: ʃəd həv hə:d mi:, stɔ:m! wʌn wəd θiŋk that any one with just the usual amount of common ðæt eni wʌn wið dʒʌst ðə ju:ʒuəl ə'maʊnt əv kɒmən sense = understanding

sense would be able to see through my foolish behaviour sens wəd bi: eibl tə si: þru: mai fu:lɪʃ bi'heivjə

He drank it all up = he believed all of it.

and my stories. But not he! He drank it all up!
ænd mai stɔ:riz. bət nɒt hi: hi: dræŋk it ɔ:l ʌp!

“When I had ‘chosen’ a lot of expensive stamps and was “hwen ai həd 'tʃəʊzn ə lɒt əv iks'pensiv stæmps ænd wəz going to leave, I 'discovered' that I had very little gəʊɪŋ tə li:v, ai 'dis'kʌvəd θæt ai həd veri litl money in my pocket, and said that as this was the case, mʌni in mai pɒkɪt, ənd sed θæt əs ðis wəz ðə keɪs, perhaps it was just as well if he paid the fifteen shillings pə'hæps ɪt wəz dʒʌst əz wel ɪf hi: peɪd ðə fɪfti:n ʃɪlɪŋz now. He had to do it, of course, and here's the money!"

nəʊ. hi: həd tə du: ɪt, əv kɔ:s, ənd hɪəz ðə mʌni!"

"Nice work, Marshall, although a bit thick!" Storm
"naɪs wɜ:k, mɑ:ʃəl, ɔ:lðəʊ ə bɪt θɪk!" stɔ:m a bit thick = almost too much was able to say at last, when he had stopped laughing.

wəz eɪbl tə sei ət la:st, hwen hi: həd stɒpt lɑ:fɪŋ.

"I shouldn't have been able to perform an act like that.
"ai ʃʊdn̩t həv bi:n eɪbl tə pə'fɔ:m ən ækt laɪk ðæt.

I'm sorry I couldn't be there myself. He must have aɪm sɔ:ri ai kʊdn̩t bi: ðeə maɪ'self. hi: mʌst həv very little common sense to believe a story like that.

veri litl kɒmən sens tə bi'li:v ə stɔ:ri laɪk ðæt.

But no doubt he will be brought to his senses again bət nəʊ daʊt hi: wɪl bi: brɔ:t tə hɪz sensɪz ə'geɪn in a few days, when no Reginald Willoughby appears ɪn ə fju: deɪz, hwen nəʊ redʒɪnəld wɪləbi ə'piəz to buy his Indian stamps, and then he will begin to tə baɪ hɪz ɪndjən stæmps, ənd ðen hi: wɪl bɪ'ɡɪn tə put two and two together. Perhaps that will teach him pʊt tu: ənd tu: tə'geðə. pə'hæps ðæt wɪl ti:tʃ hɪm not to sell false stamps in future." nɒt tə sel fɔ:ls stæmps ɪn fju:tʃə."

They decided to go home by train, but at the station dei di'saidid tə gou houn bai trein, bət ət ðə steifən a railwayman told them that there would be no trains a reilweimən tould ðəm ðət ðeə wəd bi: nou treinz for the next two hours, as a train had run into an fə ðə nekst tu: auəz, əz ə trein həd rʌn intu ən empty carriage at the station and almost smashed it up.

empti kærɪdʒ ət ðə steifən ənd ɔ:lmoʊst smæʃt ɪt ʌp.

It had to be taken away piece by piece, which a lot of ɪt həd tə bi: teɪkn ə'wei pi:s bai pi:s, hwiʃ ə lɒt əv workers were now doing. The information that the wə:kəz wə: nau du:ɪŋ. ði ɪnfə'meɪʃən ðət ðə railwayman gave them made them change their plans. reilweimən geɪv ðəm meɪd ðəm tʃeɪndʒ ðeɪz plænz.

But they were not sorry, as it was Saturday afternoon bət ðei wə: nɒt sɒri, əz ɪt wəz sætədi ɑ:fʔənu:n and they were just in the humour for doing something ənd ðei wə: dʒʌst ɪn ðə hju:mə fə du:ɪŋ sʌmʃɪŋ else and not for going home. "I know the best way els ənd nɒt fə gouɪŋ houn. "aɪ nou ðə best wei of spending the next two hours," Storm said. "If it əv spændɪŋ ðə nekst tu: auəz," stɔ:m sed. "ɪf ɪt isn't too much trouble, I should like you to go with ɪznt tu: mʌʃ trʌbl, aɪ ʃəd laɪk ju: tə gou wɪð me to a good tailor's in the suburbs to order a new suit.

mi: tu ə gud teɪləz ɪn ðə sʌbə:bz tu ɔ:dər ə nju: sju:t.

It seems to me that I must have grown bigger since ɪt si:mz tə mi: ðət aɪ məst hæv grəʊn bɪgə sɪns

I came to England; my clothes don't fit me any longer. ai keim tu inglənd; mai kləʊðz daʊnt fit mi: ɛni lɔŋgə.

Another reason is that the manager has invited me to ə'nʌðə ri:zn iz ðæt ðə mænɪdʒə hæz ɪn'vɪtaɪd mi: tə dinner at his home in a month's time, and I should dɪnər ət hɪz haʊm ɪn ə mʌnθs taɪm, ænd ai ʃəd like to look my best that evening, in a really well-fitting laɪk tə luk mai best ðæt i:vnɪŋ, ɪn ə riəlɪ wɛlfɪtɪŋ suit." "Oh, I see!" replied Marshall. "You want to sju:t." "ou, ai si:!" rɪ'plaid mɑ:fəl. "ju: wɒnt tə shine before the weaker sex in the person of Marion.

ʃaɪn bɪ'fɔ: ðə wi:kə seks ɪn ðə pə:sn əv mæriən.

The old story of the stronger sex trying to make an ði ould stɔ:ri əv ðə strɒŋgə seks traɪɪŋ tə meɪk ən impression on the weaker sex! But I thought the ɪm'preʃən ɒn ðə wi:kə seks! bət ai þɔ:t ðə dinner was going to be a big affair with all the guests dɪnə wəz ɡəʊɪŋ tə bi: ə bɪɡ ə'feə wɪð ɔ:l ðə ɡests in dinner-jackets?" "No, it's just a small dinner-party ɪn dɪnədʒækɪts?" "nəʊ, ɪts dʒʌst ə smɔ:l dɪnəpɑ:ti with only the family and two or three guests, so no wɪð ɒnli ðə fæmɪli ænd tu: ə ʒri: ɡests, səʊ nəʊ stand-up collar will be necessary. I don't like stiff 'stænd'ʌp kɒlə wɪl bi: nesɪsəri. ai daʊnt laɪk stɪf collars. Not only are they so stiff that I can hardly kɒləz. nɒt ɒnli a: ðeɪ səʊ stɪf ðæt ai kən hɑ:dli turn my head, but I feel that my whole body gets stiff tə:n mai hed, bət ai fi:l ðæt mai haʊl bɔ:di ɡets stɪf sex

There are two sexes, men and women.

*stand-up
collar*

when I wear one, and I move about like a schoolboy hwen ai wɛə wʌn, ʌnd ai mu:v ə'baʊt laɪk ə sku:lboɪ at his first party." "Yes, I feel like that, too. So ət hɪz fɜːst pɑːti." "jes, ai fi:l laɪk ðæt, tu:. sou you're going to a family-dinner at the manager's! I juə ɡoʊɪŋ tu ə fæmɪlɪdɪnər ət ðə mænɪdʒəz! ai wonder who put the idea into his head to ask you to wʌndə hu: put ði aɪ'dɪə ɪntə hɪz hed tu ɑːsk ju: tə dinner." "You're all wrong there. It's a privilege dɪnə." "juər ɔ:l rɔŋ ðɛə. ɪts ə prɪvɪlɪdʒ I've earned for myself by the clever work I've peraɪv ə:nd fə maɪ'self baɪ ðə klevə wɜ:k aɪv pəformed and by my bright conversation!" "Oh, stop 'fɔ:md ʌnd baɪ maɪ braɪt kɔnvə'seɪʃən!" "ou, stɔp a second, stop a second, my poor friend!" Marshall ə sekənd, stɔp ə sekənd, maɪ puə frend!" mɑːʃəl said. "Rule number one for 'the perfect gentleman':
sed. "ru:l nʌmbə wʌn fə 'ðə pə:fɪkt dʒentlmən': Never speak well of yourself, but leave that to others!"
nevə spi:k wel əv jɔː'self, bʌt li:v ðæt tu ʌðəz!"

EXERCISE A.

WORDS:
 among regard false judge owner honour truth

Marshall — Storm's stamps carefully from all sides.
 He picked out three — them, saying that they were —, as far as he was able to —. Storm said that the — of the shop had told him on his word of — that the stamps were not false. Marshall said that the owner of the shop would not tell the — if he was able to make money by — instead, and that it was the same thing with the — owner. "You cannot — such men; you cannot believe anything that — of them says," Marshall told Storm. Storm did not understand the shopkeeper's — for telling something which was not —. The owner of the shop had great — for people with money. Marshall said that he would tell him that he was a young man of —. The plan seemed — to Storm, but he asked Marshall if he thought he could — his part of it. When Marshall came out of the shop, he had to have a good — at what had happened. Marshall had told the shopkeeper that he had returned from —, where he had been hunting —. The — of the owner of the shop showed that he felt great — for Marshall, and he said he would think it a — to help him. Marshall told him about his — in India. He had visited the — of a famous prince. The more foolish — he performed, the more the owner of the shop seemed to — and respect him. At home he was hardly — of his own house, Marshall had said. The owner of the shop was not a man with common —. As it was Saturday afternoon, Marshall and Storm were just in the — for doing something else, and not for going home. A — told Storm and Marshall that there would be no trains for the next two hours. A lot of — had to take away a smashed carriage. Storm's clothes did not — him any longer. Men are called the stronger —, while women are called the — sex. Storm said that he did not like — collars.

lie
former trust either rhotive correct respect respect (verb) property perfect perform humour
laugh
India
lion
behaviour privilege life court act admire master
sense railwayman worker fit
sex
weak weaker sex stiff
collar

EXERCISE B.

Answer these questions with full sentences:

In or near what town do you live? ... Has any interesting event in the history of your country taken place there, or has any famous person lived there? ... Does the town do anything to tell tourists about this? ... What is the most important industry or trade in your part of the country? ... Are you connected with it in any way? ... What do you like best about your town? ... Is there anything you do not like so well there? ... Would you want any important things in the town to be different if you had the authority to decide what was to be done? ...

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

The words who, whom, whose, which, what, are used to ask questions. When used in this way, they are called interrogative [intə'rɒgətɪv] pronouns. Here are some examples: Who is this man? Whom did you visit? Whose book is this? Which of the children is the youngest? What are you looking for?

Who, whom, whose, are only used about persons, as may be seen from the examples given.

What before a noun is used about both things and persons. Examples: What meat is this? What man would do that? Without a noun following, what is used about things only: What do you want?

Which is used about both persons and things when it is followed by 'of' and a noun. Examples: Which of the days of the week is the first? Which of the girls has told you this story? Even if you leave out 'of' and the noun, you must use which if you ask about one or more out of a limited number of persons or things. If, for instance, you speak to a person about some books that you have both read, you may ask: "Which do you like best?" You need not say "Which of these books do you like best?", because the person whom you are asking knows what books you are speaking of. Here are some more examples where you may use which without 'of' and a noun. Instead of saying "Which of the chairs do you prefer to sit in?", you may say "Which chair do you prefer to sit in?" Instead of "Which of the boys did you give the money?", you may ask "Which boy did you give the money?"

Questions:

Which of the interrogative pronouns are used about persons? ... Which of the interrogative pronouns are used about things? ... When is 'which' used? ... Which of the interrogative pronouns are the same words as some of the relative pronouns? ...

A LONDON FOG

It is often said that as soon as two Englishmen have it iz ɔ:fən sed ðæt əz su:n əz tu: ɪŋɡlɪʃmən hæv been introduced to each other and have said, "How bi:n intrə'dju:st tu i:tʃ ʌðə ænd hæv sed, "hau-do you do!" they always begin to talk about the dʒu'du:!" ðei ɔ:lweɪz bɪ'ɡɪn tə tɔ:k ə'baut ðə weather. This is not because the Englishman cannot weðə. ðɪs iz nɒt bi'kɔz ði ɪŋɡlɪʃmən kænɒt find any other subject to discuss, but because he wants fɑɪnd enɪ ʌðə sʌbdʒɪkt tə dɪs'kʌs, bʌt bi'kɔz hi: wʌnts to get an impression of the person he is talking to, tə get ən ɪm'preʃən əv ðə pə:sn hi: iz tɔ:kɪŋ tu, before he starts discussing other subjects. And withbi'fɔ: hi: stɑ:ts dɪs'kʌsɪŋ ʌðə sʌbdʒɪkts. ænd wɪð-out doubt the weather is a good subject for discussion,

'aʊt daʊt ðə weðər iz ə gud sʌbdʒɪkt fə dɪs'kʌʃən, because there is so much that can be said about it.

bi'kɔz ðeər iz sʌʊ mʌtʃ ðæt kən bi: sed ə'baut ɪt.

Many people, for example, are surprised, upon coming meni pi:pl, fə ɪg'zɑ:mpl, a: sə'praɪzd, ə'pɒn kʌmɪŋ to London, to find that the sun shines at all. They tə lʌndən, tə faɪnd ðæt ðə sʌn ʃaɪnz ət ɔ:l. ðei expect to find either fog or rain. They have heard ɪks'pekt tə faɪnd aɪðə fɔg ə rein. ðei hæv hə:d

so much about the London fog that they are of the sou mʌtʃ ə'haʊt ðə lʌndən fɔg ðæt ðei a:r əv ði opinion that without a fog London is not London. And ə'pinjən ðæt wið'aʊt ə fɔg lʌndən iz nɒt lʌndən. ənd

Storm had been of the same opinion. But in London stɔ:m həd bi:n əv ðə seim ə'pinjən. bət in lʌndən he was told that there would be no fog before the hi: wəz təʊld ðæt ðeə wəd hi: nəʊ fɔg bi'fɔ: ði autumn. When October came, it happened almost daily ɔ:təm. hwen ɔk'təʊbə keim, it hæpnd ɔ:lmu:st deili daily = every day that he asked Marshall, "What about that fog? Do ðæt hi: a:skt mɑ:fəl, "hwaɪt ə'baut ðæt fɔg? du:

you think I'll ever see a fog while staying here?" As ju: θɪŋk aɪ evə si: ə fɔg hwaɪl steɪɪŋ hiə?" əz a rule Marshall did not answer that question, but one ə ru:l mɑ:fəl did nɒt a:nsə ðæt kwɛstʃən, bət wʌn morning at seven o'clock he stood, already dressed, at mɔ:nɪŋ ət sevn ə'klɒk hi: stʊd, ɔ:l'redi drest, ət the side of Storm's bed saying, "Now get up, young ðə saɪd əv stɔ:mz bed seɪɪŋ, "naʊ get ʌp, jʌŋ man! As far as I remember it's you who have such mæn! əz fa:r əz aɪ ri'membə its ju: hu: hæv sʌtʃ great belief in getting up early in the morning." "Yes, ɡreɪt bi'li:f in ɡetɪŋ ʌp ə:li in ðə mɔ:nɪŋ." "jes, have belief in = believe in that is so, only my belief isn't quite so strong when ðæt iz sʊ, ʌnli maɪ bi'li:f iznt kwait sʊ strɒŋ hwen it's seven o'clock in the morning and I'm still in bed," its sevn ə'klɒk in ðə mɔ:nɪŋ ənd aɪm stɪl in bed," normal = usual

Storm said sleepily. "Sorry to have called you at this stɔ:m sed sli:pili. "sɔ:ri tə həv kɔ:ld ju: ət ðis early hour, but you'll no doubt thank me for it and ə:li · auə, bət ju:l nou daʊt ʰæŋk mi: fər it ənd get out of bed quickly when I tell you that to-day at get aʊt əv bed kwikli hwen ai tel ju: ðət tə'deɪ ət last we've got our normal autumn weather. There's la:st wi:v gɒt auə nɔ:məl ɔ:təm weðə. ðəz a thick fog outside, and as far as I can see from our ə ʰik fɔg 'aʊt'saɪd, ənd əz fɑ:r əz ai kən si: frəm auə windows, it's even unusually thick." wɪndəʊz, ɪts i:vən ən'ju:zʊəli ʰik."

Storm at once jumped out of bed. "What? A fog?
stɔ:m ət wʌns dʒʌmpt aʊt əv bed. "hwɒt? ə fɔg?

You don't say so!" He ran to the window to see for ju: daʊnt sei sɔ!" hi: ræn tə ðə wɪndəʊ tə si: fə himself and then turned to Marshall, saying, "You're hɪm'self ənd ðen tə:nd tə mɑ:fəl, seɪɪŋ, "juə quite right! Well, the London fog does exist, then." kwɑɪt raɪt! wel, ðə lʌndən fɔg dʌz ɪg'zɪst, ðen."

Marshall: "Yes, in fact it has come about a month mɑ:fəl: "jes, ɪn fækt ɪt həz kʌm ə'baut ə mʌnθ earlier than usual, and, of course, we are not very ə:lɪə ðæn ju:zʊəl, ənd, əv kɔ:s, wi: a: nɒt veri pleased. Normally fogs come in November." pli:zd. nɔ:məli fɔgz kʌm ɪn nɒv'embə."

An hour later Storm was sitting with the Marshalls ən auə leɪtə stɔ:m wəz sɪtɪŋ wɪð ðə mɑ:fəlz round the breakfast table. The light in the room was raund ðə brekfəst teibl. ðə laɪt ɪn ðə ru:m wəz on, because it was as dark as night outside. Storm: ɒn, bɪ'kɔ:z ɪt wəz əz da:k əz naɪt 'aʊt'saɪd. stɔ:m:

"How dark it is — so late in the morning! It ought
"haʊ da:k ɪt ɪz — sɔʊ leɪt ɪn ðə mɔ:nɪŋ! ɪt ɔ:t to be light at this time of the day." Mrs. Marshall: tə bi: laɪt ət ðɪs taɪm əv ðə deɪ." mɪsɪz mɑ:fəl:

"Yes, it's extremely dark, but the fog is really quite "jes, ɪts ɪks'tri:mli da:k, bət ðə fɒg ɪz riəli kwaɪt unusually thick." Mr. Marshall: "I am glad to say ʌn'ju:zuali þɪk." mɪstə mɑ:fəl: "aɪ əm glæd tə seɪ that as a rule it's not so thick. Sometimes there's a ðæt əz ə ru:l ɪts nɒt sɔʊ þɪk. sʌmtaɪmz ðəz ə mist early in the morning. A mist is not so thick as mɪst ə:li ɪn ðə mɔ:nɪŋ. ə mɪst ɪz nɒt sɔʊ þɪk əz mist = thin fog

a fog. You will also find mists and fogs in the country.
ə fɒg. ju: wɪl ɔ:lsɔʊ faɪnd mɪsts ænd fɒgz ɪn ðə kʌntri.

The mist is white and clean. This cannot always be ðə mɪst ɪz hwaɪt ænd kli:n. ðɪs kænɒt ɔ:lwəz bi:

said of the fog, which may be extremely dirty in towns sed əv ðə fɒg, hwaɪf meɪ bi: ɪks'tri:mli dɑ:ti ɪn taʊnz with many factories. While discussing the subject of wɪð meni fæktərɪz. hwaɪl dɪs'kʌsɪŋ ðə sʌbdʒɪkt əv fog and mist, I ... "I'm afraid that Storm and I must fɒg ænd mɪst, aɪ ... "aɪm ə'freɪd ðæt stɔ:m ænd aɪ mʌst leave now," Marshall interrupted his father. "It will li:v naʊ," mɑ:fəl ɪntə'rʌptɪd hɪz fa:ðə. "ɪt wɪl dad = father

take us more time to reach the office to-day on account teik ʌs mɔ: taim tə ˈri:tʃ ði ɔfis tə'dei ɔn ə'kaunt of the fog." "All right, my boy, but you interrupted əv ðə fɔg." "ɔ:l rait, mai bɔi, bət ju: intə'rʌptɪd me in telling a little story. You shall have it before mi: in telɪŋ ə lɪtl stɔ:ri. ju: ʃəl hæv it bɪ'fɔ:

you leave." Marshall: "Well, who hasn't got time to ju: li:v." ma:ʃəl: "wel, hu: hæznt gɔt taim tə listen to a good story? Go on, dad!"

lɪsn tu ə gud stɔ:ri? gou ɔn, dæd!"

Mr. Marshall: "A man that was very drunk, having mɪstə ma:ʃəl: "ə mæn ðæt wəz veri drʌŋk, hævɪŋ spent the whole evening drinking beer, called a taxi to spɛnt ðə haʊl i:vniŋ drɪŋkɪŋ biə, kɔ:ld ə tæksi tə take him home. There was a thick fog, and the taxi teɪk hɪm haʊm. ðeə wəz ə θɪk fɔg, ənd ðə tæksi driver said that he couldn't possibly find his way to draɪvə sed ðæt hi: kʊdnt pɔsəbli faɪnd hɪz weɪ tə the suburb in which the man lived. However, the man ðə sʌbə:b ɪn hwɪtʃ ðə mæn lɪvd. haʊ'evə, ðə mæn offered him a pound if he would try; but the driver ɔfəd hɪm ə paʊnd ɪf hi: wəd traɪ; bət ðə draɪvə would not accept the offer. The man, who was so wəd nɒt ək'sept ði ɔfə. ðə mæn, hu: wəz sʊ drunk that he was quite unable to get on a bus or a drʌŋk ðæt hi: wəz kwaɪt 'ʌn'eɪbl tə get ɔn ə bʌs ɔ:r ə tram, increased his offer to five pounds. The driver træm, ɪn'kri:st hɪz ɔfə tə faɪv paʊndz. ðə draɪvə at last agreed to take him, but said that he must first ət la:st ə'gri:d tə teik him, bət sed ðæt hi: mʌst fə:st go upstairs for his brother. 'What do you want your gou ʌpsteəz fə hiz brʌðə. 'hwɒt du: ju: wɒnt jɔ:

brother for?' asked the man, 'I need a light in front brʌðə fɔ:?' ɑ:skt ðə mæn. 'aɪ ni:d ə laɪt ɪn frʌnt of the taxi,' the driver answered. 'Oh, you don't have ɒv ðə tæksi,' ðə draɪvər ɑ:nsəd. 'ou, ju: daʊnt hæv to go and get your brother; I can walk in front with tə gou ənd get jɔ: brʌðə; aɪ kæn wɔ:k ɪn frʌnt wɪð the light myself,' said the man." ðə laɪt maɪ'self,' sed ðə mæn."

A few minutes later Storm and Marshall were walking ə fju: mɪnɪts leɪtə stɔ:m ənd mɑ:fəl wə: wɔ:kɪŋ towards the Underground station. They could hear tə'wɔ:dz ðɪ ʌndəgraʊnd steɪʃən. ðeɪ kəd hiə towards = in the direction of different sounds in the middle of the road, but, with dɪfrənt saʊndz ɪn ðə mɪdl əv ðə rəʊd, bət, wɪð the exception of a girl on a bicycle, they could see ðɪ ɪk'seɪʃən əv ə ɡɜ:l ɒn ə baɪsaɪkl, ðeɪ kəd si:

nothing. A second or two later they could hear the nʌθɪŋ. ə sekənd ə tu: leɪtə ðeɪ kəd hiə ðə sound of a bus moving in the same direction as the saʊnd əv ə bʌs mu:vɪŋ ɪn ðə seɪm dɪ'rekʃən əz ðə girl. Suddenly there was a loud noise, and they heard ɡɜ:l. sʌdnli ðeə wəz ə laʊd nɔɪz, ənd ðeɪ hæ:d

the sound of the bus stopping, and, at the same time, ðə saʊnd əv ðə bʌs stɒpɪŋ, ənd, ət ðə seɪm taɪm, spot = place

It hurts, it hurt, it has hurt [hə:ts, hə:t, hə:t].

natural = normal the voice of a girl crying for help. They ran to the ðə vɔɪs əv ə ɡə:l kraiɪŋ fə help. ðeɪ rʌn tə ðə spot as fast as they could and found the girl lying in spɒt əz fɑ:st əz ðeɪ kud ænd faʊnd ðə ɡə:l laɪɪŋ ɪn front of the bus, while the bus-driver was getting frʌnt əv ðə bʌs, hwaɪl ðə bʌsdraɪvə wəz ɡetɪŋ down. The bicycle had been smashed. They could daʊn. ðə baɪsɪkl həd bi:n smæʃt. ðeɪ kəd see that the girl was hurt, for her left knee was wet si: ðæt ðə ɡə:l wəz hə:t, fə hə: left ni: wəz wet with blood, which was beginning to run down her wɪð blʌd, hwɪtʃ wəz bi'ɡɪnɪŋ tə rʌn daʊn hə:

stocking, making it quite red. "She's very pale, and stɒkɪŋ, meɪkɪŋ ɪt kwaɪt red. "ʃi:z veri peɪl, ænd as far as I can see, her knee is rather badly hurt," əz fɑ:r əz aɪ kən si:, hə: ni: ɪz rə:ðə bædli hə:t," Marshall said to Storm in a low voice. They both mɑ:ʃəl sed tə stɔ:m ɪn ə lou vɔɪs. ðeɪ bəʊθ noticed that the natural colour had gone from the girl's nəʊtɪst ðæt ðə nætʃərəl kʌlə həd ɡɒn frəm ðə ɡə:lz face. "Something must be the matter with her head, feɪs. "sʌmθɪŋ mʌst bi: ðə mətə wɪð hə: hed, too, for she's holding her hand to it as if in pain," tu:, fə ʃi:z haʊldɪŋ hə: hænd tu ɪt əz ɪf ɪn peɪn," Storm said. Marshall now helped the bus-driver to stɔ:m sed. mɑ:ʃəl naʊ helpt ðə bʌsdraɪvə tə lift the girl up from the ground, and then he asked lɪft ðə ɡə:l ʌp frəm ðə ɡraʊnd, ænd ðen hi: ɑ:skt her, "Are you in much pain?" at the same time trying hə:, "a: ju: in matʃ peɪn?" ət ðə seɪm taɪm traɪɪŋ to stop the blood running down from her knee by tying tə stɒp ðə blʌd rʌnɪŋ daʊn frəm hɜ: ni: baɪ taɪɪŋ his handkerchief round her leg. She was doing her hɪz hændkətʃɪf raʊnd hɜ: leg. ʃi: wəz du:ɪŋ hɜ:

best to be brave, for she smiled and said in an almost best tə bi: breɪv, fɔ: ʃi: smaɪld ənd sed ɪn ən ɔ:lməʊst natural voice, "Well, the pain in my head is bad enough; nætʃərəl vɔɪs, "wel, ðə peɪn ɪn maɪ hed ɪz bæd ɪ'nʌf; but I shall be glad if it is no worse than that. The bət aɪ ʃəl bi: glæd ɪf ɪt ɪz nəʊ wɜ:s ðən ðæt. ðə bad, worse, worst worst thing about it, I think, is that my leg is hurt; I wɜ:st θɪŋ ə'baut ɪt, aɪ θɪŋk, ɪz ðæt maɪ leg ɪz hɜ:t; aɪ can't very well walk on it without help." "Then my kɑ:nt veri wel wɔ:k ɒn ɪt wið'aʊt help." "ðen maɪ friend and I will walk with you or take you in a taxi frend ənd aɪ wɪl wɔ:k wið ju: ɔ: teɪk ju: ɪn ə tæksɪ to the nearest doctor and have him look at your knee," tə ðə niərist dɒktə ənd hæv hɪm luk ət jɔ: ni:," Marshall said. "Oh, thank you so much. But it's mɑ:ʃəl sed. "əʊ, θæŋk ju: sɔʊ mʌtʃ. bət ɪts not necessary to go in a taxi. My own doctor lives nɒt nesɪsəri tə ɡəʊ ɪn ə tæksɪ. maɪ ɒn dɒktə lɪvz quite near, and with your help I can easily walk the kwaɪt niə, ənd wið jɔ: help aɪ kæn ɪ:zɪli wɔ:k ðə few steps to his house." Bus-driver: "I think we had fju: steɪps tə hɪz haʊs." bʌsdraɪvə: "aɪ θɪŋk wi: həd better have a policeman look into what has happened, betə hæv ə pə'li:smən luk intə hwɒt hɜz hæpnd, too." Storm: "Then I'll try to get one, instead of tu:." stɔ:m: "ðen ail trai tə get wʌn, in'sted əv going with my friend and the young lady." gəʊɪŋ wið mai frend ənd ðə jʌŋ leɪdi."

Marshall and the girl now left, and Storm went for a ma:ʃəl ənd ðə gɜ:l nɔw left, ənd stɔ:m went fɜr ə policeman. And he had only walked five or six steps pə'li:smən. ənd hi: həd ɔnli wɔ:kt faɪv ə sɪks steps when suddenly one appeared. Storm told him what hwɛn sʌdnli wʌn ə'piəd. stɔ:m təʊld him hwɒt he knew about the accident, pointing towards the spot hi: nju: ə'baut ði æksɪdənt, pɔɪntɪŋ tə'wɔ:dz ðə spɒt where it had happened. The policeman wrote it all hwɛər it həd hæpnd. ðə pə'li:smən raɪt it ɔ:l down, after which he asked the bus-driver, "How did daʊn, a:ftə hwɪtʃ hi: ɑ:skt ðə bʌsdraɪvə, "həʊ dɪd the accident happen?" Bus-driver: "All I can tell ði æksɪdənt hæpən?" bʌsdraɪvə: "ɔ:l aɪ kən tel you is that suddenly I saw a girl on a bicycle crossing ju: ɪz ðæt sʌdnli aɪ sɔ: ə gɜ:l ɔn ə baɪsaɪkl krɒsɪŋ the street in front of the bus. Before I could stop, ðə stri:t ɪn frʌnt əv ðə bʌs. bɪ'fɔ:r aɪ kəd stɒp, the accident had happened. She was pushed over by ði æksɪdənt həd hæpnd. ʃi: wəz puʃt ɔʊvə baɪ the bus, but wasn't run over, and that, I think, was ðə bʌs, bət wɔznt rʌn ɔʊvə, ənd ðæt, aɪ θɪŋk, wəz pushed over = pushed so that she fell down the only reason why she escaped death." Policeman:

ði ounli ri:zn hwai ji: is'keipt deþ. pə'li:smən:

death = the end of life

"Judging from what you and this young gentleman
"dʒʌdʒɪŋ frəm hwət ju: ænd ðis jʌŋ dʒentlmən have explained, her life must have been in great hæv iks'pleɪnd, hæ: laɪf məst hæv bi:n ɪn greɪt danger. I wonder if she knew that death was waiting deɪndʒə. aɪ wʌndər ɪf ʃi: nju: ðæt deþ wəz weɪtɪŋ just round the corner, so to speak. It seems as if the dʒʌst raʊnd ðə kɔ:nə, sʊ tə spi:k. ɪt si:mz əz ɪf ðə young lady must have been thinking of anything but jʌŋ leɪdi məst hæv bi:n ʃɪŋkɪŋ əv enɪθɪŋ bʌt buses coming from behind, when she was crossing the bʌsɪz kʌmɪŋ frəm bi'hænd, hwɛn ʃi: wəz krɒsɪŋ ðə street. But we'll have to talk to her about all this stri:t. bʌt wi:l hæv tə tɔ:k tə hæ:r ə'baut ɔ:l ðɪs later in the day or to-morrow." leɪtər ɪn ðə deɪ ɔ: tə'mɒrəʊ."

The bus-driver now started his bus again, and the ðə bʌsdraɪvə naʊ stɑ:tɪd hɪz bʌs ə'geɪn, ænd ðə policeman, having noticed that Storm was a foreigner, pə'li:smən, hævɪŋ nəʊtɪst ðæt stɔ:m wəz ə fɔrɪnə, explained in a professional voice, "People ought to ɪks'pleɪnd ɪn ə prə'fesənəl vɔɪs, "pi:pl ɔ:t tə know that in a fog like this they're in danger of being nəʊ ðæt ɪn ə fɒg laɪk ðɪs ðeər ɪn deɪndʒər əv bi:ɪŋ run down every time they cross the street. We have rʌn daʊn evri taɪm ðeɪ krɒs ðə stri:t. wi: hæv

It burns, it burnt, it has burnt [bə:nz, bə:nt, bə:nt].

many bad accidents of different kinds at this time of meni bəd æksidənts əv difrənt kaɪndz ət ðis taɪm əv the year. Last autumn, I remember, two buses ran ðə jɪə. lɑ:st ɔ:təm, aɪ rɪ'membə, tu: bʌsɪz ræn into each other. Twenty-five people were hurt, five ɪntu i:tʃ ʌðə. twenti'faɪv pi:pl wə: hæ:t, faɪv of them so seriously that they did not live, but died əv ðəm sɔʊ siəriəsli ðæt ðeɪ dɪd nɒt liv, bət daɪd before they had reached the hospital. Besides, a fire bɪ'fɔ: ðeɪ həd ri:tʃt ðə hɒspɪtl. bɪ'saɪdz, ə faɪə started in one of the buses so quickly that the driver stɑ:tɪd ɪn wʌn əv ðə bʌsɪz sɔʊ kwɪkli ðæt ðə draɪvə had no time to get out and was burnt up together with həd nəʊ taɪm tə get aʊt ænd wəz bə:nt ʌp tə'geðə wɪð the bus. Not a very pleasant way of meeting one's ðə bʌs. nɒt ə veri pleznt wei əv mi:tiŋ wʌnz death, I must say. Another bad accident ...” Storm, deʃ, aɪ məst sei. ə'nʌðə bəd æksidənt ...” stɔ:m, who had heard enough of accidents and death, inter-hu: həd hə:d i'nʌf əv æksidənts ænd deʃ, ɪntə-rupted, “I’m sorry, but I have to leave now to be in 'rʌptɪd, “aɪm sɔ:ri, bət aɪ həv tə li:v naʊ tə bi: ɪn time for my work. Good morning!” And then he taɪm fə maɪ wə:k. gud mɔ:niŋ!” ænd ðen hi: hurried to the nearest Underground station. hʌrɪd tə ðə niərist ʌndəgraʊnd steɪʃən.

While Storm had been talking to the policeman, Marhwaɪl stɔ:m həd bi:n tɔ:kiŋ tə ðə pə'li:smən, mɑ:- shall and the girl had arrived at the doctor's and had ʃəl and ðə ɡə:l həd ə'raɪvd æt ðə dɒktəz and həd told him what had happened. "Well, let's have a look təʊld him hwɒt həd hæpnd. "wel, lets hæv ə lʊk at your knee," the doctor said, taking away the handkeræt jɔ: ni:," ðə dɒktə sed, teɪkɪŋ ə'wei ðə hæŋkəchief. "I must say it is worse than I thought when tʃɪf. "aɪ mʌst sei ɪt ɪz wɜ:s ðən aɪ þɔ:t hwɛn

I saw you enter the room." "The pain in it is much aɪ sɔ: ju: ɛntə ðə ru:m." "ðə peɪn ɪn ɪt ɪz mʌʃ worse now than just after the fall. I hope it isn't wɜ:s naʊ ðən dʒʌst ɑ:ftə ðə fɔ:l. aɪ hoʊp ɪt ɪznt so badly hurt that an operation will be necessary." səʊ bædli hə:t ðæt ən ɔpə'reɪʃən wɪl bi: nesɪsəri."

"No, you need not be afraid of that. There's no
"nəʊ, ju: ni:d nɒt bi: ə'freɪd əv ðæt. ðəz nəʊ reason to use a knife on it. As to the pain, it's the ri:zn tə ju:z ə naɪf ɒn ɪt. əz tə ðə peɪn, ɪts ði effect of the fall, and it's always worse when some time ɪ'fekt əv ðə fɔ:l, and ɪts ɔ:lweɪz wɜ:s hwɛn sʌm taɪm has passed. But even if it's bad, you may be glad that həz pɑ:st. bʌt i:vən ɪf ɪts bæd, ju: meɪ bi: glæd ðæt no operation is necessary. An operation on the knee nəʊ ɔpə'reɪʃən ɪz nesɪsəri. ən ɔpə'reɪʃən ɒn ðə ni:

is a very difficult thing and sometimes of no effect at ɪz ə veri dɪfɪkəlt ʒɪŋ and sʌmtaɪmz əv nəʊ ɪ'fekt æt all. If the worst comes to the worst, the knee becomes ɔ:l. ɪf ðə wɜ:st kʌmz tə ðə wɜ:st, ðə ni: bi'kʌmz stiff in such cases. But I'll give you something which stif in sʌtʃ keisiz. bət ail giv ju: sʌmpɪŋ hwiʃ will take the pain away very quickly." And indeed, wil teik ðə peɪn ə'wei veri kwikli." and in'di:d, what the doctor gave her had a very rapid effect, for hwɒt ðə dɒktə geɪv hə: həd ə veri ræpɪd i'fekt, fə in a few minutes the girl felt no pain at all. in ə fju: minits ðə gɜ:l felt nou peɪn ət ɔ:l.

Doctor: "Now take a taxi home and go to bed. I'll dɒktə: "nau teik ə tæksi haʊm ənd gou tə bed. ail come to-morrow and see how you are." The girl:

kʌm tə'mɔ:rəʊ ənd si: hau ju: ɑ:." ðə gɜ:l:

"Won't that be too much trouble to take for such a "wəʊnt ðæt bi: tu: mʌʃ trʌbl tə teik fə sʌʃ ə small matter as my bad knee?" Doctor: "Not at all!

smɔ:l mætər əz mai bæd ni:?" dɒktə: "nɒt ət ɔ:l!

I'm paying daily visits to a young man not far from aɪm peɪɪŋ deɪli vizits tu ə jʌŋ mæn nɒt fə: frəm where you live."

hwɛə ju: liv."

When Marshall had got a taxi for the girl and taken hwen mɑ:ʃəl həd gɒt ə tæksi fə ðə gɜ:l ənd teɪkn leave of her, he started for the office by bus. When li:v əv hə:, hi: stɑ:tɪd fə ði ɔ:fis baɪ bʌs. hwen he got off again, he suddenly saw Storm walking in hi: gɒt ɔ:f ə'geɪn, hi: sʌdnli sɔ: stɔ:m wɔ:kiŋ in front of him. They walked together the rest of the frʌnt əv him. ðei wɔ:kt tə'geðə ðə rest əv ðə way to the office, telling each other what had happened wei tə ði ɔfis, telɪŋ i:tʃ lðə huɔt həd hæpnd since they left the place of the accident. Marshall sɪns ðei left ðə pleɪs əv ði æksɪdənt. mɑ:ʃəl noticed that Storm used his handkerchief very often.

nəʊtɪst ðət stɔ:m ju:zd hɪz hæŋkətʃɪf veri ɔ:fn.

"You seem to have got a rather bad cold." Storm:
"ju: si:m tə həv gɒt ə rə:ðə bəd kəʊld." stɔ:m:

"Yes, I got it last night, because I didn't put on my "jes, aɪ gɒt ɪt lɑ:st naɪt, bɪ'kɔz aɪ dɪdnt pʊt ɒn maɪ coat when I went out for a walk. And the fog to-day kəʊt huən aɪ went aʊt fər ə wɔ:k. ænd ðə fɒg tə'deɪ has had a bad effect on my lungs and throat. Since həz həd ə bəd ɪ'fekt ɒn maɪ lʌŋz ænd þraʊt. sɪns you left me, I've been sneezing on account of the dirty ju: left mi:, aɪv bi:n sni:zɪŋ ɒn ə'kaʊnt əv ðə dɜ:ti air passing through my nose, and I've been coughing, ɛə pɑ:sɪŋ þru: maɪ nəʊz, ænd aɪv bi:n kɔʃɪŋ, too, because of the fog that has got into my mouth tu:, bɪ'kɔz əv ðə fɒg ðət həz gɒt ɪntə maɪ maʊθ and my throat. It's extremely unpleasant to know that ænd maɪ þraʊt. ɪts ɪks'tri:mli ʌn'pleznt tə nəʊ ðət every time you take a breath, your lungs get filled with evri taɪm ju: teɪk ə breθ, jɔ: lʌŋz get fɪld wɪð dirty yellow fog. I shall be glad when this fog lifts dɜ:ti jeləʊ fɒg. aɪ ʃəl bi: glæd huən ðɪs fɒg lɪfts so that I can once more take a breath of real fresh səʊ ðət aɪ kən wʌns mɔ: teɪk ə breθ əv rɪəl freʃ air." Marshall: "We're used to it ourselves, but it's only ɛə. ma:ʃəl: "wiə ju:st tu it auə'selvz, bət its ounli natural that you should find it very unpleasant. I'm nætʃərəl ðət ju: ʃəd faɪnd it veri ʌn'pleznt. aɪm extremely sorry that your cold is so bad that you must iks'tri:mli sɔri ðət jɔ: kould iz sou bəd ðət ju: məst spend most of your time with your handkerchief to spend moust əv jɔ: taɪm wið jɔ: hən'kətʃɪf tə your face, sneezing or coughing." jɔ: feɪs, sni:zɪŋ ɔ: kɔfɪŋ."

Storm: "So am I, but I hope it'll soon be over. — This stɔ:m: "sou əm aɪ, bət aɪ hoʊp ɪtl su:n bi: ɒvə. — ðɪs accident that happened to the girl makes me think of æksɪdənt ðət hæpnd tə ðə ɡɜ:l meɪks mi: ɪŋk əv another accident because of bad weather. It was one ə'nʌðər æksɪdənt bi'kɔz əv bəd weðə. ɪt wəz wʌn evening this summer when Mr. Miller, my friends, and i:vɪnɪŋ ðɪs sʌmə hwen mɪstə mɪlə, maɪ frendz, ənd

I were returning from a trip into the country. The aɪ wə: rɪ'tə:nɪŋ frəm ə trɪp ɪntə ðə kʌntri. ðə wind began to blow and the rain to fall, and there wɪnd bɪ'ɡæn tə bləʊ ənd ðə reɪn tə fɔ:l, ənd ðeə was a real storm. When the storm had lasted for some wəz ə riəl stɔ:m. hwen ðə stɔ:m həd lɑ:stɪd fə sʌm minutes, lightning was seen again and again, each time mɪnɪts, laɪtnɪŋ wəz si:n ə'geɪn ənd ə'geɪn, i:tʃ taɪm making the sky as bright as day. At the same time meɪkɪŋ ðə skaɪ əz braɪt əz deɪ. ət ðə seɪm taɪm lightning

the sound of thunder came nearer and nearer, and at ðə saund əv þʌndə keɪm niərə ənd niərə, ənd at last it was so loud that we could hardly hear ourselves lɑːst ɪt wəz sɒ laʊd ðæt wiː kəd hɑːdli hiə ɔʊə'selvz speaking. We hurried to the nearest farmhouse and spiːkiŋ. wiː hʌrɪd tə ðə niərist fɑːmhaʊs ənd stayed there as long as the thunderstorm lasted. The steɪd ðeə əz lɒŋ əz ðə þʌndə'stɔːm lɑːstɪd. ðə people at the farm got very nervous when they saw piːpl at ðə fɑːm gɒt veri nəːvəs hwen ðeɪ sɔː the lightning and heard the thunder, because their maid ðə laɪtnɪŋ ənd həːd ðə þʌndə, bɪ'kɔːz ðeə meɪd was out in it. It was not without reason that they wəz aʊt ɪn ɪt. ɪt wəz nɒt wɪð'aʊt riːzn ðæt ðeɪ were nervous, for when the thunderstorm had passed, wəː nəːvəs, fə hwen ðə þʌndə'stɔːm həd pɑːst, she was found in a field, struck by lightning and badly ʃiː wəz faʊnd ɪn ə fiːld, strʌk baɪ laɪtnɪŋ ənd bədli burnt. I'm glad to say that she didn't die, but she had bəːnt. aɪm glæd tə seɪ ðæt ʃiː dɪdnt daɪ, bət ʃiː həd to stay in bed for several months. Only the other day tə steɪ ɪn bed fə severəl mʌnθs. ɒnli ðɪ ʌðə ðeɪ I heard that she's all right again now." aɪ həːd ðæt ʃiːz ɔːl raɪt ə'geɪn naʊ."

EXERCISE A.

The weather is a — which is very often discussed. Storm had great — in getting up early in the morning. Fog

WORDS:
subject

belief normal burn burnt mist interrupt
drunk towards sound
spot
knee hurt blood natural pain
worse
worst doctor policeman accident danger
death die
died operation effect
fall
breath throat sneeze cough
storm
lightning thunderstorm thunder
dad

belongs to the — autumn weather in London. The light in the dining-room was on as it was as — as night outside. Thin fog is called —. In towns with many factories the fog may be — dirty. Marshall — his father in telling a story about a man who was very —, because he had got too much to drink. When Marshall and Storm walked — the Underground station, they heard the — of a bus stopping. They ran to the — and found a girl whose left — was badly —. The — was beginning to run down her stocking. The colour of her face did not look —. The — in her knee was — than that in her head. Marshall went with the girl to the —, while Storm went for a — to tell him about the —. The girl's life had been in great —. The end of life is called —. When you cannot live any longer, you —. An — on the knee is very unpleasant and sometimes of no —. The pain in the girl's knee was an effect of the —. The doctor paid — visits to a young man near the girl's home. Every time Storm took a —, he got his lungs and — filled with fog. On account of a bad cold he had been coughing and — the whole morning. When the wind blows hard and the rain falls heavily, it is called a —. — is seen in the sky during a —. When lightning is seen in the sky, you often hear —. Storm told Marshall about a maid who had been struck by lightning and badly —.

EXERCISE B.

In chapter 48, Exercise D, there was a letter from Storm to Wood. Please answer this letter as if you were Wood.

Build a story round some event that Wood wants to tell Storm about, and make use of the following words: Trip — country — storm — lightning — rain — tree — wet — cart — farmer — cough — sneeze — extremely — unpleasant.

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

There are some words which we call the indefinite pronouns. They are words like no, none, some, any, every, each.

No is used as an adjective. Example: I have no money. If we want to use it as a noun, we do not say no, but none. Example: I have money, but you have none.

When used as a noun about persons, no becomes nobody or no one, and when used about things it often becomes nothing. Examples: Nobody (no one) was at home. There was nothing I could do for him. Just the same is the case with the pronouns some, any, every. When used as nouns about persons, they have the forms somebody (some one), anybody (any one), everybody (every one), and when used as nouns about things their forms are something, anything, everything.

There is a difference in the use of any and some, although the two words mean almost the same thing. Any (anything, anybody) is especially found after 'if' and 'whether', in questions, and in sentences with 'not'. Some (somebody, something) is used in other sentences. Here are some examples: If I had any cigars, I would give you some of them. Has anybody been here? If anybody has been here, tell me. She has not been able to find anything. Have you got any money? No, I have not got any money; have you? Yes, I have got some money.

Each is used to say something about every one of a number of persons or things. Every is used to say something about all of a number of persons or things. Examples: He read a new book each day of the week he stayed at our house. He goes to school every day. Each of the three sisters got a new frock for Christmas. Everybody has to learn to read and write.

Questions:

What indefinite pronouns do you know? ... When do we use 'no', and when do we use 'none'? ... What two words are added to some of the indefinite pronouns when they are used as nouns about persons? ... What is added when they are used about things? ... In what kinds of sentences do we use the word 'any'? ... Can you give two examples of the use of 'some' and 'any'? ... In what case is the indefinite pronoun 'each' used? ... Can you make two sentences where the pronouns 'each' and 'every' are used in the right way? ...

ENGLISH HOLIDAYS

"It's been a long day to-day," Storm said, as he and
"its bi:n ə lɔŋ dei tə'dei," stɔ:m sed, əz hi: ənd

Marshall left the office late one evening at the ma:ʃəl left ði ɔfis leit wʌn i:vniŋ ət ðə beginning of December, "and a hard week, too; I'm bi'giniŋ əv di'sembə, "ənd ə ha:d wi:k, tu:; aim really feeling quite tired to-night. I wish I could riəli fi:liŋ kwait təiəd tə'nait. ai wiʃ ai kəd take a few days off from work. Two or three days' teik ə fju: deiz ɔ:f frəm wə:k. tu: ə pri: deiz complete rest, with nothing to do but read the papers kəm'pli:t rest, wið nəθiŋ tə du: bət ri:d ðə peɪpəz and go for a walk now and then, is just what I need;

ən gou fər ə wɔ:k nau ən ðen, iz dʒʌst hwɒt ai ni:d;

my head feels quite empty. Are there any holidays mai hed fi:lz kwait emti. a: ðeər eni hɒlɪdɪz between now and Christmas, I wonder?" "No, there bi'twi:n nau ən krisməs, ai wʌndə?" "nou, ðeər aren't any till Christmas," Marshall replied, "so you'll a:nt eni til krisməs," ma:ʃəl ri'plaid, "sou ju:l have to wait until then. It's a general rule at the hæv tə weit ʌn'til ðen. its ə dʒenərəl ru:l ət ði office that nobody asks for days off during December, ɔfis ðət nəʊbədi ə:sks fə deiz ɔ:f dʒuəriŋ di'sembə, because we're always so busy during the weeks before bɪ'kɔz wiə ɔ:lweɪz sou bɪzi dʒuəriŋ ðə wi:ks bi'fɔ:

Christmas. But I must say that generally December krɪsməs. bət ai mʌst sei ðət dʒenərəli di'sembər is not so busy as this year, so I'm looking forward to ɪz nɒt sou bɪzi əz ðɪs jɪə, sou aim lʊkiŋ fɔ:wəd tə the Christmas holidays myself. We always have such ðə krɪsməs hɒlɪdɪz maɪ'self. wi: ɔ:lweɪz hæv sʌtʃ a good time at Christmas; we make it a family affair, ə gud taɪm ət krɪsməs; wi: meɪk ɪt ə fæmɪli ə'feə, you know. My sister will be there for dinner on ju: nou. maɪ sɪstə wɪl bi: ðeə fə dɪnər ɔn Christmas Day, with her husband and her baby. It's krɪsməs deɪ, wɪð hə: hʌzbənd ən hə: beɪbi. ɪts a very long time since I saw them, and I'm looking ə veri lɔŋ taɪm sɪns ai sɔ: ðəm, and aim lʊkiŋ forward to spending some time with them again, and fɔ:wəd tə spendɪŋ səm taɪm wɪð ðəm ə'geɪn, ən to having two whole days off from work." "Only tə hævɪŋ tu: houl deɪz ɔ:f frəm wə:k." "əʊnli two?" Storm asked. "In my country we have two tu:?" stɔ:m ɑ:skt. "ɪn maɪ kʌntri wi: hæv tu:

and a half, as all offices and shops generally close and ə hɑ:f, əz ɔ:l ɔfɪsɪz ən ʃɒps dʒenərəli kləʊz about twelve o'clock on the 24th." "No, we keep ə'baʊt twelv ə'klɒk ɔn ðə twenti'fɔ:p." "nou, wi: ki:p

the usual closing hours on the day before Christmas," ðə ju:ʒʊəl kləʊzɪŋ aʊəz ɔn ðə deɪ bi'fɔ: krɪsməs," Marshall replied. "The shops and streets will be full ma:ʃəl ri'plaid. "ðə ʃɒps ən stri:ts wil bi: ful of people late in the afternoon. In front of the shop əv pi:pl leit in ði a:ftə'nu:n. in frənt əv ðə ʃɒp windows there will be crowds of people looking at the windəʊz ðeə wil bi: kraʊdz əv pi:pl lukiŋ ət ðə different things shown in the windows. Everybody dɪfrənt þɪŋz ʃəʊn in ðə windəʊz. evri'bɒdi will want to see as much as possible, to help them to wil wɒnt tə si: əz mʌʃ əz pɒsəbl, tə help ðəm tə make the difficult last minute decisions about Christmas meɪk ðə dɪfɪkəlt lɑ:st mɪnɪt dɪ'sɪʒənz ə'baʊt krɪsməs presents for Uncle Fred or Aunt Jane. preznts fɔr ʌŋkl fred ɔ:r a:nt dʒeɪn.

"There will be children crying because they can't see
"ðeə wil bi: tʃɪldrən kraɪɪŋ bi'kɔ:z ðeɪ kɑ:n't si:

anything, and mothers pushing them forward through eniθɪŋ, ən mʌðəz puʃɪŋ ðəm fɔ:wəd þru:

the crowd, so that the little ones may get a chance to ðə kraʊd, səʊ ðət ðə lɪtl wʌnz meɪ get ə tʃɑ:ns tə look at the fine things in the windows, too. And lʊk ət ðə faɪn þɪŋz in ðə windəʊz, tu:. ənd everybody will be having a lovely time! I'm sorry evri'bɒdi wil bi: hæviŋ ə lʌvli taim! aɪm sɔri

Christmas is over so soon — only two days, Christmas krɪsməs ɪz oʊvə səʊ su:n — ɔnli tu: deɪz, krɪsməs

Day and Boxing Day." "Boxing Day!" What a deɪ ən bɒksɪŋ deɪ." "bɒksɪŋ deɪ! hwɒt ə

Christmas box =
Christmas present

He rises, he rose,
he has risen [raiziz, rouz, rizn].

object = thing

strange name!" Storm said. "Yes, but easy to explain," streindz neim!" stɔ:m sed. "jes, bət i:zi tu iks'plein," Marshall replied. "You see, on the 26th of ma:ʃəl ri'plaid. "ju: si:, ɔn ðə twenti'siksθ əv

December the postman, the milkman, etc., used to di'sembə ðə pəustmən, ðə milkmən, it'setrə, ju:st tə come round to all the houses and get their 'Christmas kʌm raʊnd tu ɔ:l ðə haʊziz ən get ðəə 'krisməs boxes'. They still come, but nowadays the presents bɒksiz'. ðei stil kʌm, bət naʊədeiz ðə preznts no longer consist of real boxes with things in them, nəʊ lɒŋgə kən'sist əv riəl bɒksiz wið ʒɪnz in ðəm, but instead they usually consist of a small amount bət in'sted ðei ju:ʒuəli kən'sist əv ə smɔ:l ə'maʊnt of money." "I see! Yes, that explains it, of course," əv mʌni." "aɪ si:! jes, ðæt iks'pleinz it, əv kɔ:s,"

Storm answered.

stɔ:m a:nsəd.

Storm and Marshall had reached their bus now, and stɔ:m ənd ma:ʃəl həd ri:tʃt ðəə bʌs naʊ, ənd as they got on board, two ladies rose from their seats əz ðei gɒt ɔn bɔ:d, tu: leɪdiz rəʊz frəm ðəə si:t

to get off when the bus stopped next time. One of tə get ɔ:f hwen ðə bʌs stɒpt nekst taɪm. wʌn əv them dropped her bag when she rose, and all the ðəm drɒpt hə: bæɡ hwen ʃi: rəʊz, ənd ɔ:l ðə different objects in it with which women fill their bags dɪfrənt ɒbdʒɪkts in it wið huwɪʃ wiːmɪn fɪl ðəə bæɡz fell out on the floor. "Let me help you," said Storm, fel aut ɔn ðə flɔ:. "let mi: help ju:," sed stɔ:m, and began to pick up keys, coins, and a handkerchief ænd bi'gæn tə pik ʌp ki:z, kɔɪnz, ænd ə hæŋkətʃɪf from the floor. "How kind of you! Thank you very fɹəm ðə flɔ:. "hau kaɪnd əv ju:! þæŋk ju: veri much!" she replied, hurrying after the other lady with mʌtʃ!" ʃi: ri'plaɪd, hʌrɪɪŋ a:f tə ði ʌðə leɪdi wið her hands full of all sorts of strange objects, which hə: hændz ful əv ɔ:l sɔ:ts əv streɪndʒ əbdʒɪkts, hwɪtʃ she had no time to put back into the bag. "This is ʃi: həd nəʊ taɪm tə put bæk ɪntə ðə bæɡ. "ðɪs ɪz almost too good to be true," Marshall said, as he made ɔ:lmoʊst tu: gu:d tə bi: tru:," mɑ:ʃəl sed, əz hi: meɪd himself comfortable on the seat. "I mean, to be able hɪm'self kʌmfətəbl ɔn ðə si:t. "aɪ mi:n, tə bi: eɪbl to sit down all the way home in an almost empty bus. tə sit daʊn ɔ:l ðə weɪ hoʊm ɪn ən ɔ:lmoʊst ɛmtɪ bʌs.

The trips to and from the office generally consist of ðə trips tu ən frɔm ði ɔfɪs dʒenərəli kən'sɪst əv long half-hours of standing on my feet — and other lɔŋ hɑ:fauəz əv stændɪŋ ɔn maɪ fi:t — ænd ʌðə people standing on them, too — on my feet, I mean! pi:pl stændɪŋ ɔn ðəm, tu: — ɔn maɪ fi:t, aɪ mi:n!

And if I do get a seat now and then, some old lady is ænd ɪf aɪ du: get ə si:t nəʊ ən ðen, sʌm ould leɪdi ɪz sure to enter the bus, so that I have to rise and offer.

ʃʊə tu ɛntə ðə bʌs, sʊ ðæt aɪ hæv tə raɪz ænd ɔfə it to her."

it tu hæ:."

"The perfect gentleman, aren't you?" Storm said,
"ðə pə:fikt dʒentlmən, a:nt ju:?" stɔ:m sed, smiling. "Talking about gentlemen, I wonder if you smailiŋ. "tɔ:kiŋ ə'baut dʒentlmən, ai wʌndər if ju:

can help me to come to a decision," he continued, kən help mi: tə kʌm tu ə di'siʒən," hi: kən'tinju:d, pulling a small object out of his pocket. When Storm puliŋ ə smɔ:l ɔbdʒikt aut əv hiz pɔkit. hwen stɔ:m showed it to him, Marshall saw that it was a very ʃəʊd it tu him, mɑ:fəl sɔ: ðæt it wəz ə veri small book of songs, in fine leather with gold letters smɔ:l buk əv sɔŋz, in faɪn leðə wið ɡəʊld letəz printed on the back. "I bought it some days ago for prɪntɪd ɔn ðə bæk. "ai bɔ:t it sʌm deɪz ə'ɡəʊ fə Marion. But then the thought came to me that perhaps mæriən. bət ðen ðə þɔ:t keɪm tə mi: ðæt pə'hæps she would think it foolish of me to give her a thing ʃi: wəd þɪŋk it fu:lɪʃ əv mi: tə ɡɪv hæ:r ə þɪŋ like that, and now I can't come to a decision whether laɪk ðæt, ən naʊ ai kɑ:nt kʌm tu ə di'siʒən hweðə to give it to her or not. I wouldn't like to look foolish tə ɡɪv it tu hæ:r ɔ: nɒt. ai wʊdn't laɪk tə lʊk fu:lɪʃ in her eyes." To his surprise, Marshall seemed to think ɪn hæ:r aɪz." tə hiz sə'praɪz, mɑ:fəl si:mɪd tə þɪŋk this very funny. "Excuse me, old man, but I must ðɪs veri fʌni. "ɪks'kju:z mi:, ould mæn, bət ai mʌst laugh when I see your serious face. Of course you la:f hwen ai si: jɔ: siəriəs feis. əv kɔ:s ju:

can give her the book! I'm really beginning to believe kən gi:v hə: ðə buk! aim riəli bi'giniŋ tə bi'li:v

it's true what my mother says, that your head is filled its tru: hwɔt mai mʌðə sez, ðæt jɔ: hed iz fild with thoughts of that young lady.”

wið þɔ:ts əv ðæt jʌŋ leidi.”

Just then the bus began moving forward quite suddenly, dʒʌst ðen ðə bʌs bi'gæn mu:vɪŋ fɔ:wəd kwait sʌdnli, so that one of the passengers, a lady, who was ascending sou ðæt wʌn əv ðə pæsɪndʒəz, ə leidi, hu: wəz ə'sendiŋ the stairs to the top of the bus, fell down, happily right ðə steəz tə ðə tɒp əv ðə bʌs, fel daʊn, hæpili rait into the arms of one of the other passengers, so that intə ði a:mz əv wʌn əv ði ʌðə pæsɪndʒəz, sou ðæt nothing serious happened. Everybody expected her to nʌθɪŋ siəriəs hæpnd. evri'bɔdi iks'pektɪd hə: tə cry out, as women usually do, for the accident had not krai aʊt, əz wi:mɪn ju:ʒuəli du:, fə ði æksɪdənt həd nɒt been without real danger. But as soon as she had got bi:n wið'aʊt riəl deɪndʒə. bʌt əz su:n əz ʃi: həd gɒt on her feet again, she said, to everybody's surprise, ɔn hə: fi:t ə'geɪn, ʃi: sed, tu evri'bɔdɪz sə'praɪz, “Oh, excuse me, I'm so sorry! I'm afraid I wasn't “ou, iks'kju:z mi:, aim sou sɔri! aim ə'freɪd ai wəznt very careful. But thank God nothing happened to veri keəfʊl. bʌt þæŋk ɡɒd nʌθɪŋ hæpnd tə passenger = one who travels by ship, train, car, or

 bus

ascend = go up

you!" — and then she rapidly ascended the stairs ju:! — ænd ðen ʃi: ræpidli ə'sendid ðə steəz again.

ə'gein.

"It's men and women like this lady who have helped "its men ən wimin laik ðis leidi hu: həv helpt to make our great British Empire, people who can keep tə meik əʊə greit britiʃ empaɪə, pi:pl hu: kən ki:p their heads cool and think of others even in the face ðeə hedz ku:l ən ʃɪŋk əv ʌðəz i:vən in ðə feis of danger," Marshall said. "You British and your əv deɪndʒə," mɑ:fəl sed. "ju: britiʃ ən jɔ:r

Empire!" Storm replied. "You must indeed be proud empaɪə!" stɔ:m ri'plaɪd. "ju: məst in'di:d bi: praʊd of it, when a little thing like this can call up the əv ɪt, hwen ə litl ʃɪŋ laik ðis kən kɔ:l ʌp ðə thought of it. You even have an Empire Day, a sort þɔ:t əv ɪt. ju: i:vən həv ən empaɪə dei, ə sɔ:t of state holiday, I've read. I don't know what date əv steɪt hɒlɪdi, aɪv red. aɪ daʊnt nəʊ hwɒt deɪt it is, though. Is it soon?" he asked.

ɪt ɪz, ðəʊ. ɪz ɪt su:n?" hi: ɑ:skt.

"No, not until the twenty-fourth of May, the birthday

"nəʊ, nɒt ʌn'tɪl ðə twenti'fɔ:θ əv mei, ðə bæ:θdeɪ of Queen Victoria. But we British are not so proud əv kwi:n vɪk'tɔ:riə. bət wi: britiʃ ɑ: nɒt səʊ praʊd as you seem to think," Marshall answered. "You look əz ju: si:m tə ʃɪŋk," mɑ:fəl ɑ:nsəd. "ju: luk as if you don't believe me," he continued, seeing the əz ɪf ju: daʊnt bi'li:v mi:, hi: kən'tɪnju:d, si:ɪŋ ði expression on Storm's face, "but I can almost prove ɪks'presən ɔn stɔ:mz feɪs, "bət aɪ kən ɔ:l'maʊst pru:v it to you. We don't even keep our Empire Day as a ɪt tu ju:. wi: daʊnt i:vən ki:p əwər empaɪə dei əz ə real national holiday, as they do in France, for instance, riəl nəʃənəl hɒlɪdi, əz ðei du: ɪn fra:ns, fər ɪnstəns, with everybody out in the streets, singing and dancing.

wɪð evrɪbɒdi aʊt ɪn ðə stri:ts, sɪŋɪŋ ən da:nsɪŋ.

We just send the children home from school after a little wi: dʒʌst send ðə tʃɪldrən haʊm frəm sku:l ɑ:ftər ə lɪtl talk in the morning about the British Empire." "Well, tɔ:k ɪn ðə mɔ:nɪŋ ə'baut ðə brɪtɪʃ empaɪə." "wel, perhaps you aren't as bad as I thought," Storm replied.

pə'hæps ju: a:nt əz bəd əz aɪ θɔ:t," stɔ:m rɪ'plaɪd.

"But tell me, now that we're talking about holidays —
"bət tel mi:, naʊ ðət wiə tɔ:kɪŋ ə'baut hɒlɪdɪz — do you keep the same holidays as we do in my country, du: ju: ki:p ðə seɪm hɒlɪdɪz əz wi: du: ɪn maɪ kʌntri,

I wonder?" Marshall: "The great Church holidays are aɪ wʌndə?" mɑ:ʃəl: "ðə greɪt tʃə:tʃ hɒlɪdɪz a:

the same, I suppose: Christmas, which the Church tells ðə seɪm, aɪ sə'pəʊz: krɪsməs, hwɪtʃ ðə tʃə:tʃ telz us was the time of the birth of Christ, God's Son. That ʌs wəz ðə taɪm əv ðə bə:p əv kraɪst, ɡɒdz sʌn. ðæt is to say, there is much discussion between the different ɪz tə sei, ðəz mʌtʃ dɪs'kʌʃən bi'twi:n ðə dɪfrənt settle = decide

man (here) = all men

grave

religions about the true date of His birth. The Roman rɪ'lɪdʒənz ə'baʊt ðə tru: deɪt əv hɪz bə:p. ðə roumən

Catholic religion tells us it was at Christmas, and most kæpəlɪk rɪ'lɪdʒən telz ʌs ɪt wəz ət krɪsməs, ən moust

Protestants do the same, while other Protestants say prətɪstənts du: ðə seɪm, hwaɪl ʌðə prətɪstənts sei they can prove from the Bible that the birth of Christ ðei kən pru:v frəm ðə baɪbl ðæt ðə bə:p əv kraɪst took place in the autumn. I don't know whether the tʊk pleɪs ɪn ði ɔ:təm. aɪ daʊnt nəʊ hwedə ðə question has been settled, but I do know that few kwestʃən həz bi:n setld, bət aɪ du: nəʊ ðæt fju:

people at Christmas think of the account in the Bible pi:pl ət krɪsməs ɪŋk əv ði ə'kaʊnt ɪn ðə baɪbl of how Christ was sent from Heaven to live upon this əv haʊ kraɪst wəz sent frəm hevn tə liv ə'pɒn ðɪs earth of ours and teach people about God and God's ə:p əv aʊəz ən ti:tʃ pi:pl ə'baʊt gɒd ən gɒdz plans for man. What they think of for the most part plænz fə mæn. hwɒt ðei ɪŋk ɔv fə ðə moust pɑ:t is the good time they're going to have with their friends ɪz ðə gʊd taɪm ðeə ɡoʊɪŋ tə hæv wɪð ðeə frendz and family! — Well, after Christmas comes Easter — ən fæmɪli! — wel, ɑ:ftə krɪsməs kʌmz i:stə —

Good Friday, when Christ died, Easter Sunday, when ɡʊd fraɪdi, hwen kraɪst daɪd, i:stə sʌndi, hwen

He rose from the grave, and Easter Monday." "Excuse hi: rəʊz frəm ðə ɡreɪv, ʌnd i:stə mʌndi." "ɪks'kju:z my interrupting you in the middle of your account," mai intə'rʌptɪŋ ju: in ðə midl əv jɔ:r ə'kaunt," Storm said, "Good Friday, what a strange name for the stɔ:m sed, "gud fraidi, hʌwt ə streindəz neim fə ðə day on which Christ died!" "Yes, isn't it?" "What dei ɔn hwi:tʃ kraist daid!" "jes, iznt it?" "hʌwt about the New Year?" Storm asked. "You didn't ə'baut ðə nju: jɪə?" stɔ:m a:skt. "ju: didnt mention it." "There's nothing much to tell about that," menʃən it." "ðəz nəʃɪŋ mʌtʃ tə tel ə'baut ðæt," Marshall answered. "In Scotland they keep the first ma:fəl a:nsəd. "in skɒtlənd ðei ki:p ðə fə:st of January, but here shops, offices, etc., are all open.

əv dʒænjuəri, bət hiə ʃɒps, ɔfisiz, it'setrə, a:r ɔ:l oupən.

At the most, we have a party on the 31st of ət ðə moust, wi: hæv ə pɑ:ti ɔn ðə þə:tɪ'fə:st əv

December and dance into the New Year, or go out into dɪ'sembə ən da:ns intə ðə nju: jɪə, ɔ: gou aut intə the streets at twelve o'clock and say 'Happy New Year' ðə stri:ts ət twelv ə'klɒk ən sei 'hæpi nju: jɪə to complete strangers. Well, shall I continue my tə kəm'pli:t streindəz. wel, ʃəl ai kən'tɪnju: mai account of our holidays and get it over?" "Yes, please ə'kaunt əv əuə hɒlɪdɪz ən get it ɒvə?" "jes, pli:z do!" Storm replied. "I might as well use this half-hour du:!" stɔ:m ri'plaid. "ai mait əz wel ju:z ðis ha:fauə to learn something." "All right! Seven weeks after tə læ:n sʌmʃɪŋ." "ɔ:l rait! sevn wi:ks a:ftə Easter is Whitsun, consisting of Whit Sunday and Whit i:stə iz hwitsn, kən'sistiŋ əv hwit sandi ən hwit

Monday." "I should like to ask you something here," mandi." "ai fəd laik tu a:sk ju: sampiŋ hiə," Storm interrupted again. "Don't you keep the day when stɔ:m intə'raptid ə'gein. "dount ju: ki:p ðə dei hwen

Christ ascended to Heaven as a holiday? I didn't hear kraist ə'sendid tə hevn əz ə holidi? ai didnt hiə you mention it?" "It's not a general holiday, with the ju: menʃən it?" "its nɒt ə dʒenərəl holidi, wið ðə shops closed and so on," Marshall answered, "but we ʃɒps klouzəd ən sou ɒn," mɑ:fəl a:nsəd, "bət wi:

have a name for it, of course, Ascension Day, on which həv ə neim fər it, əv kɔ:s, ə'senʃən dei, ɒn hwitʃ the churches hold special services for Christ's ascension ðə tʃə:tʃiz həʊld speʃəl sə:vɪsɪz fər kraɪsts ə'senʃən to Heaven."

tə hevn."

"Well, that is all very much like our holidays at home,"

"wel, ðæt iz ɔ:l veri mʌtʃ laik əʊə holidiz ət haʊm," Storm said. "Yes, but I'm not through yet — we have stɔ:m sed. "jes, bət aim nɒt þru: jət — wi: həv a holiday which I'm sure you haven't got," Marshall ə holidi hwitʃ aim suə ju: həvnt gɒt," mɑ:fəl replied, "and it's one that we all love and look forward ri'plaid, "ænd its wʌn ðæt wi: ɔ:l lʌv ən lʊk fɔ:wəd to for weeks. It's called August Bank Holiday, and tu fər wi:ks. its kɔ:ld ɔ:gəst bæŋk holidi, ænd it's always on the first Monday in August. The weather its ɔ:lwəz ɔn ðə fə:st mʌndi in ɔ:gəst. ðə weðər is generally fine, and everybody has a lovely time. As a iz dʒenərəli faɪn, ənd evribɔdi hæz ə lʌvli taɪm. əz ə boy I often went into the country on that day with bɔɪ ai ɔ:fn went ɪntə ðə kʌntri ɔn ðæt dei wið my people, starting as soon as the sun had risen and maɪ pi:pl, sta:tɪŋ əz su:n əz ðə sʌn həd rɪzn ən people (here) =

 parents

returning in the evening very, very tired and very, rɪ'tə:nɪŋ in ði i:vniŋ veri, veri taɪəd ən veri, very happy. We might as well have gone any other veri hæpi. wi: maɪt əz wel həv ɡɔn eni ʌðə summer day during the school holidays, but it was sʌmə dei dʒuəriŋ ðə sku:l hɒlɪdɪz, bʌt ɪt wəz always much more fun on that day, because so many ɔ:lwəz mʌtʃ mɔ: fʌn ɔn ðæt dei, bi'kɔz sɔu meni people were out." "Why is it called 'Bank Holiday'?" pi:pl wə:r aʊt." "hwaɪ ɪz ɪt kɔ:ld 'bæŋk hɒlɪdɪ'?"

Storm asked. "That needs a little explaining," Mar-stɔ:m ɑ:skt. "ðæt ni:dz ə litl ɪks'pleɪnɪŋ," mɑ:- shall replied. "We have four 'bank holidays': Boxing ʃəl rɪ'plaɪd. "wi: həv fɔ: 'bæŋk hɒlɪdɪz': bɒksɪŋ

Day — perhaps I should give them in their correct dei — pə'hæps ai ʃəd ɡɪv ðəm in ðeə kə'rekt order: Easter Monday, Whit Monday, August Bank ɔ:də: i:stə mʌndi, hwɪt mʌndi, ɔ:gəst bæŋk order = the way one thing follows

 another

Holiday, and Boxing Day. The law of the country says hɒlɪdɪ, ən bɒksɪŋ dei. ðə lɔ: əv ðə kʌntri sez that on these four days all banks must close, and as ðæt ɔn ði:z fɔ: deiz ɔ:l bæŋks məst kləʊz, ənd əz factories, shops, and offices then close, too, those days fæktərɪz, ʃɒps, ənd ɔfɪsɪz ðen kləʊz, tu:, ðəʊz deiz have become general holidays.” həv bɪ'kʌm dʒenərəl hɒlɪdɪz.”

“I see,” Storm said. “And I understand what you said “aɪ si:,” stɔ:m sed. “ənd aɪ ʌndə'stænd hwɒt ju: sed about closing on the three weekdays following religious ə'baʊt kləʊzɪŋ ɔn ðə ˈpri: wi:kdeɪz fɒləʊɪŋ rɪ'lɪdʒəs holidays, but I really find it a funny thought that your hɒlɪdɪz, bət aɪ rɪəli faɪnd ɪt ə fʌni þɔ:t ðæt jɔ:

great British Parliament should have taken the trouble ɡreɪt brɪtɪʃ pɑ:ləmənt ʃəd həv teɪkən ðə trʌbl to discuss a question like the third holiday and make tə dɪs'kʌs ə kwɛstʃən laɪk ðə ˈθɜ:d hɒlɪdi ən meɪk an Act of Parliament about it. But I suppose that if ən ækt əv pɑ:ləmənt ə'baʊt ɪt. bət aɪ sə'pəʊz ðæt ɪf you had time to read through all the Acts of Parliament ju: həd taɪm tə ri:d θru: ɔ:l ði ækts əv pɑ:ləmənt that make up the laws of the country, you would find ðæt meɪk ʌp ðə lɔ:z əv ðə kʌntri, ju: wəd faɪnd many strange things.” “I'll tell you what I think,” meni streɪndʒ θɪŋz.” “aɪl tel ju: hwɒt aɪ ˈθɪŋk,” Marshall replied with a smile; “I think that at the end mɑ:ʃəl rɪ'plaɪd wɪð ə smaɪl; “aɪ ˈθɪŋk ðæt ət ði end of an extremely hot week once upon a time, some əv ən ɪks'tri:mli hɒt wi:k wʌnz ə'pɔ:n ə taɪm, sʌm

Member of Parliament who perhaps was a bank membər əv pɑ:ləmənt hu: pə'hæps wəz ə bæŋk manager thought to himself, 'How unpleasant to have mænɪdʒə þɔ:t tə hɪm'self, 'hau ʌn'pleznt tə hæv to work in this heat, and how nice if one could get tə wə:k ɪn ðɪs hi:t, ən hau naɪs ɪf wʌn kəd get away from town for an extra day, at least once during ə'wei frəm taʊn fər ən ɛkstrə dei, ət li:st wʌns dʒuərɪŋ the summer! One ought to suggest, next time Parliaðə sʌmə! wʌn ɔ:t tə sə'dʒest, nekst taim pɑ:lə-ment sits, that all banks must close one Monday every mənt sɪts, ðət ɔ:l bæŋks məst kləʊz wʌn mʌndi evri summer.' And so he did, and so it became an Act of sʌmə.' ən sou hi: dɪd, ən sou ɪt bɪ'keɪm ən ækt əv

Parliament, and so everybody was happy, as they say pɑ:ləmənt, ən sou evrɪbɔ:di wəz hæpi, əz ðei sei in the story-books!" As they rose to get off, Storm ɪn ðə stɔ:ri'buks!" əz ðei rəʊz tə get ɔ:f, stɔ:m said with a laugh, "You would make a great teacher sed wɪð ə la:f, "ju: wəd meɪk ə greɪt ti:tʃər of history, I think. If there was something you didn't əv hɪstəri, aɪ θɪŋk. ɪf ðeə wəz sʌmθɪŋ ju: dɪdnt know, you would always be able to make up a fine nəʊ, ju: wəd ɔ:lweɪz bi: eɪbl tə meɪk ʌp ə faɪn story in no time!"

stɔ:ri ɪn nəʊ taim!"

in no time = in a very short time

WORDS:

general
generally
Boxing Day
milkman
off complete object decision forward religion settle birth true date prove account
Easter Sunday
Easter Monday
Easter
Whit Sunday
Whit Monday
Whitsun
consist Good Friday
ascend Ascension heaven
thought
act
law
rise
rose

EXERCISE A.

Storm wanted a few days — from his work; he needed two or three days' — rest, he said. But he would have to wait till Christmas for his rest, as it was the — rule at the office that nobody asked for days off during December. — Day is the day after Christmas Day; it is called so, because on that day the —, the postman, and others used to come to get their Christmas —. In the days before Christmas there are always many people in — of the shop windows, looking at the many things in the windows so that they may get an idea to help them to come to a — about Christmas presents. Mothers push their children — through the crowds, so that they can see. Everybody is — forward to seeing their friends and family during Christmas. In the bus home, Storm took a small — from his pocket and showed it to Marshall.

The different — have not been able to — the question of when the — of Christ took place; some say it was at Christmas, and others say that this is not —, but that the true — of His birth is some time in the autumn. They say that they can — this from the — of His birth in the Bible.

In England they have four holidays called bank holidays: Easter Monday, — —, — — —, and Boxing Day. Easter consists of three holidays, — —, — —, and Easter Monday. — is seven weeks after Easter. Ascension Day is the day when Christ — to —.

Storm found it a funny — that the great British Parliament should have taken the trouble to make the decision about August Bank Holiday an — of Parliament. All the different Acts of Parliament make up the — of the country. Marshall told Storm that he — had to stand in the bus home, and that if he did get a seat, he very often had to — and offer it to a lady.

risen
God
Christ
excuse grave
Empire Day
empire
Bible
order
Christmas box
passenger

EXERCISE B.

Answer these questions with full sentences:

Are there buses where you live? ... What other kinds of traffic are there near your home? ... How do you get to and from your work? ... Can you explain what holidays you keep yourself? ... What Christmas presents did you get last Christmas? ... What do you generally do during the Christmas holidays? ... Do you take part in any winter sports? ... What do children always buy at Easter? ...

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

Numerals [nju:mərəlz] are words like the following: one, four, six, the first, the third, the sixth. There are two kinds of numerals, cardinals [ka:dinəlz] and ordinals [ɔ:dinəlz]. Of the examples mentioned 'one', 'four', and 'six' are cardinals, and 'the first', 'the third', and 'the sixth' are ordinals.

Cardinals are used to express the number of persons, animals, or things that we are speaking of. Examples: I have thirteen shillings in my pocket. Nine men and eight women were present.

Ordinals show the order in which persons, animals, or things appear or happen. Examples: March is the third month of the year. This is the fifth time I have had to close the door.

Here are lists of cardinals and ordinals. By the help of these you will be able to express any numeral in English.

Cardinals

- 1 one [wʌn]
- 2 two [tu:]
- 3 three [pri:]
- 4 four [fɔ:]
- 5 five [faiv]
- 6 six [siks]
- 7 seven [sevn]
- 8 eight [eit]
- 9 nine [nain]
- 10 ten [ten]
- 11 eleven [i'levn]
- 12 twelve [twelv]
- 13 thirteen ['pə:'ti:n]
- 14 fourteen
[ˈfɔ:'ti:n]
- 15 fifteen ['fif'ti:n]
- 16 sixteen ['siks'ti:n]

Ordinals

- the first [fə:st]
- the second [sekənd]
- the third [pə:d]
- the fourth [fɔ:p]
- the fifth [fifθ]
- the sixth [siksθ]
- the seventh [sevnθ]
- the eighth [eitθ]
- the ninth [nainθ]
- the tenth [tenθ]
- the eleventh [i'levnθ]
- the twelfth [twelfθ]
- the thirteenth ['pə:'ti:nθ]
- the fourteenth [ˈfɔ:'ti:nθ]
- the fifteenth ['fif'ti:nθ]
- the sixteenth ['siks'ti:nθ]

17 seventeen ['sevn'ti:n]	the seventeenth ['sevn'ti:nþ]
18 eighteen ['ei'ti:n]	the eighteenth ['ei'ti:nþ]
19 nineteen ['nain'ti:n]	the nineteenth ['nain'ti:nþ]
20 twenty [twenti]	the twentieth [twentiþ]
21 twenty-one [twenti'wʌn], etc.	the twenty-first [twenti- 'fə:st], etc.
30 thirty [þə:ti]	the thirtieth [þə:tiþ]
40 forty [fɔ:ti]	the fortieth [fɔ:tiþ]
50 fifty [fifti]	the fiftieth [fiftiþ]
60 sixty [siksti]	the sixtieth [sikstiþ]
70 seventy [sevnti]	the seventieth [sevntiþ]
80 eighty [eiti]	the eightieth [eitiþ]
90 ninety [nainti]	the ninetieth [naintiþ]
100 a (or one) hun- dred [hʌndrəd]	the (one) hundredth [hʌndrədþ] 101 a (or one) hun- dred and one	the (one) hundred and first 135 a (or one) hundred and thirty-five	the (one) hundred and thirty-fifth 200 two hundred	the two hundredth
1,000 a (or one) thousand [paʊzənd]	the (one) thousandth [paʊzəndþ]
1,001 a (or one) thou- sand and one	the (one) thousand and first
1,100 eleven hundred or a (or one) thou- sand one hundred	the eleven hundredth or the (one) thousand one hundredth
1,157 eleven hundred and fifty-seven or a (one) thousand one hundred and fifty-seven	the eleven hundred and fifty-seventh or the (one) thousand one hundred and fifty- seventh
2,000 two thousand	the two thousandth
100,000 a (or one) hun- dred thousand	the (one) hundred thou- sandth

341,771	three hundred and forty-one thousand seven hundred and seventy-one	the three hundred and forty-one thousand seven hundred and seventy-first
1,000,000	a (or one) million [miljən]	the (one) millionth [miljənθ]
3,000,533	three million five hundred and thirty-three	the three million five hundred and thirty- third

Notice that with a few exceptions the ordinals are made by adding th to the cardinals. Examples: The thirteen -th, the eleven -th.

Questions:

How would you write the following figures in letters: 5, 9, 17, 19, 32, 51, 143, 701, 1,003, 53,731; 7th, 12th, 32nd, 148th, 1,005th, 47,457th? ...

EXERCISE D.

diə wud,

it wəz nais tə get ʃɔ: letə ən hiə sʌmpɪŋ ə'baʊt hʌwt iz ɡəʊɪŋ ɔn ət haʊm. sɔu ju: həv bi:n teikiŋ mai sistə fə trips intə ðə kʌntri! wel, ai riəli daʊnt nou hʌwt tə sei tə ðæt. if ju: a:nt ɡəʊɪŋ tə bi: mɔ: keəfʊl in ðə fju:tsə ə'baʊt teikiŋ hæ:r aʊt intu ɔ:l kaɪndz əv weðə ən briŋɪŋ hæ: bæʃ haʊm ɔ:l wɛt ən kəʊld, ai sə'pəʊz ai ʃəl həv tə rait ən tel hæ: hʌwt ən ʌn'pleznt feləʊ ju: a: bət pə'hæps fi:l faɪnd aʊt fə hæ:'self.

ai went on a trip intə ðə kʌntri maɪ'self sam taɪn ə'gou wið ə ʃʌŋ leɪdi kɔːld mæriən, ðə dɔːtər əv auə mænɪdʒə. bət ai həd ɔːdəd ə bluː skai, ðə siŋiŋ əv bəːdz, and ə wud ful əv triːz wið red ən braun liːvz; ðæts hau its dan in ɪŋɡlənd! mæriən ɪz ə veri lʌvli gəːl, ai kən tel juː. juː kən siː ðæt fə ʃɔː'self frəm ðis pɪkʃər əv həː, hwɪtʃ ai tuk ðæt dei in ðə kʌntri.

pliːz dount tel ðis tə mai sistə, ɔːr aɪm ə'freɪd ðæt ʃiː wɪl nɒt fiːl ðə rɪs'pekt fɔː miː ðæt sistəz ʃəd hæv fə ðeər eldə brʌðəz. bət juː meɪ rɪ'membə miː tə həː, ən tə ðə rest əv ðə fæmili.

ʃɔːz sɪn'siəli,

stɔːm

A TRIP TO BRIGHTON

When Storm started working at the office, it was hwen stɔ:m stɑ:tɪd wə:kɪŋ æt ði ɔfɪs, ɪt wəz decided that he should only remain as long as the dɪ'saɪdɪd ðæt hi: ʃəd ɒnli rɪ'meɪn əz lɔŋ əz ðə clerk whose work he was taking care of was ill. But kla:k hu:z wə:k hi: wəz teɪkɪŋ keə əv wəz ɪl. bət when the clerk was able to take over his own work hwen ðə kla:k wəz eɪbl tə teɪk ɒvə hɪz ɒn wə:k again at the beginning of the new year, the manager ə'geɪn æt ðə bɪ'gɪnɪŋ əv ðə nju: jɪə, ðə mænɪdʒə wanted Storm to stay on for a few months longer.

wɒntɪd stɔ:m tə steɪ ɒn fər ə fju: mʌnθs lɔŋɡə.

"I shall be very busy the next eight months or so.

"aɪ ʃəl bi: veri bɪzi ðə nekst eɪt mʌnθs ɔ: sɒu.

We're planning to open some new branch offices, so it wiə plænɪŋ tu ɒpən səm nju: brɑ:nʃ ɔfɪsɪz, sɒu ɪt would be nice to have you as a sort of private secretary.

wəd bi: naɪs tə hæv ju: əz ə sɔ:t əv praɪvət sekrətəri.

I shall need your help very badly."

aɪ ʃəl ni:d jɔ: help veri bædli."

Storm was only too glad to get this chance of staying stɔ:m wəz ɒnli tu: glæd tə get ðɪs tʃɑ:ns əv steɪɪŋ on, because he wanted to see the spring in England, ɒn, bɪ'kɔ:z hi: wɒntɪd tə si: ðə sprɪŋ ɪn ɪŋɡlənd, of which he had heard so much. A week later everyəv hɹwɪtʃ hi: həd hə:d sou mʌtʃ. ə wi:k leɪtə evri-thing had been settled; he was to stay in England as þɪŋ həd bi:n setld; hi: wəz tə steɪ ɪn ɪŋɡlənd əz long as the manager needed him.

lɒŋ əz ðə mænɪdʒə ni:did him.

So when May came he was still in London, working sou hʌvən meɪ keɪm hi: wəz stɪl ɪn lʌndən, wə:kɪŋ hard. Summer had come, and as the weather had been hɑ:d. sʌmə həd kʌm, ənd əz ðə weðə həd bi:n extremely fine for several days, Marshall and Storm ɪks'tri:mli faɪn fə severəl deɪz, mɑ:fəl ənd stɔ:m decided to go to the seaside for the week-end after a dɪ'saɪdɪd tə ɡəʊ tə ðə 'si:'saɪd fə ðə 'wi:k'end ɑ:ftər ə particularly busy week.

pə'tɪkjʊləli bɪzi wi:k.

“A week-end at the sea-side would do us good after “ə 'wi:k'end ət ðə 'si:'saɪd wəd du: ʌs ɡʊd ɑ:ftər a week's hard work,” Marshall said, “and even if it may ə wi:kz hɑ:d wə:k,” mɑ:fəl sed, “ənd i:vən ɪf ɪt meɪ still be a little cold to bathe, the sea will be beautiful, stɪl bi: ə lɪtl kəʊld tə beɪð, ðə si: wɪl bi: bjʊ:təfʊl, and the fresh sea-air will be nice after the bad London ən ðə frefʃ 'si:'eə wɪl bi: naɪs ɑ:ftə ðə bæd lʌndən air.” “What is the best place on the coast to go to?”

ɛə.” “hʌt ɪz ðə best pleɪs ɒn ðə kəʊst tə ɡəʊ tu?”

Storm wanted to know. “I think Brighton will be stɔ:m wəntɪd tə nəʊ. “aɪ þɪŋk braɪtn wɪl bi:

tooth-brush

comb

tooth-paste

one tooth two teeth

best," Marshall answered. "It's a pleasant town on best, ma:fəl a:nsəd. "its ə pləznt taun ɔn the south coast of England. We could stay the night ðə saʊθ kəʊst əv ɪŋɡlənd. wi: kəd stei ðə naɪt at one of the hotels and return on Sunday evening."

ət wʌn əv ðə haʊtəls ən rɪ'tə:n ɔn sʌndi i:vniŋ."

"Fine!" said Storm. "Let's hurry home from the "fain!" sed stɔ:m. "lets hʌri haʊm frəm ði office, then, without stopping for lunch at our usual ɔfis, ðen, wið'aʊt stɒpiŋ fə laʊf ət əʊə ju:ʒʊəl place. Perhaps your mother will prepare a quick pleis. pə'hæps jɔ: mʌðə wil pri'peə ə kwɪk lunch for us at home while we throw a few things laʊf fə ʌs ət haʊm hweɪl wi: θrəʊ ə fju: piŋz into a bag." "We shan't need much more than a intu ə bæɡ." "wi: ʃɑ:nt ni:d mʌʃ mɔ: ðən ə tooth-brush and a comb, so there won't be much to tu:þbrʌʃ ənd ə kəʊm, səʊ ðeə wəʊnt bi: mʌʃ tə pack. We'll have time enough before our train leaves."

pæk. wi:l hæv taɪm i'naʃ bi'fɔ:r əʊə treɪn li:vz."

"Speaking of tooth-brushes," Storm said, "I must "spi:kiŋ əv tu:þbrʌʃiz," stɔ:m sed, "aɪ mʌst remember to buy some tooth-paste on the way home. rɪ'membə tə baɪ səm tu:þpeɪst ɔn ðə weɪ haʊm.

I noticed this morning, when I was brushing my teeth, aɪ nəʊtɪst ðɪs mɔ:nɪŋ, hwen aɪ wəz brʌʃɪŋ maɪ ti:θ, that I had used up all my tooth-paste. I think I'll try ðət aɪ həd ju:zd ʌp ɔ:l maɪ tu:þpeɪst. aɪ piŋk aɪl traɪ a shop I've often noticed. It's only a short distance ə ʃɒp aɪv ɔ:fən nəʊtɪst. ɪts ɔʊnli ə ʃɔ:t dɪstəns from the Underground station, you know, the one which frəm ði ʌndəgraʊnd steɪʃən, ju: nəʊ, ðə wʌn hævɪʃ has an unusually large sponge lying in the window.

 hæz ən ən'ju:ʒuəli lɑ:dʒ spændʒ laɪɪŋ ɪn ðə wɪndəʊ.

It must be fun to use a sponge as big as that in the ɪt mʌst bi: fʌn tə ju:s ə spændʒ əz bɪg əz ðæt ɪn ðə bath; you could almost wash the whole body with it bæθ; ju: kəd ɔ:lmoʊst wɒʃ ðə həʊl bɒdi wɪð ɪt at once. I saw some beautiful brushes there the other ət wʌns. aɪ sɔ: səm bju:tɪfʊl brʌʃɪz ðəə ði ʌðə day, too. I'd like to buy them for my sister. She takes

 deɪ. tu:. aɪd laɪk tə baɪ ðəm fə maɪ sɪstə. ʃi: teɪks a lot of trouble with her hair and brushes it carefully ə lɒt əv trʌbl wɪð hə: heə ən brʌʃɪz ɪt keəfʊli morning and night; so those fine brushes would be just mɔ:nɪŋ ən naɪt; səʊ ðəʊz faɪn brʌʃɪz wəd bi: dʒʌst the thing for her, one for her hair and one to brush ðə θɪŋ fə hə:, wʌn fə hə: heə ən wʌn tə brʌʃ her clothes with. Perhaps there's a comb to go with hə: kləʊðz wɪð. pə'hæps ðəz ə kəʊm tə ɡəʊ wɪð them, too."

ðəm, tu:."

"Well, don't be too long about your shopping," Marshall

"wel, dəʊnt bi: tu: lɔŋ ə'baʊt jɔ: ʃɒpɪŋ," mɑ:ʃəl said. "I shall have to look for my bathing-costume.

sed. "aɪ ʃəl hæv tə lʊk fə maɪ beɪðɪŋkɒstjʊ:m.

take trouble with = work carefully
 with

bathing-costume

bathing-drawers

My mother puts it away every winter, and never twice mai mada puts it əwei evri winta, ən nevə təvais in the same place, so I can't be sure of finding it at in ðə seim pleis, sou ai ka:nt bi: suə æv faɪndɪŋ it at once."
 ʌns."

"Do you think it will be warm enough to bathe?" Storm "du: ju: θɪŋk it wil bi: wɔ:m i'nʌf tə beɪð?" stɔ:m asked. "Then I'll take my bathing-drawers, too." a:skt. "ðen ail teik mai beɪðɪndrɔ:z, tu:."

"Bathing-drawers!" Marshall said. "Haven't you got "beɪðɪndrɔ:z!" mɑ:səl sed. "hævnt ju: gɒt a bathing-costume? At one time you were not allowed ə beɪðɪŋkɔstju:m? ət wʌn taɪm ju: wə: nɒt ə'laʊd to use bathing-drawers, but nowadays it's perfectly all tə ju:z beɪðɪndrɔ:z, bʌt naʊədeɪz ɪts pə:fɪktli ɔ:l right of course. However, we English are funny in raɪt æv kɔ:s. haʊevə, wi: ɪŋglɪʃ ə: fʌni in many ways, you know. By some people bathingmeni weɪz, ju: nəʊ. baɪ sʌm pi:pl beɪðɪŋ-drawers are still regarded as not quite the thing for drɔ:z ə: stɪl ri'ga:dɪd əz nɒt kwaɪt ðə θɪŋ fə bathing." "Well, I haven't got anything else, so I'll beɪðɪŋ." "wel, ai hævnt gɒt ənɪθɪŋ els, sou ail have to take them along," Storm answered. hæv tə teik ðəm ə'lɔŋ," stɔ:m a:nsəd.

Two hours later the two young men were sitting in tu: aʊəz leɪtə ðə tu: jʌŋ men wə: sɪtɪŋ in a bus on their way to Brighton. "The distance from a bas ɔn ðeə wei tə braɪn. "ðə dɪstəns frəm London to Brighton is only about fifty miles," Marshall lʌndən tə braɪn ɪz ɔnli ə'baʊt fɪfti maɪlz," mɑːʃəl explained, "so I thought we might go there by bus ɪks'pleɪnd, "səʊ aɪ θɔːt wiː maɪt ɡəʊ ðeə baɪ bas instead of by train. The country between London and ɪn'stəd əv baɪ treɪn. ðə kʌntri bɪ'twɪːn lʌndən ən

Brighton is very beautiful, and you'll see more from braɪn ɪz veri bjuːtɪfʊl, ən juːl siː mɔː frəm the bus. The trees will be looking their best now; ðə bas. ðə triːz wɪl biː lʊkɪŋ ðeə best naʊ;

there will be flowers in bright colours by the roadside, ðeə wɪl biː flauəz ɪn braɪt kʌləz baɪ ðə rəʊdsaɪd, by the roadside = by the side of the road

and the leaves and the grass will be of that lovely ən ðə liːvz ən ðə ɡrɑːs wɪl biː əv ðæt lʌvli fresh green that they only have during the weeks fref ɡriːn ðæt ðeɪ ɔnli hæv dʒuəriŋ ðə wiːks when spring is turning into summer. I want you to hwen sprɪŋ ɪz təːnɪŋ ɪntə sʌmə. aɪ wɒnt juː tə see England at its very best — in May, in the country, siː ɪŋɡlənd. ət ɪts veri best — ɪn meɪ, ɪn ðə kʌntri, when everything is fresh and clean and full of peace hwen evriθɪŋ ɪz fref ən kliːn ən fʊl əv piːs and beauty.

ən bjuːti.

"It's funny, isn't it, that although I should not like to
"ɪts fʌni, ɪznt ɪt, ðæt ɔːl'dəʊ aɪ ʃəd nɒt laɪk tə in the distance = far away

live in the country, May always makes me wish to liv in ðə kʌntri, mei ɔ:lwəs meiks mi: wiʃ tə spend the summer in the country, to see the corn spend ðə sʌməɹ in ðə kʌntri, tə si: ðə kɔ:n standing green in the fields and the cows happy in stændiŋ gri:n in ðə fi:ldz ən ðə kaʊz hæpi in lovely deep grass.”
lʌvli di:p gra:s.”

“I quite understand how you feel,” Storm replied, “and “ai kwait ʌndə'stænd hau ju: fi:l,” stɔ:m ri'plaid, “ənd I'm glad we came by bus. I'm really seeing the country aim glæd wi: keim bai bʌs. aim riəli si:iŋ ðə kʌntri this way. Look, Marshall,” he continued, “isn't that ðis wei. luk, ma:səl,” hi: kən'tinju:d, “iznt ðæt a windmill we can see in the distance?” “Yes, it is,” a windmil wi: kən si: in ðə distəns?” “jes, it iz.”

Marshall replied. “We still have a few left, although ma:səl ri'plaid. “wi: stil hæv ə fju: left, ɔ:l'ðou in most places factories have taken over the work of in moust pleisiz fæktəriz hæv teikn ouvə ðə wɜ:k əv making corn into flour, which the windmills used to do. meikiŋ kɔ:n intə flauə, hwiʃ ðə windmils ju:st tə du:.

Factories can make flour cheaper, I suppose. And as fæktəriz kən meik flauə tʃi:pə, ai sə'pəʊz. ənd əz bread is such a large part of the nation's food, it's bred iz sʌtʃ ə la:dʒ pɑ:t əv ðə neɪʃənz fu:d, its important, of course, that flour should be cheap.” im'pɔ:tənt, əv kɔ:s, ðæt flauə ʃəd bi: tʃi:p.”

"What a lot of work must be done to the corn," Storm
"hʌvət ə lɒt əv wə:k mʌst bi: dʌn tə ðə kɔ:n," stɔ:m said as he looked out over the fields, "in the course of sɛd əz hi: lʊkt aʊt oʊvə ðə fi:ldz, "in ðə kɔ:s əv the months from the time when the farmer puts the ðə mʌnθs frəm ðə taɪm hʌvən ðə fɑ:mə pʊts ðə plough into the ground in spring until we put the bread pləʊ ɪntə ðə graʊnd ɪn sprɪŋ ʌn'tɪl wi: pʊt ðə bred on our tables! When the ground has been broken by ən aʊə teɪblz! hʌvən ðə graʊnd hʌz bi:n brəʊkn baɪ the plough, the seed is put in, and then after five or ðə pləʊ, ðə si:d ɪz pʊt ɪn, ən ðen ɑ:ftə faɪv ə six months the corn is ready to be taken to the mills, sɪks mʌnθs ðə kɔ:n ɪz redi tə bi: teɪkn tə ðə mɪlz, or factories, to be made into flour, and at last it is ɔ: fæktərɪz, tə bi: meɪd ɪntə fləʊə, ənd ət lɑ:st ɪt ɪz made into bread. When the corn has been taken to the meɪd ɪntə bred. hʌvən ðə kɔ:n hʌz bi:n teɪkn tə ðə mills, there is still something left of the plant, which mɪlz, ðəz stɪl sʌmpɪŋ left əv ðə plɑ:nt, hweɪtʃ is used for the animals during the winter. Not all the ɪz ju:zd fə ði ænɪməlz dʒuəriŋ ðə wɪntə. nɒt ɔ:l ðə corn is sent to the mills; some of it is used for next kɔ:n ɪz sent tə ðə mɪlz; sʌm əv ɪt ɪz ju:zd fə neks year's seed."
jiəz si:d."

"Yes," Marshall replied. "In town you usually don't "jes," mɑ:səl rɪ'plaɪd. "ɪn taʊn ju: ju:ʒuəli daʊnt grow (here) = make grow

think of these things. You go into a shop, ask for some þiŋk əv ði:z þiŋz. ju: gou intu ə ʃɒp. a:sk fə səm bread, and in the course of a minute or two you leave bred, ənd in ðə kɔ:s əv ə minit ə tu: ju: li:v the shop with the bread you have bought. Just as easy ðə ʃɒp wið ðə bred ju: hæv bɔ:t. dʒʌst əz i:zi as buying potatoes, and yet, how much more easily əz baɪɪŋ pə'teitouz, ən yet, hau mʌtʃ mɔ:r i:zili potatoes are grown!"
pə'teitouz a: grəʊn!"

Time passed quickly on the road. Every few minutes taim pɑ:st kwɪkli ən ðə rəʊd. evri fju: minits the view changed. They passed through some small ðə vju: tʃeɪndʒd. ðei pɑ:st þru: səm smɔ:l towns with beautiful old houses, between rose-bushes taʊnz wið bjʊ:təfʊl ould haʊsɪz, bi'twi:n rəʊzbʊʃɪz that grew in long rows along both sides of the road, ðət gru: in lɔŋ rəʊz ə'lɔŋ bəʊθ saɪdz əv ðə rəʊd, full of red and white flowers, or looked over bright ful əv red ənd hwaɪt flauəz. ɔ: lʊkt oʊvə braɪt green fields, pleasantly broken by a few trees here ɡri:n fi:ldz, plezntli brəʊkn baɪ ə fju: tri:z hiə and there, a thing which is typically English. They ənd ðeə, ə þɪŋ hwɪtʃ ɪz ti:pɪkəli ɪŋɡlɪʃ. ðei arrived at Brighton about four o'clock, and one of the ə'raɪvd ət braɪtn ə'baut fɔ:r ə'klɒk, ənd wʌn əv ðə first things they did when they reached their hotel fɜ:st þiŋz ðei dɪd hævn ðei ri:tʃt ðeə haʊ'tel was to order tea.

wəz tu ɔ:də ti:.

"I'll take mine with lemon to-day," Storm said. "I like
"aɪ teɪk maɪn wɪð lemən tə'deɪ," stɔ:m sed. "aɪ laɪk it best that way when I'm hot and thirsty. Won't you ɪt best ðæt weɪ hʌvən aɪm hɒt ən θə:sti. wəʊnt ju:

try it, too, Marshall? You won't regret it." "Yes, I'll traɪ ɪt, tu:, mɑ:fəl? ju: wəʊnt rɪ'ɡret ɪt." "jes, aɪl take lemon in my tea, too, for once," Marshall replied. teɪk lemən ɪn maɪ ti:, tu:, fə wʌns," mɑ:fəl rɪ'plaɪd.

"But I'll have to take at least three lumps of sugar
"bʌt aɪl hæv tə teɪk ət li:st θri: lʌmps əv sugə to make it sweet enough. Oh, I say, Storm, look at that tə meɪk ɪt swi:t ɪ'nʌf. ou, aɪ sei, stɔ:m, lʊk ət ðæt little dog, over there! He's looking at our sugar as if lɪtl dɒɡ, oʊvə ðeə! hi:z lʊkɪŋ ət ɔ:ə sugə əz ɪf we'd taken it from him. We'll have to give him a lump wi:d teɪkən ɪt frəm hɪm. wi:l hæv tə ɡɪv hɪm ə lʌmp of sugar. He doesn't look as if he belongs to anybody əv sugə. hi: dʌznt lʊk əz ɪf hi: bɪ'lɒŋz tə enɪbɒdi here; he must have come here by himself."

hiə; hi: məst hæv kʌm hɪə baɪ hɪm'self."

While they were having tea, a band started playing hwaɪl ðeɪ wə: hævɪŋ ti:, ə bænd stɑ:tɪd pleɪɪŋ in the restaurant. "Do people dance here in the afterɪn ðə restərɔ:ŋ. "du: pi:pl dɑ:ns hɪə ɪn ðɪ ɑ:ftə-noons?" Storm asked, noticing that they were playing 'nu:nz?" stɔ:m ɑ:skt, nəʊtɪsɪŋ ðæt ðeɪ wə: pleɪɪŋ by himself =

alone

dance-music. "No, not at this hotel," Marshall replied. da:nsɪnju:zɪk. "nou, nɒt at ðɪs hou'tel," mɑ:fəl rɪ'plaɪd.

"But there are several restaurants where you can dance
"bət ðeə sevərəl restərɔ:ntz hweə ju: kən da:ns at this time of the day. There will be dancing here at ðɪs taɪm əv ðə dei. ðeə wɪl bi: da:nsɪŋ hɪə to-night, though, as far as I know. Have you noticed tə'naɪt, ðəu, əz fa:r əz aɪ nou. hæv ju: nəʊtɪst that they have seven or eight instruments that they ðæt ðeɪ hæv sevən ər eɪt ɪnstrəmənts ðæt ðeɪ aren't using? I suppose that means there will be a a:nt ju:zɪŋ? aɪ sə'pəʊz ðæt mi:nz ðeə wɪl bi: ə larger band playing later on, and that there will be lɑ:dʒə bænd pleɪɪŋ leɪtə ɒn, ən ðæt ðeə wɪl bi:

dancing then. Would you like to go to some other place da:nsɪŋ ðen. wəd ju: laɪk tə ɡəʊ tə səm ʌðə pleɪs to dance?"

tə da:ns?"

"No, dancing on a nice afternoon like this has no
"nou, da:nsɪŋ ɒn ə naɪs ɑ:ftə'nu:n laɪk ðɪs həz nou attraction for me," Storm said. "Besides, I want to ə'trækʃən fə mi:," stɔ:m sed. "bi'saɪdz, aɪ wɒnt tə see as much of the town as possible while we are here."

si: əz mʌtʃ əv ðə taʊn əz pɒsəbl hwaɪl wi: a: hɪə."

"Right you are! Let's go, then," Marshall answered.
"raɪt ju: a:! let's ɡəʊ, ðen," mɑ:fəl ɑ:nsəd.

"We might walk about a bit. I want to show you the "wi: maɪt wɔ:k ə'baʊt ə bɪt. aɪ wɒnt tə ʃəʊ ju: ði attractions of the town — just like a professional guide: ə'trækʃənz əv ðə taʊn — dʒʌst laɪk ə prə'fɛʃənəl gaɪd:

Here, ladies and gentlemen, you see . . . , etc. Brighton hɪə, leɪdɪz ən dʒɛntl'mən, ju: si: . . . , ɪt'setɹə. braɪtn is full of cinemas, theatres, restaurants, music-halls, ɪz fʊl əv sɪnɪməs, θiətɹəs, restərɔ:ntz, mju:zɪk'hɔ:lz, and all kinds of places where you can have a good ænd ɔ:l kaɪndz əv pleɪsɪz hwɛə ju: kən hæv ə gʊd time. I really think that although Brighton is a taɪm. aɪ riəli θɪŋk ðæt ɔ:l'ðəʊ braɪtn ɪz ə seaside town, its attraction for many of the people

'si:'saɪd taʊn, ɪts ə'trækʃən fə mæni əv ðə pi:pl who come here lies more in these things than in the hu: kʌm hɪə laɪz mɔ:r ɪn ði:z θɪŋz ðæn ɪn ðə beach," Marshall explained as they left the hotel. bi:tʃ," mɑ:fəl ɪks'pleɪnd əz ðeɪ left ðə haʊ'tel.

"Really?" Storm asked. "You would think that, first "riəli?" stɔ:m ɑ:skt. "ju: wəd θɪŋk ðæt, fɜ:st of all, people come here to bathe, since this street, with əv ɔ:l, pi:pl kʌm hɪə tə beɪð, sɪns ðɪs stri:t, wɪð all these hotels on one side, is situated almost at the ɔ:l ði:z haʊ'telz ɔn wʌn saɪd, ɪz sɪtʃueɪtɪd ɔ:l'maʊst ət ðə very edge of the sea. You only have to walk a few veri edʒ əv ðə si:. ju: ɔnli hæv tə wɔ:k ə fju:

steps across the street, and you find yourself on the steɪps ə'krɔs ðə stri:t, ən ju: faɪnd ʃɔ:'self ɔn ðə beach. What is the beach like here?" "It's rather bi:tʃ. hwɔt ɪz ðə bi:tʃ laɪk hɪə?" "ɪts rɑ:ðə hall (here) = very large room music-hall = a sort of theatre with music, singing, and dancing good," Marshall replied. "On this part of the coast, gud," ma:fəl ri'plaid. "ɔn ðis pa:t əv ðə koust, the beach generally consists of small round stones ðə bi:tʃ dʒenərəli kən'sists əv smɔ:l raund stəʊnz which don't hurt the feet at all. In fact, many people hwitʃ daʊnt hæ:t ðə fi:t at ɔ:l. in fækt, meni pi:pl prefer these small stones to sand. 'Sand,' they say, pri'fə: ði:z smɔ:l stəʊnz tə sænd. 'sænd,' ðei sei,

'gets into your shoes and your stockings and your hair
'gets intə jɔ: ʃu:z ən jɔ: stɔkiŋz ən jɔ: heə and gives you a lot of trouble before you get it out.'

ən giʊz ju: ə lɒt əv trəbl bi'fɔ: ju: get it aʊt.'

However, if you prefer sand, I know a place not very haʊ'evə, if ju: pri'fə: sænd, ai nou ə pleis nɒt veri far from here where the beach has lovely red sand. fa: frəm hiə hwɛə ðə bi:tʃ hæz lʌvli red sænd.

We might go out there to-morrow." wi: mait ɡəʊ aʊt ðeə tə'mɔrou."

"I think I'd rather try this place," Storm answered.

"ai þiŋk aɪd ra:ðə trai ðis pleis," stɔ:m a:nsəd.

"Perhaps there's sand enough on the shores of your

"pə'hæps ðəz sænd i'nʌf ɔn ðə ʃɔ:z əv jɔ:r own country," Marshall said. "I think I prefer the əʊn kʌntri," ma:fəl sed. "ai þiŋk ai pri'fə: ðə stones myself; they're quite comfortable to lie on."

stəʊnz mai'self; ðeə kwait kʌmfətəbl tə laɪ ɔn."

"Just a minute," Storm interrupted, "I must ask you

"dʒʌst ə minit," stɔ:m intə'rʌptɪd, "ai məst a:sk ju:

to explain the meaning of a word you used just now tu iks'plein ðə mi:niŋ əv ə wə:d ju: ju:zd dʒʌst nau — ‘shore’, I think it was.” “With pleasure,” Marshall — ‘ʃɔ:’, ai þɪŋk it wəz.” “wið pleʒə,” ma:ʃəl replied. “It means almost the same as ‘beach’, but rɪ'plaɪd. “it mi:nz ə:lmoʊst ðə seɪm əz ‘bi:tʃ’, bət not quite. Both ‘beach’ and ‘shore’ mean ‘land at the nɒt kwaɪt. boʊp ‘bi:tʃ’ ən ‘ʃɔ:’ mi:n ‘lænd ət ði edge of a sea or a lake’. But while ‘beach’ is only edʒ əv ə si: ɔ:r ə leɪk’. bət hwɪl ‘bi:tʃ’ ɪz ounli used about a low piece of land with sand or small ju:zd ə'baʊt ə loʊ pi:s əv lænd wið sænd ɔ: smɔ:l stones at the edge of the sea or at the edge of a large stəʊnz ət ði edʒ əv ðə si: ɔ:r ət ði edʒ əv ə la:dʒ lake, ‘shore’ may also be used where the land rises leɪk, ‘ʃɔ:’ meɪ ɔ:lsoʊ bi: ju:zd hwet ðə lænd raɪzɪz sharply out of the sea without any low piece of land ʃa:pli aʊt əv ðə si: wið'aʊt eni loʊ pi:s əv lænd at the edge of the water, as for instance at Dover. So ət ði edʒ əv ðə wɔ:tə, əz fər ɪnstəns ət dɒvə. soʊ you see, a ‘beach’ is always a ‘shore’, but a ‘shore’ is ju: si:, ə ‘bi:tʃ’ ɪz ɔ:lweɪz ə ‘ʃɔ:’, bət ə ‘ʃɔ:’ ɪz only a ‘beach’ if it has small round stones or sand — ounli ə ‘bi:tʃ’ ɪf ɪt hæz smɔ:l raʊnd stəʊnz ɔ: sænd — if you know what I mean.” “Thanks! I think I do,” ɪf ju: nəʊ hwet ai mi:n.” “þæŋks! ai þɪŋk ai du:.”

Storm said. “At least I know enough to be able to stɔ:m sed. “ət li:st ai nəʊ ɪ'nʌf tə bi: eɪbl tə find out the rest when I read the word or hear some-faind aut ðə rest hwen ai ri:d ðə wə:d ɔ: hiə sʌmbody use it. But tell me, don't you think we might bədi ju:z it. bət tel mi:, dount ju: ʃɪŋk wi: maɪt be able to get a boat somewhere?" "Yes, that's easy bi: eɪbl tə get ə bout sʌmhweə?" "jes, ðəts i:zi enough," Marshall replied. "There isn't wind enough i'nʌf," mɑ:fəl ri'plaid. "ðər ɪznt wɪnd i'nʌf for sails, though, and, besides, I'm not very used to fə seɪlz, ðou, ən, bi'saɪdz, aɪm nɒt veri ju:st tə boats with sails, so I should prefer one of the small bouts wɪð seɪlz, sou ai ʃəd pri'fə: wʌn əv ðə smɔ:l boats that you see down there on the beach." "You bouts ðət ju: si: daʊn ðeər ɒn ðə bi:tʃ." "ju: need not be afraid," Storm said, "I know all about ni:d nɒt bi: ə'freɪd," stɔ:m sed, "ai nou ɔ:l ə'baut boats and sails, so I'll take care of that side of the bouts ən seɪlz, sou aɪl teɪk keər əv ðæt saɪd əv ðə matter." "Oh, in that case," Marshall answered, "I mætə." "ou, ɪn ðæt keɪs," mɑ:fəl ɑ:nsəd, "ai don't care which we go out in, as long as you'll be dount keə hwɪtʃ wi: ɡoʊ aut ɪn, əz lɔŋ əz ju:l bi: the captain. But I think it would be a good idea to ðə kæptɪn. bət ai ʃɪŋk ɪt wəd bi: ə ɡʊd aɪ'diə tə wait until this evening before going out," he continued. weɪt ʌn'tɪl ðɪs i:vniŋ bi'fɔ: ɡoʊɪŋ aut," hi: kæn'tɪnju:d.

"As far as I remember, there will be a moon to-night,
"əz fa:r əz ai ri'membə, ðeə wɪl bi: ə mu:n tə'nait, and if the weather doesn't change, the stars will be ənd ɪf ðə weðə dʌznt tʃeɪndʒ, ðə stɑːz wɪl biː out, too. But after all we had better take one of the aʊt, tuː. bʌt ɑːftər ɔːl wiː həd bɛtə teɪk wʌn əv ðə small boats, for what little wind there is will be gone smɔːl bɔʊts, fə hwɒt lɪtl wɪnd ðər ɪz wɪl biː gɒn to-night."

tə'naɪt."

The sea was as smooth as glass when they went out ðə siː wəz əz smuːð əz glɑːs hwen ðeɪ went aʊt in a small boat that evening. There was not a single ɪn ə smɔːl bɔʊt ðæt iːvɪnɪŋ. ðeə wəz nɒt ə sɪŋɡl wave on the surface of the water.

weɪv ɒn ðə səːfɪs əv ðə wɔːtə.

"What a lovely sight it is," Marshall said, "with the "hwɒt ə lʌvli saɪt ɪt ɪz," mɑːʃəl sed, "wɪð ðə moon and the stars up there in the sky and, at the muːn ən ðə stɑːz ʌp ðeər ɪn ðə skaɪ ænd, ət ðə same time, shining back at us from the smooth surface seɪm taɪm, ʃaɪnɪŋ bæk ət ʌs frəm ðə smuːð səːfɪs of the sea, and all the lights from the many hotels on əv ðə siː, ænd ɔːl ðə laɪts frəm ðə meni haʊtelz ɒn the shore." "Yes, I'm glad we waited till it was dark; ðə ʃɔːr." "jes, aɪm glæd wiː weɪtɪd tɪl ɪt wəz dɑːk;

it's a sight I shan't forget," Storm replied.

ɪts ə saɪt aɪ ʃɑːnt fə'get," stɔːm rɪ'plaɪd.

When they got on shore again, Marshall suggested that hwen ðeɪ gɒt ɒn ʃɔːr ə'geɪn, mɑːʃəl sə'dʒestɪd ðæt going on = taking place

turn in = go to bed

they should have a look at the night-life of Brighton.
ðei ʃəd hæv ə luk ət ðə naɪtlaɪf əv braɪtn.

“Our night-life is not what they call ‘hot’ in America, “aʊə naɪtlaɪf ɪz nɒt hwɒt ðei kɔ:l ‘hɒt’ ɪn əˈmerɪkə, but we might look in at a few places and see if there’s bət wi: maɪt luk ɪn ət ə fju: pleɪsɪz ən si: ɪf ðəz any fun going on anywhere.” eni ʃʌn ɡoʊɪŋ ɔn enɪhwɛə.”

They did as Marshall suggested and passed a very ðei dɪd əz mɑ:ʃəl səˈdʒestɪd ænd pɑ:st ə veri pleasant evening, returning about eleven o’clock to pleznt i:vniŋ, rɪˈtə:nɪŋ əˈbaʊt ɪˈlevn əˈklɒk tə their hotel to have a glass of something in the restaurant ðeə haʊˈtel tə hæv ə gla:s əv smʌŋθɪŋ ɪn ðə restərɔ:ŋ before ‘turning in’. The band was much larger now bɪˈfɔ: ‘tə:nɪŋ ɪn’ ðə bænd wəz mʌtʃ lɑ:dʒə naʊ than in the afternoon, and all the musical instruments ðən ɪn ði ɑ:ftəˈnu:n, ænd ɔ:l ðə mju:zɪkəl ɪnstrʊmənts were being used.

wə: bi:ɪŋ ju:zd.

“It’s almost too much of a good thing with all the noise “ɪts ɔ:lmoʊst tu: mʌtʃ əv ə ɡʊd θɪŋ wɪð ɔ:l ðə nɔɪz the band is making now,” Storm said; “I liked it better ðə bænd ɪz meɪkɪŋ naʊ,” stɔ:m sed; “aɪ laɪkt ɪt betər in the afternoon.” “That’s because we aren’t dancing,” ɪn ði ɑ:ftəˈnu:n.” “ðætʃ bɪˈkɔ:z wi: ɑ:nt dɑ:nsɪŋ,” Marshall replied. “Could we do that?” Storm asked.

mɑ:ʃəl rɪˈplaɪd. “kʊd wi: du: ðæt?” stɔ:m ɑ:skt.

"Yes, it's quite proper to dance with girls you don't "jes, its kwɔit prɔpə tə da:ns wið gə:lz ju: dount know at seaside places like this," Marshall answered.

nou at 'si:'said pleisiz laik ðis," ma:fəl a:nsəd.

"There will often be girls staying with their families
"ðeə wil ɔ:fn bi: gə:lz steiɪŋ wið ðeə fæmiliz at the hotel, or young women spending a little holiday ət ðə hau'tel, ɔ: jʌŋ wiːmɪn spændiŋ ə litl hɒlɪdi alone, who are usually glad to have a few dances with ə'loun, hu: a: ju:ʒuəli glæd tə hæv ə fju: da:nsiz wið you. Let's see if we can find two pleasant-looking ju:. lets si: if wi: kæn faɪnd tu: plezntluːkiŋ girls." "Look over there, Marshall, at the three women gə:lz." "lʊk oʊvə ðeə, ma:fəl, at ðə ʒri: wiːmɪn at that table, especially the one to the left. What on ət ðæt teɪbl, ɪs'peʃəli ðə wʌn tə ðə left. hwɒt ɔn earth is she doing?" "I think she's beating time to the ə:p ɪz ʃi: du:ɪŋ?" "aɪ θɪŋk ʃi:z bi:tiŋ taɪm tə ðə music with her hand," he answered, "perhaps to show mju:zɪk wið hə: hænd," hi: a:nsəd, "pə'hæps tə ʃəʊ that she can dance and is willing to, if anybody should ðæt ʃi: kæn da:ns ənd ɪz wiːlɪŋ tu, ɪf enɪbɒdi ʃəd ask her. I must say they're a strange collection, those ɑ:sk hə:. aɪ mʌst sei ðeə ə streɪndʒ kə'leksən, ðəʊz three! They must be at least fifteen years older than ʒri:! ðeɪ mʌst bi: ət li:st fiːfti:n jɪəz ouldə ðən they're trying to appear. Look at the other one, now!

ðeə traɪɪŋ tu ə'piə. lʊk ət ði ʌðə wʌn, naʊ!

appear (here) =
look

She is putting still more red 'paint' on her lips and ʃi: ɪz pʊtɪŋ stɪl mɔ: red 'peɪnt' ɔn hɜ: lɪps ən powder on her nose and cheeks. I wonder what they paʊdər ɔn hɜ: noʊz ən tʃi:ks. aɪ wʌndə hʌwɪt ðeɪ look like under that surface of powder and paint?" lʊk laɪk ʌndə ðæt sə:fɪs əv paʊdər ən peɪnt?"

"You should look over there instead," Storm said,
"ju: ʃəd lʊk oʊvə ðeər ɪn'sted," stɔ:m sed, noticing two girls of about twenty entering the restaurant nəʊtɪsɪŋ tu: gɜ:lz əv ə'baʊt twenti ɛntərɪŋ ðə restərɔ:ŋ in the company of a man who looked old enough to be ɪn ðə kʌmpəni əv ə mæn hu: lʊkt ould ɪ'nʌf tə bi:

their grandfather. They were tall and good-looking, ðeə grændfa:ðə. ðeɪ wə: tɔ:l ənd guɢlʊkɪŋ, not beautiful, but with the clear skin and rosy lips and nɒt bjʊ:təfʊl, bʌt wɪð ðə kliə skɪn ənd rəʊzi lɪps ənd cheeks for which English women are famous. "Have tʃi:ks fə hʌwɪtʃ ɪŋglɪʃ wɪmɪn a: feɪməs. "həv you noticed the way the smaller of them is walking in ju: nəʊtɪst ðə weɪ ðə smɔ:lər əv ðəm ɪz wɔ:kiŋ ɪn time to the music? Musical people often do that. I tʌɪm tə ðə mju:zɪk? mju:zɪkəl pi:pl ɔ:fən du: ðæt. aɪ am sure she dances well." əm ʃʊə ʃi: dɑ:nsɪz wel."

In fact, both girls moved across the dance-floor with the ɪn fækt, bəʊθ gɜ:lz mu:vɪd ə'krɔ:s ðə dɑ:nsflɔ: wɪð ðə grace of young animals. "If they dance with as much greɪs əv jʌŋ ænɪməlz. "ɪf ðeɪ dɑ:ns wɪð əz mʌtʃ grace as they walk, it should be lovely to dance with greis əz ðei wɔ:k, it ʃəd bi: lʌvli tə dɑ:nz wið them. Do you think they will dance with us?" Storm ðəm. du: ju: ʃɪŋk ðei wɪl dɑ:nz wið ʌs?" stɔ:m asked. "We can only find that out by asking them.

ɑ:skt. "wi: kən ʌnli faɪnd ðæt aʊt baɪ ɑ:skɪŋ ðəmi.

But let's give them a chance to taste their wine, or hət lets gɪv ðəm ə tʃɑ:nz tə teɪst ðeə weɪn, ɔ: whatever they're having, before we ask them. Did həvət'evə ðeə hævɪŋ, bɪ'fɔ: wi: ɑ:sk ðəm. dɪd you notice that they are both wearing very beautiful ju: nəʊtɪs ðæt ðei ɑ: bəʊp weəriŋ veri bjʊ:təfʊl jewels round their necks?" Marshall continued. "As dʒu:əlz raʊnd ðeə neks?" mɑ:ʃəl kən'tɪnju:d. "əz far as I can see from here, the tall girl's jewels are fɑ:r əz aɪ kən si: frəm hiə, ðə tɔ:l gɜ:lz dʒu:əlz ɑ:

quite like her sister's, except that the stones of their kwaɪt laɪk hɜ: sistəz, ɪk'sept ðæt ðə stəʊnz əv ðeə jewels are of different colours. For I suppose that they dʒu:əlz ɑ:r əv dɪfrənt kʌləz. fɜr aɪ sə'pəʊz ðæt ðei must be sisters."

mʌst bi: sistəz."

"I shouldn't wonder if they are," Storm said. "How
"aɪ ʃʊdnɪt wʌndər ɪf ðei ɑ:," stɔ:m sed. "haʊ different these two are from the three painted ladies dɪfrənt ði:z tu: ɑ: frəm ðə ʒri: peɪntɪd leɪdɪz over there. You can easily see that when you compare əʊvə ðeə. ju: kən i:zɪli si: ðæt hwen ju: kəm'peə compare = make a comparison

auntie = aunt

the quiet good taste of the two girls' jewels with the ðə kwaɪət gud teɪst əv ðə tuː gəːlz dʒuːəls wɪð ðə

'loud' jewels our three 'aunties' have hung round their
'laʊd' dʒuːəls ɔʊə θriː 'aːntɪz hæv haŋ raʊnd ðeə thin necks — gold and silver, and stones in all colours!" θɪn neks — gəʊld ən sɪlvə, ən stəʊnz ɪn ɔːl kələz!"

"Yes, I suppose their jewels must be expensive, but "jes, aɪ sə'pəʊnz ðeə dʒuːəls mʌst biː ɪks'pensɪv, bət they look as if they might have been bought at one ðei luk əz ɪf ðei maɪt hæv biːn bɔːt ət wʌn of those stores where nothing costs more than sixpence," əv ðəʊz stɔːz hweə nəθɪŋ kɒsts mɔː ðən sɪkspəns,"

Marshall replied.

maːʃəl ri'plaɪd.

"Well, shall we ask if the girls would care to dance
"wel, ʃəl wiː ɑːsk ɪf ðə gəːlz wəd keə tə daːns with us? We had better go one at a time — you first!

wɪð ʌs? wiː həd betə ɡoʊ wʌn ət ə taɪm — juː fəːst!

Which of them have you thought of asking?" Storm hwɪtʃ əv ðəm hæv juː θɔːt əv ɑːskɪŋ?" stɔːm wanted to know. "The smaller one. But I don't want wɒntɪd tə nəʊ. "ðə smɔːlə wʌn. bət aɪ daʊnt wɒnt to go first," Marshall replied. "Well, if I'm to go first, tə ɡoʊ fəːst," maːʃəl ri'plaɪd. "wel, ɪf aɪm tə ɡoʊ fəːst,

I shall ask the small one," Storm laughed. "I liked aɪ ʃəl ɑːsk ðə smɔːl wʌn," stɔːm lɑːft. "aɪ laɪkt the way she moved in time to the music."

ðə wei ʃiː muːvd ɪn taɪm tə ðə ɪnjuːzɪk."

"So did I. However, I'd rather not go first; but if they "sou did ai. hau'evə, aid ra:ðə nɒt ɡou fə:st; bət if ðei care to have more than one dance with us, perhaps kəə tə hæv mɔ: ðən wʌn dɑ:ns wɪð ʌs, pə'hæps

I might have a chance later of trying how well she ai maɪt hæv ə tʃɑ:ns leɪtə əv traɪɪŋ hau wəl ʃi:

dances. All right, run along now," Marshall said, "and dɑ:nsɪz. ɔ:l rait, rʌn ə'ləŋ nau," mɑ:ʃəl sed, "ən don't forget to bow to grandpa and ask him first if dəʊnt fə'ɡet tə baʊ tə ɡrændpɑ: ənd ɑ:sk hɪm fə:st ɪf grandpa =

 grandfather

you may dance with one of his young ladies!" ju: meɪ dɑ:ns wɪð wʌn əv hɪz jʌŋ leɪdɪz."

Storm collected all his courage and walked up to the stɔ:m kə'lektɪd ɔ:l hɪz kərɪdʒ ənd wɔ:kt ʌp tə ðə table where the two girls were sitting. As he came teɪbl hweə ðə tu: ɡɜ:lz wə: sɪtɪŋ. əz hɪ: keɪm nearer, he noticed that the taller of the girls looked nɪəə, hɪ: nəʊtɪst ðæt ðə tə:lər əv ðə ɡɜ:lz lʊkt a little like Marion, and so at the last minute he decided ə lɪtl laɪk mə'ɪriən, ənd sou ət ðə lɑ:st mɪnɪt hɪ: dɪ'saɪdɪd to ask her. First he bowed once in the general direction tə ɑ:sk hɜ:. fə:st hɪ: baʊd wʌns ɪn ðə dʒenərəl dɪ'rekʃən of their table, then he bowed to the old gentleman, əv ðeə teɪbl, ðen hɪ: baʊd tə ði ould dʒentlmən, and at last he bowed to the girl and asked in a voice ənd ət lɑ:st hɪ: baʊd tə ðə ɡɜ:l ənd ɑ:skt ɪn ə vɔɪs that he hardly recognized as his own, "May I have the ðæt hɪ: ha:dli rekəɡnaɪzd əz hɪz oun, "meɪ ai hæv ðə pleasure of having this dance with you?"

plezər ə hæviŋ ðis da:ns wið ju:?"

Soon they were all talking pleasantly together, and after the first few dances the old gentleman invited them to move over to his table.

ðəm tə mu:v oʊvə tə his teibl.

On Sunday evening the two friends went home by train after having spent a very pleasant week-end at the seaside.

ðə 'si:'said.

EXERCISE A.

WORDS:

grace
week-end tooth teeth brush brush (verb)
tooth-paste
tooth-brush
comb
sponge

Storm — to see the spring in England. Marshall and Storm went to Brighton for the —. Brighton is a town on the south — of England. A — is used to — your teeth with. In the morning, when brushing his —, Storm had noticed that he had used up all his —. A — is used to brush your hair with, and a — is also used for the hair.

The two friends wanted to bathe, so Marshall took his — with him and Storm his —. The — from London to Brighton is about fifty miles. In former times the — made corn into —, but now the factories do it. When the ground has been broken by the —, the — is put into it. The corn is taken to the — to be made into flour. At the hotel Marshall and Storm took their tea with —. Marshall took three — of sugar.

After tea Marshall wanted to show Storm the different — of the town. The — at Brighton consisted of small stones, which many people prefer to —. Marshall knew a place with — sand. Both 'beach' and '—' mean land at the edge of a sea. Storm knew all about boats with —.

EXERCISE B.

Write about one of the latest books you have read. Was it about a subject you are interested in, or was it just a good story? Tell us if you liked it, if you know anything about the person who wrote it, etc. Use your own words as well as you can when writing the exercise, which should have a length of 200—300 words.

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

Verbs are words that tell us what persons or things do or are. They also tell us what happens. Here are some examples: The girl goes to school at eight o'clock in the morning. The man drove the car. The boy is small. The horse was running very fast. I have eaten my apple. He could see many houses from his window.

bathing-drawers
bathing-costume drawers distance roadside seed instrument plough windmill left
mill flour course lemon lump seaside coast shore beach sand dance (verb)
dance attraction
bow music musical
time lip cheek powder jewel compare moon star surface
sail smooth

grandpa

What happened then? In these sentences the words 'goes', 'drove', 'is', etc., are verbs.

A verb has several forms. 'Write', 'wrote', 'written', 'writing', 'writes' are all forms of the verb 'to write'. The form 'to write' we call the infinitive [in'finitiv], and this is generally the form we give when we mention a verb. Examples: to go, to eat, to swim, to play.

The form of the verb that expresses the time of the sentence we call its tense. The verbs have several tenses, which may be seen from the following sentences: I am ill now. I was ill yesterday. I have been ill for three days. The time "now" is expressed by the present tense. Here are some examples of verbs in the present tense: I hope to see you again. We think of going there often. You never eat enough. We write letters every day.

The forms used in the present tense are the following: I call, you call, he (she, it, the boy) calls, we call, you call, they (the boys) call. You will notice that the form is the same in all cases, except one: after 'he', 'she', 'it', and a noun in the singular, an -s is added.

The -s is pronounced [s] after the sounds p, t, k, f, ʃ, which are called voiceless [voislis] consonants, but after the sounds b, d, g, m, n, ŋ, v, ð, l, which are called voiced [voist] consonants, and after vowels, the -s is pronounced [z]. Examples: he thanks [þæŋks], he brings [brɪŋz], he hears [hɪəz].

Notice that if the verb ends in the sounds s, z, f, ʒ, a whole syllable [-iz] is added: he passes [pa:si:z], he rises [raizi:z], he wishes [wiʃi:z], he changes [tʃeindʒi:z]. In writing, -es is added in such words if they do not end in an -e beforehand: wish-es, rise-s.

If a verb ends in a consonant followed by -y in the infinitive, it changes -y into -ie before -s is added, for instance, try — tries. But if a vowel comes before the -y, the -y remains when -s is added: stay — stays.

Questions:

What are verbs? ... What is the tense of a verb? ... How do you make the form of the present tense after 'he', 'she', 'it', or a noun in the singular? ... What do you add to a verb in the present tense after 'he', 'she', 'it', or a singular noun, if it ends in s, z, f, ʒ? ... If a verb ends in -y in the infinitive, do you always change it into -ie before -s is added? ...

RAILWAYS

“Really, Marshall,” Storm said, when they were “riəli, ma:ʃəl,” stɔ:m sed, hwen ðei wə:

discussing their trip to Brighton over a quiet cup of dis'kasiŋ ðə trip tə braɪtn ouvə ə kwaɪət kʌp əv tea on Sunday night, “I must say a few words in praise ti: ɒn sʌndi naɪt, “aɪ mʌst sei ə fju: wə:dz ɪn preɪz of your railways. Not only was our train extremely əv jɔ: reɪlweɪz. nɒt ɒnli wəz əʊə treɪn ɪks'tri:mli comfortable, but I was surprised to find how fast it kʌmfətəbl, bʌt aɪ wəz sə'praɪzd tə faɪnd haʊ fa:st ɪt went. The journey home from Brighton was very went. ðə dʒɜ:ni haʊm frəm braɪtn wəz veri quick indeed.”

kwi:k ɪn'di:d.”

“Yes, we’re rather proud of our railways. Most people “jes, wiə ra:ðə praʊd əv əʊə reɪlweɪz. mʌst pi:pl who come to Britain from the Continent have nothing hu: kʌm tə brɪtən frəm ðə kɒntɪnənt hæv nəθɪŋ but praise for our trains. The reason why our railways bʌt preɪz fər əʊə treɪnz. ðə ri:zn hwaɪ əʊə reɪlweɪz are better than those of most other countries many a: betə ðən ðəʊz əv mʌst ʌðə kʌntriz meni think is this: In most countries the railways have θɪŋk ɪz ðɪs: ɪn mʌst kʌntriz ðə reɪlweɪz hæv always been owned by the State, but over here they ɔ:lʌvəz bi:n ound bai ðə steit, bət ouvə hɪə ðeɪ were under the control of four big private companies wə:r ʌndə ðə kən'trɒl əv fɔ: bɪɡ praɪvət kʌmpənɪz until the first of January 1948. Where the ʌn'tɪl ðə fɜ:st əv dʒənʒuəri naɪnti:n fɔ:ti'eɪt. hʌvə ðə

State owns the railways, there's no competition, and steɪt ɒnz ðə reɪlweɪz, ðəz nəʊ kəmpeɪtɪʃən, ən that often means, they say, that nobody takes any real ðæt ɔ:fn mi:nz, ðeɪ seɪ, ðæt nəʊbədi teɪks ɛni riəl trouble to make a first-class business out of them. This trʌbl tə meɪk ə fɜ:stklɑ:s bɪznɪs aʊt əv ðəm. ðɪs usually means, of course, that railways owned by the State ju:ʒʊəli mi:nz, əv kɔ:s, ðæt reɪlweɪz ɒnd bai ðə steɪt don't make money, but lose money instead. Although dəʊnt meɪk mʌni, bət lu:z mʌni ɪn'stəd. ɔ:lðəʊ our railways are now owned by the State, you must əʊə reɪlweɪz a: nəʊ ɒnd bai ðə steɪt, ju: mʌst remember that they had been made into a first-class ri'membə ðæt ðeɪ həd bi:n meɪd ɪntu ə fɜ:stklɑ:s business by the people who owned them before." bɪznɪs bai ðə pi:pl hu: ɒnd ðəm bi'fɔ:."

Storm: "Yes, I can easily understand that there must stɔ:m: "jes, aɪ kən i:zɪli ʌndə'stænd ðæt ðə mʌst have been much competition between the four comhəv bi:n mʌtʃ kəmpeɪtɪʃən bi'twi:n ðə fɔ: kʌmpanies, and I also understand that this may have been pəni:z, ənd aɪ ɔ:lsoʊ ʌndə'stænd ðæt ðɪs meɪ həv bi:n company = business into which many people have put money

make money = earn money

He loses, he lost, he has lost [lu:zɪz, lɒst, lɒst].

benefit = advantage

a benefit to the people who used the trains. Each a benifit tə ðə pi:pl hu: ju:zd ðə treinz. i:tʃ of the companies, of course, wanted to get as much əv ðə kʌmpəni:z, əv kɔ:s, wɒntɪd tə get əz mʌtʃ of the transport as possible. Their accounts had to əv ðə trænspɔ:t əz pɒsəbl. ðeər ə'kaunts həd tə show a profit at the end of the year. If they lost ʃəʊ ə prɒfɪt ət ði end əv ðə jɪə. ɪf ðei lɒst business, they lost money, and if they lost too much bɪznɪs, ðei lɒst mʌni, ənd ɪf ðei lɒst tu: mʌtʃ money, their accounts would show a loss instead of mʌni, ðeər ə'kaunts wəd ʃəʊ ə lɒs ɪn'stəd əv a profit; then people wouldn't put their money into a prɒfɪt; ðen pi:pl wədnt put ðeə mʌni ɪntə that company, and it would soon be finished. But ðæt kʌmpəni, ənd ɪt wəd su:n bi: fɪnɪʃt. bʌt in the way of = as to tell me, what could they really do in the way of competition? It isn't always that competition is good."

tɛl mi:, hɒw kʌd ðei riəli du: ɪn ðə weɪ əv kəm-pɪ'tɪʃən? ɪt ɪznt ɔ:lweɪz ðæt kəm'pɪ'tɪʃən ɪz gud."

"Oh, there were, and still are of course, many forms
"əʊ, ðeə wə:, ən stɪl ɑ:r əv kɔ:s, mʌni fɔ:mz of service to be found in our trains. We really feel əv sə:vɪs tə bi: faʊnd ɪn ʌʊə treinz. wi: riəli fi:l that somebody is always thinking out new comforts ðæt sʌmbədi ɪz ɔ:lweɪz θɪŋkɪŋ ʌʊt nju: kʌmfəts for the travellers. In almost all carriages we have fɔ ðə trævələz. ɪn ɔ:lmoʊst ɔ:l kærɪdʒɪz wi: həv soft seats to sit on, instead of hard seats of wood. At soft si:ts tə sit ɒn, in'sted əv ha:d si:ts əv wud. ət many stations we can buy a cup of tea, take it along meni steiʃənz wi: kən bai ə kʌp əv ti:, teik it ə'lɔŋ in the train, and leave the empty cup at another station. in ðə treɪn, ən li:v ði ɛmti kʌp ət ə'nʌðə steiʃən.

In one or two trains running between London and in wʌn ə tu: treɪnz rʌniŋ bi'twi:n lʌndən ən

Brighton, they have special carriages with typewriters braɪtn, ðei hæv speʃəl kærɪdʒɪz wɪð taɪpraɪtəz for business men and their secretaries." fə bɪznɪs mən ən ðeə sekrətɪrɪz."

"I see that your railways differ very much from those
"aɪ si: ðæt jɔ: reɪlweɪz dɪfə veri mʌʃ frəm ðəʊz in my country," Storm said. "At home, there is, for in maɪ kʌntri," stɔ:m sed. "ət hoʊm, ðər ɪz, fər instance, a great difference between first and third ɪnstəns, ə greɪt dɪfrəns bi'twi:n fə:st ən þə:d class carriages. The first class carriages, of course, kla:s kærɪdʒɪz. ðə fə:st kla:s kærɪdʒɪz, əv kɔ:s, have soft seats, but many third class carriages still hæv soft si:ts, bʌt meni þə:d kla:s kærɪdʒɪz stɪl have hard wooden seats. And typewriters! I'm sure hæv ha:d wʊdn si:ts. ən taɪpraɪtəz! aɪm suə nobody ever thought of having typewriters for business nəʊbədi evə þɔ:t əv hæviŋ taɪpraɪtəz fə bɪznɪs men in our trains."

mən in əʊə treɪnz."

wood = what chairs and tables are made of typewriter

wooden = made of wood

rails engine

steam

"There's another difference which I'm almost sure you
 "ðæz ə'nʌðə dɪfrəns hwiɪf aɪm ɔ:lmoʊst juə ju:

have noticed," Marshall said. "Our carriages are a hæv noutɪst," mɑ:fəl sed. "auə kærɪdʒɪz a:r ə little narrower than those used on the Continent, lɪtl nærouə ðæn ðəʊz ju:zd ɔn ðə kɒntɪnənt, although the space between the rails isn't narrower.

 ɔ:l'ðəʊ ðə speɪs bɪ'twi:n ðə reɪlz ɪznt nærouə.

With narrower carriages running on the rails, it means wɪð nærouə kærɪdʒɪz rʌnɪŋ ɔn ðə reɪlz, ɪt mi:nz that trains can go much faster. You will remember ðæt treɪnz kən ɡəʊ mʌtʃ fɑ:stə. ju: wɪl rɪ'membə that we Englishmen built the first railways. That is ðæt wi: ɪŋɡlɪʃmən bɪlt ðə fɜ:st reɪlweɪz. ðæt ɪz to say, already more than two thousand years ago the tə sei, ɔ:l'redɪ mɔ: ðæn tu: haʊzənd jɪəz ə'ɡəʊ ðə Romans knew how to use rails of stone or wood for rəʊmənz nju: haʊ tə ju:z reɪlz əv stəʊn ɔ: wʊd fə the transport of heavy objects. But it was in England ðə trænspɔ:t əv hevi ɒbdʒɪkts. bət ɪt wəz ɪn ɪŋɡlənd that the first modern railway was opened, with a real ðæt ðə fɜ:st mɒdən reɪlweɪ wəz ɒʊpənd, wɪð ə riəl engine that was moved forward by steam. At first endʒɪn ðæt wəz mu:vəd fɔ:wəd baɪ sti:m. ət fɜ:st people were afraid of these engines with steam coming pi:pl wə:r ə'freɪd əv ði:z endʒɪnz wɪð sti:m kʌmɪŋ out of them. They thought that the engines weren't aʊt əv ðəm. ðeɪ θɔ:t ðæt ði endʒɪnz wə:nt safe and dared not ride in trains pulled by engines. seif ən deəd nɒt raɪd ɪn treɪnz puld baɪ endʒɪnz.

So not until the engines had been used for some time sou nɒt ʌn'tɪl ðɪ endʒɪnz həd bi:n ju:zd fə sʌm taɪm for the transport of goods, did people believe that they fə ðə trænspɔ:t əv gu:dz, dɪd pi:pl bɪ'li:v ðət ðeɪ were quite safe, and that they could ride in the trains wə: kwəɪt seɪf, ən ðət ðeɪ kəd raɪd ɪn ðə treɪnz without danger. I think it would be hard to-day to wɪð'aʊt deɪndʒə. aɪ θɪŋk ɪt wəd bi: hæ:d tə'deɪ tə find a person who wouldn't dare to ride in a train."

faɪnd ə pə:sn hu: wədnt deə tə raɪd ɪn ə treɪn."

"How strange to think that the railways, which have
"hau streɪndʒ tə θɪŋk ðət ðə reɪlweɪz, hwaɪf hæv been of such benefit to people, were so long in having bi:n əv sʌʃ benɪfɪt tə pi:pl, wə: sou lɔŋ ɪn hævɪŋ success!" Storm said. "Just think how travelling, a sək'ses!" stɔ:m sed. "dʒʌst θɪŋk hau trævəlɪŋ, ə little over a hundred years ago, differed from travelling lɪtl oʊvər ə haʊdrəd jɪəz ə'gəʊ, dɪfəd frəm trævəlɪŋ to-day! A two hours' trip to-day would have been tə'deɪ! ə tu: aʊəs trɪp tə'deɪ wəd hæv bi:n a two days' journey then — a very uncomfortable ə tu: deɪz dʒə:ni ðen — ə veri ʌn'kʌmfətəbl journey, too — and not very safe. Nowadays we sit dʒə:ni, tu: — ən nɒt veri seɪf. naʊədeɪz wi: sɪt at ease on seats as comfortable as our chairs at home.

ət i:z ɒn si:ts əz kʌmfətəbl əz aʊə tʃeəz ət haʊm.

at ease = comfortably

Chapter Fifty-Four (54).

restaurant car =
railway carriage used as a restaurant

He flies, he flew, he has flown [flaiz, flu:, flown].

unknown = not known

'Cheltenham
Flyer' = the fastest train running between London
and Cheltenham

'Flying Scotsman' = a well-known train running
between London
and Edinburgh [edimbərə]

If we get hungry on the trip, we only have to go into if wi: get haŋgri ɔn ðə tri:p, wi: ounli hæv tə gou into the restaurant car and order what we want, and then ðə restərɔ:ŋ kɑ:r and ɔ:də hwæt wi: wɔnt, ɔn ðen sit at ease in soft chairs, watching houses and trees sit at i:z in sɔft tʃeəz, wɔtʃɪŋ haʊzɪz ɔn tri:z fly past the window, while we are waiting for the flai pɑ:st ðə wɪndəʊ, hwaɪl wi: ɑ: weɪtɪŋ fə ðə food."

fu:d."

"Yes," replied Marshall, "the railways soon became a "jes," ri'plaid mɑ:fəl, "ðə reɪlweɪz su:n bɪ'keɪm ə success, even if the first trains were uncomfortable and sək'ses, i:vən ɪf ðə fə:st treɪnz wə:r ʌn'kʌmfətəbl ɔn the service now given to passengers was quite unknown ðə sə:vɪs naʊ gɪvən tə pæsɪndʒəz wəz kwaɪt 'ʌn'nəʊn then. The speed of those first trains in comparison ðen. ðə spi:d ɔv ðəʊz fə:st treɪnz ɪn kəm'pærɪsn with what people were used to must have given the wɪð hwæt pi:pl wə: ju:st tu məst hæv gɪvən ðə first passengers a feeling that they were flying along fə:st pæsɪndʒəz ə fi:lɪŋ ðæt ðeɪ wə: flaɪɪŋ ə'lɔŋ as fast as birds. Speaking of birds and flying, it is said əz fɑ:st əz bɑ:dz. spi:kɪŋ ɔv bɑ:dz ɔn flaɪɪŋ, ɪt ɪz sed that some of our trains, for instance, the 'Cheltenham ðæt sʌm ɔv ʌʊə treɪnz, fəɪɪnstəns, ðə 'tʃeltnəm

Flyer' and the 'Flying Scotsman', two of the fastest flaɪə' ɔn ðə 'flaɪɪŋ skɒtsmən', tu: ɔv ðə fɑ:stɪst trains in the world, when at their greatest speed, really treinz in ðə wə:ld, hwen at ðə greitist spi:d, riali do go faster than any bird has ever flown. I don't du: gou fa:stə ðən eni bə:d hɜz evə floun. ai dount know whether it's true, though."

nou hwedər its tru:, ðou."

"I hardly think so. But even without that there are

"ai ha:dli þɪŋk sou. bət i:vən wið'aut ðæt ðə so many things that I must praise," Storm answered.

sou meni þɪŋz ðæt ai məst preiz," stɔ:m a:nsəd.

"I've noticed, for instance, that there are very fine

"aiv noutist, fər instəns, ðæt ðə veri fain connections between most of the larger towns. There kə'nekʃənz bi'twi:n moust əv ðə la:dʒə taunz. ðə are connections several times a day from one end of the kə'nekʃənz severəl taimz ə dei frəm wʌn end əv ðə country to the other. And the connections from London kəntri tə ði ʌðə. ən ðə kə'nekʃənz frəm lʌndən are so frequent that you can go almost anywhere a: sou fri:kwənt ðæt ju: kən gou ɔ:l'moust enihwə whenever you want to. I'm sorry to say that in my hwen'evə ju: wɒnt tu. aim sɔri tə sei ðæt in mai country this is not always so."

kəntri ðis iz nɒt ɔ:lweɪs sou."

"Perhaps that is why many Londoners are such fre-

"pə'hæps ðæt iz hwai meni lʌndənəz a: sʌtʃ fri:- quent guests in the country. It's made easy for them kwənt gests in ðə kəntri. its meid i:zi fə ðəm to get away," Marshall replied. "You seem to be made tə get ə'vei, mɑ:fəl ri'plaid. "ju: si:m tə bi: meid of the right material for a true Londoner; I've noticed əv ðə rait mət'iəriəl fər ə tru: lʌndənə; aiv noutist that it's getting harder and harder to keep you at home ðət its getiŋ hɑ:dər ən hɑ:də tə ki:p ju: ət haʊm during the week-ends. You go about in trains as if dʒuəriŋ ðə 'wi:k'ends. ju: ɡəʊ ə'baʊt in treinz əz if you were getting material together for a book about ju: wə: getiŋ mət'iəriəl tə'geðə fər ə bu:k ə'baʊt the country round London — or perhaps you just want ðə kʌntri raʊnd lʌndən — ɔ: pə'hæps ju: dʒʌst wɒnt to be sure that the railways will get a nice profit?" tə bi: ʃʊə ðət ðə reilweiz wil get ə nais prɒfit?"

"Don't be foolish, Marshall," Storm replied. "I'm sorry
"dʌnt bi: fu:liʃ. mɑ:fəl," stɔ:m ri'plaid. "aɪm sɔ:ri I haven't told you any more about my trips than I have, aɪ hævnt təʊld ju: ɛni mɔ:r ə'baʊt maɪ trips ðən aɪ hæv, but I will tell you all about them later on." "This bət aɪ wil tel ju: ɔ:l ə'baʊt ðəm leɪtər ɒn." "ðis sounds very interesting. — And what has come over saʊndz veri ɪntrɪstɪŋ. — ən hwɒt hæz kʌm ɒvə you, since you suddenly look so serious? Have you ju:, sɪns ju: sʌdnli lʊk sʊ siəriəs? hæv ju: lost all your smiles in the train?" "Please don't make lɒst ɔ:l jɔ: smailz ɪn ðə treɪn?" "pli:z dʌnt meɪk fun of me — I'm really a rather serious young man at fʌn əv mi: — aɪm riəli ə rə:ðə siəriəs jʌŋ mæn ət heart!" "So I see. Excuse me, old man! But I'm ha:t!" "sou ai si:. iks'kju:z mi:, ould mæn! bat aim sure that yours is not only a case of the loss of a few ʃuə ðæt jɔ:z iz nɒt ounli ə keɪs əv ðə lɒs əv ə fju:

smiles. I wonder if you haven't lost your heart as smaɪlz. ai wʌndə ɪf ju: hævnt lɒst jɔ: ha:t əz well?" Storm: "What do you mean?" "I mean," wel?" stɔ:m. "hwɒt du: ju: mi:n?" "ai mi:n," Marshall replied, "— no, I shall answer you with another mɑ:ʃəl ri'plaɪd, "— nou, ai ʃəl a:nsə ju: wið ə'nʌðə question: Are you alone on your frequent Sunday trips kwestʃən: a: ju: ə'loun ɒn jɔ: fri:kwənt sʌndi trips into the country?" "Hem — I'm not quite ready to tell ɪntə ðə kʌntri?" "hm — aim nɒt kwaɪt redi tə tel you about that yet." "Oh, sorry! I can wait." ju: ə'baut ðæt jet." "ou, sɒri! ai kən weɪt."

EXERCISE A.

Until the first of January 1948, all the railways in England were owned by four — and were not under the — of the State. The English railways are of great — to the passengers. The passengers sit on — seats, instead of hard seats made of —. Most railways owned by the State show a — when the accounts are made up at the end of the year, while the private railway companies generally show a —.

WORDS: frequent transport safe dare
 steam
 engine success journey uncomfortable restaurant car

unknown fly flew flown
flyer
wood wooden soft difference differ benefit control lose lost
loss profit
company
connection competition rail service
ease praise praise (verb)
material
typewriter

Storm told Marshall that the railways in his country in many ways — from the railways in Britain. They did not give the passengers such good —. The — between the first and third class carriages was very great. Nowadays you can sit at — in the restaurant — and have your dinner while you are travelling. They say that the train called the ‘Cheltenham —’ runs faster than any bird has ever —. In one or two trains running between London and Brighton, they have — for business men. Storm — the English railways, and Marshall answered that most foreigners had only words of — for them.

Although the British carriages are narrower, the space between the — in England is the same as on the Continent. When the first railways were built, modern comforts on the trains were quite —. Before the railways came, a trip which now is made in a few hours was often a — of several days. It is the — that pulls the train. Most engines are driven by —. At first people thought that the trains were not —, and therefore they — not ride in them, but used them only for the — of goods. Now, however, they have had great — everywhere. There are very good — between all the larger towns in England. Storm had made — trips into the country during the last months. When Storm answered Marshall in a serious voice, Marshall asked him if he had — all his smiles in the train.

EXERCISE B.

Answer these questions with full sentences:

Which do you think is the cheaper way of transport of goods, by ship or by train? ... Are all the railways in your country owned by the State? ... What service do your trains give to the passengers? ... Have you got trains that have names, as some trains have in England? ... Do railways in your country show a profit or a loss? ... Why do you think this is so? ... Which way of travelling do you prefer, by train or by boat? ...

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

The present tense of the verb 'have' is not made in the normal way after 'he', 'she', 'it', or a noun in the singular. The form is 'has': I have, you have, he (she, it, the boy) has, we have, you have, they (the boys) have. In the same way, the present tense of the verb 'do' is irregular [i'regju:lə], that is, not normal, after 'he', 'she', 'it', or a noun in the singular: I do [du:], you do, he (she, it, the boy) does [dʌz], we do, you do, they (the boys) do. Verbs ending in -o add -es after 'he', 'she', 'it', or a noun in the singular. Example: I go, he goes.

The verbs 'shall', 'will', 'can', 'may', 'must', 'ought' do not add an -s when used with 'he', 'she', 'it', or a noun in the singular, and have consequently only one form in the present tense. Examples: He will do it. John must not go to school to-day. He can pay the bill. She may come at any time.

'Dare' and 'need' may be without -s after 'he', 'she', 'it', or a noun in the singular, if they are followed by an infinitive. Examples: He needs the money. He need not go there. Let him come if he dares. He dare not go there.

The present tense of the verb 'be' has three different forms: I am, you are, he (she, it, the boy) is, we are, you are, they (the boys) are.

Questions:

What is the present tense form of 'have' after 'he', 'she', 'it', or a noun in the singular? ... What is the present tense of 'do' after 'he', 'she', 'it', or a noun in the singular, and how is the form pronounced? ... What do verbs ending in -o add in the present tense after 'he', 'she', 'it', or a noun in the singular? ... Mention the six verbs which do not end in -s after 'he', 'she', 'it', or a noun in the singular. ... What are the present tense forms of the verb 'be'? ...

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION

Storm's special work for Mr. Edwards made it necessary stɔ:mz speʃəl wə:k fə mistər edwədz meɪd ɪt nesɪsəri for him to spend many evenings at the manager's house.

fə hɪm tə spend menɪ i:vniŋz ət ðə mænɪdʒəz haʊs.

When work was finished on these nights, Mrs. Edwards hwen wə:k wəz fɪnɪʃt ɒn ði:z naɪts mɪsɪz edwədz and Marion usually laid the tea-table, and they all had ænd mæriən ju:ʒuəli leɪd ðə ti:teɪbl, ənd ðeɪ ɔ:l həd a cup of tea together.

ə kʌp əv ti: tə'geðə.

In this way it was not long before the two young people ɪn ðɪs weɪ ɪt wəz nɒt lɒŋ bɪ'fɔ: ðə tu: jʌŋ pi:pl had become great friends. They went about together həd bɪ'kʌm greɪt frendz. ðeɪ went ə'baʊt tə'geðə quite a lot, to restaurants now and then, to see a picture, kwaɪt ə lɒt, tə restərɔ:nts naʊ ənd ðen, tə si: ə pɪktʃə, or on small trips to places outside London.

ɔ:r ɒn smɔ:l trips tə pleɪsɪz aʊtsaɪd lʌndən.

On the Sunday following the trip to Brighton, Marion ɒn ðə sʌndi fɔ'lɒwɪŋ ðə trip tə braɪtn, mæriən had agreed to go with Storm to spend a day in the həd ə'ɡri:d tə ɡoʊ wɪð stɔ:m tə spend ə ðeɪ ɪn ðə hills south of London. London itself is mostly built hɪlz saʊθ əv lʌndən. lʌndən ɪt'self ɪz maʊstli bɪlt since (here) = because curve = bend

on very flat ground, but a short distance to the south ɔn veri flæt graund, bət ə ʃɔ:t distəns tə ðə saʊθ of the city there are high hills, from which there is əv ðə siti ðeər a: hai hilz, frəm hwi:ʃ ðeər iz a very beautiful view of London and the country round ə veri bju:təfʊl vju: əv lʌndən ənd ðə kʌntri raʊnd it. The highest of the hills is called Leith Hill; that it. ðə haɪst əv ðə hilz iz kɔ:ld li:p hil; ðæt was where they were going that day, since Storm had wəz hwɛə ðei wə: ɡoʊɪŋ ðæt dei, sɪns stɔ:m həd not been there yet. "I'm looking forward to getting nɒt bi:n ðeə jet. "aɪm lʊkiŋ fɔ:wəd tə ɡetiŋ up into the hills," Storm said as they sat in the bus.
ʌp ɪntə ðə hilz," stɔ:m sed əz ðei sæt ɪn ðə bʌs.
 "I don't find flat country very interesting — the same "aɪ daʊnt faɪnd flæt kʌntri veri ɪntrɪstɪŋ — ðə seɪm wherever you look. In the hills, on the other hand, hwɛər'evə ju: lʊk. ɪn ðə hilz, ɔn ði ʌðə hænd, the country changes all the time, and there's always ðə kʌntri tʃeɪndʒɪz ɔ:l ðə taɪm, ən ðəz ɔ:lwaɪz something new to be seen. Hallo! What was that?"
sʌmθɪŋ —nju: tə bi: si:n. hə'ləʊ! hwɒt wəz ðæt?" he suddenly cried out, as the bus threw them over to hi: sʌdnli kraɪd aʊt, əz ðə bʌs θru: ðəm oʊvə tə one side and then stopped. They had just come round wʌn saɪd ənd ðen stɒpt. ðei həd dʒʌst kʌm raʊnd a curve in the road and had nearly run into an old ə kə:v ɪn ðə rəʊd ənd həd niəli rʌn ɪntu ən ould car that was standing in the road. "That was a near ka: ðæt wəz stændɪŋ ɪn ðə roud. "ðæt wəz ə nɪə thing," Marion said. "If the driver hadn't been so ɪŋ. mæriən sed. "ɪf ðə draɪvə hædnt bi:n sou quick in using the brakes and stopping the bus, there kwɪk ɪn ju:zɪŋ ðə breɪks ən stɒpɪŋ ðə bʌs, ðeə would no doubt have been an accident. Look at the wəd nou daʊt hæv bi:n ən æksɪdənt. luk æt ðə cloud of dust that the wheels made!" klaʊd əv dʌst ðæt ðə hwi:lz meɪd!"

"This is one of the new buses with brakes both on the "ðɪs ɪz wʌn əv ðə nju: bʌsɪz wɪð breɪks boʊp ɔn ðə front wheels and on the back wheels; that's why she frʌnt hwi:lz ænd ɔn ðə bæk hwi:lz; ðæts hwaɪ ʃi: was able to stop so quickly when I put the brakes on," wəz eɪbl tə stɒp sou kwɪkli hwən aɪ pʊt ðə breɪks ɔn," the driver said proudly, as he started the bus again. ðə draɪvə sed praʊdli, əz hi: stɑ:tɪd ðə bʌs ə'geɪn.

"If it had been one of the old ones," he continued,
"ɪf ɪt hæd bi:n wʌn əv ði ould wʌnz," hi: kən'tɪnju:d.

"I'm afraid we should now all have been lying in the "aɪm ə'freɪd wi: ʃəd naʊ ɔ:l hæv bi:n laɪɪŋ ɪn ðə dirty water in the ditch at the side of the road — bus, dɑ:tɪ wɔ:tər ɪn ðə dɪtʃ æt ðə saɪd əv ðə roud — bʌs, passengers, car, and all, and this just because some pæsɪndʒəz, kɑ:, ænd ɔ:l, ən ðɪs dʒʌst bɪ'kəʊz sʌm farmer leaves his car in such a foolish place as a curve fɑ:mə li:vz hɪz kɑ:r ɪn sʌtʃ ə fu:lɪʃ pleɪs əz ə kə:v

wheel

she = the bus

ditch

certain = sure in the road! Well, I've never run my bus into the in ðə roud! wel, aiv nevə rʌn mai bʌs intə ðə ditch yet, and if I can help it, I never shall!" "I'm dɪʃ jət, ænd ɪf aɪ kən help ɪt, aɪ nevə ʃæl!" "aɪm quite certain he never will," Storm said to Marion; kwaɪt seɪtn hi: nevə wɪl," stɔ:m sed tə məəriən;

"he seems to be an extremely clever driver."

"hi: si:mz tə bi: ən iks'tri:mli klevə draɪvə."

"Well, this seems to be where we're to get off," Storm

"wel, ðis si:mz tə bi: hwɛə wiə tə get ɔ:f," stɔ:m said a few minutes later, as the bus stopped at the sed ə fju: minits leɪtə, əz ðə bʌs stɒpt ət ðə bottom of a hill. "Yes, this is Leith Hill," Marion bɒtəm əv ə hɪl. "jes, ðis ɪz li:θ hɪl," məəriən replied. "Can you see the tower at the top of the hill?"

ri'plaid. "kən ju: si: ðə taʊə ət ðə tɒp əv ðə hɪl?"

The hill isn't quite 1,000 feet high, but now that ðə hɪl ɪznt kwaɪt ə haʊzənd fi:t haɪ, bət naʊ ðət the tower has been built, it may be said with some ðə taʊə həz bi:n bɪlt, ɪt meɪ bi: sed wɪð sʌm truth that it is 1,000 feet from the bottom of the tru:θ ðət ɪz ə haʊzənd fi:t frəm ðə bɒtəm əv ðə hill to the top. — It is certainly good to walk about hɪl tə ðə tɒp. — ɪt ɪz seɪtnli gud tə wɔ:k ə'baʊt a bit after sitting in the bus for so long," Marion ə bɪt ɑ:ftə sɪtɪŋ ɪn ðə bʌs fə sɒ lɒŋ," məəriən continued, as she got out of the bus. "And now I kən'tɪnju:d, əz ʃi: ɡɒt aʊt əv ðə bʌs. "ən naʊ aɪ suggest that first of all we walk over to that farm and sə'dʒest ðæt fə:st əv ɔ:l wi: wɔ:k oʊvə tə ðæt fɑ:m ən have a cup of tea to wash away the dust from our hæv ə kʌp əv ti: tə wɔʃ ə'wei ðə dʌst frəm ʌʊə throats before we start on our walk. It hasn't rained θrəʊts bi'fɔ: wi: stɑ:t ɔn ʌʊə wɔ:k. it hæznt reɪnd for two weeks, so there must have been at least an fə tu: wi:kz, sʊ ðeə mʌst hæv bi:n æt li:st ən inch of dust on the road for the wheels of the bus to ɪnf əv dʌst ɔn ðə rəʊd fə ðə hwi:lz əv ðə bʌs tə send flying in clouds." "Did you say tea at the farm?" send flaɪɪŋ ɪn klaʊdz." "dɪd ju: sei ti: æt ðə fɑ:m?"

Storm asked. "Yes, in many places in the country stɔ:m ɑ:skt. "jes, ɪn menɪ pleɪsɪz ɪn ðə kʌntri where tourists come," she answered, "the farmers' wives hwɛə tuəɪrɪsts kʌm," ʃi: ɑ:nsəd, "ðə fɑ:məz waɪvz serve tea with home-made bread and cake, and they sə:v ti: wɪð haʊmmeɪd bred ən keɪk, ən ðeɪ do so here, too."

du: sʊ hiə, tu:."

The farm-house was a long, low building made of red ðə 'fɑ:m'haʊs wəz ə lɔŋ, ləʊ bɪldɪŋ meɪd əv red brick. At one side there was a building for the animals, bɪk. æt wʌn saɪd ðeə wəz ə bɪldɪŋ fə ðɪ ænɪməlz, also of red brick, and at the other side was a nice ɔ:lsoʊ əv red bɪk, ænd æt ðɪ ʌðə saɪd wəz ə naɪs garden, surrounded by a wooden fence, where tea was ɡɑ:dn, sə'raʊndɪd baɪ ə wʊdn fens. hwɛə ti: wəz brick

fence

served. "I wonder where the gate is in this fence?"
sə:vd. "ai wʌndə hwɛə ðə geit iz in ðis fens?"

Marion said, as they walked along the side of the məriən sed, əz ðei wɔ:kt ə'lɔŋ ðə said əv ðə garden towards the house. "There must be some way ga:dn tə'wɔ:dz ðə haus. "ðeə mʌst bi: sʌm wei of getting into the garden." əv getɪŋ ɪntə ðə ga:dn."

Not until they came all the way up to the farm-house, nɒt ʌn'tɪl ðei keɪm ɔ:l ðə wei ʌp tə ðə 'fa:m'haus, did they find the gate. Just as they were going to dɪd ðei faɪnd ðə geit. dʒʌst əz ðei wə: goʊɪŋ tu open it, the farmer's wife came out with a basket full əʊpən ɪt, ðə fa:məz waɪf keɪm aʊt wɪð ə bɑ:skɪt fʊl of corn and started feeding the corn to the fowls əv kɔ:n ənd stɑ:tɪd fi:dɪŋ ðə kɔ:n tə ðə faʊlz running about in front of the house. When she called, rʌnɪŋ ə'bʌt ɪn frʌnt əv ðə haus. hwen ʃi: kɔ:ld, they hurried up to her as fast as their legs and their ðei haɪrɪd ʌp tə hə: əz fɑ:st əz ðeə legz ənd ðeə wings would carry them. One little brown hen wɪŋz wəd kəri ðəm. wʌn lɪtl braʊn hen especially seemed to be very hungry; it tried to fly ɪs'peʃəli si:md tə bi: veri haŋɡri; ɪt traɪd tə flɑɪ up to the basket to get as near to the corn as possible. ʌp tə ðə bɑ:skɪt tə get əz niə tə ðə kɔ:n əz pɒsəbl.

There were several kinds of fowls, and among them ðeə wə: sevərəl kaɪndz əv faʊlz, ənd ə'mʌŋ ðəm they also saw a turkey. "Look at that funny fellow ðei ɔ:lsoʊ sɔ: ə təkɪ. "lʊk ət ðæt fʌni feloʊ over there," Marion said. "He looks as if he owned oʊvə ðeə," məˈrɪən sed. "hi: lʊks əz ɪf hi: ɒnd the whole place — so proud. And then he's going ðə hoʊl pleɪs — soʊ praʊd. ən ðen hi:z ɡoʊɪŋ to end his life on somebody's Christmas table, no doubt. tu end hi:z laɪf ɒn səmbədɪz krɪsməs teɪbl, noʊ daʊt.

Listen to the strange noise he's making. Isn't he funny?
lɪsn tə ðə streɪndʒ nəɪz hi:z meɪkɪŋ. ɪznt hi: fʌni?

I must always laugh when I see turkeys; they look aɪ mʌst ɔ:lweɪz lɑ:f hwɛn aɪ si: təkɪz; ðei lʊk so much like little old, foolish, proud men." soʊ mʌtʃ laɪk lɪtl ould, fu:lɪʃ, praʊd mɛn."

"Good afternoon," she said to the farmer's wife, who
"ɡʊd ˈɑ:ftəˈnu:n," ʃi: sed tə ðə fɑ:məz ˈwaɪf, hu:

had now finished feeding the fowls. "Could you make həd naʊ fɪnɪʃt fi:dɪŋ ðə faʊls. "kəd ju: meɪk us a cup of tea?" "Yes, certainly," the woman ʌs ə kʌp əv ti:?" "jes. səˈtnli," ðə wʊmən answered. "If you'll go into the garden and wait, it ɑ:nsəd. "ɪf ju:l ɡoʊ ɪntə ðə ɡɑ:dən ən weɪt. ɪt will be ready in a few minutes." "Fine! But might wɪl bi: redi ɪn ə fju: mɪnɪts." "faɪn! bət maɪt

I look about a bit while we're waiting?" Storm asked.
aɪ lʊk əˈbaʊt ə bɪt hwaɪl wiə weɪtɪŋ?" stɔ:m ɑ:skt.

"You see, I've never visited an English farm before,
"ju: si:, aɪv nevə vɪzɪtɪd ən ɪŋɡlɪʃ fɑ:m bɪˈfɔ:,

pig

fat = the opposite of thin

and I'm interested in seeing whether there's much ænd aim intristid in si:iŋ hweðə ðæz mʌtʃ difference between your farms and the farms of the difrəns bi'twi:n jɔ: fɑ:mz ən ðə fɑ:mz əv ðə country that I come from." "Certainly! Look about kʌntri ðət ai kʌm frəm. "sə:tnli! luk ə'baut as much as you like. But be careful when you go over əz mʌtʃ əz ju: laik. bət bi: keəfʊl hwen ju: gou ouvə to the animals, for we've got a young pig running tə ði æniməlz, fə wi:v gɒt ə jʌŋ pig rʌniŋ about loose, and he might brush against your clothes. ə'baut lu:s, ən hi: maɪt brʌʃ ə'geɪnst jɔ: kləʊðz.

Pigs, you know, aren't always so clean. He really pɪgz, ju: nou, a:nt ɔ:lwəz sou kli:n. hi: riəli shouldn't be loose any longer, but ought to be shut ʃudnt bi: lu:s eni lɔŋgə, bət ɔ:t tə bi: ʃʌt up with the other pigs — you can see the five fat pigs ʌp wið ði ʌðə pɪgz — ju: kən si: ðə faɪv fæt pɪgz in there. He runs about so much that he doesn't grow in ðeə. hi: rʌnz ə'baut sou mʌtʃ ðət hi: dʌznt grou fat like the others. He's such a funny little pig, putting fæt laik ði ʌðəz. hi:z sʌtʃ ə fʌni litl pig. putɪŋ his nose into everything to see what it is, and the hɪz nouz ɪntu evriθɪŋ tə si: hwɒt ɪt ɪz, ən ðə children have such a good time playing with him that tʃɪldrən hæv sʌtʃ ə gud taim pleɪɪŋ wið hɪm ðət my husband hasn't had the heart to shut him up with maɪ hʌzbənd hæznt hæd ðə hɑ:t tə ʃʌt hɪm ʌp wið the others yet. But you can see for yourselves that ði ʌðəz jət. bət ju: kən si: fə ʃɔ: 'selvz ðət he's much too thin; by now, he ought to be almost hi:z mʌtʃ tu: þin; baɪ naʊ, hi: ɔ:t tə bi: ɔ:lməʊst twice as fat! Well," she continued, picking up two tuwaɪs əz fæt! wel," ʃi: kən'tɪnju:d, pɪkɪŋ əp tu: empty buckets that were standing outside the kitchen empti bʌkɪts ðət wə: stændɪŋ aʊtsaɪd ðə kɪtʃɪn door, "I'd better go to the pump now and get the dɔ:. 'aɪd betə ɡoʊ tə ðə pʌmp naʊ ən ɡet ðə water for your tea."

wɔ:tə fə ʃɔ: ti:."

"Aren't the buckets heavy for you to carry?" Marion "a:nt ðə bʌkɪts hevi fə ju: tə kəri?" məriən asked. "No, that's nothing to speak of. But in my ɑ:skt. "nəʊ, ðætʃ nʌθɪŋ tə spi:k ɔv. bət ɪn maɪ grandmother's time the work of a farmer's wife was ɡrændm.ʌðəz taɪm ðə wɜ:k əv ə fɑ:məz waɪf wəz hard. They didn't have a pump at the farm then, hɑ:d. ðeɪ dɪdnt hæv ə pʌmp ət ðə fɑ:m ðen, but had to walk quite a long distance to a small bət həd tə wɜ:k kwaɪt ə lɔŋ dɪstəns tu ə smɔ:l brook to get water. Of course, the water in a brook brʊk tə ɡet wɔ:tə. əv kɔ:s. ðə wɔ:tər ɪn ə brʊk coming down from the hills is always very fine, but kʌmɪŋ daʊn frəm ðə hɪlz ɪz ɔ:lweɪz veri faɪn, bət it really was too far to go to get water. If you're ɪt riəli wəz tu: fɑ: tə ɡoʊ tə ɡet wɔ:tə. ɪf juə bucket

brook

pump around = about a bit = a short

time

oak

He spreads, he spread, he has spread [spredz, spred, spred].

going up Leith Hill, you will cross the brook on your gouɪŋ ʌp li:θ hɪl, ju: wɪl krɒs ðə brʊk ɒn jɔ:

way up. The path from here to the top of the hill wei ʌp. ðə pɑ:θ frəm hiə tə ðə tɒp əv ðə hɪl passes the brook at a place where the brook is so pɑ:sɪz ðə brʊk ət ə pleɪs hɜːə ðə brʊk ɪz sʊ narrow that you can cross it in one step." "Isn't nərou ðæt ju: kæn krɒs ɪt ɪn wʌn step." "ɪznt there a road up the hill from the main road?" Storm ðær ə rəʊd ʌp ðə hɪl frəm ðə meɪn rəʊd?" stɔ:m asked. "Yes," she answered, "but you had better go ɑ:skt. "jes," ʃi: ɑ:nsəd, "bət ju: həd betə ɡəʊ by the path through the wood. It's a much nicer baɪ ðə pɑ:θ θru: ðə wʊd. ɪts ə mʌtʃ naɪsə way and not so full of dust as the road." After wei ən nɒt sʊ fʊl əv dʌst əz ðə rəʊd." ɑ:ftə having looked around for a bit, Marion and Storm hævɪŋ lʊkt ə'raʊnd fər ə bɪt, mə'ɪriən ənd stɔ:m went into the garden to have their tea. The garden wɛnt ɪntə ðə ɡɑ:dən tə hæv ðeə ti:. ðə ɡɑ:dən was small and well kept, with three or four tables wəz smɔ:l ənd wel kept, wɪð θri: ə fɔ: teɪblz for the guests. They chose a table in the corner, fɔ ðə ɡests. ðeɪ tʃəʊz ə teɪbl ɪn ðə kɔ:nə, under a very large old oak tree. The old oak spread ʌndə ə veri la:dʒ ould ɒk tri:. ði ould ɒk spred its branches far out on all sides and gave a lovely, ɪts brɑ:nʃɪz fɑ:r aʊt ɒn ɔ:l saɪdz ənd ɡeɪv ə lʌvli, cool shade for them to sit in. In the leaves and the ku:l feid fə ðəm tə sit in. in ðə li:vz and ðə branches above their heads they saw birds busily flying bra:nfɪz ə'baʊ ðeə hedz ðei sɔ: bæ:dz bizili flaiɪŋ in and out, and some of them flew away to return a in and aʊt, and sʌm əv ðəm flu: ə'wei tə rɪ'tə:n ə little later with food for their young.

lɪtl leɪtə wið fu:d fə ðeə jʌŋ.

"Look there, on that branch over there," Marion said.

"lʊk ðeə, ɒn ðæt bra:nʃ oʊvə ðeə," mæriən sed.

— "No, not so high up, just above the fence. There's — "nəʊ, nɒt səʊ haɪ ʌp, dʒʌst ə'baʊ ðə fens. ðəz a nest there; I wonder if there are young birds in it?"

ə nest ðeə; aɪ wʌndə ɪf ðeə jʌŋ bæ:dz in it?"

"No, but there's a bird sitting on eggs, I think," Storm

"nəʊ, bʌt ðəz ə bɜ:d sɪtɪŋ ɒn eɡz, aɪ θɪŋk," stɔ:m replied. "And that busy little fellow coming now rɪ'plaɪd. "ən ðæt bɪzi lɪtl feləʊ kʌmɪŋ nəʊ seems to be carrying food to her. Listen to him, sɪ:mz tə bi: kæriɪŋ fu:d tu hə:. lɪsn tə him.

singing out to all the world what a clever fellow he sɪŋɪŋ aʊt tu ɔ:l ðə wɜ:ld hʌvət ə klevə feləʊ hi:

is!" "Do you think that is what he's doing?" Marion ɪz!" "du: ju: θɪŋk ðæt ɪz hʌvət hi:z du:ɪŋ?" mæriən asked. "Well, perhaps you're right. Now, I thought ɑ:skt. "wel, pə'hæps juə raɪt. nəʊ, aɪ θɔ:t he was being the little gentleman, singing to keep her hi: wəz bi:ɪŋ ðə lɪtl dʒentlmən. sɪŋɪŋ tə ki:p hə:

nest

company. But, of course, you must have a better kampəni. bət, əv kɔ:s. ju: məst hæv ə betər understanding of the stronger sex than I. And men ʌndə'stændiŋ əv ðə strɒŋgə seks ðən ai. ən men do like to talk about themselves." Here the farmer's du: laik tə tɔ:k ə'baut ðəm'selvz." hiə ðə fa:məs wife interrupted them, bringing a tray with the teawaif intə'rʌptid ðəm, briŋiŋ ə treɪ wið ðə ti:- things. She spread a pretty, green-and-brown cloth piŋz. ʃi: spred ə priti, gri:nəndbraun klɒθ on the table, put cups, plates, cake, bread-and-butter, ɒn ðə teɪbl, put kʌps, pleɪts, keɪk. bredn'bʌtə, marmalade, and tea on the table, and then left them mɑ:məleɪd, ənd ti: ɒn ðə teɪbl, ənd ðen left ðəm to themselves again.

tə ðəm'selvz ə'geɪn.

"She's really a pretty woman — to speak of something

"ʃi:z riəli ə priti wʊmən — tə spi:k əv sʌmʃiŋ else," said Storm, spreading marmalade on a piece of els," sed stɔ:m, sprediŋ mɑ:məleɪd ɒn ə pi:s əv bread. "Don't you think so?" "Yes, if she wasn't bred. "dəʊnt ju: ʃiŋk soʊ?" "jes, if ʃi: wəznt quite so fat, one might almost call her beautiful," Marion kʷaɪt so fæt, wʌn maɪt ɔ:lmoʊst kɔ:l hə: bju:təfʊl." məriən answered. "But they get too many good things to eat ɑ:nsəd. "bət ðei get tu: meni gud piŋz tu i:t here in the country, I suppose. Let's take a picture hiə in ðə kʌntri, ai sə'pəʊz. lets teɪk ə pɪktʃər of her when she comes for her money! You did bring əv hə: hwen ʃi: kəmz fə hə: mənɪ! ju: did briŋ your camera along, didn't you?"

jɔ: kəmərə ə'ləŋ, didnt ju:?"

"Yes, I've got the camera here in my pocket. I'm "jes, aɪv gɒt ðə kəmərə hɪə in maɪ pɒkɪt. aɪm going to try to get a picture of one of the bees, too, ɡəʊɪŋ tə traɪ tə get ə pɪkʃər əv wʌn əv ðə bi:z, tu:, that are flying round these flowers all the time. If ðæt a: flaɪɪŋ raʊnd ði:z flauəz ɔ:l ðə taɪm. ɪf

I could get very near to a bee, it would make an aɪ kəd get veri niə tu ə bi:, ɪt wəd meɪk ən interesting picture, I think. I'd like one of the bird, ɪntrɪstɪŋ pɪkʃə, aɪ θɪŋk. aɪd laɪk wʌn əv ðə bɜ:d, too, just when he's spreading his wings to fly. But tu:, dʒʌst hwen hi:z spredɪŋ hɪz wɪŋz tə flaɪ. bət a picture like that will be hard to get, I'm afraid; they ə pɪkʃə laɪk ðæt wɪl bi: hɑ:d tə get, aɪm ə'freɪd; ðeɪ move their wings so quickly. — And when we have mʊ:v ðeə wɪŋz sɔʊ kwɪkli. — ən hwen wi: həv mounted to the top of the hill, I'm going to take a maʊntɪd tə ðə tɒp əv ðə hɪl, aɪm ɡəʊɪŋ tə teɪk ə picture of you, too, with your pretty head against the pɪkʃər əv ju:, tu:, wɪð jɔ: prɪti hed ə'geɪnst ðə blue sky."

blu: skaɪ."

"Don't be foolish!" Marion laughed. "You had better

"dəʊnt bi: fu:lɪʃ!" məɪrɪən lɑ:ft. "ju: həd bɛtə camera

bee

take a picture of the river Thames flowing quietly teik ə pɪktʃər əv ðə rɪvə temz fləʊɪŋ kwiətli towards London down in the bottom of its valley. tə'wɔːdz lʌndən daʊn ɪn ðə bɒtəm əv ɪts væli.

That's something worth seeing." "I can see rivers that ðætʃs sʌmθɪŋ wɜːθ siːɪŋ." "aɪ kən siː rɪvəz ðæt flow through valleys wherever there are hills and rivers fləʊ θruː væliːz hweə'evə ðeə hɪlz ən rɪvəz in the world, but I don't know how often I may see ɪn ðə wɜːld, bʌt aɪ daʊnt nəʊ haʊ ɔːfən aɪ meɪ siː your sweet face yet," Storm replied. "Don't say such jɔː swiːt feɪs jət," stɔːm rɪ'plaɪd. "daʊnt seɪ sʌtʃ things; the farmer's wife might hear you. Look, she's θɪŋz; ðə fɑːməz wɪf maɪt hiə juː. lʊk. ʃiːz laughing at us," Marion said, trying not to smile. "No, ləːfɪŋ æt əs," mæriən sed, traɪɪŋ nɒt tə smaɪl. "nəʊ, she isn't," Storm answered, "she's smiling kindly at us.

ʃiː ɪznt," stɔːm ɑːnsəd, "ʃiːz smaɪlɪŋ kaɪndli æt əs.

'All the world loves a lover,' you know. She's seen
'ɔːl ðə wɜːld lʌvz ə lʌvə.' juː nəʊ. ʃiːz siːn do try = please try long ago how I feel about you. — Now, do try to be lɒŋ ə'gəʊ haʊ aɪ fiːl ə'baut juː. — naʊ, duː traɪ tə biː serious, Marion, just for a few minutes while I tell you sɪəriəs, mæriən, dʒʌst fər ə fjuː mɪnɪts hwaɪl aɪ tel juː about this." "But I don't want to be serious now, not ə'baut ðɪs." "bʌt aɪ daʊnt wɒnt tə biː sɪəriəs naʊ, nɒt with people standing about, looking at us, at least," wɪð piːpl stændɪŋ ə'baut, lʊkɪŋ æt əs, æt liːst," Marion cried, jumping up from her chair. "I'm going mæriən kraid, dʒʌmpɪŋ ʌp frəm hæ: tʃeə. "aɪm ɡoʊɪŋ to run all the way to the top of the hill. Catch me tə rʌn ɔ:l ðə wei tə ðə tɒp əv ðə hɪl. kætʃ mi: if you can!" So saying, she ran through the garden ɪf ju: kæn!" sou seɪɪŋ, ʃi: ræn ʒru: ðə ɡa:dn gate and started off along the path. Storm had to pay ɡeɪt ænd stɑ:tɪd ɔ:f ə'lɒŋ ðə pɑ:θ. stɔ:m hæd tə peɪ for their tea before he could run after her, so when fə ðeə ti: bɪ'fɔ: hi: kəd rʌn ɑ:ftə hæ:, sou hwen he left the farm, he could no longer see her. "Well, hi: left ðə fɑ:m, hi: kəd nou lɒŋɡə si: hæ:. "wel, she must be somewhere along this path," he said to ʃi: mʌst bi: sʌmhwɛər ə'lɒŋ ðɪs pɑ:θ," hi: sed tə himself, and started off. He hadn't walked far, howhɪm'self, ænd stɑ:tɪd ɔ:f. hi: hædnt wɔ:kt fɑ:, hau-ever, before he heard her calling his name. But he 'evə, bɪ'fɔ: hi: hæ:d hæ: kɔ:lɪŋ hɪz neɪm. bət hi: couldn't see her anywhere. "Where are you?" he called.

kudnt si: hæ:r enɪhwɛə. "hwɛər ɑ: ju:?" hi: kɔ:ld.
 "Here," she answered, laughing, and her voice sounded
"hiə," ʃi: ɑ:nsəd, lɑ:fɪŋ, ænd hæ: vɔɪs saundɪd quite near, although he could still see nothing but trees kwaɪt niə, ɔ:l'ðəu hi: kəd stɪl si: nʌʃɪŋ bət tri:z all round.
ɔ:l raʊnd.

Then he began to look behind trees and up into the ðen hi: bɪ'ɡæn tə luk bɪ'hænd tri:z ænd ʌp ɪntə ðə branches, hoping to find her there. "Call again," he bra:nfɪz, hʊpɪŋ tə faɪnd hɜː ðeə. "kɔ:l ə'geɪn," hi:

cried, and this time he could hear that her voice came kraɪd, ænd ðɪs taɪm hiː kəd hiə ðæt. hɜː vɔɪs keɪm from one of the big old oaks standing by the path. She fɹəm wʌn əv ðə bɪg ould ouks stændɪŋ baɪ ðə pɑːθ. ʃi:

had found a hole in a hollow tree, big enough for her həd faʊnd ə haʊl ɪn ə hɒləʊ triː, bɪg ɪ'nʌf fə hɜː to get in through. When he found her, he saw that tə get ɪn θruː. hwen hiː faʊnd hɜː, hiː sɔː ðæt there was almost room enough inside the hollow tree ðeə wəz ɔːlməʊst ruːm ɪ'nʌf ɪnsaɪd ðə hɒləʊ triː for six people, or for two armchairs, as Marion suggested.

fə sɪks piːpl, ɔː fə tuː 'ɑːm'tʃeəz, əz mə'riən sə'dʒestɪd.

"But now comes the difficult part of it," Marion said.
"bət naʊ kʌmz ðə dɪfɪkəlt pɑːt əv ɪt," mə'riən sed.

"How am I going to get out of here again? When I "haʊ əm aɪ ɡəʊɪŋ tə get aʊt əv hɪə ə'geɪn? hwen aɪ was standing outside, I could reach a branch above the wəz stændɪŋ aʊt'saɪd, aɪ kəd riːtʃ ə braːnʃ ə'bʌv ðə hole, but when I had got in, I found that the bottom haʊl, bət hwen aɪ həd ɡɒt ɪn, aɪ faʊnd ðæt ðə bɒtəm of the hole inside the tree was deeper than I thought.

əv ðə haʊl ɪnsaɪd ðə triː wəz diːpə ðən aɪ θɔːt.

I shouldn't like to get a hole in my new frock, getting aɪ ʃʊdn't laɪk tə get ə haʊl ɪn maɪ njuː frɒk, ɡetɪŋ out. Will you help me, please?" she asked.

aʊt. wɪl juː help miː, pliːz?" ʃiː ɑːskt.

"Not until you've listened to what I want to tell you,
"nɒt ʌn'til ju:v lisnd tə hwɒt ai wɒnt tə tel ju:, young lady," Storm laughed. "Oh, I don't think you're jaŋ leidi," stɔ:m la:ft. "ou, ai daʊnt þɪŋk juə nice at all," Marion said. "In the old days, true gentlenais at ɔ:l," mæriən sed. "in ði ould deiz, tru: dʒentl-men who were asked to help ladies in danger always mæn hu: wə:r a:skt tə help leidiz in deɪndʒə ɔ:lwəz mounted their horses at once and rode off to bring help maʊntɪd ðeə hɔ:sɪz ət wʌnz ən rəʊd ɔ:f tə brɪŋ help without talking first."

wɪð'aʊt tɔ:kiŋ fə:st."

"That's all very well, but it only takes us away from

"ðætɪz ɔ:l veri wel, bət ɪt ɒnli teɪks ʌs ə'wei frəm what we were talking about when you left me so hwɒt wi: wə: tɔ:kiŋ ə'baut hwen ju: left mi: sou suddenly. What was it I was going to say when you sʌdnli. hwɒt wəz ɪt ai wəz ɡəʊɪŋ tə sei hwen ju:

ran off? — Oh, yes, now I know. Will you marry me?"

rən ɔ:f? — ou, jes, nau ai nou. wil ju: mæri mi:?"

"Is that your price for helping me out?" Marion asked

"ɪz ðæt jɔ: praɪs fə helpɪŋ mi: aʊt?" mæriən a:skt with a smile. "I'm afraid it is," he answered very wɪð ə smaɪl. "aɪm ə'freɪd ɪt ɪz," hi: a:nsəd veri seriously. "Oh, well — then I shall have to, I suppose," sɪəriəsli. "ou, wel — ðen ai ʃəl hæv tu, ai sə'pəʊz," Marion said. With a laugh, he lifted her out of her mæriən sed. wɪð ə la:f, hi: lɪftɪd hæ:r aʊt əv hæ:

hollow tree, and arm in arm they continued up the hɒləu tri:, ənd a:m in a:m ðei kən'tɪnju:d ʌp ðə hill. A little higher up, they came to the brook that
hɪl. ə lɪtl haɪər ʌp. ðei keɪm tə ðə brʊk ðət the farmer's wife had spoken of. Here some of the ðə fɑ:məz wʌɪf həd spəʊkn ɜ:. hɪə sʌm əv ðə roots of the trees were above the ground, and in some ru:ts əv ðə tri:z wə:r ə'bʌv ðə graʊnd, ənd in sʌm places the water of the brook had washed the earth pleɪsɪz ðə wɔ:tər əv ðə brʊk həd wɒʃt ðɪ ə:p away round the roots, so that they lay like brown, wet ə'weɪ raʊnd ðə ru:ts, sɔ: ðət ðei leɪ laɪk braʊn, wet snakes on the ground. "Let me help you to jump sneɪks ɔn ðə graʊnd. "let mi: help ju: tə dʒʌmp across," Storm said to Marion. "It's a little wider here ə'krɔs," stɔ:m sed tə məɪriən. "ɪts ə lɪtl waɪdə hɪə than I thought, and I'm afraid that your feet will slip ðən aɪ þɔ:t, ənd aɪm ə'freɪd ðət jɔ: fi:t wɪl slɪp on the wet stones." She took Storm's hand, and it ɔn ðə wet stəʊnz." ʃi: tuk stɔ:mz hænd. ənd ɪt was a good thing that she did, for just as she was wəz ə gʊd þɪŋ ðət ʃi: dɪd, fə dʒʌst əz ʃi: wəz going to jump, her foot slipped, and she would have ɡoʊɪŋ tə dʒʌmp, hɜ: fʊt slɪpt, ənd ʃi: wəd həv fallen if he had not supported her. fɔ:lɪn ɪf hi: həd nɒt sə'pɔ:tɪd hɜ:.

At last they reached the top of the hill, where the ət la:st ðei ri:tʃt ðə tɒp əv ðə hɪl, hʌweə ðə tower stood. "Doesn't it cost anything to go up tauə stud. "dʌznt it kɒst eniθɪŋ tə ɡoʊ ʌp there?" Storm asked. "No, it's quite free," Marion ðeə?" stɔ:m ɑ:skt. "nəʊ, its kwaɪt fri:," məˈrɪən answered. "It's funny — you're not the first foreigner ɑ:nsəd. "ɪts fʌni — juə nɒt ðə fɜ:st fɔːrɪnə

I've heard ask that question. Does it seem so strange aɪv hæ:d ɑ:sk ðæt kwestʃən. dʌz ɪt si:m soʊ streɪndʒ to you that it should be free of charge?" "Oh, I tə ju: ðæt ɪt ʃəd bi: fri: əv tʃɑ:dʒ?" "oʊ, aɪ don't know," he answered. "But you are usually dɒnt nəʊ," hi: ɑ:nsəd. "bʌt ju: ɑ: ju:ʒuəli surprised, as a tourist, to find something that is free səˈpraɪzd, əz ə tuəˈrɪst, tə faɪnd smʌθɪŋ ðæt ɪz fri:

of charge."

əv tʃɑ:dʒ."

"Now, let's go up," he continued, mounting the narrow
"naʊ, lets ɡoʊ ʌp," hi: kənˈtɪnju:d, maʊntɪŋ ðə nəˈroʊ stairs of the tower. "Look, out there, at the bottom steəz əv ðə tauə. "lʊk, aʊt ðeə, ət ðə bɒtəm of the valley, is the Thames," Marion said. "It looks əv ðə væli, ɪz ðə temz," məˈrɪən sed. "ɪt lʊks no bigger than a brook from here, so it must be farther nəʊ bɪɡə ðən ə brʊk frəm hiə, soʊ ɪt mʌst bi: fɑ:ðər away than I thought," Storm replied. "And what is əˈweɪ ðən aɪ θɔ:t," stɔ:m riˈplaɪd. "ən hwɒt ɪz that white spot over there on the hill — is it a tent, ðæt hwaɪt spɒt oʊvə ðeər ɒn ðə hɪl — ɪz ɪt ə tent,

tent

I wonder?" "No, it's too big for that. I think it is ai wʌndə? "nou, its tu: biɡ fə ðæt. ai ɪŋk it ɪz chalk. Between London and the south coast there are tʃɔ:k. bi'twi:n lʌndən ən ðə saʊθ koust ðeə many chalk hills. You can see the white chalk hills meni tʃɔ:k hɪlz. ju: kən si: ðə hwaɪt tʃɔ:k hɪlz from the boat, when you cross the Channel, coming fɹəm ðə bout, hwen ju: krɒs ðə tʃænl, kʌmɪŋ from France to England. But I think there really is fɹəm fra:ns tu ɪŋɡlənd. bət ai ɪŋk ðeə ri:əli ɪz a tent down there, at the foot of the hill." ə tent daʊn ðeə, ət ðə fut əv ðə hɪl."

"What fun those fellows must be having! I've often "hwaɪt fʌn ðəʊz feləʊz məst bi: hævɪŋ! aɪv ɔ:fən lived in a tent myself at home, with one or two of my lɪvd ɪn ə tent maɪ'self ət haʊm, wɪð wʌn ə tu: əv maɪ friends. It's a fine way to spend your holidays," frendz. ɪts ə faɪn weɪ tə spend jɔ: hɒlɪdeɪz."

Storm said. "Is it?" Marion asked. "It seems to stɔ:m sed. "ɪz ɪt?" məriən ɑ:skt. "ɪt si:mz tə me that it must be a rather cold and wet affair. A mi: ðæt ɪt məst bi: ə ra:ðə kəʊld ən wet ə'feə. ə tent is a poor cover when it rains." "Not if the tent tent ɪz ə puə kʌvə hwen ɪt reɪnz." "nɒt ɪf ðə tent is made of good canvas," Storm replied. "Mine is ɪz meɪd əv ɡʊd kænvas," stɔ:m ri'plaid. "maɪn ɪz made of the same kind of canvas as they use for tents meɪd əv ðə seɪm kaɪnd əv kænvas əz ðeɪ ju:z fə tents in the army, and I'm sure you couldn't wish for a in ði a:mi, ənd aɪm suə ju: kudnt wɪʃ fər ə wish for = want better cover against the rain than my tent. I once betə kʌvər ə'geɪnst ðə reɪn ðən maɪ tent. aɪ wʌnz slept in it when it was raining hard; outside, the water slept ɪn ɪt hwɛn ɪt wəz reɪnɪŋ hɑ:d; 'aʊt'saɪd, ðə wɔ:tə was pouring down on the roof of the tent, but, inside, wəz pɔ:ɪŋ daʊn ɒn ðə ru:f əv ðə tent, bət, 'ɪn'saɪd, pour = rain very hard

it was quite dry.”

ɪt wəz kwaɪt draɪ.”

“Well, I'm glad I don't live in a tent, all the same,” “wel, aɪm glæd aɪ daʊnt lɪv ɪn ə tent, ɔ:l ðə seɪm,” Marion said. “I hope we shan't have to live in one mæɪriən sed. “aɪ haʊp wi: ʃɑ:nt hæv tə lɪv ɪn wʌn when we're married. I'm a great lover of nature, but hwɛn wɪə mæɪrɪd. aɪm ə greɪt lʌvər əv neɪtʃə, bət

I do prefer to be able to return to a house with a aɪ du: prɪ'fə: tə bi: eɪbl tə rɪ'tə:n tu ə haʊs wɪð ə kitchen and a bathroom, and with warm and com-kitʃɪn ənd ə bɑ:θrʊm, ən wɪð wɔ:m ən kʌmfortable rooms, when I've been out all day with the fətəbl ru:mz, hwɛn aɪv bi:n aʊt ɔ:l dei wɪð ðə rain pouring down.”

reɪn pɔ:ɪŋ daʊn.”

“You'd never make a good farmer's wife,” Storm told “ju:d nevə meɪk ə gud fɑ:məz waɪf,” stɔ:m təʊld her. “No, but am I going to be one?” she smiled. “I hə:. “nəʊ, bət æm aɪ ɡəʊɪŋ tə bi: wʌn?” ʃi: smaɪld. “aɪ forest = very big

wood

never knew you had a farm at home." "I haven't, nevə nju: ju: həd ə fa:m ət haʊm." "ai həvnt, but I'm a great lover of nature, and not just for a bət aim ə greit lʌvər əv neɪtʃə, ən nɒt dʒʌst fər ə day! I should like to walk for miles in a forest, with dei! ai ʃəd laɪk tə wɔ:k fə maɪlz ɪn ə fɒrɪst, wɪð no other company than the animals." "Not even me?" nou ʌðə kʌmpəni ðən ði ænɪməlz." "nɒt i:vən mi:?"

Marion interrupted. "No, you'd rather stay at home mæriən ɪntə'rʌptɪd. "nou, ju:d rə:ðə steɪ ət haʊm and play in the kitchen or lie in the bath all day, you ən pleɪ ɪn ðə kɪtʃɪn ɔ:l laɪ ɪn ðə bɑ:p ɔ:l dei, ju:

just told me," he laughed. dʒʌst təʊld mi:," hi: lɑ:ft.

Hand in hand, they ran down the path towards the hænd ɪn hænd, dei ræn daʊn ðə pɑ:p tə'wɔ:dz ðə farm again. At the hollow tree Storm stopped to ask fa:m ə'geɪn. ət ðə hɒləʊ tri: stɔ:m stɒpt tu ə'sk

Marion if she was still willing to become his wife.
mæriən ɪf ʃi: wəz stɪl wɪlɪŋ tə bɪ'kʌm hɪz waɪf.

"If not, I had better put you back into the tree," he
"ɪf nɒt, ai həd betə put ju: bæk ɪntə ðə tri:," hi:

said to her. "Are you quite sure?" "Yes, quite sɛd tə hæ:. "a: ju: kwaɪt ʃʊə?" "jes, kwaɪt certain," she answered. "Even if I was a tired and sə:tn," ʃi: ə'nsəd. "i:vən ɪf ai wəz ə taɪəd ən dirty farmer working all day in the fields to make də:ti fa:mə wə:kɪŋ ɔ:l dei ɪn ðə fi:ldz tə meɪk the soil of our farm better and better, and raising ðə sɔɪl əv əʊə fɑ:m betər ən betə, ən reɪzɪŋ soil = earth

cows and pigs and sheep, and you had to be a farmer's kaʊz ən piɡz ən ʃi:p, ən ju: həd tə bi: ə fɑ:məz wife and raise hens and sell the eggs in the market waɪf ən reɪz henz ən sel ði egz ɪn ðə mɑ:kɪt every Saturday?"

evri sætədi?"

"The way you say it, it sounds quite nice," she
"ðə wei ju: sei it, it saʊndz kwait naɪs," ʃi:

answered. "Do you think I could make enough money ɑ:nsəd. "du: ju: ɪŋk aɪ kəd meɪk ɪ'nʌf mʌni raising fowls to pay for a bathroom in our farmreɪzɪŋ faʊlz tə peɪ fər ə bɑ:prʊm ɪn əʊə 'fɑ:m-

house?"

'haʊs?"

They both laughed at this idea and continued their ðei bəʊθ lɑ:fɪd ət ðɪs aɪ'dɪə ənd kən'tɪnju:d ðeə way. They soon saw the red brick walls of the house wei. ðei su:n sɔ: ðə red brɪk wɔ:lz əv ðə haʊs again. The woman was standing at the window. A ə'geɪn. ðə wʊmən wəz stændɪŋ ət ðə wɪndəʊ. ə broad, kind smile appeared on her face when she saw brɔ:d, kaɪnd smaɪl ə'piəd ɔn hɜ: feɪs hʌven ʃi: sɔ:

Storm and Marion coming hand in hand. "There stɔ:m ənd mə'ɪrɪən kʌmɪŋ hænd ɪn hænd. "ðeə you see, Marion," Storm said, "all the world loves ju: si:, mə'ɪrɪən," stɔ:m sed, "ɔ:l ðə wɜ:ld lʌvz a lover.' Just look at her face! You would think a lʌvə.' dʒʌst luk ət hə: feis! ju: wəd piŋk that I had asked her and not you to marry me." ðət ai həd ɑ:skt hə: ən nɒt ju: tə mæri mi:."

EXERCISE A.

WORDS:

hill
 curve
 brake
 wheel
 dust
 ditch
 certain cake bottom
 brick fence
 gate fowl
 wing turkey end (verb)
 pig
 fat
 pump
 bucket
 brook
 path oak spread
 above

The highest of the — south of London is called Leith Hill. The bus in which Storm and Marion were riding came round a — in the road. The driver was so quick in using the — and stopping the bus that the — made a cloud of — behind it. Storm was quite — that the driver would never run his bus into the — at the side of the road. The bus stopped at the — of a hill.

The farm-house was made of red —. The garden was surrounded by a wooden —. It was difficult to find the — in the fence. The farmer's wife started feeding corn to the —. They hurried up to her as fast as their legs and their — would carry them. Among the fowls there was a —.

There was also a — which ran about so much that it did not grow — like the others. The farmer's wife went to the — to get her empty — filled with water. In her grandmother's time they got water from a —. There was a — to Leith Hill through the wood. Storm and Marion sat down at a table under a large old — tree, which — its branches far out on all sides — their heads. On one of the branches there was a — with eggs in it.

Storm had brought his — along and wanted to get a picture of one of the —, before they — to the top of the hill. The river Thames — in the bottom of a —. Marion had found a — in a — tree, big enough for her to get in through. In some places the water of the brook had washed the earth away round the —. Between London and the south coast there are many — hills.

EXERCISE B.

In chapter 52, Exercise D, you found a letter from Storm to Wood. We now ask you to answer this letter as if you were Wood. In writing your letter, the following words must be used in some way or other: stamp — collection — room — furniture — desk — armchair — new — tree — leaf — cold — rain — storm — spring.

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

Look at the verbs in the following sentences: I visited my friend yesterday. John walked all the way to town the other day, and so did his sister. A month ago my uncle went to Paris. You will notice that the time of the verbs is before 'now'; it is 'yesterday' in the first example given, 'the other day' in the second, and 'a month ago' in the third. The form of the verb that expresses the time before 'now' we call the past [pa:st] tense.

The past tense of two of the verbs in the sentences given above has been made by adding -ed to the form

nest
fellow camera
bee
mount flow valley hole hollow
root slip chalk tent
cover canvas forest
soil nature lover
free
flat pretty raise charge around
pour

of the infinitive: visited (visit-ed), walked (walk-ed). The past tense of most English verbs is made in this way. (But if they end in -e, only -d is added. Example: hope — hoped.) The past tense of 'call' is: I called, you called, he called, she called, it called, we called, you called, they called. You will see that the form is the same after all pronouns.

The -ed is pronounced [t] after the voiceless sounds p, k, f, ʃ, s, ʒ. After the voiced consonants b, g, m, n, ŋ, v, ð, l, z, ʒ, and after vowels, it is pronounced [d]. After t and d, the pronunciation is [ɪd]. Examples: hoped [həʊpt], thanked [θæŋkt], bathed [beɪðd], answered [ɑːnsəd], started [stɑːtɪd], added [ədɪd].

In writing, the following rules must be noticed: If a verb ends in a consonant followed by -y, it changes -y into i- before the -ed of the past tense is added. For instance, try — tried.

But if a vowel comes before -y, the -y remains when -ed is added. For instance, stay — stayed. Only the verbs 'lay', 'pay', 'say' have 'laid', 'paid', 'said' in the past tense.

If a single consonant ends the verb, it is sometimes made double when -ed is added. The rules are seen from the following examples:

explain-ed plan-ned answer-ed prefer-red

Rule number one: The consonant always remains single when following two vowels.

Rule number two: The consonant remains single after an unstressed [unstrest] single vowel, but is made double after a stressed [strest] single vowel. (The verb 'prefer' is pronounced with the stress [stres] on the last syllable, -fer. We say that -fer is stressed or is pronounced with stress, and we show this by putting the mark ' before the syllable: [pri'fə:].) To this rule there is, however, the exception that -l is made double even after an unstressed vowel. Example: travel-led.

Notice that the past tense of 'have' is 'had'.

'Be' is the only verb that has two forms in the past tense: 'was' and 'were'. They are used in the following way: I was, you were, he was, she was, it was, we were, you were, they were.

Questions:

How is the past tense of most English verbs made? ... When is the -ed pronounced [t] and when [d]? ... If a verb ends in -y in the infinitive, do you always change it into -i before -ed is added? ... When is a single consonant that ends a verb made double before -ed is added? ... When does it remain single? ... What are the two past tense forms of 'be'? ...

THE LAND OF LIBERTY

One evening, when Storm and Marshall had decided wan i:vniŋ, hwen stɔ:m and ma:fəl həd di'saidid to stay at home and read, Storm asked Marshall about tə stei at haʊm and ri:d, stɔ:m a:skt ma:fəl ə'baʊt some words in the book he was reading. "The book səm wə:dz in ðə bu:k hi: wəz ri:diŋ. "ðə bu:k is written in English, but yet it seems to me that it's iz ritn in iŋglɪʃ, bət jət it si:mz tə mi: ðət its different from the English I'm used to," Storm said. dɪfrənt frəm ði iŋglɪʃ aɪm ju:st tu," stɔ:m sed.

"Now take this word, for instance: 'street-car'. It was "naʊ teɪk ðis wə:d, fər ɪnstəns: 'stri:tka:'. ɪt wəz not until I had met it several times that I discovered nɒt ʌn'tɪl aɪ həd met ɪt sevrəl taɪmz ðət aɪ dɪs'kʌvəd that it must mean a 'tram'." ðət ɪt məst mi:n ə 'træm'."

"I'll tell you why you find the language strange,"

"aɪl tel ju: hwaɪ ju: faɪnd ðə læŋgʷɪdʒ streɪndʒ," Marshall smiled. "It isn't English at all; it's American."

ma:fəl smaɪld. "ɪt ɪznt iŋglɪʃ ət ɔ:l; ɪts ə'merɪkən."

"Oh, is it? I didn't know that American was different

"ou, ɪz ɪt? aɪ dɪdnt naʊ ðət ə'merɪkən wəz dɪfrənt from English," Storm said. "Perhaps you will explain frəm iŋglɪʃ," stɔ:m sed. "pə'hæps ju: wɪl ɪks'pleɪn to me what these other words mean. I've made a list tə mi: hʊət ði:z ʌðə wə:dz mi:n. aiv meid ə list of all the words that were new to me, although I think əv ɔ:l ðə wə:dz ðət wə: nju: tə mi:, ɔ:l'dəu ai ɰɪŋk

I have discovered the meaning of some of them myself.
aɪ hæv dɪs'kʌvəd ðə mi:nɪŋ əv sʌm əv ðəɪm maɪ'self.

'Railroad', that must be the same as 'railway'; and a 'reɪləʊd', ðæt məst bi: ðə seɪm əz 'reɪlweɪ'; and ə

'five-dollar bill' is a 'five-dollar note', isn't it?" "Yes,
'faɪvɔlə bɪl' ɪz ə 'faɪvɔlə nəʊt', ɪznt ɪt?" "jes, that's quite right," Marshall answered. ðəts kwaɪt raɪt," mɑ:fəl a:nsəd.

"And after a little hard thinking," Storm continued,
"and a:ftər ə lɪtl hɑ:d ɰɪŋkɪŋ," stɔ:m kən'tɪnju:d.

"I found out that 'baggage' must be the same as "aɪ faʊnd aʊt ðət 'bæɡɪdʒ' məst bi: ðə seɪm əz

'luggage'. But here are two that were too difficult for
'lʌɡɪdʒ'. bət hɪər a: tu: ðət wə: tu: dɪfɪkəlt fə me: What is a 'subway', and what does 'depot' mean?" mi: hʊət ɪz ə 'sʌbweɪ', ən hʊət dʌz 'dɪ:pəʊ' mi:n?"

"What on earth have you been reading, since you have "hʊət ən ə:θ hæv ju: bi:n ri:ɪŋ, sɪns ju: hæv found such a strange collection of words?" Marshall faʊnd sʌtʃ ə streɪndʒ kə'leksjən əv wə:dz?" mɑ:fəl asked. "A book about a young man who runs away a:skt. "ə bʊk ə'baut ə jʌŋ mæn hu: rʌnz ə'weɪ from home somewhere in Europe, goes to America, and fɹəm hoʊm sʌmhweər ɪn juərəp, ɡəʊz tu ə'merɪkə, ən travels all over the country."

trævlz ɔ:l ouvə ðə kʌntri."

"I thought it must be something about travelling,"

"aɪ θɔ:t ɪt mʌst bi: sʌmθɪŋ ə'baʊt trævəlɪŋ," Marshall said. "You see, all those words have some-ma:fəl sed. "ju: si:, ɔ:l ðəʊz wə:dz həv sʌmthing to do with travelling. 'Subway' is the same as θɪŋ tə du: wɪð trævəlɪŋ. 'sʌbweɪ' ɪz ðə seɪm əs our 'Underground'; perhaps you remember from your aʊə 'ʌndəgraʊnd'; pə'hæps ju: rɪ'membə frəm jɔ:

school-days that 'sub' is Latin for 'under'; and 'depot' sku:ldeɪz ðæt 'sʌb' ɪz lætɪn fə 'ʌndə'; ən 'di:pəʊ' is the American expression for 'station'. They use the ɪz ðɪ ə'merɪkən ɪks'presən fə 'steɪʃən'. ðeɪ ju:z ðə word 'station', too, but just as America is rich in so wə:d 'steɪʃən', tu:, bʌt dʒʌst əs ə'merɪkə ɪz rɪtʃ ɪn səʊ many other ways, it is, as you see, also rich in meni ʌðə weɪz, ɪt ɪz, əs ju: si:, ɔ:lsoʊ rɪtʃ ɪn expressions."

ɪks'presənz."

"Thanks! But tell me, Marshall — now that America

"θæŋks! bʌt tel mi:, ma:fəl — naʊ ðæt ə'merɪkə has become such a great and rich country, aren't you həz bɪ'kʌm sʌtʃ ə greɪt ən rɪtʃ kʌntri, a:nt ju:

English sorry sometimes that it's no longer an English ɪŋɡlɪʃ sɔ:ri sʌmtaɪmz ðæt ɪts nəʊ lɒŋɡər ən ɪŋɡlɪʃ colony?" "We don't think much about that nowadays," kələni?" "wi: daʊnt θɪŋk mʌtʃ ə'baʊt ðæt naʊədeɪz," Marshall answered. "And, besides, it really was our ma:fəl a:nsəd. "ən, bi'saidz, it riəli wəz auər own foolish generals and statesmen who lost our oun fu:liʃ dʒenərəlz ən steitsmən hu: lɒst auər

American colonies for England — not to mention the ə'merikən kələniz fər ɪŋɡlənd — nɒt tə menʃən ðə king, George the Third." Storm: "How did it happen?"

kiŋ, dʒɔ:dʒ ðə þə:d." stɔ:m: "haʊ did it hæpən?"

"The Americans were dissatisfied with many things, "ði ə'merikənz wə: 'dis'sætisfaɪd wið meni þɪŋz, dissatisfied = not satisfied

and in many cases they had some cause to be dis-ənd ɪn meni keɪsɪz ðeɪ həd sʌm kɔ:z tə bi: 'dis-cause = reason

satisfied with the government of the colonies. There
'sætisfaɪd wið ðə ɡʌvənmənt əv ðə kələniz. ðeə were great differences between life in England and life wə: greɪt dɪfrənsɪz bi'twi:n laɪf ɪn ɪŋɡlənd ən laɪf in the 'New World', and many of the men that England ɪn ðə 'nju: wɔ:ld', ən meni əv ðə men ðæt ɪŋɡlənd sent to America to look after her affairs had no under-sɛnt tu ə'merikə tə luk ɑ:ftə hə:r ə'feəz həd nou ʌndəstanding of this at all, but did many things that only 'stændɪŋ əv ðɪs ət ɔ:l, bət did meni þɪŋz ðæt ɒnli made the Americans more and more angry.

meɪd ði ə'merikənz mɔ:r ən mɔ:r æŋɡri.

"What made them very angry, for instance, was the

"hwaɪt meɪd ðəm veri æŋɡri, fər ɪnstəns, wəz ðə tax that was put on tea. England had just helped the tæks ðæt wəz put ɒn ti:. ɪŋɡlənd həd dʒʌst helpt ðə tax = a kind of duty

thirteen American colonies in a war with France, and þə:ti:n ə'merikən kələniz in ə wɔ: wið fra:ns, ən now England wanted the colonies to help to pay for nau ɪŋɡlənd wɔntid ðə kələniz tə help tə pei fə the army. But the Americans said that as long as the ði a:mi. bət ði ə'merikənz sed ðət əz lɔŋ əz ðə colonies had no representatives in the British Parliament, kələniz həd nou reprɪzəntətɪvz in ðə brɪtɪʃ pɑ:ləmənt, Parliament had no right to put a tax on anything in the pɑ:ləmənt həd nou raɪt tə put ə tæks ɔn enɪθɪŋ in ðə colonies. And quite right they were, I think." kələniz. ən kwaɪt raɪt ðeɪ wə:, aɪ θɪŋk."

"So do I," Storm said. "But go on, please; I find it "səu du: aɪ," stɔ:m sed. "bət ɡoʊ ɔn, pli:z; aɪ faɪnd ɪt very interesting to hear an Englishman speaking about veri ɪntrɪstɪŋ tə hiər ən ɪŋɡlɪʃmən spi:kɪŋ ə'baut
 'the American question' in this way." "Do you really
'ði ə'merikən kwestʃən' in ðɪs weɪ." "du: ju: riəli want me to tell you more about it?" Marshall asked in wɔnt mi: tə tel ju: mɔ:r ə'baut ɪt?" mɑ:ʃəl ɑ:skt ɪn some surprise. "I thought you knew almost as much səm sə'praɪz. "aɪ θɔ:t ju: nju: ɔ:lməʊst əz mʌtʃ — or as little — about it as I do." "No, I don't. You — ɔ:r əz lɪtl — ə'baut ɪt əz aɪ du:." "nou, aɪ daʊnt. ju: see, I wasn't very interested in history at school. When si:, aɪ wɔznt veri ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn hɪstəri ət sku:l. hwen preparing my lessons, I never read my history-book, pri'peəriŋ maɪ lesnz, aɪ nevə red maɪ hɪstərɪbʊk, and, consequently, I don't know much history. The ən, kɒnsɪkwəntli, aɪ daʊnt nəʊ mʌtʃ hɪstəri. ði only thing I really remember is something about a əʊnli ʃɪŋ aɪ riəli rɪ'membə ɪz sʌmʃɪŋ ə'baʊt ə tea-party."

ti:'pɑ:ti."

"The Boston tea-party! Well, I'll give you a lesson
"ðə bɒstən ti:'pɑ:ti! wel, aɪl gɪv ju: ə lesn in history, then, and tell you about our war with ɪn hɪstəri, ðen, ən tel ju: ə'baʊt ɔʊə wɔ: wɪð

America. When the Americans wouldn't pay the tax ə'merɪkə. hwen ði ə'merɪkənz wʊdn't peɪ ðə tæks that had been put on tea, and stopped drinking tea, ðæt həd bi:n put ɒn ti:, ən stɒpt drɪŋkɪŋ ti:,

King George got very angry and sent over some ships kɪŋ dʒɔ:dʒ ɡɒt vɛrɪ æŋɡrɪ ən sent oʊvə səm ʃɪps full of tea and told the Americans to buy the tea.

ful ɔv ti: ən təʊld ði ə'merɪkənz tə baɪ ðə ti:.

"But in the night, Americans dressed up as Indians
"bʌt ɪn ðə naɪt, ə'merɪkənz drest ʌp əz ɪndʒənz went on board the ships and poured all the tea into went ɒn bɔ:d ðə ʃɪps ən pɔ:d ɔ:l ðə ti: ɪntə the harbour. That was the 'tea-party' you remembered.

ðə hɑ:bə. ðæt wəz ðə 'ti:'pɑ:ti' ju: rɪ'membəd.

Soon after this action open war broke out between su:n ɑ:ftə ðɪs æksən ɒpən wɔ: brəʊk aʊt bɪ'twi:n

America and England, a war that was to end in making ə'merɪkə ænd ɪŋɡlənd, ə wɔ: ðæt wəz tu end ɪn meɪkɪŋ action = act

two separate nations of England and her American tu: seprɪt neɪʃənz əv ɪŋɡlənd ən hæ:r ə'merɪkən colonies. But perhaps it was a good thing, after all.

kələnɪz. bət pə'hæps ɪt wəz ə gud þɪŋ, ɑ:ftə ɔ:l.

England has grown again to be one of the greatest ɪŋɡlənd hæz grəʊn ə'geɪn tə bi: wʌn əv ðə greɪtɪst empires of the world — it may really be said that our empaɪəz əv ðə wɜ:ld — ɪt meɪ riəli bi: sed ðət ʌʊə empire extends to all corners of the earth. empaɪə ɪks'tendz tu ɔ:l kɔ:nəz əv ði ə:θ.

“And on the other hand, after the colonies got their “ænd ɔn ði əðə hænd, ɑ:ftə ðə kələnɪz gɒt ðə liberty, they continued to grow in size, and now the lɪbəti, ðeɪ kən'tɪnju:d tə grəʊ ɪn saɪz, ən naʊ ðə country extends from the Atlantic all the way across kʌntri ɪks'tendz frəm ði ət'læntɪk ɔ:l ðə wei ə'krɒs to the Pacific. The country that we call America con-tə ðə pə'sɪfɪk. ðə kʌntri ðət wi: kɔ:l ə'merɪkə kənsists of 48 separate states, each with its own laws.

'sɪsts əv fɔ:ti'eɪt seprɪt steɪts, i:tʃ wɪð ɪts ʌʊn lɔ:z.

But they are united into one nation, and have one bət ðeɪ ɑ: ju:'naɪtɪd ɪntə wʌn neɪʃən, ən hæv wʌn law for things that are important to all the states.

lɔ: fə þɪŋz ðət ɑ:r ɪm'pɔ:tənt tu ɔ:l ðə steɪts.

That is why the country is called the ‘United States of ðæt ɪz hiːwaɪ ðə kʌntri ɪz kɔ:ld ðə 'ju:'naɪtɪd steɪts əv

America’.” “What made the first people leave England ə'merɪkə’.” “hʌwɪt meɪd ðə fə:st pi:pl li:v ɪŋɡlənd and go to America?" Storm asked. "Wasn't there ən gou tu ə'merikə?" stɔ:m ə:skt. "wɔznt ðəə sufficient work and food for them in England?" "Yes, sə'fɪʃənt wə:k ən fu:d fə ðəm in ɪŋɡlənd?" "jes.

sufficient =
 enough

that had nothing to do with the reason. But shortly ðæt həd nʌθɪŋ tə du: wɪð ðə ri:zn. bət ʃɔ:tlɪ after sixteen hundred, there was a lot of religious ɑ:ftə sɪks'ti:n hʌndrəd, ðəə wəz ə lɒt əv rɪ'lɪdʒəs trouble in England, and the cause of the trouble was a trabl in ɪŋɡlənd, ən ðə kɔ:s əv ðə trabl wəz ə new Act that said that all church services in England nju: ækt ðæt sed ðæt ɔ:l tʃə:tʃ sə:vɪsɪz in ɪŋɡlənd must be held in a way that was very much like the mʌst bi: held in ə wei ðæt wəz veri mʌtʃ laɪk ðə way the Catholic services were held. However, there wei ðə kæθəlɪk sə:vɪsɪz wə: held. hau'evə, ðəə were many people who thought that this was not the wə: meni pi:pl hu: þɔ:t ðæt ðɪs wəz nɒt ðə right way to worship God, and who would not do raɪt wei tə wə:ʃɪp ɡɒd, ən hu: wəd nɒt du:

as the law said. Often, when they came together to əz ðə lɔ: sed. ɔ:fn, hwen ðeɪ keɪm tə'ɡedə tə worship God, people who held the other opinion would wə:ʃɪp ɡɒd, pi:pl hu: held ðɪ ʌðər ə'pɪnjən wəd come and interrupt their services and try to start fights kʌm ənd ɪntə'rʌpt ðəə sə:vɪsɪz ən traɪ tə stɑ:t faɪts with them. In all this trouble many people were hurt, wɪð ðəm. in ɔ:l ðɪs trabl meni pi:pl wə: hæ:t, poor (here) = needing help or care

and some even killed in the fights, and at last some ən sʌm i:vən kild in ðə faɪts, ʌnd ət la:st sʌm of them decided to leave England and go to America, əv ðəm di'saɪdɪd tə li:v ɪŋɡlənd ən ɡoʊ tu ə'merɪkə, where they would have liberty to worship God as they hæwə ðei wəd hæv libəti tə wə:ʃɪp ɡɒd əz ðei thought best, without being killed for it."

þɔ:t best, wɪð'aʊt bi:ɪŋ kild fər ɪt."

"Poor fellows!" Storm said. "I wonder if many more

"pʊə feləʊz!" stɔ:m sed. "aɪ wʌndər ɪf menɪ mɔ:r of them weren't killed by the Indians in America?"

əv ðəm wə:nt ˈkild baɪ ði ɪndʒənz ɪn ə'merɪkə?"

"Yes, that's just what happened," Marshall replied.

"jes, ðæts dʒʌst hʌpənd," mɑ:ʃəl ri'plaɪd.

"Only a very few of the Englishmen who arrived in

"oʊnli ə veri fju: əv ði ɪŋɡlɪʃmən hu: ə'raɪvɪd ɪn America on the famous 'Mayflower' lived to see the ə'merɪkə ɒn ðə feɪməs 'meɪflaʊə lɪvd tə si: ðə next spring. In the first place, they had not brought nekst sprɪŋ. ɪn ðə fɜ:st pleɪs, ðei həd nɒt brɔ:t sufficient food with them from England, and in the sə'fɪʃənt fu:d wɪð ðəm frəm ɪŋɡlənd, ʌnd ɪn ðə second place, the Indians hated the white men, or the sekənd pleɪs, ði ɪndʒənz heɪtɪd ðə hwaɪt men, ɔ: ðə pale-faces, as they called them, and killed many of peɪlfesɪz, əz ðei kɔ:ld ðəm, ən kild menɪ əv them. The English went in fear of their lives both

ðəm. ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ wənt ɪn fiər əv ðeə laɪvz boʊb day and night and never felt safe. Much blood was dei ən nait ən nevə felt seif. mʌtʃ blʌd wəz shed to conquer America from the Indians.” ʃed tə kɒŋkə ə'merikə frəm ði indjənz.”

He sheds, he shed, he has shed [ʃedz, ʃed, ʃed].

“One can easily understand that the Indians hated ʊən kən i:zili ʌndə'stænd ðæt ði indjənz heitid those pale-faced strangers and regarded them as their ðəʊz peilfeist streindʒəz ən ri'gɑ:dɪd ðəm əz ðeər enemies,” Storm said. “They couldn’t understand each enimɪz,” stɔ:m sed. “ðei kʊdnʌt ʌndə'stænd i:tʃ other at first, and so it was impossible for the white ʌðər ət fɜ:st, ən sou it wəz im'pɒsəbl fə ðə hwaɪt men to explain to the Indians that they only wanted mən tu ɪks'pleɪn tə ði indjənz ðæt ðei ɒnli wɒntɪd a small part of the country to live in. The Indians, of ə smɔ:l pɑ:t əv ðə kʌntri tə li:v ɪn. ði indjənz, əv course, had a fear that the pale-faces were going to kɔ:s, həd ə fiə ðæt ðə peilfeɪsɪz wə: ɡəʊɪŋ tə take the whole continent, and thought they could stop teɪk ðə haʊl kɒntɪnənt, ən þɔ:t ðei kəd stɒp them by killing them. I think that if the Indians ðəm baɪ kɪlɪŋ ðəm. aɪ θɪŋk ðæt ɪf ði indjənz hadn’t been in such a hurry to start fighting, but had hædnʌt bi:n ɪn sʌtʃ ə hʌrɪ tə stɑ:t faɪtɪŋ, bət həd waited until they and the pale-faces could understand weɪtɪd ʌn'tɪl ðei ən ðə peilfeɪsɪz kəd ʌndə'stænd each other, there wouldn’t have been so much trouble, i:tʃ ʌðə, ðeə wʊdnʌt həv bi:n sou mʌtʃ trʌbl, pretty (here) =

rather

and so much blood would not have been shed." ən sou matʃ bləd wəd nɒt hæv bi:n ʃed."

"I don't think it would have made much difference," "ai daʊnt ɪŋk ɪt wəd hæv meɪd matʃ dɪfrəns," was Marshall's opinion. "People have been making wəz mɑ:ʃəlz ə'pɪnjən. "pi:pl hæv bi:n meɪkiŋ war upon each other for less reason than that since wɔ:r ə'pɒn i:tʃ ʌðə fə les ri:zn ðən ðæt sɪnz the beginning of history. It seems to be the nature ðə bi'gɪnɪŋ əv hɪstəri. ɪt si:mz tə bi: ðə neɪtʃər of man to hate and to kill, and, consequently, many əv mæn tə heɪt ən tə kɪl, ən, kɒnsɪkwəntli, menɪ must live in fear of others and suffer pain from the mʌst liv ɪn fiər əv ʌðəz ən sʌfə peɪn frəm ði actions of others. Now that I come to think of it, we ækʃənz əv ʌðəz. naʊ ðæt ai kʌm tə ɪŋk əv ɪt, wi:

really are a pretty bad lot, don't you think so, too?"
riəli a:r ə prɪti bæd lɒt, daʊnt ju: ɪŋk sou, tu:?"

"Some of us, yes," Storm answered. "But at least those
"sʌm əv ʌs, jes," stɔ:m ɑ:nsəd. "bət ət li:st ðəʊz first Americans seem to have been the right sort of fə:st ə'merɪkənz si:m tə hæv bi:n ðə raɪt sɔ:t əv men. They were willing to take upon themselves all men. ðeɪ wə: wɪlɪŋ tə teɪk ə'pɒn ðəm'selvz ɔ:l

the work, all the difficulties, all the suffering that ðə wə:k, ɔ:l ðə dɪfɪkəltɪz, ɔ:l ðə sʌfərɪŋ ðæt living in the New World meant, in order to be allowed lɪvɪŋ ɪn ðə nju: wə:ld ment, ɪn ɔ:də tə bi: ə'laʊd to worship God in the way they thought right. They tə wə:ʃɪp ɡɒd ɪn ðə wei ðei þɔ:t rait. ðei stayed on over there, even though they suffered very steɪd ɒn oʊvə ðeə, i:vən ðəu ðei sʌfəd veri much both on account of the cold winters and the mʌʃ bəʊθ ɒn ə'kaʊnt əv ðə kəʊld wɪntəz ən ðə fight with the Indians, and because they did not have faɪts wɪð ði ɪndʒənz, ən bi'kɔz ðei dɪd nɒt hæv sufficient food. Thus the great nation of the United sə'fɪʃənt fu:d. ðʌs ðə greɪt neɪʃən əv ðə ju:'naɪtɪd thus = in this way

States to-day owes its existence to the courage with steɪts tə'dei ɔʊz ɪts ɪg'zɪstəns tə ðə kərəɪdʒ wɪð which these people settled a question of religion which hwɪtʃ ði:z pi:pl setld ə kwɛstʃən əv rɪ'lɪdʒən hwɪtʃ settle (here) =

decide

was more important to them than their lives. Not a bad wəz mɔ:r ɪm'pɔ:tənt tə ðəm ðən ðeə laɪvz. nɒt ə bəd sort of people for a nation to begin with!"

sɔ:t əv pi:pl fə ə neɪʃən tə bi'ɡɪn wɪð!"

"No, that's right," Marshall agreed. "But look what
"nəʊ, ðəts rait," mɑ:ʃəl ə'ɡri:d. "bət luk hwɒt has happened over there since then. America has həz hʌpnd oʊvə ðeə sɪns ðen. ə'merɪkə həz been in too great a hurry to grow big and strong, and bi:n ɪn tu: greɪt ə hʌrɪ tə ɡrəʊ bɪɡ ən strɒŋ. ən many Americans have been in too great a hurry to meni ə'merɪkənz həv bi:n ɪn tu: greɪt ə hʌrɪ tə get rich quickly. They haven't had much time left ɡet rɪʃ kwɪkli. ðei hævnt həd mʌʃ taɪm left over for thinking about those fine ideas of liberty that ouvə fə ʃɪŋkɪŋ ə'baʊt ðəʊz faɪn aɪ'dɪəz əv lɪbəti ðət made the first Americans leave their mother counmeɪd ðə fə:st ə'merɪkənz li:v ðəə mʌðə kʌn-try. However," he continued, "I do think America tri. haʊ'evə," hi: kən'tɪnju:d, "aɪ du: ʃɪŋk ə'merɪkə has earned the Statue of Liberty which the people hæz ə:nd ðə stætju: əv lɪbəti hʌwɪf ðə pi:pl of France gave America in 1886, as a sign əv fra:ns geɪv ə'merɪkə ɪn eɪtɪ:n eɪtɪ'sɪks, əz ə saɪn of the love of liberty in both countries. It's an əv ðə lʌv əv lɪbəti ɪn bəʊθ kʌntrɪz. ɪts ən extremely tall statue, you know, placed on an island ɪks'tri:mli tə:l stætju:, ju: nəʊ, pleɪst ɔn ən aɪlənd just outside New York, — the first sign that you have dʒʌst aʊtsaɪd nju: jɔ:k. — ðə fə:st saɪn ðət ju: hæv come to a free country."

kʌm tu ə fri: kʌntri."

"Yes, I know," Storm replied. "I've read about it.

"jes, aɪ nəʊ," stɔ:m ri'plaɪd. "aɪv red ə'baʊt ɪt.

Inside it, you can go all the way up to the head, ɪnsaɪd ɪt, ju: kən ɡəʊ ɔ:l ðə wei ʌp tə ðə hed, where you can look out through the eyes and thus hwɛə ju: kən luk aʊt θru: ði aɪz ən ðʌs get a wonderful view of New York. The Americans ɡet ə wʌndəfʊl vju: əv nju: jɔ:k. ði ə'merɪkənz are very proud of the 'sky-line' of New York, as a: veri praʊd əv ðə 'skɪləɪn' əv nju: jɔ:k, əz they call it, the line of houses and towers seen against ðei kɔ:l it, ðə laɪn əv haʊzɪz ən taʊəz si:n ə'geɪnst the sky when your boat is entering the harbour. I ðə skai hwen jɔ: bɔ:t ɪz ɛntərɪŋ ðə hæ:bə. aɪ hope to see it some day."

haʊp tə si: ɪt sʌm deɪ."

"So do I," Marshall said, as he prepared to go to
"səʊ du: aɪ," mɑ:fəl sed, əz hi: prɪ'peəd tə ɡəʊ tə bed. "Perhaps we could go there together." "Yes, bed. "pə'hæps wi: kəd ɡəʊ ðeə tə'ɡedə." "jes, perhaps we might," Storm answered. "Well, good pə'hæps wi: maɪt," stɔ:m a:nsəd. "wel, ɡʊd night!"

nait!"

EXERCISE A.

In America a tram is called a —. A railway is called a —, and a five-dollar note a — —. The Underground the Americans call the —, and a — is a station. The American word for luggage is —. In former times America was an English —. The Americans were — with the English government of their country.

The English put a — on the tea that was sent to the Americans. Storm never read his — at school. The war between England and her American colonies ended in making two — nations of them. The British Empire — to all corners of the earth.

WORDS:

railroad bill
 street-car subway depot baggage colony lesson dissatisfied tax separate extend liberty

Atlantic
Pacific
unite worship
sufficient
fight hate pale-face pale-faced kill fear shed suffer action
hurry cause statue thus sign

When the American colonies had got their —, they grew in size, and now the country — from the — all the way across to the —. America now consists of 48 states — into one nation. Some people in England who wanted to — God in their own way went to America to do so. They did not bring — food along from England. They suffered on account of the — with the Indians.

The Indians — the white men, or the —, as they called them, and — many of them. The English went in — of their lives. Much blood was —. It seems to be the nature of man to hate and kill, and, consequently, many must — pain from the — of others. America has been in a great — to grow big and strong.

EXERCISE B.

Answer these questions with full sentences:

Are you interested in music? ... Do you think you are musical? ... Do you play any instrument? ... Do you like to dance? ... Have you been taught dancing? ... Do you like modern dance-music? ... Do you like to sing, and have you got a good voice for singing? ...

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

In the sentences "I have walked five miles the last three days", "the girl has played in the garden for an hour", "he had looked out of the window for me just before

I arrived", 'walked', 'played', and 'looked' are called second participles [pɑ:tisiplz]. (The first participle, 'playing', etc., we are going to hear about later.) You will notice that the second participle of verbs like these has the same form as the past tense.

The second participle is used with the present tense of 'have' to make the perfect [pə:fɪkt] tense: I have called, you have called, he has called, she has called, it has called, we have called, you have called, they have called.

The second participle is also used with the past tense of 'have' to make the pluperfect ['plu:ˈpə:fɪkt] tense: I had called, you had called, he had called, she had called, it had called, we had called, you had called, they had called.

The second participle of 'be' is 'been', and the perfect tense is as follows: I have been, you have been, he has been, she has been, it has been, we have been, you have been, they have been. The pluperfect is made with the past tense of 'have': I had been, you had been, he had been, she had been, it had been, we had been, you had been, they had been.

Questions:

What other form of the verb is as a rule the same as the second participle? ... What is the second participle used for? ... What is the second participle of the verb 'be'?

EXERCISE D.

siksti'eit, nelsu roud, wimblæn.

ðə twenti'eitθ əv dʒu:n.

diə wud,

aim sori ðæt it hæz bi:n sou lɔj bi'fɔ:r aiv faund taim tu a:nsə jɔ: letə, hwitʃ ai ri'si:vð ɔ:l'redi æt ðə bi'giniy əv la:st wi:k. bæt ju: si:, ən im'pɔ:tənt tʃeindʒ hæz teikn pleis in mai laif sins mai la:st letə, and ɔ:l mai taim and ɔ:l mai þɔ:ts hæv bi:n teikn ʌp wið it. ðə fækt iz, mæriən edwədʒ hæz prɒmist tə bi'kʌm mai waif, sou frəm bi:ny ə laitha:tid ʒə mæn wið'əut ə kæər in ðə wə:ld, aiv sʌdnli bi:n tʃeindʒd intu ə mæn wið veri siəriəs þɔ:ts ə'baut ðə fju:tʃə, nau ðæt aim gouin tə hæv ə fæmili əv mai oun.

its streindʒ tə þiŋk ðæt æt ðə seim taim hwæn mæriən and ai wə:r ɔn ðə tri:p hwæər ai a:skt hæ: ðæt veri im'pɔ:tənt kwestʃən, ən hwæə wi: wɔ:kt in ðə wɔ:m sʌnsain andə ðə gri:n tri:z, ju: wə: hæviŋ stɔ:mz wið rein ən kould æt houn. bæt ðæt riəli iz ʌn'ju:ʒuəl.
i:vən in əuə kʌntri, æt ðis taim əv ðə jɪə. hau'evə, sprin ən sʌmə du: kʌm ə:liə in iŋglənd ðæn æt houn.
in ðə pɑ:ts əv iŋglənd ðæt aiv si:n ɔn mai trips, ðə li:z wə:r aut ɔ:l'redi æt ðə bi'giniy əv eipril. ( wel, ai houp tə hiə frəm ju: ə'gein veri su:n; ai wɔnt tə nou hwɔt ju: þiŋk əv ðə 'greit nju:s'. əs ju: nou daʊt kən si: frəm mai letə, ai hævnt bi:n eibl tə þiŋk əv mʌtʃ əls ði:z la:st tu: wi:ks.

jɔ:z sin'siəli,

stɔ:m

THE BRITISH EMPIRE

Marshall had often promised Storm to take him to the ma:fəl həd ɔ:fən prəmɪst stɔ:m tə teɪk hɪm tə ðə

House of Commons when the members were present haʊs əv kɒmənz hwen ðə membəz wə: prɛznt and the House at work. Storm wanted to see some ænd ðə haʊs at wɜ:k. stɔ:m wɒntɪd tə si: səm of its famous members and hear them speak. Marshall əv ɪts feɪməs membəz ænd hiə ðəm spi:k. ma:fəl felt this promise as a debt of honour. So, at length, felt ðɪs prɒmɪs əz ə det əv ɔnə. sou, ət lɛŋθ, debt = something which is owed to somebody

one afternoon after office hours he decided to pay wʌn ɑ:fʔə'nu:n ɑ:fʔər ɔfɪs aʊəz hi: dɪ'saɪdɪd tə peɪ this debt. He went with Storm to the House of ðɪs det. hi: wɛnt wɪð stɔ:m tə ðə haʊs əv

Commons, and they spent some hours there, listening kɒmənz, ænd ðeɪ spɛnt səm aʊəz ðeə, lɪsnɪŋ to the different speakers.

tə ðə dɪfrənt spi:kəz.

Among other matters several colonial questions were ə'mʌŋ ʌðə mətəz sevrəl kə'lɒnjəl kwɛstʃənz wə:

colonial = having to do with colonies

discussed, which seemed to be of much interest to dɪs'kʌst, hwi:f si:md tə bi: əv mʌtʃ ɪntrɪst tə

Storm. On their way home he seemed to be thinking stɔ:m. ɔn ðeə weɪ hoʊm hi: si:md tə bi: ɪŋkɪŋ manner = way

moment = a very short time of something, and after dinner, when they were making əv sʌmʃɪŋ, ʌnd ɑːftə dɪnə, hæwən ðeɪ wəː meɪkɪŋ themselves comfortable, each in a big chair, he said ðəm'selvɪz kʌmfətəbl, iːtʃ ɪn ə bɪg tʃeə, hiː sed to Marshall, "The colonial questions which were dis-tə mɑːʃəl, "ðə kə'lounjəl kwestʃənz hɪwɪtʃ wəː discussed in Parliament to-day interested me more than 'kʌst ɪn pɑːləmənt tə'deɪ ɪntrɪstɪd miː mɔː ðən anything else, though I didn't always catch the meaning; enɪʃɪŋ els, ðəu aɪ dɪdn't ɔːlwəz kætʃ ðə miːnɪŋ; for after all, I know far too little about the colonies.

fər ɑːftər ɔːl, aɪ nəʊ fɑː tuː lɪtl ə'baʊt ðə kələnɪz.
 For instance, I don't know how they're governed." fər ɪnstəns, aɪ daʊnt nəʊ haʊ ðeə ɡʌvənd."
 "It isn't so easy," Marshall said, "to tell you in a few
"ɪt ɪznt səʊ iːzi," mɑːʃəl sed, "tə tel juː ɪn ə fjuː words about their government, because they're not all wəːdɪz ə'baʊt ðeə ɡʌvənmənt, bɪ'kɔːz ðeə nɒt ɔːl governed in the same manner; but we could talk a little ɡʌvənd ɪn ðə seɪm mənə; bət wiː kəd tɔːk ə lɪtl about the question until bedtime. I'll start in a ə'baʊt ðə kwestʃən ʌn'tɪl bedtaɪm. aɪl stɑːt ɪn ə moment. First I'll go out to the kitchen and get some məʊmənt. fəːst aɪl ɡəʊ aʊt tə ðə kɪtʃɪn ən get səm matches so that we can try the new cigarettes I bought mætʃɪz səʊ ðət wiː kən traɪ ðə njuː sɪɡə'rets aɪ haʊt to-day." He did so, and a few moments later they tə'deɪ." hiː dɪd səʊ, ʌnd ə fjuː məʊmənts leɪtə ðeɪ were enjoying their cigarettes. "Well, Storm," said wə:r in'dʒɔɪɪŋ ðeə sigə'rets. "wel, stɔ:m," sed

Marshall, taking up the conversation again, "I'll first mɑ:ʃəl, teɪkɪŋ ʌp ðə kənʋə'seɪʃən ə'geɪn, "aɪl fə:st tell you about a number of countries which used to tɛl ju: ə'baʊt ə nʌmbər əv kʌntrɪz hʋɪtʃ ju:st tə be governed by Britain. The best known of them are bɪ: ɡʌvənd baɪ brɪtən. ðə best noun əv ðəm a:

Canada, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, India, kənədə, nju:'zi:lənd, ɔ:s'treɪljə, saʊp æfrɪkə, ɪndjə, and Pakistan. We call these countries Dominions. ən pɑ:kɪ'stɑ:n. wi: kɔ:l ði:z kʌntrɪz də'mɪnjənz.

They have their own governments which look after ðeɪ hæv ðeər oun ɡʌvənmənts hʋɪtʃ luk ɑ:ftr affairs of interest to the Dominions themselves. Re-ə'fɛəz əv ɪntrɪst tə ðə də'mɪnjənz ðəm'selvz. rigarding foreign affairs which are of importance to the 'ɡɑ:diŋ fɔrɪn ə'fɛəz hʋɪtʃ ɑ:r əv ɪm'pɔ:təns tə ðə whole Empire, they have the same right as the mother həʊl empaɪə, ðeɪ hæv ðə seɪm raɪt əz ðə mʌðə country to decide what steps should be taken. So you kʌntri tə dɪ'saɪd hʋɛt stɛps ʃəd bi: teɪkn. səʊ ju:

see, Storm, that it would be incorrect to regard Britain si:, stɔ:m, ðət ɪt wəd bi: ɪnkə'rekt tə rɪ'ɡɑ:d brɪtən and the Dominions as a country with its colonies. It's ən ðə də'mɪnjənz əz ə kʌntri wɪð ɪts kələnɪz. ɪts rather a number of states which are held together by rɑ:ðər ə nʌmbər əv steɪts hʋɪtʃ a: held tə'ɡedə baɪ regarding = as to incorrect = not correct

	the same interests of trade and politics.” ðə seim intrists æv treid ən pɒlɪtiks.” “But the Dominions cannot have had all these political “bət ðə də'mɪnjənz kənət hæv həd ɔ:l ði:z pə'litikəl rights from the beginning,” Storm interrupted. raits frəm ðə bi'gɪniŋ,” stɔ:m intə'rʌptɪd. development = growth	“No, they're the fruits of a development which has been “nou, ðeə ðə fru:ts æv ə dɪ'veləpmənt hwi:tf hæz bi:n going on for many years,” Marshall continued. “At gouɪŋ ɔn fə meni jɪəz,” mɑ:fəl kən'tɪnju:d. “ət first the Dominions were simply colonies which could fə:st ðə də'mɪnjənz wə: simpli kələnɪz hwi:tf kəd not make decisions regarding many of their own affairs nɒt meɪk dɪ'sɪʒənz rɪ'ga:diŋ meni æv ðeər oun ə'feəz without asking Britain, but the political development wɪd'əʊt ɑ:skiŋ brɪtən, bət ðə pə'litikəl dɪ'veləpmənt nineteenth century = the time from the year 1800 to the year 1900	which took place in the nineteenth century has made hwi:tf tuk pleɪs ɪn ðə naɪnti:nθ sentʃuri hæz meɪd it necessary for Britain to give them greater and ɪt nesɪsəri fə brɪtən tə gɪv ðəm greɪtər ən greater liberty to look after their own affairs, and by greɪtə lɪbəti tə luk ɑ:ftə ðeər oun ə'feəz. ən baɪ the year 1900 half of the Dominions had ðə jɪə naɪnti:n hʌndrəd ha:f æv ðə də'mɪnjənz həd gain = win	gained their present rights.” “And the fact that the geɪnd ðeə preznt raits.” “ən ðə fækt ðət ðə Dominions have gained these political rights is no də'mɪnjənz hæv geɪnd ði:z pə'litikəl raits ɪz nou doubt an important reason why Britain has been able daut ən im'pɔ:tənt ri:zn hwai britən həz bi:n eibl to keep her connection with them," Storm said. "It's tə ki:p hə: kə'nekʃən wið ðəm," stɔ:m sed. "its the same with nations as with people. You can almost ðə seim wið neifənz əz wið pi:pl. ju: kən ɔ:lməʊs!

always have your way with them if your behaviour ɔ:lweɪz hæʔ ju: wei wið ðəm if ju: bi'heivjə towards them is gentle and understanding. If Britain tə'wɔ:dz ðəm iz dʒentl ənd ʌndə'stændiŋ. if britən had used force against her present Dominions instead həd ju:zd fɔ:s ə'geɪnst hə: prɛznt də'mɪnjənz ɪn'sted of being gentle with them, they would have been lost əv bi:ɪŋ dʒentl wið ðəm, ðei wəd hæv bi:n lɒst now, I suppose, as her former North-American colonies naʊ, aɪ sə'pəʊz, əz hə: fɔ:mə 'nɔ:þə'merɪkən kələnɪz were lost when she used force against them, sending wə: lɒst hwen ʃi: ju:zd fɔ:s ə'geɪnst ðəm, sendɪŋ armies across the sea to fight them." "No doubt you're ɑ:mɪz ə'krɔ:s ðə si: tə faɪt ðəm." "nəʊ daʊt juə right," Marshall replied. "But though the Dominions raɪt," mɑ:ʃəl ri'plaɪd. "bət ðəʊ ðə də'mɪnjənz are the best known parts of the British Empire, we ɑ: ðə best nəʊn pɑ:ts əv ðə brɪtɪʃ empaɪə, wi:

must not forget to say a few words about the colonies mʌst nɒt fə'get tə sei ə fju: wɔ:dz ə'baut ðə kələnɪz proper. They're parts of the British Empire with prɒpə. ðeə pɑ:ts əv ðə brɪtɪʃ empaɪə wið

Chapter Fifty-Seven (57).

an official = a person who works for the government

the natives of a country = the people belonging by birth to the country

only a few Englishmen — soldiers and officials — ounli ə fju: ɪŋɡlɪʃmən — souldʒəz ənd ə'fɪʃəlz — living among the natives. They're governed from lɪvɪŋ ə'maŋ ðə neɪtɪvz. ðeə ɡʌvənd frəm

Britain, that is, by the Colonial Office in London. brɪtən, ðæt ɪz, baɪ ðə kə'lounjəl ɔfɪs ɪn lʌndən.

The Colonial Office sends a representative, a so-called ðə kə'lounjəl ɔfɪs sendz ə reprɪ'zentatɪv, ə soukɔ:ld

Governor, to each of the colonies to look after the ɡʌvənə, tu i:tʃ əv ðə kələnɪz tə luk ɑ:ftə ði affairs of the colony. Of course, he can't do all the ə'feəz əv ðə kələnɪ. əv kɔ:s, hi: kɑ:nt du: ɔ:l ðə work himself, but has a number of officials to help wɜ:k hɪm'self, bət həz ə nʌmbə əv ə'fɪʃəlz tə help him. He and the officials together make up the hɪm. hi: ən ði ə'fɪʃəlz tə'ɡedə meɪk ʌp ðə highest authority of the colony. Naturally, the haɪɪst ɔ: 'hɔ:riti əv ðə kələnɪ. nətʃrəli, ðə

Governor is always in connection with the Colonial ɡʌvənə ɪz ɔ:lweɪz ɪn kə'neksən wɪð ðə kə'lounjəl

Office in London, telling it what happens in the ɔfɪs ɪn lʌndən, telɪŋ ɪt hwɒt hæpənz ɪn ðə colony and getting orders as to what to do in imkələnɪ ən ɡetɪŋ ɔ:dəz əs tə hwɒt tə du: ɪn ɪmportant matters.”

'pɔ:tənt mə'təz.”

just = right

“Wouldn't it be more just of Britain to let the colonies “wʊdnɪt ɪt bi: mɔ: dʒʌst əv brɪtən tə let ðə kələnɪz have governments of their own, just like the Dohəv ɡʌvənmənts əv ðeər oun, dʒʌst laɪk ðə dəminions?" Storm asked.

'minjənz?" stɔ:m ə:skt.

"Perhaps it would be just," Marshall replied, "but the "pə'hæps it wəd bi: dʒʌst," mɑ:fəl ri'plaɪd, "bət ðə natives of most of the colonies are not white people, neɪtɪvz əv mʌst əv ðə kələnɪz ə: nɒt hwaɪt pi:pl, and wouldn't be able to govern themselves. When the ən wʊdn't bi: eɪbl tə ɡʌvən ðəm'selvz. hwen ði

English first came to these places, the natives in many ɪŋɡlɪʃ fə:st keɪm tə ði:z pleɪsɪz, ðə neɪtɪvz ɪn menɪ cases were nothing but wild or savage tribes, living keɪsɪz wə: nʌθɪŋ bət waɪld ɔ: səvɪdʒ traɪbz, lɪvɪŋ under the conditions offered by nature; so the English ʌndə ðə kən'dɪʃənz ɔ:fəd baɪ neɪtʃə; sɔu ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ have had to take care of them. However, as the həv həd tə teɪk keər əv ðəm. haʊ'evə, əz ðə natives become more used to European ideas, it is neɪtɪvz bɪ'kʌm mɔ: ju:st tə juərə'piən aɪ'diəz, ɪt ɪz the intention of the British to give all the colonies ði ɪn'tenʃən əv ðə brɪtɪʃ tə ɡɪv ɔ:l ðə kələnɪz self-government.

'self'ɡʌvənmənt.

"I know that it's the general opinion of many foreigners

"aɪ nəʊ ðət ɪts ðə dʒenərəl ə'pɪnjən əv menɪ fɔrɪnəz that Britain has only thought of her own interests in ðət brɪtən həz ounli þɔ:t əv hə:r oun ɪntrɪsts ɪn a savage intention =

purpose

Chapter Fifty-Seven (57).

fair = just connection with the colonies, but this is not quite fair.

kə'nekʃən wið ðə kələniz, bət ðis iz nɒt kweɪt feə.

rule(here) =
government

In the colonies where the natives were savages when in ðə kələniz hwɛə ðə neɪtɪvz wə: səvədʒɪz hwɛn they came under British rule, Britain has really done ðei keɪm ʌndə brɪtɪʃ ru:l, brɪtən həz riəli dʌn a lot of good work for the people, making their life ə lɒt əv gud wə:k fə ðə pi:pl, meɪkɪŋ ðeə laɪf easier, building schools and hospitals for them, etc., i:ziə, bɪldɪŋ sku:lz ən hɒspɪtlz fɔ: ðəm, ɪl'setə, and on the whole trying to be just and fair. But it ænd ɒn ðə həʊl traɪɪŋ tə bi: dʒʌst ən feə. bət ɪt would be incorrect to say that all the colonies like to wəd bi: ɪnkə'rekt tə seɪ ðæt ɔ:l ðə kələniz laɪk tə be under British rule."

bi: ʌndə brɪtɪʃ ru:l."

"At least many of the people in India didn't like it
"ət li:st meni əv ðə pi:pl ɪn ɪndjə dɪdn't laɪk ɪt as they came to feel equal with the Europeans," Storm əz ðei keɪm tə fi:l i:kwəl wið ðə juərə'piənz," stɔ:m said with a smile. "From the papers and also from sed wið ə smaɪl. "frəm ðə peɪpəz ænd ɔ:lsəʊ frəm a number of books I've read, I know that there used ə nʌmbə əv buks aɪv red, aɪ naʊ ðæt ðeə ju:st to be much trouble with India from time to time.

tə bi: mʌtʃ trəbl wið ɪndjə frəm taɪm tə taɪm.

Could you tell me a little more about the government kəd ju: tel mi: ə lɪtl mɔ:r ə'baut ðə ɡʌvənmənt of India? I've no definite idea of it." "Before əv indjə? aiv nou definit ai'diə əv it." "bɪfɔ:

definite = clear in meaning

1947 the government of India was different naɪnti:n fɔ:ti'sevn ðə ɡʌvənmənt əv indjə wəz difrənt from that of the Dominions as well as from that of frəm ðæt əv ðə də'mɪnjənz əz wel əz frəm ðæt əv the colonies," was Marshall's reply. "It did not govern ðə kələnɪz," wəz mɑ:fəls ri'plai. "it did nɒt ɡʌvən itself. It was governed by the British and the Indians ɪt'self. ɪt wəz ɡʌvənd baɪ ðə brɪtɪʃ ən ði indjənz together. The country is so large — having nearly tə'geðə. ðə kʌntri ɪz sou la:dʒ — hævɪŋ niəli

400 million people — that there was a special fɔ: hʌndrəd mɪljən pi:pl — ðæt ðeə wəz ə speʃəl government department in London, called the India ɡʌvənmənt di'pɑ:tmənt ɪn lʌndən, kɔ:ld ði indjə

Office, looking after Indian affairs. But as you ɒfis, lʊkɪŋ ɑ:f tər indjən ə'feəz. bʌt əz ju:

mentioned, Britain often had trouble with India — menʃənd, brɪtən ɔ:fn həd trʌbl wɪð indjə — mostly on account of the manner in which it was mʌstli ɒn ə'kaʊnt əv ðə mænər ɪn hwiʃ ɪt wəz governed. Many of the Indians wanted their country ɡʌvənd. meni əv ði indjənz wɒntɪd ðeə kʌntri to be given self-government as soon as possible." "And tə bi: ɡɪvən 'self'ɡʌvənmənt əz su:n əz pɒsəbl." "ən wasn't it to do justice to them, Marshall, to offer them wəznt ɪt tə du: dʒʌstɪs tu ðəm, mɑ:fəl, tu ɔ:fə ðəm do justice to = be just to what they wanted?" Storm asked. "If it was only hwɔt ðei wɔntid?" stɔ:m ɑ:skt. "if it wɔz ounli a question of doing justice to them, they would ə kwɛstʃən əv du:ɪŋ dʒʌstɪs tu ðəm, ðei wəd have been given self-government a long time before," hæv bi:n gɪvən 'self'gʌvənmənt ə lɔŋ taɪm bi'fɔ:," Marshall replied. "In 1917 the British mɑ:ʃəl ri'plaid. "in naɪnti:n sɛvənti:n ðə brɪtɪʃ Government declared that its intention was the developgʌvənmənt di'kleəd ðət ɪts ɪn'tenʃən wɔz ðə di'veləp-ment, step by step, of the same sort of self-government mənt, stɛp baɪ stɛp, əv ðə seɪm sɔ:t əv 'self'gʌvənmənt for India as the Dominions had. But India consists fər ɪndjə əz ðə də'mɪnjənz həd. bət ɪndjə kən'sɪsts of many nations, with different ideas of life and with əv mæni neɪʃənz, wɪð dɪfrənt aɪ'diəz əv laɪf ən wɪð different religions. Several of them were not at all dɪfrənt ri'lɪdʒənz. sevərəl əv ðəm wə: nɔt ət ɔ:l interested in a national and united India, but thought ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ə nəʃənəl ən ju:'naɪtɪd ɪndjə, bət þɔ:t only of their own interests, while others were satisfied əʊnli əv ðeər əʊn ɪntrɪsts, hwaɪl ʌðəz wə: sɛtɪsfaɪd with British rule, because they thought that if India wɪð brɪtɪʃ ru:l, bi'kɔz ðei þɔ:t ðət ɪf ɪndjə was left to itself, there would be more trouble, perhaps wəz left tu ɪt'self, ðeə wəd bi: mɔ: trʌbl, pə'hæps war, instead of the good conditions that the country wɔ:, ɪn'stəd əv ðə gud kən'dɪʃənz ðət ðə kʌntri enjoyed under British rule. That is one of the reasons in'dʒɔɪd ʌndə brɪtɪʃ ru:l. ðæt ɪz wʌn əv ðə ri:zns why Britain, at one time, was not willing to give up hwaɪ brɪtən, ət wʌn taɪm, wəz nɒt wɪlɪŋ tə ɡɪv ʌp India, even if Indians like the famous Gandhi, for ɪndjə, i:vən ɪf ɪndjənz laɪk ðə feɪməs ɡændi:, fər instance, wanted it.”

ɪnstəns, wɒntɪd ɪt.”

“It seems as if the British were a little in doubt as “it si:mz əz ɪf ðə brɪtɪʃ wə:r ə lɪtl ɪn daʊt əz to what to do with Gandhi,” Storm said. “Several tə hwɒt tə du: wɪð ɡændi:,” stɔ:m sed. “sevrəl times they punished him by sending him to prison, and taɪmz ðeɪ ˈpʌnɪʃt hɪm baɪ sendɪŋ hɪm tə ˈprɪzn, ən when he had been in prison for some time, they set hwen hɪ: həd bi:n ɪn ˈprɪzn fə sʌm taɪm, ðeɪ set him at liberty again. In my opinion, they might just hɪm ət lɪbəti əˈɡeɪn. ɪn maɪ əˈpɪnjən, ðeɪ maɪt dʒʌst as well have given up punishing him, for I'm sure that əz wel həv ɡɪvən ʌp ˈpʌnɪʃɪŋ hɪm, fər aɪm suə ðæt punishment cannot change the political opinions of a ˈpʌnɪʃmənt kənɒt tʃeɪndʒ ðə pəˈlɪtɪkəl əˈpɪnjənz əv ə man like that, even if it's a punishment which sends mæn laɪk ðæt, i:vən ɪf ɪts ə ˈpʌnɪʃmənt hwɪtʃ sendz him to prison for several years.”

hɪm tə ˈprɪzn fə sevrəl jɪəz.”

“The British didn't think that either when they put “ðə brɪtɪʃ dɪdnt θɪŋk ðæt aɪðə hwen ðeɪ put prison

him in prison! They regarded him as a danger to the him in prɪzn? ðei rɪ'ga:dɪd hɪm ə ə deɪndʒə tə ðə

State, because it was his political purpose to make the steɪt, bɪ'kɔːz ɪt wəz hɪz pə'lɪtɪkəl pə:pəs tə meɪk ði

Indians stop working in industry and thus make ɪndjənz stɒp wə:kɪŋ ɪn ɪndəstri ən ðʌs meɪk trouble for the British Government. However, after the trʌbl fə ðə brɪtɪʃ ɡʌvənmənt. haʊ'evə, ɑːftə ðə war of 1939—1945, the British wɔːr əv naɪntiːn þə'tɪ'nain tə naɪntiːn fɔːtɪ'faɪv, ðə brɪtɪʃ Government made a definite plan for India. They ɡʌvənmənt meɪd ə defɪnɪt plæn fər ɪndjə. ðei declared that the British troops and government officials dɪ'kleəd ðæt ðə brɪtɪʃ truːps ən ɡʌvənmənt ə'fɪʃəlz would leave India in 1948. The Indians would wəd liːv ɪndjə ɪn naɪntiːn fɔːtɪ'eɪt, ði ɪndjənz wəd then have to decide for themselves whether they wanted ðen hæv tə dɪ'saɪd fə ðəm'selvz hwedə ðei wəntɪd to remain in the Empire as a self-governing Dominion, tə rɪ'meɪn ɪn ði ɪmˈpaɪə əz ə 'self'ɡʌvənɪŋ də'mɪnjən, or whether they wanted to be a completely separate ɔː hwedə ðei wəntɪd tə biː ə kəm'pliːtli seprɪt country without any connection with Britain. In kʌntri wɪð'aʊt ɛni kə'nekʃən wɪð brɪtən. ɪn

1947 the English and the Indians agreed naɪntiːn fɔːtɪ'sevn ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ ən ði ɪndjənz ə'ɡriːd to divide the whole of India into the two Dominions tə dɪ'vaɪd ðə haʊl əv ɪndjə ɪntə ðə tuː də'mɪnjənz of India and Pakistan, and on the fifteenth of August ʌv indjə ən pɑ:ki'stɑ:n, ənd ɔn ðə fifti:nθ ʌv ɔ:gəst of that year these Dominions received self-government.

ʌv ðæt jɪə ði:z də'minjənz ri'si:vəd 'self'gʌvənmənt.

For my part I hope that these new Dominions will keep fə maɪ pɑ:t ai haʊp ðət ði:z nju: də'minjənz wil ki:p their connection with Britain, for they have so many ðeə kə'nekʃən wið britən, fə ðei hæv sɔu meni advantages of trade to offer each other. And I think, əd'vɑ:ntidʒiz ʌv treɪd tu ɔfər i:tʃ əðə. ənd ai θɪŋk, too, that good old Clive in that case would be happy tu:, ðət gu:d ould klaiv in ðæt keɪs wəd bi: hæpi in his grave.”

in hi: greɪv.”

“Who's Clive?” Storm asked. “Clive! You don't say “hu:z klaiv?” stɔ:m ɑ:skt. “klaiv! ju: daʊnt sei that you've lived in England for about a year ðət ju:v livd in ɪŋɡlənd fər ə'baut ə jɪə without hearing the name of Robert Clive?” “I'm wɪð'aʊt hiəriŋ ðə neɪm ʌv rɒbət klaiv?” “aɪm afraid so, but I'd like to hear something about him.” ə'freɪd sɔu, bət aɪd laɪk tə hiə sʌmθɪŋ ə'baut him.”

“Indeed, I must tell you about him at once. You cannot “ɪn'di:d, ai mʌst tel ju: ə'baut him ət wʌns. ju: kənɒt go about without knowing who Robert Clive is. He ɡəʊ ə'baut wið'aʊt nəʊɪŋ hu: rɒbət klaiv ɪz. hi:

was a great soldier and is famous for the battles he wəz ə greɪt souldʒə ənd ɪz feɪməs fər ðə bætlz hi:

military = having to do with soldiers and war

fought in India against the French and the Indians.
fɔ:t in indjə ə'geɪnst ðə frenʃ ən di ɪndʒənz.

when the British control of India began. He was born hwɛn ðə brɪtɪʃ kən'trəʊl əv indjə bɪ'gæn. hi: wəz bɔ:n in 1725, and as a boy he was very interested in sevnti:n twenti'faɪv, and əz ə bɔɪ hi: wəz veri ɪntrɪstɪd in military life and wanted to be a soldier himself. He ɪn militəri laɪf ən wɒntɪd tə bi: ə souldʒə him'self. hi:

made a kind of military organisation among his small meɪd ə kaɪnd əv militəri ɔ:gənəɪ'zeɪʃən ə'mʌŋ hɪz smɔ:l friends, with military law. After leaving school he frendz, wɪð militəri lɔ:. ɑ:ftə li:vɪŋ sku:l hi:

was sent to India. In all, he had three long stays in wəz sent tu indjə. ɪn ɔ:l, hi: həd θri: lɒŋ steɪz ɪn that country, but it was during his first stay there that ðæt kʌntri, bət ɪt wəz dʒuəriŋ hɪz fə:st steɪ ðeə ðæt he did wonders. I'm thinking especially of the fighting hi: dɪd wʌndəz. aɪm θɪŋkɪŋ ɪs'peʃəli əv ðə faɪtɪŋ at Arcot, which I should like to tell you a little about.

ət ɑ:'kɒt, hʁwɪtʃ aɪ ʃəd laɪk tə tel ju: ə lɪtl ə'baut.

But first of all you must hear something about the bət fə:st əv ɔ:l ju: mʌst hɪə sʌmpɪŋ ə'baut ðə political development in India which led up to those pə'lɪtɪkəl dɪ'veləpmənt ɪn indjə hʁwɪtʃ led ʌp tə ðəʊz fight.

faɪts.

"The French at that time had a large army in India,

"ðə frenʃ ət ðæt taɪm həd ə la:dʒ a:mi ɪn indjə, and they had gained control of a large part of the ən ðei həd geɪnd kən'trəʊl əv ə lɑ:dʒ pɑ:t əv ðə country. The brave fighting of the French soldiers kəntri. ðə breɪv faɪtɪŋ əv ðə frenʃ səʊldʒəz made a great impression upon the natives, who respected meɪd ə greɪt ɪm'presən ə'pɒn ðə neɪtɪvz, hu: rɪs'pektɪd them and supported them by letting their own soldiers ðəm ən sə'pɔ:tɪd ðəm baɪ letɪŋ ðeər ɒwn səʊldʒəz fight with them. Now it was the plan of the French fɑɪt wɪð ðəm. naʊ ɪt wəz ðə plæn əv ðə frenʃ to use the great power they had gained to drive the tə ju:z ðə greɪt paʊə ðei həd geɪnd tə draɪv ði

English out of India.

ɪŋglɪʃ aʊt əv ɪndjə.

"The English had tried to stop the rapid expansion of

"ði ɪŋglɪʃ həd traɪd tə stɒp ðə ræpɪd ɪks'pænsən əv French power, but without success. No doubt, one of frenʃ paʊə. bət wɪð'aʊt sək'ses. nəʊ daʊt, wʌn əv the reasons for this was that they only had a few ðə rɪ:znz fə ðɪs wəz ðæt ðei ɒnli həd ə fju:

thousand soldiers in India. The greater part of them paʊzənd səʊldʒəz ɪn ɪndjə. ðə greɪtə pɑ:t əv ðəm were at Madras, their most important city. Was the wə:r ət mə'dræs, ðeə mʌst ɪm'pɔ:tənt sɪti. wəz ði expansion of French power to continue, or could ɪks'pænsən əv frenʃ paʊə tə kən'tɪnju: ɔ: kəd anything be done to stop it? Clive, who at that time eniθɪŋ bi: dʌn tə stɒp ɪt? klaɪv, hu: ət ðæt taɪm Hedrives, he drove,

he has driven [draɪvz, draʊv, drɪvz].

expansion = spreading out

retake = take back again

He retakes, he retook, he has retaken ['ri:'teiks,
'ri:'tuk,
'ri:'teikn].

march = walk like a soldier

troops = soldiers

held a position equal to that of a captain in the army, held ə pə'ziʃən i:kwal tə ðæt əv ə kæptɪn ɪn ði ɑ:mi, was of the opinion that the English should try to wəz əv ði ə'pinjən ðæt ði ɪŋglɪʃ ʃəd traɪ tə conquer Arcot, the capital of one of the native states kɒŋkə ɑ:'kɒt, ðə kæpɪtəl əv wʌn əv ðə neɪtɪv steɪts which was supported by the French. Then, he supposed, hwɪtʃ wəz sə'pɔ:tɪd baɪ ðə frenʃ. ðen, hi: sə'pəʊzd, some of the soldiers that were on their way to Madras səm əv ðə souldʒəz ðæt wə:r ɒn ðə wei tə mə'dræs would be sent to Arcot instead in order to retake it, wəd bi: sent tu ɑ:'kɒt ɪn'sted ɪn ɔ:də tə 'ri:'teɪk ɪt, and, consequently, there would not be so many soldiers ən, kɒnsɪkwəntli, ðə wəd nɒt bi: sɒ meɪni souldʒəz to fight against the English at Madras. The officers tə faɪt ə'geɪnst ði ɪŋglɪʃ ət mə'dræs. ði ɒfɪsəz in that city thought his plan a good one and asked ɪn ðæt sɪti þɔ:t hɪz plæn ə gud wʌn ənd ɑ:skt him if he himself was willing to perform what he had hɪm ɪf hi: hɪm'self wəz wɪlɪŋ tə pə'fɔ:m hwɒt hi: həd proposed that they should do.

pə'pəʊzd ðæt ðeɪ ʃəd du:.

"Clive at once agreed to this, and in a heavy storm

"klaɪv ət wʌns ə'gri:d tə ðɪs, ənd ɪn ə hevi stɔ:m with thunder and lightning he marched off towards wɪð þʌndə ən laɪtnɪŋ hi: mɑ:tʃt ɔ:f tə'wɔ:dz Arcot as fast as possible with his troops, which only ɑ:'kɒt əz fɑ:st əz pɒsəbl wɪð hɪz tru:ps, hwɪtʃ ɒnli consisted of 200 English soldiers and 300 kən'sistid əv tu: hʌndrəd ɪŋɡlɪʃ souldʒəz ən ʒri: hʌndrəd native soldiers, the so-called Sepoys, commanded by neitiv souldʒəz, ðə soukɔ:ld si:poiz, kə'ma:ndid baɪ eight officers, only two of whom had been in battle eɪt əfisəz, ounli tu: əv hu:m həd bi:n in bætl before.

bɪ'fɔ:.

"The soldiers of the town of Arcot weren't very brave

"ðə souldʒəz əv ðə taun əv a:'kɒt wə:nt veri breɪv and at once gave up the place without a fight. This ænd æt wʌns geɪv ʌp ðə pleɪs wið'aʊt ə faɪt. ðɪs was easier than Clive had expected, but if he couldn't wəz i:zɪə ðən klaɪv həd ɪks'pektɪd, bʌt ɪf hi: kʊdn't hold the city against the enemy, nothing would have həʊld ðə sɪti ə'geɪnst ði enɪmi, nəθɪŋ wəd həv been gained. He knew that they would soon try to bi:n geɪnd. hi: nəʊ: ðæt ðeɪ wəd su:n traɪ tə retake the town, and that he would be forced to fight

'ri:'teɪk ðə taun, ən ðæt hi: wəd bi: fɔ:st tə faɪt with only the few troops he had, because some soldiers wɪð ounli ðə fju: tru:ps hi: həd, bɪ'kɔ:z səm souldʒəz that had been sent to help him had not been able to ðæt həd bi:n sent tə help hɪm həd nɒt bi:n eɪbl tə reach Arcot on account of the enemy. So he prepared ri:tʃ a:'kɒt ɒn ə'kaʊnt əv ði enɪmi. sɒ hi: pri'peəd everything to hold the town, took care of the distri-evrɪθɪŋ tə həʊld ðə taun, tuk keə əv ðə distriwas forced to =

 had to

distribution = dividing among people

bution of food, etc.

'bju:fən əv fu:d, it'setrə.

"The strength of the enemy army that came to retake

"ðə streŋθ əv ði enimi a:mi ðæt keim tə 'ri:'teik the town was much greater than that of Clive's, as ðə taun wəz mʌtʃ greɪtə ðən ðæt əv klaɪvz, əs the natives at first had more than 6000 soldiers, ðə neɪtɪvz ət fɜ:st həd mɔ: ðən sɪks ˈhauzənd souldʒəz, in addition = besides

and in addition, 4000 of the troops that had been ænd ɪn ə'dɪʃən, fɔ: ˈhauzənd əv ðə tru:ps ðæt həd bi:n fighting near Madras were sent to support them. So fɑɪtɪŋ nɪə mə'dræs wə: sent tə sə'pɔ:t ðəm. sou it seemed quite impossible that Clive should be able ɪt si:md kweɪt ɪm'pɔsəbl ðæt klaɪv ʃəd bi: eɪbl to break the strength of this army.

tə breɪk ðə streŋθ əv ðɪs a:mi.

"The fighting lasted for fifty days. The native troops

"ðə fɑɪtɪŋ lɑ:stɪd fə fɪfti deɪz. ðə neɪtɪv tru:ps surrounded the town, and there was fighting every day.

sə'raʊndɪd ðə taun. ən ðeə wəz fɑɪtɪŋ evri deɪ.

Towards the end of that time, conditions had become tə'wɔ:dz ði end əv ðæt taɪm, kən'dɪʃənz həd bɪ'kʌm very bad for Clive and his men. Many of his soldiers veri bæd fɔ klaɪv ən hɪz men. meni əv hɪz souldʒəz had been killed, big holes had been shot in the walls həd bi:n kɪld, bɪg hoʊlz həd bi:n ʃɒt ɪn ðə wɔ:lz of the town, and in addition to this there was but little əv ðə taun, ænd ɪn ə'dɪʃən tə ðɪs ðeə wəz bʌt lɪtl food. However, Clive took care that the distribution fʊ:d. haʊ'evə. kləɪv tʊk keə ðət ðə distri'bju:fən of it was just and did his best to help where help was ɒf ɪt wəz dʒʌst ən dɪd hɪz best tə help hʊeə help wəz needed.

ni:did.

“The troops outside thought that he would have to give “ðə tru:ps aʊt'saɪd θɔ:t ðət hi: wəd hæv tə gɪv up the town and told him as much, but he said angrily ʌp ðə taʊn ən təʊld hɪm əz mʌtʃ, bʌt hi: sed æŋgrɪli that they would soon know how British soldiers could ðət ðeɪ wəd su:n nəʊ haʊ brɪtɪʃ souldʒəz kəd fight. The natives then decided to take the town, cost fɑɪt. ðə neɪtɪvz ðen dɪ'saɪdɪd tə teɪk ðə taʊn, kɔst what it might, and a hard battle began. Clive, who hʌt ɪt maɪt, ənd ə hɑ:d bætl bɪ'ɡæn. kləɪv, hu:

had not had any rest for several days, had thrown həd nɒt həd ɛni rest fə sevrəl deɪz, həd θrəʊn himself upon his bed; but when he heard that the hɪm'self ə'pɒn hɪz bed; bʌt hwen hi: hə:d ðət ðə battle which was to decide everything had begun, he bætl hwi:tʃ wəz tə dɪ'saɪd evrɪθɪŋ həd bɪ'ɡæn, hi:

rose from his bed at once, and led the fighting himself.
rəʊz frəm hɪz bed ət wʌns, ən led ðə faɪtɪŋ hɪm'self.

The enemy went forth to battle with a number of ði ɛnɪmi wɛnt fɔ:θ tə bætl wɪð ə nʌmbə əv elephants in front of them, but as soon as the troops ɛlɪfənts ɪn frʌnt əv ðəm, bʌt əz su:n əz ðə tru:ps might = strength in the town began using their guns, the elephants in ðə taun bi'gæn ju:ziŋ ðə ɡʌnz, ði elɪfənts got quite wild and rushed back, killing many of the ɡɒt kwait wáild ən rʌʃt bæk, kiliŋ meni əv ðə natives. Without the elephants the enemy now tried neitiwz. wið'áut ði elɪfənts ði enimi naʊ traɪd with all their might again and again to take the town, wið ɔ:l ðəə maɪt ə'geɪn ənd ə'geɪn tə teɪk ðə taʊn, but they were driven back every time. The strength bət ðei wə: dri:vən bæk evri taɪm. ðə streŋθ of the little army in the town, fighting like lions and əv ðə litl a:mi in ðə taʊn. faɪtiŋ laɪk laɪənz ən bravely commanded by Clive, was too great. At breɪvli kə'ma:ndɪd baɪ klaɪv, wəz tu: greɪt. ət last the enemy was forced to give up the fight, and la:st ði enimi wəz fɔ:st tə gɪv ʌp ðə faɪt, ən the rest of the troops marched away from the town. ðə rest əv ðə tru:ps mɑ:tʃt ə'wei frəm ðə taʊn.

Clive and his troops had won the battle.
klaɪv ən hɪz tru:ps həd wʌn ðə bætl.

“From this day forth the French lost their power.
“frəm ðɪs dei fɔ:θ ðə frenʃ lɒst ðəə paʊə.

Many of the natives would not help them any longer meni əv ðə neitiwz wəd nɒt help ðəm eni lɔŋɡə when they found out how great the military strength hæwən ðei faʊnd áut haʊ greɪt ðə militəri streŋθ of the English was. Clive fought with all his might əv ði ɪŋɡlɪʃ wəz. klaɪv fɔ:t wið ɔ:l hɪz maɪt against the French and the natives that still supported a'geinst ðə frenʃ ən ðə neitivz ðæt stil sə'pɔ:tɪd them, and before long the day came when the power ðəm, ən bi'fɔ: lɔŋ ðə dei keim hwen ðə paʊər of the English in India was as great as and even ʌv ði iŋɡlɪʃ ɪn ɪndjə wəz əz greɪt əz ænd i:vən greater than that of the French.” greɪtə ðən ðæt ʌv ðə frenʃ.”

“Thank you very much, Marshall,” said Storm. “How-ˈθæŋk ju: veri mʌtʃ, mɑ:fəl,” sed stɔ:m. “hau-ever, there’s one more thing I should like to ask you ˈevə, ðəs wʌn mɔ: þɪŋ aɪ ʃəd laɪk tu ɑ:sk ju:

about,” he continued. “Certainly, old man,” Marshall ə'baʊt,” hi: kən'tɪnju:d. “sə:tnli, ould mæn,” mɑ:fəl replied. “I should like you to tell me something about rɪ'plaɪd. “aɪ ʃəd laɪk ju: tə tel mi: smʌpɪŋ ə'baʊt

Ceylon,” said Storm. “I know that it’s a very large sɪ'lɒn,” sed stɔ:m. “aɪ nou ðæt ɪts ə veri la:dʒ island near the south coast of India from which we get ailənd niə ðə saʊθ koust əv ɪndjə frəm hwiʃ wi: get very good tea. But tell me, Marshall,” he said, “is veri gud ti:. bʌt tel mi:, mɑ:fəl,” hi: sed, “ɪz

Ceylon part of the new Dominion of India?” “No, sɪ'lɒn pɑ:t əv ðə nju: də'mɪnjən əv ɪndjə?” “nou, answered Marshall. “Ceylon is not part of the Dominion ɑ:nsəd mɑ:fəl. “sɪ'lɒn ɪz nɒt pɑ:t əv ðə də'mɪnjən of India. It has become a separate Dominion with selfəv ɪndjə. ɪt hæz bɪ'kæm ə seprɪt də'mɪnjən wɪð 'self-government, in the same way as India and Pakistan," 'gʌvənmənt, in ðə seim wei əz indjə ən pɑ:kɪ'stɑ:n," he continued.

hi: kən'tɪnju:d.

"Thank you, Marshall," said Storm. "I hope we can "pæŋk ju: ma:fəl," sed stɔ:m. "aɪ hoʊp wi: kən continue our discussion of the British Empire some kən'tɪnju: əʊə dɪs'kʌʃən əv ðə brɪtɪʃ ɪm'paɪə səm other evening."

ʌðə i:vniŋ."

EXERCISE A.

WORDS:

forth

command

moment

definite debt

Dominion

colonial manner regarding incorrect

native

wild

savage

force

force (verb)

troops military strength

power

The colonies of the British Empire are not all — in the same manner. The political rights of the Dominions are the fruits of a — which has been going on for many years. By the year 1900 half of the Dominions had — their present rights. Storm supposed that if England had used — against her present Dominions instead of being — with them, they would have been lost now.

The colonies proper are parts of the British Empire with only a few English soldiers and — living among the —. The highest authority of a colony proper is the —. Storm asked if it would not be more — to let the colonies proper have governments of their own. When the English first came to the colonies, the natives in many places were nothing but — or — tribes.

Marshall thought that on the whole England had tried to be just and — towards her colonies. Storm had no — idea of the government of India. The English — Gandhi several times by sending him to —. Storm thought that — cannot change the political opinions of men like Gandhi. As a boy, Clive was very interested in — life.

It was the plan of the French to use the great — they had gained to — the English out of India. The English had tried to stop the rapid — of French power. At Arcot Clive took good care of the just — of food. The — of the enemy army was much greater than that of Clive's. The enemy tried with all their — to take Arcot, but at last they were — to give up the battle.

EXERCISE B.

Write 200—300 words about a film you have seen. In what cinema did you see it? In what country had it been produced? Who played in it? What was it about? Was it a good or a bad film? Tell us about all this in your own words as well as you can.

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

The forms of most English verbs are made in the same way as those of 'to call'. We call these verbs regular [regjula] verbs. From what you have learned about them so far, you will have seen that if you know the infinitive, you will be able to make all the other forms. But in the case of some other verbs this is not so.

might
drive
drove driven
march
gain retake retook retaken addition development expansion
justice official punishment
just punish prison
gentle bedtime distribution
fair govern Indian
Governor
Sepoy
century intention
rule
Pakistan
Ceylon

Example: write, wrote, written (he writes, he wrote, he has written). Of such verbs you must know the infinitive, the past tense, and the second participle, in order to be able to make the different forms and tenses of the verb. We call these verbs irregular [i'regjlə] verbs. Other examples are: eat, ate, eaten; give, gave, given; swim, swam, swum.

The verbs 'shall', 'will', 'can', 'may' are also irregular verbs; they only exist in the present tense and in the past tense: shall — should; will — would; can — could; may — might.

'Must' and 'ought' are the same in the present tense and in the past tense. Examples: You must go now. When he came home, I told him that he must go again. You always ought to help your friends. When you visited your uncle, you ought to have told him the truth.

Questions:

Mention one or two of the regular verbs that you have learned. ... Mention one or two of the irregular verbs that you have learned. ... What are the past tense forms of 'shall', 'will', 'can', 'may'? ... What are the past tense forms of 'must' and 'ought'? ...

THE CAT IS LET OUT OF THE BAG

"Look here, Storm," Mr. Edwards said one afternoon, "luk hiə, stɔ:m, mistər edwədʒ sed wʌn a:ftə'nu:n, as they were sitting in Mr. Edwards' study up to əz ðei wə: sitɪŋ ɪn mistər edwədʒɪz stʌdi ʌp tə their eyes in letters, bills, and all sorts of papers. ðeər aɪz ɪn letəz, bɪlz, ənd ɔ:l sɔ:ts əv peɪpəz.

"We shall have to find out why the goods that come "wi: ʃəl hæv tə faɪnd aʊt hwaɪ ðə gudʒ ðæt kʌm to us via Portsmouth have been so late in reaching tʊ ʌs vaɪə pɔ:tsməp hæv bi:n sʌ leɪt ɪn ri:tʃɪŋ us the last few times; we can't have all these delays.

ʌs ðə la:st fju: taɪmz; wi: kɑ:nt hæv ɔ:l ði:z dɪ'leɪz.

Twice there has been a delay of five days. Please go tuwaɪs ðeə həz bi:n ə dɪ'leɪ əv faɪv deɪz. pli:z ɡəʊ to the telephone in the hall and ring up Marshall. tə ðə telɪfəʊn ɪn ðə hɔ:l ən rɪŋ ʌp mɑ:ʃəl.

Ask him to send a wire to Portsmouth. I demand ɑ:sk hɪm tə send ə waɪə tə pɔ:tsməp. aɪ dɪ'mɑ:nd wire = telegram to know the reason for those delays at once. Tell tə nəʊ ðə ri:zn fə ðəʊz dɪ'leɪz ət wʌnz. tel

Marshall that we want a reply by wire to-day, so that mɑ:ʃəl ðæt wi: wɒnt ə rɪ'plai baɪ waɪə tə'deɪ, sʌ ðæt he may be able to send the necessary cables to the hi: meɪ bi: eɪbl tə send ðə nesɪsəri keɪblz tə ðə cable = telegram across water

Continent, if they don't know anything about it at kɔntinənt, ɪf ðeɪ daʊnt nəʊ enɪpiŋ ə'baʊt ɪt ət

Portsmouth. I want to get to the bottom of this pɔ:tsməp. aɪ wɒnt tə get tə ðə bɒtəm əv ðɪs question now, and it takes too long to send letters. kwestʃən naʊ, ænd ɪt teɪks tu: lɒŋ tə send letəz.

So, as I said, I want Marshall to send a wire to səʊ, əz aɪ sed, aɪ wɒnt mɑ:fəl tə send ə waɪə tə

Portsmouth, and, if necessary, to cable to the Con-pɔ:tsməp, ænd, ɪf nesɪsəri, tə keɪbl tə ðə kɔntinent."

tɪnənt."

When Storm had rung up Marshall and given him the hwen stɔ:m həd rʌŋ ʌp mɑ:fəl ænd gɪvən hɪm ðə message from the manager, Marshall replied, "I know mesɪdʒ frəm ðə mænɪdʒə, mɑ:fəl rɪ'plaɪd, "aɪ nəʊ a fellow at the customs office in Portsmouth. I think ə feləʊ ət ðə kʌstəmz ɔfɪs ɪn pɔ:tsməp. aɪ θɪŋk

I'll send a personal wire to him and ask him to help aɪl send ə pə:snl waɪə tə hɪm ænd ɑ:sk hɪm tə help error = something

 wrong

us to find the error. For it seems clear to me that ʌs.tə faɪnd ðɪ erə. fər ɪt si:mz kliə tə mi: ðæt it must be somebody down there who is making an ɪt mʌst bi: səmbədi daʊn ðeə hu: ɪz meɪkɪŋ ən error of some kind or other."

erə əv sʌm kaɪnd ɔ:r ʌðə."

"Yes, do that," Storm said. "And then ring me up as
"jes, du: ðæt," stɔ:m sed. "ən ðen rɪŋ mi: ʌp əz soon as you have learned something about it." As he su:n əs ju: həv lə:nd sʌmʃɪŋ ə'baʊt ɪt. əs hi:

learn something (here) = get information

returned from the telephone in the hall, he met Marion rɪ'tə:nd frəm ðə telɪfəʊn ɪn ðə hɔ:l, hi: mɛt mæriən just leaving her father's room. "Hallo!" he greeted dʒʌst li:vɪŋ hɑ: fa:ðəz ru:m. "hə'ləʊ!" hi: grɪ:tɪd her with a smile. "You certainly have courage to go hɑ: wɪð ə smaɪl. "ju: sə:tɪnli həv kʌrɪdʒ tə ɡəʊ in to your father when he's so busy. It must have ɪn tə ʃɔ: fa:ðə hwen hi:z sɔʊ bɪzi. ɪt mʌst həv been something pretty important you had to tell him."

bɪ:n sʌmʃɪŋ prɪti ɪm'pɔ:tənt ju: həd tə tel hɪm."

pretty (here) =
 rather

She didn't answer him, but hurried away. ʃi: dɪdnt ɑ:nsə hɪm, bət hʌrɪd ə'wei.

He shook his head a little in surprise at her behaviour, hi: ʃʊk hɪz hed ə lɪtl ɪn sə'praɪz ət hɑ: bɪ'heɪvjə,

He shakes, he shook, he has shaken [ʃeɪks, ʃʊk, ʃeɪkn].

but entered the room without trying to stop her. Here bət ɛntəd ðə ru:m wɪð'aʊt traɪɪŋ tə stɒp hɑ: hiə he found Mr. Edwards standing at the window in hi: faʊnd mɪstə edwədz stændɪŋ ət ðə wɪndəʊ ɪn deep thought, not looking busy at all. When he heard di:p θɔ:t, nɒt lʊkɪŋ bɪzi ət ɔ:l. hwen hi: hɑ:d

Storm, he turned round with a little smile and said, stɔ:m, hi: tə:nd raʊnd wɪð ə lɪtl smaɪl ənd sed,

"Well, my boy, Marion has just told me about you two.
"wel, maɪ bɔɪ, mæriən həz dʒʌst təʊld mi: ə'baʊt ju: tu:.

And although young women no longer have to ask their ənd ɔ:l'dəʊ ʒʌŋ wɪmɪn nəʊ lɒŋɡə həv tu ɑ:sk ðeə father's permission to marry, I'm happy to be able to fa:ðaz pə'miʃən tə məri, aim hæpi tə bi: eibl tə say that I should gladly have given Marion my per-sei ðət ai ʃəd glædli həv giʊn mərian mai pəmission to marry you, had she asked me. This is a 'miʃən tə məri ju:, həd ʃi: ə:skt mi:. ðis iz ə surprise to me. — I wonder what my wife is going to sə'praiz tə mi:. — ai wʌndə hwɒt mai waɪf iz ɡoʊɪŋ tə say about it! Where have we had our eyes? But, of sei ə'baut it! hwɛə həv wi: həd aʊər aɪz? bət, əv course, modern girls aren't kept under observation in kɔ:s, mɒdən ɡɜ:lz ə:nt kept ʌndər ɔbzə'veɪʃən in the same way as their mothers were when I was young.

ðə seɪm weɪ əz ðeə mʌðəz wə: hwen ai wəz jʌŋ.

why! = oh!

Why! You must have been seeing each other quite hwai! ju: məst həv bi:n si:iŋ i:tʃ ʌðə kwait a lot to find time for coming to such an important ə lɒt tə faɪnd taɪm fə kʌmɪŋ tə sʌtʃ ən ɪm'pɔ:tənt decision!"
di'sɪʒən!"

"Not nearly enough, Mr. Edwards," Storm replied.
"nɒt niəli i'nʌf, mɪstər edwədz," stɔ:m ri'plaɪd.

"You see, there were always so many people about to "ju: si:, ðeə wə:r ɔ:kʌwəz sou meni pi:pl ə'baut tə prevent me from telling her all the things I had to pri'vent mi: frəm telɪŋ hæ:r ɔ:l ðə ʃɪŋz ai həd tə say — and when it did look as if I was going to have sei — ən hwen ɪt dɪd luk əz ɪf ai wəz ɡoʊɪŋ tə həv a chance, she always seemed to be able to find some-a tʃa:ns, ʃi: ɔ:lwəz si:md tə bi: eibl tə faɪnd sʌmthing to prevent me from talking about it just then!

þɪŋ tə pri'vent mi: frəm tɔ:kiŋ ə'baʊt ɪt dʒʌst ðen!

But I can play at that game, too," Storm continued bʌt aɪ kən pleɪ ət ðæt geɪm, tu:," stɔ:m kən'tɪnju:d

with a little laugh, thinking of their trip to Leith Hill.
wɪð ə lɪtl la:f, þɪŋkiŋ əv ðeə trɪp tə li:θ hɪl.

"I caught her in a place the other day where she
"aɪ kɔ:t hæ:r ɪn ə pleɪs ðɪ ʌðə dei hweə ʃi:

couldn't get away, and for once there were no unwanted kʊdn't ɡet ə'wei, ən fə wʌns ðeə wə: nou 'ʌn'wʊntɪd unwanted = not wanted

persons about. So I just kept her there till she ac-pə:snz ə'baʊt. soʊ aɪ dʒʌst keɪpt hæ: ðeə tɪl ʃi: ək-cepted me."

'septɪd mi:."

"Hem, well," Mr. Edwards replied, "I've made the "hm, wel," mɪstər edwədz rɪ'plaɪd, "aɪv meɪd ðɪ observation several times myself that one must use a əbzə'veɪʃən sevrəl taɪmz maɪ'self ðæt wʌn mʌst ju:z ə strong hand with women now and then. It was the strɔŋ hænd wɪð wɪmɪn naʊ ən ðen. ɪt wəz ðə same with her mother when we ..."

seɪm wɪð hæ: mʌðə hwen wi: ..." hi: sʌdnli interrupted himself here and continued in another voice, ɪntə'rʌptɪd hɪm'self hɪə ʌnd kən'tɪnju:d ɪn ə'nʌðə vɔɪs,

"Well, shall we go to the sitting-room and break the "wel, ʃəl wi: ɡəʊ tə ðə sɪtɪŋrʊm ən breɪk ðə break the news = tell the news

news to my wife?"
nju:s tə mai waif?"

They found Mrs. Edwards in the garden with Marion.
ðei faund misiz edwədz in ðə ga:dn wið məriən.

"Now, what do you think of that?" Mr. Edwards
"nau, hwət du: ju: þiŋk əv ðæt?" mistə edwədz grant = give asked. "Do you think we can grant these two children a:skt. "du: ju: þiŋk wi: kən gra:nt ði:s tu: tʃildrən our permission to marry?" "I think it's wonderful, and auə pə'misən tə məri?" "ai þiŋk its wʌndəfʊl, ən that he's a very nice boy for our Marion. May God ðæt hi:s ə veri nais bɔi fər auə məriən. mei gɒd bless you, children! I hope you'll be very happy."

bles ju:, tʃildrən! ai haʊp ju:l bi: veri hæpi."

"Thank you, mother — we shall," Marion answered,
"þæŋk ju:, mʌðə — wi: ʃəl," məriən a:nsəd, with a little smile at Storm's red face.

wið ə litl smaɪl ət stɔ:mz red feɪs.

"But you don't look very surprised," Mr. Edwards
"bət ju: daʊnt lʊk veri sə'praɪzd," mistə edwədz said to his wife. "Oh no, I've been expecting this for sed tə his waif. "ou nou, aɪv bi:n iks'pektɪŋ ðɪs fə some time. Haven't you?" He replied by shaking his sʌm taɪm. hævnt ju:?" hi: ri'plaɪd baɪ ʃeɪkɪŋ his head. "Why, with your wonderful brain, I thought hed. "hwaɪ, wið jɔ: wʌndəfʊl breɪn, ai þɔ:t

you had found out long ago!" "I may have got a good ju: hæd faʊnd aʊt lɔŋ ə'gəʊ!" "ai mei hæv gɒt ə gʊd brain, as you say, and be able to use it in my work.

brein, əz ju: sei, ən bi: eibl tə ju:z it in mai wə:k.

But I'll never be so wise about life as you are, my bət ail nevə bi: sou waiz ə'baut laif əz ju: a:, mai dear," Mr. Edwards answered. "Your mother is a diə," mistər edwədz a:nsəd. "jɔ: mʌðər iz ə very wise woman, Marion," he continued; "you can't veri waiz wʊmən, mæriən," hi: kən'tinjʊ:d; "ju: kɑ:nt teach her very much about life." ti:tʃ hə: veri mʌtʃ ə'baut laif."

"Yes, I do hope Marion will grow up to be like you,"
"jes, ai du: həʊp mæriən wil grou ʌp tə bi: laik ju:," Storm said seriously, but with laughing eyes. "Grow stɔ:m sed siəriəsli, bət wið la:fiŋ aiz. "grou up!" Marion cried. "Now, children, please!" laughed ʌp!" mæriən kraid. "nau, tʃildrən, pli:z!" la:ft

Mrs. Edwards. "Life may be pretty rough, you misiz edwədz. "laif mei bi: priti rʌf, ju:

rough = not smooth

know, so don't make it rougher still by fighting already.
nou, sou daʊnt meik it rʌfə stil bai faitiŋ ɔ:l'redi.

And we have so many things to talk about now, too.
ən wi: hæv sou meni þiŋz tə tɔ:k ə'baut nau, tu:.

Let's go inside."
lets gou in'said."

"Yes, tell us about your plans," Mr. Edwards said.
"jes, tel ʌs ə'baut jɔ: plænz," mistər edwədz sed.

"I'm afraid our plans for the future haven't taken any "aim ə'freid əʊə plænz fə ðə fju:tʃə hævnt teikn eni shape = form definite shape yet," Storm answered. "We want to definit jeip jet," stɔ:m a:nsəd. "wi: wɔnt tə marry as soon as possible, of course, but it looks to məri əz su:n əz pɔsəbl, əv kɔ:s, bət it luks tə me as if that's a long way off. As far as I can see, mi: əz ɪf ðəts ə lɔŋ wei ɔ:f. əz fa:r əz ai kən si:, we must place all our hope of marrying soon in what wi: mɜst pleis ɔ:l əuə houp əv məriŋ su:n in hwɔt

I'm able to do with my brain." "So you can under-aim eibl tə du: wið mai brein." "sou ju: kən ʌndəstand what a very small hope it is, father," Marion

'stænd hwɔt ə veri smɔ:l houp it iz, fa:ðə," məriən interrupted, laughing.

intə'rʌptɪd, la:fɪŋ.

pay attention = give attention

Storm paid no attention to her words, but it was with stɔ:m peɪd nou ə'tensən tə hə: wə:dz, bət it wəz wið rather red ears he continued: "What I mean is, I ra:ðə red iəz hi: kən'tɪnju:d: "hwɔt ai mi:n iz, ai haven't been blessed with any rich old aunts who will hævnt bi:n blest wið eni rɪʃ ould a:nts hu: wɪl leave me all their money when they die, so what we'll li:v mi: ɔ:l ðəə mʌni hævən ðei dai, sou hwɔt wi:l need, I shall have to earn by my own work. However, ni:d, ai ʃəl hæv tu ə:n bai mai oun wə:k. hau'evə,

I think that the experience I have been able to gain ai ɪŋk ðət ði ɪks'piəriəns ai hæv bi:n eibl tə geɪn over here will help me when I return home."

əʊvə hiə wɪl help mi: hwən ai ri'tə:n haʊm."

"Return home!" Mrs. Edwards cried. "But that's "ri'tə:n houn!" misiz edwədz kraid. "bət ðəts entirely out of the question. Isn't it?" she asked and in'taiəli aʊt əv ðə kwɛstʃən. ɪznt ɪt?" ʃi: ə:skt ənd turned to her husband. "I'm afraid it's impossible for tə:nd tə hæ: hʌzbənd. "aɪm ə'freɪd ɪts ɪm'pɒsəbl fɔ:

me to stay much longer," Storm said. "It makes me mi: tə steɪ mʌtʃ lɒŋgə," stɔ:m sed. "ɪt meɪks mi:

very sad, too, to think of leaving England. But now veri sæd, tu:, tə ʒɪŋk əv li:vɪŋ ɪŋglənd. bət naʊ

I shall have to 'get rich quick', as they say in America, aɪ ʃəl hæv tə 'get rɪtʃ kwɪk', əz ðeɪ seɪ ɪn ə'merɪkə, and my chance of getting better paid work will be ən maɪ tʃɑ:ns əv geɪtɪŋ betə peɪd wə:k wɪl bi:

greater at home. And an entirely different thing is greɪtər ət haʊm. ənd ən ɪn'taiəli dɪfrənt ʒɪŋ ɪz that my passport says that I can only stay three months ðət maɪ pɑ:spɔ:t seɪz ðət aɪ kən ounli steɪ θri: mʌnθs longer in England." "Only three months?" Mrs. Ed-lɒŋgər ɪn ɪŋglənd." "ounli θri: mʌnθs?" misiz edwards asked sadly. "Oh, isn't there anything you can wədz ə:skt sædli. "əʊ, ɪznt ðər enɪθɪŋ ju: kən do about it? Don't you know anybody in the police du: ə'baʊt ɪt? daʊnt ju: nəʊ enɪbɒdi ɪn ðə pə'li:s department that deals with unwanted foreigners?" dɪ'pɑ:tmənt ðət di:lz wɪð 'ʌn'wʌntɪd fɔ:ɪnəz?"

Mr. Edwards replied, with a little smile at the exmɪstər edwədz ri'plaid. wɪð ə lɪtl smaɪl ət ðɪ ɪks-entirely = quite sad = sorry

He deals, he dealt, he has dealt [di:lz, delt, delt].

Chapter Fifty-Eight (58).

as a matter of fact = really

the chief of a department = the man who is at the head of the department

hopeful = full of hope

pression his wife used, "As a matter of fact, I do know
'presən his waif ju:zd, "əz ə mətər əv fækt, ai du: nou a man there. Jenkins, the chief of that department, ə mæn deə. dʒenkinz, ðə tʃi:f əv ðæt di'pɑ:tmənt, is a personal friend of mine. But I can't very well go iz ə pə:snl frend əv main. bət ai kɑ:nt veri wel gou up there and demand that they should make an exʌp ðeə ən di'mɑ:nd ðæt ðei ʃəd meik ən ik-ception to the rules as a personal favour to me, just 'sepʃən tə ðə ru:lz əz ə pə:snl feivə tə mi:, dʒʌst because we would like a certain young man to stay. bi'kɔ: wi: wəd laik ə sə:tn jʌŋ mæn tə stei.

But there's nothing to prevent me," he continued a bət ðəz nəʃiŋ tə pri'vent mi:," hi: kən'tinju:d ə little more hopefully, "from sending a personal mes-lɪtl mɔ: həʊpfuli, "frəm sendiŋ ə pə:snl message to Jenkins, recommending Storm's case to his idʒ tə dʒenkinz. rekə'mendiŋ stɔ:mz keis tə hiz kind attention.

kaɪnd ə'tenʃən.

"Now, listen!" he went on, turning to Storm. "You go
"nau, lɪsn!" hi: went ɔn, tə:nɪŋ tə stɔ:m. "ju: gou in and write a letter to the chief of police, saying that ɪn ən raɪt ə letə tə ðə tʃi:f əv pə'li:s. seɪɪŋ ðæt you're doing special and very necessary work here, juə du:ɪŋ speʃəl ən veri nesəsəri wə:k hiə, which can't be finished within the three months that hwi:f kɑ:nt bi: finɪʃt wið'in ðə pri: mʌnθs ðæt you're allowed to stay, and asking for an extra year's juər ə'laʊd tə steɪ, ʌnd əːskiŋ fər ən ɛkstrə jɪəz stay.

steɪ.

"There's more than sufficient work for you in our firm,
"ðəz mɔː ðən sə'fɪsənt wəːk fər juː ɪn ʌʊə fəːm.

so I'll see that you get chances enough to prove whether sou aɪl siː ðæt juː get tʃaːnsɪz ɪ'nʌf tə pruːv hwedə you can take on more responsibility. If they grant juː kən teɪk ɔn mɔː rɪspɒnsə'bɪlɪtɪ. ɪf ðeɪ grɑːnt you that extra year, and you make good in your work, juː ðæt ɛkstrə jɪə, ən juː meɪk gud ɪn jɔː wəːk, make good = have success

you will get a rise, so that you can marry within the juː wɪl get ə raɪz, sou ðæt juː kən mæri wɪð'ɪn ðə coming year. And then next time you ask for perkʌmɪŋ jɪə. ʌn ðen neks taim juː ɑːsk fər pəmission to extend your stay in England, you'll have 'mɪʃən tu ɪks'tend jɔː steɪ ɪn ɪŋɡlənd, juːl hæv the very good reason to give that you're married to ðə veri gud riːzn tə gɪv ðæt juə mæɪɪd tu an Englishwoman. So run along now and get that letter ən ɪŋɡlɪʃwʊmən. sou rʌn ə'lɔŋ naʊ ən get ðæt leɪtə done, while I write to Jenkins!"

dʌn, hwɑɪl aɪ raɪt tə dʒɛŋkɪnz!"

"Isn't it wonderful, the way father can always find
"ɪznt ɪt wʌndəfʊl, ðə wei fɑːðə kən əːlwəz faɪnd a way out of difficulties?" Marion said to her mother.

ə wei aʊt əv dɪfɪkəltɪz?" mæɪəriən sed tə hæː mʌðə.

"Yes, dear — there's certainly nothing wrong with his "jes, diə — ðəz sə:tnli nʌʃɪŋ rɔŋ wið hi:z brain," Mrs. Edwards answered proudly. breɪn," mɪsɪz edwədz a:nsəd praʊdli.

An hour later, when the two letters had been sent off, ən auə leɪtə, hwen ðə tu: letəz həd bi:n sent ɔ:f, Marshall arrived. "I thought it best to come out and ma:fəl ə'raɪvd. "aɪ þɔ:t ɪt best tə kʌm aʊt ənd explain the matter personally," he said. "What matter?" ɪks'pleɪn ðə mətə pə:snəli," hi: sed. "hwaɪt mətə?"

Mr. Edwards asked. "Why, about the delays at Portsmɪstə edwədz a:skt. "hwaɪ, ə'baut ðə dɪ'leɪz ət pɔ:tsmouth, sir," Marshall replied in some surprise. "Oh yes, mʌθ, sɜː," ma:fəl rɪ'plaɪd ɪn sʌm sə'praɪz. "ou jes, that's right. I'd forgotten all about that. You see," he ðæt s rait. aɪd fə'ɡɒtn ɔ:l ə'baut ðæt. ju: siː," hi:

explained, noticing Marshall's expression, "we've just ɪks'pleɪnd, nəʊtɪsɪŋ ma:fəlz ɪks'presən. "wi:v dʒʌst learned that Marion is going to marry your friend lə:nd ðæt məriən ɪz ɡoʊɪŋ tə məri ʃɔ: frend

Storm, so we've been far away in making plans for stɔ:m, sʊ wi:v bi:n fa:r ə'wei ɪn meɪkɪŋ plænz fə the future."
ðə fju:tʃə."

"What's that, old man?" Marshall said to Storm. "Didn't "hwaɪts ðæt, ould mæn?" ma:fəl sed tə stɔ:m. "dɪdnt you tell me the other day to guard that piece of news ju: tel mi: ði ʌðə deɪ tə ɡɑ:d ðæt pi:s əv nju:z like the crown jewels?" "I did," Storm answered.

laik ðə kraun dʒu:əlz?" "ai did," stɔ:m a:nsəd.

"But Marion let the cat out of the bag this afternoon."
"bət məˈrɪən let ðə kæt aut əv ðə bæɡ ðɪs ɑːftəˈnu:n."

"Aren't you afraid to send your daughter off with a
"a:nt ju: əˈfreɪd tə send jɔ: dɔ:tər ɔ:f wɪð ə foreigner?" Marshall asked Mrs. Edwards. "We hope fɔːrɪnə?" mɑːʃəl ɑːskt mɪsɪz edwədz. "wi: hoʊp they'll be able to stay in England," she answered, "so ðeɪl bi: eɪbl tə steɪ ɪn ɪŋɡlənd," ʃi: a:nsəd, "sou that we can keep an eye on them and guard her against ðæt wi: kæn ki:p ən aɪ ɔn ðəm ən ɡɑ:d hæ:r əˈɡeɪnst all the strange ideas that he will no doubt try to put ɔ:l ðə streɪndʒ aɪˈdɪəz ðæt hi: wɪl nəʊ daʊt traɪ tə pʊt into her head!"

ɪntə hæ: hed!"

"Well," said the manager, "what did you find out about "wel," sed ðə mænɪdʒə, "hʌt did ju: faɪnd aut əˈbaʊt

Portsmouth?" "It doesn't look as if anybody is making pɔːtsməθ?" "ɪt dʌznt luk əz ɪf ɛnɪbɔdi ɪz meɪkɪŋ any errors down there," Marshall replied. "All goods eni ɛrəz daʊn ðeə," mɑːʃəl rɪˈplaɪd. "ɔ:l ɡʊdz are sent on very soon after reaching the town." "Well, ɑ: sent ɔn vɛrɪ su:n ɑːftə rɪˈtʃɪŋ ðə taʊn." "wel, did you cable to our connections on the Continent then?

dɪd ju: keɪbl tu ɑʊə kəˈnekʃənz ɔn ðə kɒntɪnənt ðen?

You can't have received any cables yet from over there."
ju: kɑ:nt hæv rɪˈsi:vɪd ɛni keɪblz jət frəm ɒvə ðeə."

"No, I didn't cable. You see, I found out that the last
"nou, ai didnt keibl. ju: si:, ai faund aut ðæt ðə la:st two or three times the goods have arrived on time. tu: ə ʒri: taimz ðə gudz hæv ə'raɪvd ɔn taim.

So I got some of these papers that deal only with sou ai ɡɒt sʌm əv ði:z peɪpəz ðæt di:l ounli wið ships; you know — the sailing plans of all ships, news ʃɪps; ju: nou — ðə seɪlɪŋ plænz əv ɔ:l ʃɪps, nju:z about the weather, and so on. And it seems that by ə'baut ðə weðə, ən sou ɔn. ænd it si:mz ðæt bai a strange chance, four of the ships bound for Portsmouth ə streɪndʒ tʃɑ:ns, fɔ:r əv ðə ʃɪps baund fə pɔ:tsməp with our goods on board have had several days' delay wið əʊə gudz ɔn bɔ:d hæv həd severəl deɪz dɪ'lei on account of bad weather and a rough sea. The fellow ɔn ə'kaʊnt əv bəd weðər ænd ə rʌf si:. ðə feləʊ down there who had dealt with our things was very daʊn ðeə hu: həd delt wið əʊə ʒɪŋz wəz veri helpful; it was he who suggested that I should try those helpfʊl; ɪt wəz hi: hu: sə'dʒestɪd ðæt ai ʃəd traɪ ðəʊz papers." "Good!" the manager said. "I think it was peɪpəz." "ɡʊd!" ðə mænɪdʒə sed. "ai ʒɪŋk ɪt wəz hunt about (here)

 — look for something

wise of you to hunt about a bit before sending cables waɪz əv ju: tə haʊnt ə'baut ə bɪt bɪ'fɔ: sendɪŋ keɪblz all over the Continent."

ɔ:l əʊvə ðə kɒntɪnənt."

Marshall and Storm stayed with the Edwards family mɑ:ʃəl ænd stɔ:m steɪd wið ði edwədz fæmɪli for dinner, and naturally, the conversation turned to fə dɪnə, ʌnd nætʃrəli, ðə kɒnvə'seɪʃən tə:nd tə the subject of ships. "I've visited Portsmouth several ðə sʌbdʒɪkt əv ʃɪps. "aɪv vɪzɪtɪd pɔ:tsməp sevrəl times," Marshall said, "and I think it would be hard taɪmz," mɑ:fəl sed, "ʌnd aɪ θɪŋk ɪt wəd bi: hæ:d to find another harbour with so many types of ships tə faɪnd ə'nʌðə hæ:bə wɪð sou meni taɪps əv ʃɪps in one place. The entire harbour is full of all kinds ɪn wʌn pleɪs. ði ɪn'taɪə hæ:bər ɪz fʊl əv ɔ:l kaɪndz of ships." "You know," Mr. Edwards explained to əv ʃɪps." "ju: nou," mɪstə edwədz ɪks'pleɪnd tə Storm, "Portsmouth is one of the most important bases stɔ:m, "pɔ:tsməp ɪz wʌn əv ðə mʌst ɪm'pɔ:tənt beɪsɪz for British warships. In fact, it has been so ever since fə brɪtɪʃ wɔ:ʃɪps. ɪn fækt, ɪt hæz bi:n sou evə sɪns

Roman times, for the shape of the South Coast makes roumən taɪmz, fə ðə ʃeɪp əv ðə saʊθ kəʊst meɪks a fine natural harbour here. Within this natural harbour, ə faɪn nætʃrəl hæ:bə hɪə. wɪðɪn ðɪs nætʃrəl hæ:bə, two harbours have been built, one for warships and tu: hæ:bəz hæv bi:n bɪlt, wʌn fə wɔ:ʃɪps ən one for other ships."

wʌn fə ʌðə ʃɪps."

"And outside the harbour," Marshall added, "is the
"ʌnd 'aʊt'saɪd ðə hæ:bə," mɑ:fəl ədɪd, "ɪz ðə place for all the small boats owned by the people who pleɪs fə ɔ:l ðə smɔ:l bəʊts ɒnd baɪ ðə pi:pl hu:

entire = whole battleship == warship

aircraft carrier

aeroplane or aircraft

one aircraft
two aircraft

accommodate == have room for stay there in the summer. I've been there on a summer stei ðeər in ðə sʌmə. aɪv bi:n ðeər ɒ ə sʌmə day, and it really was a wonderful sight: great battledei, and it riəli wəz ə wʌndəfʊl saɪt: greɪt bætl-ships and small, all painted grey, aircraft carriers with ʃɪps ən smɔ:l, ɔ:l peɪntɪd greɪ. ʔækra:ft kəriəz wið their broad white decks for aeroplanes, or aircraft, to ðeə brɔ:d hwaɪt deks fər ʔəreɪpleɪnz, ɔ:r ʔækra:ft, tə land on, black steamers, aeroplanes starting from and lænd ɒn, blæk sti:məz, ʔəreɪpleɪnz stɑ:tɪŋ frəm ən landing on the aircraft carriers, and moving in and out lændɪŋ ɒn ði ʔækra:ft kəriəz. ən mu:vɪŋ ɪn ənd aʊt among all these, there were many small boats with ə'mʌŋ ɔ:l ði:z. ðeə wə: meni smɔ:l bɔʊts wið their white sails bright in the sun. We saw a great ðeə hwaɪt seɪls braɪt ɪn ðə sʌn. wi: sɔ: ə greɪt white steamer far out at sea, too. Somebody said it hwaɪt sti:mə fɑ:r aʊt ət si:, tu:. səmbədi sed ɪt was the 'Queen Mary'. It's strange to think that they wəz ðə 'kwi:n meəri'. ɪts streɪndʒ tə θɪŋk ðæt ðeɪ can now build ships large enough to accommodate several kən naʊ bɪld ʃɪps la:dʒ ɪ'nʌf tu ə'kɒmədeɪt severəl thousand passengers and sailors."

haʊzənd pæsɪndʒəz ən seɪləz."

"That's enough people to fill a small town," Storm
"ðætʃs ɪ'nʌf pi:pl tə fɪl ə smɔ:l taʊn," stɔ:m said. "But, of course, that's unusual. The boat I came sed. "bʌt, əv kɔ:s, ðætʃs ʌn'ju:ʒʊəl. ðə bɔʊt aɪ keɪm over in accommodated 300, one of the sailors ouwər in ə'kɒmədeɪtɪd ʒri: hʌndrəd, wʌn əv ðə seɪləz told me. — What a crowd there must be to see all təʊld mi: — hwɒt ə kraʊd ðə məst bi: tə si: ɔ:l those passengers off!" he added, thinking of all the ðəʊz pæsɪndʒəz ɔ:f! hi: ədɪd, ʒɪŋkɪŋ əv ɔ:l ðə people who had been there last year to see their friends pi:pl hu: həd bi:n ðə lɑ:st jɪə tə si: ðə frendz off when he left the Continent.

ɔ:f hwən hi: left ðə kɒntɪnənt.

After dinner they passed a pleasant hour in front of ɑ:ftə dɪnə ðeɪ pɑ:st ə pleznt aʊər ɪn frʌnt əv the fire, as it had grown a bit cool in the evening.

ðə faɪə, əz ɪt həd grəʊn ə bɪt ku:l ɪn ði i:vnɪŋ.

When they rose to leave, Marion decided to walk with hwən ðeɪ rəʊz tə li:v, mæriən dɪ'saɪdɪd tə wɔ:k wɪð them to the bus. "Wait a moment!" she called to them ðəm tə ðə bʌs. "weɪt ə məʊmənt!" ʃi: kɔ:ld tə ðəm from the stairs, while they were saying good-bye to frəm ðə steəz, hwəɪl ðeɪ wə: seɪɪŋ gud'baɪ tə

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards. "I just want to get my mɪstər ənd mɪsɪz edwədz. "aɪ dʒʌst wɒnt tə get maɪ coat and a cap."

kəʊt ənd ə kæp."

"What! A new hat again?" cried her father, as she
"hwɒt! ə nju: hæʔ ə'geɪn?" kraɪd hɑ: fa:ðə, əz ʃi:

appeared again with a bright green cap. "It's not a ə'piəd ə'geɪn wɪð ə braɪt gri:n kæp. "ɪts nɒt ə see off = say good-bye to hat, daddy, it's a cap, and I made it myself, so it hasn't hæt, dædi, its ə kæp, and ai meid it maɪ'self, soʊ it hæznt even cost you a shilling."

i:vən kɒst ju: ə ʃɪlɪŋ."

"Be careful now, my boy," Mr. Edwards said to Storm
"bi: keəfʊl nau, maɪ bɔɪ," mɪstər edwədz sed tə stɔ:m with a smile. "You see, she's trying to give you the wɪð ə smaɪl. "ju: si:, ʃi:z traɪɪŋ tə gɪv ju: ði impression that she's a great little woman for saving ɪm'presən ðæt ʃi:z ə greɪt lɪtl wʊmən fə seɪvɪŋ money. But don't trust her! Keep her under your mʌni. bʌt daʊnt trʌst hɜː! ki:p hɜːr ʌndə jɔ:

thumb right from the beginning. It's the only way to θʌm raɪt frəm ðə bɪ'gɪnɪŋ. ɪts ði ɒnli weɪ tə make good wives of them." "Is it?" asked Mrs. Edwards. meɪk gud waɪvz əv ðəm." "ɪz ɪt?" ɑːskt mɪsɪz edwədz.

"Perhaps I should tell Marion how I made a good "pə'hæps ai ʃəd tel mæriən haʊ ai meɪd ə gud husband of you?" "It's very kind of you to call me hʌzbənd əv juː?" "ɪts veri kaɪnd əv ju: tə kɔ:l mi:

that," her husband answered with a laugh. "But per-ðæt," hɜː hʌzbənd ɑːnsəd wɪð ə la:f. "bʌt pəhaps you had better not. It might make him afraid."

'hæps ju: həd betə nɒt. ɪt maɪt meɪk hɪm ə'freɪd."

At last they all said good-night again, and the three ət laːst ðeɪ ɔ:l sed gud'nait ə'geɪn, ʌnd ðə ʒri:

young people left the house.

jʌŋ pi:pl left ðə haʊs.

EXERCISE A.

Mr. Edwards — to know why there was such a great — at Portsmouth. He wanted Marshall to send a — to Portsmouth, and perhaps also — to their connections on the Continent. Storm — up Marshall and gave him the — from the manager, and Marshall answered that he would ask a man at the customs office, who was a — friend of his, to help them to find out where the — was.

Young women nowadays no longer need their parents' — to marry, but Mr. Edwards would gladly have — Marion permission to marry Storm. He told Storm that he had often made the — that it was necessary to use a strong hand with women. Marion had for some time tried to — Storm from talking about marrying her, but at last he got his chance.

When Mrs. Edwards asked her husband if he had not noticed anything, he — his head instead of saying "no". Mr. Edwards knew how to use his — in his work, but he said that his wife was much — than he was. Storm's and Marion's plans for the future had not taken — yet.

It made Mrs. Edwards very — to think that Storm must leave them soon, but her husband told her that he knew the — of the — department that — with foreigners staying in England. He would tell him that Storm's special work could not be finished — three months. Storm had told Marshall to — the news about Marion and him like the crown jewels.

WORDS:

demand
police delay
chief of police chief personal message deal dealt wise unwanted prevent brain guard ring up observation permission error wire cable cable (verb)
entire see off
sad hopeful warship
battleship
land (verb)
rough grant helpful shape aircraft carrier aircraft

aeroplane
base accommodate bless cap shake shook shaken wonderful within
bag

Portsmouth is one of the most important — for British —. — — are ships with a broad deck for — to — upon. When people go away on trips, their friends usually come to — them —. Marion herself had made the — which she wore that evening.

EXERCISE B.

Have you ever had anything to do with the police? ... Have you ever been up in an aeroplane? ... What is an aircraft carrier? ... Have you ever been out in a bad snow storm? ... Have you ever visited a foreign country? ... At what time of the year did you go there? ... What was the weather like? ... What was the purpose of your visit to that country? ...

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

Shall and will are used with the infinitive of a verb to make the future tense. Examples: I shall come tomorrow. When will your uncle come? I should be glad to see you this evening. He would write me a letter as soon as possible.

Shall and should are generally used after 'I' and 'we', and as a rule will and would are used after 'you', 'he' ('she', 'it', and a noun in the singular), 'you', and 'they' (and a noun in the plural). For instance: I shall write my exercise to-morrow. Will you go with me to town to-morrow? He will soon learn how to speak this language. If you would come to-morrow, we should be glad to receive you. They would have given him the money gladly.

Questions:

How is the future tense made? ... Which verb is used after 'I' and 'we' in the future tense? ... Which verb is used after 'you', 'he' ('she', 'it', and a noun in the singular), 'they' (and a noun in the plural)? ... Write four sentences in the future tense. ...

NEW FRIENDS

A few weeks after Storm and Mr. Edwards had written a fju: wi:ks a:ftə stɔ:m and mistə edwədz həd ritn to the police to get permission for Storm to stay, tə ðə pə'li:s tə get pə'misən fə stɔ:m tə stei,

Mr. Jenkins rang up and told Mr. Edwards that he mistə dʒenkiŋz ræŋ ʌp and tould mistə edwədz ðət hi:

had been able to arrange everything: Storm might stay həd bi:n eibl tu ə'reindʒ evriθiŋ: stɔ:m maɪt stei on for another year.

ɒn fər ə'nʌðə jɪə.

So Marion and Marshall and a small number of other sou mæriən and mɑ:fəl and ə smɔ:l nʌmbər əv ʌðə young people, friends of Marion's and Marshall's, and jʌŋ pi:pl, frendz əv mæriənz and mɑ:fəlz, 'and now Storm's friends, too, decided that they had better nau stɔ:mz frendz, tu:, di'saidid ðət ðei həd betə

'do something about his education', as they expressed
'du: sʌmθiŋ ə'baut hiz edʒu:'keɪʃən', əz ðei iks'prest it, and teach him everything he ought to know about it, and ti:tʃ him evriθiŋ hi: ɔ:t tə nou ə'baut the country and its people in order to become a true ðə kʌntri and its pi:pl in ɔ:də tə bi'kʌm ə tru:

Englishman.

ɪŋɡlɪʃmən.

It all started in fun, of course, but they soon became it ɔ:l stɑ:tɪd ɪn fʌn, əv kɔ:s, bət ðeɪ su:n bɪ'keɪm really interested in this 'education business'. When-riəlɪ ɪntrɪstɪd ɪn ðɪs 'edʒu:'keɪʃən bɪznɪs'. hwenever possible, they went in the evenings to hear English

'evə pɒsəbl, ðeɪ went ɪn ðɪ i:vniŋz tə hiə ɪŋɡlɪʃ men of science speak about different subjects in which mɛn əv saɪəns spi:k ə'baut dɪfrənt sʌbdʒɪkts ɪn hwiɪʃ they were interested — natural history, for instance.

ðeɪ wə:r ɪntrɪstɪd — nætʃrəl hɪstəri, fər ɪnstəns.

Afterwards, they would go either to Marshall's or to ɑ:ftəwɔ:dz, ðeɪ wəd ɡəʊ aɪðə tə mɑ:fəlz ɔ: tə afterwards =

after this

Marion's home and have long arguments about what mæriənz hoʊm ənd hæv lɒŋ ɑ:gjʊmənts ə'baut hwɔt they had heard. At first, the tea-table would be ready ðeɪ həd hɔ:d. ət fə:st, ðə ti:teɪbl wəd bi: redɪ for them when they arrived, but soon the visits grew fɔ: ðəm hwen ðeɪ ə'raɪvd, bət su:n ðə vɪzɪts ɡru:

so frequent that Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Edwards had səʊ frɪ:kwənt ðət mɪsɪz mɑ:fəl ənd mɪsɪz edwɔ:dz həd to let them boil the water, make the tea, and lay the tə let ðəm bɔɪl ðə wɔ:tə, meɪk ðə ti:, ənd lei ðə tea-table themselves. They all helped gladly, of course, ti:teɪbl ðəm'selvz. ðeɪ ɔ:l helpt ɡlædli, əv kɔ:s, and so on these evenings the house was filled with ənd səʊ ɒn ði:z i:vniŋz ðə haʊs wəz fɪld wɪð young voices in hot argument from kitchen to diningjʌŋ vɔɪsɪz ɪn hɒt ɑ:gjʊmənt frəm kɪtʃɪn tə daɪnɪŋcurtain

circle

semi-circle

He dreams, he dreamt, he has dreamt [dri:mz, dremt, dremt].

rocks

healthy = in good health

room. On such nights, they would draw the curtains, rum. ɔn sɑtʃ naɪts, ðeɪ wəd drɔː ðə kəːtnz, put out the electric light in the middle of the room, put aut ði ɪˈlektɹɪk laɪt ɪn ðə mɪdl əv ðə ruːm, and sit in a semi-circle in front of the fire, talking ænd sit ɪn ə semɪsəːkl ɪn frʌnt əv ðə faɪə, tɔːkɪŋ about different subjects, with only the circle of yellow əˈbaʊt dɪfrənt sʌbdʒɪkts, wɪð ɔʊnli ðə səːkl əv jeləʊ light shed by a small lamp over the fire-place. They laɪt ʃed baɪ ə smɔːl læmp ɔʊvə ðə faɪəpleɪs. ðeɪ would sometimes be lost in thought, dreaming wonderwəd sʌmtaɪmz biː lɒst ɪn θɔːt. driːmɪŋ wʌndə-ful dreams about the future.

ful driːmz əˈbaʊt ðə fjuːtʃə.

Mr. Edwards was very pleased with all this. Like mɪstə edwədz wəz veri pliːzd wɪð ɔːl ðɪs. laɪk most fathers, he had tried with many wise arguments məʊst faːðəz, hiː həd traɪd wɪð meni waɪz aːɡjʊmənts to show his daughter that knowledge is the rock upon tə ʃəʊ hɪz dɔːtə ðæt nəlɪdʒ ɪz ðə rɒk əˈpɒn which young people should build their future. And hwɪtʃ jʌŋ piːpl ʃəd bɪld ðeə fjuːtʃə. ənd

Marion had, like most healthy girls, said "Yes, father", mæriən həd, laɪk məʊst helpi ɡəːlz, sed "jes, faːðə".

and then afterwards forgotten all about it. She had ænd ðen ɑːftəwədʒ fəˈɡɒtn ɔːl əˈbaʊt ɪt. ʃiː həd dreamt again her own rosy dreams, in which she would dremt əˈɡeɪn həːr ɔʊn rouzi driːmz, ɪn hwɪtʃ ʃiː wəd always, through some happy chance, be 'on top of the ɔ:lwəz, þru: sʌm hæpi tʃɑ:ns, bi: 'ɔn tɒp əv ðə world' like an eagle on a rock. wə:ld' laik ən i:gl ɔn ə rɒk.

She would see herself in the theatre, perhaps, standing ʃi: wəd si: hə:'self in ðə θiətə, pə'hæps, stændiŋ in frʌnt əv ðə kə:tn wið hə:r a:mz ful əv flauəz, smiling across the hundreds of electric lights at her smailiŋ ə'krɒs ðə haʊdrədz əv i'lektrik laits ət hə: feet to a house full of shouting and admiring people.
 fi:t tu ə haʊs ful əv ʃaʊtiŋ ənd əd'maɪəriŋ pi:pl.

Or she would paint beautiful pictures, and crowds ɔ: ʃi: wəd peɪnt bjʊ:təfʊl pɪktʃəz, ənd kraʊdz would come to admire her art. wəd kʌm tu əd'maɪə hə:r ɑ:t.

"She's learning quite a different art now," her wise
 "ʃi:z læ:nɪŋ kwəɪt ə dɪfrənt ɑ:t naʊ," hə: waɪz mother thought to herself, when she saw the interest mʌðə θɔ:t tə hə:'self, hwen ʃi: sɔ: ði ɪntrɪst with which Marion took part in the discussions, "the wið hwi:ʃ mə:riən tuk pɑ:t ɪn ðə dɪs'kʌʃənz, "ði art of living in a world full of plain facts, and liking it." ɑ:t əv lɪvɪŋ ɪn ə wə:ld ful əv pleɪn fæktz, ən laɪkiŋ ɪt."

Mrs. Edwards even had to stop the girl now and mɪsɪz edwədz i:vən həd tə stɒp ðə gɜ:l naʊ ənd then. She had begun to hurry through her meals in
 ðen. ʃi: həd bɪ'ɡʌn tə hʌri þru: hə: mi:lz ɪn eagle

order to get on with some interesting study or other, ɔ:də tə get ɔn wið sʌm intristɪŋ stʌdi ɔ:r ʌðə, as if she thought eating a waste of time.

əz ɪf ʃi: þɔ:t i:tiŋ ə weɪst əv taɪm.

“Be careful, child! You’re healthy enough now, but if “bi: keəfʊl, tʃaɪld! juə helði i'nʌf naʊ, bət ɪf you keep up that speed, you’ll make yourself ill.”

ju: ki:p ʌp ðæt spi:d, ju:l meɪk ʃɔ:'self ɪl.” “Let her work, my dear,” her husband said, “it won’t “let hæ: wə:k, maɪ diə,” hæ: hʌzbənd sed, “it wʊnt last very long. As soon as she has to start arranging la:st veri lɔŋ. əz su:n əz ʃi: hæz tə sta:t ə'reɪndʒɪŋ everything regarding their home, her interests will be evriþɪŋ ri'ga:diŋ ðeə haʊm, hæ:r ɪntrɪsts wɪl bi:

divided more equally between study and other kinds di'vaɪdɪd mɔ:r i:kwəli bɪ'twi:n stʌdi ənd ʌðə kaɪndz of work. The chief thing is that she’s learning to use əv wə:k. ðə tʃi:f þɪŋ ɪz ðæt ʃi:s læ:nɪŋ tə ju:s her brain now and not just dreaming away her time.”

hæ: breɪn naʊ ən nɔt dʒʌst dri:mɪŋ ə'wei hæ: taɪm.”

“I do hope you’re right,” Mrs. Edwards said. “I am, “aɪ du: hoʊp juə raɪt,” mɪsɪz edwədz sed. “aɪ æm, my dear, you may be sure of that,” her husband maɪ diə, ju: meɪ bi: ʃʊər əv ðæt,” hæ: hʌzbənd answered. “Her chief reason for this sudden interest a:nsəd. “hæ: tʃi:f ri:zn fə ðɪs sʌdn ɪntrɪst in science is, in plain words, that she doesn’t want her ɪn saɪəns ɪz, ɪn pleɪn wə:dz, ðæt ʃi: dʌznt wɔnt hæ:

chief = most important

future husband to think her too foolish."

fju:tfə hʌzbənd tə θɪŋk hæ: tu: fu:lɪʃ.

On a fine day at the beginning of October, a party ɒn ə faɪn dei ət ðə bi'gɪnɪŋ əv ɔk'təʊbə, ə pɑ:ti consisting of the usual small group of friends had gone kən'sɪstɪŋ əv ðə ju:ʒuəl smɔ:l gru:p əv frendz həd ɡɒn into the country for the week-end. They had decided ɪntə ðə kʌntri fə ðə 'wi:k'end. ðei həd di'saɪdɪd to stay the night at a village about 20 'miles from tə steɪ ðə naɪt ət ə vɪlɪdʒ ə'baut twenti maɪlz frəm

London, and from there to go for walks in the woods lʌndən, ænd frəm ðeə tə ɡəʊ fə wɔ:ks ɪn ðə wʊdz and the surrounding country.

ænd ðə sə'raʊndɪŋ kʌntri.

As soon as they had had their tea on Saturday, əz su:n əz ðei həd həd ðeə ti: ɒn sætədi, they started out for their first walk from the village, ðei stɑ:tɪd aʊt fə ðeə fə:st wɔ:k frəm ðə vɪlɪdʒ, although the sun was already low in the western sky.

ɔ:l'ðəʊ ðə sʌn wəz ɔ:l'redi laʊ ɪn ðə westən skaɪ.

"Let's sit on the grass a bit and watch the sun setting,"

"lets sit ɒn ðə ɡrɑ:s ə bɪt ən wɒtʃ ðə sʌn setɪŋ," Marion suggested, when they reached a small hill.

məriən sə'dʒestɪd, hwen ðei ri:tʃt ə smɔ:l hɪl.

"Oh, it's wonderful!" she cried. "I wish I could paint

"ou, ɪts wʌndəfʊl!" ʃi: kraɪd. "aɪ wɪʃ aɪ kəd peɪnt it all — the wood, the small groups of trees in the ɪt ɔ:l — ðə wʊd, ðə smɔ:l gru:ps əv tri:z ɪn ðə group = a number of persons or objects

village = a very small town in the country

fields, the village!"

fi:ldz, ðə vɪlɪdʒ!"

"There, there, don't be sorry, Marion. I'll buy you a

"ðeə, ðeə, daʊnt bi: sɔ:ri, məˈrɪən. aɪl baɪ ju: ə nice picture post-card when we get back." "You're nais pɪktʃə ˈpəʊstka:d hwen wi: get bæk." "juə impossible," Marion laughed. "Well, there's nothing imˈpɒsəbl," məˈrɪən la:ft. "wel, ðəz nʌʃɪŋ left of the sun now. Shall we go on?" "Have you left əv ðə sʌn naʊ. ʃəl wi: ɡəʊ ɔn?" "həv ju:

noticed that there are hardly any birds left now?"

nəʊtɪst ðæt ðeə ha:dli ɛni bɜ:dz left naʊ?"

Storm asked as they rose to go. "At least you don't stɔ:m ɑ:skt əz ðei rəʊz tə ɡəʊ. "ət li:st ju: daʊnt hear any birds singing." "That's because it's autumn," hiə ɛni bɜ:dz sɪŋɪŋ." "ðætʃ bɪˈkɔz ɪts ɔ:təm," Marion replied. "There are still many birds that məˈrɪən rɪˈplaɪd. "ðeə stɪl meni bɜ:dz ðæt haven't left the country yet, but they don't sing in the hævnt left ðə kʌntri jət, bət ðei daʊnt sɪŋ ɪn ði autumn." "Marshall!" she suddenly cried. "Where ɔ:təm." "mə:ʃəl!" ʃi: sʌdnli kraɪd. "hwɛər are you taking us?" "Into this field," he answered a: ju: teɪkɪŋ ʌs?" "ɪntə ðɪs fi:ld," hi: ɑ:nsəd and began to open a big gate. "What's the matter?

ænd bɪˈɡæn tu ɒpən ə bɪɡ ɡeɪt. "hwɒts ðə mətə?"

Are you afraid of the cows?" "They do have such a: ju: əˈfreɪd əv ðə kaʊz?" "ðei du: həv sʌtʃ very big horns," she replied. "Yes, couldn't we go veri big hɔ:nz," ʃi: ri'plaid. "jes, kudnt wi: gou another way?" asked Ellen, Marion's friend. "I don't ə'nʌðə wei?" a:skt elin, mæriənz frend. "ai dount like the look of those horns, either." "But this is laik ðə luk əv ðouz hɔ:nz, aiðə." "bət ðis iz the more direct way," he said. "We don't like going ðə mɔ: di'rekt wei," hi: sed. "wi: dount laik gouɪŋ that way, do we, Ellen?" Marion answered. "I'm ðæt wei, du: wi:, elin?" mæriən a:nsəd. "aim sure those cows are going to start running towards ʃuə ðouz kaʊz a: gouɪŋ tə stɑ:t rʌniŋ tə'wɔ:dz us the moment we're inside the gate." "All right — ʌs ðə mɔʊmənt wiər in'said ðə geit." "ɔ:l rait —

I give up, then!" Marshall said. ai giv ʌp, ðen!" mɑ:ʃəl sed.

Half an hour later they were back in the village. It hɑ:f ən aʊə leɪtə ðei wə: bæk in ðə vilidʒ. it was still too pleasant out of doors to go inside, so wəz stil tu: pleznt aʊt əv dɔ:z tə gou in'said, soʊ they decided to walk about the village and look at ðei di'saidid tə wɔ:k ə'baut ðə vilidʒ ənd luk ət the houses, some of which were very old.

ðə haʊziz, sʌm əv hʌwɪʃ wə: veri ould.

"It's strange to think," Storm said to the others, pointing "its streindʒ tə θɪŋk," stɔ:m sed tə ði ʌðəz, pɔɪntɪŋ out an old house with a beautiful old door, "how much aʊt ən ould haʊs wið ə bju:təfʊl ould dɔ:, "hau mʌʃ spent (here) = used

money and work was spent in the old days to make mani ən wə:k wəz spent in ði ould deiz tə meik the houses beautiful. Look at this door, for example.

ðə haʊziz bjʊ:təfʊl. luk ət ðis dɔː, fər ig'zɑ:mpl.

And yet they did nothing at all to make their houses ən jət ðei did nəθɪŋ ət ɔ:l tə meik ðə haʊziz healthy to live in. They didn't even have drains to helpi tə liv in. ðei didnt i:vən hæv dreinz tə take the dirty water away from the houses, but just teik ðə dɑ:ti wɔ:tər ə'wei frəm ðə haʊziz, bət dʒʌst threw it out of the windows into the streets or the pru: it aʊt əv ðə windəʊz intə ðə stri:ts ɔ: ðə gardens.”

gɑ:dnz.”

“And so, of course,” said Hardy, Ellen's brother, “many “ən sou, əv kɔ:s,” sed hɑ:di, elinz brʌðə, “meni people died every year of all the diseases that are the pi:pl daɪd evri jɪə əv ɔ:l ðə di'zi:ziz ðæt a: ðə consequences of dirty people living in dirty houses. kɒnsɪkwənsɪz əv dɑ:ti pi:pl livɪŋ in dɑ:ti haʊziz.

In the East, those special diseases are still very common. in ði i:st, ðəʊz speʃəl di'zi:ziz a: stɪl veri kɒmən.

But even in many countries in Europe, you're almost bət i:vən in meni kʌntri:z in jʊərəp, jʊə ɔ:lməʊst sure to get typhoid fever if you drink water that ʃʊə tə get taɪfɔɪd fi:və ɪf ju: drɪŋk wɔ:tə ðæt hasn't been boiled first.”

hæznt bi:n bɔɪld fə:st.”

"What a lot of trouble!" Marion said. "You would
"hʷɔt ə lɔt əv trʌbl!" mæriən sed. "ju: wəd think that it would be much less trouble to clean up piŋk ðæt it wəd bi: mʌtʃ les trʌbl tə kli:n ʌp those places and have drains from all the houses, or ðəʊz pleisiz ən hæv dreinz frəm ɔ:l ðə haʊziz, ɔ:

whatever it is that needs to be done." "You say this hʷɔt'evər it iz ðæt ni:dz tə bi: dʌn." "ju: sei ðis almost as if you would like to do it yourself," Storm ɔ:lmoʊst əz ɪf ju: wəd laɪk tə du: it ʃɔ:'self," stɔ:m said with a smile at her serious face. "I would," she sed wið ə smaɪl ət hɜ: siəriəs feɪs. "aɪ wʊd," ʃi:

answered. "Only I should be afraid to go to the ɑ:nsəd. "əʊnli aɪ ʃəd bi: ə'freɪd tə ɡəʊ tə ði

East and perhaps get one of those diseases myself.
i:st ən pə'hæps ɡet wʌn əv ðəʊz di'zi:ziz maɪ'self.

My father has a friend who got malaria when he was maɪ fa:ðə hæz ə frend hu: ɡɒt mə'leəriə hwen hi: wəz in India, and he still gets very ill at times, when the ɪn ɪndjə, ən hi: stɪl ɡets veri ɪl ət taɪmz, hwen ðə fever is 'burning his brains out', as he says. — But fi:vər ɪz 'bɜ:nɪŋ hɪz breɪnz aʊt', əz hi: sez. — bʌt let's talk about something a little more pleasant," she lets tɔ:k ə'baut sʌmþɪŋ ə lɪtl mɔ: pleznt," ʃi:

continued. "Shall we go in and have our supper kən'tɪnju:d. "ʃəl wi: ɡəʊ ɪn ən hæv ʌʊə sʌpə

now?"

naʊ?"

"Yes, let's go in," Ellen said. "I'd like to put on another
"jes, lets gou in," elin sed. "aid laik tə put ɔn ə'nʌðə pair of shoes. I was foolish enough to go walking in pɛər əv fu:z. ai wəz fu:lɪf i'nʌf tə gou wɔ:kiŋ in new shoes, and, of course, they're still too tight to be nju: fu:z, ənd, əv kɔ:s, ðeə stɪl tu: taɪt tə bi:

comfortable. The consequence is that my feet hurt." kʌmfətəbl. ðə kɒnsɪkwəns ɪz ðæt maɪ fi:t hæ:t."

"Isn't that just like girls? Why don't you buy shoes
"ɪznt ðæt dʒʌst laik ɡə:lz? hwai daʊnt ju: baɪ fu:z that are big enough?" her brother asked. "If you ðæt a: bɪɡ i'nʌf?" hæ: brʌðər ɑ:skt. "ɪf ju:

can't spread your toes a bit in new shoes, you may kɑ:nt spred jɔ: təʊz ə bɪt ɪn nju: fu:z, ju: meɪ be sure that they're too tight to be comfortable." bi: fuə ðæt ðeə tu: taɪt tə bi: kʌmfətəbl."

"There he goes again," Ellen laughed. "Really, you "ðeə hi: ɡəʊz ə'geɪn," elɪn lɑ:ft. "riəli, ju:

should have been a doctor, I think — always talking ʃəd hæv bi:n ə dɒktə, aɪ θɪŋk — ɔ:lweɪz tə:kiŋ about diseases and what's good for you and what isn't. ə'baut dɪ'zi:zɪz ən hwɒts ɡʊd fɔ ju: ən hwɒt ɪznt.

You'll be pleased to hear," she said to the other young ju:l bi: pli:zd tə hiə," ʃi: sed tə ði ʌðə jʌŋ men, "that he has found out that beer is good for the men, "ðæt hi: hæz faʊnd aʊt ðæt biə ɪz ɡʊd fɔ ðə stomach."

stʌmək."

"That's right," Hardy explained in a serious voice.

"ðæts rait," ha:di iks'pleind in ə siəriəs vɔis.

"You see, when I was younger I didn't drink beer ..."

"ju: si:, hwen ai wəz jʌŋgə ai didnt driŋk biə ..."

"Father wouldn't let him," Ellen interrupted, smiling.

"fa:ðə wudnt let him," elin intə'rʌptid, smailiŋ.

"He thought it was a waste of money." "I had a lot

"hi: þɔ:t it wəz ə weɪst əv mʌni." "ai hæd ə lɒt of trouble with my digestion, then," he went on.

əv trʌbl wið mai di'dʒestʃən, ðen," hi: went ɔn.

"No doubt because you were always filling yourself

"nou daʊt bi'kɔz ju: wə:r ɔ:kwəz filiŋ jɔ:'self with sweets," she interrupted again. "... but now wið swi:ts," ʃi: intə'rʌptid ə'geɪn. "... bʌt naʊ that I have begun to drink beer," he continued, paying ðæt ai hæv bi'ɡʌn tə driŋk biə," hi: kən'tɪnju:d, peɪiŋ no attention to her, "there's nothing the matter with nou ə'tenʃən tə hə:, "ðəz nʌθɪŋ ðə mətə wið me any more." "Perhaps not with your digestion," mi: eni mɔ:." "pə'hæps nɒt wið jɔ: di'dʒestʃən," Ellen said, "but I believe that I have seen you when elin sed, "bʌt ai bi'li:v ðæt ai hæv si:n ju: hwen your beer was giving you a bit of trouble — 'tight' jɔ: biə wəz giʋiŋ ju: ə bɪt əv trʌbl — 'taɪt' or 'drunk', I would have called you." "What is ɔ: 'drʌŋk', ai wəd hæv kɔ:ld ju:." "hwɒt ɪz my crime," the poor fellow cried at last, "that I mai kraɪm," ðə puə fclou kraɪd ət la:st, "ðæt ai should be punished by having such a sister?" "Peace, fəd bi: pʌnɪʃt baɪ hævɪŋ sʌtʃ ə sɪstə?" "pi:s, children!" laughed Storm. "Let's all have a glass of tʃɪldrən!" la:ft stɔ:m. "lets ɔ:l hæv ə gla:s əv beer and see if that won't make her a little gentler bɪə ən si: ɪf ðæt wəʊnt meɪk hæ:r ə lɪtl dʒentlə with you."

wɪð ju:."

fix = arrange

He called the waitress and ordered their beer. "We hi: kɔ:ld ðə weɪtrɪs ænd ɔ:dəd ðeə bɪə. "wi: haven't fixed anything about our rooms yet. How hævnt fɪkst enɪθɪŋ ə'baʊt ʌʊə ru:mz jet. hau much do you charge for rooms here?" he asked her, mʌtʃ du: ju: tʃɑ:dʒ fə ru:mz hɪə?" hi: ɑ:skt hæ:, when she brought the beer. "Single rooms nine hwen ʃi: brɔ:t ðə bɪə. "sɪŋgl ru:mz naɪn shillings, double rooms fifteen shillings," she replied. ʃɪlɪŋz, dʌbl ru:mz fɪfti:n ʃɪlɪŋz," ʃi: rɪ'plaɪd.
 "We'd better take single rooms," he said.
"wi:d bɛtə teɪk sɪŋgl ru:mz," hi: sed.

They sat for some time talking and watching the other ðei sət fə sʌm taɪm tɔ:kɪŋ ænd wɒtʃɪŋ ði ʌðə guests in the room; but as they were all rather tired, gests ɪn ðə ru:m; bət əz ðei wə:r ɔ:l rɑ:ðə taɪəd, they soon went up to bed. ðei su:n wɛnt ʌp tə bed.

Next morning they were up early, so that they might nekst mɔ:nɪŋ ðei wə:r ʌp ə:li, sɔʊ ðæt ðei maɪt have a long day for their walk. "I heard you had hæv ə lɔŋ dei fə ðəə wɔ:k. "ai hæ:d ju: həd trouble with your feet last night," the waitress said trʌbl wið jɔ: fi:t la:st naɪt," ðə weɪtrɪs sed to Ellen, when she was bringing their breakfast. "Are tu elɪn, hwen ʃi: wəz brɪŋɪŋ ðəə brekfəst. "a:

they better to-day?" "As a matter of fact, they aren't," ðei betə tə'dei?" "əz ə mætər əv fækt, ðei a:nt," Ellen replied. "They hurt me even if I touch them elɪn ri'plaid. "ðei hæ:t mi: i:vən ɪf ai tʌtʃ ðəm with my fingers."

wið maɪ fɪŋgəz."

"I thought that might be the case, so I've brought a "ai þɔ:t ðæt maɪt bi: ðə keɪs, sou aɪv brɔ:t ə small bottle of some oil that I always use. Waitresses smɔ:l bɒtl əv səm ɔɪl ðæt ai ɔ:lwəz ju:z. weɪtrɪsɪz often have trouble with their feet, you know. Just rub ɔ:fən hæv trʌbl wið ðəə fi:t, ju: nou. dʒʌst rʌb a little oil into the skin of your feet, and they will ə lɪtl ɔɪl ɪntə ðə skɪn əv jɔ: fi:t, ən ðei wɪl feel much better." "Thanks! That's very kind of you, fi:l mʌtʃ betə." "þæŋks! ðæts veri kaɪnd əv ju:,

I'm sure. It's no fun walking when your feet give aɪm juə. ɪts nou fʌn wɔ:kɪŋ hwen jɔ: fi:t gɪv you pain."

ju: peɪn."

In the afternoon, when they were returning from their ɪn ði ɑ:fʔə'nu:n, hwen ðei wə: rɪ'tə:nɪŋ frəm ðəə long walk, they met a group of about 20 people, lɔŋ wɔ:k, ðei met ə gru:p əv ə'baʊt twenti pi:pl, all carrying bags or baskets full of different plants ɔ:l kəriɪŋ bægz ɔ: bɑ:skits ful əv difrənt plɑ:nts that they had picked in the fields or the woods. "I ðæt ðei həd pi:kɪt ɪn ðə fi:ldz ɔ: ðə wudz. "ai wonder who they are," Storm said to Marion. "They wʌndə hu: ðei a:," stɔ:m sed tə məriən. "ðei all seem to be workers, except that tall man over there; ɔ:l si:m tə bi: wɔ:kəz, ik'sept ðæt tɔ:l mæn ɒvə ðeə;

but at the same time they look like a class of schoolbət ət ðə seɪm taɪm ðei lʊk laɪk ə kla:s əv sku:l-children who are out studying natural history with tʃɪldrən hu: a:r aʊt stʌdiɪŋ nætʃrəl hɪstəri wɪð their teacher." "Perhaps they're both," Marion replied. ðeə ti:tʃə. "pə'hæps ðeə bəʊb," məriən ri'plaɪd.

"You see, several of our universities send out travelling "ju: si:, sevrəl əv əʊə ju:ni'və:sɪtiz send aʊt trævliŋ teachers all over the country. If a sufficiently large ti:tʃəz ɔ:l ɒvə ðə kʌntri. ɪf ə sə'fɪsəntli la:dʒ number of people in a town wish to take up one or nʌmbə əv pi:pl ɪn ə taʊn wɪʃ tə teɪk ʌp wʌn ɔ:

more subjects of study and are willing to work mɔ: sʌbdʒɪkts əv stʌdi ənd a: wɪlɪŋ tə wɔ:k seriously, one of the universities arrange to send a sɪəriəsli, wʌn əv ðə ju:ni'və:sɪtiz ə'reɪndʒ tə send ə teacher to them. They're charged nothing for this, as ti:tʃə tu ðəm. ðeə tʃɑ:dʒd nʌθɪŋ fə ðɪs, əz the teacher is paid by the university. Many people, ðə ti:tʃər iz peɪd baɪ ðə juːnɪˈvɜːsɪti. mæni piːpl, for whom it would be impossible to study at a university, fɔː huːm ɪt wəd biː ɪmˈpɒsəbl tə stʌdi ət ə juːnɪˈvɜːsɪti, have been able to take up some study in this way and hæv biːn eɪbl tə teɪk ʌp səm stʌdi ɪn ðɪs wei ən have gained really useful knowledge of their subject.” hæv geɪnd riəli juːsful nɒlɪdʒ əv ðeə sʌbdʒɪkt.”

“What a fine idea!” Storm said. “It gives work to “hwaɪt ə faɪn aɪˈdɪə!” stɔːm sed. “ɪt gɪvz wɜːk tə men of science as teachers, and it gives some idea of mɛn əv saɪəns əz tiːtʃəz, ənd ɪt gɪvz səm aɪˈdɪə əv science to people who have to work, but want to get saɪəns tə piːpl huː hæv tə wɜːk, bʌt wɒnt tə get more education. Really, I’m rather proud of ‘us’ mɔːr edjuːˈkeɪʃən. riəli, aɪm raːðə praʊd əv ‘ʌs

English.” “Listen to those four men playing cards at ɪŋɡlɪʃ.” “lɪsn tə ðəʊz fɔː mɛn pleɪɪŋ kɑːdz ət the next table! I’m afraid you won’t feel so proud ðə nekst teɪbl! aɪm əˈfreɪd juː wəʊnt fiːl səʊ praʊd of ‘us’ English when you hear their stories,” Hardy əv ‘ʌs’ ɪŋɡlɪʃ hwɛn juː hɪə ðeə stɔːrɪz,” hɑːdi said, when they were having supper that evening. “One sed, hwɛn ðeɪ wəː hævɪŋ sʌpə ðæt iːvɪnɪŋ. “wʌn of them seems to be the village policeman. They have əv ðəm siːmz tə biː ðə vɪlɪdʒ pəˈliːsmən. ðeɪ hæv been talking of nothing but fights and blood and crime biːn tɔːkɪŋ əv nəθɪŋ bʌt faɪts ən blʌd ən kraɪm card

since they came, things that have taken place in this sins ðei keim, þɪŋz ðæt hæv teɪkn pleɪs ɪn ðɪs little village. Their cards, too, are just as dirty as lɪl vɪlɪdʒ. ðeə kɑ:dz, tu:, a: dʒʌst əz dɑ:ti əz their stories. I shouldn't like to touch them Look at ðeə stɔ:rɪz. aɪ ʃʊdn̩t laɪk tə tʌtʃ ðəm. lʊk ət Marion! She has been listening, too; she's quite pale."
mæriən! ʃi: həz bi:n lɪsnɪŋ, tu:; ʃi:z kwaɪt peɪl."
 "How are you feeling? Anything wrong?" Storm asked
"hau a: ju: ʃi:lɪŋ? enɪþɪŋ rɔŋ?" stɔ:m a:skt her. "I do feel a little sick," she replied. "It must hə:. "aɪ du: ʃi:l ə lɪl sɪk," ʃi: rɪ'plaɪd. "ɪt mʌst be because I'm tired, but it was made worse by having bi: bɪ'kɔz aɪm taɪəd, bət ɪt wəz meɪd wə:s baɪ hævɪŋ to listen to that man telling all those stories. If there's tə lɪsn tə ðæt mæn telɪŋ ɔ:l ðəʊz stɔ:rɪz. ɪf ðəz time before our train leaves, I think I'll go and lie taɪm bɪ'fɔ:r əʊə treɪn li:vz, aɪ ɪŋk aɪl ɡəʊ ən laɪ down a bit." She left the table rather suddenly and daʊn ə bɪt." ʃi: left ðə teɪbl rɑ:ðə sʌdnli ənd ran upstairs. The waitress had seen what had happened, ræn ʌp'steɪz. ðə weɪtrɪs həd si:n hwɒt həd hæpnd, however, and a moment later, she was standing at the haʊ'evə, ənd ə moʊmənt leɪtə, ʃi: wəz stændɪŋ ət ðə fat policeman's table. "You're a fine one, you are!
fæt pə'li:smənz teɪbl. "juə ə faɪn wʌn, ju: a:!
 See what you've done now. You've made that poor si: hwɒt ju:v dʌn naʊ. ju:v meɪd ðæt puə young lady sick with all your stories. And when the jʌŋ leidi sik wið ɔ:l jɔ: stɔ:rɪz. ən hwen ðə truth is told, you're no more use to us than that dusty tru:θ ɪz təʊld, juə nou mɔ: ju:s tu ʌs ðən ðæt dʌsti dusty = grey with dust

old eagle up there on the wall. I'm sure you've never əʊld i:gl ʌp ðeə ɔn ðə wɔ:l. aɪm suə ju:v nevə been within five miles of a real crime!" bi:n wið'in faɪv maɪlz əv ə riəl kraɪm!"

Marion couldn't help laughing when they told her about mæriən kudnt help la:fiŋ hwen ðei təʊld hæ:r ə'baʊt

it. In fact, she felt better after hearing that the poor
ɪt. ɪn fækt, ʃi: felt betər ɑ:ftə hiəriŋ ðæt ðə puə policeman had left the place with the waitress pouring pə'li:smən həd left ðə pleɪs wið ðə weɪtrɪs pɔ:rɪŋ truths into his burning ears. "I'm still proud of 'us' tru:ðz ɪntə hɪz bə:nɪŋ iəz. "aɪm stɪl praʊd əv 'ʌs' English," Storm said, when they were sitting in the ɪŋglɪʃ," stɔ:m sed, hwen ðei wə: sɪtɪŋ ɪn ðə train. "That was a brave little woman; it's a serious treɪn. "ðæt wəz ə breɪv lɪtl wʊmən; ɪts ə siəriəs matter to speak like that to the law." "She's quite mætə tə spi:k laɪk ðæt tə ðə lɔ:." "ʃi:z kwaɪt safe, old man," Marshall told him laughing. "She's seɪf, əʊld mæn," mɑ:ʃəl təʊld hɪm la:fiŋ. "ʃi:z his wife!"

hɪz waɪf!"

WORDS:

arrange sick plain digestion tight dream dream (verb) dreamt healthy oil circle
semi-circle electric
card
post-card
chief
afterwards
argument waste
curtain
touch direct charge (verb)
group art science rock
eagle
horn village drain disease fever typhoid

EXERCISE A.

Marion and her friends took Storm to hear English university people speak about different subjects of — and art. —, the young people would go either to Marshall's or Marion's home and have long — about what they had heard, while they had their tea or sat in a — in front of the fire. On these nights, they would draw the — and put out the — light, so that the room was dark except for the light — by the fire-place and a small —. Sometimes they sat — in thought, — about the future. "Knowledge," said Mr. Edwards, "is the — upon which young people should build their —," but Mrs. Edwards thought that it was not — for a young girl to take her studies so seriously that she even began to find eating a — of time. However, she was glad that Marion was discovering that the world was a place full of — facts. On a week-end trip into the country the young people stayed the night at a — about 20 miles from London. Marion was afraid of some cows on account of their big —.

In former times people had no — to take the dirty water away from the houses. Many people died of —, a consequence of living in dirty houses. In the East you may get — fever if you drink water that has not been boiled. Marion's father had a friend who got — when he was in India. New shoes are sometimes too — to be comfortable to walk in.

It is not good for your stomach and — to eat and drink too much. The waitress brought a bottle of — for Ellen's feet. While they were having supper, the young people listened to the conversation of four men who were playing —. They were talking of nothing but fights and blood and —. Marion got — while listening to their stories.

malaria
crime
set consequence boil
skin
fix

EXERCISE B.

In chapter 56, Exercise D, you found a letter from Storm to Wood. Please answer this letter as if you were Wood. In doing so you must use all the words in the following list in some way or other:

marry — daughter — happy — winter — snow — ice — skate — break — leg — hospital — doctor — move — house — flat — address.

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

A form of the verb which is used very much in English is the first participle. It is made by adding -ing to the infinitive. For instance, calling (call-ing) going (go-ing), explaining (explain-ing).

In writing, the following rules must be remembered when making the first participle.

If the infinitive ends in an -e following a consonant, this -e is dropped before -ing is added. For instance, come — coming, love — loving, but: see — seeing.

Verbs that end in -ie change the -ie into -y before -ing is added. For instance, die — dying, lie — lying.

When the verb ends in a single consonant, we have to follow the rules that were given regarding the past tense, that is: The consonant always remains single when following two vowels. For instance, explain-ing. The consonant remains single after an unstressed vowel, but is made double after a stressed vowel. For instance, answer-ing, prefer-ring. To this rule there is, however, the exception that -l is made double even after an unstressed vowel. For instance, travel-ling.

The first participle is used in several ways in English. It may be used as an adjective. Examples: I looked up into his smiling face. The mother kissed her sleeping child. He told me an interesting story.

Here is another use of the first participle: He speaks French, he is speaking French. Both sentences are in the present tense. What do they mean? 'He speaks French' means that 'he' is able to speak French, and possibly does so now and then; but 'he is speaking French' means that 'he' is speaking French now.

Here are some more examples with the same difference in meaning: He reads many books — he is reading an interesting book. He smokes cigarettes — he is smoking a cigarette. These forms of the verbs, 'is speaking', 'is reading', 'is smoking', we call expanded [iks'pændid] forms, which means forms that are made longer, and you will see that they are made up of a form of 'to be' and the first participle.

We may also have expanded forms in all the other tenses you have learned, and there is just the same sort of difference in meaning between the short forms and the expanded forms. Examples: I closed my book when he entered the room — I was just closing my book when the clock struck twelve. My brother has already written one book — he has been writing another one for ten months now. He had written half of his first book, before I even knew he had started — he had been writing all day on the new book when I saw him.

Sometimes the expanded forms of verbs such as 'go' and 'leave' express the future. Examples: I am going to town to-morrow = I shall go to town to-morrow. I am leaving Paris next month = I shall leave Paris next month.

The first participle is used after many verbs, such as come, go, sit, lie, see, hear, etc. Examples: He came running towards us. She went singing through the house. I saw him turning round the corner of the street.

In many cases the first participle is used instead of some part of the sentence with the verb in the present tense or the past tense. Examples: So saying he closed his book = he said so and closed his book. Having finished his dinner, he usually smokes a cigar = when he has finished his dinner, he usually smokes a cigar.

Questions:

How is the first participle made? ... Write the first participle form of 'to die'. ... Write the first participle form of 'to stop'. ... What are the expanded forms of the verbs in the following sentences: He ate an apple. We play football? ...

A 'HAPPY END'

What is on your mind? = what are you thinking of?

"What's on your mind, mother?" Marion asked her "hwɔts ɔn jɔ: maind, mʌðə?" mæriən a:skt hæ:

mother. "You have been looking for some time as mʌðə. "ju: hæv bi:n lukiŋ fə sʌm taim əz if you wanted to say something." It was just after if ju: wɔntid tə sei sʌmpɪŋ." it wəz dʒʌst a:ftə lunch on a quiet Sunday afternoon shortly after New lʌŋʃ ɔn ə kwaɪət sʌndi a:ftə'nu:n ʃɔ:tli a:ftə nju:

Year's Day, and the Edwardses and Storm were jiəz dei, and ði edwədʒiz and stɔ:m wə:

gathered in front of the fire. "You see," Mrs. Edwards gæðəd in frʌnt əv ðə faɪə. "ju: si:," misiz edwədʒ replied, "Mildred rang up this morning and asked if ri'plaɪd, "mɪldrɪd ræŋ ʌp ðɪs mɔ:nɪŋ and a:skt ɪf we couldn't take Elizabeth off her hands this afternoon.

wɪ: kʊdn't teɪk ɪ'lɪzəbəθ ɔ:f hæ: hændz ðɪs a:ftə'nu:n.

Elizabeth is my sister's twelve-year-old daughter," she ɪ'lɪzəbəθ ɪz maɪ sistəz twelvjərəʊld dɔ:tə," ʃi:

explained to Storm. "Father wasn't here when she ɪks'pleɪnd tə stɔ:m. "fa:ðə wɔznt hiə hwen ʃi:

rang up, and I didn't know whether he had any plans ræŋ ʌp, and aɪ dɪdn't nəʊ hwedə hi: həd eni plænz for this afternoon, so I promised to tell her after lunch."

fə ðɪs a:ftə'nu:n, səʊ aɪ prəmɪst tə tel hæ:r a:ftə lʌŋʃ."

"Well, have you made up your mind about it?" Marion "wel, hæv ju: meid əp jɔ: maind ə'baut it?" mæriən make up one's mind = come to a decision

asked. "No, I haven't. I really ought to let her come, ə'skt. "nou, ai hævnt. ai riəli ɔ:t tə let hæ: kʌm,

I suppose, since we have nothing else on. But I'm ai sə'pəuz, sins wi: hæv nəθɪŋ els ɔn. bət aim feeling somewhat tired and was looking forward to fi:liŋ səmhwaɪt taɪəd ən wəz lʊkiŋ fɔ:wəd tu somewhat =

 a little

a nice, peaceful Sunday." She pointed to the small ə nais, pi:sfʊl sʌndi." ʃi: pɔɪntɪd tə ðə smɔ:l peaceful = full of peace

table beside her chair. "You see, I had already gathered teɪbl bi'saɪd hæ: tʃeə. "ju: si:, ai həd ɔ:l'redi gəðəd together on the table the papers and books that I tə'geðər ɔn ðə teɪbl ðə peɪpəz ən buks ðæt ai haven't had time to read till now, — and needles and hævnt həd taɪm tə ri:d til naʊ, — ən ni:dlz ən thread and my scissors for a bit of sewing. But with θred ən maɪ sizəz fər ə bit əv səʊɪŋ. bət wɪð a child of twelve in the house there will be no peace ə tʃaɪld əv twelv ɪn ðə haʊs ðeə wɪl bi: nʌ pi:s for doing all that.

fər du:ɪŋ ɔ:l ðæt.

"When she was younger, I could give her a pair of "hwen ʃi: wəz jʌŋgə, ai kəd gɪv hæ:r ə peər əv scissors and let her cut paper dolls. But she's too old sizəz ən let hæ: kʌt peɪpə dɔlz. bət ʃi:z tu: ould for that now, and she's no good with a needle and fər ðæt naʊ, ən ʃi:z nʌ gu:d wɪð ə ni:dl ən dangerous = full of danger

beast = wild
animal

thread, so I dare not let her help me. I can't make up þred, sou ai dæa nɔt let hæ: help mi:. ai ka:nt meik ʌp my mind what to say to Mildred. If I say 'No', Mildred mai maind hwɔt tə sei tə mildrid. if ai sei 'nou', mildrid will have to change her plans; if I say 'Yes', I'll get no wil hæv tə tʃeindəz hæ: plænz; if ai sei 'jes', ail get nou rest to-day." "Marion and I might take her some-rest tə'dei." "mæriən and ai mait teik hæ: sam-where," Storm suggested, "to the Zoo, for instance." hwæə," stɔ:m sə'dʒestid, "tə ðə zu:, fər instəns."

"That certainly would be nice for us, if you think you
"ðæt sə:tnli wəd bi: nais fər ʌs, if ju: þɪŋk ju:

can stand it. I'll ring up Mildred, then, and tell her."
kən stænd it. ail riŋ ʌp mildrid, ðen, ən tel hæ:."

"You would think we were talking about a dangerous "ju: wəd þɪŋk wi: wə: tɔ:kiŋ ə'baut ə deindəzrəs animal and not a girl of twelve, to hear your mother ænɪməl ən nɔt ə ɡə:l əv twelv, tə hiə jɔ: mʌðə speak," he said to Marion. "She's almost as dangerous spi:k," hi: sed tə mæriən. "ʃi:z ə:lmoust əs deindəzrəs to have about as a wild beast," Marion answered. "She tə hæv ə'baut əs ə waɪld bi:st," mæriən a:nsəd. "ʃi:

says and does whatever comes into her mind without sɛz ən dʌz hwɔt'evə kʌmz intə hæ: maind wið'aʊt thinking first, and she doesn't walk like normal human þɪŋkiŋ fə:st, ən ʃi: dʌznt wɔ:k laɪk nɔ:məl hju:mən beings, but moves about by jumping like a monkey.

bi:ɪŋz. bət mu:vz ə'baut baɪ dʒʌmpɪŋ laɪk ə mʌŋki.

The last time she was here, she tore a big hole in a ðə lɑːst taɪm ʃiː wəz hiə, ʃiː tɔːr ə bɪɡ haʊl ɪn ə curtain and broke a very fine dish — a gift to my kəːtn ən braʊk ə veri faɪn dɪʃ — ə ɡɪft tə maɪ mother from her uncle in India.”

mʌðə frəm hɜːr ʌŋkl ɪn ɪndjə.”

“The Zoo seems to be the right place for her, then,” “ðə zuː siːmz tə biː ðə raɪt pleɪs fɔː hɜː, ðen,” Storm laughed. “I can almost guess what she’s like.

stɔːm lɑːft. “aɪ kən ɔːlməʊst ɡes hwɒt ʃiːz laɪk.

My own sister was the same at that age; one of her maɪ oun sɪstə wəz ðə seɪm ət ðæt eɪdʒ; wʌn əv hɜː greatest delights was to sit on a branch above the ɡreɪtɪst dɪˈlaɪts wəz tə sɪt ɔn ə brɑːnʃ əˈbʌv ðə garden gate and throw things at me when I came home ɡɑːdn ɡeɪt ən prəʊ piŋz æt miː hwən aɪ keɪm haʊm from work. Once she threw a paper-bag full of flour frəm wɜːk. wʌns ʃiː prəʊ ə peɪpəbæg fʊl əv flaʊə down on me. She didn’t do that again, though.”

daʊn ɔn miː. ʃiː dɪdnt duː ðæt əˈɡeɪn, ðəʊ.”

“I can guess what you did to her. And I can fancy “aɪ kən ɡes hwɒt juː dɪd tu hɜː. ænd aɪ kən fænsɪ what you must have looked like,” Marion said, and hwɒt juː mʌst hæv lʊkt laɪk,” mæɪəriən sed, ænd smiled at the thought. “The little beast wouldn’t smaɪld ət ðə þɔːt. “ðə lɪtl biːst wʊdnt come down, of course,” Storm went on, “when she kʌm daʊn, əv kɔːs,” stɔːm went ɔn, “hwən ʃiː

He tears, he tore, he has torn [teəz, tɔː, tɔːn].

gift = present

delight = great pleasure

fetch = get saw how angry I was, so I had to go up myself and sɔ: hau æŋgri ai wɔz, sou ai hæd tə gou ʌp maɪ'self ən fetch her down. It was a delight to seize her by fetʃ hæ: daun. it wəz ə dɪ'lait tə si:z hæ: bai the neck and pull her down, I can tell you. If my ðə nek ən pul hæ: daun, ai kən tel ju:. if maɪ mother hadn't come out in time to save her, it's quite mʌðə hædn't kʌm aut in taim tə seɪv hæ:, its kwait probable that I should have given her a good beating.

prɒbəbl ðæt ai ʃəd hæv gɪvn hæ:r ə gud bi:tiŋ.

As it was, she was quick to seize the chance of getting əz it wəz, ʃi: wəz kwɪk tə si:z ðə tʃɑ:ns əv getɪŋ away from me."

ə'wei frəm mi:."

"Would you really beat a woman?" Marion interrupted.
"wəd ju: riəli bi:t ə wʊmən?" məriən intə'rʌptɪd.

"Woman!" Storm cried. "Didn't you tell me yourself "wʊmən!" stɔ:m kraid. "dɪdn't ju: tel mi: ʃɔ:'self a moment ago that girls at that age can hardly be ə mʊmənt ə'gou ðæt gɜ:lz ət ðæt eɪdʒ kən hɑ:dli bi:

regarded as human beings, but are much more like rɪ'gɑ:dɪd əz hju:mən bi:ɪŋz, bət a: mʌtʃ mɔ: laɪk wild animals?" "All right, all right — it was only waɪld ænɪməlz?" "ɔ:l rait, ɔ:l rait — it wəz ounli in fun."

ɪn fʌn."

"I've always wondered what my mother said to my
"aɪv ɔ:lwəz wʌndəd hwɒt maɪ mʌðə sed tə maɪ sister that day to break the proud fighting spirit of sistə ðæt dei tə breik ðə praud faitiŋ spirit əv the little savage," Storm said, as they were on their ðə litl sævidʒ," stɔ:m sed, əz ðei wə:r ɔn ðeə way to Marion's aunt. "For next day she brought wei tə məriənz a:nt. "fə nekst dei ji: brɔ:t me gifts as a sign that peace had been established mi: gifts əz ə saɪn ðæt pi:s həd bi:n istæblɪʃt once more and that the spirit of sisterly love was wʌnz mɔ: ən ðæt ðə spirit əv sistəli lʌv wəz going to govern all her acts from that time on — a gəʊɪŋ tə ɡʌvən ɔ:l hə:r ækts frəm ðæt taɪm ɔn — ə cigar and a green-and-red tie." "She probably made sɪ'ɡa:r ənd ə 'ɡri:nən'red tai." "ʃi: prəbəbli meɪd her see that even brothers are a sort of human hə: si: ðæt i:vən brʌðəz a:r ə sɔ:t əv hju:mən beings," Marion replied. At the house of Marion's bi:ɪŋz," məriən ri'plaid. ət ðə haʊs əv məriənz aunt they found Elizabeth jumping about with joy a:nt ðei faʊnd i'lizəbəθ dʒʌmpɪŋ ə'baut wɪð dʒɔɪ joy = delight

at the thought of going to the Zoo with Storm and ət ðə θɔ:t əv gəʊɪŋ tə ðə zu: wɪð stɔ:m ənd Marion. "It's no secret," Marion's aunt told her, "that məriən. "ɪts nəʊ si:krit," məriənz a:nt təʊld hə:, "ðæt

Elizabeth gets no more fun out of her visits to your i'lizəbəθ ɡets nəʊ mɔ: fʌn aʊt əv hə: vɪzɪts tə jɔ:

parents' house than your mother does, so you can pɛərənts haʊs ðən jɔ: mʌðə dʌz, səʊ ju: kən servants = men or women working in their master's house fancy her joy when she heard where she's going. It's fænsi hæ: dʒɔi hwen ʃi: hæ:d hwæə ʃi:z goʊɪŋ. its not far from tears to smiles at that age. — Please nɒt fa: frəm tɪəz tə smaɪlz æt ðæt eɪdʒ. — pli:z fetch Elizabeth's woollen cap with the feather," she said fetʃ i'lizəbəʃs wulin kæp wɪð ðə feðə," ʃi: sed to a servant who had just entered the room. tu ə sə:vənt hu: həd dʒʌst ɛntəd ðə ru:m.

"I want to show you, Marion, the cap she has been
"aɪ wɒnt tə ʃəʊ ju:, mæriən, ðə kæp ʃi: hæz bi:n sewing at school this winter. I really think she's besəʊɪŋ æt sku:l ðɪs wɪntə. aɪ riəli ɪŋk ʃi:z bi-coming somewhat better at needlework now. I didn't 'kʌmɪŋ səmhwɒt betər æt ni:dlwɜ:k naʊ. aɪ dɪdn't know she was making it — she had kept it a great naʊ ʃi: wəz meɪkɪŋ ɪt — ʃi: həd keɪpt ɪt ə greɪt secret."

si:krit."

"Here it is — nice, isn't it?" she asked when the maid
"hɪər ɪt ɪz — naɪs, ɪznt ɪt?" ʃi: ɑ:skt hwen ðə meɪd had brought it. "She has made all of it herself, except həd brɔ:t ɪt. "ʃi: hæz meɪd ɔ:l əv ɪt hæ:'self, ɪk'sept the feather, which she pulled from the tail of our ðə feðə. hʷɪtʃ ʃi: pʊld frəm ðə teɪl əv ʌʊə neighbour's Christmas turkey — to my husband's great neɪbəz krɪsməs tə:ki — tə maɪ hʌzbəndz greɪt delight. He doesn't like our neighbour," she explained, dɪ'ləɪt. hi: dʌznt laɪk ʌʊə neɪbə," ʃi: ɪks'pleɪnd, while Elizabeth was putting on the cap. "Well, have hwail i'lizəbəθ wəz ʔutiŋ ɔn ðə kəp. "wel. hæv a good time! We shan't expect you back till half past ə gud taim! wi: ʃɑ:nt iks'pekt ju: bæk til ha:f ʔɑ:st five. I'm certainly glad you're taking her. You see, faiv. aim sə:tʌnli glæd juə teikiŋ hə:. ju: si:, both our servants have the afternoon off to-day, and bəʊθ əʊə sə:vənts hæv ði 'ɑ:ftə'nu:n ɔ:f tə'deɪ, ən we wanted to visit some people where we couldn't wi: wɔntɪd tə vɪzɪt səm pi:pl hwɛə wi: kʊdn't very well take Elizabeth. Be good, now, Elizabeth!" veri wel teik i'lizəbəθ. bi: gud. nau, i'lizəbəθ!"

"I will, mamma — good-bye!"

"ai wil, mə'mɑ: — 'gud'bai!"

At the Zoo, most of the animals were not in the open ət ðə zu:, mɔ:st əv ði æniməlz wə: nɔt in ði ɔpən air, but had gone inside, as it was rather cold. They ɛə, bət həd ɡɔn in'saɪd, əz ɪt wəz rɑ:ðə kəʊld. ðeɪ entered one of the buildings, and as they stopped in entəd wʌn əv ðə bɪldɪŋz, ənd əz ðeɪ stɔpt in front of a very large lion, Storm threw out his arm frʌnt əv ə veri la:dʒ laɪən, stɔ:m θru: aʊt hɪz ɑ:m towards it, bowed low, and said to the two girls, "His tə'wɔ:dz ɪt, baʊd laʊ, ənd seɪd tə ðə tu: ɡɜ:lz, "hɪz Majesty the Lion, King of All Animals."

mædʒɪsti ðə laɪən, kiŋ əv ɔ:l æniməlz."

Elizabeth laughed with delight at this idea, but Marion i'lizəbəθ lɑ:ft wɪð dɪ'lait ət ðɪs aɪ'dɪə, bət mə'riən to be in the open air = not to be in a building of any kind

said, "His Majesty doesn't look as if he's enjoying life sed. "hiz mædzisti dʌznt luk əz if hi:z in'dʒɔɪnj laɪf very much. In fact, he looks so sad to be locked up veri mʌtʃ. ɪn fækt, hi: luks sou səd tə bi: lɒkt ʌp in here that I almost fancy I can see tears in his ɪn hiə ðæt aɪ ɔ:lmoʊst fænsi aɪ kæn si: tiəz ɪn hi:z eyes." "Why, animals can't cry, can they?" Elizabeth aɪz." "hwaɪ, ænɪməlz kɑ:nt krai, kæn ðei?" ɪlɪzəbəθ asked Storm. "No, of course not," he answered seriously.

ɑ:skt stɔ:m. "nou, əv kɔ:s nɒt," hi: ɑ:nsəd sɪəriəsli.

"His Majesty has a cold, so his eyes and his nose are "hiz mædzisti hæz ə kəʊld, sou hi:z aɪz ən hi:z nəʊz ɑ:

running, I think." "Oh, you're just making fun of rʌniŋ, aɪ θɪŋk." "ou, juə dʒʌst meɪkɪŋ fʌn əv me," the child cried.

mi:," ðə tʃaɪld kraid.

"Look at the sharp claws he has," Marion said. "He

"luk ət ðə ʃɑ:p klɔ:z hi: hæz," mæriən sed. "hi:

could tear a man to pieces in no time with those claws."

kəd tiə ə mæn tə pi:sɪz ɪn nəʊ taɪm wið ðəʊz klɔ:z."

"You'll be able to watch him use his claws and his

"ju:l bi: eɪbl tə wɒtʃ hɪm ju:z hi:z klɔ:z ən hi:z teeth as well," Storm told her and pointed to a man ti:p əz wel," stɔ:m təʊld hə: ænd pɔɪntɪd tu ə mæn who had entered the house, carrying a big basket of hu: həd ɛntəd ðə haʊs, kæriɪŋ ə bɪg bɑ:skɪt əv food for the animals.

fu:d fə ði ænɪməlz.

Their lion got a large bone with lots of meat on it ðeə laɪən ɡɒt ə la:dʒ bəʊn wɪð lɒts əv mi:t ɒn ɪt and at once seized it with his claws and began to ænd æt wʌns si:zd ɪt wɪð hɪz klɔ:z ænd bɪ'ɡæn tə tear the meat from the bone with his teeth. In five teə ðə mi:t frəm ðə bəʊn wɪð hɪz ti:θ. ɪn faɪv minutes he had finished it — meat, bone, and all.
mɪnɪts hi: həd fɪnɪʃt ɪt — mi:t, bəʊn, ænd ɔ:l.
 Then the big beast rolled peacefully over on one side ðen ðə bɪɡ bi:st rəʊld pi:sfʊli ɒvər ɒn wʌn saɪd and lay looking out at the four human beings who ænd lei lʊkɪŋ aʊt æt ðə fɔ: hju:mən bi:ɪŋz hu: were watching him. “Don’t you think he misses the wə: wɒtʃɪŋ hɪm. “daʊnt ju: θɪŋk hi: mɪsɪz ðə company of the other beasts in the forests of Africa kʌmpəni əv ði ʌðə bi:sts ɪn ðə fɒrɪsts əv æfrɪkə — or wherever it is he comes from?” Marion asked — ɔ: hwɛər'evər ɪt ɪz hi: kʌmz frəm?” mæriən ɑ:skt the man. “Not he! He wouldn’t know what to do with ðə mæn. “nɒt hi:! hi: wʊdnt nəʊ hwɒt tə du: wɪð himself if he was sent to Africa. He’s too used to hɪm'self ɪf hi: wəz sent tu æfrɪkə. hi:z tu: ju:st tə getting his meals every day without having to hunt, ɡetɪŋ hɪz mi:lz evri deɪ wɪð'aʊt hævɪŋ tə haʊnt, and he loves to be with human beings. He’s never so ən hi: lʌvz tə bi: wɪð hju:mən bi:ɪŋz. hi:z nevə sʌʊ happy as when the Zoo is full of people for him to hæpi əz hwɛn ðə zu: ɪz fʊl əv pi:pl fə hɪm tə look at. When nobody is here, I have to go in and luk æt. hwen noubədi iz hiə, ai hæv tə gou in ən talk to him sometimes, to keep him happy! No, it isn't tɔ:k tə him sɑmtaimz, tə ki:p him hæpi! nou, it iznt probable that he was ever outside Europe; I think he prɒbəbl ðæt hi: wəz evər autsaid juərəp: ai piŋk hi: was born in Berlin!"

wəz bɔ:n in bə:'lin!"

nuts

orange

The next place they entered was the monkey-house.
ðə nekst pleis ðei entəd wəz ðə mʌŋkihaus.

Elizabeth had brought a bag of nuts and oranges for 'lizəbəθ həd brɔ:t ə bæɡ əv nʌts ənd ɔrindʒiz fɔ:

them, and one by one she rolled or threw the fruit and ðəm, ənd wʌn baɪ wʌn ʃi: rəʊld ɔ: θrə: ðə fru:t ənd nuts in to them. "Try and make them come up to nʌts in tu ðəm. "traɪ ən meɪk ðəm kʌm ʌp tə the fence and fetch the nuts themselves," Marion said.

ðə fens ən fetʃ ðə nʌts ðəm'selvz," mæriən sed.

"But be careful that they don't bite your fingers; you
"bʌt bi: keəfʊl ðæt ðei daʊnt baɪt ʃɔ: fiŋgəz; ju:

had better put the nuts on the floor just outside the həd betə put ðə nʌts ɒn ðə flɔ: dʒʌst aʊt'saɪd ðə fence."

fens."

"There's a big one coming up now; let him have an
"ðəz ə bɪɡ wʌn kʌmɪŋ ʌp naʊ; let him hæv ən orange!" Storm said, pointing to a large monkey with ɔrɪndʒ!" stɔ:m sed, pɔɪntɪŋ tu ə lɑ:dʒ mʌŋki wið a wise expression on his face. "He looks almost ə waɪz iks'presən ɒn hɪz feɪs. "hi: luks ə:lmoʊst human." "Yes, he looks just like a teacher we have hju:mən. "jes, hi: luks dʒʌst laɪk ə ti:tʃə wi: hæv at school," Elizabeth cried, "Mr. Ambrose Smalljoy. ət sku:l, i'lɪzəbəθ kraɪd, "mɪstər æmbrouz smɔ:lɔɪ.

Oh, what fun! I know what I'm going to do to-morrow; ou, hwɒt fʌn! aɪ naʊ hwɒt aɪm goʊɪŋ tə du: tə'mɒrəʊ;

I'm going to make a picture of 'Ambrose' on the wall aɪm goʊɪŋ tə meɪk ə pɪktʃər əv 'æmbrouz ɒn ðə wɔ:l at school and write: 'Ambrose — The Almost Human' ət sku:l ən raɪt: 'æmbrouz — ði ə:lmoʊst hju:mən' under it. Won't he be angry!" ʌndər ɪt. wəʊnt hi: bi: æŋɡri!"

Storm had to laugh at this, but Marion stopped him stɔ:m hæd tə la:f ət ðɪs, bət mæriən stɒpt hɪm with a look. "What an idea!" she said to Elizabeth.

wɪð ə luk. "hwɒt ən aɪ'dɪə!" ʃi: sed tu i'lɪzəbəθ.

"I don't think he'll be angry, but only sad." "You "aɪ daʊnt θɪŋk hi:l bi: æŋɡri, bət ɒnli sæd." "ju:

don't know Ambrose," that kind-hearted child replied.
daʊnt naʊ æmbrouz," ðæt kaɪndha:tɪd tʃaɪld rɪ'plaɪd.

"He loves a good fight as well as anybody.
"hi: lʌvz ə gud faɪt əz wel əz enɪbədɪ.

"What is that monkey over there doing to the other "hwɒt ɪz ðæt mʌŋki oʊvə ðeə du:ɪŋ tə ði ʌðə one's head?" she continued, watching a monkey who wʌnz hed?" ʃi: kən'tɪnju:d, wɒtʃɪŋ ə mʌŋki hu:

insect

had put its head on another one's knees. "It's hunting həd put its hed ɔn ə'nʌðə wʌnz ni:z. "its hʌntɪŋ for insects in its hair," Storm replied. "They're learning fər insekts in its heə," stɔ:m ri'plaid. "ðeə læ:nɪŋ one of the rules of living with others: Help your wʌn əv ðə ru:lz əv lɪvɪŋ wið ʌðəz: help jɔ:

neighbour! If we all did that always, it would be much neɪbə! ɪf wi: ɔ:l did ðæt ɔ:lwəz, ɪt wəd bi: mʌtʃ nicer to live and work. We could learn a thing or two naisə tə liv ən wə:k. wi: kəd læ:n ə þɪŋ ə tu:

from some of the insects, the bees, for example, who fɹəm sʌm əv ði insekts, ðə bi:z, fər ɪg'zɑ:mpl, hu:

all work from morning till night for the benefit of all."
ɔ:l wə:k fɹəm mɔ:nɪŋ tɪl naɪt fə ðə benɪfɪt əv ɔ:l."

"I don't think she's heard a word of what you've been
"aɪ daʊnt þɪŋk ʃi:z hæ:d ə wəd əv hwɒt ju:v bi:n saying," Marion smiled, when he finished. seɪɪŋ." məˈrɪən smaɪld, hwən hi: fɪnɪʃt.

For Elizabeth had been busy feeding the monkeys from fər ɪ'lɪzəbəθ həd bi:n bɪzi fi:dɪŋ ðə mʌŋkɪz fɹəm her bag. "They'll eat almost anything, won't they?"

hə: bæɡ. "ðeɪl ɪ:t ɔ:lmu:st enɪθɪŋ, wəʊnt ðeɪ?"

she asked, turning away from the fence at last. "Nuts ʃi: ɑ:skt, tə:nɪŋ ə'wei fɹəm ðə fens ət la:st. "nʌts and oranges and apples and bread, and what they find ænd ɔ:rɪndʒɪz ænd æplz ən bred, ən hwɒt ðeɪ faɪnd in each other's hair, and worms —" "Worms?" Marion ɪn i:tʃ ʌðəz heə, ən wə:mz —"wə:mz?" məˈrɪən worm

cried. "Yes, I tried giving them some worms I had kraid. "jes, ai traid giviŋ ðəm səm wə:mz ai həd brought along in the bag for the birds, and they seemed brɔ:t ə'lɔŋ in ðə bæɡ fə ðə bə:dz, ən ðei si:md to like them, so I let them have them all," the child tə laik ðəm, sou ai let ðəm həv ðəm ɔ:l," ðə tsaɪld answered. "Do you mean to tell me," Marion asked, a:nsəd. "du: ju: mi:n tə tel mi:," məriən a:skt,

"that I have been carrying a bag full of worms around
"ðət ai həv bi:n kəriŋ ə bæɡ ful əv wə:mz ə'raʊnd for more than an hour? Let's get out into the fresh air fə mɔ: ðən ən auə? lets get aut intə ðə freʃ ə — the thought of it makes me sick!"

— ðə þɔ:t əv it meiks mi: sik!"

As soon as they got outside, however, Marion felt əz su:n əz ðei ɡɒt aut'said, haʊ'evə, məriən felt somewhat better, and as Elizabeth seemed to have səmhʌwt betə, ənd əz i'lizəbəθ si:md tə həv decided not to give them any more shocks, the rest di'saidid nɒt tə ɡiv ðəm ɛni mɔ: ʃɒks, ðə rest of the afternoon passed quite peacefully. When they əv ði a:ftə'nu:n pɑ:st kwait pi:sfʊli. hwen ðei had taken Elizabeth home, Storm was in a great hurry həd teɪkn i'lizəbəθ həʊm, stɔ:m wəz in ə greɪt hʌri to get back to Marion's house. "Why all this hurry?"

tə get bæk tə məriənʌz haʊs. "hwaɪ ɔ:l ðis hʌri?"

Marion asked in some surprise. "We're going some-məriən a:skt in səm sə'praɪz. "wiə ɡəʊiŋ səmwhere together with your parents, and we have to be hwæa tæ'geda wið jɔ: pæarants, ən wi: hæv tæ bi:

there at seven o'clock," he replied, "so there isn't much ðeər æt sevn æ'klɔk," hi: ri'plaid, "sou ðər iznt mʌtʃ time left." "Where are we going? Tell me about it."

taim left." "hwæər a: wi: ɡouɪŋ? tel mi: æ'baut it."

"No, it's a secret. You'll see when we get there."

"nou, its æ si:krit. ju:l si: hwen wi: get ðeə."

After a quick cup of tea, the four of them left the house, a:ftər æ kwɪk kʌp əv ti:, ðə fɔ:r əv ðəm left ðə haʊs, Marion wondering what her father was up to. Mr. mæriən wʌndəriŋ hwɔt hæ: fa:ðə wəz ʌp tu. mɪstər

Edwards took them to a quiet street of small houses edwədz tuk ðəm tu æ kwaɪət stri:t əv smɔ:l haʊzɪz surrounded by gardens. He walked up to one of them sə'raʊndɪd baɪ ɡa:dnz. hi: wɔ:kt ʌp tə wʌn əv ðəm and rang the bell, while Mrs. Edwards explained, "This ænd ræŋ ðə bel, hwɪl mɪsɪz edwədz ɪks'pleɪnd, "ðɪs is the house where your father and I lived when we were ɪz ðə haʊs hwæa jɔ: fa:ðər ænd aɪ lɪvd hwen wi: wə:

first married. We saw in the paper the day before yester-fə:st mærid. wi: sɔ: ɪn ðə peɪpə ðə dei bi'fɔ: ʒestə-day that the people who live here are going to move. ði ðæt ðə pi:pl hu: liv hiə a: ɡouɪŋ tə mu:v.

The house will be empty from March 1st. So we ðə haʊs wɪl bi: ɛmti frəm mɑ:tʃ ðə fə:st. sou wi:

decided to ask about the price, and if it wasn't too dɪ'saɪdɪd tu ɑ:sk æ'baut ðə praɪs, ænd ɪf ɪt wəznt tu:

dear now, to take you along and show it to you."
diə nau, tə teik ju: ə'ləŋ ən fou it tu ju:..

"Too dear?" Marion asked. "Do you mean for us?"
"tu: diə?" məriən a:skt. "du: ju: mi:n fər ʌs?"

She turned to Storm: "And you haven't told me anyʃi: tə:nd tə stɔ:m: "ən ju: hævnt toʊld mi: enithing! Does that mean that —?" "It means that we þiŋ! dʌz ðæt mi:n ðæt —?" "it mi:nz ðæt wi:

can afford to marry now as soon as you can make up kən ə'fɔ:d tə mæri nau əz su:n əz ju: kən meik ʌp your mind about the date. I got a rise this month, ju: maind ə'baut ðə deit. ai gɒt ə raiz ðis mʌnθ, and I went out at once and spent it on the ring for ænd ai went aʊt ət wʌns ən spent it ɒn ðə riŋ fɔ:

you — just to be on the safe side! — I mean if you ju: — dʒʌst tə bi: ɒn ðə seif said! — ai mi:n if ju:

should decide that you wanted to be married to-morrow, ʃəd di'said ðæt ju: wɒntid tə bi: mærid tə'mɒrəʊ, there would hardly be any time at the last minute ðeə wəd hæ:dli bi: eni taim ət ðə la:st minit for buying a ring. But now I'm prepared for the worst!"

fə baɪŋ ə riŋ. bət nau aim pri'peəd fə ðə wɜ:st!"

Marion laughed at this. "May I see the ring now?" mæriən la:ft ət ðis. "mei ai si: ðə riŋ nau?"

she asked. "And try it on?" At this moment, however, ʃi: a:skt. "ən traɪ it ɒn?" ət ðis mʌmənt, haʊ'evə, the door was opened by a friendly young man. "My ðə dɔ: wəz ɒpənd baɪ ə frendli jʌŋ mæn. "mai wife is out," he said, "but I can show you the house."

waif iz aut. hi: sed, "bət ai kən ʃou ju: ðə haʊs."

There were two rooms and a kitchen downstairs, and ðeə wə: tu: ru:mz ənd ə kitʃin 'daʊn'steəz, ənd two rooms and a bathroom upstairs. Marion hurried tu: ru:mz ənd ə ba:θrʊm 'ʌp'steəz. məriən hʌrid from room to room, crying, "Isn't this nice — isn't that fɹəm ru:m tə ru:m, kraiɪŋ, "iznt ðis nais — iznt ðæt lovely!" at every new thing she discovered. "And to lʌvli!" ət evri nju: ʃɪŋ ʃi: dis'kʌvəd. "ən tə think that I was born in this house! How strange!" ʃɪŋk ðæt ai wəz bɔ:n in ðis haʊs! haʊ streɪndʒ!"

"Yes, isn't it," her mother answered. "But come into "jes, iznt it," hə: mʌðər ɑ:nsəd. "bət kʌm intə the kitchen, dear; I want to see what it looks like now.

ðə kitʃin, diə; ai wɒnt tə si: hwɒt it luks laik naʊ.

— It looks almost the same," she continued, looking — it luks ɔ:lmu:st ðə seɪm," ʃi: kən'tɪnju:d, lʊkiŋ about her. "The only difference is that it's no longer ə'baut hə:. "ði ounli difrəns iz ðæt its naʊ lɒŋɡə

He lights, he lit, he has lit [laɪts, lit, lit].

lit by gas. They have electric light now." lit baɪ ɡæs. ðei həv i'lektrɪk laɪt naʊ."

To the right was the kitchen-range, and just opposite, tə ðə raɪt wəz ðə kitʃɪn'reɪndʒ, ənd dʒʌst ə'pəzɪt, at the other side of the kitchen, stood a small table ət ði ʌðə saɪd əv ðə kitʃin, stʊd ə smɔ:l teɪbl with four chairs round it and flowers in the centre. wɪð fɔ: tʃeəz raʊnd ɪt ənd fləʊəz ɪn ðə sentə.

"We have our meals here," the young man explained.
"wi: hæv auə mi:lz hiə," ðə jʌŋ mæn iks'pleind.

"It's easier for my wife. There's gas for cooking, of "its i:ziə fə mai waif. ðəz gæs fə kukiŋ, əv course, but in winter we always use the kitchen-range.
kɔ:s, bət in wintə wi: ɔ:lweɪz ju:z ðə kitʃinreindʒ.

It burns coal and keeps the kitchen warm all day.
it bə:nz koul ən ki:ps ðə kitʃin wɔ:m ɔ:l dei.

I light the fire in the morning before my wife gets up, ai lait ðə faɪər in ðə mɔ:nɪŋ bɪ'fɔ: mai waif gets ʌp, and put the kettle on the fire. So by the time we're ən put ðə ketl ɔn ðə faɪə. sou bai ðə taim wiə dressed, the kitchen is already nice and warm, and drest, ðə kitʃin iz ɔ:l'redi nais ən wɔ:m, ən the water for our tea is boiling." "That's the right ðə wɔ:tə fər auə ti: iz bɔiliŋ." "ðəts ðə rait spirit!" Mrs. Edwards said. "I was never able to make spirit!" misiz edwədʒ sed. "ai wəz nevər eibl tə meik my husband get up first." mai hʌzbənd get ʌp fə:st."

Beside the kitchen-range was a large gas-oven. "I had bi'said ðə kitʃinreindʒ wəz ə la:dʒ gæsʌvn. "ai hæd a gas-oven, too," Mrs. Edwards said. "I was very proud ə gæsʌvn, tu:," misiz edwədʒ sed. "ai wəz veri praud of it, I remember, for most of my friends had no əv it, ai ri'membə, fə moust əv mai frendz həd nou gas-oven and had to use the oven of the kitchen-range. gæsʌvn ən hæd tə ju:z ði ʌvn əv ðə kitʃinreindʒ.

But one Christmas, when I had a big turkey in my bət wʌn krɪsməs, hwen ai həd ə bɪg tɑ:kɪ ɪn maɪ gas-oven, a sudden wind from the open window blew gæsʌvən, ə sʌdn wɪnd frəm ði ɒpən wɪndəʊ blu:

out the flame. I discovered it a few moments later aut ðə fleɪm. ai dɪs'kʌvəd ɪt ə fju: moʊmənts leɪtər and went to light it again, of course. But as soon as ən went tə laɪt ɪt ə'geɪn, əv kɔ:s. bət əz su:n əz

I lit the match, a big flame jumped out of the gas-oven ai lɪt ðə mætʃ, ə bɪg fleɪm dʒʌmpt aut əv ðə gæsʌvən at me and burnt some of my hair. For a long time æt mi: ən bɔ:nt sʌm əv maɪ heə. fər ə lɔŋ taɪm after, I was afraid to light the gas-oven, and used a:ftə, ai wəz ə'freɪd tə laɪt ðə gæsʌvən, ən ju:zd my old oven in the kitchen-range, just like all my maɪ ould əvən ɪn ðə kɪtʃɪn'reɪndʒ, dʒʌst laɪk ɔ:l maɪ friends.

frendz.

“But here I’m just talking and talking,” she interrupted “bət hɪər aɪm dʒʌst tɔ:kɪŋ ən tɔ:kɪŋ,” ʃi: ɪntə'rʌptɪd herself, “and we haven’t heard yet how the two of you hə:'self, “ən wi: hævnt hə:d ʒet haʊ ðə tu: əv ju:

like the house.” “I think it looks fine,” Storm said.
laɪk ðə haʊs.” “ai ɪŋk ɪt lʊks faɪn,” stɔ:m sed.

“And I think it’s perfectly lovely,” Marion cried.
“ənd ai ɪŋk ɪts pə:fɪktli lʌvli,” mərɪən kraɪd.

“Only I can’t understand how we can possibly afford “əʊnli ai kɑ:nt ʌndə'stænd haʊ wi: kən pɒsəbli ə'fɔ:d it." "It's a cheap house," the young man told her. it." "its ə tʃi:p haus," ðə jʌŋ mæn təʊld hæ:.

"Probably because it's rather old. But everything is "prɒbəbli bɪ'kɒz its ra:ðər ould. bət evriθɪŋ ɪz well kept, so we've never felt that the house was old.

wel kept, sɒ wi:v nevə felt ðæt ðə haus wəz ould.

And we're only moving because we need more room;
ən wiər ounli mu:vɪŋ bɪ'kɒz wi: ni:d mɔ: ru:m;

we have two small children, as you saw upstairs." wi: hæv tu: smɔ:l tʃɪldrən, əz ju: sɔ: ʌp'steəz."

"If you'll promise to light the fire every winter morning
"ɪf ju:l prɒmɪs tə laɪt ðə faɪə evri wɪntə mɔ:nɪŋ and put the kettle on to boil," Marion said to Storm, ən put ðə ketl ɒn tə bɔɪl," mæriən sed tə stɔ:m, as they left the house, "I think it would be lovely to əz ðeɪ left ðə haus. "aɪ θɪŋk ɪt wəd bi: lʌvli tə start our married life here. And if we were married stɑ:t ʌə mærid laɪf hɪə. ənd ɪf wi: wə: mærid in the middle of March, there would be two weeks ɪn ðə mɪdl əv mɑ:tʃ, ðeə wəd bi: tu: wi:kz to have the rooms painted and to hang the curtains tə hæv ðə ru:mz peɪntɪd ən tə hæŋ ðə kɑ:tɪnz and everything."

ənd evriθɪŋ."

"I promise," Storm answered, taking her arm and
"aɪ prɒmɪs," stɔ:m ɑ:nsəd, teɪkɪŋ hæ:r ɑ:m ənd showing her what little there was to be seen of the ʃəʊɪŋ hæ: hwɒt lɪtl ðeə wəz tə bi: si:n əv ðə do (here) = be enough

garden. "I'm glad you're satisfied. Remember Leith ga:dn. "aim glæd juə sətisfaɪd. ri'membə li:p

Hill? Of course, it's not so big as the farm, nor so hil? əv kɔ:s, its nɒt sɒu big əz ðə fa:m, nɔ: sɒu modern as your parents' house." "But it'll do for us," mɒdn əz jɔ: peərənts haʊs." "bət itl du: fər ʌs," Marion said. And arm in arm they walked back, full mæriən sed. ənd a:m in a:m ðei wɔ:kt bæk, ful of plans for the future which had suddenly drawn əv plænz fə ðə fju:tʃə hwɪtʃ həd sʌdnli drɔ:n so near.

sɒu niə.

EXERCISE A.

WORDS:

delight fetch feather
worm
insect seize kettle thread needle scissors pair of scissors mind somewhat
ring
secret
guess gift

"Have you made up your — to have Elizabeth this afternoon?" Marion asked her mother. On a quiet Sunday afternoon the Edwardses and Storm were — in front of the fire. A — and — are used to sew with.
A pair of — is used to cut paper and cloth with.
The lion is a wild —. Elizabeth had — a big hole in one of Mrs. Edwards' — and broken a fine dish, which was a — from her uncle in India.

Storm told Marion that it was his sister's greatest — to sit on a branch and throw things at him. Once she threw a — of flour at him. Storm was of the opinion that girls at that age can hardly be regarded as — —.
"Please — Elizabeth's woollen cap with the —," Elizabeth's mother said to a — who entered the room. Wild — have sharp teeth and —.

It is not far from — to smiles with small children. Elizabeth kept it as a great — that she was making a cap at school. At the Zoo, Storm pointed towards the lion saying, "His — the Lion, King of All Animals." "He looks so sad to be — up here," Marion said, "that I almost — I can see — in his eyes." The lion got a large — with lots of meat on it and at once — it with his claws.

In five minutes the big — had eaten it all up, and then he — over on one side to have a rest. Elizabeth had brought a bag of — and — for the monkeys. A bee is an —. Marion had carried — in her bag without knowing it. Storm had got a rise and at once spent it on a — for Marion. In the house where Marion's parents had lived when they were younger, the kitchen was no longer — by gas; there was — light now. There was — for cooking, but in winter the — was used instead, and a — was put on, first thing in the morning.

EXERCISE B.

Answer these questions with full sentences:

Have you any brothers or sisters? ... Are they younger or older than yourself? ... What is the kitchen of your home lit by? ... Do you smoke? ... If you do, what do you prefer to smoke? ... How much do you smoke a day? ... What time of the year do you like best, and why? ...

EXERCISE C. GRAMMAR.

The present and past tenses of do are used in sentences with 'not'. In the sentence 'John likes tea' the English probable spirit human being sisterly beside fancy joy beast dangerous tear tore torn claw

tear
opposite
roll nut orange
servant
oven kitchen-range gas-oven flame gas light (verb)
lit gather Majesty
bone peaceful kind-hearted friendly

cannot add 'not' to the verb, but must say: John does not like tea. Notice that this sentence is built up in the same way as the sentences with 'can', 'may', 'must', 'shall', 'will'. (I cannot go there. I could not go there.) Examples: I do not go there often. I did not go there. He did not see me. You do not swim very well. We did not get home till it was too late.

In the same way do, does, and did are used in questions. Example: Does John like tea? Again the sentence is built up in the same way as sentences with 'can', 'may', 'must', 'shall', 'will'. (Can you go there?) Examples: Do you go there very often? Do you live in town? Does he go to school? Did the girl visit her aunt? Do is not used in questions (or interrogative sentences, as they are called) and sentences with 'not' in the following cases:

1. If the sentence contains a form of the verb 'to be'. Examples: He is not here. Is he here? (Do is only used when 'be' in connection with 'not' contains the idea of commanding. Example: Don't be foolish.)
2. If the sentence contains one of the verbs 'shall', 'will', 'can', 'may', 'must', 'ought'. Examples: He will not help me. Will you help me? (Sometimes 'dare' and 'need' are used without do in sentences with 'not', and in questions. Examples: They dared not fight. Dare I ask you how much you paid for the book? I need not tell you what happened. Need it be said that I kept my promise?)
3. Do is not as a rule used with 'have'. Examples: Have you seen him? I had not seen him. We only find do if 'have' is the main verb of the sentence. Examples: What did you have for dinner? I did not have fish for dinner.

4. In interrogative sentences beginning with an interrogative pronoun that expresses the person or thing that is or does something, do is not used. Examples: Who said so? What happened?

Do may also be used to call special attention to the action of the verb. Examples: 'Do help me!' (instead of just 'Help me!') As a rule he would not help his friends, but he did help me once.

Questions:

In what kinds of sentences is 'do' used? ... When is 'do' used in sentences with 'have'? ... In what kinds of interrogative sentences do we use 'do'? ...

EXERCISE D.

*siksti'eit, nelsn roud,
wimblæn.*

ðə nainti:nþ əv dzænjʊəri.

diə wʊd,

*ai wəz veri glæd tə rɪ'si:v ju: letə ði ʌðə dei; it həz bi:n ə lɔŋ taim sins ai hæd nju:z frəm hɒm. ðə dei ɑ:f tə ju: letə ə'raɪvd, ai hæ:d frəm mai sistə, tu:. ai mæst ɑ:sk ju: tə bi: keəfʊl, mai diə felou; ai si:
frəm boʊp ju: letəz ðæt juər in ðə greɪtɪst deɪndʒə! ɪts klɪə ðæt ju: daʊnt nou hʊɔt ɔ:l ðɪs ɡəʊnɪŋ aʊt wɪð ə prɪtɪ ɡə:l mei li:d tu: bɪ'fɔ: ju: nou hʊɔt həz hæpnd ju:v ɑ:skt hə: tə mæri ju: — ən ðen, ðeə ju: ɑ:!*

bæt tə bi: siəriəs fər ə moumənt, aim glæd ðæt ju: si:m tə laik i:ts lðə, ɔ:lðəu ai mʌst sei ðæt ai kɑ:nt kwait ʌndə'stænd jet ðæt mai litl sistə hæz grəʊn ʌp tə bi: ə pə:sn ðæt jʌŋ feləʊz kən fɔ:l in lʌv wið.

mai oun ə'feəz hæv bi:n di'veləpiŋ ræpidli sins mai la:st letə. wiə gəʊniŋ tə bi: mærid ɔn mɑ:ts ðə sevn-ti:nθ. ai iks'pekt mai mʌðər ən sistə tə kʌm ʌvə hiə, ənd it wəd bi: ə greit plezə tə mi: if ju: ən braʊn kəd kʌm, tu:. pə'hæps ju: kəd hæv ʒɔ: hɒlidi:z ɔ:l'redi in mɑ:ts. ən misiz mɑ:fəl wil let ju: hæv ə ru:m ət ðeə haʊs hɹweil juə hiə, sɒ ðə tri:p wəʊnt bi: sɒ iks'pensiv əz la:st taim.

ai haʊp ju: kən kʌm — aim ɔ:l'redi lʊkiŋ fɔ:wəd tə ʒɔ: vizit.

ai wi:f ju: ɔ:l ðə best!

stɔ:m

COPYRIGHT
UNDER INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT CONVENTION

•

PRINTED IN SWITZERLAND